

ILR FACULTY PROMOTED

The promotion of three ILR faculty members, effective July 1, was announced recently.

J. Gormly Miller, College Librarian, is being promoted to full professor; Mrs. Alice Cook and Robert F. Risley are being promoted to associate professors.

Prof. Miller was graduated from the University of Rochester and has a B.S. in Library Service from Columbia University. He came to ILR ten years ago as Assistant College Librarian; and three years later was made Associate Professor.

Prior to coming to Cornell he was head of the Rochester Public Library's Social Science Division. He was senior assistant for the same organization. He is author of two school bulletins "Sources of Information on Union-Management Relations" and "Manpower, Wages and Labor Relations in World War II."

Prof. Miller is currently supervising plans for the new ILR building.

Mrs. Alice Cook first came to ILR as director of the School's union education project on community participation. This year she is teaching courses in labor union history and administration. Prof. Cook has served as adult education adviser to the German High Commissioner, and as industrial secretary in Chicago and Philadelphia YMCAs. She has taught in various schools for workers. (more)

TRAINING INSTITUTE TO OPEN MAY 28

The sixth annual Institute for Training Specialists will be held on campus May 28-June 1 at Statler Hall. Conference theme will be "Developing and Conducting Training Programs."

A special feature of this year's program is the scheduling of three interest-groups for two-hours each morning and afternoon of the Institute. The interest-groups will cover five areas: Basics in Developing Human Resources; Need Analysis; Program Building; Methods as Tools; and Programs for Special Groups.

In addition to the interest-groups, general sessions each morning will focus on broader phases of training.

Addressing the opening luncheon Monday, May 28 will be Ewan Clague, Commissioner, Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Other key speakers are Prof. Alpheus Smith on "Motivation: A Must in Manpower Development"; Arthur K. Brinthal, Manager, Training and Personnel Research, Goodrich Rubber Co.; Andrew A. Daly of IBM's Department of Education, and President, American Society of Training

(see p. 3)

"For Our Information" is issued by the Public Relations Office, New York State School of Industrial & Labor Relations for faculty, staff, students and friends. 56-2132

A graduate of Northwestern with a degree in speech, Mrs. Cook did advanced study in Germany at the University of Frankfurt and at the College of Political Science in Berlin. She is author of the school bulletin "Labor's Role in Community Affairs."

Robert Risley teaches in the field of personnel administration. He serves as coordinator of special programs, directs the School's summer program, and acts as program director for the School's four-week program for executive development.

Prof. Risley served as administrative assistant to Dean Catherwood for three years. For a year he was consultant on faculty personnel policies to the State University of New York. A '48 graduate of Union College, Prof. Risley received his M.S. in ILR and Ph.D. at Cornell. His publications include "Economic Security, A Study of Community Needs on Resources" (with John McConnell) and "Report of Committee on Personnel Policies" (for State University of New York).

BANKERS CONFERENCE MAY 22-25

May 22-25 are the dates of the sixth annual Savings Bank Personnel Management conference to be held on-campus. Personnel officers and others savings bank officers in the state who have major responsibilities for personnel will attend.

Speakers will include both ILR faculty and leaders from outside: James J. Bambrick, Labor Relations Specialist, National Industrial Conference Board, will open the program with a talk on "Present Day Labor Relations-Fact or Fancy"; also scheduled are Warren Ranney, Director of Education and Training, Cooperative Grange League Federation; H. Bruce Palmer, President, The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company; and ILRers Alpheus W. Smith, Harlan Perrins, Robert Risley and Ralph Campbell.

FATHER KELLEY SCHOLARSHIP WINNER NAMED

Charles Levenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Levenstein of 134-43 231st Street, Laurelton (N.Y.) has won the $1200-a-year Father William J. Kelley scholarship to the ILR School. The award is given by Local 3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Announcement and presentation of the award were made April 25 by Prof. James Campbell of the Office of Resident Instruction, following luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Present were IBEW officers, Cornell faculty, management representatives from the building trades, and other applicants for the scholarship. Father Kelley, in whose honor the scholarship is named, addressed the meeting.

