Ithaca Masons Dedicate New Temple

By ARTHUR F. BOYLES

With fitting pride the Masons of Ithaca received their Temple on the afternoon of October 2, when Grand Master Harold J. Richardson and his staff from the Grand Lodge of the State of New York, formally dedicated it to the service of Freemasonry.

Following the destruction of the lodge rooms on the upper floor of the old Savings Bank Building, at which time the Order suffered a property loss of $12,000; the Ithaca Masonic Bodies occupied temporary quarters, first in the Elk's Clubhouse, later in the Colonial Building on East State Street. Disastrous as was the fire, it proved to be a blessing in disguise, for it brought to fruition the long-cherished dreams of a Masonic Temple; so it is with particular pride and pleasure that the Ithaca brethren now enjoy the privileges of their new Temple. First came Ithaca; then came Masonry; and the two have been closely interwoven ever since in the development and growth of the community. Now, first among the fraternal buildings of Ithaca, stands the Temple of Freemasonry at the intersection of North Cayuga and East Seneca Streets, its main entrance being on Cayuga Street.

The housewarming preceding the opening of the Temple began on Monday, September 27, with an Open House to all Masons. On the following evening another Open House was extended to members of all fraternal bodies locally represented, and to all service and civic organizations, and to city, county and government officials. Wednesday was an even busier day, the afternoon being devoted to a reception to the ladies of the Eastern Star, Order of Amaranth, and Craftsman's Ladies' Club, and to wives, daughters, mothers, sisters, and widows of Master Masons. That same evening a general reception was given to all citizens, the Cornell faculty, and the faculty and students of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. On Thursday evening the Ithaca Masonic Club entertained all Master Masons; and on the following evening all the Bodies received the members of the Cornell Masonic Club, the Cornell Chapter of Acacia, and their friends, at which time H. L. Haywood, editor of the New York Masonic Outlook, gave an inspiring address in the Temple auditorium on the meaning and history of Freemasonry. It was the privilege of the Cornell Chapter to have Mr. Haywood as a dinner guest that same evening, the Chapter afterwards going down in a body to the reception.

The impressive ceremony of dedication on Saturday marked the climax of the festivities. In the afternoon a colorful parade, headed by Knights Templar from neighboring Commanderies, followed by the Kalurah Shrine Patrol Band, and Drill Corps, and by hundreds of members of the two Blue Lodges, passed along crowded streets to the Temple, where it was reviewed by the Grand Master and his official staff. Immediately thereafter the Grand Master, his suite, and representatives of the Lodges were escorted to the larger of the Lodge rooms, where the solemn and ancient ceremony of dedication was exemplified in ample form. That evening a banquet was tendered the Grand visitors at the Hotel Ithaca, after which the festivities were brought to a colorful close with a ball in the Temple auditorium.

Egyptian Architecture Predominates

A true temple, not just another building: it is a model of distinction and individuality, molded after the best and stateliest of the Egyptian builders' craft, the harsher lines being softened with a touch of twentieth century symmetry.

Take away the brick high school building across the street, and the brick store on the right, and the visitor might well imagine himself transported to the civilization of the Pharaohs as he walks up the seven steps. Grecian urns, resting on massive pedestals on both sides of the approach, guard the entrance. A bare wall of cut Indiana limestone rises three stories above, receding by slight terraces near the roof and cut with slit-like windows, which give an ancient temple effect. There is no mistaking this structure for an abode of commerce. It is at once proud and simple.

The service entrance leading to the kitchen, the heating plant, the auditorium and stage, is on the south side of the building. To the north, on East Seneca Street, is a secondary entrance giving access to the auditorium, on occasion, to other fraternal organizations. It is laid out in such a way that it can be shut off completely from the Temple proper.

Entering the main door, over which are cut the words "Masonic Temple," the visitor finds himself in a large foyer, which opens on the right into the secretary's office, on the left into the library and reading room, and straight ahead into the large club room.

Within, the appointments are luxurious without being over-furnished. Especially did the architects strive to achieve color harmony, and the result shows not a single cheap note. The walls are in travertine finish—concrete treated to imitate the porous lava rock.

The object of chief interest on the main floor is the long, low-ceilinged club room of cozy appearance. Rich furnishings about a fireplace set off the east end or social portion; pool and billiard tables occupy the upper or west end; and card tables stand along the side.

Auditorium Seats 700

The auditorium, seating 700 people and convertible into a dance or banquet hall, opens indirectly from the club room. It has excellent acoustic properties and is especially intended for musical recitals, plays, and the like. The lighting is indirect. Below the stage are four dressing rooms and a subsidiary exit. When in use for a banquet hall, folding tables may be set up in place of the seats.

The kitchen, conveniently located between the auditorium and the club room, is more completely and perfectly equipped than the average hotel cuisine. The china is adorned with Masonic emblems. Adequate ventilation is provided to carry off all odors of cooking.

