ASSASSIN

A Drinker of Hashish!

In eleventh-century Persia, a secret order was founded by Hassan ben Sabbah, indulging in the use of the Oriental drug hashish, and, when under its influence, in the practice of secret murder. The murderous drinker of hashish came to be called hashish in the Arabic and from that origin comes our English word assassin!

Medical Center Plans

Staff To Be Organized Along Educational Lines—Structure to Open in 1932—Disease Prevention Aim

The curriculum of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association, whose medical center along the East River between Sixty-eight and Seventy-first Streets, New York, is now being constructed, will emphasize the problems of the prevention of disease.

Public health, according to a recent announcement explaining the organization of the institution, will be one of the primary considerations. To that end, a social service department is being formed.

"Holding fast to the principle," says the announcement, "that the interests of human welfare are to take precedence over all other considerations, the development of the New York Hospital will be accomplished so that all of its long established traditions may be preserved and its field of usefulness be greatly widened."

The new Medical Center, to be opened in the fall of 1932, is organizing its staff on a university basis. There will be five divisions, comprising medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, and psychiatry, and each will be directed by a chief of staff responsible both for the treatment of patients within his particularly medical jurisdiction and for all the educational and research activities of the college as they relate to it.

In each department, the chief of staff will have the assistance of a small group of associates on full-time. The rest of the various staffs will be composed of men who also engage in private practice.

Central laboratories are to be provided for more complicated diagnostic processes. Department laboratories are also to be available for routine analyses. Other laboratories will be employed particularly for bacteriological, chemical, and microscopic work. There will also be a department of radiology.

The new center will provide approximately 1,000 beds for patients and correspondingly ample facilities for treatment of out-patients. There will be living quarters for 125 resident physicians, 500 nurses, and 200 employees. Instruction will be provided for approximately 300 undergraduate medical students and for a number of advanced students.

The New York Hospital is the oldest in the state and the second oldest in the country, having been established in June, 1771.

The hospital has been affiliated with the Medical College for teaching purposes since 1912.

GOVERNORS ARE INVITED TO CORNELL CONFERENCE

Governors of all the states have been invited by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York to attend the fourteenth annual American Country Life conference at Cornell August 17 to 20. "Rural Government," in which the New York executive is particularly interested, will be the theme of the conference.

The conference will be formally opened by Liberty Hyde Bailey, dean emeritus of the College of Agriculture and chairman of the Roosevelt country life commission.

In his invitation to the state leaders, Governor Roosevelt wrote that "there has been little careful study of how modern conditions have affected the functions of rural government. For the most part our machinery for rural government remains too much like that of a century ago. In many cases it lacks business efficiency and is one of the largest factors in the high local taxes which so burden our farmers."

The governor asked the cooperation of other executives "to make the deliberations of the conference such that they will throw new light on the pressing problems of rural government."

Assisting on the arrangements committee for the conference are Professors Julian E. Butterworth, Dwight Sanderson '98, Bristow Adams, and Martha Van Rensselaer '09, and William J. Wright, director of junior extension work; Charles A. Taylor '24, radio service director; Anson W. Gibson '17, associate secretary of the College of Agriculture, George S. Butts '25, extension instructor; Lloyd R. Simons '11, Fred B. Morris '22, Earl A. Flansburgh '15, and Lincoln D. Kelsey, county agent leaders; Dorothy C. DeLany '23, assistant state leader of home demonstration agents; and E. S. Foster, secretary of the New York State Federation of Farm Bureaus.

Classes Plan Reunions

Eighteen Groups to Return in June—'16 to Stage Annual Rally in Bailey Hall—Traditional Program Complete

The business depression apparently is not harming the plans which eighteen classes are laying this year for reunions June 12-14. The Dix plan, which brings back at one time groups of classes that were contemporary in college, will be operative this year. Its popularity is reflected in the roster of classes scheduled to reunite this June. On this list are '71, '76, '81, '85, '86, '87, '88, '91, '04, '05, '06, '07, '16, '23, '24, '25, '26, and '29. The classes of '96, '01, '11, and '21 which under the old plan would have been back this year, are waiting for the Dix plan combinations. That plan places special emphasis on reunions of twenty-five and fifty years, so '81 and '06 will be back in force. '06 is fortunate in that the luck of the draw schedules its twenty-fifth reunion in the same year with the Dix Group. '86 and '26 have similar good fortune.

All classes will be assured of accommodations in University dormitories, a scheme which has practically supplanted the old plan of living in fraternity and sorority houses. The several classes will be grouped in the various dormitories scattered over the campus. Any alumnus having special requests to make should communicate with the Alumni Representative, Foster M. Coffin '12, 31 Morrill Hall.

As in former years, the railroads coming into Ithaca are cooperating with returning alumni. Under the plan followed for all conventions, passengers are allowed half rate in returning to their homes. When the ticket to Ithaca is purchased a convention certificate should be requested. This can be redeemed for a return ticket at the reunion headquarters in the Drill Hall, where railroad representatives will be stationed.