Levenstein is a senior at Andrew Jackson High School. He is in the top fifth in a class of 630 students. He is circulation manager of the school art-literary magazine; editor-in-chief of the senior year book; student court judge; and president of the Hebrew Culture Club. He is a member of Arista (honorary society) and won first place in a school short story contest.

ADVISORY COUNCIL TO MEET AT ITHACA

The ILR School's Advisory Council will hold its Spring meeting on campus May 24 and 25.

Directors; George W. Brooks, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers; Paul T. Clark, Manager, Technical Products Division, Corning Glass Works. Concluding address will be "Top Management Support--Who Doesn't Have It?" by Charles W. Foreman, Coordinator, Management Methods, United Parcel Service.

ILR faculty members leading interest-groups are William Whyte, P. J. McCarthy, Harrison Trice, Robert Risley, Alpheus Smith, Matthew Radom, and John Brophy, who is program chairman.

SUMMER CONFERENCES SCHEDULED

On-campus conferences planned for the summer months (exclusive of the one-week seminars) include a preponderance of programs for labor groups. Prof. Eleanor Emerson is program chairman for all labor conferences. The schedule follows:

- July 6-8 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 3 (women)
- July 12-15 " " " " " " " " (men)
- July 15-20 Conference for Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees
- July 15-20 Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen
- July 22-27 Conference on Educational Methods
- July 30-Aug. 3 Industrial Communications Council Seminar (Hodges)
- Aug. 5-11 United Steelworkers of America

ILR SPRING PICNIC

The annual ILR picnic for all staff and students and their families is being held Tuesday, May 15 at 4 p.m. at Taughannock Falls State Park, North Pavilion. Supper will be catered and there will be plenty of liquid refreshments.

Working on picnic plans are Harlan Perrins, Eleanor Goodman, Mark Chesler, Barbara Cleveland, Betty Mathoney, Scott Cutlip, Pat O'Connor, Jack Leonard, and Ruth Olmstead.

Highlight of the entertainment is the annual softball game between the faculty and students. Grads are already practicing.

LIBERIAN GOVERNMENT GIVES NEW GRANT TO CORNELL

The Liberian government has announced a new grant giving ILR's Prof. Milton Konvitz and his staff $80,000 for the next three years to prepare Liberian Supreme Court decisions for publication, to draft new laws as they are needed, and to revise parts of the present code as this becomes necessary. Previous volumes include the Supreme Court decisions up to 1926. Prof. Konvitz estimates that five or six volumes will be needed to bring this work up to date.

President William V.S. Tubman of Liberia has announced adoption of the code of his country's laws which was prepared at Cornell by Prof. Konvitz and a staff of lawyers. Negotiations are under way with the Cornell University Press to publish the new code. It will be a four-volume work of 2,000 pages which took more than three years to prepare. Liberia's Attorney General C. Abayomi Cassell, in announcing adoption of the new code, praised Dr. Konvitz and his staff for their "great, noble and inspiring work."

NAMED TO MEDIATION PANEL

Three ILR faculty members--Profs. Vernon Jensen, Milton Konvitz, and Robert Raimon--have been recently appointed to the panel of arbitrators of the New York State Board of Mediation.

JAMES RETURNS FROM INDIA

ILR grad student Ralph James has recently returned from a year abroad-- mostly in India. Purpose: to do research on Labor's Response to Rationalization in the Indian Cotton Textile Industry. En route he spent several weeks in Lancastershire studying the British cotton textile industry. From there James went to Switzerland to attend the ILR meetings, arriving in India last August. He spent about half of his time in Bombay, cotton textile center.

Back in the States James faces the writing of his thesis under his chairman, Prof. Arnold Tollos.

In India James met Mr. Rajaram and Mr. Kolte, two Indian trainees who once spent six weeks at ILR.

