THE third term in the College of Agriculture, by vote of the Board of Trustees, has been shortened from eighteen weeks to twelve. The change was made on the recommendation of the Agricultural Faculty, in order to obviate difficulties, on the part of both students and teachers, when the end of term coincided with the opening of the college year. The third term this summer will run from June 19 to September 11. The fee for tuition, free, of course, to residents of the State, is $75. This action has no effect on the Summer School of Agriculture, of six weeks' duration, from July 3 to August 13.

ALEPH SAMACH, the junior society, has elected the following new members from the class of 1922: Norwood Henry Andrews, Moorestown, N. J.; James Vernon Frank, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Carl Frank John, Milwaukee, Wis.; Walter Paul Knauss, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; William Donald Mackenzie, Newark, N. J.; Emmet James Murphy, St. Paul, Minn.; Alanson Work Willecox, Ithaca.

THE WOODFORD PRIZE in oratory was won last Friday night by William H. Farnham, a senior in arts, from Buffalo, N. Y. His topic was "Universal Military Service." There were in all six contestants. The Woodford Prize, a gold medal or one hundred dollars in money, as the winner may prefer, dates from 1870; it keeps alive the name of the founder, an old college friend of Andrew D. White and later a firm and munificent supporter of the University. The judges this year were Professor Emeritus T. Frederick Crane, Professor Harry A. Lappin, of D'Youville College, and Hon. Edgar S. Mosher '00, of Auburn, N. Y. After the speaking two poems were read by the winners of the Morrison Prizes, Frederick H. Lape '21, of Esperance, N. Y., and Linus E. Kirtledge '20, of Lockport, N. Y. The Morrison Prize, of one hundred dollars, the gift of the late James T. Morrison of Ithaca, was this year divided.

FIVE CASES OF SMALL-POX were reported by the health officer, Dr. Harry H. Crum '97, last week. The disease is believed to have been brought to Ithaca by a visitor from Pontiac, Mich. All the cases are mild, the officials have the situation well in hand, and there is no likelihood of further infection. Acting President Smith, however, issued a warning to the University community, urging precaution and recommending vaccination, but stating also that there is no reason for alarm.

SPRING DAY will be ushered in by a formal dance in the Old Armory on the evening of Friday, May 21. The plans in general are taken from those for the Junior Ball, without, however, the extensive decorations. Boxes will be provided for fraternities and groups of students who may wish thus to entertain their guests. The price of boxes, single and double, has been set at fifteen and twenty-five dollars. At this writing about fifty societies have reserved boxes. Music will be furnished by Sherbo's Orchestra of New York, will known among college dancers.

THE CORSON BROWNING PRIZE has been awarded to Leah L. Lowensohn '21, of New York City, for an essay on "Browning's Historical Portraits." This prize, a gold medal or fifty dollars in money, commemorates the interest in Browning and his works of Professor Hiram Corson, by whom it was founded in 1902. Competition is open to juniors, seniors, and graduates. Miss Lowensohn is a junior.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA has bought the house and lot at 113 Oak Avenue, a few rods east of College Avenue and near the entrance to the campus. Though built for a residence, the house is sufficiently commodious to serve the fraternity as a lodge. The price is reported to have been $14,000.

SENIOR SINGING will again be a feature of the closing weeks of the college year. Beginning on May 26 and continuing on Wednesdays and Sundays through Commencement week, the seniors will sing, as in the past, on the steps of Goldwin Smith Hall.

LECTURES THIS WEEK include "Jewish Culture in Spain in the Middle Ages" by Professor Ralph H. Keniston, under the auspices of the Cornell Menorah Society; "The Significance of the Use of the Several Forms of Type in the Books of the Elizabethan Period" by George Fabyan, under the auspices of the Sigma Xi Society; a lecture, on a subject to be announced, by Charles H. Whittaker, editor of the Journal of the American Institute of Architects; and two talks on the sufferings of Armenian and Syrian women by Mrs. Aghaassie Shimmon before the women of the University.