Main Lodge Room Classical Vaulted Ceiling Represents Firmament.

The gem of the Temple is the main lodge room upstairs, on the east side of the building, and which measures 60 by 40 feet. An imposingly large and graceful room, it required more work than any other portion of the building. To suggest the hill-top meetings of the early Craft, the vaulted, concrete ceiling, two stories above, has been modeled to represent the firmament, with ingenious lighting effects.

Professor S. L. Boothroyd, Cornell astronomer, was engaged to lay out, with mathematical accuracy, the chief constellations of the Easter sky. This star-map has been reproduced faithfully, even to relative magnitudes, on the lodge room ceiling. Cone-shaped openings in the concrete give vent to electric lights concealed above. The effect is heightened by red, white, and blue lights about the cornices, which can be adjusted to flood the blue "sky" with dawn, mid-day, or sunset. A larger light is imbedded in the center of the ceiling to send down a white beam upon the Altar and the Great Light of Masonry.

A fine two-manualed Moller pipe organ lends to the artistry of the room.

It has a great range of stops, including one for a beautiful set of chimes, manufactured by Deagen, world famous artisan of chimes and bells. Cables connect the keyboards and pedals with the pipes and chimes, which are concealed in a loft behind lattice work.

The lodge room is classical in plan, with pilasters and columns surrounding. The walls are of the general scheme of white travertine craftex. One feels this entire room, more than he sees it.

Besides the main lodge room, there are several preparation rooms and a small lodge room on the same floor, which gives its designers particular pride. It is a delightful piece of work, conveying the impression of intimacy and privacy, rather than grandeur. Its harmonious colors and tasteful appointments afford a sense of ease. A separate room, comfortably outfitted as a rest room, has been provided as a place of meeting for the women.

The third floor contains the organ loft, a room for the Commandery lockers, and storage rooms for other Masonic bodies.

The heating and ventilating systems occupy most of the basement, though a large compartment is reserved for auxiliary use in lodge or preparation meetings, if need arises. Two large boilers furnish the heat for the building. The ventilation system is economical and efficient, a separate fan being provided for each large room, transporting fresh air only to the particular rooms which are in use at a given time. The structure is of steel frame work with fire-proof floors of reinforced concrete.

The total cost in round numbers was $210,000. The architects were Gibb and Waltz, of Ithaca. The construction was done by the Shane Construction Company of Syracuse.

(Grateful acknowledgment is made to the November, 1926, New York Masonic Outlook, and to the Ithaca Journal News, of October 2, 1926, from which this article was largely abstracted.)

Grand Orient of Turkey Elects C. Tracy Stagg Representative to Grand Lodge of New York

Many people dislike lawyers on general principles. Dr. Samuel Johnson put this feeling into sarcastic words when he said of an acquaintance: "I would be loth to speak ill of any person who I do not know deserves it, but I am afraid he is an attorney." But members of the Cornell Chapter who have met and worked with C. Tracey Stagg '12, local attorney, do not feel that way in the least.

R.W. Bro. C. Tracey Stagg was born in Elmira, N. Y., December 16, 1878. Elmira needs no introduction to Cornell "audiences," but here is a fact that will raise Elmira's reputation with Cornell Acacians. He attended the Elmira Free Academy and received his elementary education there. Being a seeker after knowledge, he came to Cornell, where he received his LL.B. in 1902. He was admitted to the Bar the same year. Later he won a place on the Cornell Law Faculty and served as Secretary to the Law College. At present he is occupied as an attorney in the firm of Stagg and Heath of Ithaca. He has acted as counsel for State Park Commissions and on several Committees of the State Bar Association. Last year he was elected President of the Tompkins County Bar Association.

Bro. Stagg's Masonic affiliations are numerous, including besides the Blue Lodge, the Commandery, Scottish Rite and Shrine. He was entered, passed and raised in Hobasco Lodge No. 716, of Ithaca, on April 9, 1908 and is still an active member there. He started on the York Rite in Eagle Chapter No. 58, R.A.M., at Ithaca, and Jan. 16, 1916 was Knighted in St. Augustine Commandery No. 38, also at Ithaca. Later he became a member of Southern Tier Council No. 16 R. and S. M. He started the

R. W. Bro. C. T. Stagg

A. A. Scottish Rite at Ithaca in the Ithaca Lodge of Perfection and finally became a thirty-second degree Mason in June, 1919, at Otsenigo Consistory at Binghamton. Later that month he became a Noble of Kalurah Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., also at Binghamton.

