CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Summer Session

JULY 7—AUGUST 15, 1941

Nearly a thousand teachers were in attendance at the Summer Session of 1940. One hundred and twenty-five of these were professors or instructors in colleges and universities; the others were teachers or administrative officers in public or private schools. These teachers are usually enthusiastic about Cornell, and they send us some excellent students from their schools.

If you know of teachers who are planning a program of Summer Session work, won't you please send us their names and addresses? Send them to

CORNELL DAY BRINGS 600 SCHOOLBOYS

Selected By Alumni To Visit University

Ithaca weather smiled for the eighth annual Cornell Day when 602 prospective Freshmen, selected from their schools by local alumni, came to visit the University. They saw the Campus with the leaves of the elms just showing green; they toured the University completely, lived in fraternity houses, and were entertained royally by undergraduates who had spent weeks in preparation to give them a good time. The boys were brought to Ithaca by alumni "chauffeurs" representing twenty-six Cornell Clubs and by other Cornellians and friends.

The number of boys this year was 100 fewer than last year; the result, as explained by William J. Thorne '11, chairman of the Alumni Association's committee on relations with secondary schools, of rigid quotas set for all Clubs and of more careful selection than ever before. Every boy had been interviewed by an alumni committee before being invited, and those who came were selected as the best prospective Cornellians. Thorne pointed out that this program of the Alumni Association, assisted by University authorities, Faculty, and undergraduates, has resulted in some 1100 guests of former Cornell Days now being enrolled in the University: about one-fourth of the present male undergraduates.

Cars began to unload at Willard Straight Hall soon after noon on Friday, and until late evening boys were registered in Memorial Room and introduced to their student hosts from fraternity houses. Alumni, their charges disposed of, were assigned to rooms and thereafter were free to enjoy themselves in their own ways until they picked up their loads Sunday morning to start home.

After dinner in their fraternity homes-for-the-week-end, the boys spent Friday evening getting acquainted with their undergraduate hosts, and many visited the Engineering Show where students had arranged a multiplicity of demonstrations and exhibits, an open house in the College of Architecture, an exhibit put on by pre-medical students in Stimson Hall, and a carnival in Barton Hall staged by the Ag-Domecon Association.

Saturday morning, they were conducted to the various Colleges in which they were interested, attended Professor Arthur W. Browne's lecture on liquid air in Baker Laboratory, and had opportunity to talk with students and Faculty members about the work of the University. The afternoon was spent at the Freshman baseball game with Penn State on Hoy Field and at Schoellkopf Field watching the track meet with Princeton, followed by a scrimmage of the football squad. Later, many went to the Inlet to see the 150-pound crews row and watch a flying demonstration by student pilots.

Most fraternities had Faculty speakers at dinner Saturday night, to tell the boys about Cornell and answer their questions. Then all went to Bailey Hall for the Cornell Day Rally arranged by an undergraduate committee, with Raymond W. Kruse '41 presiding. They were entertained by the Glee Club singing Cornell songs; by Charles A. Norris, Jr. '23 describing his "first trip to Ithaca" with sound effects; Gilbert H. Cobb '41 singing the "Sophomore Song"; Richard H. Lee '41 whistling and singing in combination; the Senior Quartet in several selections; and Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 with his banjo and Kruse at the piano. Schoolboy guests were welcomed by Jack C. Antrim '41, president of the Student Council, and were addressed by President Edmund E. Day.

The President told the guests that among the things they had been able to see in their day at Cornell were the beauty of its physical setting, which "fortifies the work of the University and remains in the life of all Cornellians as a source of inspiration;" the informality, joy of living, and lack of smugness which make for lifelong associations of value; and the cosmopolitanism of students "from all classes of society, all sorts of communities in all regions, and from many other countries."

He said that other things, equally authentic, had not been seen: "This is a hard-working Campus. A large proportion of our young men and women have long since learned the value of time and money. This is also a Campus of extraordinary individual independence. We have a long-standing tradition against paternalism by the Administration or Faculty. That tradition has been described as combining freedom and responsibility: freedom to do what one chooses, responsibility for what it is that one chooses to do. Deeply imbedded also in the life of Cornell is the great tradition of liberalism which now stands more and more openly against the terrifying drive of those totalitarian powers which oppose it."

Advising all prospective college students to "keep your heads and plan wisely for the long pull," the President warned that "external psychology will

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

WRITES TO "HEAD MAN"

TO PRESIDENT DAY:

Speaking of publicity, I wish to note my approval of the April 24 issue of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS. It indicates steady improvement in form, substance, and sense of proportion. The cover is an arresting, concentrated picture of strikingly important activities. The inside emphasizes substantial educational programs and accomplishments in proper proportions with athletic adventures.

Were I rich, the first thing I would do would be to grant you a fund that would insure that this publication be sent to every alumnus and to many others. No alumnus can read it without feeling glad that he did not go to any other university.

—JOHN T. MCGOVERN '00.

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

Besides the four new members of the Faculty announced in the ALUMNI NEWS May 1, the Trustees also appointed Dr. Samuel L. Leonard of Rutgers University to be associate professor of Zoology in the College of Arts and Sciences, beginning July 1. He received the BS at Rutgers in 1927 and the MS and PhD at University of Wisconsin. For two years, 1931-33, he held a fellowship of the National Research Council at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, then was assistant professor of biology at Union College and has been assistant professor of zoology at Rutgers since 1937.

In the College of Agriculture, Leo A. Muckle '16, Extension Service and assistant county agent leader, and Donald S. Welch, PhD '23, Plant Pathology, were promoted to professorships. Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, of the University Faculty was appointed professor of Entomology, and Dean Carl E. Ladd '12 of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics was appointed professor of Agricultural Economics.

Forty-one assistant professors July 1 will become associate professors, with indefinite tenure. In the College of Architecture, John A. Hartell '24 becomes associate professor of Architecture. In Arts and Sciences, Frederick O. Waagé becomes associate professor of Fine Arts and M. Lovell Hulse, PhD '34, associate professor of Education.

Promoted in the College of Engineering are Professors Oscar J. Swenson and Charles C. Winding, Chemical Engineering; Earle N. Burrows '07, Civil Engineering; Lawrence A. Burckmyer, Jr. '25, Michel G. Malti, PhD '27, and Everett M. Strong, Electrical Engineering; Paul H. Block, Machine Design; Stephen F. Cleary '23, Engineering Drawing; George R. Hanselman '22, Administrative Engineering; Warren H. Hook '08, Heat-Power Engineering; Joseph O. Jeffrey '25 and John R. Moynihan '26, Experimental Engineering.

In the Law School, new associate professors are Arthur J. Keffe '24 and George T. Washington.

New associate professors in Agriculture are George S. Butts '25, Extension and supervisor of Farm Study Courses; Robert F. Chandler, Jr., Forest Soils; William J. Hamilton, Jr. '26, Zoology; David B. Hand, PhD '30, Biochemistry; Theodore R. Hansberry, Insect Toxicology; Glenn W. Hedlund, PhD '36, Marketing Extension; Edwin R. Hoskins '18 and William A. Smith, Rural Education; Georges A. Knaysi '24, Bacteriology; Robert A. Polson, Rural Sociology; Joseph P. Porter '17, Ornamental Horticulture; Glenn W. Salisbury, PhD '34, Animal Husbandry; and Earl Y. Smith, Poultry Husbandry.

Olga P. Brucher, Alice Burgoin, Ella M. Cushman, and Faith Fenton will become associate professors of Home Economics; Muriel Brasie, Mildred Carney, and Florence E. Wright, extension associate professors of Home Economics; and Mrs. Helen Paine Hoefer and Orilla Wright, assistant State leaders of home demonstration agents, associate professors in Extension Service.

In the Veterinary College, Joseph A. Dye, PhD '25, becomes associate professor of Physiology and Alexander Zeissig '23, associate professor of Bacteriology.

Friedrich Solmsen, acting assistant professor of Classics, was appointed assistant professor, and three instructors were promoted to assistant professorships: A. Henry Detweiler and Thomas W. Mackesey, Architecture, and Ralph K. White, Psychology.

MEMORIALIZE ICKELHEIMER

The University Board of Trustees at its meeting April 26 adopted the following resolution in memory of Henry R. Ickelheimer '88, who died December 8, 1940:

In the death of Henry R. Ickelheimer '88, Cornell University has lost not only an outstanding and devoted alumnus but an able and loyal Trustee, who for forty-six years constantly and conscientiously carried out his responsibility to his Alma Mater.

His distinguished career as a banker in his firm of Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co. and in other important directorates only served as a background for usefulness in many fields of philanthropy and civic affairs. He was a courteous and modest gentleman of broad culture in literature, art, and music.

The Board of Trustees of Cornell University hereby records its pride in his fine and useful life and achievements; its gratitude for his gifts of his valuable counsel and of his funds; and its high respect and affection for him as a colleague.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Two weeks ago, this paper in another column concluded its obituary notice of Mat Sheltz, "He made clothes for President Jacob Gould Schurman."

