Trustees Elected

August Heckscher, Philanthropist, and Martin J. Insull, Industrialist, Named to Board

August Heckscher, New York philanthropist, and Martin J. Insull '93, Chicago industrialist, were elected to the Board of Trustees of the University at the Fall meeting held November 15, according to an announcement made by President Livingston Farrand. Mr. Heckscher succeeds the late George F. Baker of New York whose term of office as Trustee would have expired in 1933, and Mr. Insull succeeds the late Walter Platt Cooke '91 of Buffalo.

Mr. Heckscher, who is founder of the Heckscher Foundation for Children, and president of the Child Welfare League of America, has been identified with Cornell since 1920 when he established with a gift of $500,000 the Heckscher Foundation for the Promotion of Research.

During the past 11 years many significant investigations have been made as a result of the fund. Nearly $400,000 has been made available by the Heckscher Council, which administers the gift.

Mr. Heckscher was the organizer of the Lehigh Zinc & Iron Company, which later consolidated with other firms into the New Jersey Zinc Company. He was general manager and later a director of the new firm. He is president of the Anahama Realty Corporation and the Sharon Power Company, vice-president of the Eastern Steel Company, and director of the Empire Trust Company and Crucible Steel Company.

Mr. Insull has maintained his interest in the University continually since his graduation in 1893 with the degree of Mechanical Engineer. He is the donor of a student loan fund, which aids many needy students each year, and is a member of the College of Engineering Executive Committee, the Cornellian Council, and the Cornell Club of Chicago.

For a number of years Mr. Insull was connected with the General Incandescent Arc Light Company as general manager and vice-president. In 1912 he became senior vice-president of the Middle West Utilities Company of Chicago and has been president of that organization since 1924. He is also president of the American Public Service Company, the Northern Utilities Company, Insull, Son & Company, Missouri Gas and Electric Service Company, North West Utilities Company and vice-president of the Great Lakes Power Company.

DR. MOTT RESIGNS

IMPORTANT POST

Because of the proposed expansion of the work of the international committee of the Y.M.C.A. Dr. John R. Mott, for sixteen years its general secretary, has signified his intention of resigning, it was learned recently. The post has been offered to Francis S. Harmon, editor and publisher of "The Hattiesburg (Miss.) American."

Dr. Mott will retain his position as president of the World Alliance of Young Men's Christian Associations, with headquarters in Geneva. Until 1928 he held the dual position of national president and general secretary of the international committee, but as the work of the organization grew he found his duties too exhaustive. At the Y.M.C.A. convention this year it was decided to expand the international committee into an active operating body for foreign work.

The Career of Raymond D. Starbuck in Railroad Engineering has Brought Him Far

Raymond D. Starbuck '01, vice-president of operations for the New York Central Railroad, has recently been put in charge of operations of all lines in the New York Central system. His position will now become even more comprehensive and will be advanced in importance because of the retirement of Mr. Crowley, who first resigned from the New York Central Railroad proper and whose retirement followed shortly from the Big Four, Michigan Central, Boston and Albany, and the approximately 100 other units in the New York Central system.

Like Mr. Crowley, Starbuck is an operating man. He began his railroad career as an assistant engineer of the Michigan Central Railroad, a few years after his graduation from Cornell, and was made in turn, division engineer, and assistant chief engineer. In 1912-13 he was appointed special engineer to the assistant vice-president of the New York Central Lines and advanced regularly as manager and director of various branches of the system to the vice-presidency, which he has held since 1924.

Starbuck has the distinction of having been twice captain of the varsity football team while at Cornell and appointed later as a coach. He was named all-American full back in 1900. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Aleph Samach.

A son, John, entered Cornell with the class of 1932 and has also been a member of the football squad.

ETA KAPPA NU, senior honorary society in the School of Electrical Engineering, has elected two seniors and six juniors to membership. They are George K. Williams '32, Ithaca; E. Mark Wolf '32, Bellevue, Ohio; John H. Battle '33, Memphis, Tenn.; Robert S. Duncan '33, Ridgewood, N. J.; Edward Hultberg '33, Mount Vernon; Walter B. La Chicotte, Jr., '33, Brooklyn; Wilbur R. LePage '33, Arlington, N. J.; and William Shepherd '33, Dayton, Ohio.

