Inauguration of Our New President.

R. Livingston Farrand was, on October 20th, vested with office as the fourth president of Cornell University, at a ceremony assisted in by more than 50 college and university presidents and more than 100 other representatives from institutions of the world of education and science. Marked by the simplicity which is characteristic of the passing of even the momentous milestones in the history of as conservative an institution as a great university, the keynote sounded throughout that day's exercises was one of ultra-modern appeal—the critical problem of saving modern civilization from destruction.

The dramatic situation created by the frank expression of reciprocal respect and friendly interest between Acting President Albert W. Smith and President Livingston Farrand when they stood face to face as Cornell's acting president, affectionately known by generations of Cornell students as "Uncle Pete," handed the charter and seal of the university to Cornell's fourth president, will long remain as an outstanding high light in the picture which the inaugural ceremonies will leave in the memory of the spectators.

The variegated colors of academic gowns and of the ribbons of the holders of advanced degrees made a colorful pageant of what, owing to the predominating black cap and gown, and the necessary presence of umbrellas, might otherwise have presented a sombre effect.

The academic procession formed in the forecourt of Prudence Risley Hall, where the delegates were being entertained, and the march to Bailey Hall commenced at 10:30 a. m. Between 400 and 500 delegates and faculty members in caps and gowns, showing the colors of the greater part of the universities and colleges of the world, with here or there a crimson Oxford or brilliant yellow robe of the University of Paris, proceeded along Thurston Ave., and in front of Sibley College down to Morrill Hall. The University Board of Trustees, led by President Farrand and Acting President Smith, Judge Hiscock and Gov. Miller, joined the procession at Morrill Hall, and from that point, along President Ave. back in front of Goldwin Smith Hall and eastward to Bailey, the marchers walked between a guard of honor of 1,000 members of the Cornell cadet corps, drawn up at attention.

President Murray Bartlett, of Hobart College opened the ceremonies of the day after having been introduced by the faculty marshal, Prof. C. L. Durham, by giving the invocation.

Chief Justice Hiscock, chairman of the board of trustees, in his introductory address, paid high tribute to Acting President Smith. He then paid a tribute to the incoming president, stating that he was qualified by both his university training and the later experiences of his life to be a worthy successor to Cornell's "distinguished line of presidents."

Acting President Smith was given a hearty ovation when called on by Prof. C. L. Durham to present the seal and charter of the university to President Farrand. As the new executive rose to accept the symbols, the audience spontaneously arose and remained standing during the statement of Acting President Smith and during President Farrand's reply.

Dean William A Hammond, of the Cornell faculty, expressed the whole-hearted welcome of the Cornell faculty and expressed the good wishes of the thirty thousand Cornell alumni to Dr. Farrand.

The other prominent figures who spoke at the inauguration were Foster M. Coffin, alumni representative; President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University, representing the colleges and universities of the east; President M. L. Burton, of the University of Michigan; President Wilbur, of Stanford University and Governor Nathan L. Miller.

Governor Miller closed the inaugural exercises by assuring Cornell's new president of the hearty interest of the people of the State of New York in Cornell University.

Of nearly equal interest to the many guests and delegates as well as to the entire university community was the announcement in the program of the corner-stone laying that George F. Baker, noted banker, financier and benefactor of Cornell University, was the donor of the new million and a half dollar Chemistry Laboratory of which he laid the corner-stone in the afternoon of inauguration day.

Dr. Livingston Farrand graduating from Princeton with the degree of A. B. in 1888 was awarded an honorary oration at commencement. He then studied for several years at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, receiving the degree of M. D. from Columbia in 1891. Princeton made him Master of Arts at the same time. Dr. Farrand then went abroad for two years of study at Cambridge and Berlin. From 1894 to 1914 he was a member of the faculty of Columbia, serving successfully as instructor, adjunct professor and since 1902 as full professor of Anthropology.

While he was at Columbia Dr. Farrand made a study of American anthropology and eventually he made that study his specialty. In 1897 he went with Professor Franz Boaz of Columbia and Harlan I. Smith, of the American Museum of Natural History on the Jesup on the North Pacific Expedition. The party traveled widely among the Indian tribes of British Columbia.

He held his professorship at Columbia until 1914 when he resigned to take the presidency of the University of Colorado. His three years of active work in the university came during a period of bitter labor disputes in that state and his powers of consolation found full scope on a series of arbitration boards.

Dr. Farrand had interested himself in the work of agencies for the study of problems of public health. Since 1905 he had served as executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. In 1912 he was elected treasurer of the American Public Health Association and appointed editor of the American Journal of Public Health. The World War caused him to give all his energies for several years to special work in this field. In 1917 he was selected by the International Health Board to go to France and direct its fight against tuberculosis there and he had charge of that work during the last years of the war. Soon after the armistice he was elected chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross, whereupon he resigned his Colorado presidency, and continued in this work up until his inauguration.

G. Milton Benson.

Outlook for the Year.

