UNIVERSITY TO ADMINISTER ALL ATHLETICS

Trustees Approve Report Coordinating Sports and Physical Education Under One Director

The Board of Trustees on Saturday, in accepting the report of the alumni-Faculty-Trustee committee, assumed for the first time the complete administration of intercollegiate athletics, and authorized the appointment of a Director of Athletics and Physical Education, with a seat on the University Faculty, to administer intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, and physical education for both men and women.

An Athletic Policy Board of five members will be appointed, consisting of one University Trustee, one member of the Faculty, one alumnus, and the Comptroller and Director of Athletics and Physical Education, ex-officio. A general advisory committee on intercollegiate athletics will comprise three Trustees and the entire membership of six advisory committees, one each for football, baseball, track, crew, basketball, and one for all other intercollegiate sports combined. Each of these committees will include Faculty, alumni, and undergraduates.

Varsity Athletics Self-Supporting

The Trustees agreed that intercollegiate athletics should be self-supporting. A recreation fee of four dollars a term for all undergraduate students will be applied toward the support of intramural and other minor athletics and the office of the Director. This supersedes the physical recreation fee of $2 a term paid by men students, and the Women's Self-Government Association assessment.

Since 1889, intercollegiate athletics have been administered by the Cornell University Athletic Association, a membership corporation, with the Faculty determining eligibility and approving schedules. The Athletic Association will be retained in name as an agency of the University. The present responsibility and authority of the Faculty is unchanged.

Intramural sports for both men and women have been under the control of the Department of Physical Education. With the opening of the University last fall, control of all athletics was vested by the Trustees in a committee consisting of Professor Herman Diederichs '97, chairman, Professor Donald English, and Comptroller Charles D. Bostwick '92. Until the appointment of a Director of Athletics and Physical Education and of the Board of Athletic Policy, this committee on Athletic Control will continue.

The committee whose report to the Trustees is the basis of the new organization was appointed by the Chairman of the Board and by the President, as authorized by the Board, and announced in the ALUMNI NEWS of January 24. Its first duty was to consider the immediate financial needs of the Athletic Association to take care of the spring sports program. Upon its recommendation, the Board of Trustees on February 2 made available up to $28,000, as needed to carry out the program of spring sports.

Committee Hears All Sides

At its several meetings, the committee heard the specific ideas and suggestions for improvement of the athletic situation of invited alumni, members of the Faculty, undergraduates, and officers of the Athletic Association. Among those it called upon were representatives of about twenty-five Cornell clubs, about a dozen captains of recent teams in four major sports, a committee from the Faculty, one from the Student Council, one from the undergraduate members of the Athletic Council, the editor of the Sun, and from the senior societies and other organizations of both men and women undergraduates. It considered the results of the student poll on a compulsory assessment to support athletics, as reported in the ALUMNI NEWS of March 14, and reports on athletics administration elsewhere and here, submitted to it by the Committee on Athletic Control.

The Athletic Association before 1931 had operated at substantial profit, and invested its surplus in athletic fields and equipment, the title to most of which is vested in the University. These improvements represent a gross investment of approximately $400,000, subject to a debt to the University of $115,000 and a small mortgage on real estate. The Association has sustained a deficit in each of the past three years, as receipts from games and undergraduate support have diminished. Receipts from football, always the financial mainstay, with only basketball at times self-supporting, dropped from $209,000 in 1930 to $91,000 in 1934. The coordination of intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, and physical education brings the administration of the entire athletic and recreation program into the control of the University.

President Farrand was chairman of the committee. Its other members were Charles H. Blair '98, Robert E. Treman '09 and Colonel John B. Tuck '93, representing the Trustees; Professor Hugh C. Troy '95 and Dean George Young, Jr. '00, representing the Faculty; and William J. Thorne '11, C. Reeve Vanneman '03, Andrew J. Whinery '10, and Dr. Floyd S. Winslow '06, representing the alumni; with Provost Albert R. Mann '04, ex-officio. Their recommendations, as approved by the Board of Trustees, follow.

Adopt Platform

That the University should assume the responsibility for, and administration of, all athletics, as well as physical recreation and education at Cornell.

That Cornell University create an organization to control the administration of intercollegiate athletics, and to administer intramural athletics, physical education, and certain other recreational activities.

That a Director of Athletics and Physical Education be appointed by the Board of Trustees upon the nomination of the President, with a seat on the University Faculty but without the usual tenure of office.

That a Board of Athletic Policy be composed of five members, one to be a Trustee appointed by the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, one to be a member of the Faculty appointed by the President, and one to be an alumnus, to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Alumni Trustees of the University; each member to be appointed for a term of one year; the Comptroller of the University, and the Director of Athletics to be ex-officio members of this Board.

That there be appointed an advisory committee for each of the following sports: football, baseball, track, crew, and basketball, and a like committee for all other sports combined. On each such advisory committee the Faculty, the alumni, and the undergraduates shall be represented. The entire membership of all of these advisory committees, together with three Trustees of the University to be appointed by the Chairman of the Board, shall constitute a general advisory committee on Cornell athletics.

That intercollegiate athletics should be self-supporting; and that no general tax be imposed upon the students for the support of intercollegiate athletics but that the recreation fee be made $4 a term for all undergraduate students of the University, this fee to supersede the existing physical recreation fee and the Women's Self-Government Association assessment. The proceeds from these fees are to be applied toward the support of intramural and other minor athletics and the office of the Director of Athletics.

That the reorganization of the management and operation of athletics be undertaken immediately upon the appointment of a Director of Athletics, and that all contracts and engagements be adjusted as speedily as possible.

LEHIGH TRAINS CHANGE

Effective with the advent of daylight saving time in New York City, April 28, Lehigh Valley trains serving Ithaca changed time and the through trains carry air-conditioned equipment. Beginning on that date also, all through trains except the night train from Ithaca to New York City will use the new Pennsylvania Station in Newark, N. J., the former station being discontinued except for this and local trains.

The Star will leave Pennsylvania Station, New York City, at 10:45 nightly, forty-five minutes earlier than before; Newark at 11:02, and Philadelphia at 10:45, arriving at Ithaca at 5:50 a. m.; at Rochester, 7:50 a. m.; and at Buffalo 8:45 a. m.

From Ithaca the night train will leave at 10:41 p. m., instead of 11:52 arriving at New York City 7:15 a. m. and Philadelphia 6:42 a. m., one hour earlier than at present. The Black Diamond, eastbound, will leave Ithaca at 12:47 p. m.; and westbound, for Buffalo and Chicago, at 6:27 p. m.

As in the past, Ithaca did not turn its clocks ahead on April 28, but will retain standard time through the summer months, as do most of its neighboring upstate cities.

