Summer School

Our summer session will begin on July tenth and end with Regents examinations on August twentieth. This session affords a very satisfactory method of securing credits needed for admission to college in September or of making up deficiencies in one's high school course. Instruction may be continued after the session in preparation for college entrance examinations in September.

Our late date of opening permits of a real vacation before starting the work of summer school.

Four Win Fellowships

Cornellians To Pursue Advanced Study in Europe Under International Grants

Four Cornellians have been awarded fellowships for advanced study in foreign universities for next year, according to the announcement made by Archie M. Palmer '18, assistant director of the Institute of International Education.

Robert M. Herbst '26, who has been on a graduate fellowship at Yale working for his doctorate, will continue his studies in chemistry at the University of Munich on an American German Exchange fellowship. Elfrieda E. Pope '29 has also been awarded one of these fellowships and will go to Germany to study German language and literature.

Frank Monaghan '27 who has been assistant editor of the Dictionary of American Biography, has been awarded an American Field Service fellowship and will spend the year in France completing a study on American social history as recorded by French travelers.

Alice C. Buerger '25 has been awarded a Franco-American Exchange scholarship and will also go to France to study at the University of Toulouse, where Olive Ling '24 is this year on a similar scholarship. Miss Buerger has been teaching in the High School at Gerry, N. Y.

During this year six Cornell graduates have been spending the year abroad on the foreign study fellowship opportunities administered by the Institute of International Education: Olive Ling '24, Anne Gasool '28, and Myra Tolins '28, in France; Margery I. Blair '28 and Robert I. Cohn '28 in Germany; and Rufus T. D. Freitag '28 in Switzerland.

HEADS RAILROAD

Charles L. Bradley '08 of Cleveland, Ohio, has been elected chairman of the Board of Directors of the Erie Railroad, and will serve as the executive officer of the company. The post is a new one, created to relieve the president of the company of some of the executive duties in connection with the operation of the road.

Bradley will devote himself to the financial management of the railroad, and to such capital reorganization as developments in the merger plan of the Van Sweringen railroad interests require. He has been associated with O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen since they entered the railroad field. The Van Sweringens are planning a fourth Eastern trunk line railroad system.

Bradley is also one of the owners of the Cleveland American League Baseball Club. He has been connected with the Union Trust Company of Cleveland for a number of years.

PLANT COLLECTION GIVEN

A herbarium containing 40,000 specimens of plants, owned by Dr. Charles Atwood '80 of Moravia, who died recently, has been presented to the University, and it will be brought to Ithaca by Professor Karl M. Weigand '94, professor of botany.

The collection is reported to be one of the largest individual collections in the world. Dr. Atwood started the collection when he was a young man and continued it until the day he died. On that day he obtained two additional specimens during a professional call.

After he finished his studies at the University Dr. Atwood was for a time a student assistant in the Department of Botany. The plants in the collection were obtained from all sections of the country but the majority of the specimens are representative of plant life in Central New York, particularly the Finger Lakes region.

THUMB TACK EXHIBIT

The annual exhibit of the Cornell and Ithaca artists sponsored by the Thumb Tack Club is now being shown in the Morse Hall art galleries, and it reveals the work of an artist who, according to art critics, gives great promise. The artist is Kenneth Washburn '27.

The exhibit includes oil paintings, the outstanding section of the showing, batiks, water colors, and students' sketches. Among the exhibitors are Gertrude Dean, Sp., Mrs. Gretchen Fischer Harshbarger, Mrs. Epsie Morse, Mrs. Allison Bishop, Professor Clara L. Garrett '08, Mrs. Helen Binkard Young '00, Shigeo Hirata '30, Professor Walter King Stone, Professor Christian Midjo, Professor William C. Baker '98, and Yakayoshi Yoda '29.

The Thumb Tack Club is composed of Cornellians and Ithacans who meet every two weeks for comment and criticism. The members are all interested in creative painting.

DEAN CHARLES K. BURDICK of the Law School has instituted a new and interesting procedure in holding informal conferences with those students who are considering taking up the study of law.