Many classes which are returning under the Dix plan are having common banquets in groups of four. As usual, all class dinners will take place on Saturday night, and will be followed by the traditional rally in Bailey Hall, which this year is in the hands of '16. Bub Pfeiffer '16, is chairman of the committee on rally arrangements, and promises a program of special significance.

ATHLETICS

TRACK TEAM DOES WELL

Fine performances by its star athletes gave Cornell fourth place in the annual I.C.A.A.A. track and field championships, won by the University of Southern California in a record meet at Franklin Field May 29 and 30.

In a duel with Stanford, Southern California captured the title for the second successive year with the record total of 4667 points. Stanford's total was 4422/35. Pennsylvania led the eastern teams with 21 points in third place, with Cornell scoring 192/5.

Record-breaking and record-equaling performances marked the competition, one of the most dramatic in the carnival's history. Two track records of ancient vintage were equalled when Williams of Southern California sped to victory in the 440-yard dash in 47 4/10 seconds to equal Meredith's mark made in 1916 and when Payne of Southern California went over the 220-yard low hurdles in 23 6/10 seconds to equal Kraenzlein's time set in 1898.

A new pole vault record of 14 feet 1/2 inch was set by Graber of Southern California to give the Trojans the meet title, the tenth won by a far western team in the past eleven years. Churchill of California broke the javelin throw mark with a toss of 220 feet 11 1/4 inches. Barber of Southern California posted a new broad jump mark of 25 feet 3 1/2 inches. Wykoff of Southern California raced the 100-yard dash twice in 9 and 6/10 seconds for a new record, besting a mark held by, among others, Henry A. Russell of Cornell.

HOW CORNELLIANS SCORED

Cornell won two seconds, three thirds, and shared the last three places in the pole vault. Ranney, two-miler, was beaten at the tape by McCluskey of Fordham in the most brilliant and dramatic race of the day. McCluskey was jostled rounding the first turn and sprawled on the track. He regained his feet and started after the field, gradually climbing up to challenge Ranney and win by six yards.

Clark, hurdler, placed second to Record of Harvard in the 120-yard high hurdles. Clark led the field down the stretch, after a brilliant start, but he could not last to beat the Harvard star, successfully defending the title he won last year.

Meinig, finishing his sprint competitions for Cornell, placed third in the 220-yard dash. Martin, miler, placed third in his specialty behind Hallowell of Harvard and Coan of Pennsylvania. Ellis, hammer thrower, took third place behind Conner of Yale and Galbraith of Bowdoin.

In the pole vault, Colyer and Belloff were among five men tying for third place at 13 feet 4 inches. Berlinger of Pennsylvania was second to Graber with a leap of 13 feet 8 inches. Tied with Colyer and Belloff were Pool of California, De Groot of Stanford, and Williamson of Yale.

The championships marked the first time that the two leading contenders for team honors each scored more than forty points. At the close of the qualifying trials Friday, Stanford has placed sixteen men and Southern California thirteen. Yale qualified seven, Pennsylvania six, and Cornell four.

Schoenfeld, discus and shot put entry, failed to qualify, as did Burns, broad jumper; Hart, hurdler, and Ebelhare, Haidt, and Hoppenstedt, high jumpers. Mangan qualified for the 880-yard run, but failed to place in the final.

Clark's performance was outstanding. He qualified easily in his first and second heats, but in the semi-final trial he placed third. Running an extra heat for third place Friday, he captured the trial in the fastest time of the first day, 14 and 9/10 seconds. In the final, Record's winning time was 14 and 6/10.

THREE POINT WINNERS SENIORS

Of Cornell's point winners, Clark, Meinig, and Colyer are seniors. Martin, Ranney, and Ellis are juniors, while Belloff is a sophomore.

The point score of the meet:

Southern California, 46 6/7; Stanford, 44 22/35; Pennsylvania, 21; Cornell, 19 2/5; Harvard, 15 3/7; Yale, 13 22/35; Michigan, 9; California, 6 1/5; Brown, 6; Georgetown, 6; Columbia, 5; Fordham, 5; Dartmouth, 4 3/7; Bowdoin, 4; Penn State, 4; William and Mary, 3; Princeton, 2 3/7; Boston College, 2; City College of New York, 2; Michigan State, 2; Colgate, 1; Syracuse, 1, and Williams, 1.

Running broad jump—Won by Barber, Southern California, 25 feet 3 1/2 inches (new intercollegiate record; old record, 25 feet 1/8 inch, made by Boyle, Penn, in qualifying trials Friday); Boyle, Penn, 25 feet 1 1/8 inches, second; Butler, Stanford, 23 feet 10 inches, third; West, Stanford, 23 feet 9 1/4 inches, fourth; Smith, Syracuse, 23 feet 7 inches, fifth.

Hammer throw—Won by Conner, Yale, 167 feet 2 1/2 inches; Galbraith, Bowdoin, 157 feet 5 3/8 inches, second; Ellis, Cornell, 152 feet 3 3/8 inches, third; McDougall, Penn, 151 feet 7 3/4 inches, fourth; King, Dartmouth, 151 feet, 7 inches, fifth.

