MAKE INSTITUTE PLANS To Discuss Current Topics

The detailed program of the University's first Alumni Institute, to be held on the Campus directly following Commencement this June, will soon be announced by the committee of which Professor Julian P. Bretz, History, is chairman. Six sessions will be held, the mornings and afternoons of Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, June 18, 19, and 20. Registration is scheduled for Monday afternoon, June 15, and the opening dinner that night. President Farrand will be one of the speakers at the Monday evening meeting.

As previously announced, the Institute will consider social, political, and governmental questions of the present day. Its mode of operation will be more akin to seminar than to classroom instruction, the alumni being gathered for roundtable discussions led by various Faculty members. Their subjects will include Industrialization, Planning, Constitutional Problems, Natural Science and the Social Order, and Gold and Prices.

Among those participating will be Dean Dexter S. Kimball of the College of Engineering; Provost Albert R. Mann '04, Professor Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Planning; Dean Charles K. Burdick and Professor Robert S. Stevens of the Law School; Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04 of the Graduate School, Professor Herbert H. Whetzel, Grad '04, Plant Pathology; Professor Loren C. Petry, Botany; Professor Earl H. Kennard, PhD '13, Physics; Professors George F. Warren '03 and Frank A. Pearson '12, Agricultural Economics. Several other well known members of the Faculty will have a part in the programs.

Headquarters of the Institute will be at Willard Straight Hall, where the discussion groups will be conducted. Exhibits will be in various other Campus buildings. Those enrolled will reside in the student dormitories, taking their meals together in Willard Straight. The Institute will be conducted without expense to the University, only such charge being made as will cover expenses, not more than twenty dollars a person for the four days, for registration fee, room, and board.

The Institute will follow closely the days devoted to class reunions, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 14, 15 and 16, and it is expected that many alumni will stay to attend it. All former students and members of their families are welcome.

Serving on the committee on arrangements, of which Professor Bretz is chairman, are Dean Richtmyer, Dean George Young, Jr. '00 of the College of Architecture, Professor Donald English, Economics, Professor S. C. Hollister, Director of the School of Civil Engineering, Professor Pearson, Professor Stevens, and Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, who is secretary of the committee.

DAYTON ALUMNI TO MEET

During Professor Riverda H. Jordan's meeting with twenty-six alumni in Dayton, O. at a buffet supper in the Engineers' Club on April 1, a committee was unanimously appointed to revise the membership list and arrange for an informal gathering in the near future of the nearly one hundred Cornellians in the city. Chairman of the committee is Frederick W. Sampson '22; its other members, Howard W. Feight '27 and Arthur D. Camp '05, of Thomas & Hochwalt Laboratories in Dayton. The meeting was arranged, Camp writes us, largely through the efforts of Harry I. Schenck '03.

SPRING DAY MAY 18

Spring Day festivities this year start officially with the Navy Ball in the Drill Hall, Friday evening, May 17. Tickets for this event are $4.50 a couple in advance or $5 at the door. The Ball is now conducted by the Military Department, the proceeds helping to support the expenses of the ROTC band. That afternoon, however, the lacrosse team plays Dartmouth on Alumni Field.

On Saturday morning at ten, the tennis team meets McGill, probably on the Faculty courts. At eleven on Upper Alumni Field the ROTC polo team plays Princeton; admission forty cents. At two on Hoy Field the baseball team plays its traditional game with Yale. There are no reserved seats, 75 cents admitting.

At five o'clock or as soon thereafter as the Lake is smooth, an observation train will leave the foot of Buffalo Street for the fifteenth annual Carnegie Cup Regatta. Varsity, Junior-Varsity, and Freshman crews of Yale, Princeton, and Cornell will row the two-mile course along the east side of the Lake. Navy has been invited, and will send a Varsity crew. Tickets for the train are $3. The Carnegie Cup was first offered by Mrs. Andrew Carnegie in 1920, to be awarded each year to the winning crew of Princeton, Yale, or Cornell, who had been rowing against each other since 1911 until the series was interrupted by the war.

In addition to these events officially scheduled, many fraternities are planning house parties, with their attendant dances and other entertainment to make the week-end a gala holiday.

'94 COMES IN AT THIRD Leaders Hold Fund Places

This week again, one new Class, '94, comes into the first ten in amount given to the Alumni Fund, making twenty-one which have subscribed more than $1,000 since the beginning of the present fiscal year. '94 is now in third place with $1,841.75, having nosed '95 out of the leaders, according to the report of Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of The Cornellian Council, through April 19. The total since July 1, 1934, is $47,005. from 3,351 subscribers.

The Class of '10 still retains its lead, with $1,944.10; followed by '26 with $1,861.10. Six have dropped one place: '23 to fourth with $1,627.34; '22 to fifth with $1,546.51; '24 to sixth with $1,531.34; '21 to seventh with $1,445.68; '20 to eighth with $1,400.29; and '08 to ninth with $1,399.50. '12 still keeps tenth place, with $1,332.02.

The baby class, '34, holds its remarkable lead in number of contributors, with 146; and '16 continues its climb toward its last year's top position, being now in fourth place with 127. '24 comes up one to tie '26 for second, with 129; and '18 comes into the first ten, tying '21 and '23 for ninth with 106. '22 in this report drops one to fifth place, with 123, as does '13 to sixth with 122; but '12 still holds its rank at seventh with 117. '32 is eighth with 109. In addition to these eleven classes, '09 and '33 have also reported a hundred or more subscribers each and '32 has already beaten by 9 its last year's mark of 98.

In percentage of membership contributing, six of the first ten so far this year did not gain that rank for last fiscal year. The first three, however, rank as in the last report: '84 leading with 12.12 percent, '85 with 11.29, and '09 with 11.20. '00 has switched with '13, now being fourth with 10.42 and leaving '13 at fifth place with 10 percent, the first of the six who were not among the first ten last year. '12 and '34 holds their places at sixth and seventh, with 9.67 and 9.44 percent, respectively. '16 has now climbed up one place to eighth, with 9.34, as has '94 to ninth with 9.17, '26 dropping from eighth to tenth, with 8.87 percent.

THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY on April 17 by resolution fixed the minimum age for admission to the University henceforth, for both men and women, at sixteen; exceptions to be made only by action of the Faculties of specific Colleges concerned. Previously the limit for women was seventeen; for men, sixteen.

HOTEL EZRA CORNELL OPENS MAY 3

By Murray Boyer '35, Publicity Director

On May 3 the students of Hotel Administration again open Hotel Ezra Cornell, student-hotel-for-a-day. They operate Willard Straight Hall as a true metropolitan hotel, throwing wide the portals to visiting hotelmen and alumni. This year's is the tenth annual Hotel opening, the tenth anniversary of the first graduating class in Hotel Administration.

Alumni of that first Class, '25, are being specially invited in messages sent by carrier pigeons, released from in front of the building for the benefit of the newsreels. Carrying small parchments inviting all Hotel alumni in each region, the pigeons wing their way to Walter Bovard '25, manager of the Rimar Club in Miami, Fla., to John M. Dockery '25 in Dallas, Tex., to Clyde A. Jennings '25 at the Elton Hotel in Boston, Mass., and to Alfred L. Olsen '25, assistant deputy administrator of NRA in Washington, D. C. Two other pigeons will fly invitations to distinguished hotelmen in New York City. Frank A. McKowne, president of Hotels Statler, Inc. and chairman of the educational committee of the American Hotel Association; and Ralph Hitz, president of National Hotel Management Company, a guest this year for the first time and whose company this year sent one of its employees to Cornell as the first holder of a new undergraduate scholarship it finances.

Guests Here Two Days

Guests this year will be elaborately entertained. All day Friday visitors are welcome at Hotel Administration classes to see the training provided the students. At noon guests and seniors gather for luncheon, and at 2:30 a roundtable discussion of hotel problems will be led by Charles K. Swafford, vice-president in charge of sales, National Hotel Management Company; Louis Fischer, executive officer of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, and members of the Department staff. Visiting ladies, meanwhile, will be entertained at bridge and a tea. Golf and sightseeing trips will occupy the later afternoon until the formal opening banquet in beautiful Memorial Hall of Hotel Ezra Cornell. Here the distinguished speakers will include Mr. McKowne, who heads the relation of the American Hotel Association to the Department of Hotel Administration; and Seymour Weiss, manager of the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans and vice-president of the Association. A featured radio artist and his band supply music for a gala dance following the banquet.