ILRERS ATTEND ROCHESTER MEDIATION MEETING

Prof. Jean McKelvey served as chairman for a public meeting of the New York State Board of Mediation April 20 in her hometown of Rochester. Two hundred and fifty representatives of industry, labor and the public attended the meeting. ILRers attending were Dick Gordon, Vernon Jensen, Leonard Adams, Martin Wagner; graduate students Charles Coleman, Madhurendra Varma, and Braj Narayan (a mediator in India). ILR alumni present were Ray Pierce, Bill Asher and Arnold Harster, all of Rochester. Former grad student Pat Hodges helped out with registration.

GRAD STUDENTS FIELD BALL TEAM

"Play ball" echoes from the green of Upper Alumni field these Friday afternoons as ILR's graduate softball enthusiasts take to the field. Led by manager Fred Bushhouse who plays center field, other niners are Brian Landes at catcher; Pete Fornal at pitcher; Sy Lehrer at first; Sig Giambruno at second; Dave Swindells, third; "Slugger" Bontkowski at right field; and Ed Czarnecki at left field. Bill Irving, Guy Boaudoin, Jim Howard and "Pop" Leonard lend occasional support.

Plagued by rainy weather, the ILR niners to date have won a game against the Aeronautical Engineers and have had two games called.

SENIOR BANQUET TO BE HELD

ILR seniors will hold their banquet Wednesday, May 16, at 6:30 p.m. at Ithaca Hotel's Dutch Kitchen. Dean Catherwood and Prof. Jean McKelvey will be speakers, with Dick Veron serving as toastmaster. Entertainment will feature the class will and an all-time ILR prelim.

This year's banquet, the second to be held, is sponsored by the ILR Student Council.

IRRA SPRING LECTURE

On Tuesday afternoon, May 22, William H. Davis, former director of the War Labor Board, will speak on "Labor Relations Policies of World War II" at the annual Spring lecture of the local chapter of IRRA. The lecture will be at 3:00 p.m. in Olin M. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The lecture is being sponsored jointly by the Cornell Chapter, IRRA and ILR School.

TO BE MARRIED

The engagement of Miss Eleanor Goodman and Prof. Rudolph Corvini, both of the ILR Office of Resident Instruction, was announced a few days ago. The wedding will take place in Ithaca June 13.

PERSONNEL CHANGES

Mrs. Patricia (Pat) Barry, a Rochesterian and a graduate of the U. of R., has been hired to work with Prof. Wayne Hodges on his community relations research project. Pat, whose husband is a graduate student in Conservation, was for ten years a reporter on the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. The Barrys have a two-year-old son.

Mrs. Rose Marie Dresser, secretary to Profs. Radom and Trice, plans to leave School shortly to await the arrival of her first child.

Three Ithaca High School seniors are currently working parttime in the School's steno pool. They are: Connie Rotunno (in Room 47); Anna DiRusso (in Room 15) and Joanne Testut (in the library).

Mrs. Mary Evangelista of the ILR library catalogue room has resigned her position.

BOFFA NAMED TO STRAIGHT BOARD

ILR junior Bob Boffa was recently selected as chairman of the Board of Managers of Willard Straight Hall. Boffa has been active in the program of the student union since his freshman year. He was a member of the Straight Freshman House and Publicity Committees and served as co-chairman of the Men's Activities Committee last year.

Boffa holds a four-year Father Kelloy Scholarship at ILR.

CoFC GROUP TO MEET JUNE 5-6

The labor relations committee of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce will visit the campus and ILR June 5 and 6 in a get-acquainted session with ILR School. They want to learn more of the curriculum and operation of the School. Larry Hulse of Syracuse's GE plant, is chairman of the group. Prof. Donald Cullen is in charge of the committee's visit.

FACULTY SEMINARS

About 30 ILR faculty heard Prof. William Whyte discuss his book "Money and Motivation" April 24 at the second faculty seminar. Panel members participating in the discussion were Ralph Campbell, Duncan MacIntyre and Visiting Professor Matthew Radom.

On Monday, May 7, L. R. Boulware, Vice President, Employee, Community, and Public Relations, met informally with ILR faculty members, for a discussion of GE's employee relations policies.