PROFESSOR WILDER D. BANCROFT of the Department of Chemistry has been elected a member of the National Academy of Science. Election to the Academy is a recognition of distinguished service and research. Among the other new members is Professor Harris J. Ryan '87, electrical engineer, now of Stanford University, formerly of the Faculty of Sibley College.

VARIOUS University organizations are selecting officers for the ensuing year. The women have elected Helen M. Bateman '21, of Champlain, N. Y., president of the Women's Self-Government Association. D. A. Munns '23, of Dormont, Pa., is captain of the freshman baseball team, and Charles D. Mackey '21, of Montrose, Pa., captain of the wrestling team. Allan H. Treman '21 is president of the Musical Clubs. The new board of The Cornell Civil Engineer is headed by D. G. Cockcroft '21, Northport, N. Y. Earl J. Sherk '21, Harrisburg, Pa., is managing editor; Francis A. Regan, jr., '21, Brooklyn, business manager; and Roy E. Pratt '21, Franklinville, N. Y., circulation manager.

THE THETA CHAPTER of Omicron Upsilon Phi has been reestablished at the Medical College in New York. The chapter has been inactive since the college was reorganized as a graduate medical school. Comfortable quarters have been secured at 129 Lexington Avenue.

THE POTTER CUP, a prize for distance running, was won on May 1 by Norman P. Brown '21, of Bernardsville, N. J. The course was the intercollege course somewhat modified. Owing to the absence of the track squad in Philadelphia, there were only six contestants for the cup. This is Brown's second victory.

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER for the coming Sunday is the Rev. John W. Hoag of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church, Detroit, Mich.

Visit of the British Athletes Bring Invitation from Oxford and Cambridge to Cross Country Team

The relay team of Oxford and Cambridge Universities, coming to America primarily to run in the Penn Relay Carnival, paid a two-day visit to Cornell on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

The purpose of the visit was to present to the Cornell athletic management an invitation which they brought from the athletic authorities of Oxford and Cambridge for a cross country race between the Cornell varsity, whom they consider the leaders in the sport in America, and a joint team of the two English universities. This invitation was presented somewhat ceremoniously by Captain Rudd of the relay team and A. N. S. Jackson of Oxford, who is in charge of the trip and who won the 1500-meter race at the Olympic games in 1912 against Kiviat, Taber, and Jones. The invitation was accepted, subject, of course, to ratification by the Athletic Council, and to the granting of leaves of absence by the Student Affairs Committee of the Faculty.

It is pointed out that the cross country team can use the Christmas holidays for the trip, and lose only a week or ten days from University work; and that the Cornell cross country runners, as a class, while financially not well off, are almost without exception good students, who could easily make up the time on their return. Seven men are likely to make the trip.

The British athletes, on taking leave of their hosts, expressed themselves as "immensely pleased with Cornell." As guests of the British-American Club they met with a warm welcome; and several fraternities entertained them with customary hospitality. A smoker was given by Alpha Delta Phi; a reception by Psi Upsilon, a luncheon by Beta Theta Pi, and a dinner by Theta Delta Chi; then a motor trip to Enfield Glen; and an interesting visit to Schoellkopf Field. Among speakers for the University at the smoker were W. I. Emerson '20, toastmaster; Alexander B. Trowbridge, jr., '20; Hugh Moran, an Oxford oarsman, now Presbyterian student pastor; Manager Romeyn Berry, Coach Moakley, and Acting President Smith; and for the visitors, Mr. Jackson, in charge of the team, and Captain Rudd, anchor-man on the relay team which broke the world's record at Franklin Field on May 8. The visitors were especially impressed with the situation of the University, conveniently apart from the city; with the extensive fraternity system; with the excellent opportunities for track athletics; and with the spirit of cheerful work manifested everywhere on the campus.

The British team sailed for home on Saturday from New York.

