Published for the Associate Alumni of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company, Incorporated.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly during the summer; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. Weekly publication (numbered consecutively) continues through Commencement Week. The number of monthly issues and of double numbers will depend somewhat on the University calendar, which is likely to be irregular for the period of the war. Issue No. 40 is published in August and is followed by an index of the entire volume, which will be mailed on request.

Subscription price $3.60 a year, payable in advance. Foreign postage 40 cents a year extra. Domestic rates apply to addresses in the American Expeditionary Forces. Single copies twelve cents each. Double numbers twenty-four cents a copy.

Should a subscriber desire to discontinue his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent in before its expiration. Otherwise it is assumed that a continuance of the subscription is desired.

Checks, drafts, and orders should be made payable to Cornell Alumni News.

Vol. XXI, No. 22

Ithaca, N. Y., February 27, 1919

Price 12 Cents

JUNIOR Week will not this year be revived in its old-time splendor. What is described as a modified junior week, when the social diversions of the year shall reach their pitch, is proposed for the three days terminating with Spring Day, Saturday, May 24. This is the almost unanimous decision of the Interfraternity Association at a meeting in which some forty fraternities were represented. Several of these societies have already had house parties at the end of the week; others have parties in prospect for Spring Day; these naturally lessening enthusiasm for extended gaieties either between terms or at the end of the year. Final action on the association's proposal is expected shortly.

ARTILLERY EQUIPMENT has arrived, twenty-four carloads of howitzers, machine guns, automatic rifles, and a two-ton tractor; range finders, telescopes, and electrical apparatus. Horses will follow as soon as stabling is provided. The implements thus received are of the latest and most approved design in artillery practice; being intended for use overseas, many were on reaching Ithaca fully camouflaged. The equipment, or a part of it, has been on view at the Drill Hall, an exhibition intended more particularly for students and members of the battery, but open also to any interested persons at the University. The demand on the part of various R. O. T. C. units has been such that Colonel Christian thinks Cornell fortunate in securing this quota of guns.

ORGANIZED RUSHING by fraternities is likely to be in vogue next year. The Interfraternity Association has authorized the appointment of a committee to draw up rules to govern rushing in the autumn.

THE AWARD OF C'S by the Athletic Council was made to varsity crew men on February 19. The recipients are: John P. Egbert '18, Ithaca; Harry Handwerger '18, Baltimore; Charles F. Hendrie '19, Brooklyn; Francis E. Quick '19, Newton Center, Mass.; DeWitt F. Swartz '19, Findley Lake, N. Y.; Walter K. Wiperman '19, Logansport, Ind.; Edward Davenport '20, Accord, N. Y.; Francis C. Hall '20, Duluth, Minn.; Godfrey Knight '20, Fanwood, N. J.; and Earl D. Smith '20, Cortland, N. Y. The Council elected as manager of the crew for the year, Morse G. Dial '19, Fargo, N. D.; and as assistant manager Robert L. Siering '21, New York City.

CHARLES W. WHITEHAIR has resigned the secretaryship of the C. U. C. A., and taken a position with two consolidated banks in Cleveland, Ohio, the Union Commerce National Bank and the Citizens' Savings and Trust Company. Whitehair came to Ithaca in 1914. Since the spring of 1915 he has been engaged as worker, organizer, and traveler for the Y. M. C. A., in the service, crossing the ocean four times and making tours not only in Europe but in Egypt and Palestine. He has been active throughout the United States in behalf of the Red Cross, the Liberty Loans, and the War Savings Stamps. He is now planning the organization in Cleveland of returned soldiers to carry forward the Liberty Loan campaign this spring.

AN EXHORTATION to "Save the evening of March 8" has been posted about the campus for some two weeks. Now comes the further admonishing slogan, "Nobody home on the evening of March 8." This is the date set for the housewarming at the State Drill Hall. This new armory, though abundantly dedicated by its use by the Federal Government, has never been formally "opened." Now a student committee of twelve is planning an evening's entertainment, though thus far withholding details. Though essentially Cornelian, the gathering is open to all and provision is made for both University and city.

TWO SIGNS OF SPRING are reported in the local press. Robins have been seen at Krum's Corners on the Trumansburg road; and a farmer from Snyder Hill, four miles east of the city, has exhibited a quantity of trailing arbutus picked on February 20. The reporters were too busy or too dilatory to note the conduct of the woodchuck on Candlemas Day. Enterprise, like the weather, has its periods of torpor.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL has appointed the usual undergraduate committees for the present year. The committees are headed by the following chairmen: Senior—ball, Edwin L. Howard, Ithaca; pledge, Alpheus W. Smith, Ithaca; class day, Franklin P. O'Brien, Evanston, Ill.; convocation hour, Jacob Mertens, jr., New Rochelle, N. Y. Junior—promenade, Russell H. Peters, Omaha; smoker, Kurt A. Mayer, Brooklyn; Spring Day, Alger E. Hunkin, Cleveland. Sophomore—cottillion, Roderic B. Crane, Omaha; smoker, Henry O. Bollman, St. Louis; Spring Day, Stephen B. Horrell, Pasadena, Cal.; rush, George D. Sullivan, Mohawk, N. Y. Freshman—banquet, E. J. Linneworth, Weehawken, N. J.; tax, C. F. John, Milwaukee; Spring Day, P. E. McKenney, Takoma Park, D. C.; rush, W. R. Schlichter, Yonkers; cap burning, H. R. Kay, Sheridan, Wyo. Members ex officio of each of these committees are the president and life secretary of the class of 1919, William M. Kendall and Charles G. Seelbach, both of Buffalo.