ATHLETICS

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM SEVENTH

The cross country team finished in seventh place in the annual championship race of the I.C.A.A.A. at Van Cortlandt Park, New York, November 16. Martin, Ranney, Eibert, Davis, and Eckert contributed to Cornell's total of 157 points.

Harvard won the team championship with 44 points. Dean of Pennsylvania was the individual winner. He covered the six miles in the record time of 29 minutes 23 $\frac{3}{4}$  seconds, bettering the old mark by more than 42 seconds.

Cornell's freshman team, competing in the three-mile event, finished fourth with 142 points. Manhattan won with 31 points.

Martin led the Cornell runners, finished in 22d place, with Ranney a few steps behind. Elbert finished 29th, Davis 44th, and Eckert 46th. Tenebaum and Kellogg were the other members of the Cornell team.

Hanerstron led the freshman runners, finishing in 15th place. Kerr finished 24th, Taylor 34th, Wilson 35th, and Bellingier 51st. Other freshman entries were Tierney and Manson.

Harvard replaces Penn State as team champion. The Penn State runners, along with Cornell and Syracuse, have won four legs on the trophy first put into competition in 1914. Each of these three colleges is seeking its fifth victory and permanent possession of the cup. Cornell retired the original trophy in 1913.

The varsity team scores:

BASKETBALL TEAM AT WORK

The basketball squad is working for the opening of the season early in December. Six experienced players are available from last year's team and, with some promising sophomore material, prospects are bright for a good season.

The schedule has not yet been announced, but it is likely that Niagara will be Cornell's first opponent on the Drill Hall court December 12.

The league schedule, providing for thirty games among the teams of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Dartmouth, and Yale, will open in January.

The veterans available this year are Captain Zahn, who is being tried at guard; Hatkoff, Lipinski, and Reed, forwards, and Furman and Bennet, guards. Bennett is on the soccer team and will not report to Coach Howard Ortner '18 until the soccer season closes.

The first team at present is lining up with Hatkoff and Lipinski, forwards; Voelker, a sophomore, center, and Zahn, Houck, another sophomore, and Furman, guards.

On the second team are Reed and Heerwagen, forwards, Hilsman, center, and Kopaczynski and Dreyer, guards. The third team includes Adelsberg and Rawitz forwards, Bridges, center, and Stratton and Bagby, guards. The fourth team includes Frederick Hill and Russel Hill, forwards, Stamler, center, and Northrup and Dietz, guards.

Veterans who graduated in June included Captain Murphy, guard, Schreuder, center, and Donovan, guard.

TILDEN AND HUNTER HERE

Francis T. Hunter '16, tennis professional, defeated William T. Tilden, professional world's champion, in an exhibition match in the Drill Hall November 21, in four sets, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Hunter and Tilden turned professional after the 1930 season. In amateur tennis, they played doubles for many years. Hunter was ranked No. 2 for several seasons, and Tilden held the national singles title eight years.

J. Emmett Pare and Albert Burke divided two sets in the opening singles match of the exhibition. In doubles, Tilden and Pare defeated Hunter and Burke, 6-2, 7-5.

Football for Unemployed

*Final Arrangements Completed for the
on December 9*

Announcement has been made of the final arrangements for the charity football game to be played in New York City on December 9, at which time Cornell will compete with Princeton, Columbia, and Pennsylvania.

The contest will take place in the Yankee Stadium and the game will be called promptly at 1.30 p.m.

There are three grades of tickets—box seats at $3.00, reserved seats at $2.00, and unreserved seats which will not be sold in advance, at $1.00. Tickets of the first two classifications may be ordered in any amount from now on from the Cornell University Athletic Association in Ithaca, and checks are to be made payable to the Athletic Association. A charge of 22 cents should be added to the price paid to cover registry charges.

