THE Board of Trustees of the University will hold a meeting in Ithaca on Saturday, May 2. It is the board's custom to meet late in April or early in May to attend to certain business, such as faculty appointments, which require its attention before the end of the academic year.

COLLEGE MEN of Honolulu are brought together periodically by the Y. M. C. A. of the city, which has a series of "college nights." On each night the men of a certain university provide the entertainment for the rest. Cornell men entertained on March 14. Professor J. M. Young '02, of the College of Hawaii, presided. He is on one of the association's committees and is a member of the contracting firm which erected the building. "Jack" Horner '13, former leader of the Glee Club, sang Cornell songs, and C. J. Hunn '08 gave several stunts. Talks were given by Professor Vaughan MacCaughy '08 and Professor A. L. Andrews '93, both of the College of Hawaii. Fifteen colleges were represented at this meeting.

DR. V. A. MOORE and Dr. S. H. Burnett were in Toronto last week, attending the meeting of the American Pathologists and Bacteriologists. On Thursday morning Dr. Moore was in Buffalo, going through certain of the packing houses with a company of senior students who expect to go into meat inspection. In the afternoon he gave an address at the organization of the Western New York Veterinary Medical Association.

A MEMORIAL to the late Professor Ralph S. Tarr of the department of geology will soon be set up on the slope west of McGraw Hall. It will consist of a large boulder, which is now lying in Fall Creek, near Forest Home, and which will be fashioned into a seat. A bronze tablet bearing a likeness of Professor Tarr and an inscription will be set in the boulder. Mr. H. S. Gutsell of the College of Architecture is now designing the tablet. The fund to cover the expense of the memorial was collected by Professor O. D. von Engeln of the department of geology and Professor Frank Carney of Denison University from former students of Professor Tarr, and has been drawing interest for some time in a local bank pending the selection of the boulder and the completion of the design.

A DEBATE has been arranged between Janus, one of Cornell's honorary debating societies, and the Barnard Literary Society of Columbia. It will be held here on April 18. The Mexican policy of the present national administration will be the subject.

APPOINTMENTS have been made to the Freshman Advisory Committee for next fall. The committee will consist of twenty-one seniors and sixty-three juniors. The members from the class of 1916 were named by the chairman, R. W. White '15, upon the recommendation of the 1915 men already on the committee. Each senior will have a sub-committee of three juniors. The 1915 men, besides Chairman White, are J. T. Breneman, C. E. Carey, J. M. Cashin, Stanley Coville, Arthur Dole, jr., G. B. Evans, jr., G. G. Inglehart, H. C. Kellerman, Slocum Kingsbury, H. H. Micou, A. C. Minnix, J. E. O'Brien, J. E. O'Hearn, A. C. Peters, W. A. Priester, W. F. Rienhoff, jr., R. S. Saalfeld, C. W. Stephens, F. F. Stoneman, and H. T. Thurber.

DEAN IRVINE has arranged a schedule which will permit him to meet his classes in the law school for the few weeks remaining of this term while attending to his duties as a public service commissioner. On Mondays and Tuesdays he will be in Albany and during the latter part of the week he will give his attention to the teaching.

DELEGATES from six college humorous publications at a recent meeting in New Haven decided to form an association with a view to aiding advertisers and promoting the efficiency of the entire field of college publications. C. W. Stephens '15 represented the Widow. The other periodicals represented were the Columbia Jester, the Williams Purple Cow, the Harvard Lampoon, and the Yale Record. The Princeton Tiger signified its intention of joining the proposed organization. The purposes of the organization provisionally agreed upon are: (1) To promote efficiency and gain the mutual benefits of an association; (2) to aid the advertiser by means of a standardization of type page and a uniform commission to agencies. The standard size proposed is that of Life.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB will have a "Brazilian night" next Saturday. Two more national nights are planned, to be in charge of the Filipinos and the Russians respectively.

THE REV. FRANCIS G. PEABODY, D.D., of the Harvard Divinity School, will preach in Sage Chapel next Sunday.

THE FRATERNITIES are organizing a baseball league.

THE SENIOR BANQUET will be held in the Armory on Friday, May 8.

A VICTORY IN DEBATE was won by a Cornell team in competition with representatives of George Washington University at Washington last Saturday. Cornell was represented by Harold Riegelman, Remington Rogers and H. A. Wichelns, all of New York City, who opposed the minimum wage proposition. The decision of the judges was two to one in favor of Cornell. The Washington debaters had won two victories over the University of Pennsylvania before they met Cornell. Rear-Admiral Stockton, U. S. N., retired, president of George Washington University, presided at the debate. The judges were Dr. S. N. D. North, O. B. Nesbit and John Cushing.

IN THE CONTEST for the Woodford Prize in oratory, to be held on May 1, only five men will compete, instead of six, as is customary. The five are H. Z. Harris (law), of Rochester; Harold Riegelman (arts), of New York City; F. E. Rogers (agriculture) of Canandaigua; Remington Rogers (law), of Brooklyn, and N. C. L. Zinssmeister (agriculture), of Brooklyn.