A NEW CITY HALL, as a memorial to soldiers and sailors, seems now unlikely. Objections by taxpayers to the expenditure of a large sum like $400,000 at the present expensive time were raised with such force as to lead the Common Council to rescind its action setting a special election for February 21. It seems to be pretty generally believed that the project would have been defeated, however much an adverse vote might have tended to reflect discredit on the city. Further consideration of the proposal, therefore, has been, at least for the present, deferred.

THE C MEN at a meeting last week elected as their representative on the Athletic Council Sherman Trowbridge '19, Arts, of New York City. They also adopted a resolution discouraging men in the gymnasium from wearing any distinctive dress similar to that of the varsity teams.

OWING TO THE ILLNESS of Guiomar Novaes, the Brazilian pianist, the concert in which she was to have taken part in Bailey Hall on February 22, has been postponed. A new date for the concert will be announced later.

THE NOTEWORTHY LECTURE of the week was on "The Claims of Greece," by Dr. Demetrius Kolopathakis.

INTEREST IN TENNIS is marked by a meeting last week of students desirous of forming a University tennis team.

ARMY AND NAVY

French Cross for Conant '18

Second Lieutenant John Kennard Conant '18 was recently decorated with the Croix de Guerre by General Gouraud, and was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. He is now attached to the 17th Field Artillery, 2d Division, and is with the Army of Occupation.

Conant went to France with the First Transport Section of the American Field Service, which was composed principally of Cornell men, and which arrived on the French front on May 23, 1917. Later this section was broken up and its members went into the various branches of the service, Conant entering the Field Artillery division.

Lieutenant Conant is a member of Theta Xi. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Conant, of Upper Montclair, N. J., and is a brother of Harold A. R. Conant '15, who is with the Standard Oil Company of New York, stationed at Hong Kong, China, and of Ensign Melvin A. Conant '18, who has recently been released from active service in the Naval Reserve.

At the American University Union

The activity in the Cornell Bureau of the American University Union has somewhat diminished because of the fact that leaves for Paris have been given rather sparingly, owing to the crowded condition of the city due to the Peace Conference. A change has been made in the date of the weekly informal smokers from Friday to Monday. Conditions are rather unfavorable for a great amount of activity at the present time.

A new price list has been issued reflecting the upward tendency of prices of hotel accommodations in Paris which, nevertheless, shows the Union prices to be comparatively reasonable. The scale at the Union is as follows: room, Frs. 7; room with bath, Frs. 12; luncheon, Frs. 6; and dinner, Frs. 7. After June 1st there will be a further advance of one franc on each price.

To Receive Life-Saving Medal

For rescuing a drowning man at Edgemere, Long Island, on September 2, 1918, Albert Ludwig Lewinson '14 has been recommended by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to receive a life-saving medal. The Navy Department's announcement of his bravery reads:

"Albert Lewinson, yeoman, third class, United States Navy, is recommended for his heroic and dangerous conduct on September 2, at Edgemere, Long Island, in swimming some distance from shore and rescuing a drowning man at a time when the sea was particularly heavy. The department will recommend that life-saving medal be awarded Lewinson."

Lewinson was a special student in the College of Agriculture for two years, having entered from the College of the City of New York in 1912, and played on the freshman baseball team during his first year. After he left college, he became secretary of the Lyman-Berkwitz Company, of New York, and in August, 1918, he enlisted in the Armed Guard, U. S. Navy, a branch of the service which was created for the express purpose of conveying transports overseas. His home is at 910 Riverside Drive, New York.

Col. Thompson a Staff Officer

The following is an extract from a letter of William H. Farnham '18, 2d Lieut., Infantry, G-2, 2d U. S. Army, A. P. O. 918, France, under date of January 19:

"I am at present working under Lieut. Colonel C. F. Thompson, formerly Capt. Thompson, professor of military science and tactics at Cornell. I mention this as a matter of general interest and for the information of any of his friends whom you may happen to meet and who desire news of him. He came overseas as a major and adjutant of the 82d Division. Shortly afterward he was assigned for duty with the General Staff and organized and directed the Department of Aviation Intelligence at General Headquarters. Upon the organization of the 1st U. S. Army, he was detailed as assistant to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2 in which capacity he served during the St. Mihiel operations. When the 2d U. S. Army was formed, he was promoted to the rank of Lieut. Colonel, and occupied the post of Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, 2d Army. This is his present position."

AKRON CLUB GOING INTO ACTION

Frank C. Howland '03, president of the Akron, Ohio, Cornell club, writes that the club is still in existence, but has not been active for nearly two years on account of the large number of members who entered the service. He writes that they expect to have a meeting within a few weeks to elect officers, as with the exception of himself all the former officers have resigned. Mr. Howland's address is care of the Thomas Phillips Co., Akron, Ohio.

DIED IN THE SERVICE

Eugene J. Irish '13

Lieut. Eugene J. Irish, who was reported missing in action, is now reported to have been killed in action at Hautmont, France, on September 15.

Irish was born on May 7, 1891, and prepared for college at the Auburn Academic High School, entering the College of Agriculture in 1909, and receiving the degree of B. S. in 1913.

He attended the Third Officers' Training Camp at Camp Upton, where he received his commission, and went to France with the Rainbow Division, which has participated in a number of engagements.

Lieutenant Irish is a brother of Lieutenant Harold E. Irish '16, of the Air Service, and of Shurly Irish '18, an instructor in Sibley College. His parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Miles S. Irish, live in Auburn.

Leslie J. Rummell '16

First Lieutenant Leslie Jacob Rummell, of the 93d Aero Squadron, and one of the sixty officially accredited American aces, died of pneumonia in France on February 2.