Pole vault—Won by Graber, Southern California, 14 feet 1/2 inch (new intercollegiate record; old record, 14 feet made by Sabin Carr, Yale, in 1927); Berlinger, Penn, 13 feet 8 inches, second; Belloff and Colyer, Cornell; Pool, California; De Groot, Stanford, and Williamson, Yale, tied for third, fourth and fifth places at 13 feet 4 inches.

DROP TWO BALL GAMES

The baseball team, engaging in non-league competition, lost two games last week. Colgate won, 9-1, at Hamilton May 28, to even the season's series, and Syracuse won, 5-3, at Syracuse May 30.

Stevens, pitching for the first time since early April, was touched for 12 hits by Colgate. Cornell played without Handleman, shortstop, who has been ill.

The team's lone score came in the seventh inning when Kappler singled and reached third on a passed ball. Goodman flied to center, Kappler scoring on the play.

Cornell got only four scattered hits off Lyman, Maroon ace, who hung up his fourth straight victory.

Sereysky, starting against Syracuse, was shelled from the mound in the seventh inning, and Schultz finished the game. Cornell got only seven hits off Yardley, Syracuse pitcher. The Orange batters touched Sereysky for thirteen hits in seven innings.

Syracuse started scoring in the fourth on a single by Topol and Stoneberg's home run. In the next frame, Stoneberg hit for three bases after Stoneberg tripled.

The Orange made the score 5-0 in the seventh, Topol hitting for four bases with Beagle on second.

Cornell did all its scoring in the last two innings. In the eighth, Payne singled, George grounded out, Williams grounded out, and Maiorana hit a home run to score two tallies. The one run in the ninth came on a home run by Smith.

CREWS GOING TO POUGHKEEPSIE

The 150-pound crew, entered in the American Henley for the first time, failed to reach the final after finishing third in the first heat on the Schuylkill River, Philadelphia, May 30.

The Cornell lightweights, racing over a mile and five-sixteenths, finished behind Navy, the winner, and Harvard. Columbia placed fourth. The winning time was 7:18 1/5.

In the second heat, Yale won, followed by Pennsylvania and Princeton. Yale's time was 7:13.

In the final, the Elis won with Pennsylvania second, Navy third, and Harvard fourth. The race, rowed in the afternoon, saw the eights slowed up considerably, Yale's time being 7:34 3/5.

The Cornell varsity, junior varsity, and freshman crews are expected to leave for Poughkeepsie June 6 to enter the final training grind for the Poughkeepsie regatta on June 16, in which Cornell will defend the varsity and junior varsity championships.

In spite of examinations, practice has been held daily, and the crews are beginning to reduce weight. There have been no changes in the varsity and junior varsity boatings, but the freshman eight has been rearranged because of the ineligibility of Vaughan to race as a freshman at Poughkeepsie. Vaughan stroked the Springfield Boat Club senior eight to victory in the national championships last year and because of a special Poughkeepsie ruling cannot compete on the Hudson as a freshman. He will be eligible for varsity competition the next three years.

The probable boatings of the Cornell crews for the Hudson races:

Varsity—Bow, Austin; No. 2, Roeder; No. 3, Parsons; No. 4, Commodore Heidelberger; No. 5, McManus; No. 6, Clark; No. 7, Ives; stroke, Wilson; coxswain, Burke.

Junior varsity—Bow, Smith; No. 2, LePage; No. 3, Shallcross; No. 4, Otto; No. 5, Falk;

No. 6, Hartman; No. 7, Boyce; stroke, Vaneman; coxswain, Mullestein.

Freshman—Bow, Miller; No. 2, Thompson; No. 3, Blum; No. 4, Fleischmann; No. 5, Williams; No. 6, Garber; No. 7, Schroeder; stroke, Payne; coxswain, Eliasberg.

GOLFERS LOSE

The Golf Club team closed its season May 29, losing to Colgate at the Seven Oaks course at Hamilton, 7-2. The victory gave the Maroon an even break in two matches with Cornell this year. The Red and White team, organized for the first time, won five matches and lost one during the season.

Captain Bliss of Cornell lost 2 and 1 to Kowal of Colgate in the feature match, Kowal shooting a par 70, with Bliss registering a 72.

MOAKLEY CUPS AWARDED

The Moakley Cups, presented by alumni clubs throughout the country to track athletes showing the greatest improvement in their specialties throughout the year, were awarded May 27.

The presentation was made by Conant Van Blarcom '08, former president of the Alumni Corporation. The selections were made by Coach John F. Moakley, in whose honor the trophies are named.

The awards:

Washington Club cup, discus throw, Otto B. Schoenfeld '32, New Orleans, La.

Cleveland cup, javelin throw, William E. Persbacher '32, Port Jervis.

New England cup, 880-yard run, DeLancey F. Eckert '32, Buffalo.

Michigan cup, shot put, Leonard Gordon '31, Rockaway Beach.

Delaware cup, high hurdles, Ralph C. Colyer '32, Huntington.

New York cup, 100-yard dash, Herman F. Rudiger '33, Lynbrook.

Elmira cup, low hurdles, Robert N. Hart '32, Baltimore, Md.