We recognize that item as a piece of first-class alumni reporting, and as a humiliating scoop of this department. The only reason we didn't write it was because we never heard of it. That's exactly the sort of thing the alumni want to know and are entitled to know.

Some day, when we have recovered from our hurt pride, we shall ascertain and advise you who made clothes for Presidents White, Adams, and Farrand; who makes them now for Edmund Ezra Day.

Just the same, we're pretty sure it wasn't Mat Sheltz who made the Sutherland tweed number that President Schurman always wore, back in the turn of the century, whenever he went skating at Beebe Lake. That was an ancient Norfolk jacket with a loose belt and a single pleat down the back; and it possessed a perennial swagger and good style that no student's clothes ever attained.

President Schurman commonly was a pretty austere person, whose outward demeanor did not invite student intimacy. But when a crisp January Saturday came along, and he broke out the Sutherland tweeds and went skating, President Schurman was a different man. He was an expert skater and knew it; looked well in the Norfolk jacket and knew that, too. The knowledge seemed to remove the last trace of native diffidence, and on the ice he was all smiles and ever the center of a circle of admiring undergraduates.

As a matter of fact, we were proud of him. No student cared a hoot, of course, about the man's intellectual attainments, but you'd have to admit that no other university had a president who could skate like that, or who owned a tweed jacket that made him look like a duke off for an afternoon's tramp over the moors.

Teefy Crane was a good skater, too, but wore the same garments on the ice that adorned him in the classroom: Andrew D. White never skated, as far as I know, but often he came up, stood on the bank, and cast upon the gay scene the benediction of a grin. On such occasions he always wore a stiff, square, felt topper and a fur-lined overcoat with a sealskin collar. Once an ambassador always an ambassador, I dare say!

It's going to take some arduous research to find out who made the Presidential clothes through seventy-five years, because most of the old Ithaca tailors have either died off or moved away. With Mat Sheltz gone, about the only ones left are Charlie Carr and Emil Kohm, and one surmises that both now do more work for grownups than they do for students. I. K. Bernstein is still living, out West some place, and one hears occasionally of Bill Sisson in the present tense; but Benny Rich, H. Goldenberg, Michaelson, George Griffin, McCormick, Morrison, and all the rest have passed on to some special heaven for merchant tailors where all bills are paid on the tenth of the month.

It's a paradoxical circumstance that when the University was half its present size it took five times as many tailors to clothe it properly. I don't know where undergraduate garments come from nowadays. Off the shelf, perhaps?

G-MAN IN JERSEY

Edward E. Conroy '20, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for New Jersey, will speak at the annual spring meeting of the Lackawanna Cornell Club, May 16. The meeting will be at the Canoe Brook Country Club, near Summit, N. J.

MEDICAL ALUMNI MEET

Annual banquet of the Medical College Alumni Association brought 450 alumni and guests to the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City, April 24. Among the guests were Trustees of the University, officials of The New York Hospital with which the College is affiliated, members of the College Faculty and of the Senior Class.

Toastmaster was Dr. Guilford S. Dudley '10, retiring president of the Association. President Edmund E. Day described the role of alumni in helping the continued progress of the College and stressed the need for closer ties between the College and its alumni. Dean William S. Ladd cited the recent growth in quality and volume of research at the College and mentioned some of the Cornell doctors who are assuming high positions in medicine. Dr. Joseph C. Roper '99, professor of Clinical Medicine, recalled experiences as a member of the first graduating Class and traced the growth of the College since.

The Class of '16, celebrating its quarter-century Reunion, announced a commemorative gift to the Student Aid Fund.

Dr. John H. Morris '11, who had been elected the new president of the Medical College Alumni Association, assumed office, as did Dr. Preston A. Wade '22, vice-president; Dr. Laurence Miscall '26, secretary; and Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, treasurer. Directors elected are Drs. George W. Wheeler '07, Kenneth Johnson '15, Jack V. Bohrer '14, Irving S. Wright '23, James H. Kidder '28, and William T. Doran, Jr. '34. Dr. Dudley now becomes alumni representative on the Medical College Council.

COLEMAN '95 TO LEAD LAST CONCERT

His Former Students Come Back To Play

George L. Coleman '95, who has led and taught undergraduate musicians for more than forty years, will conduct the University Orchestra for the last time in its annual spring concert in Bailey Hall May 23. Coleman will retire in June as director of the Orchestra. Playing in this concert will be Hendrik Willem Van Loon '05 and many other alumni whom Coleman directed when they were students here. These alumni friends and many others will also attend a dinner given by the Orchestra for Coleman the next evening, May 24, in Willard Straight Memorial Room. President Edmund E. Day and Van Loon will speak, with Professor Walter King Stone, Fine Arts, as toastmaster.

Guest artist for the concert will be Dorothy Sarnoff '35, soprano, who was a finalist in the recent Metropolitan Opera auditions broadcast by NBC. These concerts and several annual scholarships for student musicians are made possible by a bequest from the late Gerald W. Hinkley '15, who was a member of the Mandolin Club under Coleman's direction.

As an undergraduate in Architecture, Coleman led the orchestra of the Wilgus Opera House, downtown, and for twenty years after the Lyceum Theater opened he directed its orchestra. He received the BS in Architecture in 1895, and soon entered partnership with the late Joseph B. Hickey in a music store, meanwhile giving music lessons to many undergraduates. Since he joined the Mandolin Club as director for its Christmas trip in 1901, he has led student instrumental groups continuously. The Mandolin Club has now grown into Instrumental Clubs of both men and women, and many of the same performers are members of the University Symphony Orchestra.

In 1907, Coleman was appointed conductor of the University Orchestra, reorganized after a lapse of four years. It had started in 1901 with W. Grant Egbert as musical director. With the formation of the ROTC in 1917, Coleman became director of the band, succeeding George Brissette who had been conductor of the Cadet Corps band. He spent the year 1918-19 as entertainment director with the AEF in Great Britain and France, and in 1919 returned to the University as instructor in Music and instructor of the band in the Department of Military Science and Tactics. The Student Council awarded him an Honor Plaque in 1939, and last year he was elected an honorary member of Quill and Dagger.

From his long connection with student musical organizations, Coleman has compiled a history of music at Cornell which awaits only financial assistance to publish.

Van Loon's letter accepting the invitation to play in Coleman's last Orchestra concert, as he had in 1905 as a member of the Mandolin Club, bore on its envelope this characteristic sketch showing the artist trudging to Ithaca with his violin under his arm:

Van Loon wrote to Coleman:

Your program can still be handled, for I have kept the old fiddle up and along . . . that is to say, after a fashion, but occasionally I play with a few good orchestras. You see, I have drifted into a sort of musical second life. These last five years I have brought out six song books, together with Grace Castag-netta, and I am often asked to speak when she plays, as we are considered a sort of musical working team. And I think it is better that the speaker should also be a performer, having writ me a fat book trying to prove that Art should be fun and that everybody should have his bit of fun at some form of art. I then have opportunity to show that I live up to my own creed, and as I do not want to commit blunders of too painful a nature I still play scales every day . . .

Among others of Coleman's former students who will play in the concert and attend the dinner in his honor are several of the Faculty; Harold F. Welch '10 of Niles, Bement, Pond Co., New York City; Franklin H. Branim '11, member of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra; Professor Paul B. Eaton of Lafayette; Tell Berna '12, general manager, National Machine Tool Builders' Association; David Mattern '15, director of music, University of Michigan; William Littlewood '20, chief engineer, American Airlines; George Myers '23, Albany lawyer; Karl D. Van Hoesen '23, Rochester Symphony Orchestra and public school music supervisor; John S. Livermore '26, music supervisor, Rochester public schools; William A. Southworth '32, lawyer in Cleveland, Ohio; Francis B. Rosevear '33, research chemist, Procter & Gamble; Wilhelmina J. Mazar '38, teacher in Mt. Morris.

DEFENSE IN CHICAGO

Speaker at the regular Thursday luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago, Ill., May 1, was Colonel Robert I. Randolph '07. Now attached to the Office of the Quartermaster General, US Army, giving special attention to cantonments, munitions plants, and chemical warfare plants, Colonel Randolph's subject was "Procurement in National Defense."

JERSEY WOMEN ELECT

Cornell Women's Club of Bergen County, N. J., elected officers for next year, meeting April 28 at the home of Dr. Elizabeth Merrill Crowe '21 in Hackensack. Mildred A. Mosier '11 of Demarest is president; Mrs. Henri M. Stewart (Marcelle Pendery) '21 of Ho-Ho-Kus, vice-president; Agnes B. Curtis '12 of Harrington Park, treasurer; Mrs. Leffert H. Carrol, Jr. (Dorothy D. Potterton) '28, secretary; Mrs. Edward T. Brown (Marion E. Covert) '25, corresponding secretary.

Speaker at the meeting was Mrs. Norma Bingham, native of Iceland, who told about her country.

TABLE TENNIS team of Willard Straight Hall concluded its undefeated season by defeating the University of Buffalo in the student union there, 5-2. All five previous games of a home-and-home series with Buffalo, Rochester, and Colgate unions it won 7-0. Captain of the championship team is Jacob Flower '41 of New York City.