TO HONOR MOAKLEY

The Raritan Valley Cornell Club, recently organized, will celebrate with a dinner in New Brunswick, N. J. on May 10 in honor of Coach John F. Moakley. It will be held at the Woodrow Wilson Hotel at seven o'clock, will be informal, and all Cornell men are invited. Dr. Donald J. McGinn '28 is chairman of the committee on arrangements. John E. Toolan '16 will be toastmaster and speaking with Coach Moakley will be John T. (Terry) McGovern '00. The president of the club is W. H. Fries '10, the secretary, Edwin A. Gauntt '23.

The Cornell track team will be competing with Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale in the so-called heptagonal meet at Princeton the following day.

HEERMANS PLAYS PLEASE

The audiences in the University Theatre Friday and Saturday evenings agreed with the Heermans Prize judges as to the difficulty of choosing between the two winning plays. Presented by the Dramatic Club, "I Would Found an Institution," by Violet J. Brown '35 of Brooklyn, and "Subway Face," by Seymour Gross '35 of Belle Harbor, both pleased and effectively carried home their messages.

Miss Brown's showed surprising knowledge of the minds and lingo of undergraduate men, and effectively presented the need which undoubtedly exists at Cornell for a dean of men. Realistically, indeed, it portrayed the mental difficulties which confront many a sensitive freshman. The cast was entirely male and the scene a student's room. All the parts were exceedingly well taken. Direction was by Merrill N. Knapp '35 of Farmingdale, son of Halsey B. Knapp '12.

"Subway Face" brought home its message of the wooden vacuity of Metropolitan subway riders, and the protective need for it, with almost no speaking, but by the attitudes and makeup of most the cast. A double stage setting showed impressionistically a subway train and above it an incident in the uninspiring daily life of two of its working patrons, well played by Leuraine T. Magee '36 of York, Pa. and Charles E. Gildersleeve '36 of Coldspring Harbor, with Melville Shavelson '37 of Spring Valley as the former lover who is bewildered by it all. This play was coached by its versatile author, who also coached and was the secretary's voice in "Superman," by Homer E. Baker '36 of Saranac Lake. This portrayed the fate of a dictator of the United States in 1950. Miss Brown coached "He Chose to Dream," by Leonard I. Feinstein '36 of New York City, the fourth play presented last week.

The Dramatic Club on April 20 successfully presented in the University Theatre four other one-act plays. They were written and directed by students in the Department of Public Speaking courses in play writing and play production.

"Letters of a President" by Ruth Waugh, Grad. '34, is an historical play. "Together Alone" by Charles J. Brunelle '36 of New York City, is a romantic comedy. "Preface" by Douglas Watt '34 is high comedy; and "News-Stand" by Monroe Hellinger '34 depicts dramatically a day in the life of a Metropolitan news vendor.

On May 4, Cornell Day for women, and May 11, Cornell Day for men, the Laboratory Theatre gives its annual spring revue, presenting this year Ibsen's "Rosmersholm" in the University Theatre.

TO HAVE ARBORETUM

A University arboretum of five hundred acres, in which eventually may grow all the woody shrubs and trees hardy in this area, is forecast in the approval received from Washington last week of the project being initiated with Civilian Conservation Corps labor. For twenty years members of the Faculty and University administration have recognized the value of such a living laboratory here, and sufficient land east of the Campus is already owned to accommodate it.

Present plans call for plantings in the form of a giant horseshoe extending down the valleys of Cascadilla and Fall creeks to the edge of the Campus, the two arms being joined by a semicircular band of trees extending across the intervening divide near the base of Turkey Hill. In addition to its scientific value, the area will be made accessible to the public by the construction of trails, bridle paths, roads, and bridges.

By June it is expected that a new CCC camp of two hundred workers will be established somewhere east of the Campus, the definite site not yet determined. Its occupants will be entirely employed in work in the new arboretum, which of course will take several years to complete.

Plans for the enterprise are in charge of a University arboretum committee, of which Conant Van Blarcom '08, superintendent of buildings and grounds, is chairman. Its other members are Professors Carl Crandall '12, Engineering; Eugene D. Montillon '07, Landscape Architecture; Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Regional Planning; and Ralph W. Curtis '00, Ornamental Horticulture.

DIEDERICHS HONORED At Junior Smoker

Seven hundred undergraduates crowded Sibley Dome for the annual Junior Smoker on April 18, to honor Professor Herman Diederichs '97, to whom it was dedicated, and the 179 Varsity athletes in twelve sports who received their letters.

his twenty-five years' service as president of the Athletic Association and his work as chairman of the Trustees' committee on athletic control. Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, "the tune detective," was greatly enjoyed; and "Fritz" Crisler, coach at Princeton, spoke on football as part of an education. He praised Coach Dobie for his sportsmanship under adverse conditions, advised Cornellians not to be discouraged by temporary lack of success on the gridiron, and predicted future victories under Dobie's leadership. McGovern stated his belief that "Cornell now occupies a position of greater respect and friendship among other colleges than ever before."

Professor Walter L. Conwell '09, president of the Athletic Association, presented to Walter S. Merwin '35, captain of the track team, a statuette emblematic of the second place won by the team in the indoor ICAAAA championship games last month, and two plaques for winning teams in last year's Pennsylvania Relay Carnival. Twelve members of last fall's championship soccer team were given medals.

Professor Conwell presented varsity football C's to twenty-six members of last fall's squad: Thomas C. Borland '35, Burton C. Buell '36, William Henry Borger '36, Everett C. Bragg '36, John M. Batten '37, William Condon Jr. '35, Albert J. Frederick '35, William E. Gilman '36, Edward M. Hutchinson '36, Frank J. Irving '35, Fred L. Meiss, Jr. '35, Frank K. Murdock '35, Phillip M. Nelson '35, Harold F. Nunn '36, Andrew W. Peirce '36, Egbert W. Pfeiffer '37, Frank J. Politi '36, John L. Puterbaugh '35, George C. Rankin '35, William G. Rossiter '37, John W. Scott '37, Gordon F. Stofer '36, Earl W. Stiles '37, Harrison S. Wilson '36, Ronald D. Wilson '36, Walter D. Switzer '35.

The other team of this academic year to receive C's was the championship soccer team, whose names we printed April 18. Professor Conwell also presented letters to thirty-eight members of last year's track team, to thirty-four in baseball, twelve in crew, ten in cross country, nine in basketball, ten in wrestling, fourteen in hockey, eight each in fencing and tennis, and twelve in lacrosse.

Harold D. North, Jr., son of Harold D. North '07 of Cleveland, O. headed the committee.