St. Louis cup, two-mile run, Richard C. Crosby '31, Ithaca.

Rochester cup, pole vault, Isadore Belloff '33, Watertown.

Southern Ohio cup, hammer throw, Richard R. Brainard '32, Newfield.

Western Pennsylvania cup, high jump, Theodore F. Haldt, Jr. '33, Rochester.

Syracuse cup, broad jump, David V. Burns '34, Indianapolis, Ind.

Philadelphia cup, one mile run, Joseph R. Mangan '34, Rutland, Vt.

Buffalo cup, 220-yard dash, Lloyd L. Rosenthal '32, Poughkeepsie.

Milwaukee cup, 440-yard run, Edward M. Proctor '33, Teaneck, N. J.

SUBSCRIBERS contemplating a change of address during the summer vacation should notify the subscription department and specify the time during which it will be effective. The Alumni News will not be forwarded by the local post offices, but will be returned to the publisher unless the subscriber arranges to have it delivered at his residence or place of business during his absence.

COLONEL BEACHAM ASSIGNED

ANOTHER YEAR AT CORNELL

Colonel Joseph W. Beacham '97, U.S.A., commandant of the R.O.T.C., will continue in command of the unit for another year. Orders detailing him to duty at Cornell were received last week. Colonel Beacham will complete his fourth year in June.

During his four-year tour of duty, Colonel Beacham has served as football adviser on the Athletic Council and has brought about many improvements in the corps of cadets. The most notable is the development of the R.O.T.C. Band.

After graduation, Colonel Beacham came back to Cornell in 1898 to be assistant football coach under Glenn S. "Pop" Warner '94. He was at Manila during the Philippine insurrection at the turn of the century and then returned to Cornell to continue coaching.

From 1908 to 1911, Colonel Beacham was coach at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

DECHERT WINS SCHOLARSHIP

The A. D. Weil scholarship for a year's study at the University of Strasbourg has been awarded by the Department of Romance Languages to Perry C. Dechert '31, New York. Dechert, a great-grandson of the founder, Ezra Cornell, also was awarded recently the Corson French prize.

NO ISSUE NEXT WEEK

There will be no issue of the Cornell Alumni News next week, since it is the week during which reunions are held. The next issue will be under date of June 18. It will contain the announcement of the results of the Poughkeepsie regatta, but details of the races can not appear until the issue of June 25.

FIVE STUDENTS, Benjamin J. Lowenstein '32, Albany, Samuel L. Meilman '32, Shanghai, China, Samuel Rosenbaum '32, West Orange, N. J., Alex Mitkowsky '32, Mount Vernon, and Ralph Tolleris '33, New York, looked eternity in the eye on Spring Day. Venturing out in a small motorboat on the white-capped waters of the lake, they were overturned, and for a time were unobserved. Lowenstein set out to swim ashore to summon aid. Meanwhile Franklin Monroe, jr., son of the caretaker of the Fuertes Bird Sanctuary, went forth in a rowboat, picked up Lowenstein, and rescued two of the others, while John Purcell in a motor boat completed the rescue. The boys apparently suffered no ill effects.

Just because the eighteen classes are mentioned in the reunion program does not mean that alumni of all classes are not welcome. In some ways it is most delightful of all to come back to Ithaca as a free lance. Certainly the numbers of unattached visitors are growing with each succeeding reunion.

One of the events during the weekend which all alumni await with consummate interest is President Farrand's confidential talk to the Alumni Corporation on Saturday morning in Baker Laboratory auditorium. Other events which bring out all returning alumni are senior and alumni singing on the steps of Goldwin Smith Friday night, the University luncheon on Saturday in the Drill Hall, the costume parade of all classes to the baseball game that afternoon, and the class dinners that night.

Of course, the experienced reuniting alumnus often considers Sunday the pleasantest day of all. That is the day when the formal program has been completed, and when quiet conversations are found on the library slope, or in some familiar old nook on the Campus. This year should bring a particularly gratifying day because the Country Club of Ithaca has offered its golfing privileges to all alumni.

After the meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, the reuniting women will have a buffet supper in the organization room and terrace at Prudence Risley at 5:30 Friday. Tickets for this event may be procured at the women's headquarters or information desk in the Drill Hall. On Saturday morning members of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca will be hostesses to all of the reuniting alumnae. A breakfast will be held in the Home Economics Cafeteria at 7:30.

Alumni who are coming back, or who may come back, should communicate at once with their class officers or with the Alumni Representative at Ithaca. Arrangements are now being made for accommodations, but that does not mean that any alumnus who finds he can board a train at the last minute will not be provided for. A telegram to Ithaca June 11 will secure ample accommodations.

The skeleton program of 1931 reunion events is as follows:

Friday, June 12

- Morning: Breakfast. Willard Straight Hall (all morning beginning at 7:15); Cascadilla (7:15-9:00); Home Economics Cafeteria (7:15-9:15); Sage College and Prudence Risley Dining Rooms (7:30-8:15).
Registration. Drill Hall, all day.
Distribution of class costumes.