Marks of Fraternity Men

A Slightly Better Showing than in the Comparison Made Two Years Ago

President Schurman has given out the results of an investigation of the standing of fraternity undergraduates in the final examinations for the first term of this year. A study has also been made of the comparative standing of non-fraternity undergraduates. The results are shown in the accompanying tables.

The mark given for each fraternity or society was obtained by multiplying the mark of each member of the chapter in each course he took by the number of hours of University credit given for the course, adding these multiples together for the entire chapter, and dividing the total by the total number of University credit hours taken by all members of the chapter. This process gives a mark which is really the average mark received by the chapter as a whole for each hour of work done by its members during the term.

In Table A the omissions in the column for 1912 are due to the fact that the fraternity mentioned was not then in existence.

The average mark per hour for the 1,497 men in the fraternities and societies is 70.7 per cent. This average is slightly higher than the average shown two years ago by an investigation of the marks of 1,233 fraternity men. The average then was 70.02 per cent.

For purpose of comparison an effort was made to determine, as nearly as practicable, the average mark per hour of men in undergraduate courses who were not members of fraternities. Because of the large number of these men and the labor that would have been involved in determining the average for each of them, a shorter method which was used two years ago was followed. The computation was made of the average mark of only enough men undergraduates not members of fraternities to form a significant percentage of all the men undergraduates in the University not members of fraternities. The names of 300 of these were chosen in the following arbitrary manner: At regular intervals marks were placed opposite the names of persons on each page of the Student List. If the person opposite whose name the mark happened to fall was a male undergraduate, not a member of a fraternity, his name was used in the computation; but if the person was a graduate student, a member of a fraternity, or a woman, then the name of the nearest male undergraduate not a member of a fraternity was selected for the computation. The average mark per hour of the 300 men thus selected, computed in the same manner as in the case of the fraternity men, was 74.2 per cent. It will be seen by a reference to Table C that this average mark for 300 non-fraternity men is slightly higher than the average mark for 262 non-fraternity men in 1911-12.

A general comparison shows that the average mark of the fraternity men is $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent below the average mark of the non-fraternity men.

In the list of fraternities and societies will be noticed several whose average mark is considerably above the fraternity average, some even above the non-fraternity average. Some of these are professional societies, or organizations which draw their members from a single college. For example, Alpha Psi and Omega Tau Sigma are made up of students of the Veterinary College, and Alpha Zeta is an agricultural society.

One of the most significant results of the comparison is made between fraternity and non-fraternity men as to the character of the marks received. That is to say, an effort was made to observe what proportion of each group receive various grades of marks. It was found that only about one-third of one per cent of the fraternity men ranked better than 90 per cent on the term's work, whereas, of the non-fraternity men whose marks were investigated, more than one and one-half per cent attained that high grade. For those ranking above 85 per cent the comparison is even more striking, the percentage of fraternity men being about three, while that of non-fraternity men is nearly ten. Above 80 per cent, the difference is still great, 13.6 per cent of fraternity men and 23.6 of non-fraternity men attaining that grade. A little more than half of the total number of fraternity men averaged better than 70 per cent in their marks, while the proportion of the non-fraternity men who stood higher than 70 per cent was nearly three-fourths.

The average for classes, shown in Table D, brings out one thing which President Schurman called attention to, namely, that the sophomore year is the critical year. The averages show that is true both for fraternity and non-fraternity men, although the fact is more strikingly brought out in the case of fraternity men. It is interesting to note that freshmen not members of fraternities average practically as high as the whole number of non-fraternity men whose records were used in the computation. The results seem to show, with regard to non-fraternity men, that the freshman average is high, that the sophomore average shows a decline, that in the junior year a high standing is regained, and that a further improvement is shown in the senior year. With regard to fraternity men, similar relative standings are shown until the senior year, when there is a tendency to fall somewhat below the grade of the junior year.

The table of averages for separate colleges is interesting as showing that the difference in average between fraternity and non-fraternity men may be observed throughout the University. In some colleges the differences are not so great as in others.

New Drill Hall Authorized

Governor Glynn Signs Bill for a Structure to Cost $350,000

Governor Glynn last week signed the bill making an appropriation for a drill hall for the cadet corps at Cornell University. The total appropriation authorized by the bill is $350,000. The Trustees are authorized to contract for the building of such a structure at the expense of the state, and for their present use the bill appropriates $50,000.

When the Trustees voted to ask for this appropriation they committed to Charles E. Treman '89, of Ithaca, the duty of presenting the case before the proper authorities at Albany. After Governor Glynn signed the bill he sent the pen with which he had signed it to Mr. Treman, who says he is going to turn it over to the University.

The new drill hall will be built on the Campus, but the site has not yet been selected. Several places are being considered and a selection will be made before long. The hall will be large, probably not less than 200 by 300 feet, but the proportions will perhaps depend upon the character of the site which is finally chosen.