Rummell was born on February 21, 1895, in Newark, N. J. He prepared at Newark Academy, and entered the College of Agriculture in 1912. Later he transferred to Arts, receiving the degree of A. B. in 1916. He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma, and the Manuscript Club. In his junior year he was managing editor of the Era, becoming editor-in-chief the following year. He was also manager of the wrestling team.

For a short time after graduation, he was employed in the advertising department of The New York American. In May, 1917, when he learned that a School of Military Aeronautics was to be opened at Cornell, he gave up his position, and entered the school with the first class, graduating on July 14, 1917. He was sent to Selfridge Field, Mt. Olemens, Mich., for flying training, and went to France later in the year as a junior military aviator and a first lieutenant. At the training camp at Issoudun he became known as one of the very best flyers. After that he did some piloting of planes to and from Paris, and arrived at the front last August. From that time until the armistice was signed, he was officially credited with seven enemy planes, and is unofficially credited with several more.

He was recently decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in the region of Mosery on September 29, when he led a patrol of three planes in an attack on an enemy biplane, which was protected by seven Fokker machines. By his superior maneuvering the biplane and four of the Fokkers were destroyed, and the remaining three were forced to return home.

Lieutenant Rummell was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rummell, of Newark, N. J.

Oscar E. Hellquist '17

Second Lieutenant Oscar Emil Hellquist died in France on October 18.

Hellquist was born on July 11, 1895, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hellquist, of Summit, N. J. He prepared at the Summit High School, and entered the College of Civil Engineering in 1913.

On May 1, 1917, he enlisted in Company F, 7th Regiment, New York National Guard. This regiment later became the 107th U. S. Infantry, and was sent to Camp Wadsworth, S. C. On January 5, 1918, Hellquist was selected to attend the Officers' Training School at Camp Wadsworth, and after completing his course, rejoined Company D, of the 107th Infantry, and arrived in France last May. After his arrival in France, he was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry, and was later made intelligence officer of the 1st Battalion of his regiment. He took part in the famous battle on September 29, when the Hindenburg Line was broken. While in conference with officers of his regiment on October 17, he was hit by a shell, and died the following day.

Milton H. Hogel, Jr., '20

Second Lieutenant Milton Howard Hogel, jr., died at the Post Hospital, Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, on January 29. He suffered a severe attack of influenza on January 12, and within a few days pneumonia developed. Although he had been in excellent physical condition prior to his illness, his heart could not withstand the secondary attack, which involved both lungs.

Hogel was born in New York City on August 11, 1895. He prepared at the Mt. Hermon School, Mt. Hermon, Mass., entering the College of Agriculture in 1916.

In the spring of 1917, he left college to enter the First Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburg. Just before the close of the course, he applied for a transfer to the Air Service, and upon passing the examinations, was assigned to the School of Military Aeronautics at Cornell. In December, he was transferred to Gerstner Field, Lake Charles, La., for flying training, and on March 28, 1918, was commissioned a second lieutenant, having completed the regular course in pursuit flying. Later he served for a time as instructor in night flying. He applied for a transfer to the bombing section, and in October, was sent to Ellington Field, where he remained until his death.

Lieutenant Hogel is survived by his father, Milton H. Hogel, two brothers, and three sisters, all of New York. One of the brothers, Wilbur R. Hogel, is a sergeant in the Radio Section of the Signal Corps, and has been in France since December, 1917.

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER for next Sunday is the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, bishop of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

The Senior Societies

Special Election Last Week Takes Place of the Regular October Election.

The senior societies, Sphinx Head and Quill and Dagger, held elections on Thursday, February 20, which would normally have been held in October. The new members are all seniors with reference to their academic standing, although some of them have been in service and were formerly members of classes that have graduated. The election of such men was permitted by mutual agreement.

The chapters of the two societies this year contain members who originally belonged to the classes of 1917, 1918, and 1919. The two societies are now about the same size, Sphinx Head having fifteen members in residence and Quill and Dagger sixteen.

The list of new men follows:

Sphinx Head

Lowell Harold Cross, Sterling Pa.; baseball; Lambda Chi Alpha.

Louis Alfred Corwin, Richmond Hill; captain, baseball; Omega Tau Sigma.

James Joseph Henry Harden, Brooklyn; baseball.

James Hallen O'Leary ('17), Clayton; track.

Francis Eugene Quick, Newton Center, Mass.; rowing; Phi Kappa Psi.

Clarence Peter Zepp ('13), Gettysburg, Pa.; captain, wrestling team; intercollegiate 175-pound wrestling champion; football squad; Phi Kappa Sigma.

Quill and Dagger

Roger Bailey, Jamestown; art editor, Widow.

Leon Gilbert Clay, New Orleans, La.; manager, track; Tau Beta Pi; Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Morse Grant Dial, Fargo, N. D.; manager, navy; Delta Upsilon.

MOHAWK VALLEY WOMEN

Miss Florence C. Seely '85, who is secretary of the Cornell Alumnae Association of the Mohawk Valley, reports on the activities of the club in the letter printed herewith. Miss Seely's address is 602 North James Street, Rome, N. Y. The letter:

"As secretary of the Cornell Alumnae Association of the Mohawk Valley I have been asked to send you a report of our club. This club was formed in 1911, and has met regularly during the school year ever since. Our oldest member is from the class of '76 and we have several from '18; not many of the classes of 1885 to the present have had no representatives upon our list at one time or another.

"At our February meeting we were entertained at Ilion by Helen McCann '00, for luncheon. The table was decorated with the usual red and white. At the table there were, besides our hostess, Florence Seely '85, Mrs. Eva Smith Snyder '86, Elizabeth Christian '95, Marcella Foley '01, Elizabeth Peabody '02, Mrs. Lura Locke Elmendorf '05, Katharine Donlon '12, Marion Hess '17, Ruth Davis '17, Adena Burt '18, and Mrs. Emily Lewis Beakes '18. As guest of the association was Marjorie Cole '21, who expects to return next year to the college to complete her course, which has been interrupted by sickness.