Masonic honors have fallen thick upon him. Eagle Chapter selected him as their High Priest in 1916. In 1919 he became Worshipful Master of his Blue Lodge. His Masonic connections now began to branch out and became statewide. In 1922, the Grand Chapter R.A.M. of New York State elected him Grand High Priest. And at present he is chairman of the Grand Chapter's Committee on Tuberculosis Relief. He is also a member of New York State Grand Lodge and is serving on that body's Committee for Revising Crook's Manual of Masonic Law. Last month at a regular meeting of Hobasco Lodge the members of Acacia had the pleasure of witnessing the presentation to Bro. Stagg of a beautiful purple apron, trimmed in gold, his official badge as representative to New York State Grand Lodge from the Grand Orient of Turkey. He has not as yet been able to give a literal translation of the Turkish inscriptions but fortunately the distant brethren were thoughtful enough to include thereon the English equivalent.

He was elected to Acacia in 1912 and made the long and toilsome journey on April 12. After completing his active service he became one of the Chapter's most active and reliable alumni, and is serving now as vice-president of the Alumni Corporation. He has ever proved himself a true Mason and Acacian, a brother to whom the Chapter must ever be grateful for sage advice and generous material aid. May we have many others like him.—F. W. & E. W. H.

The Plumb

Build up your life like the Temple of old
 With stones that are polished and true;
 Cement it with love and adorn it with gold
 As all Master builders should do:
 Upon a foundation, well chosen and strong,
 Build now for the ages to come:
 Make use of the good, while rejecting the wrong—
 Test all your work with the plumb.

R. Claud Bradley Accepts New York Position

"I came in Acacia as a mystery and I leave to enter another sphere of mystery." Even so, we are sure that our esteemed "Brad" will find that the future is a mystery which he will solve as easily as he did the mystery of Acacia. Even now he is making good with the Pacific Coast Egg Producers Association in New York City as a research man.

Claud justly deserves the love which all his acquaintances have for him and especially that of his brother Acacians. They realize that during the four years he has been an active member of Cornell Chapter he has done more for his fraternity than any of his brothers. His untiring efforts have already been instrumental in securing a site for our new home, and tentative plans for that home. His minor activities for Acacia are far too numerous to list, for he has always had time for anything which would be of benefit to his fraternity, especially the petty tasks which take time and must be done, but which most of us leave for some one else to finish. Probably Claud has bid more of the members of Cornell Chapter than any other man, alumnus or active, the total number running well over forty.

He hails from Missouri, where he attended the State Teachers College. Here honors were also his. Besides being a member of the track team for four years and of two honorary educational societies, Phi Sigma Pi and Kappa Delta Pi, he graduated with highest honors in his class and has the unique distinction of being the only person to receive three bachelors' degrees (A.B., B.S., B.S. in Edu.) from this institution all at the same time. All told he received four degrees there, the other being a Bachelor of Pedagogy. And this all happened in seven years between 1913 and 1920, during which time "Brad" spent a year and a half in France with the A.E.F., serving in the trenches with the Infantry.

He has also been active in Cornell since he arrived, having obtained an M.S. in Agriculture and his Ph.D. During this time he has also been an Instructor in the Poultry Husbandry Department.

Masonic bodies which list Claud as a member are Moberly (Mo.) Lodge No. 344 F.&A.M., Eagle Chapter No. 38, R.A.M. (Ithaca) and St. Augustine Commandery No. 58 K.T. (Ithaca).

We take this opportunity to wish him the success which he richly deserves in his present and future undertakings. And now that he is in the "Big City" we momentarily expect to receive those long discussed cigars which will be in honor of something more exciting than his birthday, which we have "smoked on" so often. Some young lady down there ought to be able to teach him things he never learned preparing for his six degrees, even though he was specializing in chickens.

—A. R. & E. W. H.

DEAR ART,

I am truly ashamed of myself for not having written to you long before this. I have been kept so much on the jump since coming here that I have never really felt that I could sit down and do a letter justice.

There are really more doings of a social nature here than at Cornell. This is probably due to the fact that the faculty is smaller and, therefore, all the more intimately associated.

This school is growing rapidly, since 1923 its enrollment has increased from 1500 to over 2500. The Acacia chapter here is doing fine.

Remember me to the boys at the house. I sure miss them, and how I miss those Monday night meetings. Mary sends her very best.

Very sincerely,

JACK

(Ed. Note—The above extracts from Jack Lothers' letter show us that he is living up to "Human Service." He is now Prof. of Engineering in Okla. State A. and M. College)

From "Luke" Jones comes news that he has taken over his duties as Assistant Professor of Agronomy at Texas A. and M. College, College Station, Texas. You will find Luke's name linked with that of a very fine young lady in the Cupid's Calendar section of this issue. We wish them the best of success and happiness in their new home.

DEAR TINY:

How is every one at the old homestead? It seems like years since I departed into the unmerciful world.
This fall I am not coming back. It was great to dream of grad. work and the like, but now I am working and just simply cannot tear myself away from the job. All together now, boys.
That was some cheer.