Cornellians are probably familiar with the fact that the University has been unable for several years to meet the requirements of the War Department with respect to military instruction, but they may be interested in reading again what an inspecting officer said about the situation a few years ago. In 1909 Captain Penn, of the General Staff, in his report to the War Department, said:

"The tone and traditions of the University are of the highest order. The results of the brief training given are most gratifying considering the lack of the ordinary facilities for proper instruction. The original limitation of instruction to the freshman class was due to the absence of proper armory facilities to accommodate two classes. The present armory is inadequate in size to accommodate even the freshman class, if it were not for the large excused list.

"The main object of the military instruction given at the schools and colleges is to qualify the students to be company officers of the Infantry Volunteer and Militia. A war with a first class power would necessitate a call for at least 300,000 Volunteers in addition to the Regular Army and Organized Militia. It would appear that no higher duty could rest on the state than to see that it had among the younger men of the state enough trained men to properly officer such a force as it might be called upon to furnish. With properly trained officers, the citizen volunteer is not called upon to swell the death roll of camps, and has in front of him only the soldier's chance in actual battle. No better recruiting ground for the officers of the Organized Militia could be found than among the graduates of the universities which have the facilities for and devote the proper time, even the minimum of three hours a week for two years, to military instruction.

* * *

It is not too much to expect that a state which has provided in such a handsome manner for its citizen soldiers by building many fine armories costing in the aggregate many millions of dollars, will, when the matter is brought to the attention of its legislature, make such provision for an adequate armory here, as will put new life into the military instruction, and will enable the college to carry out in more fitting manner its patriotic endeavor to qualify its students to be the best of the company officers needed for the future volunteer troops of this great state."

Dean of the Graduate School

Prof. Creighton Elected by the Faculty to Succeed Prof. Merritt

The Faculty of the Graduate School has voted to recommend to the Board of Trustees that Dr. James Edwin Creighton, professor of logic and metaphysics in the Sage School of Philosophy, be elected Dean of the Graduate School. The present dean, Professor Ernest Merritt '86, resigned several months ago and his resignation will take effect in June. The recommendation by the Faculty is virtually equivalent to election. Two years ago President Schurman, in a report to the Trustees, proposed that the Faculties of the Graduate School and the College of Arts and Sciences be permitted to choose their own deans and the Trustees approved the suggestion. Last year the Faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences did select a dean, in the person of Professor Nichols.

Professor Creighton was born in Nova Scotia in 1861. He is an A.B. of Dalhousie College, Halifax (1887), and a Ph.D. of Cornell (1892). He studied also at Leipzig and Berlin. In 1903 Queen's University, at Kingston, Ontario, made him a Doctor of Laws. He has taught at Cornell since 1889 and has been a professor since 1895. He has been American editor of Kant-Studien since 1896, and for many years editor of the Philosophical Review. He is a member of the American Philosophical Society and was its president in 1902-3.

Stammering Swindler in Jail Arrested in Kansas City and Sentenced for 400 Days

On Page 348 is a police photograph of Alvin N. Fisher, alias Edward A. Hudson, alias R. L. Swift, alias R. L. Holms, alias R. L. Freeborn, alias Irving B. Chittenden, alias John H. Eams, alias Ryerson T. Crane, alias George H. Fuller, alias George B. Smithers. Fisher is the stammering impostor who for the last five years has been preying on the sympathy of Cornell men and others in all parts of the country.

The photograph was taken in Kansas City, Mo., where Fisher is now a prisoner. He was sentenced in police court there on April 4 to pay a fine of $200 and in default of payment was committed to the municipal farm for 400 days. He had been playing his old game of trying to borrow money. The charge made against him by the police was vagrancy. They are advertising the fact that they have him, in case anybody has a more serious charge to make against him.

In 1910 and 1911 the ALUMNI NEWS was able to follow Fisher's travels about the country closely, and warned Cornell men against him. His method was to call at a Cornell man's office, introduce himself as a Cornell graduate, and ask for a loan on the plea that he had lost his pocketbook on the train. As he stammers badly, he usually wrote what he had to say on hotel notepaper and sent the letter to his intended victim before calling in person. He usually had a plausible story about being on his way to some other city where he had a job awaiting him as an engineer. He had some knowledge of Cornell, which he may have obtained here, for a boy named Alvan N. Fisher was admitted to the University on certificate from a western school in 1906 and remained here for a part of one year. Many Cornell men have given money to the stammering impostor, and many others have read the warnings against him and have avoided being swindled by him. He has traveled from New England to California and from Texas to Michigan. In the fall of 1911 he was arrested in Detroit and sent to jail for ninety days. After that the NEWS received no complaint about him until his recent visit to Kansas City.

His arrest and imprisonment there are due to J. W. Taussig '08, who remembered the articles in the NEWS three years ago and suspected that "Alvin Swift, of Chicago, a Cornell man," who wanted to borrow money from him to get to Oklahoma City on March 31, was the person who had buncoed so many three years ago. His suspicion was increased by the fact that "Swift" had a bad stammer. A detective was employed and a trap was set for the man. He proved himself to be an impostor.