HE opening of the year 1921-22 found the Cornell Chapter of Acacia in good circumstances. At the first meeting the room was filled and extra chairs were called to the rescue, making it look more like the end of the year than the beginning. With such a start everything warranted another of Cornell's best years. Every meeting is attended almost to a man, everybody realizing the importance of them although many times it causes inconvenience, thus keeping one means of swelling our treasury well under control.

From the beginning of the year, we have been able to start and successfully run and maintain a table by our members and pledges. The steward has enough surplus cash on hand now, so that we should not have to resort to bully beef and hard tack before the year comes to a close. Our own "Jeff," we know, has not starved us nor himself. D. D. Whitson, better known as "Whit," goes about his duties of house manager as a veteran, gaining polish and experience day by day by the old and never failing method, by a few knocks here and there. His contact with the outside world gained largely through executing these duties has reached the stage when he really needs a private 'phone in order that those who have business with him may not be disappointed. The rushing committee has thus far put us in touch with enough men out of which we have been able to pick and pledge sufficient men to fill the house next year, with a few to call on in an emergency.

Acacia has again resumed a more active part in the Cornell Masonic Club. Last year we held the office of Secretary only, and the Club's activities went down markedly. This year we have the offices of President and Secretary held by J. N. Livermore and E. D. Johnson respectively. Very recently we pledged the vice president. It is our aim to bring the Club back into functioning in the proper way. Such an organization should and would be one of the strongest on the Hill with the right officers and backing. We feel sure that this year the club will get a good start in getting into its proper rank.

I take this opportunity in speaking for the Chapter to request a visit from all brother Acacians who may be passing through here at any time. We may be a little off the main line but not entirely out of reach. We do not see enough of our out of town alumni; many we very seldom hear from. The present members are not so different from those of old; I am sure you would enjoy a visit with us and I know we would enjoy meeting you. Make a special trip if necessary. We want to see you.

Membership.

The fellows as we know them.

ANDERSON—Ag., '22. Hilton. Andy is that distinguished looking fellow that wields the wicked gavel weekly. Andy is nothing if not efficient. When that is said, all is said.

ASHLEY—C. E., '22. Ashtabula, Ohio. It is with regret that the time draws near when we shall part with our esteemed Ohio brother. Ash gets his degree in February. But you want to watch the papers carefully from now on for you are certainly going to see the name of Ashley in the bridge builders columns.

BENSON—C. E., '22. Baltimore, Md. Bennie, our esteemed secretary, often though his good nature is encroached upon, never fails to come up smiling, in spite of the fact that his upper lip is held down by a tuft of camel's hair. But we have hopes that by the end of the next two years, there will be enough on that upper lip to be worthy of the name. Keep a stiff upper Bennie.

BOTT—M. E., '22. Clinton. Here's to our hard working plumber and store-keeper. Were it not for the trials and tribulations of trying to keep the store account balance on the right side of the sheet, we think that Clarence might be able to get more sleep. But all hail to our budding consultation expert. He'll be there yet with the rest of 'em.

CHENEY—Vet., '23. Nicholville. Dave is a firm believer in the adage of being seen and not heard. But that does not in the least hinder him from being right there with the goods when the time comes.

COOPER—Ag. Warsaw, N. C. "Coop" is one of these quiet boys, but when it comes to an intellectual showdown, he's there with bells on. All that is necessary is to get him started on Philosophy and kindred subjects and the rest of the crowd naturally take a back seat and stay there. Never mind, it is well that there is one level head in the lot.

ELLIS—B. Chem., '23. Waverly. Slim is the proverbial human string and the most active man in the house when it comes to acrobatic stuff. The smaller he can double himself, the more contented he seems to be. But his big asset is his ability to sleep on top of the noisiest alarm clock on the hill. Gabriel certainly will need an extra bellows when he runs against this bird.

GILLETTE—E. E., '22. Grahams-ville. Another of those quiet lads yet his very quietness makes his presence felt. No one has ever been able to get much of a raise out of Ken as yet.

GRiffin—A. Chem., '23. Lakewood, Ohio. "Griff" early in life saw the error of his ways and thereupon elected to complete his education in Cornell. Where Griff spends every Saturday night and Sunday is still much of a mystery. But aside from this, he is pretty busy captaining the Chem Soccor team and keeping his room mate, "Slim," at home nights.

GILLIS—Ag. South Bend, Ind. When not occupied with putting the "I" in Indiana, Gil can be found wandering around the state sowing oats or other grains or measuring the results of his experiments. But Gil sooner or later comes back to the subject of Indiana.

HODSON—Geol. New Castle, Ind. One of the busiest men on the hill. Whenever Hodson is missing he can be found in McGraw testing his Kentucky clays and minerals. And if you have any doubts about his ability try to talk French to him when you are not an adept in it yourself. You are going to hear from this lad.

JOHNSON—C. E., '24. Apple Creek, Ohio. Johnny is the most open-minded man in the house. All that is necessary to tell Johnny's mind is to look at his face. This is the fellow that put the "p" in pessimism. But in spite of everything, Johnny always delivers the goods. Johnny has also been successful in pulling a bar in the military.