FRENCH SCHOLARS COMING

M. Jacques Hadamard, an eminent mathematician, professor of astronomy in the Collège de France, has accepted Cornell University's invitation to lecture here, and he plans to give three lectures on May 17 and 18, next Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday afternoon. His talks will have particular interest for mathematicians and physicists. One of them is to be devoted to the work of Henri Poincaré. Professor Hadamard is just now lecturing on the Silliman Foundation at Yale.

Professor Albert Feuillerat of the University of Rennes, who came to America to represent the Minister of Public Instruction of France at the general congress of the National Education Association at Milwaukee last June, has been invited to give four lectures on the Jacob H. Schiff Foundation and he expects to be in Ithaca during the week of May 24-29. The subjects of his lectures are "The French Temperament," "The Intellectual Qualities of the French," "French Imagination and Poetry," and "The Social Instinct and French Manners." Professor Feuillerat is a Shakespearean scholar and one of the foremost authorities on English literature in France. During the first term of this year he was visiting professor at Yale, and he is now on a tour of observation of American universities.

WAR CERTIFICATES

Cornell men in residence when the war broke out, who by reason of their national service have been prevented from getting a degree, and who may be entitled to certificates as War Alumni, should make formal application to Professor Martin W. Sampson, 159 Goldwin Smith Hall. The application should state terms and hours of academic work and the specific period of military or naval service. A certified copy of the discharge should be furnished with the application. Although the committee is guided by certain general principles in accordance with the legislation of the Faculty, each case is considered individually.

The Endowment Campaign Total Now $4,602,819.05—Syracuse and Kansas City Have Arrived

On May 8, the Endowment Campaign had passed four and one-half million and was well on its way to the realization of the first five million. The total was $4,602,819.05, of which approximately $875,000, or nearly twenty per cent, has been subscribed by undergraduates.

The National Campaign

Syracuse has come into the list of the highest ten cities in total amount subscribed during the week, with $106,000, making eleven districts which have reported over $100,000 thus far. Kansas City has arrived in the list of districts over $20,000, as will be seen from the table printed elsewhere. The standing of the highest ten in amount subscribed remains relatively the same with steadily increasing amounts and New York still in the lead.

Professor Durham's visits, aided by the hard work and hearty support of the local committees, have resulted in large increases in the totals of Kansas City, St. Louis, and Omaha, and he is now headed West accompanied by J. P. Harris '01, chairman of the Cleveland committee. Wherever he has gone, not only increased totals have resulted, but also a quickening of interest and an increased activity.

In percentage of Cornellians subscribing, the past two weeks have seen some notable changes in the line-up of districts. Duluth still heads the list of those over $20,000 with seventy-five per cent, but St. Louis has come from eighth place at the last report to tie with the Rochester women for second place with seventy per cent. Kansas City has also come into the highest ten by percentage of Cornelian names on the dotted line with fifty per cent, displacing Boston, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Indianapolis, and Buffalo one place, and crowding Cincinnati and Philadelphia off the honor roll of the highest ten. Boston has changed places with Milwaukee and now holds sixth place with forty-six per cent, while Cleveland has moved up two places to eighth with thirty-eight per cent. It becomes increasingly apparent that action and results are necessary to hold a place on this list, with all percentages uniformly higher from week to week.

The Class Campaigns

A uniform increase in amount and number of subscribers is also noticeable in the class lists this week, as well as several shake-ups in relative position. The older classes still lead in total subscribed, but the younger ones are coming to the front in number of new subscribers. The class of '08 is the leader in total subscriptions with '97 second and '96 third. '88 has climbed from ninth place to seventh, with the others of the highest ten remaining in the same order they held at the last report, but with larger totals throughout. The prize for the largest number of new subscribers is held by '16, which has added thirty-three names to its roll in the past two weeks. '15 comes next with thirty new arrivals, '18 is third with twenty-five, and '17 is fourth with twenty-three. The younger classes have sent the classes of '92 and '96, who held first and second places at the last report, off the list of the highest ten. '99 has come into the honor roll and is tied with '09 and '00 for sixth place with nineteen new names.