Seniors Pledge $103,055

Two-Year Campaign for Endowment Fund is Approaching Successful Conclusion

The 1929 endowment fund reached the total of $103,055 during the drive recently conducted by members of the senior class. Of the total, $47,765 was raised this year, and $50,790 in the junior year campaign. Other contributions totaled $5,500. The drive was under the general chairmanship of Jack F. Macomber '29 of Franklinville, Ind.

Team chairmen were Kathryn A. Hannon of Schenectady, Ola Cooper of Beaver, Pa., Catherine A. Curvin of Medina, John F. Perrigo of Beloit, Wis., Bradford Bissell of New York, Charles A. Stevens, Jr., of Lakewood, Ohio, and John M. Wright of Merchantsville, N. J.

The teams captained by Miss Curvin and Stevens led the respective women's and men's divisions in pledges obtained. Miss Curvin's team turned in $2,500, and Steven's team obtained $14,870. Individual winners were:

Women's division: Dorothy A. English of Woodhaven, Helen L. Gillmeister of Medina, Anna M. Wilson of Ithaca, Dorothy C. Chase of Yonkers, Helen G. Markson of Elmira, and Mary E. Groff of Philadelphia, Pa.

ANOTHER NEW FRATERNITY HOUSE

Construction has been started on a new house for Alpha Chi Rho on property east of the home of Professor Louis M. Dennis at 722 University Avenue. The contract has been awarded J. Dall, Jr., Inc., of Ithaca, of which Jess J. Dall, Jr., '16, is president. The house is scheduled for completion by Thanksgiving.

It will be in the Georgian style of architecture, four stories high, with brick exterior. Revilo F. Fuller '17 of Chicago is the architect.

PROFESSOR NATHANIEL SCHMIDT of the Semitic Language and Oriental History Department was elected a director of the American Oriental Society at a recent meeting at Harvard. Professor Schmidt has contributed more than 1500 articles in the New International Encyclopedia.

Give Fund for Chimes

Money for New Playing Stand and Bells
Comes from Friends and Relatives of Jennie McGraw Fiske

A fund to pay for the new playing stand and the two new bells which were recently added to the Library Tower chimes has been presented Cornell by friends and members of the family of Jennie McGraw Fiske. Mrs. Fiske presented the original nine bells which first rang out at the opening exercises of the University in 1868.

In 1870 Mrs. Andrew D. White gave the great bell that marks the hours. In 1908 the University added four new bells, and other bells were recast and retuned.

Last summer, two new bells and a modern playing stand were installed.

On the south side of the under face of the arch at the entrance to the clock tower is this inscription:

The chime of nine bells in this tower on which are inscribed verses from Chant CIV, of Tennyson's In Memorial, is the gift of Jennie McGraw 1868.

The great tenor and clock bell is the gift of Mrs. Mary Amanda White.
1870

It bears the inscription from Psalm
XCII

"To tell of Thy lovingkindness early in the morning and of Thy truth in the night season."

And this, written for it by James Russell Lowell:

"I call as fly the irrevocable hours,
Futile as air or strong as fate to make
Your lives of sand of granite; awful powers,
Even as men choose, they either give or take."

Now with the approval of President
Farrand and the Trustees, the inscription will be extended on the north side of the arch as follows:

In 1908 the University added four new bells to the chime and most of the original bells were recast and retuned.

In 1928 two bells were added and a modern playing stand was installed through the generosity of friends of Cornell University intimately connected with the family of Jennie McGraw (Fiske).

"I wake at night and think I hear remembered chimes."

ATHLETICS

Win First Track Meet

The track team started its dual meet season May 4 on Schoellkopf Field by beating the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team, 114 to 21. Cornell won thirteen first places and scored clean sweeps in six events.

Meinig was the only double winner of the games. He captured the 100-yard dash easily and then nosed out Ladd of Tech in a stirring duel in the 220-yard dash. His time, under unfavorable conditions was 21 $\frac{1}{2}$ seconds.

Tech's first places were captured by Captain Hallahan in the 440-yard dash, in which he was only a step ahead of Baker and Travis of Cornell in a blanket finish, and by Benjamin, who had little opposition from Cornellians in the high jump.