REPRINT ISSUED

Alan McLean, ILR fellow in industrial psychiatry, is author of Reprint #43 in the School series. Reprint is titled "An Industrial Psychiatrist Looks at Employee Communications" and reprinted from The Personnel Journal, Feb., 1955.

PLAY BALL!

The School has just purchased softball and volley ball equipment which is being initiated at the ILR picnic this week. The gear is for use by on-campus conferences and ILR staff. Permission to borrow equipment should be obtained from the Administrative Assistant.

ELECTED TO HONORARY

Two ILR seniors have been recently named to Quill and Dagger, Cornell senior men's honorary: Bob Boffa and Tom Itin.

PEOPLE ARE WONDERFUL

Four ILR alumni returned to Cornell for the Arbitration Conference May 8-9: John Maschman of Solvay; Frank Mascola of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service; Bob Taft of Fenestra, Inc.; and Ted Newman of the U. S. Army.

- - - - -

John Paterson, Administrative Assistant, is attending the State University Administrative Conference at State University Teachers College, Potsdam, May 14-15.

- - - - -

Catherine Howard (secretary to Prof. Ferguson) and her mother recently spent 17 days on a southern jaunt--destination West Palm Beach. They returned north via Tennessee. Catherine has the only sun tan at ILR.

- - - - -

Prof. and Mrs. Robert Aronson will sail Friday, June 8 for their postponed week-long cruise to Nassau. Mrs. Aronson won the trip in an Ithaca merchants' contest.

- - - - -

Prof. John Brophy will address the National Catholic Conference on Schools of Nursing at their national convention in Milwaukee May 20 on "Concepts in Collision."

- - - - -

Prof. Arnold Tolles spoke May 3 on "Guaranteed Annual Wage" before the Torch Club of Elmira.

Mrs. Tolles is currently spending six-weeks visiting her daughter, Pat and family in Hawaii. En route she plans to visit daughter Harriette in Utah.

- - - - -

Frances Eagan, ILR's editor, spent a week's vacation early in May visiting her mother at Port Jervis.

- - - - -

Profs. William Whyte and John Windmuller will attend the annual research conference sponsored by the Labor Market Research Committee of the Social Science Research Council in Minneapolis in late May.

- - - - -

Anna Lane, secretary to Prof. Konvitz, commissioned to bring back a baby alligator from a recent trip to Florida, did so. He proved to be a good traveler.

Visiting Professor Martin Wagner is teaching a four-week course on "The Concepts of Arbitration" for stewards and officers of the Scintilla Division of Bendix Aviation in Sidney, N.Y.

Carol and "Bart" Bartlett of Ithaca are parents of a son, David, born April 23; he weighed more than seven pounds. Carol formerly worked in ILR's steno pool.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of ILR senior Sharon Jean Lee of Forest Hills to Pvt. Nathaniel Babat of Forest Hills. Her fiancée was graduated from University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce. The couple plans to be married in June.

Richard Metzger of Groton, an ILR sophomore, has been elected second vice president of the Cornell Student Council.

Prof. Wayne Hodges has been invited to speak 150 commercial department managers of the New York Telephone Company at a community relations to be held May 28 and 29 at Schroon Lake.

Dr. Temple Burling attended a meeting of the American Psychiatric Association in Chicago April 30-May 3.

Prof. Robert Ferguson served on a three-man committee of awards in the contest for the Woodford Prize in Public Speaking on campus last month. ILR seniors Alfred Apfel and Oliver Lednicer were among contestants.

Profs. Robert Ferguson and Fred Slavick attended the spring meeting of the Industrial Relations Research Association in Milwaukee May 3-5.

CORRECTION! It was incorrectly stated in last month's FOI that Mary Wager of Extension was a "Mrs." She is still unattached.

WOMAN OF THE MONTH

If Rae DeAngelis' life has proved one thing--it is her adaptability. Life has been a succession of quick-changes for her, starting in her hometown of Mansfield, Ohio--right up to the present. In succession she has been student, secretary, housewife, mother, secretary, mother, nursery school operator, and secretary again.