Gentleman from Sibley

"The Concord Traveller" in his column, "Beer and Skittles," which first appeared in the Sun of April 24, thus aptly characterizes the "Gentleman from Sibley":

"When the seven hundred undergraduates who attended the Junior Smoker last evening rose to their feet to pay their respects to Professor Herman Diederichs, they probably did not know they were honoring a man born in a place called Muenchen-Gladbach. We did not know it either until we looked Mr. Diederichs up in Hewitt's 'Cornell.' We have an uncle who was born in Milwaukee and is popularly known as 'Willie,' but we never before had heard of anyone being born in Muenchen-Gladbach.

"Mr. Diederichs graduated from Cornell in 1897. He was a shot-putter and a discus-thrower during his undergraduate days, as his neck will indicate, but he was also an excellent student as his neck will not. He has been at Cornell ever since; he now is Director of the Sibley School of Mechanical Engineering, the John E. Sweet Professor in Engineering, and Professor of Experimental Engineering, which means Mech. Lab.

"Forty-three years on the north side of the Quadrangle have made Mr. Diederichs familiar enough there; his years as general factotum of the Athletic Association have made him a familiar figure to the entire University, and to what Mr. Boochever et. al. are fond of referring to as the 'Greater Cornell'—the alumni. Right now he holds the second-hottest job in Cornell athletics: he is acting as a kind of errand boy between Faculty, Trustees, A.A., alumni, and the student body. Professor Conwell holds the hottest job: he has had to sit in committee with Mr. Diederichs and Mr. English. For as someone who ought to know once said, Mr. Diederichs is the most even-tempered man in the world; he has never been known to be anything but mad.

"A very capable man has been at Cornell for forty-three years. We can not think these years have been wasted; they have certainly not been unappreciated. Sometime we would like to deserve and receive the respect, honor, and affection that was evinced last Thursday evening by seven hundred Cornell undergraduates to the bull-necked, misanthropic gentleman of Sibley."

OBITUARY

MRS. FREDERICK C. BIGGS, since 1929 head resident of Balch Hall, Unit III, and for the year previous, chaperone of Delta Gamma, died in Ithaca on April 4 from a cerebral hemorrhage. Born in Leavenworth, Kan., in 1872, Mrs. Biggs was educated at Georgetown Convent in Washington, D. C., and studied music in New York City, where she sang in St. Batholomew's choir. Her husband was a cousin of Dr. Hermann M. Biggs '82. Until his death in 1925, they lived in Trumansburg. Mrs. Biggs's daughter, Rebe L. Biggs '26, of Tarrytown, and a son Frederick I. Biggs, survive her.

WILLIAM LUCAS DICKERSON '92 died at the age of 66 on April 11 at his home in Syracuse. He entered the Optional Course in 1888 from Walden, and remained one year. Until 1920 he practiced law in Middletown. For fifteen years he had been grand lecturer of the Grand Chapter of New York, Royal Arch Masons. He leaves his widow and one daughter, Louise, who teaches at Springville.

WILLIS COLLINS '95 died in Milwaukee, Wis. on April 7. He entered the University from Milwaukee in 1891 as George Williston Collins, receiving the ME degree in 1895, and returning to that city, where he was associated with the Allis-Chalmers Company for most of his professional life. He was a member of Theta Delta Chi, Quill and Dagger, Aleph Samach, and Sigma Xi, and as a Sophomore won the first Sibley prize. He stroked his Freshman crew and became vice-commander as a Junior. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Sumner and Charles Collins.

CHARLES DECKER CARVER '18 died in New York City, March 20, at the age of 39, following an acute attack of appendicitis. He entered Sibley College in 1914 from Manual Training High School, Brooklyn; remained one year, then returned in 1916-17, but left because of poor eyesight. The bass voice of Popeye the Sailor in the animated cartoons was his. As an undergraduate he was a member of the Glee Club and of Sage Choir. After leaving, he became a protege of Sembrich, studied with Frank LaForge, and sang on the concert programs of Schumann-Heink. He sang bass in St. Thomas Choir in New York City.

HORSE SHOW GETS PRAISE

A large and enthusiastic crowd filled the regular stands and most of the temporary seats erected in the new Riding Hall for the first ROTC indoor horse show on April 20. The showings in the ten classes and the spirit and dispatch with which the show was run off rivalled the metropolitan horse shows and promise to make the event an annual one along with the outdoor show to be held May 25 under the auspices of the Association of American Horse Shows.

Major C. S. Ferrin of the Military Department was secretary and guiding genius of the show. Robert E. Treman '09 and Mrs. Henry J. Kimball of Watertown judged all classes except the jumping, which was judged by Captain Stephen E. Bullock, and Lieutenants G. M. Williamson, Jr., John R. Pitman, and J. L. Chamberlain, Jr. With few exceptions, all the entries were owned locally or by the Government for the ROTC unit.

The pair class for saddle horses was perhaps the most spectacular, as the beautifully matched entries executed with smartness and élan their walks, trots, and canters in difficult turns and figures. Competition was extremely close, but the blue ribbon eventually went to Ike and Etta May, ridden by A. Nathalie Colvocoresses '38 of Phoenix, Ariz. and Major Ferrin; second to a mouse-colored pair, Daisy and Doris, ridden by Mary E. Knowlson '38 of Hinsdale and Captain Bullock; third to The Witch, ridden by Anne M. Simpson '36 of Lyons and Tony C, shown and ridden by Howard E. Babcock, Jr. '36 of Ithaca; and fourth to Fantasy and Dick Waring, ridden by Lieutenant and Mrs. Williamson.

Between the scheduled classes members of the ROTC entertained with trick and Roman riding, and D. M. Hendrick of Waverley drove his imported Scotch hackney gelding, Fieldview Monarch, who upset his cart in a figure eight and ran away. The cart righted itself, however, before damage was done, and the pony stopped at a "Whoa" from his driver, and both continued their exhibition unflustered and unhurt. Four gymkhana events added greatly to the enjoyment of the spectators. The summaries:

Class 1. Costume ride: won by Walter J. Williams '36 as a cowboy, on Strawberry; second, Maj. C. S. Ferrin, jockey, on Ike; third, John H. Sumner '35, Indian; tied for fourth, David Erlich '35, country vet, and Hendrik Versluis '35, circuit rider.

Class 2. Polo bending race: won by Prince, Thomas Lawrence '38; second, Watch, owned by Charles Wickwire, Cortland, shown by Miss Colvocoresses; third, Major, Major Ferrin.

Class 3. Cigarette and umbrella race: won by Arthur B. Christian '38, Dandy; second, Thomas Lawrence; third, Robert Reis, on Baboon.

Class 4. Ladies' saddle hacks: won by Biscuit, Charles Wickwire, shown by Virginia E. Yoder '35; second, Rudy, owned by Major Ferrin, shown by Elizabeth Andrews; third, tied between The Witch, Miss Simpson, and Peggy, owned by William D. McMillan '24, shown by Dorothy R. Freestone '30 of Interlaken; fourth, tied among Bourbon Red, owned by Eric J. Miller, shown by Miss Knowlson, Fantasy, Mrs. Williamson, and Etta May, Miss Colvocoresses.