KENWORTHY—M. E., '23. Liberty. Ken is one of the new arrivals and already bids fair to make a name for himself. Ken believes in keeping a straight face before all obstacles. Beware, my boy, murder will out. Behold in this fellow one of our hardest working plumbers.

KERN—V., '24. Worcester. Clyde is the boy who believes in studying when he cannot visit the fair sex. At all events he is keeping the rails hot between Ithaca and McLean. And he also has better than a speaking acquaintance among the co-eds. We believe that there is considerable danger of his fraternity pin going astray before the end of the year.

KEZER—Ag., '22. Massena, N. Y. "Jeff!" Yes, he is the original of Mutt and Jeff fame. His diminutive stature, however, does not interfere with his aggressiveness and the strict performance of his duties as steward. The university authorities have decided that "Jeff" has been in college a sufficient length of time, so he graduates in June. From his frequent visits to Syracuse we can imagine his motive. What a step for a little man!

KIRBY—Ag. Ithaca. Kirby is one busy boy between taking care of his family and fraternity duties. But he is managing pretty well and we expect to hear from him one of these days.

LIVERMORE—M. E., '23. Gowanda. Jimmy is the one and original wind pusher and stands second to none. When not engaged in this exhausting and strenuous exercise, Jimmy is either busy repairing something around the house or working at some new mechanical device in shop. Watch this boy. You'll yet say that you were glad that you made his acquaintance.

LARSON—M. E. Parkland, Washington. When not engaged in the seasonal intricacies of mechanical reports, it can safely be decided that this fellow is somewhere on the high seas, carrying the reputation of old Sibley to the far corners of the globe. Larson and marine machinery are as one, and synonymous terms.

MORRIS—Ag., '22. Shelbyville, Ind. When not occupied with the study of the marketing and packing game, Fred can always be found in some remote corner harranguing to a few faithful adherents the benefits to be derived from a membership in the non-smokers' league or in some other kind of league with a "non" hitched to it. Fred is a violent agitator of the stump speakers' school and as such has at times to be rather severely chastised. Oh yes, Fred has a girl, a new one every week.

RAYNER—M. E., '23. Waverly. Sid can always be depended on for a comeback. Of late, our 190 pound plumber has developed quite an interest in the fair sex and the telephone wires have begun to show signs of wear. But we have hopes that Sid will realize his folly by the end of the term.

SPENCER—Ag. Elmira. Between the duties of corresponding secretary and the trials and tribulations of farm management, Spence certainly has his hands full. But Spence is always on hand with the goods.

SUITER—M. E., '22. Shamokin, Pa. Behold the all powerful champion of our cash, credits and debts. Aside from being a senior plumber Shorty finds time to conduct our financial affairs and sees to it that the wolf does not run off with our door hinges. Shorty hails from a smoky state and perhaps that is the reason that he is such an adept in the selection of the choice cigars that find their way around.

WHITSON—Ag. Sp. Afton. Between regular trips to Binghamton and to classes, Whit manages to locate all the lights that have been left blazing and sees to the general run of the house otherwise. But when it comes to parties, we all take a back seat for this boy. From fishtail to rompers is quite a jump but this has been accomplished by Whit in less time than it takes to tell it. Whit is also a past master in the art of letter writing to the fair sex, firmly believing that practice makes perfect.

WEEDEN—E. E., '24. Norwich. Behold the best and most proficient jazz hound of the age. Whether it be an old fashioned "circle all" or the newest of the fancy steps, Sam is always there. But in spite of the jazzy leanings, Sam manages to find time to study and no one has as yet been able to accuse him of oversleeping or being the last out of bed in the morning.

JAMES—C. E., '23. Kingston, Pa. Here's another of the smoky state lads but the smokiness of his native state never materially affected his smile or blackened his disposition. Especially has he an amiable disposition when he acts as accompanist for Johnny's melodious melodies. Needless to say, they swing a wicked song and dance.

TYLER—Grad. Atlanta, N. Y. When not dreaming about a little cottage just built for two, "Ty" is wandering about the hill, thus justly filling the role of a grad student. "Ty" leaves us this February. Here's luck, and may your congenial manner win you many friends along your way.

SANDERS—Grad. Ithaca. Our illustrious brother from the English Department displays exceptional shrewdness when he is requested to discuss certain questions. However, several occurrences have recently caused us to believe that the rumors we have heard are true.

MUNSON — Special Ag. Ithaca. Munson is our youngest brother. He is specializing in Landscape Art. We regret that he is leaving us this semester but know that he will always remember Acacia.

Our New Members and Pledges.

Six new members have been initiated this fall. At the regular initiation on November 14, the following men became members:

R. S. Kirby, of Ithaca, who is a Grad. in Ag.

Floyd Hodson, of New Castle, Indiana, a "rock bound" and a graduate in Geology.

J. N. Livermore, of Gowanda, N. Y. Jimmy is a Mechanical Engineer and a good dancer. He expects to graduate in 1923.

C. E. Griffin, from Lakewood, Ohio, is a Junior this year in Chemistry. "Griff" takes an active part in our athletics.

C. S. Kenworthy, 1923 M. E., is from Liberty, N. Y. "Ken" always has a genial smile and a handsome blush when we tease him about his girl.