"At the business meeting following the luncheon, letters of greeting were read from Mrs. Helen Oakes Davidson '84, Mrs. Annie Marston Ayers '92, Mrs. Mabel Toaz Brazee '00, Mrs. Lois Wing Burrell '09, Mrs. Ida Ross Clarke '00, and Mrs. Annie McKinnon Fitch, Ph. D. '94. We were also interested in a letter from the University Y. W. C. A., telling of its activities during the present year. A collection was sent to show our appreciation of that work. Another feature of this meeting in which we were all greatly interested was the reading of the plans for the coming Semi-Centennial Celebration of the University, as told in a recent number of THE CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS. We should like to be there in a body, but if that be not possible, we shall have several representatives in Ithaca next June."

CHICAGO LUNCHEON

There were forty men present at the luncheon of the Chicago club on February 20, and Lieut. J. F. Goodrich '09 of the Royal Field Artillery gave an interesting talk on his experiences among the British forces. He brought out the point that while the English do not make as much fuss over Americans as some other Europeans have done, they are well aware of the help they have received from America and appreciate it thoroughly; also that any attempt to create ill feeling between England and America is due to German propaganda. He gave numerous incidents from his experiences to illustrate the points made. Time would not permit W. H. French '73 to tell of his work in connection with the Americanization movement but he will speak at some later date. The club is planning its forty-second annual banquet, but the date is not yet set.

President Schurman Indorses the League of Nations

Constitution Subject to Change But Principles Must Be Adopted, He Declares

Dr. Schurman spoke Friday night at the Cosmopolitan Club on the League of Nations. He first reviewed the new conditions brought about by the war: first, a new temper and state of mind among all civilized nations; a feeling in some places, of sorrow, disillusionment, and bitterness; then, a proneness toward revolution and anarchy; finally, a powerful desire for a peace of freedom, justice, and righteousness, a peace which shall eliminate future wars.

"In the reorganization of international relations, the choice must be between alternative policies. The nations may continue as in the past to live their own sovereign life with occasional and temporary alliances with other states, but bearing the responsibility only of their own individual interests with little or no regard for the welfare of the society of nations as a whole and with no obligation to foresee and avert causes of strife as they may develop in and through the interaction of these rival, self-contained, and independent powers. That is the course which the nations of the world have followed during the later centuries of human history. Or the organization of the nations of the world to promote common national interests and maintain peace may be attempted not by means of force and subjugation but by the voluntary union of free, independent, democratic nations. And if the yearning of the peoples of the world for friendly international relations and peace is not to be balked and disappointed this is the course which must now be pursued. The constitution of the League of Nations which President Wilson read last week before the Peace Conference in Paris is a first draft framed by a commission of the conference for the organization of the nations on this basis of freedom, independence, and principles of government by 'the consent of the governed.' As such, it is of course subject to amendment; yet in general it may be pronounced a sincere and statesman-like attempt to formulate a new order of world relations, to replace the old system which the action of economic and social forces had already undermined before the war swept it completely away. And those who reject the fundamental principles on which it rests, namely, an organized conference of nations to deal with international problems and difficulties and to avert war, must describe and justify the alternative system which they propose in its place.

"The world cannot go back to the system of a European balance of power and the seclusion of America. How can the balance of power be re-established in Europe when Germany has been vanquished and when Russia, and Austria-Hungary, and Turkey have been resolved into their constituent parts and replaced by numerous independent nationalities? And how can America resume her isolation after the war in which it has been demonstrated that, owing to the new methods and means and instrumentalities of warfare, on land, on sea and in air, no great nation can ever again remain neutral but must, in defense of its interests and for the maintenance of justice, be inevitably drawn into the conflict whenever two or more great nations resort to war?

"If this great international settlement, to which the United States is a party, proves at some points unsatisfactory, the United States must again become a party to new readjustments. We cannot have the peace of Europe and of America and the world disturbed by some explosion in Poland, or Jugoslavia, or Mesopotamia, or Southwest Africa. It was for our own protection and for the maintenance of right in the world that we set hand to the colossal task of ordering the affairs of Europe, Asia, and Africa, first by means of force and now by diplomacy. This present peace conference is already a society of nations. The league of nations whose constitution it has drafted is, essentially, a continuance of the present conference with provision for the admission of neutral nations and also, I hope, of Germany, as soon as she has established a stable democratic government and furnishes effective guarantees of her intention to observe her international obligations and to conform to the principles laid down for admission to the league.

"From the political point of view the principal result of the war has been the democratization of Europe. The multiplication of independent nations greatly increases the danger that war will recur. The next step in the process of their development will be by way of federation. In this way home rule will be preserved for the several states united together in a federal republic which would assume the functions of general government and discharge all international obligations. If such a development occur, however, it will be a matter of growth and time. Meanwhile these numerous states will exist as separate political entities. America will be as much interested in the maintenance of peace among them as England or France.

"Some of these new nations will be able to govern themselves. Others, internally able to stand alone, will need help with international relations. A third group will need help both in internal and in external administration. Since such help cannot come from an irresponsible single power, the only way out is a League of Nations to undertake these varied problems."

President Schurman concluded by replying to the criticism that the proposed league is in conflict with the Monroe Doctrine. He declared that on the contrary the proposed constitution reasserts the doctrine and gives it the sanction of a world policy.