About ATHLETICS

TEAM HOLDS LEAGUE LEAD

The baseball team defeated Yale, 3-2, at New Haven May 3 to hold first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League. In a non-League game at Hamilton April 29, Cornell lost to Colgate, 3-4.

The Yale game was a pitchers' battle between Walter J. Sickles '41 and Harrison. The Yale pitcher rang up thirteen strikeouts, equaling the League record, but he also allowed ten hits. Sickles, striking out six, gave up only six hits. The only base on balls was issued by Sickles. Sickles, however, was the better man with the bat. Harrison went hitless, but Sickles drove in Cornell's first run with a triple and also hit a single. He scored two of Cornell's three runs, including the winning run in the seventh inning.

Two were out when Cornell scored two runs in the second inning. Lee Turner '42 scratched a single to Carton, the Yale shortstop, and scored on Sickles's triple. Ronald E. Stillman '42 scored Sickles with a single to right. Robert C. Ochs '42 doubled, but Harrison fanned Michael J. Ruddy '41 to end the rally.

Yale tied the score in the fourth inning as Whelan, Kaye, and Burdett hit successive singles. Burdett's hit to center drove in both runs.

Sickles started the seventh inning by hitting safely for one base, going to second on Stillman's hit, and scoring on a single to left from Ruddy's bat. Yale rallied in the ninth, putting Whelan on second base, but a double play, Ochs to Stillman, ended the game.

Yale set a record by registering only two assists, both by Harrison, the pitcher. The box score:

League statistics show Cornell third in team batting with .264, and fifth in fielding with .940. Stillman is the best of the Cornell hitters with .391. Bufalino, Sickles, and Ruddy are also batting .300 or better.

Cornell lost the Colgate game in the last of the ninth inning when Wood, Colgate's sophomore first baseman, singled to score Bartlett from second in a close decision at the plate. It was Colgate's seventh straight baseball victory over Cornell.

Sickles pitched the first five innings for Cornell and allowed three hits, striking out six batters. Leo Hamalian '42 pitched four innings and allowed three hits.

Singles by Alva E. Kelley '41 and Ochs accounted for Cornell's first run in the third. In the fourth, Frank K. Finneran '41 drove in Walter Scholl '41 and Louis C. Bufalino '42 with a single. Colgate tied the score in the eighth when Captain Donnelly hit a triple with two men on base and scored himself on a squeeze play, with Passabet, the pitcher, doing the bunting. Passabet held Cornell to five hits and struck out ten batters.

ONLY J-V CREW WINS

Varsity and Freshman crews lost to the US Naval Academy on the Severn River at Annapolis May 3, and the Junior Varsity eight won, in a series of close races over a mile-and-three-quarters course. Varsity and Junior Varsity races were won by a quarter of a length, the Freshman brush by three feet. Times are given opposite, under "Scores of the Teams."

Varsity crews rowed with a following breeze against a flood tide. Rowing 32 strokes a minute, the Navy took an early lead and held the advantage until a half-mile from the finish, when Cornell put up the count and began to close the gap. Cornell pulled up even with a quarter-mile to go. Navy's stroke raised the beat to 36, then 38, finally 40: enough to pull away from Cornell. The Academy crew rowed smoothly at this high beat. Cornell also raised the beat, but not quite enough, and Navy slid over the line the winner.

The junior varsities rowed under similar wind and water conditions, and Cornell won decisively, though by a small margin. Closest race was between the freshman eights. Neither shell was ever more than a deck-length ahead, and the lead changed often with the Plebes rowing at a slightly faster stroke throughout.

They rowed on a slack tide and with a light breeze abeam.

The Cornell crews:

Varsity: Bow, Richard Davis '41; 2, DuBois Jenkins '43; 3, Stanley W. Allen '41; 4, John C. Perry '41; 5, Franklin P. Eggert '42; 6, William W. Dickhart, III '43; 7, John G. Aldworth '42; stroke, W. Nicholas Kruse '42; coxswain, Charles E. Boak '41.

Junior Varsity: Bow, Bruce Beh '43; 2, Commodore John W. Kruse '42; 3, Furman South, III '43; 4, Robert J. Harley '41; 5, Robert O. Gundlach '42; 6, Joseph T. Lanman '43; 7, Ormond M. Hessler '42; stroke, Mario Cuni-berti '42; coxswain, Arthur R. Jones '43.

Freshmen: Bow, Allen Webster; 2, Brame Pomeroy; 3, John C. Hobbes; 4, Richard F. Cook; 5, Robert M. Bolz; 6, Robert J. Hart; 7, Henry A. Parker; stroke, Richard O. Jones; coxswain, Arnold B. Tofias.

Varsity and Freshman 150-pound crews competed on the Charles River at Cambridge, Mass., May 3.

The Varsity finished third as MIT won over the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths in 7:16, three feet and one-fifth of a second ahead of Harvard. Cornell, two lengths back, was timed in 7:23.

Harvard freshmen beat Cornell by three lengths, with MIT almost two more lengths behind. The times, for the same course, were Harvard 7:33, Cornell 7:44.8, MIT 7:51.8.

LOSE TWO AT TENNIS

The tennis team lost twice on its week-end trip to New Haven and West Point, bowing to Yale, 1-6, May 2, and to the US Military Academy, 4-5, in an Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association match May 3.

Only Cornell winner against Yale was Captain Kennedy Randall '41, who defeated Thorne, the Yale No. 1 player, 6-4, 6-1. Of the five other singles matches won by Yale, only John T. Riday '41 forced his opponent to an extra set. Rain halted play after the first of three scheduled doubles matches.

The match with the US Military Academy was exceptionally hard fought. Four of the six singles and two of the three doubles contests went to extra sets. Randall, William E. Gifford '41, and John E. Slater, Jr. '43 won in singles and the team of Randall and Gifford in doubles.

GOLF TEAM LOSES TWO

The golf team lost its first two matches in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association at Pittsburgh, Pa., May 2 and 3.

Playing in the Association's southern division, Cornell lost to the University of Pittsburgh, 5-4, on Friday and to Penn State, 8-1, on Saturday.

Singles winners against Pittsburgh were I. Richer Mitchell '43, Harry L. Bill '41, and Sidney B. Slocum '41. Slocum and Kenneth O. Reed '41 combined to win one of the three best-ball competitions.

Clifford A. Stanton, Jr. '43, who lost his singles match to a Pittsburgh player, was the only winner against Penn State.

PRINCETON WINS MEET

The track team lost to Princeton, 57-78, in the annual dual meet May 3 before a Cornell Day crowd of approximately 3,000 on Schoellkopf Field.

For ten events the lead changed hands until Cornell gained a 49-41 advantage with five events to be completed. Princeton then scored a sweep in the pole vault and held Cornell to single points in the 220-yard low hurdles, the 220-yard dash, and the discus throw. Cornell won the final event, the 880-yard run.

Top performance for Cornell was the javelin throw of 193 feet 2 inches by John W. Borhman, Jr. '41. This compares with the meet record of 193 feet 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ inches and the Cornell record of 194 feet 7 inches, both held by Elliott H. Hooper '38.

Arthur C. Smith '43 won the 440-yard run with a flashing sprint. In fourth place rounding the last turn into the home-stretch, he passed two Princeton runners and Captain Robert C. Randall '41 to win by several strides.

Closest finish was in the mile run, where Jordan of Princeton overtook John L. Ayer '41 by a step at the tape.

Princeton dominated the sprints and hurdles. Borhman and Frederick W. West '41, shot putter, were the only Cornell winners in the field events.

The summary:

120-yard high hurdles: Won by Longstreth, Princeton; second, Hart, Cornell; third, Thompson, Princeton. Time, 0:15.6.

220-yard low hurdles: Won by Weil, Princeton; second, Wilson, Princeton; third, Dye, Cornell. Time, 0:26.7.

100-yard dash: Won by Jackson, Princeton; second, Robie, Princeton; third, Robinson, Cornell. Time, 0:10.1.

220-yard dash: Won by Jackson, Princeton; second, Robie, Princeton; third, Randall, Cornell. Time, 0:22.3.

440-yard run: Won by Smith, Cornell; second, Randall, Cornell; third, Essertier, Princeton. Time, 0:49.7.

880-yard run: Won by Ziegler, Cornell; second, Selbie, Princeton; third, Phillips, Princeton. Time, 1:57.8.

Mile run: Won by Jordan, Princeton; second, Ayer, Cornell; third, Lambert, Cornell. Time, 4:30.3.

Two-mile run: Won by Nathaniel White, Cornell; second, Hoag, Cornell; third, Rehm, Princeton. Time, 9:51.4.

Shot put: Won by West, Cornell, 47 ft. 5 in.; second, Hershey, Cornell, 44 ft. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.; third, Mortensen, Princeton, 43 ft. 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Hammer throw: Won by Dillon, Princeton, 151 ft. 6 in.; second, Davis, Princeton, 147 ft. 3 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.; third, McCutcheon, Cornell, 140 ft. 8 in.

Javelin throw: Won by Borhman, Cornell, 193 ft. 2 in.; second, Cierci, Cornell, 177 ft. 5 $\frac{1}{8}$ in.; third, Freeman, Princeton, 171 ft.