Rae graduated from high school in Mansfield, attended Ohio State University for a year. She had planned to major in textiles and clothing. However, she met her husband, a senior in accounting at OSU. She quit school, got married, and worked in Lazrus' department store personnel office in Columbus. Her husband's family owned a chain of credit clothing stores and he worked for them. When their son Bob was 18 months old, her husband was killed when a train hit his car. Rae then combined forces with her mother-in-law and saw some rough times during the depression. She worked in a credit clothing for $10 a week, six days a week, 12 hours. She kept books, trimmed windows, unpacked and marked merchandise.

Happier and more affluent days came when she started working at the Veterans Administration Facility (now Hospital) in Chillicothe. She started as secretary to the construction engineer, incidentally adding new words to her vocabulary.

Through an uncle who worked for Veteran Rehabilitation in southern New York, Rae and her son became New York Staters. In 1944 she became secretary in the Educational Rehabilitation Office in Ithaca at 13 East Avenue, present site of Statler. There she met her present husband, Elo, who now, as then, works for Cornell's Building and Grounds Department. After their marriage Rae worked a year as secretary to Prof. F. F. Hill of Agricultural Economics.

When Nancy was four, Rae went to work at Home Economic's Department of Child Development and Family Relationships as secretary to Dr. Feldman. She worked directly with the nursery school and loved every minute of it. After a year she quit to stay home with a very rebellious Nancy. This, Rae says, is when she began asking questions of Dr. Feldman and others on the staff with a view to starting a nursery school of her own. She opened the school at her home at 226 Eddy St. with six children, three girls and three boys (including two Egyptians)--all offspring of Cornell graduate students. Her school was an unqualified success and only space limitations prevented Rae from developing it further. Her set-up was approved by a county welfare worker who sent youngsters to her from time to time on a temporary basis -- wards of the county or children from broken homes.

Highlight of the nursery school's activity was a walk on the campus; sometimes to visit former office friends; sometimes to visit the Ag College's cow-barn population. Bus-riding (at no expense to the children or to Rae) was another favorite sport. Via city bus Rae's charges inspected the fire stations, and took in the Lehigh Valley Railroad station and trains. Bus passengers used to look at Rae, with her brood of six, and say pityingly, "Poor woman!"

Rae's son, now married, is attending engineering graduate school at Ohio State, where his mother and father once were students.

In her present IIR position as secretary to Profs. Robert Raimon and Jim Morris, Rae has exchanged the problems of the pre-school youngster for the quite different problems of labor market economics and labor union history.

SUMMER CONFERENCES SET

On-campus conferences and workshops --14 in number--to be run by ILR during the next two months are divided evenly between labor and management groups.

Lead-off conference in the series of six one-week, non-credit is the seminar on Conference Leadership the week of June 25, conducted by Prof. Harrison Trice. Five additional seminars follow: Human Problems of U.S. Enterprise in Latin America, directed by Prof. William F. Whyte, assisted by Prof. Allan Holmberg of Cornell's Department of Sociology and Anthropology (July 9-13); Wage and Salary Administration by Prof. Harlan Perrins (July 16-20); Community Relations for Business and Industry by Prof. Wayne Hodges (July 23-27); Interviewing Methods and Techniques by Dr. Temple Burling (July 30-Aug. 3); and In-Plant Communications by Prof. Wayne Hodges (Aug. 6-10).

A special week-long conference, in cooperation with the Industrial Communications Council, led by Prof. Wayne Hodges, is being put on July 30-Aug. 3. The ICC consists of people who attended last summer's In-Plant Communications seminar. Subject will be "Automation: Its Social and Economic Consequences and Its Implications for In-Plant Communications."

Seven educational conferences for labor groups are scheduled on campus during July and August. Prof. Eleanor Emerson of Extension is in charge of these programs.

PROF. WHYTE TO EDIT HUMAN ORGANIZATION

In mid-summer Prof. William F. Whyte will assume editorship of "Human Organization," quarterly official publication of the Society for Applied Anthropology. His term of office is for five years. Publication headquarters will be at ILR School, with an executive secretary, as yet unnamed, to work out of Prof. Whyte's office. The Society, of which Prof. Whyte is a charter member, includes anthropologists, sociologists and psychologists. It attempts to bridge the interests of academicians and administrators of both community and industrial kinds of organizations.