Fisher is said to have been in Kansas City in 1911, using the name "Chittenden." He called on the Freeborn Engineering & Construction Company, the president of which is a Cornell man, and obtained $15 with a hard-luck story. Later he used the name Freeborn in getting money from a representative of the Robert W. Hunt Engineering Company in Chicago. As Freeborn, again, he ordered a carload of cement for the Freeborn company from the A. B. Meyer Building Material Company in Indianapolis and got a small amount of money from them. He ordered several tons of reinforcement steel from the E. M. Burr Company of Champaign, Ill. The steel was not shipped, but he is supposed to have obtained money from that company also.

After his arrest in Kansas City the man admitted that he had been in jail in Detroit three years ago and that he had been arrested in Houston, Tex., and Los Angeles.

He is now in a place where he will be harmless for more than a year to come, probably, but it would be well for Cornell men to remember his description. He is twenty-five years old, about six feet tall, and of slender build. He has brown hair and blue eyes. The third finger of his left hand has been amputated at the first joint. And he stammers.

Professors to Organize Committee Named to Form a National Association of University Teachers

Science for March 27 contains the announcement of the appointment of a committee of twenty-five to undertake the formation of a national association of university professors. The committee has been appointed by Professor Maurice Bloomfield, of Johns Hopkins University, who was the chairman of a conference of eighteen delegate professors held at Baltimore last November and who there received his instructions to name such a committee.

The twenty-five men on this organization committee were chosen from the faculties of sixteen universities. It was intended that they should represent the principal subjects of study and the principal universities. They are: Astronomy, George C. Comstock, (Wis.); Biological Sciences, E. G. Conklin (Princeton), R. G. Harrison (Yale) and Theodore Hough (Virginia); Classical Philology, E. Capps (Princeton); Chemistry, Julius Stieglitz (Chicago); Economics, M. A. Aldrich (Tulane), Alvin S. Johnson (Cornell); Education and Psychology, John Dewey (Columbia); Engineering, Guido Marx (Stanford); English, J. W. Bright, (Johns Hopkins), C. M. Gayley (California); Geology, W. H. Hobbs (Mich.); Germanic Philology, M. G. Learned (Penn.); History, W. E. Dodd (Chicago); Law, Roscoe Pound (Harvard); Mathematics, C. J. Keyser (Columbia), Henry Taber (Clark), Medicine, C. S. Minot (Harvard); Oriental Languages, Morris Jastrow (Penn); Philosophy, A. O. Lovejoy (Johns Hopkins), Frank Thilly (Cornell); Physics, C. E. Mendenhall (Wis.); Political Science, Isidor Loeb (Missouri); Romance Philology, F. M. Warren (Yale). Professor Dewey has consented to act as chairman.

The committee, Science says, may be expected to begin at once the consideration of the questions submitted to it.

The first step toward the forming of the proposed association was taken in the spring of 1913, when a circular letter, signed by most of the full professors of the Johns Hopkins University was sent to members of the faculties of nine other universities, inviting them to consider the advisability of forming a national association of university professors, and to send delegates to an informal conference for the discussion of the matter. The letter contained the following statement of the reasons actuating the signers of it :

The reasons which seem to demand the formation of such an association are fairly evident. The university teacher is professionally concerned with two distinct, though related, interests. Both of these interests can be furthered by cooperation and the interchange of views, and therefore, by organization; for only one of them has suitable organization yet been attained. As scholar and investigator the teacher is interested in the advancement of learning and the diffusion of knowledge in his specialty; and cooperative effort for these ends is already effectively organized, through our numerous technical societies and the several sections of the American Association. But the university professor is also concerned, as a member of the legislative body of his local institution, with many questions of educational policy which are of more than local significance; he is a member of a professional body which is the special custodian of certain ideals, and the organ for the performance of certain functions essential to the well-being of society; and concerning the character, efficiency, public influence and good repute of this body he can not be indifferent. It is on this side that there is need for more definite and more comprehensive organization. The general purposes, therefore, of the contemplated association would be to promote a more general and methodical discussion of the educational problems of the university; to create means for the authoritative expression of the public opinion of the profession; and to make possible collective action, on occasions when such action seems called for.

A favorable response was received in all cases. The proposed conference was held in Baltimore on November 17, 1913, on the eve of the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences. It was attended by eighteen delegates, from the following universities: Clark (Professors Taber and Webster); Columbia (Professors Cattell and Dewey); Cornell (Professors Bennett and Nichols) Harvard (Professor Minot); Johns Hopkins (Professors Ames, Bloomfield, Lovejoy, Morley); Princeton (Professors Capps, Kemmerer, Warren); Wisconsin (Professors Cole, Marlatt), and Yale (Professors Harrison, Mendel). After prolonged discussion of the whole subject it was unanimously voted that the organization of the proposed association should be undertaken; and the chairman, Professor Bloomfield, was authorized to appoint a committee, representing the principal subjects of study and the principal universities, (a) to determine what professors, or classes of professors, should be invited to attend a meeting, to be held at some time during the current year, for the formal establishment of the association; (b) to determine the time and place of this meeting, and (c) to prepare a draft of a constitution.