PARKER NAMED TO STAFF

Dr. John H. Parker, M.S. '16, of Kansas State Agricultural College, has been appointed acting professor of plant breeding in the College of Agriculture. He will teach during the next academic year in the absence of Dr. Harry H. Love, Ph.D. '09, who is on leave.

Other appointments to the college staff, announced last week by Dean Albert R. Mann '04, are Doris Schumacker of Teachers' College, Columbia University, acting professor of home economics, and Dr. W. A. Anderson of North Carolina State College, assistant professor of rural social organization.

Dr. Georges A. Knaysi was promoted from instructor to assistant professor of bacteriology in the Department of Dairy Industry, and Dr. Andrew L. Winsor was named assistant professor of rural education.

BOOKS

A NOTABLE NOVEL

The Good Earth. By Pearl S. Buck, A.M. '25. New York. The John Day Company. 1931. 21.2 cm., pp. vi, 375.

It is with real pleasure that we welcome Mrs. Buck's second novel on China. The Good Earth is a poignant story of human life and experience. Oriental in setting but universal in reality, of man in lowly ways, of simple folk who depend for their very existence upon the soil, yet are possessed of hopes and fears, passions and ambitions that move alike the lives of those in high places. The reader becomes so absorbed that he forgets distinctions of race, color, or class.

The story opens upon Wang Lung's wedding day. A woman has been chosen for him by his father; she is a slave in the wealthy house of Whang. Father and son are alone and poor, they need a woman, and the father can do no better. Wang Lung has never seen the woman until he goes to the great house to fetch her. Olan is honest and strong and her devotion is beautiful. She transforms the humble home, she cooks good food for her husband and his old father; she makes them clean and comfortable; she works in the fields beside her husband; she bears him sons. They sow, and reap, and toil, and prosper. They acquire more land and more sons.

At length there comes a year of famine. Forced to go south, or starve, too weak to walk, they presently reach the "fire-wagon," and with the few coins left succeed in getting to a southern city, where they manage to keep alive by begging and chance jobs. Then by a strange incident fortune smiles upon them again and they go back to the fields they love.

Wang Lung becomes a great landowner, the rich man of the town. He acquires a city home; yet he is unwilling to give up the earthen cottage in the fields, the one to which he had gone as a poor peasant, to receive his slave wife.

But with greater wealth and leisure there also arise in his household unrest and dissension. His children with their education and their ambitions bring into his home problems which he finds it hard to solve. He had taken a second wife, unlike Olan, fair to look upon. As his fancy cools, he finds still another complication.

Peace he never finds; nevertheless he is satisfied. He has fulfilled his ambition; he sits in the seat of honor in the great house; sons and grandsons are about him; land, more to him than all else, he has acquired in abundance. In spite of wars, famine, and flood, he has won the good earth and his happiest moments are those when he sits outside his earthen home and gazes upon his fields or walks over the land feeling the rich soil beneath his feet.

It is a tragic tale, yet vividly human, written with distinction of style and peculiar power. The reader is filled with a sense of its universal truth and with delight at having found such a book.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

IN THE PUBLICATIONS of the Modern Language Association of America for March Dr. Coolidge O. Chapman '24 has a paper on "The Musical Training of the Pearl Poet."

IN The Journal of English and German Philology for January Professor Clark S. Northup '93 reviews Leo Hibler, Das mittenglische Gedicht, The Siege of Troy. Professor A. LeRoy Andrews reviews Philipp Strauch, Schriften aus der Gottesfreund-Literatur, Parts i and iii. Professor Thomas P. Harrison, Jr., Ph.D. '24, of the University of Texas reviews R. W. Zandvoort, Sidney's Arcadia: a Comparison Between the Two Versions.

Professors Walter H. French '20 and Charles B. Hale '20, Middle English Metrical Romances is reviewed by James R. Hulbert.

IN The Journal of Physical Chemistry for April Herbert L. Davis, Ph.D. '27, and John W. Ackerman '28 discuss "The Effect of Gelatin and Salts on Congo Red." Maurice J. Murray '33 writes on "Copper Quadrantoxide." Professor Clyde W. Mason, Ph.D. '24, and William D. Forgeng discuss "The System KCNS-Hg(CH₃)-H₂O." Professor Bancroft reviews John A. Timms, An Introduction to Chemistry and Carl Drucker, Messungen elektromotorischer Kräfte galvanischer Ketten mit waasserigen Elektrolyten.

IN THE NATION for March 25 there is an article on "The Experimental College" by Eliseo Vivas and a rejoinder by Professor Alexander Meiklejohn, Ph.D. '97. In the issue for April 1 Professor Guido H. Marx '93 tells "How to Control Public Utilities."

OBITUARIES

J. HAROLD HAYDEN '02

John Harold Hayden, of the Thous-and Islands and Columbus, Ohio, died on May 2 at Ivy Lea, Ontario. He was born in Columbus on November 25, 1880, the son of W. B. and Matilda Langdon Hayden. He took a year of mechanical engineering. Mr. Hayden was prominent as a devotee of motorboat racing. Two sons and a daughter survive him.