Class 5. Egg and spoon race: won by John C. Lawrence '36, on Stumpy; second, Sumner.

Class 6. Gentlemen's saddle hacks: won by Dick Waring, Lieut. Williamson; second, Bourbon Red, owned by Eric J. Miller, shown by Bob Raegan of Waverly; third, tied between Tony C., Babcock, and Ruby, Major Ferrin; fourth, Ralph, Capt. Bullock.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PRESIDENT FARRAND has been re-elected a director of the Milbank Memorial Fund for the current year. He has been active in the public health work of the Fund for many years.

PROFESSORS WALTER F. WILLCOX, Economics, Emeritus, and Harry P. Weld, Psychology, have received current grants-in-aid from the Social Science Research Council; Professor Willcox for a study of the demography (vital statistics) of the United States, and Professor Weld to study social psychological sanctions of the criminal law in England.

DR. ARTHUR A. ALLEN '08, Ornithology, and the expedition he heads in the Southwest are the subjects of Lemuel F. Parton's column, "Who's News Today," in the New York Sun of April 16.

PROFESSOR PAUL J. KRUSE, Rural Education, told the Advertising Club of Ithaca April 25 that the major problem in the economic world is distribution, and something about how to get it.

PROFESSOR PAUL M. O'LEARY, Economics, described the pending public utilities holding companies bill before the current events class in Willard Straight Hall on April 23 as not actually a part of the legitimate recovery program, but of a long-time financial reform. He said it should be passed, but with considerable modification.

H. EDWARD BABCOCK, University Trustee and president of the GLF Holding Corporation, predicted before the Ithaca Exchange Club, April 23, that farmers of the Northeast would shortly align themselves in strong opposition to the attitude of those of the West and South, who are relying more and more on Government aid. He criticized the Government's agricultural program, but excepted that of the Farm Credit Administration under Professor William I. Myers '14, now on leave from the Department of Agricultural Economics, who, he said, "has rendered the greatest single service ever given farmers by an individual."

DR. LAWRENCE M. VAUGHN, formerly extension assistant professor of Farm Management, and Mrs. Vaughan are the parents of a son, James Madison Vaughn, born April 23 in Washington, D. C., where Dr. Vaughn is a member of the extension staff of the United States Department of Agriculture.

ENGINEERS' SOCIETY MEETS

At the spring meeting of the Cornell Society of Engineers, held at the Cornell Club of New York on April 18, Professor S. C. Hollister, Director of the School of Civil Engineering, described "The New Engineering Programs at Cornell." Hon. George Z. Medalie, chairman of the Mayor's committee investigating relief, spoke on "Interesting Aspects of Unemployment Relief."

WESTERN WOMEN ELECT

The Cornell University Women's Club of Northern California held its annual meeting at a luncheon, April 13, at the Women's Faculty Club in Berkeley, with Dr. Sarah T. Barrows, ML '93, and Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, PhD '28, as hostesses. Mrs. Wilson D. Clark (Frances Bell) '10 was elected president; Mrs. Mary E. V. Ferguson '07, first vice-president; Mrs. Edwin W. Kramer (Olive R. Edwards) '05, 861 Contra Costa Avenue, Berkeley, recording secretary and treasurer; and Joyce B. Porter '30, corresponding secretary.

The Club meets the second Saturday of each month, and has about fifty members.

SENIORS SUBSCRIBING

Some of the many recent subscribers' letters commending the new ALUMNI News have stimulated subscriptions to the paper by this year's Senior Class. A committee of eight undergraduates, under the direction of James A. Mullane '35 of Lawrence, Mass., began on Sunday a campaign which before Commencement will include every person who will graduate from the University next June. They will call on Seniors in the dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses, show them the paper, and tell them what it means to Cornellians after they leave.

Besides Mullane, the other undergraduate ALUMNI News representatives are J. Frank Birdsall '35 of Holcomb, Helen Buttrick '35 of Binghamton, Leola Gottsammer '35 of Ridgewood, Frank J. Irving '35 of Los Angeles, Cal., Bruce MacLeod '35 of Milwaukee, Wis., Raymond Williams '35 of Ithaca, and John Wurst '36 of Buffalo.

START POUND MEMORIAL Seek Fund for Scholarships

This week alumni of the Law School and other friends and associates of the late Judge Cuthbert W. Pound '87 are being invited to share in a Pound Memorial Fund to be established in the Law School. It is planned to hang a portrait of Judge Pound in Myron Taylor Hall and to use the Fund, which it is hoped will exceed $50,000, as an endowment for fellowships or scholarships in the Law School.

For years, Judge Pound personally gave annual Law scholarships. For more than fifty years, as undergraduate, professor, and Trustee, he was actively interested in the University. The committee's letter points out that "because of his connection with the Law School and his deep interest in all its affairs, no finer or more appropriate memorial to him could be established than that which is proposed." It invites all those by whom his memory is held in deep admiration and affection to have a part in the Fund.

The Cornell Law Association has initiated the movement and the fund is being raised through The Cornellian Council. Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75 is chairman of the Pound Memorial Fund committee. Its other members are:

Francis O. Affeld, Jr. '97, John H. Agate '03, Col. Joseph W. Beacham, Jr. '97, Neal Dow Becker '05, Earl Bennett '01, Hon. William F. Bleakley '04, Hon. Walter L. Bliss, John J. Bryant, Jr. '98, Dean Charles K. Burdick, Frederick D. Colson '97, Hon. Alfred C. Cox '05, Hon. Harley N. Crosby '96, Hon. Leonard C. Crouch '89, Hon. Rowland L. Davis '97, Arthur H. Dean '19, Mary Donlon '20, Godfrey Goldmark '02, George R. Grant '04, Edward Harris '00, James P. Harrold '93, James F. Hubbell '98, Hon. Irving G. Wickser '08, Christopher W. Wilson '00, Edwin H. Woodruff '88.

Cornell lawyers in Buffalo, headed by Judge Harry L. Taylor '88, are making a special drive on behalf of the Pound Memorial Fund. At its first meeting after Judge Pound's death, the Cornell Club of Buffalo passed a resolution of tribute, read by Lewis R. Gulick '04, and members stood in silent tribute to his memory. Reciting that the Club "and Cornellians everywhere have suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Judge Pound," the resolution said in part:

"No Cornell gathering was complete without his presence and no Cornell undertaking was ever refused his support. As he himself said, just before his death, Ithaca was his second home.