SCHURMAN AT CLEVELAND

At the Cleveland luncheon on February 20, Col. J. R. McQuigg '89, commander of the 112th U. S. Engineers, spoke on his experiences in France. J. C. F. Shafer '05, who was in France for a year with the Artillery, and Christopher P. Cox '08, also gave short talks. Col. McQuigg, who commanded a Cleveland regiment in four battles and on five fronts in France, gave a most interesting talk on his subject and closed with the warning that unless the Allies are very careful to exact a large indemnity from Germany she will be in the saddle again in two or three years under the same rulers as before, and the world's sacrifice will have been in vain. The president of the club, Dr. I. J. Kerr, writes that "if Chicago is to beat us in attendance at luncheon she will have to hustle." He reports that eighty-one members were present.

The banquet of the Cleveland club which is to be held on March 22, as the climax of activity for the year, is now in course of preparation. President Schurman has accepted the club's invitation and will speak at the banquet, which is to be held at the University Club.

SHALL GERMANY WIN?

There is real danger that Congress will refuse to ratify the constitution of the new League of Nations, on the alleged ground that it is an infringement of America's sovereign rights. If there are real legal obstacles in the way they should be removed instead of being allowed to obstruct the adoption of this constitution.

As I walk alone along the country road I have it all to myself and can go where I please. But if I meet another man I must give him a square deal, that is, half the road. We cannot both have the whole road at the same time. My sovereignty at once shrinks fifty per cent. What other than this is the problem of international relations?

We talk of the "sovereignty" of America. America has no sovereignty, never has had, and never will have, except as usurped, which infringes on the real rights of another nation. The converse is also true. What then is being violated in the adoption of this constitution except something that was not, is not, nor ever will be?

Speaking in large terms of what we trust is common sense and not from a merely narrow and restricted legal point of view, we believe the American people desire and insist upon the adoption of this constitution, and that the members of Congress who oppose its adoption are living in the Dark Ages. If they will put their ears to the ground they will hear a quite modern voice of the people.

President Wilson desired a league of peoples rather than a league of sovereign states. The debates have apparently shown that the one cannot exist effectively without the other.

Is a mere legal fiction, then, to defeat the great object for which six million men laid down their lives?

Is war no nearer an end than it was?

Is Germany winning after all?

SUGGESTION FOR THE MEMORIAL

Supplementing the suggestions made in the ALUMNI NEWS of January 9 relative to the possibilities of an attractive Memorial Commons, which was one of the ideas considered by the Associate Alumni, the secretary of that organization has received from an alumnus the suggestion that a swimming pool, and perhaps a gymnasium, be made a part of the commons.

Cornell, as is only too well known, lacks a modern and adequate gymnasium. A swimming pool, in connection with a large memorial club house for gatherings and social purposes, such as is contained in the Dartmouth gymnasium, for example, has long been a dream of those interested in the physical welfare of the student body.

There are very few preparatory schools with two or three hundred students that are not better equipped with respect to a swimming pool than Cornell. The present pool, built in 1893 and enlarged in 1905, is only fourteen feet by fifty feet, and yet there is probably no single form of exercise so popular or beneficial in its results, nor any so useful on occasion, as swimming. Perhaps there is no form of memorial that can be conceived of as being more likely to have the unanimous approval of those in memory of whom it would be erected. The ALUMNI NEWS passes the suggestion on to the Memorial Committee.

THE FOUNDER'S HYMN

To the Editor of the ALUMNI NEWS:

In the new "Cornell Song Book" recently issued by the College of Agriculture, the Founder's Hymn, written by Judge Francis Miles Finch, is given without music; and there is a foot-note stating that the editors have been unable to discover the music to which the hymn was sung at the first memorial service for which it was written in 1874. Fortunately, the Judge's daughter, Miss Mary S. Finch, has a distinct recollection of all the circumstances connected with the writing and singing of the Hymn just after the Founder's death. She knows that her father wrote the words to fit the music of an early version of Phoebe Cary's hymn, "One sweetly Solemn Thought," as sung at that period to a tune called "Nearer Home." It is hymn number 1461 in the "Church Hymn Book with Tunes" (E. F. Hatfield, 1874), then used in the First Presbyterian Church of Ithaca. A copy of this edition is catalogued in the University Library as 7515 I 62. The early version consists, as does the modern one, of four lines of six syllables each, but with the addition of a refrain of four lines of somewhat irregular meter, one line having eight syllables. It will be found that Dean Finch's fine words suit the meter and music exactly. Miss Finch not only heard the Founder's Hymn sung at this time at the first memorial service but remembers hearing it repeated for many years on Founder's Day.

DISTINGUISHED VETERINARIANS

At the meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association in Philadelphia in August, 1918, the portraits of Drs. D. E. Salmon '72, A. D. Melvin, and J. R. Mohler were presented to the Association by Dr. R. F. Eagle on behalf of the Art Committee of the Saddle and Sirolo Club, with the understanding that the Association should return the portraits to the club for the gallery it had opened for distinguished veterinarians. In addition to these, the portraits of Dr. James Law, contributed by the alumni of the New York State Veterinary College at Cornell University, and of Dr. Leonard Pearson '88, contributed by the alumni of the School of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania, were presented to the club and received by its president, A. H. Saunders.

The speech of presentation made by Dean V. A. Moore was printed in the Association Journal for January.

PROFESSOR ANDREWS WEDS

Professor Eugene P. Andrews '95, of the Department of Greek Art and Antiquities, and Miss Helen Putnam, of Portland, Ore., were married on February 21 at the home of Miss Putnam's sister, Mrs. Harlow Wheeler, at Sewickley, Pennsylvania. On account of the recent death of the bride's mother the wedding was a very quiet one; no cards were sent. The bride is a graduate of the University of Chicago, and has for some time taught design in the Portland Art Association. She and Professor Andrews were fellow passengers on a voyage on the Canopic from Boston to Naples in 1912.