Levy's toss of 43 feet 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches in the 16-pound shot put barely won him first place. Randall, Tech weight man, was second with a heave of 43 feet 10 inches.

Cornell swept both hurdle events, the century dash, the two mile run, won in hollow fashion by Levering; the pole vault, and the discus throw.

A broken hammer in that event compelled the weight men to use a 12-pound hammer, which Weis tossed 167 feet 4 inches.

The 880-yard run was one of the feature events of the meet, Elmer nosing out Treman in a fast finish in the good time of 1:57 $\frac{3}{4}$.

Lose First Cup Game

The baseball team broke even in two games played last week, defeating Colgate May 1 by 4 to 1 and losing on May 4 to Dartmouth, 10 to 1, in a Quadrangle Cup League contest. Both games were played on Hoy Field. The Dartmouth game was Cornell's first in the Quadrangle series.

The team played good ball against Colgate, Lewis performing in mid-season form on the mound. He gave only five hits, distributed among as many innings. Colgate's one tally in the fifth frame was unearned. Callan, with two out, hit to Steiff who tossed the ball over Kohn's head at first. Cardner, singled to score Callan from second.

Cornell got its four runs in the fourth inning, when Cushman and Steiff singled. Crosby's double scored Cushman, and Steiff counted when Dashner, Maroon shortstop, fumbled Donnelly's grounder. Handleman also grounded to Dashner, but in a mix-up with Donnelly, running from second to third, the ball went into the outfield, and two runners scored.

The Dartmouth game saw Cornell play erratic ball throughout. Boies was ineffective for the first time this season. He was followed on the mound by Lewis and Rollo.

Six errors were chalked up against Cornell, and in each instance they started Dartmouth scoring, when Green batsmen, with runners on base, delivered timely hits. The three pitchers added to the loose exhibition by giving five passes.

Both teams got six hits, but Cornell bunched them in only one inning, the seventh, when the lone run was scored on a single by Crosby and Donnelly's triple to right field.

Dartmouth started by scoring three runs in the first inning. A pass to Harvey, Kohn's error on Parker's grounder, and Rolfe's double accounted for the first score. Two sacrifice flies by Walsh and Picken brought in the next two runs.

Hebert's wild throw to first on Walsh's grounder in the fourth started another run around the paths. Walsh went to second on the play, stole third, and came home on Downey's single.

In each of the sixth, seventh, and ninth innings, Dartmouth scored two runs. Rolfe was passed with one out and stole second. He went to third on an infield out and scored on Picken's triple. Picken came home on Donnelly's error.

Two errors, a pass, and a single by Parker brought in the seventh inning scores, a third run being nipped at the plate when Dartmouth attempted a double steal.

The Green scored its two runs in the ninth after two were out. Moulton, substitute center fielder, dropped Harvey's fly and the Green player reached third. Parker drew a pass and went to second on a pitched ball. Both scored on Rolfe's single.

Track Captain Stars

Captain Anderson of the track team, competing in the Ohio Relays at Columbus, Ohio, May 4, came within six inches of the world's record for the discus throw. Anderson, who competed in the same event in the 1928 Olympics, tossed the discus 157 feet 5¾ inches to top his competitors at the Relays.

The mark was a new one for the games. Anderson had set the previous mark of 147 feet 10¾ inches in 1927.

Tigers Win at Tennis

The tennis team lost its first match of the season to Princeton at Princeton May 4, winning only one of the nine matches played. Detwiler prevented a shutout by defeating Bramhall, 7-5, 6-2.

Quakers Win Lacrosse Game

The lacrosse team lost to Pennsylvania, 3 to 2, on Alumni Field May 4, when a late rally in which Callahan and Trousdell scored goals fell short by one point of tying the score. Two goals by Edwards, Pennsylvania attack player, gave the visitors the advantage. Pennsylvania led at the half, 1 to 0.

The first half saw both teams playing a strong defensive game, but in the second period, both twelves opened up their attack.