Saturday morning at ten the program continues with the annual spring meeting of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, at which all guests are welcome; followed by a luncheon for guests, alumni, and seniors at 12:30. The afternoon will be devoted to renewal of old acquaintances, golf, picnics, and the Harvard-Cornell baseball game on Hoy Field. At 6:30 the tenth annual opening will close with an informal supper at the Hotel for alumni, guests, and seniors.

With this year's "opening" dedicated to the first graduating class in Hotel Administration, a larger attendance of alumni than ever before is expected. Besides the other guests previously mentioned, reservations have already been received from many prominent hotelmen, including Frank A. Ready, manager of the Waldorf-Astoria; Louis Toth and Edward Romine of the hotel accounting firm of Horwath and Horwath; David B. Mulligan of the Biltmore; W. A. Buescher of the Hotel Hamilton, Bermuda; Charles Duffy, Hotel Walton, Philadelphia; General J. Leslie Kincaid and Colonel Edward Olmsted of the American Hotels Corporation; Emerson D. Owen, editor of Hotel Red Book; C. W. Ramsey, Jr. of the Governor Clinton; Mark Cadwell, secretary of the New York State Hotel Association; and Frank Bering of the Sherman House, Chicago, Ill.

Students Run It All

Hotel Ezra Cornell is the only hotel in the world which operates but one day a year in a $1,500,000 building, and pays a dividend to its stockholders. Operating capital is each year oversubscribed by students in the Department, the student-comptroller this year closing his books within but a few hours after the stock sale opened, the stockholders representing more than three-fourths of the student body. Sale of tickets for the grand banquet and ball has usually covered most of the expenses of operation, making possible the return by the student management of most of the stock capital as a liquidating dividend.

A Board of Directors composed of Seniors in the Department is elected to head the various operating departments of the Hotel. But every one of the 185 undergraduates in Hotel Administration has a part in Hotel Ezra Cornell, from the Senior managing director to the chefs who prepare the elaborate eight-course banquet and the waiters and bus-boys who serve it.

This year's Board is headed by Frank H. Briggs of Long Branch, N. J. as manager, assisted by Frank A. Ready, Jr. of New York City and Adolph M. Lucha of Utica. John M. Johnson of Hillsboro, Tex. will be maitre d'hotel; Arthur C. Kenaga of Lakewood, O. is promotion manager; Murray Boyer of Douglaston, publicity director; Paul R. Gros Jean of Watkins Glen, steward; Richard C. Hodges of Tekonsha, Mich., chef; Fred

C. Sorensen of Plattsburg, head waiter; J. Frank Birdsall of Holcomb, comptroller; and Paul J. McNamara of Ithaca, personnel manager. Frank J. Irving of Los Angeles, Cal. represents the Hotel Association, of which all students in the Department are members, and Wallace W. Lee, Jr. '36 of Mt. Vernon represents the Junior Class.

FIND RAREST BIRD

Dr. Arthur A. Allen '08, who heads the Cornell-American Museum ornithological expedition which left for the South in February, has reported jubilantly the finding of a pair of the rare ivory-billed woodpeckers, thought to be extinct, almost on the 150th anniversary of the birth of Audubon, April 26, who made his last extended observations of the species in 1830.

The bird was found, photographed, recorded on the sound film, and painted by Dr. George M. Sutton, PhD '32, deep in the swamps of Louisiana, which the expedition penetrated with great difficulty in wagons. This species was last seen ten years ago by Dr. and Mrs. Allen (Elsa Geurdrum) '12 in Florida. The present expedition visited the site of that nest but found it gone and had nearly given up hope of finding the bird.

Besides this latest find, Dr. Allen reports considerable success so far in having recorded the voices of thirty other rare American birds, fifteen for the first time. The sound truck and the camera truck with its erectile tower for photographing in the tree-tops, have caused considerable interest throughout the countryside, not only among bird-lovers, but also among the birds themselves. Dr. Allen says that when they played the records of the mockingbird's song in a certain Georgia garden, all the mockingbirds from the surrounding neighborhood flew frantically about and peered into the apparatus to find the singer.

The first stop of the expedition at Thomasville, Ga., resulted in the recording of limpkins and anhingas, as well as wild turkeys and fish hawks.

In Florida, headquarters were established at Winter Park and trips made into the Kissimmee Prairie, where sound and motion pictures of the now rare sandhill crane were secured, and also valuable material on Audubon's caracara, the wood ibis, the American egret, the bald eagle, and many more common species. Dr. Allen and Albert R. Brand '29, Associate in Ornithology, who is an expert in sound recording, made one trip to the Gulf Coast where they secured films of pelicans, cormorants, and various species of gulls and shorebirds.

Besides Dr. Allen and Brand, its sponsor, the expedition now includes Paul P. Kellogg '29 and James T. Tanner '35 of Cortland. Dr. Sutton has left to join two other ornithologists, John B. Semple, trustee of the Carnegie Institute, and Dr. Josselyn Van Tyne of the University of Michigan, in the Big Bend region of the Rio Grande valley. He reports that their work has been greatly hampered by the drouth and dust storms. "The only spots of color," he writes, "are the cactus flowers that somehow manage to open."

'15 MEN DINE TUESDAY

Men of the Class of '15 will meet simultaneously all over the United States on Tuesday, April 30, at Class dinners in nineteen cities, from Boston south to Houston, Tex. and west to Los Angeles, Cal., to discuss plans for their ten-year reunion in Ithaca next June.

Hugh C. Edminton, 120 Fifth Avenue, New York City, is general chairman of the reunion committee. He writes that the many replies already received indicate a good representation of the Class in Ithaca. The record for distance is so far held by J. Scott B. Pratt, Jr., who is in the sugar business at Kauai, Hawaii. He will reach Detroit, Mich., June 11, driving to Ithaca. Pratt writes of three other '15 men in Hawaii: his brother, J. Dickson, who is in the pineapple business; A. Lester Marks, contractor on various government jobs; and George P. Rea, manager of one of the largest banks there; and of R. Alexander Anderson and Clarence H. Dyer, both '16.

The Class dinner in New York City will be held at the Cornell Club, with Arthur W. Wilson in charge. He is with Donahue and Coe, 1270 Sixth Avenue

Detroit members of the Class meet at the Intercollegiate Alumni Club, and reservations may be made with John W. Braffette, 7310 Woodward Avenue. The Detroit crowd plan to drive to Ithaca, putting their cars on the Buffalo boat Thursday night, June 13, reaching Ithaca Friday noon, and returning to catch the boat at Buffalo Sunday night. They invite any Mid-western members of the Class to join the party, by communicating at once with Braffette.

In Cleveland, O., the dinner is in charge of Charles M. Colyer; it will be at the University Club. For Boston, Mass. the chairman is Walter P. Phillips; for Schenectady, John J. Matson; for Syracuse, H. Follett Hodgins; for Rochester, J. Emmett O'Brien; for Ithaca, Edward J. Dixon; for Buffalo, Harold C. Brown; for Philadelphia, Pa., Howard H. Ingersoll; for Baltimore, Md., Edward M. Hanrahan, Jr.; for Washington, D. C., Allen C. Minnix; for Pittsburgh, Pa., William H. Cosgrove; for Chicago, Ill., David F. Taber, Jr.; for Atlanta, Ga., Frederick H. Rayfield; for St. Louis, Mo., Oliver A. Reller; for Davenport, Ia., Walter A. Priestler; for Houston, Tex., George W. Dorrance; and for Los Angeles, Cal., Henry G. Lehrbach. '15 men near any of these centers are urged to communicate with these.

TRAVELLING PROFESSORS RETURN

Four Speak Widely to Schools and Clubs

The four professors who this spring have been visiting schools in the eastern part of the country have returned to Ithaca. The trips were even more successful than those of a year ago, when the plan of such visitations was inaugurated. Professors Bristow Adams, Charles L. Durham '99, John G. Jenkins '23 and Riverda H. Jordan visited twenty-five cities, the trip of each covering about two weeks.