There was a special initiation for A. L. Munson, of Ithaca, who is a Special in Ag. As Munson is intending to leave Cornell at the end of this semester, it was necessary to have a special initiation for him.

We have as fine a bunch of pledges as any one might wish for, and we are sure that they will become valuable members who will take an active part in our Chapter affairs and contribute to the strength of the Fraternity as a whole. Freshmen to Graduate students are included in the list. It is rather rare that we have Freshmen on our list of Pledges, but we are fortunate in having three freshmen this year. The following are our Pledges:

C. N. Abbey. Abbey is from Cherry Creek, N. Y., and a Freshman this year in Ag. He has attended Alfred State Agricultural School.

A. J. Barclay, who is a "Medic" of the '25 Class and a Senior this year in Arts. His home address is Ardonia, N. Y.

S. E. Brink comes from Marathon, N. Y., and is a Grad. in Ag.

E. A. Caslick, of Newfield, N. Y., is a senior in Vet., who expects to carry graduate work next year. He intends to live in the house next semester.

H. B. Davis, from Varysburg, N. Y., is a Junior in Ag.

W. F. Dodson, is from Trenton, New Jersey.—he says the correct pronunciation is "Jawsey." Dodson is already one of our "social stars" and an M. E. of the '23 Class.

H. M. Gardner is a Hoosier and a Grad. in Ag. His home town is Goshen, Ind.

J. F. Hendy is from Missouri, so he says. At any rate he is a Freshman in Civil Engineering. Jefferson City, Mo., is his home.

L. E. Johnson is a Special in Architecture, from Dayton, Ohio.

W. E. Krauss is a Senior in Agriculture from Brockport, N. Y. Krauss is Vice President of the Cornell Masonic Club.

Editorials.

The Fraternity has an important mission to fulfill. Its aims are definitely defined. It has the opportunity of giving expression to the rather lofty and inspiring ideals of young Masons who are students.

There is no time in man's toilsome yet happy life when he is so completely filled with more sincere or noble aspirations than during his college career. These inspirations, however, are more worthy now than in later years.

Youth's expression should be considered in thought, deep thought, for oft times its apparent lightness ejects it from study when it rightfully should be made the means of a clearer understanding.

It is our duty to reckon with these of the noble thoughts and give them those advantages which they justly deserve.

As youth travels along we again turn to the great strifes for which we live, but we should recognize this great diversity of thought, and by careful association render it useful to those with whom we come in contact as we travel along life's pathway.

The Instruction Comm.

In order to have our new members better acquainted with the principles and history of the Acacia Fraternity, and more familiar with the work of the local chapter, an instruction committee was appointed for the purpose of instructing candidates prior to their initiation. Suiter, Gillis and Hodson were placed on this committee.

To facilitate the work both from the standpoint of the committee and the candidate, mimeographed copies have been made of the questions and answers, or exact references given to articles which give the information.

Most of the candidates have already started on this work and we feel that henceforward our new members are going to be more familiar with Acacian ideals and the history of the Acacia Fraternity.

Our New Members and Pledges.

J. H. Nelson is from Spartanburg, S. Carolina, and is a Grad. in Arts.

J. A. Barton hails from Belton, Texas.

S. W. Schellkopf is an architect from Fremont, Ohio. Schellkopf is a '24 man.

H. H. Tozier, Jr., of Johnsonburg, N. Y., is a Freshman in Ag.

Our Building Committee.

UNDOUBTEDLY all who will read this have, at some time or other been thru some agitation for a new house. This new house proposition has long been discussed in meetings and out of meetings. Much midnight oil has been consumed during the discussions.

It will be remembered that two years ago the plan of requesting each new member to sign a note for one hundred dollars payable in ten annual installments was put into operation. Since that time more than six thousand dollars has been thus pledged and payment has already been started on the majority of that amount. Many of the alumni have pledged one hundred dollars, turning in their old pledges and taking out the new ones.

In a recent meeting the Venerable Dean appointed a committee consisting of Bros. Kirby, Benson, Griffin and Weeden to keep in touch with the developments in real estate and recommend action to the chapter. The committee at the present time has located some property on the Heights which it would like to see bought by the fraternity.

They are beginning discussion as to just how the house is to be built, etc. Every suggestion which is made to the committee is carefully recorded and will be given due consideration when the building plans are drawn up. It is felt in the active chapter that there are many of the smaller items in the construction of the new house, which can be decided at the present time after advice has been secured from all of those who are in a position to render an opinion. The committee will appreciate any advice which any of the alumni brothers can give us in regard to the arrangement of the house, necessary equipment, etc.

This little article sounds as tho we were getting somewhere on the new house proposition—and it sounds just the right note. We are up and doing, digging right after everything—and hope that in a few more years we can have a new and large house all our own.

Athletics.*Concerning our teams.