Freshmen Results

The freshman track team decisively defeated the Colgate yearlings, 80½ to 54½, in its first meet of the season at Hamilton May 4. Schoenfeld was the Cornell star, winning the shot put and the discus throw and tying with two Colgate men for second in the pole vault. Cornell took first places in four track events and in six of the seven field events.

The freshman baseball team lost to Columbia at New York May 4 by 6 to 2.

The freshman lacrosse team was beaten badly by Geneva High School at Ithaca May 4, 9 to 1. Boschen, a substitute attack man, scored Cornell's only goal.

THE LACROSSE TEAM IN ACTION

BOOKS

Watch the Balkans

The Balkan Pivot: Yugoslavia: a study in Government and Administration. By Charles A. Beard, '99-'00 Grad., and George Radin. New York. Macmillan. 1929. 20.6 cm., pp. x, 325. Price, $2.50.

Here is a fine study of a young government in action. Yugoslavia "arose from the wreck of empires at the close of the World War." The Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes contains 96,134 square miles. It is not quite one-third larger than Greece; not quite half as large as France; larger than England, Wales, Scotland, the Isle of Man, and the channel Islands combined; larger than New England, New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland. Less than half the land is cultivated. In 1921 the population was estimated at 12,017,323, or 125 to the square mile. There is widely diversified agriculture and there are great natural resources.

Though the people spoke varieties of a common Slavic language, they had "no common heritage of law, religion, or great literature." Serbia had been self-governing since 1881; Croatia-Slavonia was in 1914 still under Hungarian domination, Voivodina presented substantially a similar condition; Slovenia was somewhat more liberally governed; Bosnia and Herzegovina had had a semblance of constitutional government since 1910; Macedonia was not emancipated from Turkish rule till 1912.

"Besides bringing with them a heritage of illiteracy and inexperience in self-government, the masses of Yugoslavia on the day of unification were utterly without preparation for cooperation on a national scale. Unlike the American Revolutionists of 1776, they were not welded into a common patriotism by a common war for independence; on the contrary they had been divided against one another in the World War." Religion, too, helped to cause cleavages. One part of the people (47 per cent) was Eastern Orthodox, another (39 per cent) Roman Catholic, and a third part (11 per cent), though Slavic in blood, was Moslem.

Naturally distrustful of democracy as worked out in America, the people decided upon "a constitutional, parliamentary, and hereditary monarchy." Since January 6 the King has been a dictator.

The various features of the government are treated in this book under the following heads: economic realities, the political heritage, formation of the Constitution, the Crown, Parliament, political parties, the cabinet system, national administration, the budget system, national economic problems, public opinion, the courts and the law, local government, and foreign policy and national defence.

The authors invariably handled these matters with intelligence, tact, and excellent taste. Critical suggestions of a constructive sort are to be found here and there. One gets here a vivid impression of the large number of tremendous problems that beset the ruler and the ministers of this young kingdom.

The hope of the country lies in education. On the day of the union, on an average seventy per cent of the population were illiterate. Such a people as a whole is scarcely ready for self-government. Yet the situation is not discouraging: "at the present rate of progress, the battle against illiteracy will be practically won before the lapse of twenty-five years."

WOMEN EDUCATORS MEET

The annual meeting of the Association to Aid Scientific Research by Women was held at Barnard College April 26 and 27. Miss R. Louise Fitch, dean of women, represented Cornell. Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard College, was elected president for the coming year.

This society was established in the interest of developing and encouraging scientific research by women of all countries. Its financial support in America is undertaken by some twenty colleges, most of which contribute officially as institutions. Cornell's support is given by the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and by Sigma Delta Epsilon.

The Biological Station at Naples is a specific interest for the Association, and much of the research done there is under its supervision. A prize of $2,000 is given every year or so under the following terms. "Any woman of any nation may be nominated as a candidate who has to her credit in any science research of recognized value in experiment or observation with instruments of percision, with the provision that the limit to specific sciences may be given in any year by vote of the Association."

HOTEL MANAGEMENT APPROVED

THE more or less tentative expression of the United Hotels' management of its willingness to build a fine hotel on the hill will be received with gratification by alumni who return to Ithaca between reunions.