PROFL TOLLES NAMED TO WAGE BOARD

Prof. N. Arnold Tolles has been recently appointed chairman of the New York State Minimum Wage Board for the Cleaning and Dyeing Industry. The board members were installed by Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin, head of the State Labor Department on Thursday, June 7 in New York City.

The nine-member panel, consisting of three employer members, three labor members, and three public members, will immediately begin its study of wages in the cleaning and dyeing industry.

"For Our Information" is issued by the Public Relations Office, New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations for faculty, staff, and students

56-2375

First in the series is a weekend conference for women members of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 3 (July 6-8). Following is a similar four-day program for Local 3 men. Discussion topics will be Handling Grievances and Working with Union Members.

Four additional education conferences are set for Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (July 15-20); for Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees (July 15-20); for Upstate New York District of International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (July 27-29) and for District 4, United Steelworkers of America (August 5-11).

A week-long conference on Educational Methods for union officers, business agents and staff members, co-chaired by Lois Gray of the New York Extension Office and Larry Rogin of the Textile Workers, will be held July 22-29.

LIBRARY STAFF CHANGES

Several changes and shifts among library staff will take place this summer. Bernard Naas will take over as Acting Librarian in the absence of Gormly Miller, who goes on sabbatic August 1. Mrs. Greta Fuller '55 has been named Circulation Librarian. She has been Acting Assistant Reference Librarian.

Katherine Spinney, Assistant Librarian and head of the Catalog Unit for the past 5½ years, is leaving ILR in August to take a position as head librarian with Industrial Relations Counselors in New York City.

Grace Horton, Junior Librarian and Assistant Head of the Catalog Unit, will take over Kay's job. Grace has been in her present post for the past eight years.

Paul Mahany, ILR grad student, will continue to edit Abstracts and Annotations during June and July.

Mrs. Lillian Payne, senior circulation assistant, has resigned her position. She is being replaced by Mrs. Marie Burnett who was circulation clerk. Joanne Testut, a June Ithaca High graduate, has moved into Marie's former job.

Peg Yengo, library catalog clerk, will leave ILR at the end of the summer to accompany her husband to Canton, N.Y. Her husband, Carmine, a Cornell Ph.D. candidate and former ILR library employee, will teach at St. Lawrence University.

Two library staffers, Elizabeth Edwards and Elizabeth Knox, will leave later this summer to enter college--Liz Edwards will attend New York University; Liz Knox will enter Cornell's College of Arts and Sciences.

SABBATIC-BOUND

Librarian Gormly Miller begins his sabbatic leave August 1. He has planned a three-part program of work. In addition to continuing on as coordinator of ILR's new building plans, he intends to revise and enlarge his school bulletin Sources of Information on Union-Management Relations (1950) and to revise his course, ILR 391, Sources and Materials in Industrial and Labor Relations. He will remain in Ithaca.

ALUMNI RETURN; SENIORS GRADUATE

Saturday, June 9, saw the return of ILR alumni to the School barracks where they were entertained by the faculty at a buffet breakfast in the School's faculty lounge.

Alumni signing the guest book were Judy (Resnick) Chabon '53, Bob Chabon '52, Bob Abrams '53, David Kopko '53, Howard David '53, Riley Morrison '50, Ralph Dona '50, Ed Powers '53, Teresa Feller '51, Jack Golodner '53, R. D. MacTavish '53, and ILRers Bob Risley, Bob Raimon and John Windmuller.

The following Monday, June 11, ILR graduates returned to ILR with their parents and guests following graduation exercises for their annual luncheon.

E. W. Lareau, Ph.D. candidate, is an administrative engineer, Foster Wheeler Corp., New York City.

VISITING FELLOW AT ILR

Prof. Sabahaddin Zaim from the University of Istanbul, Turkey, has been named visiting fellow at ILR. Prof. Zaim, who teaches labor economics and social policy, has a Ph.D. from the University of Istanbul. His doctoral thesis was on wages in the Istanbul textile industry.