CORNELL University has the best football team this year that it has had in some time. Last year Coach Dobie laid the fundation for this year's team. He developed a "steam roller" of wonderful efficiency. This machine has crushed eight opposing teams.

Colgate came here this year with revenge in either fist to repay us for the trimming they received last year. You fellows know that this little college puts up as good a scrap as any we have ever met. They were the first to cross our goal line.

Dartmouth followed Colgate's lead and made one touchdown. Here we reaped sweet revenge for the defeats we have suffered in past years. Now they make the suggestion that we change our old custom of playing Penn. on Thanksgiving Day and play Dartmouth.

Columbia was the third and last to cross our goal line. They had saved their best men in anticipation of whipping us on their own territory, but failed as all others who have gone the same way before them.

The game, which was worth living a life time in one day, was that held on Franklin Field November 24th. The big red team cast aside its past victories and put their shoulder to the wheel as one man to give Penn. the battle of their life. One staunch supporter of the University of Pennsylvania made this remark before the game, "Cornell did not show any power in the mud against Springfield, which is only a Prep. school. Now we would like to know what the rating of Penn. is? By a comparison of scores they would look like a second rate high school.

The Fresh suffered from the loss by injury of their best players at the first of the season and did not make as good a showing as we would like. They were defeated three times, tied one game and won from Columbia.

The cross-country team made a wonderful record this year. Their first tilt was at Syracuse, where they had a perfect score in the Invitation Meet. They took the run with Harvard neatly and won the Triangular Meet with Princeton and Yale. At the Intercollegiates Cornell placed six men among the first ten. It has been a close race between R. E. Brown, N. P. Brown and C. C. Carter for first place each time, R. E. Brown always just a little in the lead.

Our soccer team is making great strides this fall. They have only lost one game and that was with Princeton 2-0 at the beginning of the season. They walloped Syracuse 10-1 for state championship and Penn. fell to the tune of 4-1. Colgate, Haverford, Yale and Harvard were also defeated by the red and white eleven.

Donald Whitson.

Chapter Athletics.

The inter-fraternity basketball league for the season of 1921-1922 was organized on November 21st. Brother Griffin was our representative at the inter-fraternity meeting. Acacia was placed in league No. 1. Our schedule is as follows:

Dec. 10th, Omego Tau Sigma; Dec. 19th, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Jan. 12th, Pi Kappa Phi; Jan. 17th, Alpha Ki Sigma, and Feb. 18th, Pi Lambda Phi.

With such good material as Johnson, Kern, Kenworthy, Dodson, Kezer, Weeden and Griffin Acacia should find herself well placed on the basketball map. The way in which they have begun practice indicates that the boys are in earnest, and are fast developing into a strong snappy team.

We have elected "Griff" as our captain and manager, and from his past records, we are sure of a good showing for the Acacia team. "Griff" is captain of the Chem. Soccer Team and on the Chem. Basketball squad.

Captain Griffin has put his squad on training rules and is scrutinizing them closely. So far he has been successful in finding a scrub team for each practice. Our illustrious Clyde Kern got mixed up with an "African skull" on one of the scrub formations and received a beautiful lantern on his left eye.

Griff reports that our squad is playing a good defensive game, but that they must improve greatly on the offensive in order to play in true "Acacia style" for the next game.

Our first game was postponed by Omega Tau Sigma, which gives the boys more time to practice.

We are all looking forward to the first game, and you can just bet that we will all be there. The captain has made the following line-up for the first game: Kern and Dodson, forward; Kenworthy and Weeden, guards; Johnson, center; Kezer, substitute for guard and Griffin substitute for center.

Hockey is now being prepared for. "Don" Whitson represented us at the first inter-fraternity hockey committee meeting. Acacia can again feel proud, for at that meeting Whit was elected as one of the two members to help Coach Bawlf, coach of la crosse and hockey teams, to run the inter-fraternity hockey league.

Already eight Acacians have decided to go out for the team, namely, Dodson, Griffin, Whitson, Gillette, Weeden, James, Bott, L. E. Johnson, Krauss and Benson.

Social Activities.

Fun Fests of Araria.

UR social calendar has been neither crowded nor elaborate this fall, but what few parties we have staged have been marked by the presence of the usual true Acacia spirit which makes any undertaking successful.

The most of the boys are working overtime this fall and so the social committee decided to put on only one dance each month at the house. The cards containing the social calendar for the school year were sent out to all alumni early in the fall so there will be no need for repeating it here.

School opened September 26th and the good ship set sail for its long and toilsome journey with twenty-one first class passengers. We had not gone far before we were able to take on board several apprentice seamen, who have by this time come to be proficient navigators, and seem to be able to find their way around the hill on the darkest nights with no assistance except that of their trusty radiolites.

Open House for Masons

Friday evening, September 30th, we held "open house" for all University Masons. We aimed to get the craftsmen acquainted with one another and with us, and to promote Masonic interest and activity on the "hill." Incidentally, it may be stated that we lined up a few prospects for rushing material. Quite a goodly number of "speculators" turned out, including several of our loyal alumni in the city and through the smokes and yarns of the evening we proved to our guests that we were the best bunch of good fellows on the "hill." It was a real "fun fest."