"We shall miss his sound advice, his long experience, and his constructive criticism. We shall miss him most as our loyal friend and close associate. We shall miss his genial presence, his cheery anecdotes, his tender-heartedness, his whole-hearted loyalty to his friends: We shall ever remember his kindness, his high sense of honor, the courage and consideration with which he maintained his convictions, and the pride and joy which he found in his life work."

ST. LOUIS HEARS LANGSDORF

Cornellians of St. Louis, Mo. were invited to a luncheon at the American Hotel on April 26, to hear Alexander S. Langsdorf '01, Dean of Engineering at George Washington University, discuss "Publications of the Brookings Institute—America's Capacity to Produce and Consume."

DENVER TO HEAR LADD

The Cornell Club of Denver, Col. will entertain Dean Carl E. Ladd '12 of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics at a dinner May 9 at the New Edelweiss, 1644 Glenarm Place, at 6:30. Arrangements are in charge of James B. Kelly '05, secretary of the Club, and Harry C. Davis '90. Cornell men and women will join in the meeting.

FIRST CLUB SCHOLARSHIPS

The first of the new regional alumni club scholarships of which official announcement has been received at the University is from the Cornell Club of Syracuse, closely followed by a similar announcement from the Cornell Club of Chicago.

William J. Thorne '11, president of the Syracuse club and chairman of the Cornell Alumni Corporation committee on relations with secondary schools, wrote President Farrand April 12 that the Cornell Club of Syracuse has established a scholarship fund of annual value of approximately $500, to be used for one or more accepted candidates, and that the fund would be available by September 1, 1935.

On April 20, President Farrand received the following telegram from C. Longford Felske '24, president of the Cornell Club of Chicago, of which the secondary school chairman is Alfred H. Hutchinson '09:

"Very happy to announce Regional Alumni Scholarship from district of Chicago amounting to $500. Our choice of candidates made last night and supporting data will be placed in your hands shortly for consideration and award."

Several other Cornell Clubs have expressed interest in supporting regional scholarships under the plan recently outlined by the University.

THE NEW DEAL IN ATHLETICS—An Editorial

The report of the committee of Trustees, Faculty, and alumni has been received by the Board of Trustees and the Trustees have accepted it with slight modifications. The plan, described elsewhere, is to be put into effect this fall.

Whether the new plan will show better results from its operation of intercollegiate athletics, remains to be seen. It is quite obvious that the coordination and sharper definition of intramural sports, intercollegiate athletics, and physical education will be beneficial to all three phases of physical training. The plan eliminates many of the casual relationships between these branches that have handicapped the development of the newer or less popular sports, and have in the past put burdens on the Athletic Association to maintain facilities for other than its specific objectives.

Supersedes Athletic Association

The change in organization of the management is, of course, sweeping. The addition of a general director over the three divisions is obviously a necessity in the new set-up, unless the University administration were to personally engage in the rather complicated business of directing but three of all the various departments that make up the curricula.

The management of intercollegiate athletics has hitherto been vested in a Council of the Athletic Association, with general officers such as a president, treasurer, graduate manager, representatives of the C men and the alumni; and specifically for each recognized sport, a committee comprising the undergraduate captains and managers of the team and an older person, usually a professor who was usually an alumnus, together with two of the Council officers. Thus the undergraduates always had theoretical control of the Athletic Council, but not of the individual sport. We understand, as a matter of history, that no such test of powers ever occurred.

The principal change with respect to Faculty participation seems to be that professors are now to take part officially in the management of each sport, where formerly their participation was as individuals elected to the Council of the Athletic Association.

The inclusion of an alumnus in the management of each sport is noteworthy principally in that alumni from without the University will be expected to take an active part.

That the undergraduates are theoretically no longer able to exercise control of the situation is worthy of note only in that a revolutionary measure by the undergraduate bloc is no longer possible without some support from the other estates.

Another situation is materially changed in that title to property used in athletics will now rest in the organization that pays for it. Hitherto, to real estate on the Campus the Athletic Association, which provided the funds for construction, had no title whatsoever as a result. The annual payments for construction were expense chargeable to the year when the payments were made, with liabilities of the unpaid balances but no offsetting assets. Presumably, henceforth, the University will build athletic buildings and construct playing fields on the same basis as that of other branches of instruction.

University Now Responsible

For those who take their intercollegiate athletics personally and seriously, it is now no longer possible to lay the stigma for defeat on an outside corporation, the Athletic Association. This has its advantages along with its disadvantages. Many of the suggestions for producing victories have involved the debasing of academic standards, not so often generally, as for individuals. The outlet for wrath is now the University. The victory-thirsty alumnus will come to realize that intercollegiate athletics, at Cornell at least, are part of the general plan for the all-round education of cultured and capable men and women, to take their places in a world where proficiency in bodily things is basically important for constructive citizenship; in a world where defeat is as regularly a part of the result of dual events as victory; and where the main purpose of any kind of institution must be kept in the foreground and not subverted to make Roman holidays.

It should be noted, moreover, that while athletics are officially made part of the business of the University and the responsibility for their successful pursuit is recognized by it, at the same time and to a greater extent than in any other branch of instruction, the alumnal interest is acknowledged and the alumni are given a greater voice in athletic affairs than in any other department.

It is true that the alumni have a more vocal interest in athletics than in the more sedentary branches of instruction and are often conceded a more intelligent interest. We hope, and expect, that this interest, now recognized, will be beneficial to sport and to the alumni, and that the skeletonized Athletic Association, retained for specific business functions, will not have to be fattened up again to take complete charge.

Intercollegiate athletics has a real place in the educational system of this country. There are those who believe in it and are ready to make sacrifices for it. We believe that the responsibility for participation in its control will be accepted with intelligence and devotion by those alumni who are called upon to assist in the reconstruction.

Cash Customers Needed

Meanwhile, we must not completely ignore the fact that this revolution was caused by the lack of some thirty thousand dollars a year of income during a depression; that if some thirty thousand more cash customers could have been attracted to the major games each year, the emergency would not have arisen; and that under the new arrangement there is the same need for loyal spending of one's money for amusements as there would have been had the Athletic Association continued in high command. Any loss now, and the necessity for remedial action, will fall on the University itself. Losses will come out of funds that should be used for instruction. Remedies will be promptly applied where necessary, and, we assume, with little regard for athletic sentimentality.

Thus the purchase of a block of seats for the Pennsylvania game or the Spring Day observation train, insofar as it increases the profit or decreases the loss on intercollegiate athletics, now goes directly to the University for educational purposes in the accepted sense of the words.

The entire situation offers the alumnus an opportunity to rally to Cornell athletics that will rarely be offered again.