Discus throw: Won by Wolcott, Princeton, 135 ft. 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.; second, Mortensen, Princeton, 131 ft. 11 in.; third, Candler, Cornell, 126 ft. 3 in.

High jump: Tie for first between Larson, Cornell, and Watts, Princeton, 5 ft. 8 in.; tie for third between Wharton and Priester, Princeton, 5 ft. 6 in.

Broad jump: Won by Corbett, Princeton, 21 ft. 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.; second, John White, Cornell, 20 ft. 6 in.; third, Crossmore, Cornell, 20 ft. 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Pole vault: Won by Corbett, Princeton, 12 ft. 6 in.; tie for second between Gehman and Staman, Princeton, 12 ft.

HOBART WINS LACROSSE

Hobart's lacrosse team nosed out Cornell, 9-8, at Geneva May 3, staving off a rally in the closing quarter.

Hobart, winning its fourth straight game, gained a 3-1 lead in the first quarter and was ahead, 8-5, as the final period began. Then Cornell scored 3 goals to 1 for Hobart.

The Campbell brothers again set the scoring pace for Cornell. Seth J. '44, who did not start, scored 4 goals and Captain Richard L. '41 scored 3. Gordon H. Hines '42 scored the other.

FROSH WIN AND LOSE

Freshman teams won two of four engagements, exclusive of rowing, last week.

The baseball team lost to Ithaca College, 0-4, on Percy Field May 1 and to Penn State, 3-6, on Hoy Field May 3. The lacrosse team defeated Syracuse, 8-5, at Syracuse, and the tennis team won from Scranton-Keystone, 9-0, on Cascadilla Courts May 3.

Taylor of Ithaca College held Cornell to three hits. In the Penn State game, Edward C. Sargent '45 of St. Paul, Minn., allowed six hits and struck out twelve batters, but four Cornell errors lost the game.

Robert B. Barrows of Albany was high scorer in the lacrosse game, with 3 goals.

SUPPORT OLD-AGE STUDIES

For continuing the research directed by Professor Clive M. McCay, Animal Nutrition, on prolonging life and arresting the changes caused by old age, the Rockefeller Foundation has given the University $60,000, President Day has announced.

Experiments with diet in the Animal Nutrition laboratories have thrown much light on the diseases of old age and on making the last half of life more productive. With this grant, this research program will be carried forward and expanded.

This work in the College of Agriculture received its first impetus when in 1931 the first of annual contributions for research came to the University from Mrs. Adelaide C. Snyder in memory of her husband, the late Harry Snyder '89. It has since been supported also by grants from the Rockefeller Foundation and the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation.

CUSHING GUEST OF WOMEN

Prentice Cushing '05, district director of the Alumni Association, was the guest of the Cornell Women's Club of Schenectady, meeting April 22 at the home of Mrs. Alexander C. Wall (Helena E. Palmer) '37. He told of the work of the Association's committee on secondary schools and summarized reports given at the biennial convention in Boston, Mass., last fall. Mrs. Anthony Hoadley (Elizabeth Little) '24 presided.

A SPORTS WRITER VISITS

(R. B. in "State and Tioga, Ithaca Journal")

Robert J. Kelley of the New York Times was up here last week. He represented himself as coming to look over the Cornell crews, but his real object, of course, was to see the forsythia in bloom along Cascadilla Creek and tumbling over the cliffs along University Avenue. Mr. Kelley's annual forsythia trip has now become an ancient custom of the manor, and a very pleasant one.

Mr. Kelley having now become a high class sports writer, his more recent horse contacts have been exclusively with polo ponies, thoroughbreds, and hunters. Nevertheless, he has not lost his eye to the utilitarian, for at Stoneposts he was much taken with the points of Little Doctor Parker, our Belgian colt who is nine months old, but weighs as much as most polo ponies right now. Once a horseman always a horseman, and a competent sports writer can detect a good horse whether he's starting in the fifth race at Pimlico or training for a plowing contest at Stoneposts.

ENGINEERING HONORS

Guests of the College of Engineering at the annual Honor Day banquet in Willard Straight Memorial Room May 1 were 152 undergraduates who have maintained a scholarship average of 85 or better while enrolled in the College. Dean S. C. Hollister, presiding, read the list of honor students to 300 students and members of the Faculty attending, and he and John P. Syme '22, president of the Cornell Society of Engineers, presented special awards and prizes for excellence in various divisions.

Colonel B. H. Witherspoon, president of the Spencer Lens Co., Buffalo, gave the Honor Day address, on "The Habit of Achievement."

Dean Hollister presented first prize of $80 for the Fuertes Memorial Contest in Public Speaking to Robert K. Finn '41 of Arpin, Wis., second prize of $40 to William W. Sorn '41 of Albany, third prize of $20 to Charles W. Lake, Jr. '41 of Skaneateles. Kappa Tau Chi Award, a key to the Freshman in Administrative Engineering with the highest average, was won by Allan W. Trimpi of Chatham, N. J. Atmos Award, a handbook to the student in Mechanical Engineering with average of 85 or above and who has also been outstanding in extracurricular activities, went to William H. Sens '43 of Hackensack, N. J.

Eta Kappa Nu Award of $10 to the Sophomore in Electrical Engineering who has made the most of scholastic and extracurricular activities went to Dean B. Wheeler of Hancock; Frederick Post Co. Award, a slide rule, to the Freshman with second highest scholastic average in the entire College, to Robert S. Rochlin of Yonkers; Keuffel & Esser Co. Award, a set of drawing instruments, to the Freshman with the highest average in the entire College, to Ralph Bolgiano, Jr. of Towson, Md.; and the Fuertes Medal in Civil Engineering for the highest average through the first term of Senior year, to William N. Freeman of Ithaca.

For the Cornell Society of Engineers, Syme gave book awards to eight Sophomores, two in each School, who had the highest scholastic averages. Recipients were George B. DeLamater of Oneonta and John J. Barnhardt, Jr. of Concord, N. C., Chemical Engineering; Stanley J. Segal of Philadelphia, Pa., and Jerry Cohen of Blytheville, Ark., Civil Engineering; Dean B. Wheeler and Raymond V. Pohl of Vernon, Electrical Engineering; Robert W. Perry, Jr. of Niagara Falls and William H. Sens, Mechanical Engineering.

The Society also made cash awards totalling $100 to eight Seniors of The Cornell Engineering board: David M. Bradt of Erie, Pa., Joseph L. Boyer of Palmerston, Pa., Richard M. Durbin of Kenmore, Colin C. Eldridge of Grosse Point, Mich., Edmund B. King of Meadville, Pa.,

LATIN-AMERICAN CONFRATERNITY

Fifty students from Latin America recently dined together at Leonardo's on Eddy Street to further "the democratic friendship and future union of Latin-American Republics and increase of good relations with the United States." Standing, above, is the chairman of the meeting, José Harari of Montevideo, Uruguay, who entered the Graduate School last fall with one of the graduate scholarships provided by the Trustees for Latin-American students. At his right is Luis T. Nuñez, Jr. '44, son of a prominent Venezuelan newspaper man; at his left, César A. García '43 whose father is the former Minister of Public Works of Colombia and publisher of the newspaper El Liberal.

All present signed a declaration expressing their "most fervent wishes that all the problems that might exist between our Republics be solved peacefully; that the cultural, political, and economic ties be increased; and that we arrive in a near future at the formation of a great Latin-American Confederation of Free Republics which will be strong, rich, and progressive, and where will wave the flag of a true democracy and a positive welfare."

Leonard W. Lewis of New York City, Robert C. Ross of Brighton, and George W. Vreeland, Jr. of Ithaca.

Membership in the American Society of Testing Materials, given to five Juniors, two in Civil Engineering and three in Mechanical Engineering with highest grades in the course in Materials of Engineering, were awarded to Abbott A. Putnam of Corning, Ferdinand P. Schoedinger, and William F. Voeks of Rochester, in Mechanical Engineering; and Frederic C. Burton of Canastota and Howard Simpson of New York City, Civil Engineering. These awards are financed by F. Malcolm Farmer '99, past president of the Society.

Sibley Prizes totalling $100 for Juniors and Seniors in Mechanical and Electrical Engineering with the highest scholastic averages were awarded to Harry J. Lipkin '42 of Rochester, Abbott A. Putnam '42, David M. Bradt '41, Jimmie W. Killian '42 of Brooklyn, George F. Critchlow '42 of Trenton, N. J., and Ferdinand P. Schoedinger '42.

The Dean's Honor List follows:

SCHOOL OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

First-year students: Robert J. Bach, Alfred L. Baker, Jr., Raymond C. Baxter, Donald E. Bruce, Gordon M. Clement, Jack G. Crouch, Harold W. Gallup, William P. Heising, David C. MacLean, David J. Morrison, Kenneth B. Neill, Robert L. Schmidt, Franklin C. W. Shoemaker, DeWitt S. Stillman, Jr., Marion J. Stooker, Wallace H. Toole, William J. Tupper, George D. Ward, Eakin L. Wheless, Jr., Vernon E. Whitaker, William R. Whitaker, Goodwin T. Wilson, Jr., Neil A. Wintringham, Harry A. Wistrich, Jr., William E. Zieman.