FUERTES PRIZE SPEAKING

The Fuertes Memorial prize speaking contest will be held Friday night in Sibley Dome. Seven men have been chosen from the fifteen upperclassmen who entered the contest. Five of the speakers are registered in Sibley College, one is from the College of Civil Engineering, and one is from the College of Architecture, upperclassmen from these three colleges only being eligible for the contest. The men who will speak and their subjects are as follows :

Y. T. Chen '14, M.E., "The Bulkhead vs. the Bulkhead Door."

B. P. Goldman '14, M.E., "The Stumpf Una-Flow Steam Engine."

Warren Packard '14, M.E., "The Application of Electricity to the Modern Motor Car."

H. B. Pope '14, C.E., "The Development of the Water Power of Fall Creek."

S. A. Pope '14, M.E., "Vacuo Hot Water Heating."

C. W. Worcester '14, Architecture, "The Reasonableness of a City Plan."

Adlai Coble '15, M.E., "The Fanchetti Horizontal Engine vs. the Diesel Engine."

This contest was held last year for the first time. It was founded by Charles Hinckley Baker, C.E., '86, of New York, and was named in honor of the late Professor E. A. Fuertes. The first prize is $100 and the second $20.

CORNELL alumni will, we are sure, be pleased by the news that Governor Glynn has approved the bill providing for a drill hall on the Campus large enough to enable the University to do the work in military science and tactics which the War Department expects of it. Of course the State of New York will be the real beneficiary by the passage of the bill, but Cornell men have been more familiar than most citizens with the difficulty under which the military instruction has been given, and are better able to estimate the benefit.

THE CLASS OF 1909 has voted to have its reunion with the rest of the classes, that is, on the 12th and 13th of June. There had been some talk of coming back as a class for Navy Day, May 23. The secretary, R. E. Treman, sent out return postcards to find out which day the members preferred. He received about 125 replies, and the great majority of those who replied were in favor of meeting with the rest of the classes in June. So far as we have heard, no other class has contemplated a reunion at any other time than the regular one. Those which have reunions this year are '69, '74, '79, '84, '89, '94, '99, '04, '09, and '11.

CORNELL CLUB OF HAWAII

Very successful interscholastic track meets were held in Honolulu last month, one of them under the auspices of the Cornell Club of Hawaii, and both of them for trophies presented by that club. The first of the events consisted of the annual relay games, inaugurated last year by the Cornell Club. That event took place on March 14. A week later the annual interscholastic track meet was held. The boys of Oahu College won first place in both meets. Other schools competing were Kamehameha, McKinley High, Mills, St. Louis College, and the College of Hawaii. Several Hawaiian interscholastic records were broken, two of the new records being made by John Watt, of Oahu, who expects to enter Cornell next year. In the track meet Watt ran the mile in 4 minutes 44 4-5 seconds, and the made a record of 52 3-5 seconds in the 440-yard dash. Watt was the "anchor" of the winning team in the four-mile relay race. His team made a new record, and he ran the last mile in 5 minutes 4 2-5 seconds. C. J. Hunn '08, of the Cornell Club, was the referee of both meets, and several other Cornell men were among the officials. The Honolulu newspapers reported the games at great length.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Officers were elected recently by the Cornell University Club of Southern California, for 1914-15, as follows: President, Stuart J. Flintham '03; vice-president, Harold H. Clark '00; secretary and treasurer, T. K. Gally '13. The annual meeting of the club was held on March 17 at the Union League Club of Los Angeles.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF ROCHESTER

The regular monthly meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of Rochester was held on April 3 at the home of Miss Lillian Coleman '94. Those present were Mrs. E. Roy Bowerman '10, Mrs. William H. Burr '99, Mrs. Charles W. Curtis '88, Mrs. George E. Gardner '96, Miss Eleanor Gleason '03, Miss Mary C. Gillette '01, Miss Ruth P. Heughes '13, Miss Alice R. May '01, Miss Elsa

BIG SMOKER THIS WEEK

Bring Your Dollar to the Aldine Club

A poster designed by André Smith has been mailed to give notice of the Cornell Smoker which will be held at the Aldine Club in New York on Saturday night of this week. It declares that nothing serious is intended, just an old-fashioned dollar smoker for Cornell men, with a talk by President Schurman, and singing by old Glee Club men.

The Aldine Club is on the top floor of the Fifth Avenue Building, at Fifth Avenue and Twenty-third Street. The club's large quarters will be given up to the Cornell men that night. Things will begin happening about eight-thirty.

The only charge will be one dollar, which will cover eats, drinks and smokes. Bring your dollar to the Aldine Club.

CORNELL LUNCHEONS

THE NEWS would be glad to receive material for a directory of the weekly luncheons arranged for Cornell men in various cities. A corrected list will be published at intervals. Following is a list which may be incomplete:

Baltimore.—Every Monday, 12:30 to 2 o'clock, at Krause's Restaurant, 113 West Fayette Street.