The class of '95, under the leadership of C. M. Russell, is headed for the top of the list by all indications, although final results have not yet been tabulated. A report from Mr. Russell for the first nine days of his thirty-six-day campaign shows that he had received replies from just twenty-five per cent of the 460 members of his class who had not already subscribed, and had accounted for $13,785. He has sent letters to every member of his class who has not already subscribed and his results show that he is giving to many of them some measure of his own unbounded spirit and enthusiasm. He lists as "larger items" he has received from the replies, the following: "proof of Cornell spirit, class spirit, and loyalty to Alma Mater; desire to serve; many signs of a nationwide Cornell awakening and renewed activity years of stupor have not destroyed; opportunity for quick regeneration, rousing, and recovery; and remarkable increase in 'pep' infection with no cure in sight but success." Mr. Russell reports that he has discovered subscriptions from members of his class totaling over $89,000 of which $75,434 has been received at headquarters in signed subscriptions.

Notes on the Campaign

Andrew Whinery '10 has also started an active drive for subscriptions from his class in addition to his work on the New Jersey committee. He has distributed a printed sheet urging the members of his class to endow a 1910 professorship as a memorial to the 1910 men who died in the service.

During the week a letter has been received from one Cornellian who has, through change of residence, been missed by the canvassers. He says, "Kindly send me a card and if convenient, a report of the campaign, as I should like to subscribe if the fund is still short."

The president of one of the large automobile companies, who is a Cornell father but not himself a Cornellian, has subscribed an amount equal to the interest on a professorship.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL

Indications from the advance sale of seats point to a full house for each of the four concerts which make up the twelfth annual Music Festival, to be held on May 13-15. On Thursday evening "Aida" will be given; on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, miscellaneous programs; and on Saturday evening, "The Dream of Gerontius" and Franck's "The Beatitudes." The Festival Chorus will not sing on Saturday afternoon. Many soloists of national reputation will appear.

A SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Sixteen undergraduates, members of Sigma Delta Chi, have petitioned the Trustees for the establishment of a School of Journalism. The petition sets forth the belief that the subscribers would have profited by "undergraduate instruction in journalism, which, lacking in the University schedule, they were forced to seek in extra-curricular activities." The demand for such instruction, it is believed, is general and will increase as time goes on.

With but few additions to the present curriculum, it is contended, a thorough and practical course, equal to that given at any other university in the East, could be organized.

"A satisfactory course of instruction in journalism would enable Cornell graduates in journalism to go into the profession better fitted to give trained

HOOKER '94 FOR GOVERNOR

Elon H. Hooker '94 has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York State. He issued a statement to the Republican voters asking their support that he may bring his business training to bear on the problem of reducing the cost of living and the cost of government through proper administration of the agencies of state government.

Pointing out that the great middle-salaried class has been the chief sufferer on account of profiteering and generally rising costs of living, Hooker states that the cost of living will come down only when there is an increase in quality and quantity of production, both on the farm and in the shop, and a reduction in the cost of government so that taxes will not be continually going up.

He calls for a "balanced development of industry and of agriculture"; prosecution of radicals urging the use of force, the use of education to counteract the influence of the soap-box orators; and states his belief that the State, if it is properly managed can help bring these things about.

Mr. Hooker is president of the Hooker Electrochemical Company, which he has developed into a corporation with an annual business in excess of $7,000,000 and a plant covering thirty acres at Niagara Falls.

Hooker was born in Rochester in 1869, and worked his way through college, being graduated by the University of Rochester A.B. '91, A.M. '94, and by Cornell C.E. '94, Ph.D. '96, winning a European scholarship for hydraulic engineering. He is a member of Sigma Xi and Alpha Delta Phi. He was deputy State superintendent of public works while Theodore Roosevelt was Governor, and formed a lasting and close friendship with the Colonel. In 1912, Mr. Hooker was chosen National treasurer of the Progressive Party, and was to have gone abroad with Colonel Roosevelt's "Division" as a major in charge of gas warfare if the Washington authorities had permitted organization of that unit.