TELLS WOMEN OF CORNELL

Caroline Dawdy '30 spoke for Cornell at a luncheon at the Women's University Club in New York City recently. Girls from secondary schools in the city and from some of the Westchester suburbs heard brief talks by alumnae and undergraduates representing twenty-three colleges. Miss Dawdy outlined the plans for Cornell Day for women on May 4, to which the Cornell Women's Club of New York expects to bring some prospective students.

BRIEF NEWS OF CAMPUS AND TOWN

SOPHOMORE SMOKER and Ithaca's annual mutt parade occupied the attention of both Town and Gown last week. It must be said that the dogs caused less confusion to the populace than the underclassmen, although the latter, exhorted by William H. Foote '35, president of the Student Council, did keep most of their preliminary skirmishing on the Hill. Fritz, Newfoundland owned by Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Rees, Great Dane of Zeta Psi, failed to place among Saturday's 445 entries by children from city and country.

GEORGE R. PFANN '24 was the principal speaker Friday evening at the Sophomore Smoker in Willard Straight, attended by two hundred second-year men who had escaped a determined hunt by the freshmen. Bartholomew J. Viviano '33 was toastmaster, and introduced also Robert E. Treman '09, who spoke of the work of the committee on athletics which reported Saturday. Coaches and trainers, with Romeyn Berry '04, were among the guests.

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED, the women out-talked the men on April 23 in Willard Straight Hall, the occasion being the first meeting in history of the Men's and Women's Debate Clubs. Despite (or perhaps because of) the fact that two of the three undergraduate judges were men, the women's team was given the decision, upholding the resolution that women at Cornell should be on an equal basis of conduct with men. The victors were Eva Moskovitz '37 of Philadelphia, Pa., Florence E. Singer '38 of Ilion, and Elizabeth A. Trumpp '36 of Brooklyn. They failed to subdue entirely Joseph W. Cribb '37 of Canandaigua, Joseph Smith '37 of Hudson, and Frank Wolfshiemer '35 of Washington, D. C. Professor Herbert A. Wichelns '16, presiding, kept order.

MORE THAN FIVE HUNDRED eminent scientists and practitioners from all parts of the United States and Canada gathered at the Medical College in New York on April 17, for the annual meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research, and the next day for the joint meeting of the American Associations of Pathologists and Bacteriologists and of Immunologists.

LAW QUARTERLY retiring staff dined with the Law Faculty and invited guests in Willard Straight on April 27. The speakers included Justice Edward L. Robertson '01 of Syracuse, Alfred M. Saperston '19 of Buffalo, and Professor Gustavus H. Robinson, Faculty editor of the Quarterly. Also among the guests were President Farrand, Provost Albert

R. Mann '04, J. DuPratt White '90, Justice Riley H. Heath '12 of the Supreme Court, and State Senator C. Tracey Staggs '02. That afternoon, the Quarterly staff met the Faculty on Sage Green in an undecided softball game.

NORMAN MACDONALD of Fall River, Mass., retiring Senior editor-in-chief of the Cornell Law Quarterly, has received McKinney's Consolidated Laws of New York, Annotated, worth $170, for having done the most valuable work for the Quarterly during his course.

FORTY-ONE Faculty members and undergraduates associated with The Sibley Journal and The Cornell Civil Engineer dined together on April 16 to celebrate the merging of the two into The Cornell Engineer, as announced in the ALUMNI NEWS April 18. Speakers were Directors Herman Diederichs '97 of Mechanical Engineering, S. C. Hollister of Civil Engineering, and Paul M. Lincoln of Electrical Engineering.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 5 is Bishop Charles Fiske of Central New York.

COIF, national honorary senior legal society, has elected to membership David Altman of Rochester, Herbert H. Blau of New Rochelle, Robert L. Griffith of Rochester, and Norman McDonald of Fall River, Mass.

PROFESSOR ALLARDYCE NICOLL, who two years ago succeeded at Yale the late Professor George Pierce Baker and is one of the most outstanding living scholars on the drama, will give a University lecture in Baker Laboratory on Wednesday evening, May 8. He is an authority on the English drama and the history of the theatre and of theatrical production. His specialty has been the study of dramatic expression through laboratory tests on the stage.

LECTURES for this week include P. Kodanda Rao, Carnegie scholar in the department of race relations of Yale and secretary of the Servants of India Society, at the Cosmopolitan Club, April 28, on "Mahatma Gandhi and His Work in India," and before Dean Burdick's class in constitutional law, on Monday morning; Dr. A. Farkas of Cambridge University, on "The Elementary Reactions of Light and Heavy Hydrogen," April 30, and "The Chemistry of Heavy Hydrogen," on May 1; Dr. E. Laurence Palmer '11 before the Agassiz Club, May 2, on the natural history of Jamaica; and at the Cosmopolitan Club next Sunday, May 5, Yien Shan Chen, Grad., of Shanghai, on "China, Past and Present."

ONE STUDENT, male, in the College of Agriculture has recently transferred to Home Economics, making two of his sex therein. Cecil R. Rosenberry '25 in his Ithaca Journal column, "All in a Lifetime," poses the question as to whether he will join the Home Economics Club and have tea with the girls, and whether he will take his turn at "blocking," i.e., living in the practice apartment and taking his turn at cooking, hostessing, and the like?

INTERIM CLUB now occupies the former building of the Town and Gown Club on Stewart Avenue. Professor Louis M. Dennis, its president, announces that it hopes to "revive the attractive features and embody those traditions and policies of the former organization that made it such a unique contribution to the social life of Ithaca." The other officers are Jess J. Dall, Jr. '16, vice-president; Caspar Rappenecker '27, Physical Geography, secretary; Arthur B. Wellar and Louis H. Durland '30 of the Ithaca Trust Company, treasurer and assistant treasurer; and Stewart C. Stackhouse of the Associated Gas & Electric Company, house manager. The "Oscar's" name is Murray.

MORTAR BOARD, senior honor society, on April 19 honored the twenty-five Freshman women with highest scholastic rating, at a tea in Willard Straight. The nine highest, presented with corsages as a mark of special honor, were, in order of grades: Patricia M. Frueh of Cleveland, O., Lorraine S. Gall of Binghamton, Barbara H. Tupper of Elmira, Genevieve E. Dziegiel of Clinton, Elizabeth Wiegand of Ithaca, Ethel L. Reddick of Ithaca, Helen L. Reichert of Niagara Falls, Anita F. Palumbo of Seneca Falls, and Ruth E. Barclay of Philadelphia, Pa.