Prof. Zaim, with headquarters in Room 42, will be on campus for the rest of the year.

STAFF ORGANIZATION ELECTS OFFICERS

At the spring meeting of the ILR Staff Organization on May 10 the following were elected: Barbara Procter, secretary; Education Committee: Lydia Dodge, chairman; Laura Keenahan, Jane Webb; Social Committee: Bonnie Gavitt, Mary Wager; Grievance Committee: Addie Tracy, chairman; Barbara Breckenridge, Frances Reddick.

On May 24 about 34 ILR staffers gathered at Willard Straight for their annual spring luncheon. Doris Stevenson introduced all newcomers and oldsters.

IRRA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The following officers of the Cornell Chapter of Industrial Relations Research Association (IRRA) were recently elected for 1956-57:

President, Tom Patten; Secretary, Greta Fuller; Executive Board: Bob Finder, James Morris, John Windmuller, Roger Walker, Jack Leonard.

THREE ILR WEDDINGS

ILR had three weddings within two days--June 12 and 13.

A genuine ILR wedding was that of Miss Eleanor Goodman of Ithaca and Prof. Rudolph Corvini, both of the School's resident instruction staff. They were married Wednesday morning, June 13 at the Unitarian Church, Ithaca. Following a small reception at the bride's home the couple were seen leaving Ithaca in their appropriately bedecked Ford--destination unknown.

Judith Zucker, ILR grad student, was married June 12 at Anabel Taylor Hall to James Stewart of Cleveland Ohio, a June graduate of Mechanical Engineering. Judith's home is in New Rochelle. Stewart, who holds a ROTC Navy commission, will enter the Navy at Norfolk, Va. Judy plans to spend the summer working on her master's thesis.

Diane Barkdoll gave a variety shower and dinner for Judy in the ILR faculty lounge May 24. Ten ILRers were present.

Eleanor Beeson of Ithaca, who has worked on ILR conferences, was married on June 12 at the First Baptist Church, Ithaca to Stewart Gully of White Lake, New York. Gully is a June Hotel School graduate. He will enter the Navy at Newport, R.I. The couple plans to live in a trailer nearby.

PERSONNEL CHANGES

The usual school-end turnover in staff has hit ILR.

Kenneth Holford is ILR's new mail clerk. Kenneth, whose home is in Interlaken, is married and has one child. A graduate of Romulus (N.Y.) High School, Holford was supply clerk at Sampson Air Force Base.

Betty Matheny has resigned the ILR conference secretary job to become administrative secretary to John Burton, Cornell Vice President-Business. Replacing Betty as conference secretary is June Price, who has been secretary to Prof. Whyte. She will handle management conferences for the summer; Toni Nell, will have responsibility for labor conferences.

Assisting with conferences for the summer is Adrienne McNair, a Cornell senior in Arts. She has worked part-time for ILR previously.

Agnes Sinniger, former Cornell grad student, will come later this month to help on conferences also. Agnes worked for us last summer.

David Morrison and Tony Caputi, both of the English Department staff, will serve as conference recorders.

Mrs. Bernice Oltz has returned to ILR after time out to have son Mike, now 17 months old. Bernice, who now works for Prof. Slavick, will start work in Room 13 for Profs. McConnell and MacIntyre early in July.

Ann Woodring has moved from Room 20 to Room 15 where she is now secretary to Prof. Trice.

Katherine Anderson has replaced June Price as Prof. Whyte's secretary. She formerly worked for Dr. Burling.

Rosemary Saltsman, secretary to Profs. McConnell and MacIntyre, plans to leave her job early in July. Her husband, now stationed in Fort Carson, Colo., is slated for transfer to Germany in August.

Mrs. Alice DeLoeth is the new secretary in the Western District Extension office in Buffalo.

Mrs. Dorothy Lee, former secretary in the administrative offices, has left ILR to return to West Virginia for the summer.

Yvonne Hall, a student at State Teachers College, Cortland, is working for three weeks this summer, prior to attending summer school. She is a former extension secretary.