It is not known just how many tickets will be allocated to Cornell but there will be sufficient for reasonable needs. Tickets will be mailed out about a week before the game.

Mr. Owen D. Young's committee requests that although the prices are reasonable, those ordering tickets should be reminded that the proceeds of the games are for the benefit of the unemployed and additional amounts added to the checks for tickets will be gratefully received and most acceptable.

OWEN D. YOUNG'S LETTER

"On October 14 in the capacity of chairman of the Committee on Mobilization of Relief Resources to which I have been summoned by the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief, I issued a call to all colleges and schools in the United States having football teams to give to unemployment relief the gross receipts, less actual expenses, of one game. I asked that, if the proceeds of a regular game could not be devoted to this purpose, or a substantial percentage of the receipts of one or more games, extra or special games should be scheduled to raise these funds. I did this because I believe it is an excellent thing for the students of our colleges and schools to recognize the situation which the President has characterized as a national emergency, and to have a part, with the rest of us, in meeting it.

"The response to this call has splendidly justified my expectations. One hundred and ten colleges have completed or are completing arrangements for special games. Eighteen others have pledged themselves to give all or part of the net proceeds of regular games. The list, we know, will be substantially increased before the football season is over.

"E. K. Hall, of Hanover, chairman of the Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Football Association, who has taken over, at my request, the direction of this project, very truly points out that 'the response of the members of the football teams, most of which have already played through long, hard schedules, has been 100 per cent. Those responsible for the administration of the schools and colleges have done their part, and not without difficulty.'

"One very important aspect of the undertaking remains to be considered, and considered with the same fine, hearty enthusiasm with which the other details have been taken up.

"We must have spectators as well as players at these games. It is as spectators that the overwhelming majority of the students will have their part in achieving the purpose for which these games will be played. My call was issued to all students, not merely to the members of the football squads alone. It is to the spectators that the unemployed must look for the assistance to which they are so well entitled.

"From every point of view these games should be the most largely attended that have ever been played in this country. They will be marked by spectacular football. I am told, indeed, that it will be football beyond that which marked the regular schedules. In the number and the spirit of the people who attend them they ought to be great demonstrations of our determination to meet the emergency. The register of the turnstiles ought to run into the millions.

"In my call I ask the senior classes of the colleges and schools to organize the students for attendance at the games. Through this message, as the time for the games draws near, I am renewing this call. The response of the students should be unanimous, and I call on them to make it so. They should begin now their missionary work among their families and their friends.

"I call, too, on the alumni to attend. I should like to know that as clubs and associations and individuals they will give every possible support. They have been having their part in meeting the emergency in other ways, and this is not at all to take the place of that participation. It is to be something over and above what they have already done or may have planned to do. We have need of every aid that can be rendered.

"Through The Cornell Alumni News I call upon the present and former students of Cornell to make her contribution worthy of her traditions."

JUST LOOKING AROUND

THE DRAMATIC CLUB has been packing them in with its old-fashioned melodrama, "Gold in the Hills, or The Dead Sister's Secret." The audience contributes cheers, shouts, boos, and hisses, and gains a pleasant euphoria by actively aiding in the downfall of vice.

But the audience's pleasure has, I fear, other components. There is a deep, dark pleasure there in alleging one's own mocking superiority to what one's father held seriously. There is an expression of youthful reluctance to accept any imposed classic. There is, even, a sense of release, a sublimation of father-hatred, which requires, for its explanation, a thorough-going psychoanalyst. At any rate, fathers who have visited "Gold in the Hills" have an uneasy impression of a large audience murmuring: "Oh Father! You are just too absurd!"

Well, perhaps Father was absurd. He liked his drama simple and clear-cut and bathed in light. He liked to be able to recognize heroism by its build, villainy by its clothes, and virtue by its habit of shrinking as if blistered. When the curtain rose and he saw a dear old grandmother knitting, he wanted her to go on knitting throughout the play. In a modern drama the dear old grandmother will end up, at the very best, in the stews of Shanghai.