Chicago.—Every Thursday, 12:30 o'clock, at the Grand Pacific Hotel. Dinner the first Friday of every month at Vogelsang's, 6:30 o'clock.

Detroit.—Every Thursday, 12 to 1 o'clock, at the Edelweiss Cafe.

New York.—Downtown Lunch Club, every Wednesday, 12:30 to 1:30 o'clock, at the Machinery Club, 50 Church Street.

Portland, Oregon.—Every Tuesday at the new University Club.

St. Louis.—Every Tuesday, 12:30 to 1:30 o'clock, at Lippe's Restaurant.

THE STUDENTS of the department of chemistry have decided to enter the collegiate baseball series this spring. There will be eight college teams competing for the championship.

TWENTY-THREE schools are now entered in the Cornell interscholastic track meet to be held on May 9.

Dr. Sharpe Thinks the Team Has Made a Good Beginning

"If the hitting and fielding continue to improve and the pitchers keep up their good work, Cornell should have a baseball team that will win most of its games," said Dr. Sharpe after the return of the team from the southern trip.

He was well impressed with the team as a whole, but said that the line-up was by no means final. "The infield is not yet a unit, and the make-up of the outfield will depend entirely on the way the men hit. We have plenty of men who can catch flies, but we shall use only those who can hit the ball hard. With a hitting team back of the excellent pitching staff, Cornell should have a successful season."

Dr. Sharpe regards the staff of pitchers as a great improvement over that of last year, and thinks that the team is batting and fielding slightly better than last year at this time. The easy defeat of Bucknell he attributed to the fact that the opposing pitchers were inferior to those met on the southern trip. He was decidedly pleased, however, with the good showing in the first home game of the season.

It is several years since Cornell began a season so well supplied with pitchers. Besides Acheson and Johnson, of last year's team, there are four new men—Bryant, Regan, Traub and Russell. Regan's work Saturday against Bucknell was good. He is a left-handed twirler, of stocky build. He comes from Wellsville, N. Y.

The new baseball cage was a great help to the team. Until this spring it was almost always impossible to get any real fielding practice until the first game of the southern trip, and the early work in the dark Armory did not help to develop batters.

Cornell, 2; Fordham, 1

After breaking even with Virginia and Georgetown in the first four games of the Southern trip, the team won the fifth game from Fordham at New York by a score of 2 to 1. The game was a pitchers' battle in which Bryant proved to be too much for Keelen of Fordham.

Cornell scored in the first inning, when Schirick, the first man up, reached first base on an error. Two easy outs followed, but the Cornell captain scored on Grossman's single. In the third inning Bills walked, took third on Grossman's second single, and scored on Gordon's sacrifice fly. Fordham's only run came in the second as the result of Conway's three base hit. He scored on Dooling's sacrifice fly.

In this game, Donovan, Bills and Adair were the infielders. Grossman, Halsted, Taber, Gordon and Baugher all played in the outfield. Sutterby and Ludwig were both tried at first base. The summary:

Two base hits—Kiernan, Gordon. Three base hit—Conway. Sacrifice hit—Donovan. Sacrifice flies—Gordon, Dooling. Stolen bases—Schirick, 2. Left on bases—Fordham, 7; Cornell, 9. Double play—Viviano and McErean. Struck out—By Keelen, 7; by Bryant, 7. First base on balls—Off Keelen, 4; off Bryant, 4. Wild pitch—Bryant. Passed balls—Schirick, 2.

Cornell, 8; Bucknell, 0

The team played an errorless game in its first appearance at Percy Field last Saturday and defeated Bucknell, 8 to 0. The surface of the field was heavy and the air was chilly. During the last two or three innings there was a light sprinkle of rain.

Regan pitched a strong game, allowing only two hits and striking out ten men. He met his hardest test in the third inning. With a man on third base and two out he passed two batters, filling the bases, but the next man up hit a slow grounder which Regan himself fielded to first. After that incident only two Bucknell men reached first, one of them on a single and the other with a pass.

Cornell got two hits in the second inning, but a double play to the plate prevented a score. Three runs were gathered in the fourth. Bills sent up a high fly which the catcher missed, Grossman singled, Baugher fouled out, Taber's fly back of second was dropped by Buffington after a hard run, and Bills scored. Ludwig singled, filling the bases. Adair flied out. Regan hit a grounder to the pitcher, whose throw went through the first baseman, and two more runs came in. Schirick flied out. In the sixth inning Cornell made five hits for a total of eight bases and scored four more runs. Donovan scored in the eighth on Bills's drive to the clubhouse.

Army, 6; Cornell, 4

The team was defeated, 6 to 4, in the last game of the vacation trip, at West Point. It rained throughout the game. Cornell made a strong start, getting three runs in the first inning. Neither side scored further till the sixth, when the cadets pounded Russell's delivery for five runs. Cornell had a chance to win in the seventh. The bases were full and the Army pitcher then forced a run by passing Schirick, but Donovan struck out. The Army scored one run in the eighth. The hits were: Army, 8; Cornell, 4; errors: Army, 7; Cornell, 5. Butts struck out five men and Russell four.

