FOLLOWING a debate on the treaty of peace before the Ethics Club, where Professor Allyn A. Young favored and Professor Nathaniel Schmidt opposed ratification, The Cornell Daily Sun has published a series of twelve articles, from one to two columns in length, in which members of the University Faculty have set forth their views of the treaty and of the League of Nations. The Sun has endeavored to secure expressions of opinion from professors whose views are more or less opposed to each other; whence the discussions have been non-partisan and liberal. The contributors who have complied with the Sun's request are President Schurman, Dean Frank Thilly, Dean Edwin H. Woodruff, and Professors Charles K. Burdick, Bristow Adams, Walter F. Willecox, Othon G. Guerlac, Herbert J. Davenport, William Strunk, jr., Allyn A. Young, A. P. Usher, and Samuel P. Orth. Notwithstanding numerous differences on minor points and some of more significance in essential matters, the weight of opinion inclines to ratification. The articles were intended especially to enlighten the University community with a view to more intelligent action in the straw-vote taken on Tuesday at Cornell and at some seven hundred other colleges and universities. Being reprinted, however, day by day in the Ithaca Journal-News, the discussions have had wider circulation and influence throughout the region.

THE SCHEDULE OF EXAMINATIONS, distributed last week, shows how near we are to the end of the first semester. The examinations begin on Monday, February 2, and continue through the forenoon of Wednesday, the 11th. This period of ten days is currently denominated "block week," a name that has not yet won its way into the official publications of the University. This year the morning "blocks" are from 8 to 10 or to 10.30 and from 10.30 or 11 to 1; and the afternoon "blocks" from 2 to 4 or 4.30 and from 4 to 6. That is, most of the tests require two hours or two and one-half; the number requiring three hours is relatively small, and those requiring four, chiefly in the College of Law, are very few. Meantime the mid-year entrance examinations are set for the first five days, February 2-6. The term officially ends on February 11; and all students, graduate and undergraduate alike, must register for the second term on Saturday, February 14. There is probably no malice in this arrangement of dates; yet there is a chance that notices of deficiencies may be received in the same mail with valentines.

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER for Sunday, January 11, was the Right Rev. Charles D. Williams, D. D., LL. D., bishop of Michigan. Dr. Williams will preach again on January 18.

THE CORNELL DELEGATION returning from Des Moines reports that the International Student Conference held there during the holidays was the largest in the history of the Student Volunteer Movement. The attendance was close to eight thousand, representing some seven hundred educational institutions. The success of the meeting, in the opinion of the delegates, was in proportion to its size. The discussions had to do largely with foreign missions; on the program were not only students from foreign countries but returned missionaries and speakers of wide experience in missionary work. One of the principal speakers was John R. Mott '88, who was also chairman of the conference.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL CONFERENCE of the veterinarians of the State is being held to-day and to-morrow, January 15 and 16, at the Veterinary College. An extensive program of lectures, demonstrations, and clinics touching every phase of cattle-raising completely fills the two days; a part of the first evening is given up to a smoker; and the whole concludes with a dinner, to which all students in the college are invited. President Schurman made an address of welcome. The conference proper was opened by Dean Moore with an address on "Veterinarians as Citizens." Among the speakers on technical topics, besides members of the Faculty, are B. A. Ransom, of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, and Dorr W. McLaury '04, chief of the State Bureau of Animal Industry. The attendance is large.

THE '94 MEMORIAL DEBATE contest was held in Barnes Hall on Monday of this week. Six speakers, Charles M. Cormack '20 of Buffalo, William H. Farnham '20 of Buffalo, Charles C. Garside

'21 of Meridan, Conn., Walter Measday, jr., '20 of Brooklyn, P. A. Schultz '20 of Buffalo, and Hyman Stansky '20 of Brooklyn debated the question of participation by employees in the management of factories, which is commonly called the shop committee system. The prize, ninety-four dollars in money, the income of a fund left by the class of 1894, was awarded to Farnham.

NEW STANDS providing seats for five hundred persons have been received for use in the New Drill Hall. They were first occupied at the Bucknell basketball game on January 7. This addition brings the seating capacity of the building up to about two thousand.