But those who howl with laughter at "Gold in the Hills" would never smile at a contemporary play of obscure demoniac motives, of strange lusts in perverted minds. These are the very stuff of Modern Drama.

Father reflects, nevertheless, that perhaps in forty years the Cornell Dramatic Club may put on a play by Eugene O'Neill. And the young collegians of that epoch will howl and shout with glee. And to their abashed fathers they will say: "Oh Father! Weren't you just too absurd!"

The Balance Sheet

Productive Funds $25,000,000—Rate of Return on Investments Not Much Below Average

The report of Comptroller Charles D. Bostwick '92 for the year ending June 30 has just appeared.

The net cost of running the endowed colleges at Ithaca exceeded the income by $135,807.18. This increases the debit balance to $196,906.85. Unexpended but necessary appropriations amount to $83,319.97 making the total debit balance $280,226.82. Property to the amount of $1,124,724.31 has been purchased to meet future needs. This has been temporarily financed by current credits and by borrowing from the endowment funds.

The income of the Medical College in New York exceeded expenses by $48,112.51, increasing the credit balance to $244,226.24. Of this, $150,000 has been appropriated to meet certain temporary or emergency needs of the coming year and $24,807.02 is reappropriated to meet authorized obligations. This brings the credit balance to $69,419.22.

The Veterinary College received $219,030.34 and spent $209,083.80, leaving a balance of $9,946.54.

The College of Agriculture received $3,116,859.14 and spent $3,114,116.21, leaving a credit balance of $2,748.93.

The College of Home Economics received $604,061.37 and spent $611,393.09. The debit excess is $7,332.62.

The Geneva Experiment Station received $404,232.09 and spent $403,987.59, leaving a favorable balance of $244.50.

The productive funds have been increased during the year by $898,155.15 and now amount to $24,919,028.02. Of this sum $7,716,542.87 is for the Medical College in New York.

The residential halls now represent an investment of $3,628,083.11.

The average rate of interest for the year was 5.268 per cent as compared with 5.523 for the previous year and with the average of 5.431 for the preceding ten years. The market values of the securities carried dropped below the book values by about $2,294,000. Mr. Bostwick expects a further decrease in the average return for the current year.

The Semi-Centennial Endowment Fund, after certain items were charged off as uncollectible, now amounts to $6,337,097.04. Of this $2,142,053.13 remains to be collected.

Gifts passed through the office to the amount of $1,333,032.26.

The Cornellian Council collected and paid into the treasury $726,983.88. This brings its total payments to the University to $5,164,628.05.

The group insurance plan now covers 1,227 persons with insurance aggregating $4,780,000.

At the heating plant 29,483 tons of coal were burned at an average cost of $3.85 per ton.

The manager of purchases did an order business amounting to $1,154,756.03.

In the dormitories there were quartered 657 men and 709 women.

BOOKS

THE FOUNDER OF A RELIGION

John Calvin: the Man and His Ethics. By George Harkness '12, Professor of Philosophy in Elmira College. New York. Holt. 1931. 22 cm., pp. xvi, 266. 6 illustrations. Price, $3.

Miss Harkness at the end of her study explicitly states that she (a Methodist minister) has no affiliation with Calvinism; she is merely a curious observer. And her book bears her out. It is an impartial and illuminating study of a great religious leader. No one can understand the political development of the Protestant countries without knowing about the religious and ecclesiastical background of the thought which brought about the revolutions and the political changes producing British democracy and American imperialism. Beza, Knox, Cromwell, Cotton Mather, Jonathan Edwards, Emerson, Theodore Parker, Channing, Jefferson, Woodrow Wilson—how varied are the types which these names represent! Yet all the product of the logic or the illogic, in the line of support or refutation, of the stern Genevan reformer.

Tracing with Professor Harkness the development of Calvin's thought, we are forced to conclude that he, like most of us, was at many points inconsistent with himself. Man is a worm, at every point hemmed in by the iron ring of necessity; yet a free moral agent responsible to God for every act. It is man's duty to obey the magistrates, who are called by God to rule; yet he is enjoined to resist passively (and sometimes actively) the tyranny of unjust magistrates (yet have they not all been set up by God?). Professor Harkness is not quite successful in her explanation that unjust judges have forfeited God's backing.