Arrangements at the high schools and preparatory schools were made by local alumni, and the Faculty travellers are unanimous in expressing their appreciation of the effective work of these local committees. The professors talked before many school assemblies, conferred with principals and headmasters and with students who indicated interest in Cornell. They also met with alumni in practically every city.

Many Clubs Meet

Professor Adams on March 29 attended an alumni luncheon at the Buffalo Athletic Club. On April 1 Detroit alumni held a dinner at the Intercollegiate Athletic Club, to which were invited secondary school boys interested in Cornell. The climax to Professor Adams's four-day sojourn in Chicago was the banquet of the Cornell Club of Chicago at the Hotel Sherman on April 4, attended by two hundred alumni. An evening of varied entertainment included a talk by Professor Adams as the main attraction and one by Alfred H. Hutchinson '09 on regional scholarships and the Club's plans for Cornell Day in Ithaca, May 11.

On April 8 the Cornell Club of Milwaukee had a dinner at the University Club, at which motion pictures of the Cornell campus were shown and officers were elected for the coming year: president, Alfred W. Mellowes '06; vice-president, Henry M. Stillman '30; treasurer, Ernst Clarenbach, Jr. '31; secretary, Arthur C. Klettsch, Jr. '25. Alexander C. Eschweiler '90 was elected to the Board of Governors for a one-year term. While in Milwaukee, Professor Adams was the guest of A. Lester Slocum '13 who gave a tea in his honor on Sunday, April 7, attended by Cornellians, prospective students, and the headmasters of some of the schools in the vicinity. On April 10 the Minneapolis alumni, both men and women, gave a dinner for Professor Adams at the Minikahda Club. The following day, the St. Paul alumni entertained him at luncheon at the St. Paul Athletic Club.

Professor Durham started in Indianapolis, Ind., March 18, where he attended the annual luncheon meeting of the Cornell Club, at which Harry V. Wade '27 presided. Plans were made for the annual field day of the Club, to be held later. In St. Louis, Mo., the alumni meeting on March 19 was a smoker at the Hotel Kingsway, presided over by Shurly R. Irish '18. A combination of laryngitis and dust storms affected the Professor's voice and necessitated some reduction in his schedule of talks, but on April 21 the Kansas City alumni held an informal smoker in his honor. In Tulsa, Okla., on March 22, Professor Durham was entertained at a stag dinner at the home of Nelson K. Moody '99, with about thirty alumni present, followed by a smoker at the University Club. In Little Rock, Ark., on March 25 the alumni held their annual banquet at the Hotel Albert Pike. The next day Memphis, Tenn. alumni entertained Professor Durham at luncheon at the Hotel Claridge and at dinner at the University Club. In Louisville, Ky., on March 27 and 28 no formal alumni meeting was held, but convocation addresses and conferences at the high schools had been arranged by the local committee. Cincinnati, O., alumni held their annual dinner at the University Club on March 29 and showed great interest in the possibility of establishing a regional scholarship at Cornell. Campus movies were shown at all of Professor Durham's alumni meetings.

Jenkins and Jordan Work

Professor Jenkins attended a dinner of the Cornell Club of Maryland in Baltimore, April 2, to which had been invited several prospective students. Roger F. Hall '23, president of the Club, presided. Professor Jenkins's visit to Washington, D. C. coincided with the meetings of the American Alumni Council, which were attended by several of the University's professional alumni. They were also present at the buffet dinner given April 3 at the University Club, where Creed W. Fulton '09 was toastmaster. Besides the principal talk of the evening given by Professor Jenkins, Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary; Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative; Archie M. Palmer '18, Executive Secretary of The Cornellian Council; and R. W. Sailor '07, editor of The ALUMNI News, spoke briefly. The Cornell Club of Wilmington held an evening meeting April 5, at which Caesar A. Grasselli II, '22, president of the Club, presided. On April 8 the Cornell Club of Philadelphia held a meeting of alumni and prospective students at the Cornell Club.

Professor Jordan met the Dayton, O., alumni at a buffet supper April 1 at the Engineers' Club, and those of Columbus at a smoker April 2 at the Cornell Club. The annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Cleveland was held April 4 at the University Club with seventy-five alumni present. Charles C. Colman '12, president of the Club, presided. Plans for bringing secondary school boys to Ithaca for Cornell Day were discussed. In Youngstown on April 8, Professor Jordan was the guest of J. C. Argetsinger '05 at luncheon with several other alumni, and in the evening met with the Cornell Club. He spent April 9 and 10 in Pittsburgh, Pa., visiting six preparatory schools in the district. There was no general alumni meeting, because of the recent visit of Professor Diederichs, but an evening was spent with the local committee. On April 11 a smoker was given by the alumni in Professor Jordan's honor at the Hotel Harrisburger in Harrisburg. On April 12 he visited schools in Allentown and Bethlehem, being entertained at the annual dinner of the Cornell Club of Lehigh Valley, held at the University Club in Bethlehem. The following officers were elected: president, Charles L. Bechwith '15; vice-president, A. John Baumgarten '25; treasurer, Oliver W. Holton '18; secretary, Harry J. Seaman, Jr. '12.

PHILLIPS IN CHENANGO

The Chenango County Cornell Club held its annual dinner on April 5 at the Sherburne Inn, Sherburne. Forty-five members greeted the guest speaker, Professor E. Franklin Phillips of the Entomology Department. The chairman reports the evening thoroughly enjoyed.

MEDICAL ALUMNI GATHER

The Alumni Association of the Medical College in New York holds its annual Spring Day this year on May 2. From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the College and Hospital, alumni are invited to attend lectures and special demonstrations, and to observe the work in every department, being luncheon guests of the board of governors of the New York Hospital. At 2 the Alumni Association holds its annual meeting, at which officers elected for 1935-36 will be announced and the proposal made last year that the Association be incorporated will be voted on.

That evening at 7 the committee in charge invites alumni of the College to be its guests for cocktails in the roof garden of the Hotel Biltmore, and at 7:30, Dr. Walter H. McNeill, Jr. '10, chairman of the committee, will preside at the annual banquet in the grand ball room. President Farrand and Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley '04, president of the Law Association, will speak, and the Class of '10 will present to the College a portrait of Dr. James Ewing, who is expected to be present.

The committee in charge of Alumni Day comprises twenty-six members of the general committee, three representatives of each class, and special committees for Westchester, Connecticut, Long Island, and New Jersey.

About ATHLETICS

PISTOL TEAM STARTS

The ROTC pistol team, coached by Captain Stephen E. Bullock and Sergeant Frederick B. Glover, has won six of its seven postal matches since the season started in February. They shot 1334 against 1288 for the 11th U. S. Infantry of Fort Benjamin Harrison and 1722 for Virginia Military Institute. The week of March 9, the team gained its first victory over Purdue, shooting 1354 to 1349, and the next week defeated Harvard, 1338 to 1152. The last week in March the Red marksmen shot 1355 on the Drill Hall range, defeating University of Oklahoma 1325, University of Missouri 1331, and Texas A & M 1172.

On March 26 in the Drill Hall the team won its shoulder-to-shoulder match with International Business Machines Pistol Club, scoring 923 of a possible 1,000 to 892 for its opponents. Norman E. Schlenker '37 of Buffalo tied for high gun, with 190, and the next four Red marksmen made higher scores than all but the lead man of the opposing team. Theodore B. Booss '35 of Chicago, Ill., shot 185; Walter F. Crissey '37 of Ithaca, 184; Frank E. Schroek '36 of Buffalo, 183; and John H. Chapin '35 of Montreal, Can., 181. They had previously lost to I B M in Binghamton, 1205-1209.

NINE LOSES TO DARTMOUTH

The worst April snowstorm in the history of the local Weather Bureau swept out of the northwest the night before the baseball game scheduled with Lafayette for April 17, bringing the total snowfall of the month to nearly twelve inches, causing the cancellation of the first home game, and further seriously interfering with the team's opportunity to practice. The cumulative results were seen Saturday, when seven errors by Varsity players, combined with eight walks from three Red pitchers, gave Dartmouth a decisive victory, 11-2.