The Rights of a Free Press A Highly Important Legal Decision Secured by Mason '00.

The Supreme Court of New Mexico has recently reversed the decision of the Seventh District Court of the state adjudging E. Dana Johnson, editor of The Santa Fe New Mexican, guilty of contempt for alleged wrongful criticism of the lower court. The court holds that "under our theory of government the right of the freedom of speech and of the press is essential to public welfare," and that while the right of free speech does not warrant attacks upon courts or judges which will interfere with the administration of justice, nevertheless, "the force of public opinion has greatly restrained the courts in the exercise of the power to punish for making disrespectful or injurious remarks" concerning the judiciary.

The case has attracted much attention because of the nature of the questions involved. The proceedings grew out of the fact that during the trial of a case against the newspaper and Captain Bronson M. Cutting, formerly of New York and president of the newspaper company, in one of the lower courts, Captain Cutting's sister, wife of Lieut. Col. Cabot Ward, who is serving on General Pershing's staff, announced that she had discovered that one of the attorneys for the plaintiff was wigwagging signals to the plaintiff in order to advise the latter how to answer questions that were being asked by the paper's attorney. Captain Cutting later attempted to have the attorney disbarred; but upon the trial judge filing an affidavit which appeared to sustain the attorney's denial of guilt the state board of bar examiners dismissed the disbarment proceedings.

The New Mexican defended Mrs. Ward and the others, who filed affidavits in the proceedings and sought to show that the political, business, and personal associations of the judge might have prompted him to make the affidavit in question. Contempt proceedings against the paper and its editor and Captain Cutting were thereupon instituted. The editor and the paper were convicted; the editor was sentenced to thirty days in jail, but no punishment was inflicted upon the paper. Judge Edward R. Wright, one of the defendant's attorneys, was fined for contempt for having filed their answer. The editor secured a stay of execution and appealed to the Supreme Court, which now reverses the case and instructs the lower court to dismiss the information and discharge the editor.

The defenses set up included those that the criticism made did not concern the official acts of the judge but merely his private act; that the criticism was a proper response to the aspersions cast by the judge upon the veracity of Mrs. Ward, Captain Cutting, and their associates, and that so far as the criticisms disclosed the personal, political, and business associations of the judge they constituted simply a continuation of the newspaper's long continued campaign against the political conditions in the state. In this respect the defense urged that a continuation of such criticism could not be held to be contempt of court without violating the constitutional free press guaranties, even though the subject matter of the criticisms had recently become the subject of litigation in suits brought against the paper. They urged that the rule that comment upon pending causes may constitute contempt of court could not apply to a mere continuation of comment which had been begun long before the matter came into the courts through the subsequent litigation, and they asserted that any other rule would enable anyone to stop a newspaper's campaign against conditions simply by filing a suit which would bring the matter into the courts, whereupon, under the rule contended for by the prosecution, criticism must stop under penalty of punishment for contempt. The defense also contended that it had acted strictly within the freedom of the press guaranties of both the state and the Federal Constitution. The decision not only recognizes the free press guaranties but in addition lays down many rules and limitations upon the power of courts and judges to inflict punishment for criticisms directed against them.

Herbert D. Mason '00, of Tulsa, Okla., who appeared as special counsel for Mr. Johnson before the Supreme Court, has issued the following statement reviewing the court's decision:

"The decision ought to do much to clear up many points concerning the freedom of the press and the law of contempt of court. Its clear recognition of the freedom of the press guaranties of state and Federal constitutions as contrasted with the contempt power of courts, its holding that every construction and presumption must be made in favor of the good faith and innocent intent of one who criticizes the court, and its holding that a judge cannot use contempt powers to redress private grievances, give some much-needed definition of the strict limitations upon the exercise of the contempt powers by courts, as well as some equally needed definition of the rights of citizens to express their opinions concerning the judiciary under their free press and free speech guaranties."

OBITUARY

Judson M. Taber '99

Judson Merrick Taber died in December, 1918, at Bethlehem, Pa.

He was born on September 11, 1875, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Taber, of Addison, N. Y. He prepared for college at the Union School, Addison, and received the degree of Bachelor of Science at Cornell in 1899. Soon after his graduation, he went to Johnstown, Pa., and was assistant superintendent of the coke plant there.

LITERARY REVIEW

Books and Magazine Articles

The Los Angeles Daily Times for December 17 printed some verses on "Your Boy, and Mine," by J. H. Morrow '73.

Professor Joseph Q. Adams's "Shakespearean Playhouses" is favorably reviewed by Professor C. R. Baskerville, of the University of Chicago, in Modern Philology for January. His edition of "The Dramatic Records of Sir Henry Herbert" is noticed in The Nation for February 8.

Dr. Allan H. Gilbert '09 contributes two brief "Miscellaneous Notes" to Modern Language Notes for February.

Professor E. B. Titchener contributes to Science for February 14 a note on "Applied Psychology."

Dr. Leland O. Howard '77 in The Scientific Monthly for February discusses "Entomology and the War." The article is an eye-opener as to the wonderfully varied activities of the bug "sharks" in connection with the war. Even the bee-keepers were summoned to do their bit in increasing the honey crop to offset the sugar shortage. Professor Ulysses G. Weatherly, Ph.D. '94, of Indiana University, writes on "Educational Publicity." He urges advertising mainly through the publication of scholarly work, but warns against the merely quantitative standard of judgment. His article is most timely.

Miss Frances A. Kellor '97 writes in The North American Review for February on "Immigration in Reconstruction."