JOSE O. LOMBARD '07

Jose Oswald Lombard, an engineer in Havana, Cuba, died at Rochester, Minn., on January 5, 1928, at the age of forty-three. He attended Cornell for two years, receiving the degree of M.E. His wife and a son, J. Oswald Lombard, and a brother, survive him.

JAMES PHELAN '09

James Phelan, associated with the McCreery-Phelan Company in El Paso, Texas, died in June, 1930. He was born in Memphis, Tenn., on February 21, 1883, the son of James and Mary Early Phelan. He received the degree of A.B. from Princeton in '05 and of M.E. from Cornell and was a member of Psi Upsilon and the Savage Club.

WILLIAM T. CARRINGTON '78

William Theodore Carrington, retired broker and prominent patron of music, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home in New York on May 4. He was born in Toledo, Ohio, seventy-six years ago, the son of Miles D. and Elizabeth Carrington. He took two years in the science course and was a member of Kappa Alpha in which he remained actively interested, helping to rebuild the chapter house when it burned in 1900, and refurnishing it in 1927. He was also a constant contributor to the Cornellian Council. Mr. Carrington formerly conducted the New York office of Bartlett, Frazer and Carrington. He was also president of the Central Elevator Company. He started his career in Toledo where he was for many years president of the Toledo Produce Exchange. He retired from business some years ago, maintaining his interest in art and music. Mr. Carrington was founder and a director of the Chicago Symphony Association, and the leading financial backer of the American Opera Company, of which he was president. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Huston Carrington.

ROBERT McC. WILSON '96

Robert McCrae Wilson, prominent engineer, died suddenly at Savannah, Ga., on May 6. He was born in Beaufort, S. C., on April 16, 1872. He received the degree of M.E. in E.E. For twenty-seven years Mr. Wilson was with the General Electric Company, during which time he made many important changes in electric motor design and construction. He was the designer of the driving motors used in the newest V type of submarines in the United States Navy. Recently he had been consulting engineer for the Gurney Elevator Company. His home was in Montclair, N. J. His wife, Mrs. Anna Lemrow Wilson, and a son, Robert M. Wilson, Jr., '32, survive him.

MRS. WILLARD AUSTEN, WIFE

OF LIBRARIAN EMERITUS, DIES

Jessica Tyler Austen, wife of Willard Austen '91, librarian emeritus, and daughter of the late Moses Coit Tyler, died suddenly on May 24 of angina pectoris. Funeral services were held on May 26 from Sage Chapel. Interment was in Pleasant Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Austen had lived in Ithaca since 1882 when her father came to Cornell to occupy the first chair of American history. Her marriage to Mr. Austen took place in 1898.

She was well known as a linguist and a writer, being for some years a correspondent of the Detroit Free Press and having published several books, among them a biography of her father.

For the past seven or eight years Mrs. Austen had been much interested in work for the Blind, first through observing their manual work, such as rug-weaving, etc., and then by realizing how little was being done for them intellectually. So she took up the study of Braille, and at length transcribed into Braille more than 15 works of a serious character, including Homer's Odyssey. Just a week before her death she had completed a transcript of E. E. Slosson's "Easy Lessons in Einstein," under the auspices of the American Red Cross. She was chairman of the American Red Cross Committee on Work for the Blind, and had in charge a corps of transcribers who wrote under her direction.

Surviving Mrs. Austen are her husband, one son, Alan, and several nephews and nieces, children of her brother, Edward Scott Tyler, who was at the time of his death in 1900 an editor of the Literary Digest.

CORNELL RECEIVES $25,000

LEGACY IN EIDLITZ WILL

Under terms of the will of Otto M. Eidlitz '81, who died in New York October 30, 1928, Cornell University receives a bequest of $25,000. The legacy was revealed in a report by the New York State Transfer Tax Department. The Cornell chapter of Delta Upsilon receives $5,000.

PROFESSOR E. LAURENCE PALMER '11 of the Department of Rural Education sailed this week for Honolulu, Hawaii, Professor Palmer will teach during the summer session at the University of Hawaii.

CHARDON IS INAUGURATED PORTO RICO CHANCELLOR

Carlos E. Chardon '19 was inducted as chancellor of the University of Porto Rico May 22, at ceremonies at San Juan.

In his inaugural address, Chancellor Chardon stressed the need for modern scientific training and technique as a part of the program for Latin American universities. He asserted that Spanish-speaking peoples of America, clinging to traditional concepts of culture, had met with severe economic and industrial setbacks by neglecting scientific study and investigation.

He urged that "the invigorating and inspiring tendencies of the great universities of the United States" must have their influence on the Porto Rican institution.

Dr. Chardon is the first Porto Rican to hold the chancellorship. He was formerly insular commissioner of agriculture.

Dr. Herbert H. Whetzel, '02-'04 Grad., professor of plant pathology, representing Cornell, offered the new chancellor, his former pupil, the cordial support and cooperation of American schools.