Still, was not Plato sometimes inconsistent? Does not flesh war with spirit among the early thinkers as well as among the Reformers of Geneva, Edinburgh, and Westminster?

It is still true that man will be free and will fashion his philosophy in accordance with his aspirations.

ALUMNI VOTE ANALYZED

Analysis of the vote at the annual elections of Alumni Trustees provides an index of some value as to the extent and nature of interest in University affairs. The office of the Alumni Representative has summarized the balloting of last spring, and the results from the point of view of geographical distribution are given on pages 120 and 121.

Of the 27,340 degree holders who were eligible to vote for Alumni Trustees 7,236 (26 per cent) cast ballots. The men voted in slightly larger proportion than did the women. Of the 22,226 potential men voters, 5,965 (27 per cent) voted; for the women, who numbered 5,114, the vote was 1,271 (25 per cent).

This vote of 26 per cent may be taken as an indication of general alumni interest, inasmuch as there were only two candidates for the two vacancies. Frank E. Gannett '98 and Robert E. Treman '09 were elected without opposition.

THE FRATERNITY-

DORMITORY PROBLEM

THE RECENT ACTION of the Trustees, accepting the offers of Psi Upsilon and Sigma Phi to build dormitory units for the use of their chapters, is undoubtedly received with hearty approval by the alumni generally.

Regardless of the inevitable biases and other slants on the various debatable matters connected with Greek letter groups, it is clear that in any attempt to concentrate the housing of the men students the fraternities must be regarded as part of the condensation. The willingness of these fraternities to be pioneers in the movement is highly to their credit; for one of the differences of opinion is naturally whether the area should be as small as a half mile square, or whether with modern transportation a mile square would still be regarded as concentration.

Undoubtedly the ideal would be a continuous area where every male student, with normal practical exceptions, could be housed in buildings of a suitable type; an area where no private dwellings or public buildings for other purposes intervened. A housing arrangement of this sort would make for solidarity. Given the wherewithal, it could be effected without submerging the individuality of either the student or any social group that elects to house itself under one roof.

The attainment of this ideal seems very distant. There is no unanimity of opinion on its desirability, for example, in fraternities that do not contemplate moving in. There is a much greater agreement in those quarters that if the two fraternities that are the pioneers wish to make the experiment they should be allowed to do it, as well as those four or five fraternities that are faced with an early need to rebuild.

The time has seemed long since the fraternities made their offers to the University. The decision has come slowly, but we believe it was made after due deliberation for the good of the University. The principal sufferers, beside the Trustees' committee of course, have been the undergraduate members of the two chapters that have been inconvenienced, and with them the distress has been only relative.

INVESTIGATES CHEMISTRY

OF THE BRAIN

The research of Professor Wilder D. Bancroft into the colloid chemistry of the brain and the discovery that diseases of the nervous system are the apparent result of coagulation or dispersion of brain colloids have led to successful experiments in the treatment of insanity.

Two drugs, sodium rhodanate and sodium amytal, were suggested by Professor Bancroft as having possible beneficial effects upon insane persons. These drugs were used in experiments conducted at Willard State Hospital by Dr. H. Beckett Lang. The results of the tests were reported last week to the National Academy of Science at Yale.

Dr. Lang related cases in which the administration of these drugs caused such great improvement in some patients that they were permitted to return to their homes.

Some time ago, Professor Bancroft and his assistant, John E. Rutzler, Jr., '27, showed that cells of the brain may become either coagulated or dispersed. The colloids are gelatinous substances in certain cells. In the brain, such cells may coagulate or become tough and white or they disperse or become thin and watery. In either case, a certain type of insanity results.

Dr. Bancroft discovered that sodium rhodanate relieved coagulation and that sodium amytal overcame dispersion.