Well, old dear, how goes it? Are there many boys at the house? If I were a little nearer we might shoot a game of billiards or play a hand of bridge.

As I said before I am working for the Atlas Powder Co. They have a rayon plant here and I have been doing quite a bit of night work there.
Just now I am on the twelve to eight shift. The other morning I saw the sun rise for the first time since the last Spring day hop. It was just great except that I had been indulging in a different kind of exercise. Tonight I must saunter forth again to my task in the pale beams of the yellow moon.

Best regards to all the boys at the house. Let me hear the news.

Fraternally,

Oscar

(Ed. Note—We understand that Oscar has an option on the railroad to Philly. Who could resist one that writes such romantic letters as the above?)

DEAR BRO. HUGHES:

Sorry to have delayed so long, giving such an important item for publication under the caption of "Cupid's Calendar" in the TRAVELER.

The information requested above is as follows: Francis M. Golterman, dated August 24, 1925, place of ceremony, Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the "Little Church Around the Corner" in New York City.

Our home is located at 54 Harris Ave., Albany, N. Y. We are always at home to any Acacia Brother passing this way.

With kindest regards to all the brothers, I am

Fraternally yours,

CARLOS BIDGOOD

DEAR TINY:

If I remember right you said to write when I had time and that is now. It seems that there is less time now than there was when I was in school, at least I have very little time for myself.

How is everything going down at Ithaca? Suppose preparations are being made for the coming term. In some respects I am sorry not to be returning but I know that cannot be.

Farm Bureau work is body building insofar as time spent on duty is concerned. Last week our County fair took place and that caused a lot of extra work. However, I like the work very well.

I saw Thompson and Abbey yesterday at a regional conference of Farm Bureau committeemen and managers held at Gowanda. Everything is going O. K. with them. Guess married life isn't hurting Tommy much. Abbey seems to be thriving all right on Farm Bureau work too. I'll be looking forward to the first issue of the TRAVELER.

Fraternally,

HUMP

DEAR TINY:

How are you and every one at the house? Mildred tells me that you have been enjoying some of our 106 deg. weather. How do you like it?

I am enjoying the summer with my mother and sisters. I went up north to a lake for a few days fishing. Yes, we have a few hollow spots on this level prairie that will hold enough water to grow 32 lb. pike, but do not get the impression that I caught one.

Extract from a letter from

CHAS. WILLETS

DEAR BROTHER BRADLEY:

I left Potsdam last spring and came to Ogdensburg. Potsdam is a mighty nice town, but I thought that there were some better prospects here and have been doing very nicely since I came here. . . .

I send you all my very best regards and best wishes for a very good year, I am

Fraternally yours,

DAVE CHENEY

DEAR EMMY:

This place may be small but believe me they make a fellow work. Of course there are all the "advantages" of the city, but there are no campus activities to divert one's attention. Everyone at the house knows what a wonderful correspondent I am, the letters I have sent to each and every one are equal to the replies that I have received. But to lay the jokes aside, I would like to know how the gang is and how many are back.

Best regards to the gang,

TOM (BOLLES)

MY DEAR "HORSE POWER",

Your letter came Tuesday, but I've been kinda' busy so haven't answered. This is a great big city: Ha! Something fascinating about it all, but I have not had time to figure it out yet, since the days pass by rather rapidly. I am staying in Douglaston, Long Island, at the home of "Doc" Bennett, one of the alumni of Cornell Chapter. They have a splendid radio, and we have entertainment at night as we play three-handed bridge.

I haven't done any research yet; just been getting my laboratory equipped, etc. I think I will like it here, although I'm not going to commit myself. I know that the work with the men will be quite pleasant since most of them are Cornell men, and you know how inspiring Cornellians usually are. There are several fairly nice looking girls here in the office,—don't know their "status" as yet, however.

It was rather difficult to leave Ithaca, but it is done. I appreciated extremely the thoughtfulness of you men in coming to the station with me the night I left. Keep on your toes for new members. With such a large turnover of men each year it will be necessary to do so in order that the chapter improve. Now that I'm gone, I will always stand by as a loyal helper because of my deep heart-felt interest in the life of our fraternity. I think back many times over pleasant associations and of a "great principle" and I shall so live as to always bring honor to it.

Don't forget where I am when any of you come this way.

Sincerely and fraternally,

CLAUD (BRADLEY)

MY DEAR ROBEY:

I wish to congratulate you and your able staff upon the splendid issue of the TRAVELER that you got out for June, 1926. It is a humdinger, probably the best that any Chapter has got out this year. More power to you and the Cornell Chapter.

