CONSUMER REACTION FAVORABLE

Some weeks ago, a trial run of apple ice cream was made at a local ice cream shop, and reactions are still coming in. The story was picked up by the Associated Press which gave the incident world-wide publicity. Inquiries regarding the outcome of the experiment have come from as far away as Australia, and personal contacts by Mr. Marvin of Margrove's reveals that 84% of the "guinea pigs" liked it enough to buy it again. Flavoring used was an apple juice concentrate developed by Station food scientists. Last night, another batch of "Hening's delight" stood an acid test at a banquet of members of the Northeastern Regional Nutrition Conference at Ithaca.

LADIES NIGHT AT THE UNIVERSITY CLUB

Next Monday evening is the annual Ladies Night at the University Club's meeting in the Hotel Seneca. John is one of three Cornell professors to be awarded traveling fellowships this year. In addition to attending the botanical congress in Sweden in July, John plans to observe cytological work in Denmark, Western Germany, Switzerland, France, and England. The family will return the middle of October.

PERILS OF PAULINE

Another trip to Europe was announced this week. Pauline Jennings, the Station librarian, will travel to France on the "Ile de France" on May 4th for a three-month's jaunt which will take her through France, Switzerland, Italy and England. In France, she'll make her headquarters at the home of her brother who is head of the State Department's Information Service at Lille. If all goes as scheduled, Pauline will make the return trip by air near the first of August. During her absence, Mrs. Courtney Hening will serve as librarian, a position which she held several years ago.

APRIL WEDDING

Miss Helen Ferris of the vitamin laboratory will become Mrs. Harry Moran next Monday morning at a ceremony to be held in St. Francis de Sales Church. The couple will spend their honeymoon in New York City, after which they will take up residence at 24 Sherrill Street in Geneva. The groom is employed by the American Can Company. Our best wishes to the bride-and-groom-to-be.

A.C.S. MEETING

AFTER DINNER SPEAKER

Professor Luckett was guest speaker at a Kiwanis Club meeting in Baldwinsville last evening. The editor outlined the functions of the Station's program to the group.

THE YOUNGER SET

Scholastic achievement in Geneva High School was of particular interest to Station people this past week. As mentioned in last week's NEWS, Barbara Slate took top honors in academic work with an average of 97.14, a mark which may be an all-time high. Third high was Marlene Crosier with 94.12. Among the boys, the son of a former Station pomologist took second place. He is Kay Nebel, son of Doctor and Mrs. Bernard Nebel. All three of the young people are active in extra-curricular affairs. Barbara plans to attend Middlebury College next fall, and in the meantime is awaiting the outcome of an examination she took as a member of the United Nations Youth Group. Prizes for best papers range from scholarships and money to a trip to Europe. Next step in Marlene's education ladder will be Cornell University in September.

THE YOUNGEST SET

Two people were wearing big smiles at the Station last week. They were Peter DeMaria who became a father on Tuesday, and Mrs. Lena DeMaria (Plant Pathology) who thereby became a grandmother. Our congratulations to the happy family.

VISITORS

Mr. Peter Hahn of American Cyanamid was a Veg Crops visitor yesterday..... And Gordon Brandeis of Rohm and Haas has scheduled a meeting with entomologists today.

BOWLING BRAWL

We thought that last Thursday's grudge match between the two Station teams was going to settle things once and for all but now things are worse than before. The Lutherans took two of the regulation three games but stuck around for two more which spelled their downfall. Sometime between the third and fourth game, a couple of the players had to report home so all kinds of protests are being voiced. There's just one way to settle this thing, boys. Until then, here are the five high averages for the evening: Gambrell 169, Vittum 169, Klein 162, Boyle 157, and Pearce 154.

BADMINTON TOURNEY

In the more dignified game of badminton, the Station stalwarts defeated an aggregation from Hobart College last Wednesday evening by a score of 9 to 5. Although last week's contest marked an end to recreational activity in the North Street School gymnasium, the locals have accepted an invitation to a return match in the William Smith gym tonight at 8 P.M.

THE NEWS OF YESTERYEAR

From the STATION NEWS, April 1925: Dr. Sherman, chief of the dairy division at the College of Agriculture will address the dairy seminar here.....Dr. Conn attends meeting of Biological Stain Commission in New York.....Dr. Hedrick was requested to serve on Advisory Board of the Russian Reconstruction Farms, Inc....."to prevent future famines by educating Russian peasants in American farming methods".....The Station hikers suffer the loss of another old standby when Martin Murray purchases a Ford Coupe.....According to the Geneva Times on March 19, a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Olav Einset.

PARKING PROBLEMS ANEW

With construction work shifting into full gear, the auto parking problem is destined to become more acute. You'll want to give the heavy equipment plenty of elbow room and there will be additional cars with the advent of the construction gang. For these reasons, the Director suggests the utilization of space adjacent to the dairy barn, as indicated in the accompanying diagram. Diagonal parking in this area will facilitate the flow of traffic.