THE FLYING CLUB, first organized in 1926 by Forrest B. Wright, assistant professor in Agricultural Engineering, seems likely to be revived since the recent completion of Ithaca's new airport for both land and seaplanes. Five undergraduates attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., April 2 and 3, of members of flying societies in twenty universities, to establish an intercollegiate branch of the National Aeronautic Association. They were Manton L. Riley '35 of Ithaca, chairman; Richard K. Keiser '35 of West Lawn, Pa.; John S. Myers '36, son of Professor Clyde H. Myers, PhD '12; and two feminine enthusiasts, Jean Thompson '37 of Washington and Dorothy W. Pelzer '37 of Bloomfield, N. J. Spencer Kellogg II '37 of Derby flies his own seaplane here, and on April 10 at the local airport passed the Department of Commerce tests for a transport pilot's license.

About ATHLETICS

TAKE BITTER WITH SWEET

The baseball teams, Varsity and Freshman, and the tennis team successfully upheld the Cornellian and White over the week-end, the nines winning their games in New York City and Montour Falls, and the racquet wielders theirs in Ithaca. Not to be outdone, however, the women's fencing team participated in a triple tie for second place at the Intercollegiate matches in New York City. While the crews were fighting gamely at Annapolis, the track team defended unsuccessfully three Cornell championships at Philadelphia, the Varsity and Freshman lacrosse teams lost, respectively, at Princeton and Syracuse, as did the golf team at State College and the ROTC pistol team at Buffalo.

TENNIS TEAM WINS

In the only home contest of a busy week-end in athletics, the Varsity tennis team won its second of four matches to date, easily defeating Syracuse on the Alumni Field courts, 8-1. Captain Stephen J. Hamilton, Jr. '35 of Wilmington, Del. maintained his undefeated record in intercollegiate competition by taking his opponent in straight sets. The only Syracuse point was made in the doubles play, when Diamond and Tarshis were defeated, 6-4, 6-1. The summary:

Singles—Hamilton, Cornell, defeated Parsons, 6-0, 6-0; Marcus, Cornell, defeated Morton, 6-0, 6-2; Simpson, Cornell, defeated Smith, 6-2, 6-0; Doughty, Cornell, defeated Bradley, 6-1, 6-2; Diamond, Cornell, defeated Skolsky, 6-2, 6-0; Harshis, Cornell, defeated Levine, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles—Marcus and Simpson defeated Levine and Platt, 6-2, 6-0; Doughty and Tilden defeated Morton and Parsons, 6-3, 6-3; Smith and Skolsky, Syracuse, defeated Diamond and Tarshis, 6-4, 6-1.

WOMEN FENCERS SECOND

The women's fencing team tied for second place in the Women's Intercollegiate Fencing Tournament at New York University on Saturday. They defeated Hunter, 5-4, and New York University, 5-4, and lost to Brooklyn, 4-5, and to William and Mary, 4-5.

Against Brooklyn, Captain Nellie M. Gordon '36 of Lawyerville won two and lost one, and Frances W. Lauman '35 of Ithaca and Mary C. Pound '38 of Lockport, granddaughter of the late Judge Cuthbert W. Pound '87, each won one and lost two.

Against Hunter Miss Gordon won all three, Miss Lauman won two and lost one, and Miss Pound lost three. Against N.Y.U., Miss Lauman and Miss Gordon each won two and lost one, and Miss Pound won one and lost two. Against William and Mary Miss Lauman won all three of her bouts, Miss Gordon won one and lost two, and Miss Pound lost three. Carol E. Young '38 of Ithaca has substitute. Coach Georges Cointe has had nearly fifty women out for the team this year.

CREWS LOSE TO NAVY

On the Severn Saturday the veteran Navy crew outraced the heavier Red oarsmen from the start, getting a length's lead in the first 200 yards and coming in six seconds ahead at the finish of the mile-and-three-quarter course. Cornell challenged at the mile, with a stroke of 34, but was unable to beat the smooth rhythm of the Midshipmen, rowing 31. Stroked by William A. Drisler, Jr. '37 of Bronxville, who is 6 ft. 3½ inches, this Varsity boat has three men 6 ft. 4, and an average weight of 185½ pounds, with apparent tremendous power for the long pull but obviously handicapped by having been kept all but landlocked by the weather the past few weeks.

The Junior Varsity made the best race, losing by but two seconds in a driving finish after having drawn even in the last quarter-mile.

Ed Leader, Yale coach acting as referee, called back the freshman boats when Bennett caught a crab in the first 30 seconds, but the Plebes got away again on a sprint and were never headed. The Freshman coxswain was bothered somewhat by wind and currents, but at the mile-and-a-quarter drew almost even, only to veer again off the course, and meet defeat by two lengths.

The self-supported 150-pound crew got away to a fast start, but were headed by the Navy in the first 15 strokes. Dropping from their beat of 38 to 30 left them at the three-quarter mile mark with open water between the shells, but they spurred gamely to finish the Henley course of a mile and five-sixteenths less than two seconds behind the Midshipmen.

A head wind slightly roughened the river, and a hot sun flashed from dipping oars and from nine gayly-bedecked subchasers at the finish, one of which held a delegation of alumni from the Cornell Clubs of Washington and Maryland and their guests. All four crews showed the lack of recent practice, and came back to Ithaca in wind and rain to prepare for next Saturday's race at Cambridge with Harvard, M. I. T., and Syracuse. Coach J. Clarke Wray of the freshman boat was also returning to a new daughter, born April 21.

LACROSSE TEAM LOSES

The Varsity lacrosse team, also badly hampered by rain, snow, and days of mud, lost to Princeton at Princeton on Saturday, 2-7; having been defeated by Hobart on Alumni Field in the opening game of their season, April 24, 3-8. Princeton, undefeated since 1932, was playing its fourth game this year, and Hobart had been beaten by Syracuse and defeated Union. Coach Bawlf has five men back from last year's team: Captain Phil E. McEachron '35 of Salem, Oleg P. Petroff '35 of Montclair, N. J., Frederick H. Baugh, Jr. '36 of Baltimore, Md., George Fauerbach '35 of Yonkers, and William H. Borger '36 of Pearl River.

The game with Hobart was rough, and the Varsity found difficulty in getting past Johnson, the visitors' 300-pound all-American goalie. Gordon F. Stofer '36 of Olmsted Falls, O., last fall's football back, and Captain McEachron were outstanding for Cornell.

Although gamely fought, the Princeton team gained a 4-1 lead in the first period of Saturday's game, increased it to 11-4 in the third, and scored 9 more in the fourth. Captain McEachron, again starring for the team, accounted for five of the tallies and was high scorer of the game. The summary:

CORNELL (7)		PRINCETON (20)
Petroff	G.	Britten
Nunn	P.	Coburn
Borger	C.P.	Bedell

The Freshman lacrosse team opened its season at Syracuse Saturday, losing to a much superior team of Onondaga Valley Academy, who dominated throughout. The score was 26-0.