Fraternally yours,

W. ELMER EKBLAW

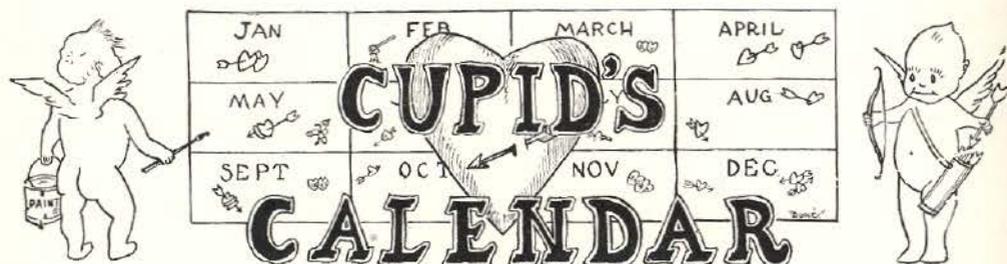

DEAR FRITZ:

I want to thank you again for your kindness shown me and my gang and for all the troubles I caused you. Thank the boys for me also, as we enjoyed the trip, the game, and the warm homelike hospitality given us. It seemed like being in my second home again, only that the trip and stay was so short, all that was wanted and desired could not be accomplished; which made it, in a way, sweeter as it left a positive attraction to get back again as soon as possible. Best regards to the boys.

HANS

(Extract from letter of
L. O. Goodman)

We wonder what Doc. Ulmer does, on certain occasions, with that queer shaped vase which decorates his room.

In the two preceding issues this page has recorded the frightful slaughter Bro. Cupid has inflicted upon the rank and file of the Cornell Chapter with his charmed weapon. This time, for the most part, these old names appear again, and in a connection which many hard-boiled old bachelors consider far more serious and lamentable than a mere engagement. However, more optimistic ones may extend the above warlike simile by likening these newly attached brethren to the Heroes of old who, when wounded beyond recovery on earthly battlefields, were carried away by the Valkyrie to live in eternal happiness in the Halls of Valhalla. This is rather an unpardonable mixture of Teutonic and Graeco-Roman Mythology, but will serve to indicate that we wish these couples happiness and success in their present undertaking.

In building up the permanent library of the house we are binding the issues of our national magazines. We have found that several copies of these publications are missing from our files and before these volumes for the library may be bound, these copies must be procured. We, therefore, would appreciate your sending any of those copies listed below that you may have to our Librarian, Mr. Charles K. Tucker at 614 E. Buffalo St., Ithaca. Although it is of inconvenience to you, it will render a lasting service to your fraternity which could be accomplished in no other way. As soon as these volumes are completed and bound we will gladly furnish abstracts of any article which may be found in them. We feel that this will be, in part, remuneration for any copies you may be able to send in. The list of missing copies is as follows:

ACACIA JOURNAL. Vol. 12, No. 1.
Vol. 13, Nos. 2, 3 and 4. Vol. 14,
all except No. 1.

ACACIA SPIRIT. Vol. I (1917-1918),
all except No. 1.

ACACIA JOURNALETTE. All copies dated before 1922.

TRIADOT OF ACACIA. All copies dated before 1922.

Promptness in sending your contributions will be doubly appreciated.

No doubt you noticed that the envelope in which this issue arrived had directions printed for the postmaster of your city to forward the copy direct to you "postage due" if your address had been changed and the new one was known to him. This is done so that you may have your TRAVELER at the earliest possible date if you have changed your address, thinking that you will gladly pay the two or three cents charge for this service. As we have no way of obtaining the new address in this new system, it will be up to you who receive postage due copies to send us your new address in order to get the next copies.

First House Dance

The 13th of November, contrary to expectations, proved to be one of our lucky days. Our football team had pulled a great victory from the fire in the last minute of play, defeating Dartmouth 24 to 23. Consequently the spirits of Acacians, in common with the multitude which witnessed the game, rose to lofty levels, and the dance that night furnished a medium in which to celebrate the victory.

The dance was primarily planned for the many Acacia alumni who attended the afternoon classic, and, as many returned, old ties of brotherhood were renewed with approval throughout the evening. The enthusiasm of the "old grads" and their wives as they welcomed each other is something which we will always remember, especially when we become "old grads." We are sure that they spent an enjoyable evening; and as for ourselves it was glorious.

Jack Gaines, chairman of the social committee, had succeeded in obtaining an orchestra which gave us the best music to which we have danced in some time. The decorations were also the subject of comments of approval. The two front rooms being decorated in the red and white of Cornell, the living room in the green and white of Dartmouth, and the library in the gold and black of Acacia. All of these library decorations were in the forms of right triangles, and with our electrically jeweled triangle as a fitting display over the mantle, were quite unique. —A. F.