Whether this proposed hotel is actually built in the near future or whether eventually the plan will be found not sufficiently practical like other previous similar projects, the mere willingness to put valuable time and energy into a consideration of the project is a high compliment.

It means that the hotel men's association is sold on Ithaca, the Finger Lakes Region, Cornell University in general, and the Department of Hotel Management in particular. There is no question whatever that a hotel, located conveniently for golf, for sports on Cayuga Lake, and for visiting the University, will be very attractive to visitors of this region. There is little doubt that a hotel, built with the object in view of catering to these interests, will bring tourists, alumni, and probably permanent residents to the city in a way that no urban hotel could hope. We admit incompetence to pass on the financial possibilities of the venture.

On the other hand, and quite regardless of the outcome of the building project, Cornellians generally will appreciate the obvious approval of the region and the University and will take pride in the recognition extended to the department in this manner by those hard-boiled business men whose interest, approval and gifts have made this undertaking and this "willingness to build" a possibility.

COLGATE HONORS TRUSTEE

Colgate on April 12 awarded the degree of LL.D. to Myron C. Taylor '94. The citation, which follows, was composed by Dean William H. Crawshaw:

Myron Charles Taylor: Received from Cornell University in 1894 the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He is president and director of Myron Taylor & Co., Inc. He is a director of the First National Bank of New York, of the First Security Co., of the New York Central R. R. Co., of the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Ry. Co., and of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Corporation; chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation; a trustee and member of the finance committee of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York. He is a member of the St. Nicholas Society, of the Society of Colonial Wars, of the Sons of the Revolution, and of the Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor. He is a trustee of Cornell University. In him the powers of a vigorous mind and keen intelligence have been developed to a high degree of efficiency by legal training and practice and by a wide and varied business experience. By virtue of these disciplined powers he has won success and distinction as a lawyer. To this has been added a career of remarkable achievement in the field of business. Nothing in his record is more striking than the range of his interests and activities unless it be the important character of the business enterprises with which he has been associated. It is noteworthy that he himself has been even broader than his business or his profession—a man interested in many things, from golf to social betterment, from yachting to education. These varied contacts with life reveal him as a man of strong and broad mind, of sound and generous character, of large human sympathy.

DRAMATIC CLUB ACTIVITIES

The Dramatic Club, on the invitation of the Players Club of Auburn, gave a private performance of its production of "Doctor Knock" or "The Triumph of Medicine" a comedy in three acts by Jules Romains, on May 4.

Forty members and workers in the Club made the trip. "Doctor Knock" requires a cast of fifteen people and a large production force. The club took its own scenery to Auburn for the performance.

Members of the cast and production force were entertained by Lithgow Osborn, president of the Auburn Players Club, at supper at his home after the performance.

The club will contribute to the Spring Day entertainment the 1929 Revue, an evening of song, dance, and fun. Two performances will be given on the holiday week-end, one on Thursday evening, May 16, and the second on Saturday evening, May 18, after the crew races.

Growing out of the informal frolic at the annual banquet, the club's first revue blossomed last Spring Day with much success. Retaining the atmosphere of informality, the Revue proved perhaps the club's biggest drawing card last year.

This season's edition will be bigger and better than ever, with original music, original lyrics, four distinct dancing choruses, vocal and dancing solos, skits and burlesques.

THE FLYING CLUB has elected the following officers: Lewis J. Wolcott '30, Corning, president; William H. Anderson, Jr., '30, New York, vice-president; Miss Phyllis Fleet '32, East Aurora, secretary; Richard B. Essex '31, Washington, D. C., corresponding secretary; and John P. Mange '31, Plandome, treasurer.