EIGHTH PLACE IN AIR DERBY

In the aerial field day held at Mineola on Friday, Cornell scored one point, finishing third in the 25-mile race, and taking eighth place in a field of eleven colleges. Yale, with nine points, was the winner; Williams, second; Columbia and Princeton tied for third and fourth.

WASHINGTON WOMEN ACTIVE

The Cornell women of Washington had their April dance on the 9th, at 2400 16th St. About eighty couples were present, the crowd being limited by the size of the hall. The purpose of these dances is twofold, to make money for the Endowment Fund, and to draw in and closer together the people in the city interested in Cornell, whether men or women; and this purpose can be best accomplished by having not more than one hundred couples and a very active floor committee.

The patronesses and patrons were Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Coville (A.B. '87; Arch. '89), Miss Julia Melotte '92 of Ithaca, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gage, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Tingley, and Mrs. E. N. Stephenson.

The next dance is to be held on May 14.

The April meeting of the club was held on the 13th at the Blue Triangle Recreation Center, Mrs. Harrison Dixon and Miss Eudora Kinney being the hostesses. Miss Dean, of the Y.W.C.A., gave a description of the work being done by that organization, particularly in regard to recreation work in Washington, and to the placing of foreign women students among American universities. She made especial mention of the young Russian girl who has been taking engineering at Cornell, and who spent her last vacation with Miss Dean in Washington.

SOME STATISTICS OF 1910

Class statistics are being compiled for publication at the ten-year reunion of the class of 1910 in June. A letter is being mailed to every man in the class asking him to fill out and return a card questionnaire that will be enclosed in the letter. When these cards have all been returned to the secretary, a compilation will be made which will show the average income of the men after ten years in business, as well as the average for each profession and general line of business. It will also show the percentage of the class that are married and the number that have married each year since 1910. Other information will be gleaned from the cards and other sources and it is expected that the compilation will be of great interest to the University as well as to the class itself. The cards which are returned to the secretary will be kept in strict confidence and will not bear the signature of the men returning them. The information will be announced at the monster banquet of the class in the Dutch Kitchen on Saturday evening, June 19.

THE MAJOR SPORTS COUNCIL has ratified the election of C. G. Irish '23 as captain of the freshman track team. Irish comes from Auburn, N. Y., where he was on the track team throughout his school course and captain in his senior year. He is a brother of H. E. Irish of the 1914, '15, and '16 varsity track teams.

BOOKS TO KNOW

Some weeks ago Columbia University announced a new system of general honors to be put into effect next year. One feature of this plan is that during the last two years of their course candidates shall read and discuss together some fifty books chosen from the great literatures of the world. The list of books or authors chosen for the first experiment has recently been announced and includes the following: Homer, Herodotus, Thucydides, Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes, Plato, Aristotle, Lucretius, Virgil, Horace, Plutarch, Marcus Aurelius, St. Augustine, The Nibelungenlied, The Song of Roland, St. Thomas Aquinas, Dante, Petrarch, Montaigne, Shakespeare, Cervantes, Francis Bacon, Milton, Molière, Hume, Montesquieu, Voltaire, Rousseau, Adam Smith, Lessing, Kant, Schiller, Goethe, Macaulay, Victor Hugo, Hegel, Darwin, Lyell, Tolstoi, and Nietzsche.