Both teams made seven hits, three of them by Walter D. Switzer '35 of Williamsport, Pa. who still leads the Eastern Intercollegiate League with a batting average of .545, and another and a home run by Ernest A. Downer '36 of Poughkeepsie, thus qualifying him for the first free dinner offered by Smorgasbord, Ithaca restaurant. The game also put the team at the head of the League in batting, with a mark of .297, and tie with Pennsylvania and Columbia with 27 hits so far.

The Indians remained undefeated, however, and leading the League with the Varsity fifth, largely through errors and loose pitching. Dartmouth scored in all but two innings, the first and the fourth. Two came in in the second when Philip Pross '35 of Passaic, N. J. walked three men and heaved a wild pitch. John M. Batten '37 of Cape May, N. J. who pitched the ninth, walked two and was the victim of three errors by his teammates which let in as many runs. Switzer rapped out three singles and Downer's home run landed fully 325 feet out in left field, bringing in Captain William D. Dugan '35 of Hamburg ahead of the runner. The box score:

SKIERS ASK RECOGNITION

The Cornell Ski Club, now two years old, has petitioned the Athletic Association for membership and official sponsorship. The petition sets forth that the Club's team has observed strictly the rules of intercollegiate competition and eligibility; has been successful; that interest in the sport is increasingly widespread among undergraduates; and that one of its members has been elected president of the Intercollegiate Ski Union, composed of twenty-five American and Canadian college teams.

Millett G. Morgan '37 of Hanover, N. H. has been the guiding spirit of the organization, and following the championship meet at Ste. Sauveur, Can. February 27, was honored with the presidency of the Union.

MANAGERS AND INSIGNIA

The Athletic Council on March 26 ratified the elections of managers and assistant managers for next year who won the competitions in five sports, and awarded five basketball C's, sixteen wrestling C's, ten freshmen numerals in basketball, and ten in wrestling.

Varsity basketball letters went to Ernest A. Downer '36 of Poughkeepsie, Charles E. Dykes '36 of Springfield, O., William H. Foote '35 of Miles, Wisc., Lewis M. Freed '36 of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Edwin G. Moran '37 of Groton, Gordon F. Stofer '36 of Olmsted Falls, O., and John C. Wilson, Jr. '35 of Milwaukee, Wisc.

The varsity wrestling C was awarded to George R. Brownell '36 of Westfield, N. J., John W. Cobb '35 of Ithaca, William L. Cogshall '35 of Ithaca, Vine Crandall '35 of Athens, Pa., John P. Floros '36 of Ithaca, Asa George '36 of Ithaca, Paul F. Hartzsch, Jr. '37 of Brooklyn, Caleb K. Hobbie '35 of Rochester, George J. Morgan '36 of Westfield, N. J., Julius Nathan '35 of Monticello, Wallace W. Ostrynski '36 of Richland, Gregory T. Shallenberger '37 of Cleveland, O., Charles C. Shoemaker '35 of Philadelphia, Pa., Willes E. Travis '35 of Middletown, Henry C. Weisheit '35 of Glenmont, and Dean Widner, Jr. '36 of Brooklyn.

Six Juniors were elected managers, each with a sophomore assistant. The new managers are: of Varsity basketball, Richard D. Culver of Westhampton; Freshman basketball, Willard C. Campbell of Hempstead; wrestling, Donald C. Graves of Evanston, Ill.; soccer, Paul M. Mattice of Ithaca; lacrosse, Nils V. Montan of Montclair, N. J.; fencing, Douglas L. McDonald of Ottawa, Can.

Freshman numerals for basketball were awarded to Robert J. Baker of Lewiston, James H. Budgen of Albany, Robert T. Cameron of Southampton, Louis E. Dauner of Cincinnati, O., Clinton G. Heyd of Upper Darby, Pa., Edward E.

Hughes of Edgewood, Pa., Robert J. McDonald of Waterbury, Conn., Thomas A. Rich of Hobart, Phillip W. Scudder of Painted Post, and Carlton P. Wilson of Milwaukee, Wisc.

Wrestling numerals went to Milton S. Baker of Watertown, Nicholas J. Cieri of Elmira, John K. Clement of Rossford, O., Darwin H. Culver of North Tonawanda, Robert R. Gibbs of Ithaca, Henry Hofheimer, Jr. of New York City, Ervio A. Makerainen of Ithaca, Herbert S. May, Jr. of Great Neck, Jack J. Siegel of New York City, and Harry L. Smith of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

CARDINALS PLAY VARSITY

The Athletic Association has scheduled an exhibition game of the world-champion St. Louis Cardinals against the Varsity on Hoy Field at 3 p.m., May 2. The regular line-up of the team generally credited with being the most colorful of the big leagues is expected to bring a record crowd to the stands that day. The management has promised that both the famous Dean brothers will appear and will work out prior to the game, with a possibility that one or both may pitch for part of the game.

TENNIS TEAM SPLITS TWO

The tennis team opened its out-door and out-of-town season at Princeton on Friday, meeting defeat, 7-2, and the next day taking the measure of Columbia in New York City by the same score.

Captain Stephen J. Hamilton, Jr. '35 of Wilmington, Del., University singles champion, won in both matches, defeating Tilney, Princeton ace, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, and Norton of Columbia, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. William J. Simpson '37 of Larchmont also won both his singles matches and paired with Bernard Marcus '36 of Mt. Vernon, defeated Columbia in the doubles. Simpson won from W. Tilden of Princeton, 6-3, 6-4, and from MacDonald of Columbia, 6-1, 6-2. He and Marcus defeated Norton and Dublin of Columbia, 6-4, 6-4, but lost to Whitman and Minnich at Princeton, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

In the Princeton match Marcus lost to Flynn in the singles, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2; Lloyd A. Doughty '36 of Bayside to Minnich, 6-2, 6-3; Samuel J. Tilden '35 of Scituate, Mass. to Whitman, 6-0, 6-3; and Bernard E. Diamond '37 of Brooklyn lost to Goodwin, 6-3, 6-2. In the doubles, Victor G. Anderson '35 of New Rochelle and Doughty lost to Tilden and Tilney, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, and S. Tilden and Diamond to Thompson and Myers, 6-3, 6-4.

Only Tilden in the singles and Anderson and Doughty in the doubles lost their matches to Columbia. Marcus defeated Ganzenmuller, 6-2, 6-4; Doughty defeated Dublin, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2; and Diamond defeated Schwartzman, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. Tilden and Diamond won their doubles match, 6-4, 10-8, and Simpson and Marcus, 6-4, 6-4.

GOLF TEAM LOSES

Badly handicapped by almost total lack of practice and the loss of its last year's captain and two players, the golf team opened its season with a 4-5 defeat by Haverford on the Philadelphia Country Club course Friday and a loss to Hill School, 9-0, at Pottsdam, Pa., on Saturday.

Against Haverford, Robert S. Hatfield '37 of Utica lost his match, 1 up, but William W. Carver '35 of Ithaca won his, 2 and 1, with the best ball Cornell's, 4 and 3. David H. Durham '36 of Ithaca lost, 5 and 4, as did Michael J. Sulla '37 of Harrison, 3 and 2, with the best ball Haverford's, 5 and 4. Robert C. Morton '36 of Duluth, Minn. lost, 5 and 4, but Jacques C. Saphier '36 of Brooklyn took his match, 3 and 2, with the best ball Cornell's, 2 and 1.

Against Hill, Hatfield lost 2 and 1; Carver, 7 and 5; Durham, 6 and 5; Sulla, 1 up; Saphier, 6 and 4; and Morton, 5 and 3, with best ball to Hill three times.

RIFLEMEN RUNNERS UP

The National Rifle Association has officially credited the ROTC rifle team with second place among the thirteen entered in the National Intercollegiate Shoulder-to-Shoulder Championships. In the sectional match at Annapolis on April 6, the Red riflemen forced the Navy to outshoot the previous national record to win. Captain Jonathan P. Blount '36 of Ithaca was high man of the match. He tied Blenman of Navy with 286, but made 90 in the standing position, which rates him above the midshipman.