Chapter Entertains With Dance

Saturday, October 29th, the big red team locked horns with the husky Green Mountain boys from Hanover. These rangy pigs in punters came all the way from Dartmouth College to the Storm country to taste bitter defeat. A house dance gave opportunity to make merry over the victory. Dinner was served to the boys, their guests and as many of the alumni as could be with us. Several of the recently made alumni were back for the game, and gathered about the festive board to sip soup and help in the merry making. Rittershausen, "Bob" Scammell, "Bones" Enos, "Dick" Mihalko and Harold Wolf were among those deserving the honor of mention.

The music for the dance was good and the Terpsichorean artists held forth until the stroke of twelve announced the arrival of a day on which good Acacians do not dance. Dr. and Mrs. Edward Cushing and "Bob" and Mrs. Chamberlain acted as chaperons for us. Mrs. Cushing has just recently come to the Cornell community and to our midst as Acacians, but each of us feel that he already knows her well. We hope that she and "Ed" will come to the house often and keep well acquainted with all.

Our voyage continued thenceforth without serious interruption until Friday, November 25th, when we held our Thanksgiving dance. The way our big red team went to Philly and backed the Penn line off the field in a pouring rain to the tune of 41-0 gave us all something extra for which to be thankful. Spirits were still and throats hoarse when Friday evening came, and the party went through in fine style. The party was delightfully chaperoned by "Edward" and Mrs. Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Ellis.

We had planned to have a dance at the house Wednesday evening, December 21st, but at the Masonic Club meeting at Barnes Hall on November 29th, it was decided to give an informal dance under the auspices of the club at the Masonic Temple on the same date. For this reason the house dance was called off, and we are all going to turn out for the Masonic Club dance. We can safely predict a big future for the club and some mighty good times for its members.

Plans For Junior Week

When our Social Calendar was mailed to the alumni in the fall, the chapter had not fully decided whether it would entertain guests and hold a house party Junior Week. Recently, however, it has been decided affirmatively and plans are already being made for a house party "de-luxe." The program includes every minute between Thursday, February 9th, and Sunday, the 12th. The chapter earnestly hopes that a goodly number of alumni will show up at this time.

During the term the chapter has been making an attempt to keep a bit closer to our alumni, especially those in the city. The alumni and their families have responded well and it has served to keep up a lively interest between the alumni in the city and the active chapter. We feel that the new members and pledges should become well acquainted with our local alumni as we older members have done.

Cornell Masonic Club.

The Cornell Masonic Club held its first meeting of the school year on Thursday, November twenty-nine in Barnes Hall with Bro. V. D. Suiter, presiding. About fifty University Masons attended the meeting. Nineteen of those present were new men who expressed their desire to become members and were admitted to membership in the club.

A short but highly entertaining program was rendered. Mr. Shevany delighted all with several numbers on the violin. Our good friend, Professor Everett, then entertained the club with several poems in the French-Canadian dialect, which received the hearty applause of every one. Bro. W. W. Ellis concluded the program with an excellent talk on the history of Masonry from which every one must have gained some new light. Following the entertainment program, the election of officers being in order, the club selected the following: Bro. J. N. Livermore, president; Bro. W. E. Krauss, vice president; Bro. E. D. Johnson, secretary, and Professor F. E. Rice, treasurer. After the business had been disposed of refreshments were served in Barnes Hall Coffee House.

The starting of Masonic activities this year has been rather slow but the attitude of the men present at this meeting indicates that all the members are much interested. The first of a number of social events is a dance which will be held in Craftsmen Club Hall on December 21st. Bro. L. C. Anderson, Mr. Randolph and Mr. Meyer compose the committee in charge of the social affairs. No definite schedule has been arranged for the regular club meetings but it is planned to hold several during the year. It is the aim of the officers and members to make this the most successful year in the history of the club.

The Non-Smoker's League.

November 13 is a date that will go down in the chapter's history comparable to the historical date of November 11. However, it does not mark the end of a strife, but the beginning, for it was on this date that several of the stronger brothers opened fire upon that physical, mental and moral enemy, tobacco. So it happened that on this day the Non-Smokers' League was organized. Long live the league!

Following in the footsteps of that league advocate, Woodrow Wilson, and being permeated to the same degree with that democratic idea of helping his fellowmen, as Woodrow was in helping nations, "Bennie" conceived the idea of a league for the purpose of bringing perpetual steady nerves and wealth to those who could agree on the "14 points."

The idea spread rapidly and before night, following a series of revival meetings, which were characterized by the old familiar tunes, "Bless be the Tie That Binds," and "There is Power" and many loud proclamations sighting the economic, physical and moral significance of the combine, the League was drawn up and signed by 12 persistent users of the vile weed. The contract called for total abstinence from smoking until Thanksgiving Eve and the penalty was to be a dinner for the whole League.