ATHLETICS

Football Game in New York City

A game with Dartmouth, to be played in the stadium of the College of the City of New York on October 25, is one of the new features of the eight-game football schedule announced by the Athletic Association. Now that Michigan is back in the Western Conference her football association with Cornell is terminated and next fall Dartmouth will provide the second big game on the schedule, Pennsylvania, as usual, being Cornell's principal opponent. The Penn game goes back to its time-honored place on the calendar, Thanksgiving Day. Games with Colgate and Penn State help to make the home schedule attractive. The schedule:

October 4—Oberlin at Ithaca.
October 11—Williams at Ithaca.
October 18—Colgate at Ithaca.
October 25—Dartmouth at New York City.
November 1—Lafayette at Ithaca.
November 8—Carnegie at Ithaca.
November 15—Penn State at Ithaca.
November 27—Penn at Philadelphia.

The Baseball Schedule

A Spring Day game with Yale on May 24 and a game with Pennsylvania on June 21, the second day of the Semi-Centennial Celebration, are among the features of a 16-game baseball schedule just announced. Baseball practice started on Monday.

The schedule:

April 16—Lafayette at Ithaca.
April 26—Bucknell at Ithaca.
May 2—Columbia at New York.
May 3—Princeton at Princeton.
May 6—West Virginia at Ithaca.
May 10—Colgate at Ithaca.
May 14—Lehigh at Ithaca.
May 17—Colgate at Hamilton.
May 24—Yale at Ithaca.
May 28—Rochester at Rochester.
May 31—Pennsylvania at Ithaca.
June 4—Rochester at Ithaca.
June 6—Brown at Providence.
June 7—Yale at New Haven.
June 14—Penn at Philadelphia.
June 21—Penn at Ithaca.

Underclass Cross Country

The freshman cross country team had no difficulty in defeating the sophomore team in the underclass cross country run last Saturday, winning by 34 points to 110 for the second year men. Only one sophomore finished in the first seven men and only four men from that team landed among the first twenty. J. K.

Wardwell '22 led the runners over the course, finishing far in front. G. D. Duryea '21 was second and L. B. Pickwick '22, third. Wardwell covered the three-mile course in 18 minutes, 26 seconds.

The first seven runners in the underclass cross country run finished as follows:

1 Wardwell (F), 2 Duryea (S), 3 Pickwick (F), 4 Wilks (F), 5 Eddy (F), 6 Greenburg (F), and 7 Spear (F).

The freshmen to score points in the first freshman cup series, which was held in connection with the underclass cross country run, are as follows: J. K. Wardwell 7, L. B. Pickwick 6, W. C. Wilks 5, L. W. Eddy 4, H. Greenburg 3, K. B. Spear 2, J. S. Gowan 1.

The Week in Basketball Pennsylvania 39—Cornell 24

The Cornell five was defeated in Philadelphia Saturday night, Penn coming up from behind in the last half of the second period and winning by the score of 39 to 24. A rally which netted sixteen points in the last eight minutes gave the Quakers a brilliant victory.

Cornell led at the end of the first half sixteen to fifteen and apparently had as good a chance to win as the home five until the second period was more than half completed. At this point Molinet had to leave the game, four fouls having been scored against him, and simultaneously the punch went out of the Cornell five. They started a stalling game which gave Penn an opportunity to launch a bewildering offensive that took Cornell off its feet. McNichol with five goals was the high scorer of the game. Kendall with three led Cornell. The summary:

Cornell 24.	Penn 39
Ortner, capt. R.F.	Sweeney
Stewart L.F.	Stannard
Molinet C.	Davis
Kendall R.G.	McNichol
Sidman L.G.	Peck

Field goals: Cornell, Kendall 3, Molinet 2, Ortner 2, Stewart 2; Penn, McNichol 5, Davis 4, Sweeney 3, Stannard 3, Peck 2.

Foul goals: Cornell, Ortner 6 out of 12; Penn, Sweeney 5 out of 8.

Substitutions: Cornell, Sullivan for Molinet.

Referee: Nies, Princeton.

Umpire: Reed, Springfield.

Columbia 25—Cornell 21

The basketball team was defeated by Columbia in New York City last Friday night by the score of 25 to 21 in the first game of a disastrous trip. This was Cornell's first defeat of the season.

Columbia led all the way, but in the last ten minutes of play the Cornell five made a great rally, outplaying the New Yorkers both offensively and defensively. The rally, however, did not come in time to win the game, the whistle saving Columbia.

Columbia practically won the game in the first half, running up nineteen points to Cornell's ten. The Ithaca five was unable to locate the basket in this period, scoring only two goals from the field. The rally in the second half netted four field goals, but Columbia's lead was too big to overcome. Johnson, Columbia's center, had Molinet so well guarded that he could not show his usual form. Sidman was knocked unconscious and gave way to Sullivan, while Ortner played the game with a lame shoulder. The summary:

Columbia 25	Position	Cornell 21
Tynon	L.F.	Stewart
Farrell	L.F.	Ortner
Johnson	C.	Molinet
Kiendl	L.G.	Sidman
Weinstein	R.G.	Kendall

Goals from field: Columbia, Tynon 2, Farrell 3, Johnson 2, K. Kiendl, Weinstein 2; Cornell, Stewart 2, Molinet, Kendall 2; Sullivan.

Goals from foul: Farrell 5 out of 7, Ortner 9 out of 12.

Substitutions: Columbia, Stewart for Farrell; Cornell, Sullivan for Sidman.

Referee: J. H. Deering, Manhattan.

Umpire: E. Thorp, De la Salle.

Cornell 36—West Virginia 30

In the fastest and most hotly contested basketball game of the home season Cornell defeated the strong West Virginia University team by the score of 36 to 30 in the new Drill Hall last Tuesday night. Although the home team had a slight edge on their opponents the game was a nip and tuck affair all the way through.