Thus for the second year Cornell becomes runner-up national champion, next behind Navy, whom they defeated in a dual match in January. On Saturday the team made 1377, five points under last year's winning score. Navy won with 1391. Army finished third.

Late in March, the team shot 955 of a possible 1,000 to win first place and the William Randolph Hearst trophy for this Corps Area and second in national ranking. A second team finished third among the ten, being beaten only by the University of Porto Rico; and a third team fourth. Laurence S. Carroll '35 of Cutchogue shot a perfect score prone, 49 each sitting and kneeling, and 47 standing, to total 195. Captain Blount was one point behind, making exactly the same scores except prone, where he shot but 49. Robert R. Richman '36 of Ithaca, shooting in the high five for the first time, made a perfect score sitting and totaled 192. Ronald N. Throop '35 of Syracuse, the team's shooting manager, finished with 190, and Richard M. Bleier '35 of New York City was fifth. Robert G. Smith '36 of Poughkeepsie, who headed the second team, shot 190.

Captain James O. Tarbox and Sergeant Leslie W. Brown of the Military Department have coached the team.

ELIZABETHAN SCAPEGRACE

Thomas Lodge. By Edward Andrews Tenney, Ph D '32, Instructor in English at the University. Cornell Studies in English, Vol. XXVI. Ithaca, N. Y. Cornell University Press. 1935. ix + 202 pages. $2.

As some old graduates will recall, the Board of Trustees in 1915 appropriated a sum for the establishment of the Cornell Studies in English. The first publication appeared in 1916. Thanks to the members and former students of the English Department, who naturally have been the chief contributors, the attractive dark-green books with their neat gilt lettering and weighty contents have continued to appear at the rate of one or two a year until they now make a sizable shelf. The newcomer into this worthy company is Vol. XXVI, Dr. Tenney's life of the Elizabethan writer and physician, Thomas Lodge.

In the hands of an enthusiastic biographer Thomas Lodge's life becomes exciting reading. This diverting young scapegrace attended three famous English schools, and then became too busy to take up a profession. He had to fight lawsuits, keep up his end with the town gallants, write romances and pamphlets for William Shakespeare and Ben Jonson to use, and sail as soldier of fortune to the South Seas for Spanish loot. He had to write and defend plays and poetry, and turn out no small amount of hack work. Then perversely at the age of forty he must study medicine. He received an M. D. degree from Avignon, and practiced medicine in a plague-stricken London until the scourge eventually took him.

Dr. Tenney's task was not easy. After he had spent much time assembling unpublished materials, he had to see other researchers, who were nearer the records, precede him into print. At that, the documents were scarce enough. But he has won the victory: combining the fruits of his research with theirs and injecting a proper amount of prudent and wholly legitimate surmise, he has written the first readable life of Lodge.

What the learned reviewers will say in their unread journals is, I think, predictable: Dr. Tenney has depended rather frequently on conjecture—"if," "probably," "must have been," "the odds are," "we can infer," "appears to have had" are (they will say) dangerous phrases for the biographer; he has needlessly modernized Elizabethan texts; he has been sometimes dogmatic, sometimes specious in his interpretations. British reviewers may feel that Dr. Tenney lacks orientation in the English scene, that he is foreigner enough, for example, to talk of high schools and fraternities. But some of us who have here for the first time seen Thomas Lodge, as it were, face to face—in his own delightful, Elizabethan flesh-and-blood—will give scant attention to such quibblers.—BRICE HARRIS

TRAINS EAGLE AS FALCON

Egbert W. Pfeiffer '37 of New York City, football center, has trained Jane, an eagle with seven-foot wing spread, in the ancient art of falconry. Pfeiffer is a student of Dr. Arthur A. Allen '08, who gave him the eagle after having received it from a New Jersey farmer. At the beginning of her training, Pfeiffer needed two assistants to hold her, but Jane now eats out of his hand, comes at the signal of his outstretched arm, and hunts with him, soaring into the blue to drive down game birds and seek out small animals for her master.

This is Pfeiffer's second falcon. His first, a hawk captured near Olean, he gave to Captain Charles Knight, who uses it in English hunting.

OBITUARY

PHINEAS PECK STAUNTON '73 died on March 11 at his home in Orange, N. J. at the age of 83. He had been in poor health since being struck by a taxicab in New York City in July, 1933. Staunton entered the Optional Course in '69 from LeRoy, and remained one year. During the summer and fall of 1870 he was a member of the "Morgan expedition" to Brazil conducted by Charles F. Hartt, first professor of geology, and Albert N. Prentiss, first professor of botany. Staunton thereafter became a portrait painter and for several years was a member of the faculty of the National Academy of Design in New York City. From 1888 to his retirement two years ago, he was connected with the Union Dime Savings Bank in New York, latterly as manager of the foreign draft department.

ROSS MEACHAM LOVELL '93 of Elmira died in Albany, March 14, following an attack of pneumonia which had stricken him in his hotel room. He was 64. He entered the Arts Course in '89 from Marathon Academy and received the AB degree in '93. He studied law in Elmira, was a member of the firm of Stanchfield, Lovell, Falck, and Sayles, and became legislative counsel to the D. L. & W., Delaware & Hudson, and other railroads. He was a member of Quill and Dagger, and was a brother of Herbert M. Lovell '87 and Earl B. Lovell '91. His son, John Lovell, is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

CHARLES WESLEY ASHBY '93 died on January 3 at his home, 311 Chesapeake Avenue, Newport News, Va., following an illness of seven months. He was born November 11, 1863, at Troy and entered the course in Civil Engineering in 1889, receiving the CE degree in '93. During the Spanish-American war he was a member of the Brooklyn Naval Reserve unit. In 1900 he entered Government service in the office of the superintendent of Naval construction at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company. From 1924 to 1927 he was attached to the United States Navy Bureau of Construction and Repair at Washington, D.C., to the Naval constructor's office at Camden, N. J., and to the Brooklyn Navy Yard. He retired as a civilian employee of the Navy, December 1, 1933. He is survived by his widow; two brothers, one of whom is Chester Ashby '01, and a sister.

MARJORIE MCADOO '35 of Kew Gardens and Marjorie Kane '36 of Far Rockaway, president and president-elect of the Women's Self-Government Association, are attending the convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, at the University of Indiana.

BRIEF NEWS OF CAMPUS AND TOWN

ITHACA WEATHER—B-R-O-W-N—upheld its reputation in the words of the familiar song, with the worst snow storm of the season and a cold wave the end of last week, followed by a more or less balmy Easter Sunday and Spring for fair on Monday. Perhaps by the time you read this, roads may again be blocked with snow!

NEVERTHELESS, the spring flower show of the Department of Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture is to be revived this Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28, on the first floor of the Plant Science Building. The last show, in 1932, attracted more than five thousand visitors from all over the State.

MANY MEMBERS of the University community attended the Easter dawn service at Taughannock State Park. After thirty minutes of worship and singing, some remained to cook breakfast outdoors.

THE SUN this spring for the third time again sponsors bi-weekly lectures for all students by members of the Faculty whose purpose is to foster acquaintance and to open briefly different fields of learning than those in which their hearers are regularly enrolled. Names of speakers are not announced in advance, but the list includes Professors Wilder D. Bancroft, Chemistry, who opened the series on April 15; Robert E. Cushman, Government; William C. DeVane, new this year in English; Roswell C. Gibbs, Physics; William A. Hagan, MS '17, Veterinary; and Paul J. Weaver, Music. The idea is credited to Herbert N. Woodward '33, former associate editor, who organized the first series for the Sun in March, 1933. For three weeks the lectures are to be given at 12 on Mondays and Thursdays in Baker Lecture room.