Well, all went O. K. for the first 24 hours. Then like all great movements, difficulties set in. First the contract disappeared. Then frequent raising of the windows and loud ejaculations and sputterings could be heard all around the house. One man was reported to have lost his appetite. Several crude cuspidors were found distributed indiscriminately about the house and several ill-bred lads used the fireplace. Naturally all this had a demoralizing effect upon the League. After ten days two of the members found a loop-hole in the contract—no time had been set for paying the dinner. Promising to pay in 99 years, they replaced the Drummonds plug with the old faithful Camels and their appetites gradually became normal again. It is gratifying to know that all the other members lived up to the contract, and among them were all the Democratic members of the house.

So the original League failed, and yet it succeeded for the nucleus still exists as a League. This nucleus consists of three men who further agreed to abolish the use of all forms of tobacco until Christmas Eve, under the same penalty.

Below are the testimonies of these three phenomenal men:

During the past eight years I have suffered greatly from the detestable tobacco habit in all its forms. But now I have become a free man, and it is all due to the Non-Smokers' League. It has done me so much good that I want to tell the world about it. Hallelujah 1%$ @-**!%. However, I have a confession to make. Besides joining the Non-Smokers' League I have taken eight bottles of that famous Lydia E. Pinkham vegetable compound, and what the League hasn't done for me the compound has. Even now I feel myself slipping, but the spirit of the League is within me and I will stick it thru to the bitter end.

Wilbur.

As one of the three survivors of the original Non-Smokers' League I want to testify that it has been an experience that every smoker should undergo. To be able to see clearly again without that vile and orderifrous smoke getting in my eyes and mustache has brought me enlightenment beyond comprehension.

Bennie.

After being enslaved for over 7 years with that terrible habit disease, smoking, I am once more a free man, free to do not that which my habits dictate, but that which my Will dictates. And I whole-heartedly indorse the Non-Smokers' League idea to all those who are suffering from wiggly nerves and contracted funds. Leave it to the Democratic party to eliminate the evils.

Freddie.

"Freddie" Morris.

This issue would not be complete without an account of the adventures of our most active member, "Freddie" Morris. Fred comes from Indiana and they sure grow some hustlers out there.

Fred started bright and early this fall to make history by placing as high man of all judging teams of dairy cattle at the Eastern States Exposition, held at Springfield, Mass. For this good work, he made the judging team sent to the National Dairy Show held at St. Paul. Knowing a good man when they see one, the Round-Up Club elected Fred as Secretary of the club for 1921-1922. Shortly after his return from the west, Fred was elected to Helios, honorary agricultural society, justly, we believe, on his merits. Not content with these honors, he was annexed a place on the Eastman Stage, one of six of sixty-five contestants. How many more honors Fred will annex before June cuts short his activities, we can only guess, but we are sure that something else will spring up before graduation overtakes him.

Among the Flea Bitten Curs.*The Yellow Dog

Oh my hide it is mangy, my hair is full of burs;
I'm an object of pity and sometimes a curse.
I'm a wimpering, shivering, cowering
mutt,
But when there is doin's I'm sure to turn up.

I'm a measly, ornery, flee bitten cur;
I'm basted for tracking mud on the floor.
I smell of the skunk, the goat and the Vet.,
And I'm no ladies hound on your soul
you can bet.

Yes, I'm lop-eared, and cock-eyed and bow-legged, too,
But you treat me white and I'll stick to you,
I'm not very wise but I'm as sure as can be,
That a little good scratching brings hope back to me.

Sure! I'm wild and wooley and full of flees;
I'm hard to curry above the knees,
But I'm a "Yellow Dog" from Ithakee.
And it's my night to howl—Oweeee.

W. H. Ashley.

To Hi the 3rd.

A bitter tale is it, that I have to tell you, brethren, but Editor Ellis just came to me with reddened eyes, and chokingly cried, "Jimmy, you tell 'em, I can't!"

Thus, I am left to pen you the cruel news of the death of our once promising English Bull puppy, Hiram III. Hi appeared to be enjoying the full vigor of carefree dog youth up to his last hour; albeit, Dr. Dave Cheney had warned him that he was afflicted with persistent foramen ovale (heart deformity) and that he must stay indoors, indulging in no exercise more violent than that of reclining on the hearth. Hi never did profess much faith in Veterinary Medicine, and on hearing this edict from Dr. Cheney, he decided to defy the Latin tongued highbrow to the last ditch. Thus, a few days ago, he collapsed while romping and barking his last defiance from a neighbor's yard.

Hiram III is survived by his mother,
'Biff, who still lives with us. Even 'Biff is said to be sighing more than usual lately, and of nothing more sorrowful than that can possibly be conceived.
Nevertheless, I "sigh for Hi," and let us hope for more hardy hearts in 'Biff's next sextette.

Jimmy.

How About the Journal?

Are you a subscriber? If not, you ought to be. Why? Because,—first, you need the Journal, and second, the Fraternity needs your subscription, your dollar and your interest.

You need the Journal because it is the official publication of our fraternity and is worthy of every member's support.