Fencing

Columbia Wins the Championship— Cornell in Third Place

Columbia won the intercollegiate fencing championship in the finals held Saturday night at the Hotel Astor, New York. The Navy was second and Cornell third. Columbia won 32 bouts and lost 13. The Navy won 29 and lost 16. Cornell won 21 and lost 24. Pennsylvania took fourth place, Harvard fifth, and Yale sixth.

Two Oarsmen Ill

Hyland Probably Out of the Boat for Good—Butts Recovering

H. D. Hyland '14, who has been rowing No. 4 in the eight in which all the remaining members of last year's varsity crew have been rowing, was taken ill with scarlet fever last week. He is now in the infirmary and is not likely to row any more this spring. W. W. Butts '15, who has been rowing No. 2 in the same crew, was out of the boat for several days with tonsillitis, but has now left the infirmary. Commodore Gilman was shifted to Hyland's old seat at 4, E. S. Bird '14, stroke of last year's four, going to 6, while B. C. Spransy '14 went from 6 to stroke.

The crews have been rowing regularly on the lake whenever the weather has permitted and are developing rapidly. The high water and rough weather has necessitated the use of gigs in place of the shells on several days recently.

A third varsity crew has been taken to the training table this week, consisting of the men who made up the third boat during the spring recess. The additional oarsmen, who did not row during the vacation, have been reporting at the College Boathouse this week. Mr. Courtney, following his custom, has designated none of the present crews as his varsity or junior varsity boat, and has announced that any of the men now rowing at the College Boathouse, none of whom are in any sense cut from the varsity squad, will get a seat in one of the three crews now at the training table if he shows sufficient ability.

Cornell Rifle Team in Class A Won Fifth Place in the Whole League in Average of Scores

Unofficial averages compiled by Lieutenant H. T. Bull show that the Cornell rifle team, which tied with the Naval Academy for second place in Class B of the intercollegiate league, had the highest average but one in that class. The team average of the Cornell riflemen in the eleven matches was 951.8 out of a possible 1000, as against 933 for the Navy. Washington State College, which finished first in Class B, made an average of 960. The other teams averaged as follows: Vermont 924, Wisconsin 924, Oklahoma A. and M. 921, Maine 908, Dartmouth 894, Lehigh 872, Kansas 859.

Since the teams having the best twelve averages this year will make up Class A next year, Cornell is sure of a place in the highest class. Only four teams of the twelve composing the first class in the season just closed had a better average than Cornell. They are: Michigan Agricultural College 981, Massachusetts Agricultural College 969, Iowa 959, and West Virginia 952.

The individual averages of the Cornell men were as follows: Captain S. Coville '15, 192; D. H. Blakelock '17, 189; C. B. Benson '17, 187; W. A. Hoffman '17, 187; E. R. Ryder '15, 187; A. K. Webster '14, 186; W. M. Robinson sp., 185; F. Martindell '15, 183; W. A. Priester '15, 180; Schwartz, 180. Captain Coville shot the high score, 197.

Lacrosse

Coach Sawyer Thinks the Squad Showed Promise in the Early Games

The southern trip of the lacrosse team, although not altogether successful, has convinced Coach Sawyer that he has a promising squad, and he is optimistic as to the coming season. "The men are shaping up nicely," he said Saturday, "and we expect, through hard labor, to win the northern championship."

The team lost to Carlisle and Johns Hopkins, defeated Swarthmore, and tied Lehigh. Sawyer reviewed the games as follows:

"Cornell was not aggressive enough in the Lehigh game, losing many opportunities to score, as did Lehigh. The Hopkins game was hotly contested, Hopkins, with more experienced players, having better stick work, although Cornell handled the ball more than her opponents. In the game with Swarthmore Cornell displayed more team work, but lost some good chances to score. In the Carlisle game our defense played a good game, but the attack, especially in the first half, was far below form. The men appeared weak and nervous. The game, however, was a hard one to lose, as the Indians scored the winning goal only through a brilliant flash of speed in the last twenty seconds."

Cornell scored six goals in the four games, the same number being scored by the opposing teams. Several injuries were received, none of which will keep the men out of the game long. The next game is with Hobart at Geneva on the 18th.

Rowing.—The University of Washington eight won the Pacific Coast championship last Saturday, defeating Stanford and California, and will probably enter the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Freshman Baseball.—Seventy freshmen reported Monday afternoon to Coach Clute as candidates for the 1917 team.

Cheer Leaders.—Hereafter the cheer leaders are to be "C" men. A new method of selection was adopted by the senior general committee Monday night. There is to be a manager of cheer leaders. Arthur Dole, jr., '15, of Chicago, was elected the first manager. Among his duties will be that of arranging for mass meetings and parades. The plan is to select cheer leaders from among the "C" men after competition and have them officiate in their off seasons.