HEADING THE SUN BOARD of next year's Seniors is William I. Stoddard of New York City, chairman and editorial director. Business manager is Clare J. Hoyt of New York City; managing editor, George A. Lawrence of Hammondsport; assistant editorial director, Jacques C. Saphier of Brooklyn; circulation manager, Henry Untermeyer of New York City. Robert A. Hamburger of Flushing and John M. Longyear of Marquette, Mich., are the new Senior column editors, C.D.XXIII and XXV. The Senior editorial board comprises Homer H. Bishop of Cleveland Heights, O., John G. Dobson of Clifton, N. J., Donald R. Hassell of Scarsdale, Henry E. Hebbeln of Davenport, Ia., Adelbert P. Mills of Ithaca, Carl F. Sheppard of Philadelphia, Pa., Kenneth Wilson of Ithaca, and Dwight N. Rockwood of Rochester. Women's editor is Ann Sun-stein of Pittsburgh, Pa., with Frances J. Biddle of Huntington, Pa. and Edith L. Gardner of Richmond Hill as Senior associates; the women's business manager, Alice C. Bailey of Skaneateles, with Gladys L. Winters of Staten Island as associate.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY Christian Association, incorporated in 1887, at its annual meeting in Barnes Hall on March 25, elected as trustees Professors Arthur B. Recknagel, Forestry, and Julian L. Woodward '22, Social Science; and Sarah Neblett, executive secretary of its younger relative, Cornell United Religious Work. Members of the latter body, CURW for short, elected to the board of control besides Professors Recknagel and Woodward, Professors George W. Cavanaugh '93, Chemistry, and Edwin A. Burt, Philosophy; Miss Grace Seely '04, warden of Sage College, and Mrs. Charles H. Newman of Ithaca.

WITH CONSTRUCTION promised this summer of eleven miles of the scenic boulevard along the west shore of Cayuga Lake from Ithaca north to Seneca Falls, but seven miles north from Taughannock will remain to be finished. It was announced recently that this too may be completed next summer. Two years ago the State Highway Department graded and paved the twelve miles from Ithaca to Taughannock, and last year an equal distance was completed at the north end.

MAJURA, social society, has elected the following '37 men: John I. Condon of Narberth, Pa., Adolph Coors, 3d. of Golden, Col., Judson M. DeCew of Mt. Vernon, Kurtz M. Hanson of Bethesda, Md., Charles Y. Neff of Buffalo, John A. Page of Buffalo, Jacob B. Perkins of Cleveland, O., Frank B. Poole of Ithaca, William G. Rossiter of Bronxville, Joseph M. Steiner, 3d. of White Plains, Robert W. Strayer of Niagara Falls, Samuel S. Verbeck of Manlius, Daniel W. Wardwell, Jr. of Rome, Erbin D. Wattles of Buffalo, John W. Wight of Summit, N. J., and Griswold Wilson, Jr. of Cleveland, O.

LECTURES for the week include Mary P. Dupuy of the field service, Berea College, before Pi Lambda Theta on April 23; and Dr. Frederick Gudernatsch, Graduate Professor, University of New York, on "Endocrine Types, Clinical and Experimental," April 25 on the Schiff Foundation. Last Friday, Dr. Carol Aronovici '05, city planner, spoke on "The City of Tomorrow," and Dr. Louis P. Weld, head of the research department of McCann and Erickson, New York City advertising agency, spoke on "Industrial Marketing and Forecasting."

ARTHUR J. ROBINSON, for fifteen years a member of the Ithaca Police force and known to many Cornellians first as a street patrolman and since 1928 as a member of the motorcycle squad, died suddenly April 2 as he was preparing to go on duty. A fall and resulting strain suffered last October while he was investigating an automobile accident on Thurston Avenue is thought to have been a contributing cause of his death. He was an extremely popular member of the force.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER April 28 is Rev. Hugh Black of Union Theological Seminary.

ROD AND BOB, Civil Engineering Society, has elected Howard H. Sturdy '36 of Hamburg its new president; Paul W. Van Nest '36 of Elizabeth, N. J., secretary; and Andrew W. McElwee '36 of Ithaca, treasurer.

CORNELL-IN-CHINA Club held its annual banquet at the Cosmopolitan Club on March 18. Arrangements were in the hands of Yien Shan Chen, Grad., of Shanghai and Eugene Fan, Grad., of Tungsien, the Club president.

ADDISON D. MERRY '35 of Syracuse, cadet colonel of the ROTC, left for Washington, D. C. on April 18 to receive the award for this Army Corps Area of the John J. Pershing Medal for achievement in military education. The award is sponsored by the Civilian Military Education Fund.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB has elected seventy-six students to active and associate membership on the basis of work done in the departments of acting, business, make-up, staging, lighting, costumes, and properties.

TREMAN PARK, on land in the gorge of Six-Mile Creek, given to the City by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Treman '78, has received official TERA approval, and crews of relief workers started the preliminary clearing and grading last week.

TWELVE JUNIOR girls have been elected to Mortar Board, national senior honorary society for women. They are: Harriet T. Blatt of Atlantic City, N. J., Marion R. Blenderman of New York City, Julia S. Hardin of Ithaca, Maida Hooks of Englewood, N. J., Marjorie S. Kane of Far Rockaway, Lillian A. Smith of Jackson Heights, Kathleen C. Stapleton of Bridgeport, Conn., Catherine H. Stinken of Brooklyn, Ann Sunstein of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mary P. Tillinghast of Hamburg, Gladys L. Winters of Staten Island, and F. Ruth Zingerle of Kenmore.

LETTERS

*Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. ### SCHOLARSHIPS FOR SCHOLARS

To the Editor:

Lately, there has been a great deal of talk about the athletic situation at Cornell. No doubt, this should be improved but not with or by athletic scholarships. A modern athletic plant is required where all students can participate in some form of exercise or sport.

If the "big shot" alumni, who wish unbeaten teams manned by professional athletes, would build instead a new "gym" with all necessary appurtenances instead of establishing athletic scholarships, the calibre of Cornell teams would improve greatly. Personally, I think that Cornell has been represented by good teams and, what is more, by students who are amateurs in spirit as well as name. Cornell is not blessed with many ready-made athletes but must develop them. A plant where all could participate would provide continuous replacement for the varsity teams.

It would seem that a report like the Carnegie Committee published of Cornell is worth many times more than any number of unbeaten teams. I don't believe the students wish athletic scholarships, and if they are not perturbed why should the alumni be? Cornell stands above all in the educational field, considering her age and financial limitations. Her Founder would be proud of her, but not if represented by professional athletes.

No matter how lofty a spirit the alumni may intend the proposed new scholarships to be given, no alumnus or alumni club is going to send a "dumb" athlete to Cornell to have him bust out or go on probation; but the men selected will be chosen for their athletic prowess and not especially for their mental ability.

When the whole amateur athletic world reeks with the taint of professional athletes from the tennis "bums" and imported amateur hockey players to masquerading amateur teams, as well as numerous stars of track and field who capitalize their ability for financial gain, must Cornell stoop as low to win her share?

If athletes at Cornell must be helped, let us provide honest jobs for those who voluntarily desire to attend. I don't favor showing partiality to athletes over others who need work to obtain an education, but if the "big shot" alumni must have their three-ring circus, let's do it above board.

I know of four good school-boy athletes who wish to come to Cornell, not because of our athletic scholarships, but for a better education than other colleges provide, if they can obtain work. These are the type of young men and athletes Cornell desires, who wish to work for their education, not sell their conscience and betray the amateur code as all too many do.

If the alumni and Alumni Clubs are so wealthy, why haven't they contributed in larger amounts to the support of Cornell instead of having the University operate with a deficit? Cornell is an educational institution, not one for the support of professional athletes.

CORNELLIANA

To the Editor:

A few months ago there was an item in your paper which I believe was wrong. The first lacrosse game was between '92 and '93. '92 was conceded the rowing match and '93 the baseball game. A number of Canadians in '93 suggested lacrosse. The '92 men watched the practice and soon caught on. Unfortunately for '93, the Sophomores seemed to think that the sticks were to be used for slugging their opponents as well as the ball, and won a decisive but bloody victory.

The writer leased the old Corson [see ALUMNI NEWS of March 14, 1935] house for his fraternity [Phi Delta Theta]. Professor Corson, who used to read "St. Agnes Eve" so sonorously, stipulated in the lease that his thorn hedge should be protected. When the City of Ithaca wished to widen Dryden Road the workmen began cutting down the hedge, one of the fraternity held them off with a shot gun, while another, an embryo lawyer, ran downtown and secured an injunction. The old pond north of the place served as a ducking place for freshmen.

