

When people are asking me stuff, I initially want to say none of your business...but then I think the same thing as the speaker said of, "okay I can give you my part" is to also ask that question back to the person. So what about your heritage. and how do you contribute to the situation? And all that kind of stuff, so it's not a situation.