Overview

This bibliography was compiled for the University of Tennessee's Agricultural Serials Digitization Project that was funded by Project Ceres. Project Ceres is a collaboration between the Center for Research Libraries (CRL), United States Agriculture Information Network (USAIN), and the Agriculture Network Information Collaborative (AgNIC). This same project also funded the digitization and preservation of Tennessee Farm News, Tennessee Farm and Home Science, and the Extension Special Circulars.

This bibliography was compiled in the citation manager Zotero with citations exported from University of Tennessee Libraries' catalog, and WorldCat. A link to the Zotero group is here: <https://www.zotero.org/groups/2362118/utkprojectceresbib>. Links to catalog records and catalog description information can be found in the Zotero group.

The scope of the bibliography was directed by Project Ceres guidelines. The bibliography includes University of Tennessee Experiment Station and Extension Service serials published through 1988. Included are: titles of the serials, not titles of individual issues; title history, including name changes; and the dates covered by the title, along with the number of volumes in the series. Information about titles that were microfilmed is also included to document past preservation efforts. Excluded are: monographs, maps, pamphlets; entries for individual issues in a series; and county level publications. The purpose of this bibliography is to document the history of University of Tennessee Experiment Station and Extension Service publications, as well as to track what has been digitized and to guide future digitization projects.