Second-year students: John J. Barnhardt, Jr., Robert D. Chaffe, George B. DeLaMater, Karlton J. Hickey, Lawrence Himmel, John A. Newman, Everett F. Perryman, James M. Scovic, John E. Westberg, William E. Woods, Jr.

Third-year students: Austen W. Boyd, James M. Davison, Robert J. Fritz, Gordon Kiddoo, William N. Kruse, Edward D. Lewis, Mircea R. Stat, William H. Tilley, Robert P. Zabel.

Fourth-year students: Robert K. Finn, Irving Gertzog, James M. Meyers, William R. Percy, Sol Ruden, Norman W. Ryan, Julian C. Smith, Jr., James M. Snyder.

Fifth-year students: Robert A. Gumbinner, Edward A. Levine, Ralph S. Ludington, Robert W. Pressing.

SCHOOL OF CIVIL ENGINEERING

Freshmen: Cushing Phillips, Allan W. Trimpi, Charoen Vadhanapanich.

Sophomores: Jerry Cohen, Ellsworth F. Filby, Tom O. Nobis, Stanley J. Segal.

SCHOOL OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

Freshmen: Frederick M. Arbuckle, Ralph Bolgiano, Jr., Charles L. Gamble, Roger S. Jackson, Richard C. Koch, Carl F. Lautz, Jr., Joseph C. Logue, Anthony J. G. Prasil, Robert S. Rochlin, S. John Sheheen, Ernest J. Stern-glass, Milton Stolaroff, Moody C. Thompson, Jr.

Sophomores: Dyer B. Holmes, Donald L. Johnson, Charles G. Morrison, Raymond V. Pohl, Leo W. Schrader, Jr., Dean B. Wheeler.

Juniors: F. Brendan Burke, James W. Coch-rane, George F. Critchlow, Donald W. Hu-man, Jimmie W. Killian, Harry J. Lipkin.

Seniors: Edmund E. Friedrich, Kenneth A. Kesselring.

SIBLEY SCHOOL OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Freshmen: Frederick F. Albert, Leonard K. Berkowitz, George W. Bishop II, Gaston R. Desnoyers, Richard H. Demmy, David H. Esperson, Robert H. Garmezy, Walter B. Gerould II, David W. Johnson, Franklin K. Moore, William Nachbar, John T. Parrett, Francis G. Paul, John C. Pennock, Maurice S. Schaeffer, Frank R. Schneider, Alfred H. Silver, Raymond A. Van Sweringen, Jr., William S. Wheeler.

Sophomores: Scott L. Brown, Jr., David J. Coons, John T. Hodges, Richard M. Junge, Robert W. Perry, Jr., Lowell J. Pierce, William H. Sens, George L. Swallow.

REVIVE "GAY NINETIES"

For Spring Day May 17

Appearance of incipient side-burns and budding handlebar mustaches along with other spring foliage around the Campus heralds this year's "Gay Nineties" Spring Day, May 17. Valuable prizes, the committee says, will be awarded to the student, "man or woman," who grows the finest pair of side-burns for that week-end.

Horses and buggies and appropriate floats of fraternities and Ithaca merchants will constitute a gala Spring Day "pee-rade" Saturday morning from downtown to a Circus of the gaslight era on Alumni Field. Here is planned a bicycle race of mixed tandems, a fraternity dog show, and other attractions in the carnival spirit of "the bygone days when Mother was a girl and Pa was a youngster in Buster Brown collar and short pants." This week, admission buttons were put on sale with portraits of the Spring Day patrons, "Flapper Fan" and "Dapper Dan." Chairman of the general committee this year is Raymond W. Kruse '41 of St. Davids, Pa.

Celebrations will begin Friday, May 16, with arrival of guests for fraternity houseparties and the usual round of pic-nics, dances, breakfasts, and other parties. Friday at 4, the Varsity lacrosse team plays Penn State on Alumni Field. At 8:15 that evening in the Willard Straight Theater, the Dramatic Club will give the first of three performances of a special "Spring Day Music Hall Show." Later, in Barton Hall, the bands of Jimmy Dorsey and Charlie Spivak will play in a setting of Gay Nineties murals for the annual Navy Ball, the proceeds going to support the ROTC Band. Robert W. Haase '41 of Kansas City, Mo., is chairman of the Navy Ball committee.

Saturday afternoon after the parade and circus will see a multiplicity of athletic events. At 2, the baseball team will play Yale on Hoy Field and the Freshman track team competes with Syracuse and Colgate freshmen on Schoellkopf Field. On the courts in nearby Cascadilla gorge, the Freshman tennis team will play Manlius School at 1:30 and the Varsity meets Columbia at 3:30. At 2, freshman lacrosse teams of Cornell and Penn State play on Alumni Field.

Carnegie Cup Regatta starts at 5, with the varsity, junior-varsity, and freshman crews of Cornell, Princeton, and Yale rowing. The 150-pound crews of the three universities will also race. Course is along the east shore of Cayuga Lake, with finish off the Salt Block near McKinney's.

Saturday night, the Dramatic Club will give two shows of its "Spring Day Music Hall," one at 7:30 and one at 9:30, after the crew races.

BASKETBALL IN BUFFALO

Buffalo college and high school basketball coaches were among the fifty persons at a smoker of the Cornell Club of Buffalo April 25 in the University Club. These guests were introduced by Arthur M. Shelton '14, as was Al Heerd, former manager, captain, and coach of the old Buffalo Germans team which won world championships at the Pan American Exposition in 1901 and the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. The modern game was described by James E. Bennett, Jr. '41 of the Varsity team and Robert J. MacDonald '38, Freshman basketball coach. Another speaker was Howard J. Ludington '17, past president of the Cornell Club of Rochester. Presiding as chairman of the smoker committee was George A. Newbury '17.

TO HONOR GAGE '77

Friends of Professor Simon H. Gage '77, Histology and Embryology, Emeritus, are arranging a subscription dinner in his honor May 20 in Willard Straight Hall, celebrating his ninetieth birthday. The dinner will also celebrate the establishment of the Simon Henry Gage Fellowship in Animal Biology, for which an endowment fund was started by Professor Gage's friends and former students on his sixty-fifth birthday in 1916. Contributions have been received in the twenty-five years since by a committee which now consists of Professor Benjamin F. Kingsbury, PhD '95, Histology, and Professor Grant S. Hopkins '89, Veterinary Anatomy, Emeritus. The University Board of Trustees at its recent meeting established the Fellowship in the Graduate School effective next year, with a stipend of $500.

Professor Gage, in excellent health, continues to work almost daily in his laboratory in Stimson Hall.

Tickets to his birthday dinner may be obtained, at one dollar, before May 15, from Mrs. T. Gilbert, Zoology Office, Stimson Hall. Alumni are invited to attend and send greetings.

CORNELL DAY

tend to divert you more and more toward emergency occupations. But America will come through this world crisis and demand service from her citizens such as she has never had before. The men and women who will be needed then are now in training for constructive peace-time service. Until you are called, you can render invaluable service to our country by preparing wisely for the years that lie ahead. Cornell University is making unusual and widespread contributions to this nation's defense effort, and will continue to do so as long as there is need. But the University is also making a great effort to contribute to the fullest in its opportunity to reproduce the experience of a working democracy; of earnest, industrious living in a free society. It is a great privilege to have experienced what this University has to offer."

At Willard Straight Hall after the Rally, undergraduates introduced their guests to the coaches and student editors of publications who were there, and entertained them with a further program in the cafeteria. Robert L. Bartholomew '41 retiring president of the Hall, presented again the Senior Quartet, H. Fraser Bent '44, Frederick M. Shelley III '42, and Lee in successive monologues, and Lee led them in singing Cornell songs. Alumni, meanwhile, gathered in the Johnny Parson Club for their own session of singing and visiting, later to adjourn to the Psi Upsilon house for a party that lasted into the small hours. At midnight, the Chimes broke into music high in the tower, Chimemaster Lee and his fellow-performers having decided that this was a fitting climax to the Cornell Day evening.

At luncheon Saturday, alumni "chauffeurs" were guests of the University. Thorne introduced Bartholomew who spoke briefly for the undergraduates; Emmet J. Murphy '22, Alumni Secretary of the University; and Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary and general coordinator of alumni and undergraduate Cornell Day committees. President Day expressed the appreciation of the University for alumni efforts in bringing Cornell to the attention of outstanding prospective students. He compared universities and government as among the agencies which, unlike the military services, cannot "commandeer" support, but must depend on the volunteer contributions of persons who believe that these interests must be served. Universities, he said, need a larger measure of devotion now than in times of "peace and plenty," and with sacrifice now the order of the day, every intelligent person must decide here and now what are those things for which he must sacrifice and hold on to longest, budgeting his time, money, and energy. "If its alumni understand what Cornell University has stood for from the beginning and what it is going to contribute toward developing a free society in America, Cornell will be included among those things to which we are going to hold fast. It will merit the sacrifices needed to build an ever greater Cornell."