The first half ended 20 to 17 with the visitors spurting. By the middle of the second half, however, Cornell had pushed far enough ahead to obtain a fairly safe hold on the game and managed to keep the ball in their opponents' territory until the whistle blew.

Stewart and Sidman did very effective work for Cornell, the former breaking up many potentially dangerous plays and scoring five baskets, while Sidman caged four baskets and put up a fine defensive game. The latter had substituted at right forward for Ortner, who suffered a head injury and had to leave the game. Behen, who scored six goals from the field, starred for the visitors. The summary:

CORNELL 36
	F.B.	F.G.	Pts.
Ortner (capt.) rf.-----	3	2	8
Stewart, lf.-----	5	0	10
Molinet, c.-----	4	0	8

Rowing Under Way on Machines

Six varsity and three freshman crew combinations have been selected by Coach Courtney out of the squad of upwards of three hundred men that has been reporting in the last few weeks for practice on the machines. Mr. Courtney has been at the Armory every day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and he has had a pretty good opportunity of sizing up the candidates and selecting the material that seems best suited for varsity and freshman competition. Some difficulty is being experienced in getting regular combinations boated every day because of drill requirements; but Mr. Courtney is hopeful that the crews he has selected may enjoy regular practice from now on. He has not attempted to grade the combinations, but in a few weeks a further weeding out may be expected. Most of the oarsmen are green, only a handful of men with previous experience being found in the personnel of the several combinations.

Mr. Courtney is being assisted by G. S. Kephart '17, coxswain of the 1916 varsity, who has just returned from overseas service.

The following are the varsity combinations:

Bow, T. T. Buckley, jr., 2. J. M. Moore, 3. A. F. Ferguson, 4. O. E. Helms, 5. H. B. Hoffman, 6. E. R. Brewster, 7. H. K. Kelly, stroke, B. O. Reuther.

Bow, C. C. Taylor, 2. L. E. Smith, 3. E. C. Singleton, 4. C. K. Reed, 5. F. L. Campbell, 6. W. B. Daly, jr., 7. D. E. Lounsbury, stroke, L. M. Shephard.

Bow, S. R. Jagger, 2. F. A. Fretandua, 3. R. C. Kennedy, 4. P. V. Blackburn, 5. T. C. Porter, 6. C. A. Fingado, 7. C. V. Barker, stroke, H. E. Brennan.

Bow, H. B. Young, 2. J. E. Powell, 3. W. O. Bickel, 4. R. L. Bollinger, 5. S. W. Cooper, 6. H. H. Linnell, 7. C. A. Stott, stroke, C. B. Trethaway.

Bow, W. D. Archibald, 2. W. S. Dodge, 3. T. H. Brogan, 4. S. B. Horrell, 5. T. E. Warren, 6. E. Davenport, 7. H. K. Hill, stroke, S. C. Knight.

Bow, J. D. Meikle, 2. E. B. Carey, 3. A. C. Anderson, 4. M. N. Thompson, 5. G. S. Dunham, 6. C. J. Hasbrouck, 7. R. C. Phillips, stroke, O. N. Frenzell, jr.

The following are the freshman combinations:

Bow, L. H. Sim, 2. P. J. Williams, 3. C. V. Linn, 4. L. R. Smith, 5. P. Johnson, 6. M. Cilloniz, 7. J. H. Matton, stroke, L. A. Peer.

Bow, H. R. Barr, 2. J. H. B. Coad, 3. P. O. Hoag, 4. W. J. Walker, 5. D. A. Hagen, 6. R. W. Calloway, 7. E. F. White, stroke, L. S. Green.

Bow, F. E. Burke, 2. H. K. Kay, 3. W. R. Heath, 4. C. I. Brayman, 5. P. S. Krug, 6. R. A. Wilson, 7. C. W. Olney, stroke, F. C. Baldwin.

INDUSTRIAL ECONOMICS PRIZES

The National Industrial Conference Board offers a prize of one thousand dollars for the best monograph on any one of the following subjects:

1. A practicable plan for representation of workers in determining conditions of work and for prevention of industrial disputes.

2. The major causes of unemployment and how to minimize them.

3. How can efficiency of workers be so increased as to make high wage rates economically practicable?

4. Should the State interfere in the determination of wage rates?

5. Should rates of wages be definitely based on the cost of living?

6. How can present systems of wage payments be so perfected and supplemented as to be most conducive to individual efficiency and to the contentment of workers?

7. The closed union shop versus the open shop: their social and economic value compared.

8. Should trade unions and employers' associations be made legally responsible?

The Committee of Awards is composed of Frederick P. Fish, of Fish, Richardson & Neave, Boston Mass., chairman of the National Industrial Board; President Schurman; and Henry R. Towne, chairman of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co., New York City.

The contest is open without restriction to all persons except those who are members of or identified with the National Industrial Conference Board.

Contestants are not limited to papers of any length, but they should not be unduly expanded. Especial weight will be given to English and to skill in exposition.

The copyright of the prize manuscript, with all publication rights, will be vested in the National Industrial Conference Board.

Each competitor should sign his manuscript with an assumed name, sending his true name and address in a sealed envelope superscribed with his assumed name. No manuscript will be accepted the real authorship of which is disclosed when the manuscript is received by the Board, nor any which has been previously published in any way.

Manuscripts, to be considered in the contest, must be mailed on or before July 1, 1919, to the National Industrial Conference Board, 15 Beacon Street, Boston, Massachusetts, marked "For Prize Essay Contest in Industrial Economics."

The right to reject any and all manuscripts is reserved. The Board may, however, award honorable mention to several manuscripts and arrange for their publication in full or in part, at compensation to be agreed upon between the Board and the author.