Every Acadian wants to be a live booster for the fraternity, and help place Acacia in the front line position among the other fraternities, where she rightfully belongs. "To develop a greater zeal" for the Acacia Fraternity should be the aim of every member, both alumnus and active. You cannot do this if you do not keep yourself informed as to what the Grand Fraternity and the other chapters are doing and purpose to do. The Journal is practically the only means of getting this information.

To fully appreciate Acacia every member should see the fraternity as a national organization, an organization of college men scattered far and wide, yet held together by the ties of "brotherly love and affection." No chapter can say that it is the Acacia Fraternity, just as no member, by knowing only the traditions of his own chapter, can say that he knows Acacia. He must see Acacia as a nation wide organization of college men with noble purposes and laudable undertakings, to realize what a great organization Acacia really is. The Journal gives us this national perspective.

Moreover in the person of T. Hawley Tapping the Journal has a real live editor. It contains articles which are full of interest, historical sketches, reports from the various chapters, personal items, articles relating to Masonry, etc. A recent number contained a directory of all alumni members, which in itself is of great value to any Acacian. The least that can be said is that the editor is right on the job.

The fraternity needs your support. Naturally the more subscribers there are the better will be the publication. In the August, 1921, number there was a report of the various chapters on the percentage of the membership who are Journal subscribers. Cornell stands 18th in a list of twenty-seven, a position entirely too low for Cornell. The local chapter is making a special effort this winter to put Cornell chapter in her proper place in regard to this matter. We know that the alumni are going to co-operate and back us up by sending in their subscriptions. The rate is one dollar per year, payable to the Grand Editor, T. Hawley Tapping, Grand Rapids, Mich. What is better still make a fifteen dollar subscription to the Endowment Fund, which is explained in another article. The interest on this subscription pays your subscription to the Journal and brings it to you for life. Let's go, Cornell! Send along that subscription and put Cornell Chapter at the head of the list.

Ahoj There, Cornell Acacia!

A. B. Beaumont
O. W. Dynes
E. P. Deatrict
J. F. Bradley
Heber E. Griffith
Karl M. Dallenbach
Robert F. Chamberlain
Blaine B. Ramsey
A. W. Rittershausen

These are the Cornell men who have contributed to the Acacia endowment fund to date. There are approximately 175 men who belong to Cornell Acacia. Draw your own conclusions.

The fraternity has accumulated $7,500.00 in its endowment fund and $50,000.00 is needed. The war stopped the growth of this fund for three or four years; but the war is over and the last Grand Conclave emphasized the great need which exists in the fraternity for an endowment fund of $50,000.00. Here are a few of the reasons for the $50,000.00 endowment fund:

1. For use in emergencies that confront the national organization from time to time.
2. For credit backing to chapters which may be able to pick up bargains in homes, fully secured.
3. For defense of Acacia against legislative attacks or against other attacks requiring legal defense.
4. For the power and stability which financial backing gives to every going concern.
5. For such uses only as the national body authorizes the Fund Trustees, and only after the Fund reaches $25,000.00.

If every Acacian subscribed only $15.00 to this endowment fund, the result would be twice the $50,000.00 asked for, and every $15.00 brings the subscriber a life subscription to the Acacia Journal as the interest on the fund subscription is applied to the subscription for the Journal. A subscription of $100.00 makes a man a Worthy Patron of Acacia and the interest buys a life subscription to the Acacia Journal; a subscription of $1,000.00 makes him a Grand Worthy Patron and the interest pays for a life subscription to the Journal. The list of contributors will be published from time to time in The Acacia Journal. Subscriptions may be paid on time or in full at the convenience of the individual.

Cornell Acacians have always been good Acacians. They have always backed up their Mother chapter. Their Mother chapter now beseeches them to support this most worthy and necessary work of the Grand Council with subscriptions to the endowment fund. The Grand Council is keeping accurate record of the response to the endowment fund from the members—active and alumni—of each chapter, and we do not believe that this test will see a slump by Acacia men of Cornell.

If you have not already mailed your subscription to the Endowment Fund Committee, will you please—for the good of the fraternity and for the honor of your own chapter—use the coupon on page 22.

Alumni ! S. O. S. !!

A committee composed of Brothers Leland Spencer, James Livermore and K. G. Gillette is working on a new directory of the Chapter Alumni. Your co-operation is needed.

"Shorty" Suiter has a good sized list which we have corrected and brought up-to-date, so far as we have been able. Our aim is a complete directory of Cornell Acacians. We depend upon you to help us make it complete and correct.

Such a directory is sorely needed for many purposes:

1. As a mailing list for Chapter publications.
2. For forwarding mail addressed to the Chapter House.
3. For getting write-ups for the Journal.

4. For the general information of both Active and Alumni.

We have little better than half of the alumni in the list with addresses given. No doubt many of the addresses given are incorrect.

Please read over the list and send in any additional information you may have. Also, please fill out the coupon on page 22 and send it in. DO IT NOW!

We hope that in the next issue of the Traveller, or at least in the May issue, we can publish a reasonably complete directory of Alumni. We can do it if you will give us a boost.

And finally, let us know when you change your address. A card or letter sent to the corresponding secretary any time, will bring results.