List of the alumni "chauffeurs" who brought boys from Cornell Clubs we shall publish next week.

BOAK SPEAKS TO WOMEN

Alumni Trustee Thomas I. S. Boak '14 will speak at the annual meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of New York, May 14 in the Club rooms at the Barbizon Hotel. Member of the Trustee committee on buildings and grounds, Boak will discuss plans which are being considered for a new women's dormitory to replace Sage College. Committees will make their annual reports and new officers will be elected preceding a buffet supper at 6. Reservations are in charge of Mabel S. Alexander '41, 140 East Sixty-third Street, New York City.

PRESIDENT IN WESTCHESTER

Dinner of the Cornell Club of Westchester County at the Scarsdale Golf Club April 30 brought 125 alumni to "A Night for President Day." The President described recent affairs on the Campus and told how the University is contributing toward national defense. Emmet J. Murphy '22, Alumni Secretary, accompanied him and spoke briefly. Toastmaster was Judge William F. Bleakley '04, county manager of Westchester. Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 entertained with his banjo, Charles A. Taussig '02 leading the singing.

The Club elected as its new president Lawrence S. Hazzard '22. Hosea C. Ballou '20 is vice-president, and Samuel Y. Austin, Jr. '31 is secretary-treasurer.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

FORTY ALUMNI who brought boys to Ithaca for Cornell Day slept in the new dormitory on the top floor of Schoellkopf Memorial. An ALUMNI NEWS investigator received conflicting accounts as to the exact hour at which Trainer Frank Kavanagh appeared Saturday morning to get them out of bed for an eye-opener of gelatine and setting-up exercises.

FACULTY COMMITTEE has been set up to counsel students concerning their part in national defense. Its members in each College will serve as a clearing house of advice and information for students who wish to know about the Selective Service Act and other defense measures.

THIRTY FRESHMEN and Sophomores taking history of architecture courses in the College of Architecture went to New York City the week-end of May 3 to study examples of Gothic and Romanesque architecture under the guidance of practicing architects there. They were accompanied by their instructors, A. Henry Detweiler and Charles H. Warner, Jr.

UNDERGRADUATE WOMEN have elected Jean B. Coffin '42 for her Senior year as a member of the Willard Straight Hall board of managers. She is the daughter of Foster M. Coffin '12, Director of the Hall. To serve for two years on the board they elected Ruth E. Hillman '43 of Upper Darby, Pa.

MATHEMATICIANS numbering approximately 100 from most New York State colleges except in the Metropolitan area attended the second annual meeting of the upper New York section, Mathematical Association of America, in Baker Laboratory May 3. Professor Walter B. Carver, Mathematics, presided at the convention dinner in Willard Straight Hall, and Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, of the University Faculty welcomed them to the University.

VARSITY BRIDGE athletes placed fourth among twelve colleges entered in the second annual intercollegiate tournament at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, New York City, May 3. Harvard won with score of 132, followed by Pennsylvania 119, Princeton 117, Cornell 113. Intercollegiate committee for next year's tournament is headed by Bertel W. Antell '28 and its treasurer is Foster M. Coffin '12. Cornell players this year were Ellis J. Freedman '41 of Albany and George M. Weimann '41 of Budapest, Hungary. They were selected as the result of a tournament run by Willard Straight Hall in which the University championships went to John E. Cullinan, Jr. '41 of Oswego and Sydney T. Cox '43 of Nashua, CORNELL DAY VISITORS, this year as last, were given souvenir programs by Quill and Dagger. The illustrated booklet about the University was planned and written by William J. Huff '41 of the Cornell Day committee. In addition, each boy as he registered was presented a special Cornell Day edition of the book, Our Cornell, compiled last year by Raymond F. Howes '24. This will be remembered as an impressive collection of essays about the University by alumni who are professional writers.

INTERFRATERNITY CHAMPIONS in table tennis are the team of Beta Sigma Rho. The final match of an elimination tournament they won from Pi Lambda Phi, 4-1.

BAILEY HALL was comfortably filled for a dance recital given by Martha Graham April 29, sponsored by the Dance Club and Dramatic Club. Leading man of the company was Erick Hawkins, who taught ballet dancing here briefly last year. After the recital, the company were guests at a reception in Willard Straight Hall.

LECTURES this week include Margaret Mead of the American Museum of Natural History, "Primitive Rehearsals for Democracy," on the Schiff Foundation, May 5; Pierre Coit, former Minister of Aviation and Commerce of the French Republic, "The Riddle of Vichy," sponsored by Telluride, May 7; and Professor Arnold Wolfers of Yale, "Land Power Versus Sea Power in the European War," on the Goldwin Smith Lectureship, May 8.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 11 is the Rev. Frederick M. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association.

ITHACA COMMON COUNCIL, in a special session last week, voted 7-2 to accept a compromise offer from the University to increase its payment for services in lieu of taxes. For the University, Trustee Edward R. Eastman and Allan H. Treman '21, University attorney, offered continuation of the former annual payment of $9,250, with $1,100 additional for services to the Psi Upsilon and Sigma Phi fraternity houses and $600 for services to that part of Barnes Hall occupied by the Cornell Co-Op. In return, the city waived its claim for taxes this year on part of Willard Straight Hall, the Johnny Parson Club, and all Faculty residences on the Campus, but will tax an apartment house, a residence, and vacant lots owned by the University off the Campus.

CORNELL TEAMS won both singles and doubles tennis matches, took first, third, and fourth in archery, and second place in golf in competition with Wells College and University of Rochester at Aurora, May 3.

SCARAB, senior honor society in Agriculture and Hotel Administration, celebrated the election of its Class of '42 members by entertaining invited guests with a program of Negro folk music given by the choir and soloists of Ithaca's Southside Community Center and directed by H. Hamilton Williams, MSA '40, of Roanoke, Va. It was in Willard Straight Memorial Room, May 4.

SIGMA DELTA TAU Grand Council of twenty-three national officers were guests of the Cornell chapter, May 1-4. They met the Faculty at a reception at the chapter house, 706 Stewart Avenue. Among the visitors was Gabrielle T. Sichel '40 of Philadelphia, Pa., who is national publicity chairman of the sorority.

CORNELLIAN editor for 1942 is Robert D. Hughes, Jr. of Dayton, Ohio. Other Seniors heading next year's board will be Ferdinand P. Schoedinger of Columbus, Ohio, managing editor; Ruth J. Hyde of Niagara Falls, women's editor; James L. Kraker, Jr. of Beulah, Mich., business manager; Ruth Freile of Maplewood, N. J., women's business manager; and Alfred J. Antkies of New York City, advertising manager.

WALPURGIS EVE was celebrated in costume with European dances around a May-pole on the Willard Straight terrace April 30, by members of the group that the Hall has gathered for folk dancing. The Cornelian Chorus of men and women students, directed by Richard H. Lee '41, sang and contributions were collected in May-baskets for European war relief.

REMEMBERS JORDAN

To the late Dr. David Starr Jordan, MS '72, LLD '86 (honorary), is ascribed the inspiration for a program of advanced employee welfare now in force in large typewriter factories owned and directed by Camillo Olivetti in Ivrea, Italy. As told in the Stanford Illustrated Review for April, Olivetti was an assistant in electrical engineering at Stanford during 1893-94 when Dr. Jordan was president there; returned to Italy so imbued with Jordan's social teachings that his factories have "a paternalistic program of employee benefits . . . matched by few if any industries elsewhere in the world." Olivetti, now retired, is engaged in spreading in Italy the doctrine of Unitarianism which he learned from Dr. Jordan.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PRESIDENT EDMUND E. DAY, speaking on "Safeguarding Our Human Resources" before the Parent-Teacher Institute April 21, mentioned five ways in which latent resources in youth might be developed through education. He urged parents and teachers to aim toward developing good health habits and work habits which would endow education with meaning, to use wisdom in career guidance, direct young people in the paths of social progress, and develop in them "a faith or conviction which will help them to meet adversity."

PROFESSOR LEONARD C. URQUHART '09, Civil Engineering, has received leave of absence from the University to become chief of a special engineering and design structural unit in the Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

PROFESSOR JAMES G. NEEDHAM, PhD '98, Entomology, Emeritus, was a speaker at the awarding of the John Burroughs Association's medal for distinguished literature in the field of nature, at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, April 5. Medalist was Louis J. Halle, Jr., for his book, Birds Against Men.

MISS R. LOUISE FITCH, Dean of Women, attended the annual meeting of the American Council on Education in Washington, D. C., May 2 and 3.

PROFESSORS MAX L. W. LAISTNER, John Stambaugh Professor of History, Carl Stephenson, History, and Charles W. Jones, AM '30, English, took part in the annual meeting of the Mediaeval Academy of America at Princeton University April 24-26.

PROFESSOR T. ROLAND BRIGGS '09, Chemistry, is senior author of two papers in the Journal of Physical Chemistry for April. They deal with the phase relationship in complex ternary systems containing water and iodine.