The Week on the Campus

HOTEL is the magic word for last week. The fourth annual Hotel Ezra Cornell was established in Willard Straight Hall on Friday. It flourished mightily for a day, and by Saturday morning had vanished, leaving not a wrack behind. Or at least, only a little wrack in the corners. The dinner, student-planned, student-cooked, and student-served, was up to the highest standard of the professional Cooks' and Waiters' Union. Arthur C. Hunt '29, managing director of the hotel, was the toastmaster. Frank H. McKowne, president of the Statlers, Inc., Frank A. Dudley, president of the United Hotels Company, and Professor Howard B. Meek, director of the department, were the speakers. Mr. McKowne, who had spent the morning visiting classes, said "It was a day of instruction for me. I picked up some knowledge I expect to cash in on." After dinner the guests attended the Dramatic Club show, and then danced in Willard Straight Hall.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made of a bequest to the college contained in the will of the late Ellsworth M. Statler. The gift consists of $12,000, to be used for the maintenance, instruction, and upkeep of courses. Mr. Statler was one of the men most interested in the establishment of the hotel course; by his bequest he indicated his belief in the success of the project.

THE OTHER ANNOUNCEMENT is big with possibilities. Mr. Dudley stated that the United Hotels Company is prepared to build a fine hotel somewhere on our hill, at a cost of from $600,000 to $800,000. General J. Leslie Kincaid, president of the American Hotels Corporation, is likewise president of the new Cornell Inn Corporation. He announces that the purpose of the proposed hotel is to establish a center for the tourist business of the Finger Lakes region, and, secondarily, to provide a practical laboratory for the students in the Hotel Management course. It is reported that J. Lakin Baldrige '15 has been retained as architect, Jes J. Dall, Jr., '16 as builder, and Sherman Peer '06 as attorney. Ithaca is pleasantly agog at the prospect. Those pangs of jealousy we have felt on visiting such college-town hotels as the Lord Jeffery Amherst now bid fair to be allayed.

THE WEEK-END, with its various sensations, was chosen by at least nine fraternities for two-day house parties. A wonderful time was had, both by those who attended these revels and by those who stayed at home and got some sleep.

MORE GOOD NEWS: friends and members of the family of the late Jennie McGraw Fiske have given the University a fund to pay for the new playing stand and the two new bells recently added to the chimes. The herbarium, one of the largest individual collections in the world, numbering more than 40,000 specimens, collected by the late Dr. Charles Atwood '78 of Moravia, has been received by the university under the terms of Dr. Atwood's will. But you will certainly find details of these gifts on another page.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB put on three one-acters on Friday and Saturday. The critical wiseacres were astonished to find that an undergraduate's comedy, "Yeah, Variety," by George Fass '29, was one of the most deft and entertaining of the club's repertoire. It was excellently acted by Wilhelmina Barton '31, Robert L. Pollock '31, and Adolph W. Haber '30. On Saturday the club's successful production of Romain's "Doctor Knock" was played in Auburn under the auspices of the Players' Club of that city.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA gave its annual Spring concert in Bailey Hall on Tuesday to a more-than-capacity audience. Thanks to the Gerald Hinckley Endowment Fund, the concert was free to the public. The excellence of the performance was the best of tributes to the work of its director, George L. Coleman '95, who has completed twenty-five years in his post. The soloist was Claire Alcée (Mrs. Andrew S. White), who is well known to Cornellians both as a singer of operatic calibre and as a member of the family of our co-founder.

THE ENGINEERING COLLEGES were at home on Monday night. The guests of the college were addressed by Dean Dexter S. Kimball, and were then conducted through the various departments by members of the Faculty. The laboratories and shops were in operation, and students at work. It was an exciting demonstration of the process of education, especially valuable to those university provincials who seldom venture forth from the walls of their own building.

THE CIVIL ENGINEERS held their annual banquet on Wednesday. The principal speaker was Charles M. Chuckrow '11, who discussed "The Economics of Engineering."

ANNUAL SOPHOMORE HORSE SHOW last Friday.

NICHOLAS D. TISCIONE '29 is the billiard champion of the University, and David Gerstein '29 wears the pool crown.

YOU REMEMBER the medical excuses that you used to get by going to the Medical Office and telling the doctor that your eyes hurt? The Medical office would then give you three little pieces of onion-skin paper inscribed in triplicate. You would then show them to your instructor who, being unable to read the name and date, would pretend to make a mark in his class book. Well, they have been abolished. The Medical Department decided that you might as well tell your instructor that your eyes hurt, and save a lot of time and trouble.