It is hard to see how a better list could have been made. As The Columbia Alumni News remarks, opinions may differ about other authors which should have been found in this list, but every author and book here are worthy of such company. The working of this plan will be watched with interest. It is our belief that it will be found to succeed admirably and that it may well be tried here. It is hard to think of a better thing that can happen to an upperclassman than to come, through systematic, well digested, interested reading, into close contact with these master minds, the greatest the world has produced. Think what it will do for the enlargement of his views, the correction and elevation of his taste, the broadening of his sympathies. How many men who call themselves "educated" to-day barely know the names of some of these authors! Such general ignorance of the great books and writers ought to cease and diminish. Arnold Bennett and Wells and Locke may be all very well in their way; but reading them to the exclusion of the great classical writers of all ages will prove to be a mistake. One great trouble with us to-day is that we have an absurd horror of the "high-brow." Let us make a heroic effort to recover.

DEACON MUST OF SLIPPED

The chairman of the class of 1895 has this comment to make on an article in the ALUMNI NEWS of April 22, which "apparently was not double checked by the editor."

"Under date of April 22, in No. 29 of the ALUMNI NEWS, some hair-triggered mentality was guilty of this unfair libel on the untarnished name of the class of 1895, where, on page 354 of that important issue, it was said with apparent malice aforethought, '05 has come into the race with $75,616 to send '95, the former holder of sixth place, to the depths of oblivion below the glorious ten on this roll.'

"How the author of that statement can escape the fate which the Food and Drug Department of the United States would award him for the issuance of false or misleading statements, I will let the sulphurous minds of other classes reckon, but the facts seem to be that while this little pigmy of '05 with ten years less of verdure ground from its active minds, is gloating over the oblivionated trip of '95 with a mere $75,616 to back its lofty claim, old '95, which always 'paves the way,' is counting up its $90,910 with twelve subscribers not listed and possibilities almost beyond human conception marching forward just as though poor little late-born '05 had not yet crossed the horizon. Come ahead, Little Boy '05, for we are only coaxing you, and when you revise your figures be careful that you have not counted in even that precious $75,000 some subscriptions which some near-sighted accountant may have mistaken for an '05 when the giver of those hard earned dollars meant them only for our dear old '95."

ATHLETICS

Columbia Nine Wins

The baseball team was defeated by Columbia Saturday by the score of 6 to 4 in the first of a two-game series. Good pitching by Meany, who allowed Cornell but three hits, and ragged fielding by Cornell were the principal factors in Columbia's victory. Maloney, on the mound for the home team, pitched a good game that with capable support would have been good enough to win; but the team failed to back him up. For some unknown reason Cornell plays better baseball on the road than on the home diamond.

For six innings Cornell had a good chance to win, with Maloney pitching effectively, in spite of the fact that the home batters could do little with Meany. Columbia scored in the third on Ackerman's hit to left, bringing in Tyman. But in the fourth Howard's drive brought in Ensworth and Cross, putting Cornell ahead.

The team faltered in the seventh, when Columbia scored two runs on a hit by Weinstein, three errors and two stolen bases, and defeat was made certain in the eighth, when two hits and two errors gave Columbia three runs.

In the last inning Cross hit through third. He was forced at second by Howard's drive to Weinstein, but Hauck's wild throw to first sent Howard around to third and a moment later another wild throw by Hauck allowed both Howard and Wincor to score.

Two for Colgate

Colgate defeated Cornell last Wednesday for the second time this season, winning by the score of 8 to 3. The game was played at Hamilton. Cornell played a better fielding game against the Maroon than in the contest at Ithaca, but the Colgate pitcher, Leonard, baffled the Cornell batters again. He allowed them but four hits, while Colgate got eleven off Gordon.

First Tennis Victory

The tennis team opened its intercollegiate season Saturday with a victory, defeating Columbia by the score of 4 to 2. Cornell won three out of four singles, and split even in the doubles. Captain K. M. Reid, W. S. Holt, and W. F. Cassidy won their single matches, and Reid and Holt won in the doubles. W. T. Mallery lost a hard fought single match and he and Cassidy were defeated in a doubles match. The feature match was between Cassidy and Appleby of Columbia, the first set going to thirty-four games. It was won by the Columbian, 18 to 16. Cassidy won the other two sets.