A NEW BOARD OF EDITORS took charge of the Sun on Sunday night of this week for a year to come. The new editor-in-chief is William L. Kleitz '15, of Glens Falls; the business manager, P. L. Scott '15, of Yonkers; managing editor, C. M. Colyer '15, of Central Bridge, and the assistant business manager, F. J. Towar, jr., '16, of Detroit. In its first number the new board makes a modest and intelligent statement of what it conceives to be its duty to the University and to its readers.

OBITUARY

George A. Newbery ['95]

George Alexander Newbery, who was a student here in 1891-93, was killed on March 1st, at Mendoza, in the western part of the Argentine Republic, by the fall of an aeroplane. Newbery was much interested in aviation. He had made a record for altitude and was planning a flight across the Andes.

Newbery's ancestry was English. He was born at Buenos Aires on March 29, 1875. In 1891 he entered Sibley College. Although he was here only two years he made many friends in the University and was a very popular fellow. He was a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity. After he left Cornell he went to the Drexel Institute in Philadelphia and graduated there in 1895.

The Buenos Aires newspapers spoke of his death as a national calamity and devoted columns to expressions of sorrow from all parts of South America and even from Europe.

On his return to Buenos Aires from the United States in 1895 Newbery was employed as an electrical engineer by the Rio de la Plata Light & Traction Company. In 1897 he was appointed chief electrical engineer in the Argentine Navy and was promoted in 1898 to be chief electrical inspector, being commissioned to go to Europe to inspect and buy electrical material for the navy and coast defenses. In 1900 he was appointed by the municipality of Buenos Aires to be chief director of public lighting, a post which he held up to the time of his death. He was also professor of electricity at the National School of Industry. He was a delegate to the international congress of engineers at the St. Louis exposition. From there he went to Europe, where he made a study of municipal lighting, the results of which were published in the annals of the Argentine Scientific Society.

Newbery was an ardent sportsman and excelled in many forms of sport. In 1911 he won first prize in a South American fencing tournament organized by the Buenos Aires Club de Gimnasia y Esgrima. He was expert in boxing, wrestling and swimming, rowed on winning crews in regattas at Buenos Aires, and won prizes as a yachtsman. He made his first aeronautical ascent in 1907 and after that time his greatest interest was in aviation. He was one of the first men in Argentina to obtain a pilot's license. In November, 1912, he made his first flight over the river Plata and back, about 300 miles altogether, and a few weeks later he joined a German pilot in a flight over the river to Montevideo.

He conceived the idea of flying across the Andes, and began to try for height records. In May, 1913, he broke all previous records for that part of the world by reaching a height of 4,400 meters. The next month he went to Europe with the object of obtaining the best possible motor in the market to aid him in his attempt. He returned with a new Le Rhone, which he installed in his Morane-Saulnier machine, and on February 10 of this year he attracted worldwide notice by flying to a height of 6,225 meters.

Necessity was the Mother of the Remington

WHEN the need of the typewriter came to the business world, the Remington came. Others followed. Remington was the first typewriter—it is still the first typewriter.

First in the field, the Remington organization began building experience, step by step, from the actual practice of typewriter users—always a step or two in advance of the users' need. Other makes followed.

Today the Remington Typewriter stands unique as the greatest revolutionizer, the greatest energizer the commercial world has ever seen. And by no means least of its beneficiaries are all other makes of typewriters—for the Remington created the typewriter industry and blazed the way—for the others to follow.

12,500,000 Remington-written letters mailed in the United States alone every business day in the year.

That tells the story of Remington pre-eminence, of the confidence of captains of commerce in it, of the faith of tens of thousands of efficient employees, of the limitless selection in choice of operators and choice of positions—the machine that has made work for the millions, and millions for the work.

'95, Ph.D.—A. Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri, is a member of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This committee has submitted three reports to the chamber: on business conditions in the United States as of November 29, 1913; on the problem of the food supply as to breadstuffs and kindred articles, and on the problem of the meat supply.

'00, Ph.B.—Mr. and Mrs. John Muir of 17 West Eighty-sixth Street, New York, announce the engagement of their daughter Jessie to Gardiner S. Dresser. The date of the wedding has not been definitely decided but it will take place this spring.

'01, C.E.—Roger B. Williams, jr., has been elected president of the new Ithaca Traction Corporation, which on April 1st took over the property of the Ithaca Street Railway Company. He has also been elected president of the Central New York Southern Corporation, which will soon take title to the property of the old New York, Auburn & Lansing Railroad Company. The affairs of these two roads have been in litigation and process of reorganization for a number of years, and for the last two years Williams has been one of the receivers of the properties. The new corporations are planning important extensions to the Ithaca street railway system and improvements in the service of both the roads.

'08, M.E.—Herbert L. Trube read a paper before the Western Efficiency Society at Chicago on February 27. His topic was "A discussion of the problem of human efficiency, with especial reference to the industries." Trube is the efficiency engineer of the National Veneer Products Company, Mishawaka, Indiana.