In the tests at Willard, sodium amytal was prescribed for treatment in cases of schizoid insanity and sodium rhodanate for cases of cycloid insanity. The paranoid type of dementia praecox and epilepsy are listed under the first classification, and the catatonic type of dementia praecox and involuntional melancholia are listed under the second classification.

In publishing the results of his experiments, Dr. Lang said:

"It is not suggested that, in psychoses of either organic or functional origin, these drugs are the sole method of treatment, but only that they may be used as an aid in determining effect of such mental states on the brain colloids. Known and applicable methods of treatment should and must be used; but a keener appreciation of the effects of such therapy can now be made."

Forty-six cases were treated at Willard. Thirty-eight gave definite indications with both drugs and forty-three gave definite indications with at least one drug.

Dr. Bancroft is planning a further report on the chemical aspects of the Willard experiments. His report will state:

"In forty-three cases, there is unquestionably a change of brain structure paralleling the change in insanity, a change which could not be detected by our present methods of microscopy.

"This means that in about ninety-three per cent of the cases studied the insanity was a disease of the brain. The remaining cases will probably fall in line in time."

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

THE ILL success of the C. U. R. W. canvass for funds is the sort of thing that awakens a large and cosmic concern in the writer of this column, and, it is hoped, in its readers likewise. Last year the C. U. R. W. raised $3,312.05 in its Campus Chest, a considerable falling-off from previous years. So far this year only about $2,000 has been obtained, of which 14 per cent goes to the Cornell-in-China Club, 46 per cent to a special Student Loan Fund, and 40 per cent, or only $800, to the C. U. R. W. In other words, the undergraduates have given until it hurts; it begins to hurt at twenty-five cents.

THE COMMITTEE upbraids the student body, most properly, for its failure to respond. It will continue in its effort to raise money for the Student Loan Fund. "Many students are staying here only by making the greatest sacrifices, and by living in conditions which no man should have to endure. Others have been unable to stay at all, and many still here will not be able to hang on much longer. No jobs at all are available. The present loan funds are all used up."

WHAT is this education, that people should suffer so to obtain it? Do we teachers possess any secrets that are worth four years of youth's privation to learn? I am afraid that a good many of us would answer "No." If you ask culture of a college course, remember that some of our most deeply cultured men and women never went to college; if you seek professional training, recall that relatively few of those who start toward, for instance, medicine, ever come to success in that arduous and over-crowded field; if you think that a college degree will get you a better job, you are merely wrong; and if you dream of years of cheery good-fellowship, you won't get them if you have to spend all your time washing windows and waiting table.

IT IS HARD to be so disagreeable, but one must conclude that higher education is being deflated. The country cannot now support a million college students. The saddest part of it is that so many that will have to give up are just those that we should like to keep.

THE ITHACA COMMUNITY CHEST has, however, done very nicely. At the end of five days $69,530 was reported, nearly $4,000 above last year.

MAYBE we shall have a new dormitory, connecting Founders Hall with the War Memorial. A considerable fund was given ten years ago by two donors, a brother and sister, who remain anonymous; the conditions were that the income should be used for administration until such time as the principal might serve for building a dormitory. Now Comptroller Charles D. Bostwick '92 is advertising for bids, on the chance that he may fulfill the terms of the gift.

A DEVELOPMENT which you may view with satisfaction or alarm is an extension of our intramural sports. Our championship teams in soccer and touch football are to meet corresponding teams from Colgate. Tau Kappa Epsilon is Cornell's touch football champion. There are as yet no accusations of over-emphasis, proselyting, professionalism, or racketeering.

A NEW GAME has been introduced to combat the students' addiction to over-study. It is called speedball and combines the best features of soccer, basketball, and football. Play is governed as in soccer while the ball is on the ground, but when it is lifted by a kick it may be passed, punted, drop-kicked, or held until it again touches the ground. Fourteen teams have signed up.

REPORTS from the women's dormitories indicate that the food is now simply splendid. The moral seems to be: Don't Boost; Knock.

THIRTY-SEVEN students have answered the call for contestants for the inter-collegiate debate squad.

DURING THE WEEK the fifth annual Indian Farmers' School was in progress here.