DRAMATIC CLUB GIVES IBSEN'S HEDDA GABLER

Ibsen's play, Hedda Gabler, was the weekend performance for the Dramatic Club. They did an excellent piece of work with this not too easy production. Especial points worthy of praise were the setting and costuming, for which research was obviously necessary, and which contributed in no small way to the "feeling" of the play.

Players which rate especial mention are Muriel Mattox, James Sheehy, and Karl Wallace, all graduate students. This was a "laboratory" production. The audience, usually apathetic and hard to arouse, broke into spontaneous applause after the third act.

This play terminates a year which has been marked by special success in difficult interpretations.

ALUMNI ORGANIZE

Friday night, May 22, twenty enthusiastic Cornell University alumni met at the Hotel Huntington and officially launched the Cornell Club of Huntington.

This meeting, following closely after the first annual dinner meeting of the sixteen hundred Cornellians of Long Island at Garden City, welded another link in the chain of Cornell clubs being established throughout Long Island.

Spencer E. Young '14, of Cold Spring was elected President and Dr. Arthur Trayford of Huntington, Secretary. Other officers, together with a Board of Governors, will be elected at the next meeting.

The Cornell Club of Huntington will draw its membership from the alumni living in Northport, Commack, Greenlawn, Melville, Farmingdale, Oyster Bay, Cold Spring Harbor, and Huntington. There are nearly one hundred Cornellians in this area.

The objective of the new club is primarily to stimulate interest in Cornell and to help local young people answer their question "After High School—what next?"

The next meeting will be held about July 15th, at which plans for the October "All Cornell Night" will be formulated. The fall meeting will bring prominent speakers from the campus at Ithaca and moving pictures of Cornell activities will be shown. The Junior Class Boys of the Oyster Bay, Huntington, South Huntington, Farmingdales and Northport High Schools will be guests of the club that evening.

In The Sewanee Review for April-June Dr. Solomon A. Rhodes '21 of Columbia writes on "Marcel Proust and His Jewish Characters." Professor Preserved Smith, A History of Modern Culture i is reviewed by E. M. Kayden.

CORNELLIANS CANDIDATES

Among the likely nominees for the 1931 Capper Award for distinguished service to American agriculture are two members of the Faculty of the College of Agriculture.

They are Liberty Hyde Bailey, dean emeritus of the college, and Professor George F. Warren '03 of the Department of Agricultural Economics. Another candidate is Leland O. Howard '77, entomologist in the United States Department of Agriculture.

When the award committee meets in Chicago later this month, nineteen leaders in American agriculture are expected to receive serious consideration for the award.

'92-'03 INFORMAL REUNION

The Class of '99 is sponsoring an informal get-together on Saturday afternoon, June 13, for returning alumni of the twelve classes from '92 to '03, inclusive.

The chief features are golf and bridge at the Country Club for those thus inclined, followed by a buffet supper at the Club, at seven p. m., with adjournment in time for attendance at the Alumni Rally in Bailey Hall.

All members of the designated classes are invited, with their wives, husbands, and families.

KEMMERER TALKS ON TRADE

Cornellians played prominent roles in the recent National Foreign Trade Council meeting in New York.

Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, Ph.D. '03, of Princeton, financial consultant to many European and South American countries, said at the convention that discontinuance of public works in the Latin-American countries had made the people susceptible to radical propaganda.

Other speakers at the meetings were Ira W. McConnell '99, vice-president of Dwight P. Robinson and Company, engineers, and Joseph Kastner '12, export manager of the American Writing Paper Company.

NAMED TO FORESTRY COUNCIL

Professor Ralph S. Hosmer of the Department of Forestry has been re-appointed a member of the Northeastern Forest Research Council by Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture.

Professor Hosmer has been a member of the council since its establishment, along with the creation of a research station at Amherst, Mass. The new appointment will run until 1933.

FRENCH PRIZE AWARDED

The Juliette MacMonnies Courant prize for proficiency in French has been awarded Velma R. Churchill '31, Glens Falls. The prize was founded by the late Margaret MacMonnies Courant in memory of her daughter, a member of the class of 1916.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

THE ARTS COLLEGE has announced that its teachers are to be held fully responsible for the conduct of examinations in their courses. If proctoring is necessary, they are to make the proper arrangements. Accusations of dishonesty will be carried, as in the recent past, to a judicial Honor Committee composed of six Faculty members, six students, and the dean of the College.

THE LAW COLLEGE and the College of Agriculture alone retain the so-called Honor System which was inaugurated as the result of an ardent student campaign in—let me see—1921. The crusaders made it clear that the low moral tone of the examination rooms was due to the evil atmosphere of suspicion exuded by the patrolling professors. Remove the professors and you remove the suspicion, and you remove the perverse desire to cheat from the undergraduate bosom. That is human nature; nay, it is Psychology! Trust in our honor, and we shall not fail you, was the cry.

THE HONOR SYSTEM was then established, in spite of some muttering that you cannot make a system of honor, nor can you nourish much honor in a system. The examiners quitted the examination rooms, leaving the students to their consciences and to the admonishment of large placards reading: "Where each has honor, all have honor," a statement from which your correspondent has been able to extract, after long hours of pondering, no more meaning than: "A whole is equal to the sum of all its parts."