House Purchases New Victrola Holds Informal Parties

Having recently made the last payment on our grand piano, and believing that investments of a more or less permanent nature should be made for the house each year, we decided to purchase a new phonograph. The old one which had been in use over ten years, a remarkable period of service for a much used piece of fraternity house furniture, no longer met the requirements of the house. After due comparison and deliberation on three of the latest improved models of different makes, the Orthophonic Victrola was a unanimous choice. It has by far the best tonal qualities, has no disadvantages of filament tubes which not only give a "canned radio" effect but also frequently need replacing, compared very favorably also in volume of tone or loudness, and in the electric self-winding device.

Because of the large percentage of "Scotchmen" in the house it was decided to kill the second bird with the one piece of granite while the machines were "on competition" by having an informal dance and party.

This was held on the evening of October 23. Music was constant throughout the evening for as soon as one record was played, another was started on a different machine. Bridge was enjoyed by those who did not care to dance. Chaperones for the party-dance were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Honey, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Strong.

It seems that this party met with genuine approval for on November 20, just a week after the first house dance, a second party was held. Decorations put up for the dance were yet in place and added to the gayety of the evening. As we had made our choice of machines and the others were returned, the orthophonic was kept "red-hot" by the dancers. Bridge was played by several during the evening. We again had the pleasure of having Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Strong as chaperones.

Light refreshments were served at each of the parties. —A. R.

The Fall Formal Dance

The crowning event of the fall social calendar was our formal dance on December 10. It was a fitting climax to our social activities before departing the next week for our homes and sundry other places for the Christmas holidays. Knowing this would be true, "best-girls" were dated for the occasion weeks beforehand.

And music:—your feet couldn't be kept quiet. Chairman Gaines and his able committee obtained a most excellent eight-piece orchestra. Tastefully arranged decorations were suggestive of the approaching holiday season. Red and white streamers in various designs were supplemented by evergreens to give a most pleasing effect.

With such surroundings and music, it would have been no small wonder to find anyone who did not obtain the utmost of enjoyment and pleasure. And to complete the festivities, we were ideally chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reed and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Strong. —A. C. F.

Big Billiards Battlers Believe Bunching Balls Best Bet

On the evening of October 24, plans and pairings were completed by the Acacia Pool and Billiards Assoc. for the first Acacia "38-scratch" Billiards Tournament and on October 25 before a large enthusiastic gallery, Cotner and Lewis crossed cues in the first singles elimination match. Shortly thereafter Robey and Hughes met Emslie and Ulmer in the first doubles match and the big tourney was well started. Scarcely a day has passed without a crop of upsets. Mere beginners have risen to glorious heights and favorites have often fallen in unexpected defeat. Each contestant is playing with grim determination but the highest grade of sportsmanship prevails and no arguments have been aired before the Supreme Rules Committee of the A. P. & B. A.

Of eighteen entries in the singles division but two have survived the stiff competition. Mortimer upset all the dope when he eliminated "Fireman Jo" Huttar in a thrilling preliminary. In the deciding game "Pete" ran over and lost his string, but calmly continued his whirlwind shooting, caught the valiant fire-fighter at thirty-eight and bucked off for a spectacular, rip-roaring victory. The doubles have not as yet produced anything unusual.

When interviewed by our reporter recently, Robey, the "Tiny Texas To-reader," and outstanding star at present, was claiming an easy march to victory in both singles and doubles. But there is every chance that dark horses may win either event. V. D. "Art" Boyles has refrained from contesting in order that there might be an even fight for last place. It is rumored in the market place that "Big Bill" Mills and "Art" would make a good average team.—E. W. H.

Acacia Has Prominent Half Page in Masonic Temple Dedication Issue of Ithaca Journal News

Purposes of the Fraternity, Its History, and a Resume of the History of Cornell Chapter Given, Also Several Shorter Articles Featuring Prominent Ithaca Acacians

On the evening of the Masonic Temple dedication, October 2, 1926, the Ithaca Journal-News devoted an entire section to the Masonic bodies of the city. In this section were several articles concerning Acacia and Acacians. Among those which featured prominent Cornell Acacians residing in Ithaca were: "Willard W. Ellis Is Only Ithacan to Attain Highest Masonic Rank, Elevated to 33rd Degree in 1925"; "Many Honors in Masonry to C. T. Stagg"; "Eagle Chapter Over Century in Existence; R. F. Chamberlain Present High Priest." Acacians mentioned as past or present officers of the various bodies, or on committees for the new Temple were: R. H. Heath, H. C. Reed, W. W. Ellis, C. T. Stagg, F. S. Rogers, C. L. Walker, B. B. Robb, W. C. Andrae, J. A. Bizzell, R. F. Chamberlain, and G. R. McDermott.

NEW MEMBERS

ANDREW GORDON BEDELL

"Shorty", as we affectionately call him, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on the first of April, 1904. Six months later he reports that he was moved to St. James, Long Island, N. Y., and it seems that this new residence was found to be agreeable for he finished his grammar schooling here.