PAPERS presented at the American Physical Society meeting May 1-3 in Washington included: "Association of Alcohol Studied by Infra-Red Spectroscopy" by Dr. Henri S. Sack, Westinghouse Research Associate in Engineering, in collaboration with J. Prigogine of the University of Brussels; "Some Measurements of the Temperature Dependence of Young's Modulus of Beta-Brass and Certain Other Metals" by Dr. Sack in collaboration with Professor Trevor R. Cuykendall, PhD '35, Engineering, and Paul G. Bohlke, Grad; "Elasticity in Order-Disorder Transformations" by Johann F. Ludloff, Westinghouse Research Instructor, Engineering; "On the Theory of Cosmic-Ray Showers Including Ionization Loss" by Professor Bruno Rossi, Physics; and "On the Theory of Secondary Emission" by Professor Hans A. Bethe, Physics.

PROFESSOR HAROLD W. THOMPSON, English, spoke at the annual dinner of Phi Beta Kappa at Hobart College, April 15. April 22, he addressed the Cornell Women's Club of Cortland and on May 6 he spoke at the annual dinner of Buffalo High School Teachers' Association. On May 9 he is scheduled to speak at the Cortland County Historical Association and at the annual Phi Beta Kappa dinner at Cornell, May 19.

PROFESSOR RIVERDA H. JORDAN, Education, has been elected to the board of editors of Social Science. He has long been a contributor to this magazine.

PROFESSOR JULIAN L. WOODWARD '22, Sociology, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Eastern Sociological Society.

PROFESSOR FRANK O. ELLENWOOD, Engineering, and Mrs. Ellenwood have returned from an 8,000-mile tour in the South and Middle West, where Professor Ellenwood spent some time inspecting industrial establishments having unusual engineering features. He addressed the engineering students and faculty of the Universities of Texas and Arkansas. Besides many Cornell friends, they visited their daughters Ruth C. Ellenwood '32 in Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Warner S. Hammond (Hazel A. Ellenwood) '34 and Dr. Hammond, PhD '37, in New York City.

PROFESSOR LEONARD A. MAYNARD, PhD '15, Animal Nutrition, told an audience in Willard Straight Hall last week that malnutrition in the United States is a serious problem and is receiving increasing attention because of the importance of nutrition in national defense. That approximately one-third of the population is undernourished (according to surveys), is partially due, he said, to the gradual depletion of the soil and processing of food which destroys much of its value. For lower income groups, which most need improved nutrition, he advocates direct aid, but blames malnutrition among higher income groups to "lack of common sense" in not realizing its importance. Nutrition committees, Professor Maynard cautioned, will succeed only if they "get down to individual cases."

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

CAMP OTTER FOR BOYS

7 to 18 years

31st SEASON

Self reliance, poise, unselfishness, getting on with other boys, skills and physical vigor are all qualities parents desire for their sons. These cannot be measured objectively, but all parents know how to recognize their development. Boys who have been to CAMP OTTER will tell you that no other experience has done as much for them or been so satisfying and enjoyable.

BILL CREWSON

For a quarter of a century, Bill Crewson, a licensed guide who lives at Camp Otter the year around, has guided the canoe trips through lakes and forests instilling a knowledge of campcraft, woodcraft, appreciation of nature, and his own self reliant living. Not a few former campers now influential send their sons to Camp Otter to learn the fundamentals of self reliant living which they absorbed from Bill Crewson.

FEW VACANCIES

Camp Otter's limit of fifty boys is rapidly being filled. Already boys of Cornell families from Illinois to Massachusetts to Maryland are registered, but there are still a few vacancies.

'22; '87—MRS. JAMES R. YOUNG, (Marjorie E. Willis) '22, when "Husband Jimmie," Far Eastern correspondent for the International News Service, was arrested in Tokyo in January, 1940, for "too factual reporting on conditions in China and Japan," was faced with the confusing problems of carrying on her husband's newspaper work, preparing his defense, caring for their two-year-old son, Pat, and obtaining by devious means warm clothing and permission for a bath for her husband. Because of the gravity of the charges against Young, few Japanese or foreigners dared to testify in his behalf, but SEIKICHI IWASAKI, Grad '85-'87, (pictured above with Mrs. Young) was allowed to act as a character witness. Iwasaki, president of the Cornell Club of Tokyo and of the Iwaki Cement Co., explained, among other things, the innocence of those "secret Greek clubs"—Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Delta Chi, to which Young belonged. Young was arrested on thirty-eight charges, of which the first Japanese prosecutor threw out eight, only to be himself thrown out! After removal of another prosecutor and reduction of the charges to six, Young, with sixty-one days in a Japanese jail behind him, was secretly tried, with Iwasaki his only witness, and was given a suspended sentence. The Youngs are now at 455 East Fifty-first Street, New York City. Mrs. Young went from Cornell to the Art Students' League and Cooper Union in New York City, then to The Sorbonne and the Cordon Rouge et Bleu (a cooking school) in Paris. She now syndicates a column through INS to English papers in the Far East. Young, who studied at the University of Illinois and was graduated at Johns Hopkins in 1925, is lecturing for INS. 1928 MEN

By Class Correspondent

LEN HALL is crazy about his job, his wife, his city—Dayton, Ohio—and in fact, reports, "I'm just plain crazy."

He's been married about two years, too. They have bought a small house at 409 Forrer Boulevard, and live near "JUNE" SHAPLEIGH and his wife at 360. Len is in the sales division of Mead Sales Co. and sells a roll of paper (not perforated) now and then.

JOHNNY DORRIS is a super-salesman with Champion Paper & Fiber Co. at Hamilton, Ohio, and stops in to see Shap and Len once in a blue moon.

"JUNE" (W. C.) SHAPLEIGH has been with the Oxford-Miami Paper Co. at West Carrollton, Ohio, for years and years. These three foresters seem to be all wrapped up in their work.

'29 CE—RALPH BOERICKE is with the George S. Ferguson Co., printers and electrotypers, at 15 North Seventh Street, Philadelphia, Pa. He has a three-year-old son and lives on Grays Lane, Haverford, Pa.

'30; '30 AB; '98 PhD—"Justice Be Damned" by ALEC R. HILLIARD '30 of Ithaca has won first prize of $1,000 in Farrar & Rinehart's mystery novel contest, bringing this prize to Ithaca for the second successive year. It was won last year by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman, wife of Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, for her novel, "I Wanted to Murder." Hilliard was with the US Soil Conservation Service in Ithaca until last year; he now devotes his time to writing. Mrs. Hilliard is the former ANNABEL M. NEEDHAM '30, daughter of Professor JAMES G. NEEDHAM '98, Entomology, Emeritus.

'30 ME; '02 AB—JOHN D. LYALL married Eleanor Guilan of Ridgewood, N. J., last August 3. Lyall is the son of Mrs. Dudley T. Lyall (HELEN L. BROWN) '02. The Lyalls live at 910 New Holland Avenue, Lancaster, Pa.

'31 AB, '32 LLB; '32—JULIUS F. BRAUNER III and Mrs. Brauner (RUTH E. GORDON) '32 have a son, Julius IV, one year old. Brauner is in the legal department of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and they live at 91 Sterling Avenue, White Plains.

'31—ELIZABETH C. HERRICK is married to Orlo H. Clark and lives at 121 Gregory Avenue, Passaic, N. J.

'32, '33 BArch—JAMES MORRISON writes to the February Nyalphan of Phi Kappa Psi: "Three other fellows and myself left Balboa, Cal., December 7, 1938, for the South Seas. Hit a gale four days out and were practically de-masted, having broken shrouds, etc. . . . Saved mast, but couldn't go under full sail for that leg of the trip. We traveled under jury rig and made an island in the Marquesas group after seventy-two days at sea without sight of any land. . . . We spent three months sailing around the Marquesas, then left for Hawaii where we arrived at Hilo after twenty-one days at sea. I have never left the Hawaiian Islands, and hope I'll never have to." Morrison is now architect for five companies and the Pacific Naval Air Base, Pearl Harbor, T. H. His address is Box 1636, Honolulu.

'33 BS—WILLIAM A. MOORE is county agent in Broome County, with offices in Binghamton. He lives at Chenango Bridge.

'33; '32 BS—JAMES W. BURKE, former circulation manager of the ALUMNI News, has been secretary of Massachusetts State College, Amherst, Mass., since December, 1939. He and Mrs. Burke (DOROTHY M. HOPPER) '32 have two sons, Michael, six, and Peter, two.

'34—DOROTHY A. CLARK is now Mrs. Ralph E. von Briesen of 1912 East Lake Bluff Boulevard, Milwaukee, Wis.

'34 AB; '08 AB; '10 CE—THOMAS DRANSFIELD III, son of Mrs. Dransfield (MARY F. CALDWELL) '08 and the late THOMAS DRANSFIELD '10, was to marry Mary N. Dodge April 24 in Minneapolis, Minn.

'34, '35 BS—MORRIS (Mack) WEINER has leased the Shepley Hotel at Miami Beach, Fla., for five years, and writes that he is "enjoying a highly successful season."