My classmate, Clark Northup, was kind enough to send me a photograph of the Rev. Samuel Parker's tombstone. There is nothing in the inscription to show that exactly one hundred years ago, he made a perilous and difficult trip to the Oregon country, selected three sites for Marcus Whitman's mission, and through his books and lectures interested Easterners to migrate and enlisted many public men in the Oregon question.

WELLS GILBERT '93

Professor Northup says that Wells Gilbert has one of the finest show places in the Northwest, where he grows "the most gorgeous roses you ever saw." Gilbert has lived in Portland, Ore., since his graduation, where the Northups visited him and Mrs. Gilbert five years ago. Rev. Samuel Parker was one of the best known men Ithaca has sent out; he died in 1865 and is buried in the City Cemetery east of University Avenue, to the north of the caretaker's house.—ED.

TO ENTERTAIN WOMEN

About one hundred prospective students are expected to attend Cornell Day for women to be held on the Campus Saturday, May 4. Alumnae from New York, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Scranton, Cortland, Geneva, Binghamton, Batavia, and Elmira have already indicated their intention of coming with groups of girls from the junior and senior classes of their local secondary schools, interested in entering Cornell.

Lillian Fasoldt '27, president of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca, is in charge of the arrangements here. In view of the limited dormitory accommodations, Miss Fasoldt asks alumnae to register their overnight guests with her not later than April 27. Those who will be present on Saturday only should be registered not later than April 30.

In preparation for Cornell Day, many of the women's clubs entertained during the spring vacation in honor of the undergraduates who were home at that time, and invited also a number of the girls who will be guests at Cornell Day in order to give them an opportunity to meet their undergraduate hostesses. The program for the day includes registration on arrival at Balch Halls, tours of the Campus, luncheon in the dormitories, exhibitions of fencing, tennis matches, and a polo game between two teams from the women's polo squad, with a tea at Willard Straight Hall to end the day.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES, several of the larger suites in the men's residential halls have been partitioned to increase the number of single rooms available next fall, according to Mrs. John B. Grace (Anna Fielden) '10, manager.

Concerning THE FACULTY

CLARE W. PIERCE, Agricultural Economics, and Mrs. Pierce announce the birth of a son on April 1. They live at 508 University Avenue.

DR. HERBERT W. BRIGGS, Government, addressed a luncheon meeting of the League of Women Voters on April 10 in Ithaca. He spoke on "Can America Stay at Home in Wartime?" Professor Briggs was one of the signers of a telegram sent to the President of Cuba recently, appealing for the release of eight hundred Cuban civilians reported to be held for trial in connection with the recent revolution strike. On March 26 Professor Briggs, addressing the Current Events class, advocated the passage of bills by Congress which would impose embargoes on arms, munitions, and loans to belligerents on both sides of a conflict as a means for keeping us out of future wars, as proposed by Charles Warren, former assistant attorney general of the United States.

PROFESSOR E. LAURENCE PALMER '11, Rural Education, described his recent adventures and discoveries on the island of Jamaica at the April 10 meeting of the Ithaca Rotary Club. On March 29 he spoke on hobbies at a parent-teacher meeting here.

EMERITUS PROFESSOR GEORGE L. BURR '81, History, is among the distinguished Americans named as electors to make this year's eighth quinquennial selections for the Hall of Fame at New York University.

PRESIDENT FARRAND WILL BE the principal speaker at the commencement exercises of Lafayette College, at Easton, Pa. on June 7.

PROFESSOR HAROLD L. REED, PhD '14, Economics, was among those signing the memorandum presented to Congress by the Economists National Committee on Monetary Policy of which Edwin W. Kemmerer, PhD '01, formerly instructor of economics at Cornell, and now at Princeton University, is honorary chairman. The memorandum protests the passing of certain pending legislation on the Federal Reserve System without further study by experts.

DEAN CARL E. LADD '12 described "Rural Planning in Tompkins County and New York State" before the current events class, March 26.

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR KARAPETOFF, Electrical Engineering, discussed "Some Problems of a Self-Appointed Representative of Unborn Generations" before the Florida Engineering Society, meeting in Miami April 5 and 6.

MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY, beginning April 22 with Professor Seymour Garrett '04, Industrial Economics, will give a series of brief talks Monday afternoons at 4 from Station WESG. They are arranged by the Peace Action Committee of Ithaca. Professor Garrett's subject was "Are We Looking for Peace or War?"

MRS. ALMA P. BROOK arrived in Ithaca April 21 to become head resident in Balch Halls Unit III, to fill the vacancy caused by the death on April 4 of Mrs. Frederick C. Biggs, who had served in that office since 1929. Mrs. Brook was for four years chaperone of Pi Beta Phi sorority at University of California, then head resident of Corwin Hall at University of Kansas, and latterly at University of Chicago.

PROFESSOR ROY E. CLARK '12, Heat-Power Engineering, and Mrs. Clark have left Ithaca for an extended trip to North Carolina, Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam, Yellowstone Park, Pike's Peak, and California.

DR. MARGARET L. PLUNKETT '27, American History, spoke on "Present Day Society in Russia" before the international relations group of CURW on April 10.

PROFESSOR HAROLD E. BOTSFORD, Poultry Extension, is spending six weeks in New York City, working with Dr. Charles K. Powell, PhD '25, for the Pacific Egg Producers' Association, of which Dr. Earl W. Benjamin '11 is the New York head.

JAMES E. DAVIS '24, Forestry, has been appointed to succeed Professor Alpheus M. Goodman '12, Rural Engineering, as farm representative in New York State of the Federal Housing Administration. On May 1 Professor Goodman returns to his duties at the College of Agriculture, and Davis takes to the field.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL, Engineering, was elected April 15 president of the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce. Fred A. Rogalsky '16 is treasurer, and Professor Emeritus Walter F. Willcox, Economics, is national councillor. President Farrand is an honorary member of the board of directors, which includes also Sherman Peer '06 and Paul S. Livermore '97, past presidents.

CAPTAIN ROSS S. MACKIE, commanding officer of the ROTC band, who leaves shortly for Washington to take command of the United States Army Band, was tendered a banquet by the Clef Club in Willard Straight Hall on April 16. He was presented with a carrying case and an inscribed plaque by George R. Barns '35 of Ithaca, president of the Club, and eulogized by Romeyn Berry '04, Graduate Manager of the Athletic Association, by Henry D. Daboll '35 of Syracuse, and Provost Albert R. Mann '04, who praised the high calibre of the Army staff at the University, "both as military officers and as thoughtful teachers." Captain MacKie's post as commander of the band will be taken by Lieutenant G. M. Williamson, Jr.

DR. HOWARD S. LIDDELL, PhD '23, of the Medical College in Ithaca and Edward F. Kotyuka '36 of the Medical College in New York, with Drs. O. D. Anderson and F. A. Hartman, reported April 11 in Detroit, Mich., before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, experiments which indicate the possibility that cortin, a hormone secreted by the cortex of the adrenal glands, might constitute a treatment for neuroses and other nervous conditions.

PROFESSOR ROLLAND M. STEWART, Rural Education, spoke on cooperation, before the Advertising Club of Ithaca on April 18.

PROFESSOR GILBERT ROSS, Music, concert violinist, was invited to play at the annual spring concert of the League of Composers in New York City on April 17.

MAJOR CHARLES E. BOYLE, now on duty in Hawaii, has been detailed by the War Department to the ROTC here.

PROFESSOR JOHN W. MACDONALD '25, Law, and Mrs. MacDonald (Mary E. Brown) '25 have a daughter, Virginia, born in Ithaca, April 17.

PROFESSOR DAY MONROE, Home Economics since 1930, has been appointed to the staff of the Federal Bureau of Home Economics, to take charge of economic research, especially in the field of consumer buying. She left Ithaca for Washington, D. C. on April 22.

ARCHIE M. PALMER '18, executive secretary of The Cornellian Council, spoke on "Unofficial Ambassadors" before the Ithaca Rotary Club on April 17.

PROFESSOR ARTHUR J. EAMES, Botany, attended the meeting of the division of biology and agriculture of the National Research Council at Washington, D. C., on April 20. He is the representative of the Botanical Society of America upon the Council.