Next he went to Huntington High School which was some fifteen miles distant. And being a typical commuting resident of this section quite a bit of his time was spent on the trains between his home and the school. His weariness of these daily rides was ended by his graduation. During his last year he was manager of the track team, which was done quite well as the team won the county and district meets. He played on his class basketball team and on the Boy Scout baseball and basketball teams which were champions of the Suffolk County Boy Scout Leagues. "Shorty" was also somewhat musically inclined, writing the "Color Song" of the high school in his senior year.

During the year after his high school achievements he learned the rudiments of manual labor and decided that this was not the sort of life he desired. During this year he became master of a certain "Lizzie," even to the art of using bailing wire in a pinch.

Cornell welcomed "Shorty" as a freshman in 1924, and a seeker of a B.S. in Agriculture at some future date. He has played on the college baseball and soccer teams and should be a decided asset to the Acacia teams in the Interfraternity League.

Bedell was raised Sept. 16, 1926 in Suffolk Lodge No. 60 of Port Jefferson, N. Y., one of the oldest lodges in the state, having been organized in 1797. He was initiated to Acacia, October 30, 1926.

WAYNE EDWARD KUHN

Kuhn's recollections of his early life are somewhat hazy, but as near as he can remember he was born in Oshkosh, Wis., on October 25, 1903; a year later he moved out into the great northwest.

So we find him at Jefferson High School in Portland, Oregon, where his middle name was activity. He was on the debate team, in the orchestra, a member of the Hi Y organization, organizer and president of the Trails Club, president of the Camera Club, on the track team, the basketball team, the wrestling team, and placed in the city mat competitions, and a member of Multnomah Athletic Association.

At Reed College where his undergraduate work was done, it seems that the surplus energy left over from his high school career was partly expended. A member of the football team three years, in the dramatic club, President of the Chess and Checker Club, on the student affairs committee, house president of his dormitory house in his senior year, played in one of the jazz orchestras, and was a member of the mountaineering club of the N. W., Mayama. In the summertime Kuhn worked in the Portland Postoffice, and when work could be avoided he would go hiking and fishing in the mountains.

Kuhn came to Cornell in 1925 as an assistant in chemistry, and is taking his graduate work in that department. He again holds his place on the staff this year. With this and his various athletic, scholastic and outside activities, we expect much from him.

He was a charter member of the first organization of our junior brothers, the DeMolay, in the N. W. He was raised in Unity Lodge No. 191 of Portland on August 16, 1926 and became an Acacian on October 30, 1926.

HERBERT DAVID LAUBE

Herbert D. Laube began a life of many experiences at Brodhead, Wisconsin, on Oct. 15, 1880. To skip over his education briefly we will mention the list of degrees which he could attach after his signature, but being a modest man usually refrains from so doing. These were B.L. in 1903 from the University of Wisconsin, A. M. in 1911 from the University of Michigan, LL.B. in 1916 from Columbia University, and S. J. D. in 1924 from Harvard.

Laube has not made a profession of going to school either for his work which has been in various sections of the country plainly shows that he is a teacher of merit. In public school work he was Superintendent of Schools at Milton, Wis., for two years and held the same position for a like period at Brodhead, Wis. He was a teacher of Civics in Dickinson High School at Jersey City, N. J. Also he was an instructor in Green County Normal School at Monroe, Wis.

He has held assistant professorships as follows: St. Louis University Law School, 1924-25, Drake University Law School, Summer 1925, Cornell University Law School, 1925 to some unknown future date.

Nor has Laube made teaching a sole profession, for he practiced law at Milwaukee, Wis., for three years, was Journal Clerk and Parliamentary Counsel in the Wisconsin State Senate for three years. Also he was War Aims Lecturer for the Department of War in the summer of 1918.

Laube was raised in a daylight session of Bucknell Lodge No. 94 of Brodhead, Wis., in February, 1908, on the 50th anniversary of the founding of that lodge. He was initiated to Acacia on October 30, 1926.

WILBUR ERNEST MESERVE

Wilbur E. Meserve was born on January 4, 1901, in Gorham, Maine. He attended the public schools of this town and graduated from high school in 1918.

He entered the employ of an electrical concern in Portland, Me., and started his higher education in the College of Technology of the University of Maine in 1919, from which school he obtained a B.S. in Electrical Engineering in 1923. Here he was a member of the Radio Club, Physics Club, student branch of A. I. E. E. and was student assistant in the E. E. Dept. in his senior year.

After graduation he accepted a position as Student Engineer in the Research and Development Department of the Bell Telephone Co. He did graduate work in Columbia University while in New York City. His next position was that of Instructor in E. E. at the University of Maine, and while there he obtained his M.S. with Physics as his major subject. He entered Cornell this fall as an Instructor and Graduate Student in the E. E. Dept. and is a candidate for the M.E.E. degree.