THE BROSAS String Quartet of London on November 18 made a brilliant debut in the University Theater, playing Haydn, Schubert, and Prokofieff.

MISS MARY CORNELL, only surviving child of Ezra Cornell, celebrated her 84th birthday on Saturday, Nov. 20. She recalled some interesting incidents of her college days in Vassar, which she entered at its opening. She says that she studied French, horseback riding, and drawing. Not a bad curriculum at that.

A MOST DREADFUL accident was suffered by William W. Roberts '33 of Boonville. While hunting in the Adirondacks on November 8 he was struck in the arm by a stray bullet from an unseen hunter's rifle. He was obliged to walk several miles before finding a conveyance to the Lewis County Hospital. There it was found necessary to amputate his arm.

YOUR CORRESPONDENT has a special interest in the results of the treatment of the insane by means of drugs suggested by Professor Bancroft and Dr. Rutzler. Visiting Willard last May, he asked Dr. Lang what was the best accepted conclusion about the causes of insanity. "We just don't know," said Dr. Lang. "Some believe it's all physical; some believe it proceeds from the psyche, or the mind, or whatever you want to call it." Well, these experiments, so far as they have gone, seem to be important evidence that the brain comes before the mind, and that the chemists will cure you sooner than Dr. Freud.

Canst thou not minister to mind
diseas'd,
Pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow,
Raze out the written troubles of the brain,
And with, mayhap, some sodium
rhodanate,
Peptize coagulated colloid cells
Which weigh upon the heart?

IT IS NO SECRET that the Board of Trustees, deliberating on the very thorny question of compulsory military drill, were kind of irritated by a flood of letters from semi-pro organizations on either side, telling them what to decide. So if, for instance, you are strongly in favor of compulsory military training, you can help your side by sending in some telegrams reading perhaps: "Disarm, you war-breeders! Seventh-Day Adventist Convention of Rabbit Hash Landing, Tenn." M. G. B.

ALUMNI VOTE ANALYZED

During the last few years the Board of Directors of the Alumni Corporation has taken steps to stimulate greater interest in the Alumni Trusteeships, and has been successful each year, except in 1931, in urging several candidates to compete. Two Alumni Trustees are elected each spring, and a representative field of candidates would number at least five. In view of the recent action of the Directors in recommending a wider distribution on the membership of the Board of Trustees, it is not unlikely that the list of candidates for the election of 1932 will include nominees from different sections of the country.

A detailed analysis of the vote by geographical divisions is given below. The totals given for States are exclusive of those separately listed cities.

THE ALUMNI

'77 A.B.—Dr. Emily G. Whitten Augé of Philadelphia has announced the marriage of her daughter, Emily Whitten, to Franklin Herbert Pennell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Chester Pennell, of Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania, on July 18, 1931. Mr. Pennell is a graduate of the Towne Scientific School, M.E. '25, of the University of Pennsylvania, and is a member of Theta Chi. Mr. and Mrs. Pennell are living at 6106 Nassau Road, Overbrook, Pennsylvania.

'79—Sigmund M. Lehman, who died in April, 1930, left an estate whose gross value, according to an appraisal recently filed, is $4,080,060. He left $100,000 to charitable institutions. His executors are his brother, Lieutenant Governor Lehman of New York and his sons, Allen S. Lehman '05, and Harold M. Lehman '10, who also share in the estate.

The Troy Studio Calendar for 1932

It will be ready to ship within two weeks. It is a good one again. The calendar is the usual size with a colored photograph of the Library on the cover. The views this year are all large size. Entrances to important buildings are featured instead of the complete buildings. The views are better for framing. The entrances are of Goldwin-Smith Hall, Baker Laboratory, Balch Dormitories, Baker Tower, and a view giving you an idea of the new Myron Taylor Hall.

Concerning Cornell

Leather bound, gift edition

We have found that while the special price of $1.50 on the cloth bound edition interests students, the binding does not make it look like a gift book. The leather bound volume is printed on thin India paper. The covers are finely stamped in gold and fairly flexible. We pay the postage.