Crews Go to Princeton

The crews will make their debut at Princeton next Saturday in a triangular regatta with Yale and Princeton. All three colleges will enter varsity and freshman crews. The races will be over a mile and seven-eighths course on Carnegie Lake. The last triangular race between the three colleges took place on Cayuga Lake in 1916, when Cornell won.

Both Yale and Princeton this year have fast varsity eights, Yale having defeated Pennsylvania and Columbia, and Princeton having defeated Harvard and Pennsylvania. Cornell's rowing strength is an unknown quantity, but confidence is felt here that crews fully up to the Courtney standard will row at Princeton.

Although Mr. Courtney had not announced what crews would row at Princeton it was expected that the light varsity, stroked by Knight, and the light freshman eight, stroked by Wheeler, would represent Cornell.

Mercersburg Leads on Track

The team of Mercersburg Academy won the Cornell interscholastic track meet last Saturday, rolling up 47½ points to 39 for Barringer High School. Hutchinson High School of Buffalo was third with 12, and the others finished as follows: Ithaca High School 9, Binghamton Central High School 8, Cazenovia Seminary 7½, Haverling High School 6, McBurney School 5, Sherrill High School 5, Honeoye Falls High School 2, Syracuse Central High School 2.

Mercersburg scored four first places and tied for first with the Ithaca High School in the high jump. Barringer won six firsts, McBurney and Haverling being the other winners. McKim of Barringer won both sprints, while Scattergood of Mercersburg took both hurdle events. The track was slow from a heavy rain which interrupted the trials in the morning.

Yearlings Win Two Games

The freshman baseball team defeated Manlius Academy last Saturday by a score of 21 to 3. Last Friday the yearlings won another easy victory, defeating the Nichols High School of Buffalo by a score of 20 to 0.

Another Lacrosse Victory

The lacrosse team won its second intercollegiate league game last Friday, defeating Yale by the score of 7 to 1. As in the Harvard and Penn games, Cornell had a stronger offense than the opposing team, and the defense was very effective, Yale getting few chances for a try at goal. The Blue put up a stubborn fight in the first half, which ended 3 to 1 in Cornell's favor. The home outfit drew ahead in the second half, scoring four goals. McKenzie with three goals was the leading point winner.

Track Team Meets Penn

The track team will meet Pennsylvania in a dual meet at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on Saturday, the first since 1916, last year's engagement at Ithaca having been called off because of unfavorable weather conditions. This meet will bring together two of the most formidable rivals for track honors this year and is likely to throw some light on prospects for the Intercollegiates.

ARAHASNISEGAVAS

"Arahasnisegavas" is the name of the Savage Club show to be given Thursday evening, May 20, at the Lyceum, as part of the Spring Day festivities for the benefit of athletics. The show is described as a musical mélange in two acts with four scenes, with the entire membership of the club in the show and eleven in the cast. The show is written for the occasion, with original music, and new scenery.

At LEHIGH the Bach Choir, which now numbers 270 voices and which has become an outstanding example of the artistic possibilities of community chorus work, will hold its fourteenth annual festival on May 28-9. On the first day the choir, under Dr. J. Fred Wolle, will sing cantatas and the motet "Sing Ye to the Lord." On the second day

Bach's "Mass in B Minor" will be rendered; given year after year, this has attracted music lovers from all parts of the country.

Coming to Cornell from his home in Mississippi in 1914, Kirkland was extremely active as a student. Besides working his way through college he was a varsity crew man in 1915-16, as well as a contestant upon three speaking stages, the president of the Agricultural Association, and a member of the Glee Club. In his present position, assumed upon graduation, he has worked out a series of simple tests in farm experience that have been useful to the college in determining whether prospective students have sufficient farm background to justify their education in agriculture at State expense. Kirkland will continue relations with Cornell through a scheme of cooperation in training practice teachers which has been worked out with the Department of Rural Education. After the reorganization of the Republic High School has been completed, students in rural education will be sent to the high school for periods of practice teaching.