Meserve was raised on April 25, 1923 in Harmony Lodge No. 38, at Gorham, Maine. Was a member of The Order of The Temple, the Masonic Club at the University of Maine. He was initiated to Acacia on October 30, 1926.

WILLIAM OSCAR SELLERS

Our only freshman was born in the piney woods of Southern Mississippi on January 13, 1900, and it was in these that he spent his childhood, fishing, gathering hickory nuts, and many other things which bring fond memories of years gone by to some of us. He walked seven miles each day in order to go to school at Moselle, Miss. He entered Jones County Agricultural High School at Ellisville, Miss., in 1918 and graduated four years later. He was a member of the club which did choral and dramatic work in this school and at his graduation was distinguished by being awarded the citizenship prize, which distinguished him as the best citizen of his school.

Sellers entered Cornell in 1923, but had to return home very shortly because of sickness in his family. While he was at home he became manager of a lumber mill which he made a paying proposition for the first time in several years. Being active in his church he was elected president of the Baptist Young People's Union, and was a teacher and assistant superintendent of the Sunday School. Sellers re-entered Cornell this fall and is a candidate for a B.S. in Agriculture.

He is on the freshman wrestling team and a bright prospect is given for the varsity squad of the coming years.

He was raised in Leaf River Lodge No. 19 of Moselle, Miss., on Jan. 2, 1926, and initiated to Acacia, Oct. 30, 1926.

RUSSELL JOHN SMITH

Russell John Smith having decided that he preferred having May instead of June as a month in which to celebrate his birth, was born late in the evening of May 31, 1903 at Shiocton, Wisconsin. Being quite a lively chap he moved several times, the exact number being rather large is beyond his memory. In spite of these roving he finished grammar school at Kaukauna, Wisconsin, and entered high school there.

His next move must have been the proverbial three jumps to the king row, for in 1923 he graduated from Baldersville High School in the town of the same name in New York. His outside activities were limited to various plays which were given by the high school dramatic association.

Deciding to conquer the world he worked on a poultry farm for nearly two years. Here he found that he wasn't quite as big as he once thought, and that if his world were conquered he must have a broader background. The results is as you have guessed, he entered Cornell.

Smith was raised in Hobasco Lodge on Oct. 28 and initiated to Acacia, Oct. 30, 1926.

WALTER NATHAN VINCENT

Another electrical engineer is now a member of the Cornell Chapter in the person of Walter N. Vincent who was born October 31, 1901 at Brooklyn, N. Y. And it was here that he first went to school.

We next find him attending high school at New Hartford, N. Y., where he graduated in June, 1919. Outside of regular studies Walt played baseball in high school and this spring should find him a valuable asset to the Acacia team of the Interfraternity League. After his high school days another jump finds him in Utica for three years doing electrical contracting. The same old story of course from there on. The laboring boy sees that his education is not specialized enough to give him the leadership he deserves and with that thought in mind he turns to College.

So Vincent came to Ithaca to partake of knowledge in Cornell and of course entered the electrical engineering branch. He has been on both the crew and soccer team of his college and made rapid strides in that bro-mide of all frosh, the R. O. T. C. and became a Captain in the Signal Corps. His work in this line brought him a coveted membership in the honorary military fraternity, Scabbard and Blade. Next June Vincent will be among the class of graduates, with an E. E. degree.

Vincent was raised May 21, 1926 in Amicable Lodge, No. 664, of New Hartford, N. Y. He comes from a lineage of masonic men. One of these ancestors, his grandfather, Thomas Vincent, was Grand Master of the State of Rhode Island in 1886-1887. He was initiated in Acacia, October 30, 1926.

The article concerning the fraternity directly was very complete in giving the history of the National Fraternity and of the Cornell Chapter, and the purposes of the Fraternity. As an introductory paragraph, the following was given:

"Although the Acacia Fraternity has been in existence for more than 20 years and now has 33 active chapters, the Cornell Chapter having been founded in 1907, many Masons know nothing of the organization, and many others confuse it with the many Acacia Clubs that dot the country."

Then comes the story of the founding, the heated debates over choice of name, the purposes of the fraternity, and a complete history of Cornell Chapter which told not only of its early struggles for existence but also bringing up many very interesting topics about which a large number of the alumni and actives either had forgotten or had never heard.

FINANCES OF THE CORPORATION

BY LELAND SPENCER
PRESIDENT OF THE CORPORATION

Due to the removal of Brother Lothers from Ithaca, the corporation has been without a Secretary-Treasurer for about two months. The directors have not yet found a convenient opportunity to meet for the appointment of Brother Lothers' successor, but will undoubtedly do so quite soon. The writer has assumed, temporarily, his former duties as treasurer and is responsible for the financial statements that appear below. He will also be glad to receive payments on the $100 notes (of which many are due) and to look after any other business of the corporation until a new Secretary-Treasurer is appointed.