WELL, the great majority of the students have certainly done their work honorably, to the applause of their consciences. A good student or a fair student is under no great temptation to cheat. But the youth who knows that by following his conscience he will bust the course and lose, perhaps, an Engineering degree, or the chance of admission to the Medical College, is under very great temptation. And if an examination does not eliminate the unfit, it hasn't much reason for existence. There have been scandalous instances of gang-cheating in the big required Freshman courses. Further, one or two noise-makers can destroy all possibility of concentration in a large assembly-room.

NOW THE HONOR SYSTEM is practically dead, and there are few to mourn its passing. The Sun says, calmly and truthfully: "The Faculty had instituted the honor system under the supposition that university students were old enough to see the futility of cheating in examinations, and to have scruples against it. For a short time the students made some attempt to make the cheap business socially taboo. But this spirit did not last. Before long a large group of undergraduates were brazenly violating the honor code and not suffering any loss of reputation among their fellows. Those who chose to work honestly not only suffered from the disorder all around them, but lost in comparative standing through the dishonest performances of inferior students. If for no other reason than fairness to them, a change had to be made in the arrangement." The editor continues by blaming the fraternities for their failure to insist on an ethical code.

MAYBE your home town paper carried the story about the three students who were somehow embroiled with a red banner floating from the new War Memorial flagpole, and with a placard: "Hans Wagner in Erinnerung." The students were accused of putting up the regrettable symbols; they replied that they were taking them down. The authorities decided to let it go at that. Don't be worried about subversive activities on the Campus; Communist agitators have no concern with Hans Wagner, and poor old Hans Wagner had nothing to do with the Red Flag. The authorities call the whole ruckus merely a student prank, recognizing the so common characteristic of student pranks—witlessness.

WE APOLOGIZE to the shade of Hans Wagner. It is sweet and fitting to die for one's Fatherland; it is pretty grievous to become, in death, the subject of a student prank.

THEY ARE HAVING a terrible time out at Ohio State about compulsory drill. The faculty voted by 83 to 79 to make drill optional. Five days later the President called a meeting for reconsideration, after a resolution was introduced into the State House of Representatives calling for a legislative investigation of "those faculty members supporting the optional-drill movement." The faculty reversed its position by 141 to 64. The Board of Trustees rejected the students' petition against compulsory drill, and criticized "the unripe vociferations of a small group of students and a very few members of the faculty." The Trustees refused to renew the contract of Professor Herbert A. Miller of the Department of Sociology, apparently the chief trouble-maker. He is appealing to the Association of University Professors. We are pretty well off here, after all.

THE GOVERNMENT Booze Bloodhounds were in town for Spring Day. While the visitors were innocently amusing themselves, the sleuths raided the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Moose, and the Eagles. They discovered a good many barrels of beer and other fluids which someone had left lying around. The evidence for the warrant was, we learn with interest, nasal. "Frucht deposed that he stood before the Moose building and saw a man and talked with him before he entered the building and that when this man came out again, he talked with him the second time when he smelled the odor of liquor."

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL of the College of Engineering was in Washington last Wednesday, presenting the first Hoover Medal to the President, on behalf of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. It was just two years ago, on April 25, 1929, that Dean Kimball presented the President with the John Fritz Gold Medal for 1929. It's getting so that Dean Kimball hardly likes to go around to the White House any more without a medal in his pocket.

PROFESSOR GLENN W. HERRICK '96 and Miss Grace Griswold '18 of the Department of Entomology report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science a scientific discovery of much domestic importance. A teaspoonful of paradichlorobenzene in a sealed trunk exterminates the eggs, larvae, and pupae of clothes moths in about a week. It turns into vapor, with an ether-like smell.

VOCABULARY for visiting preachers who want to show that they're just boys at heart and understand a boy's problems:

Airedale: specifically, a one-man woman, but applied to anyone rather dumb.

Airedale and slush: roast beef and noodles.

B. M. O. H.: big man on the hill.

Braille System: putting into practice the theory that the only reality is what you feel. (All this is a quotation from the Sun, please.)

Flash in the pan: a blow on the face.

Let's play a game: I'd like to choke you.

Leursy: Lousy.

Loose-leaf: dumb.

With your bald face hanging out: a phrase denoting a general vacancy of mind in a crisis.

Spuzzy: smooth.

Pineapple: title of a Professor.

R.S.V.P.: ribbon shows very plainly.

If Omar the Tentmaker were alive today and in the shirt business, there would be a great shortage of shirt materials.

Some of the desert tribes today are still wearing some of the shirts that he made fashionable and it wasn't a bad idea in those days to have a shirt you could wear in the daytime that you could throw over a bush at night and use for a tent.

In fact, the only bad feature was that you never could recognize your best friend when you saw him and it is recorded in history that the Senators who killed Julius Caesar never recognized him; they thought he was just another appropriation bill.

There are only a few of us today who can brag about our shirts. Only the little fellows ever get shirts that are too large.

As for being recognized by your friends, a good looking shirt that fits the way a shirt ought to fit will make them ask if that's one of the shirts you got from