THE ANNUAL COTILLION given by the sophomore women to the freshmen was held last Thursday, with a large attendance.

WELL, LET'S GET it over. Professor C. G. Osgood, chairman of the Department of English in Princeton University, spoke on "Samuel Johnson, the Last of the Humanists." Dr. Otto Kinkeldey, chief of the Music Division of the New York Public Library and formerly Professor of Music here, lectured on "Schubert." George Oettle, director of the Union of South Africa tourist bureau, spoke on "Social and Economic Conditions in South Africa." Dr. J. J. Duyvendak of the University of Leyden gave a talk on "The Intellectual Renaissance in China." Professor A. E. Murphy of the Department of Philosophy dealt with "The Basis of Modern Conservatism" before the Liberal Club. Professor R. Arratia of Chile spoke on "Latin America and Modern Thought" at an open meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club.

ITHACA rejoices in a grand new office building on Seneca Street between Tioga and Cayuga. It is seven stories high, a record for Tompkins County. Jes J. Dall '16 is the builder and J. Lakin Baldrige '15 the architect.

THE OWEGO HIGHWAY is to be concreted between Danby and Ithaca. That is the stretch of road that has been used recently by the Department of Geology as an illustration of the moraines and other formations made by the Great Glacier. Better go round Candor and Spencer way.

NOT A GIFT, BUT AN INVESTMENT

THE Cornell Alumni News Publishing Corporation, incorporated December 31, 1926, successfully operates the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS and the Cayuga Press. The latter is a printing establishment that does a general printing business now aggregating $120,000 a year. This includes many scholarly books for nationally recognized publishing houses. An excellent specimen of its technique is the volume of "Sport Stuff" recently purchased by many alumni.

THE ALUMNI NEWS WAS ESTABLISHED thirty years ago, the Cayuga Press sixteen years ago. The business has a real opportunity for profitable service.

THE CORPORATION OWNS fine equipment. It has just acquired title to its building which is appraised at $80,000. The corporation has paid its preferred stock dividends promptly each quarter from earnings.

THERE ARE SOME 150 ALUMNI STOCKHOLDERS, including distinguished and successful men and women from all classes from 1875 to 1927, and non-Cornellian friends of Cornell.

THERE REMAINS ABOUT $15,000 of the original issue of $125,000. We should like as many interested alumni as possible to become stockholders in this corporation. The improvement of the ALUMNI NEWS alone would be worth the purchase of a few shares of this stock to many of its readers.

THE FACTS CONCERNING THIS STOCK are as follows: Authorized, 1250 shares of 7% Cumulative, Voting, Preferred Stock, Par $100. For sale at Par. Redeemable in whole or in part at the option of the company, on thirty days' written notice, on any dividend date, at $105 and accrued dividends. Each share of preferred stock carries with it a bonus of one share of No-Par, Voting, Common Stock, being one of an issue of 6500 such shares. Dividends are payable Jan. 1, Apr. 1, July 1, and Oct. 1.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR STOCK BY ALUMNI may be made with 10% cash payment, balance on any reasonable schedule, partial payments bearing interest at 7%. Address inquiries to the president of the corporation.

Are Your Books Identified?

All of us loan books. It is easily possible after finishing a book to put it on our own shelves before it is convenient to return it. It is embarrassing but it happens. Have bookplates with your name printed on them. What could be better for a Cornellian than the bookplates showing campus scenes?

Garden Books

My wife says that I make a garden with a book in one hand. There are worse ways. The only trouble is that the book does not show where the bug is which is waiting for my seed. Ask for our agriculture booklist.

The Old Model Remington Portable Typewriter $45⁰⁰

Not all Remington agencies have these old models. We had a few because the new model arrived nearly a year ahead of time. In a couple of months our stock will be gone. Are you interested?

What Service Should We Render to the Alumni?

We are mailing many items now and these, in many cases, were suggested to us. The latest item is bookplates. Some time in the future our Board of Directors may develop a better plan of cooperation with the Alumni. What would you suggest?