'34, '35 BS—EDDIE K-G. BORJESSON is a hydraulic engineer with the J. G. White Engineering Corp., Travaux Publics, Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

'35 EE—V. LARRY DZWONCZYK is an electrical engineer with the American Gas & Electric Service Corp. He is engaged to Mary J. Skala of Paterson, N. J.; lives at 342 East Sixty-seventh Street, New York City.

'35 ME, '36 AB—JEAN F. MITCHELL is a sales engineer with the Ingersoll Rand Co. and lives in Dutch Village, Albany.

Hi—back again, to work and cooking! All helpful hints on how to get dinner in no time flat will be gratefully received from our numerous working wives. Incidentally, we had a wonderful trip: down to Washington at cherry-blossom time, and on through part of Virginia, where the dogwood was in bloom. In Washington we dropped in to see ANN SUNSTEIN KHEEL and her new daughter, who is undoubtedly one of the very loveliest of babies.

To be at home, Though in New York!

If, when in New York you do not expect to find certain comforts you enjoy at home—then a pleasant surprise awaits you at the Grosvenor.

In this agreeably different hotel you enjoy

- a quiet night's sleep that lets you greet each day fresh and alert
- quick convenient access to any part of town
- a fine address in a historic neighborhood
- larger-than-average rooms with tub and shower bath
- a superb restaurant and bar—air-conditioned
- attentive, intelligent, personal service
- no parking problems

These are some of the reasons why so many people who know their Manhattan prefer staying at The Grosvenor.

Single rooms from $3.50 to $6.00

Rooms with twin beds from $5.00 to $8.00

A generally lower schedule of rates for permanent occupancy.

Fixed price breakfasts, luncheons and dinners served in air-conditioned dining room and cafe-bar.

And the Band Plays On!

Yes, the band plays on — at football games, at basketball games, at ROTC reviews. The band plays on, supported by the proceeds from Cornell's Annual NAVY BALL. And this year's NAVY BALL will be the best ever — featuring the music of JIMMY DORSEY and CHARLIE SPIVAK. Clip the coupon below and KEEP THE BAND PLAYING ON!

1941 NAVY BALL BARTON HALL, MAY 16

IF YOU CAN'T attend and would like to help the Band, send your check with the coupon and we will see that your ticket is given to some deserving student who could not otherwise attend — or to anyone you wish to designate.

"PONY" HORSEY and "FESSY" FESSENDEN put aside their test-tubes at their respective jobs as chemists long enough to come up for the wedding; both looking very well.

SARAH JANE WILDER was married in December at Bridgeport, Conn., to Hampton G. Silcox, III. Their home is at 600 East Durham Road, Mount Airy, Philadelphia, Pa.

EUNICE PRYTHERCH is now Mrs. Milton Hyslop and lives at 115 Clinton Place, Utica. She was married in December.

KATHRYN MANTEL MOORES (Mrs. Robert C. Moores) has a daughter, Susan Ann, born just a year ago. The Moores family lives at 461 Bedford Avenue, Mt. Vernon.

ROBERT C. KELLOGG '34 and Mrs. Kellogg (ELLA SCHILLKE) report that they have a daughter, Wendy Marilyn, born in January. Robert is an engineer at Bell Aircraft, and they live at 194 Wakefield Avenue in Buffalo.

There are still lots of those questionnaires that have not yet come back. Please, dig in the pile and find yours if you haven't returned it. If you lost it, drop me a postcard telling the latest facts about your job, family, address, etc.

I hope that you have already begun to make plans with the '36 women in your city or neighborhood for Reunion this June—it is high time for us to get together and swap stories. So much has happened to all of us! So don't let anything prevent your coming.

1937 WOMEN

*By Carol H. Cline, Class Secretary
1053 Cumberland Road, Dayton, Ohio*

Mrs. GARDNER H. DALES (RUTH LINDQUIST) lives at 565 Auburn Avenue, Buffalo. She writes, "Gard is working with the Buffalo Electric Co. I have been working off and on at odd moments just so as not to forget what a streptococcus looks like, and having a lot of fun besides . . . Really, any old place seems like the Dutch Kitchen when Cornellians gather . . . there are ten million Cornellians about."

BETTY MYERS BROWN has taken over DOTTY BENTLEY's job with the Buffalo Home Service Bureau, and MARCIA BROWN is working at the Statler Hotel in Buffalo.

'37 AB, '39 LLB—SAMUEL GRONER has been appointed legal advisor to the Watervliet Arsenal, Watervliet.

'37 LLB—DANIEL C. WILLIAMS is in the office of Senator Francis L. McElroy in Syracuse.

'37 AM—RAMON L. IRWIN is a member of the speech faculty at San Jose (Cal.) State College.

'37 AB—ARTHUR D. SLOTE, 810 South Dakota Avenue, Tampa, Fla., is with the Madison Drug Co. in Tampa.

1938 MEN

*By William C. Kruse, Class Secretary
St. Davids, Pa.*

Calling FRED HILLEGAS in Syracuse the other day, I learned that he and his wife are still enjoying their work with the Syracuse Post-Standard. Fred said he had heard that GERT SCHMIDT was in Florida somewhere. How about it, Gert?

I also called TREMAN SMITH in Elmira, but got no answer. Let's have a word, Smitty.

Speaking of Smiths, I stopped in Utica and spent a few hours with GEORGE SMITH. He had just returned from taking some exams in Albany. He is a candidate for the Federal Bureau of Investigation after he graduates at Cornell Law School in June.

Forget the War!!! CLASS OF 1939 Two-Year Reunion

Women

*By Sally Splain, Class Secretary
78 West Fifth Street, Oswego, N. Y.*

The password from now on will be, "Have you sent in your card yet?" Yes, we're really loading the mail carrier down with mail to 78 West Fifth Street, Oswego. He could hardly stagger down the street this morning with his load of "I-plan-to-attend-Reunion" cards. Send yours in immediately, if you haven't already.

The Reunion committee is SALLY STEINMAN, costumes; MARGARET PADDOCK, finances; MARY DODDS, ETHEL PINESS and BETTY LUXFORD, banquet and entertainment; DORIS HEATH, registration.

DELIA ALDEN PRATT has been very ill this past year, and in bed since last October. How about dropping her a note? She's at home—for a while, Westport, N. Y.

MARGARET HAAS SMITH is the society editor of the Sunday Courier in Poughkeepsie. She lives at 60 Carroll Street.

MARIE VALCK is with the Platt-Forbes Advertising Agency, running advertising contests. She lives at 302 East Forty-ninth Street, New York City.

ROSE BRODBECK has been transferred from the St. Louis Statler Hotel to the Cleveland Statler.

MARY ELIZABETH REED was married in December, 1940, and is now Mrs. Leo Lauckern.

CLASS OF 1940

Women

*By Carol B. Black, Class Secretary
47 Cedar Street, Binghamton, New York*

I have had many Cornellians, JANET GREENWOOD and FRED BOUTCHER among them, speak to me about the wedding of ESTELLE WELLS and HAROLD EVANS, JR. '40. They were married April 12 at Estelle's home where they will return to live. Harold works with Mr. Wells on their large farm, and Estelle has left her 4-H Club job in Tompkins County.

JEAN RODGER, 66 West Pierrepont Street, Rutherford, N. J., gets our best wishes. She and JUSTIN J. CONDON '39 announced their engagement a few weeks ago. Jean works for Evans, Stillman & Co. at 14 Wall Street, New York City. "Rusty" Condon is at Fort Dix.

KATHERINE ANDERSON is with the U. S. Rubber Co., Naugatuck, Conn.

MARY KATHERINE BALL is at Cazenovia Junior College doing dietetics work, I think. How about details, Kay?

MARY C. BARBOUR graduated from Gibbs Secretarial in June and is now secretary to Dr. K. Winfield Ney, a brain surgeon in New York. Address, Iselin Avenue, Fieldston.

DOTTY BARNES teaches home economics in Little Valley.

A June bride whose new address I would like: ADELINE BELLINSON, now Mrs. David Murray Schneider.

MARIE BALTON is dietician down in the South Women's College, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

HELEN C. BROWN is at Columbia and announced her engagement to GEORGE READER '40, of Brooklyn. He is a first-year student in Cornell Med School.

I have an address for MARY BRUNDAGE which is YWCA, Hartford, Conn. What do you do, Mary?

LOUISE BURNETT is teaching home economics in Katonah.

PEGGY BUTTS is taking a three-year nurse's training course in the New York Hospital.

All you other folks with names starting with "B"—how about some newsy letters? I need them!

R. KEMP JOHNSON recently married Betty C. Myers. He is a sales engineer for the Budd Manufacturing Co. and may be reached at 6710 Lincoln Drive, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.

A fashionable wedding in Pelham March 1 put DICK BEUTELL in the class of married gent'mans. Dick married Isabelle Manger. BOB SPARRE was one of Dick's ushers.

FRED GILMAN is at Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont.

CHUCK HUNT, crew manager last year, is a civil engineer for Fargo Engineering Co. in Jackson, Mich. His home address is 718 West Washington Avenue, Jackson.

FRED R. MYERS, who was with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft with BEACH BARRETT and BILL MATHEWS, reported at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., January 13.