DEAN FLOYD K. RICHTMYER '04 of the Graduate School, and Professor of Physics, receives one of the twenty-four grants made by the American Philosophical Society at its annual meeting in Philadelphia, Pa. last week to support special research projects during the coming year. Dean Richtmyer's was "to enable him to continue his work on the determination of the widths, shapes, and relative intensities of the lines in the X-ray spectra of the several elements; and use of these data to compute the distribution of energy in the excited states of atoms." He was also elected a member of the Society.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'84; '01 AB, '04 MD; '89 PhB—Dr. Henry P. de Forest '84 was commissioned about forty years ago by Theodore Roosevelt as Surgeon Major in the 13th Regiment, Coast Artillery which since the war is the 245th Coast Artillery. At a recent meeting of the Adventurers' Club, of which Dr. Theodore Bliss '01 is treasurer and John H. Drown '89 and other Cornellians are members, Dr. de Forest wore his red Artillery tie which caused one of the members to burst into song:

"Our members have travelled, dark secrets unravelled

They're at home under water, or up in the sky.

They're over courageous, assertive, pugnacious,

But they break down and sob at the sight of your tie.

They cast dark aspersions, they've various versions

Of actions, of misdeeds and shouts of 'you lie'

It's all quite exciting, always verging on fighting

It's indeed an Adventure to wear such a tie.

Can it be halitosis, complex or neurosis
Fixation, frustration or a plain urge to vie
With the peacock or rainbow, that eggs a man on so

He'll wear such a hell of a scandalous tie."

'85—Robert J. Eidlitz was elected a director of the Associated Hospital Service on April 8 in New York City.

'91 ME(EE)—Frank J. Tone, father of Franchot Tone '27, will receive the Edward Goodrich Acheson International Medal and a $1,000 prize for work in electro-chemistry at a meeting in October of the Electro-Chemical Society. Tone is president of the Carborundum Co., Niagara Falls.

'91 Sp—Slaughter W. Huff is president of the Third Avenue Railway of New York City.

'92 ME; '92 BL—George W. Bacon is a member of the anniversary committee of the Hudson Guild of New York City. A campaign to raise $50,000 to protect the Guild, of which Dr. John L. Elliott '92 is founder and headworker, against budget deficits in the next few years was started April 7. Former President Jacob G. Schurman and President Farrand will speak at the Anniversary Dinner, May 1.

'94 ME—H. Burton Gay is vice-president and a director of The Electric Storage Battery Company, and a director of the Chloride Electrical Storage Co., Ltd.

of Manchester, England and Exide Batteries of Canada, Ltd. He lives in Philadelphia, Pa.

'94 LLB—Myron C. Taylor was speaker at a dinner on April 8 of Chi Omega, national women's fraternity, at which Josephine Roche, assistant secretary of the treasury, was awarded the National Achievement Award. Taylor is quoted by the press as saying, at a United States Steel Corporation stockholders' meeting, April 1, that the forward movement which has begun in industry should sweep away unsound policies engendered by past prosperity as well as the "quack notions" born of the depression.

'94 ME(EE); '03 AB—Walter A. May of Pittsburgh, Pa. '94 is a director of the National Recreation Association. Howard S. Braucher '03 is executive secretary.

'95 ME—George T. Ladd, president of United Engineering and Foundry Company, in the annual report recently issued, looks forward to a substantial advance toward a better than normal level of operations in his company during 1935. The report showed increased net income and increased dividends.

'96; '28 AB; '24 AB; '24 AB—Louis E. Lytle retired in 1916 as superintendent of the air brake department of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company in Pittsburgh, Pa. His daughter, Louise '28, is now Mrs. Harrell Denmead, and his son, Roy C. '24, is married to Virginia Baugh '24.

'98; '01 Grad—Fred J. Galloway and F. Snell Hall are directors of the Marlin-Rockwell Corporation of Jamestown, manufacturers of roller bearings.

'98 AB—Frank E. Gannett, publisher, is quoted in the Gannett newspapers as of the opinion that the situation in Europe is critical. General alarm in Europe at the Hitler audacity in tearing up the Versailles Treaty and rearmament is causing much discussion as to ways and means of controlling him. The United States, since it is not in the World Court and League of Nations, has to sit with tied hands, without the right to participate in efforts toward international peace.

'99 ME—Jeanette Upson, daughter of Maxwell M. Upson '99 of 320 Mountain Road, Englewood, N. J., is engaged to William S. Palmer of Morsemere, N. J.

'99 MD—Dr. Ida S. Scudder, missionary and medical worker in India for the last 35 years and president of the Missionary Medical College for Women at Vellore, South India, spoke at a luncheon given in her honor in New York City, April 6. She decried the marriage of Indian infants, the lack of education among the women, and said that 100,000,000 women in India lack medical attention. Dr. Scudder comes from a family of which four generations have spent a total of 1400 years in missionary work in India. She plans to go back in June.

'99 LLB—Walter L. Pate is on the Davis Cup committee, named April 4, by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

'03 AB—Floyd L. Carlisle, at a meeting, April 8, of the stockholders of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, is quoted as saying that the merger of the Consolidated and affiliated companies would lower rates, owing to the fact that charges to consumers would be based upon an agreed investment in utility facilities and profits over a fixed return shared between company and customers as outlined in the Washington plan. Legislation, making this merger possible, was at that time before the State Legislature and the meeting was adjourned until May 6.

'04 AB—An interview with George Jean Nathan, editor and critic, by Irene Kuhn, World-Telegram staff writer, says that he is in favor of the McNaboe bill as a victory over blackmail; and of some such legislation on the unwritten law. He is considered by the New York American one of the best dressed men in New York City, due to his fifty or so overcoats.

'04 LLB; '18—Supreme Court Justice William L. Bleakley '04 praised the action of the United States Trust Company of New York City in advancing money to liquidate back taxes on Westchester County property. Bleakley was a guest of the Westchester County Realty Board at its annual dinner in Rye on April 6. Harry D. Cole (Cohen) '18 of Mount Vernon was a member of the committee in charge of the dinner.

'05 AB—Hendrik Willem vanLoon was a speaker at the twentieth anniversary dinner on March 25 of the Walden School in New York City, where he formerly taught history. A note in the New York American, March 28, says that few writing men get so much fun out of turning out a book. When not working he is said to have the amiability of a lumbering St. Bernard; when working he is likened to a cracking-the-whip ringmaster in a three ring circus.

'05 AB, '07 LLB—George J. Nelbach, executive secretary of the State committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, participated in the round table on venereal disease, an innovation at the Milbank Fund Conference on Health, opened in New York City, March 27, by President Farrand.

'05 AB—Wallace T. Holliday, president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, is quoted by the press as saying that the immediate policy of the company should be to maintain its marketing position and to preserve a strong financial position; and that the company's marketing and manufacturing costs are lower than in 1934.

'06—"Manhattan Melange", by Karl K. Kitchen appeared in The Playbill of April 12.

'06 AB—Edwin G. Nourse is co-author of America's Capacity to Produce, first of four volumes covering the Brookings survey. They reached the conclusions that even in the peak year of 1929, our industrial plant lacked nineteen percent of producing the amount of which it was technically capable; that labor needed was available; and that the margin of unused plant capacity was not noticeably expanding during the years of prosperity.

'07, '09 AB—Robert F. Coulson, attorney for the Brooklyn Edison Company, represented the company at a conference called by the Regional Labor Board to discuss a threatened strike.

'07 LLB; '05 AB—James Q. Newton '07 and Wilbur Newton '05 are directors of Boettcher and Company—Boettcher-Newton & Co. and Harris, Upham & Co. before they merged on April 8. ## SPEAKING OF HOSPITALITY

A. J. Anderson,
cotton broker . . .
pays the McAlpin
an unusual compliment—for which we are grateful:

"... while the South is called the home of hospitality, our experience at the McAlpin convinced my wife and me that there is also a genuine 'Northern Hospitality' quite refreshing to find in a big city like New York."

**From the private files of the McAlpin*

It's a point of pride with the McAlpin to take interest in the personal comfort and welfare of every guest . . . and we'd like to prove it to you on your next visit to New York. May we expect you?