POLICE TAKE PISTOL TEAM

The ROTC pistol team was outshot on Saturday at Buffalo by a team of the Buffalo police force, 1047-1154. Norman E. Schlenker '37 of Buffalo was high gun for Cornell with 226, but 15 behind the high man of the Buffalo team. He also ranked his team-mates in slow and time firing, but Frank E. Schroek '36 of Buffalo was high for the team in rapid fire. Captain Walter J. Williams '36 of White Plains was third, followed by Stewart Waring, Jr. '37 of Richmond, Va., and Robert Gray '35 of Kendall.

TRACK MEN LOSE TITLES

Varsity track men on Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia failed to hold the three championships garnered at last year's Pennsylvania Relay Games, but showed a balanced placing in five individual events and in three of the five relays entered.

Charles R. Scott, Jr. '35 of Montclair, N. J. tied for first in the high jump with a leap of 6 ft. 4 inches; and Walter D. Wood, Jr. '36 of Summit, N. J. took second place in both the disc throw and the shot put, heaving the latter 47 ft. 5 1/8 inches. Henry S. Godshall, Jr. '36 of Lansdowne, Pa. leaped 22 ft. 1 1/4 inches to take fourth in the broad jump, and Frank C. Sorenson '35 of Plattsburg tied for fourth in the pole vault at 12 ft. 6 inches.

The shuttle-hurdle team in a preliminary heat covered the 440-yards in 1:04.1, only 1.7 seconds behind last year's championship record. For a time they led in the finals, but a fall by Grandin A. Godley '36 of Tenafly, N. J., primarily a high jumper, brought them in in fourth place behind Pennsylvania, who won at 1:03, Ohio Wesleyan, and Yale. Frank J. Irving '35 of Los Angeles, Cal. started with the baton, handed it to Charles Y. Neff '37 of Buffalo, who passed it to Godley, then to Captain Walter S. Merwin '35 of Buffalo.

The half-mile relay team, composed of Robert A. Scallan '36 of Terrace Park, O., Edward G. Ratkoski '35 of Dunkirk, J. Hamilton Hucker '37 of Buffalo, and Robert E. Linders '36 of Jersey City, N. J., were unable to fight off a beautiful last lap run by Columbia's Johnson, who won in 1:28.1, Cornell coming in second.

The third championship being defended was the quarter-mile relay, in which the Red team finished third, behind Columbia, whose time was 0:42.3, and New York University. This race was run by Hucker, Linders, John L. Messersmith '36 of Westfield, N. J., and Scallan.

The sprint medley team, of Ratkoski, Wilbur H. Peter, Jr. '37 of Lakewood, O., Edward A. Acton '37 of Shawinigan Falls, Can., and Addison M. White '35 of New Hartford, got a poor start and came in ninth, just behind Syracuse. In the four-mile relay, John Meaden '37 of La-Grange, Ill., Edmund V. Mezzitt '37 of Weston, Mass., Norman H. Agor '37 of Mahopac Falls, and Ellison H. Taylor '35 of Springfield, Mass. took seventh place. Bruce D. Kerr '35 was at home suffering from sinus trouble.

The first regular intercollegiate meet of the outdoor season is the newly-organized heptagonal event at Princeton on May 11, with Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale.

NINE WINS TWO

The baseball team beat Columbia both of two games on Baker Field in New York City, Saturday, the first, 17-12 in an extra inning, and the second, 3-1. Completing the fifth of their twelve League games, the Varsity attained third place, behind Dartmouth, undefeated, and Harvard, whom they meet in Ithaca next Saturday. Walter D. Switzer '35 of Williamsport, Pa., although unable to make the trip, still tops the League with a batting average of .545, but his substitute, William A. Buckhout '36 of Pleasantville came up on Saturday to third with .500, and John J. Kriemer '36 of Cincinnati, O. now ranks fifth with .450.

Captain William D. Dugan '35 of Hamburg, last year's southpaw slugger, came back to form with five hits in eight trips to the plate, but Ernest A. Downer '36 of Poughkeepsie leads the League in runs batted in, his six in these games bringing his total to 11. The team is tied with Columbia at the top in batting, with .344.

Against three Lion pitchers in the first game, the combination of heavy hitters and too many errors on the part of their rivals gave the Red the victory. Philip Pross '35 of Passaic, N. J. occupied the box for the first four innings of what was scheduled for a seven-inning game. He was succeeded by Daniel Lindheimer '35 of New York City. The Varsity led 10-5 after their half of the fifth inning, but the Blue staged a six-run rally and the Red was behind, 10-11, until the first of the seventh. Then with two out, Kreimer doubled, went to third on Captain Dugan's single, and came home when Downer's hard grounder was fumbled by the shortstop. Lindheimer held Columbia scoreless for that inning, and in the first of the eighth brought in with a single Mayer, who had walked, and Krukowski who had been hit by the pitcher. After Buckhout walked and Dugan's fourth hit of the game had filled the bases, Downer slammed a sizzling single past the left fielder to the fence, to let in all four, cinching the game.

The second game was a pitcher's battle, with John M. Batten '37 of Cape May, N. J. helped by an errorless game and seven costly ones made by the Blue players. Buckhout scored in the first on a wild throw to the plate, followed by Batten in the third who had made three bases on a fumbled single and was brought in by Kreimer. Krukowski scored the third run in the fourth, helped by two Blue errors. The single Columbia score was made in the second inning with the bases full, on a hit by Maxim.

On April 22, the Varsity had defeated the Elmira Pioneers on Hoy Field in an exciting game marked by a winning rally in the last half of the ninth, when the visitors led, 3-2. With the bases full and two out, Alwin H. Froehlich '35 of Rockville Center, at bat, had two strikes against him when he leaned on one for a slashing double to deep left field, to win the game. Pross held the professionals to five hits in the seven innings he pitched, until he was replaced by William R. Hall '35 of Brooktondale, who allowed three. Gordon Miscall '34, who played short-stop on the Varsity team last year, was in that position for the professionals.

In a non-League game on Hoy Field April 23, Colgate defeated Cornell, 5-3. Two runs in each of the first and third innings gave the Maroon a 4-1 lead, but the three hits allowed by Hickey, Colgate pitcher, all counted for runs. Lindheimer started in the box for the Varsity, but after yielding five hits and four runs in three innings, was replaced by Batten. Kreimer, the first batter to face the Colgate pitcher, hit a long triple to deep left, and was followed by Froehlich who made first and let him in on a bad throw. Froehlich scored in the sixth on a hit by Downer, and in the seventh Mayer hit a good triple and came home on a long fly by Krukowski. Neither team counted in the last two innings.

The Freshman baseball team defeated Cook Academy at Montour Falls on Saturday, 7-0, after being blanked, 13-0, by the Syracuse Freshmen on Hoy Field the day before. The yearlings had been able to practice out-doors only five days before their first game.