FEBRUARY 1 has been tentatively set as the date of a swimming contest with Rutgers College. The varsity team is planning to go to New Brunswick. Rutgers is fortunate in having an excellent pool. Other meets are in prospect.

THE WORK of the Field Artillery is to be enlarged by the formation of a motor corps. Ten pieces of new apparatus have been authorized by the War Department for the instruction of a motor section in the operation, maintenance, and repair of tractors, ammunition trucks, reconnaissance cars, motorcycles, and other similar field equipment. Announcement is also made that the number of enlisted men in the artillery will be increased to thirty-eight.

CONWAY PARK is to be the new name of Lafayette Park on Cascadilla Street. The change of name has been recommended by the Common Council, which referred the proposal to its committee on relations with the Board of Public Works. In this way the city will do honor to Michael Conway, popular merchant and former alderman, who was killed in France on November 1, 1918.

O. HOWARD MENZIE, who was suspended last spring, has been reinstated as one of Ithaca's policemen. Menzie carried his suspension into court, besides starting an action against some city officials as individuals. The cases did not reach a trial. A committee of the Common Council brought about a compromise, all actions being dropped and Menzie being restored to his former place.

Total Pledges $2,136,014

First Announcement of Totals Made by Endowment Campaign Committee

J. DuPratt White '90, national chairman of the Endowment Committee, announced at a campaign luncheon in New York City on January 10 that the total subscribed to the endowment campaign to date is $2,136,014. The total number of subscribers is 997 and the average subscription $2,142.

The total announced at this meeting does not include $1,500,000 given for the new chemical laboratory, $500,000 given for the Cornell Medical College in New York, and several other gifts which have been made for specific purposes and which might, under the resolution of the Board of Trustees, be included as a part of the Semi-Centennial Endowment.

The New York District stands first on the list with $614,983. Chicago is second with $242,152; Cleveland is third with $197,000; Duluth stands at the top of the honor roll in largest per capita subscription. With only 14 Cornellians in Duluth, $75,000 has been subscribed, an average of $5,357 for every Cornellian in this district. The New York City report shows $433,720 received from 193 Cornellians, an average of $2,247. Non-Cornellians have contributed $181,263, an average of $8,631 for twenty-one men.

Following is a list of the districts which have contributed more than $18,000. Each district in the list is designated merely by its principal city, although the district in most instances covers several counties. Camden is in Philadelphia territory, while the rest of the State is announced as a State with no central city.

SPRING DAY

Spring Day this year falls on Saturday, May 22. The baseball game will be with Yale. On the lake Harvard's varsity and freshman eights will race against the Cornell crews. There will be the usual shows and the carnival on the hill in the morning will evolve some radical departures in the interests of novelty.

The athletic office expects, and is preparing for, a record-breaking crowd of alumni on Spring Day. New seats to a capacity of 3,000 will be added at Percy Field and a housing organization is being worked out among the fraternities and dormitories.

The Endowment Fund

Cutler-Hammer Subscribes $25,000—Notes on the Campaign

The Cutler-Hammer Company, of Milwaukee, have subscribed $25,000 to the Endowment Fund under the new corporation agreement. This corporation agreement pledges the University to give, in return for subscriptions to the Fund, the use of its libraries, the benefit of research tests and investigations, and consultations with the professors on technical subjects; and to investigate such economic problems as are properly the subjects of university research. The agreement continues for four years, and has already been taken under consideration by some of the largest manufacturing concerns in the country. The president of one board of directors writes, in this connection, "The experience of the Board has resulted in the definite conviction that the progress of this company depends on the technically trained man." He then goes on to say that his company wants to keep such men coming to them by insuring the life of the universities which train them, and encloses an agreement to subscribe to Cornell's Endowment Fund for the corporation he represents.

The Board of Governors of the Cornell Club of New England, at a meeting January 5, prepared a careful schedule for the organization of the Endowment Fund Campaign in that territory, and set $400,000 as New England's goal. In order to make the campaign more effective Charles R. Marsh '07, executive secretary of the local committee, has made an analysis, by classes, of the Cornellians residing there, and has apportioned the $400,000 among Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Maine, according to the number of Cornellians in each.

This analysis shows that of the 27,000 living Cornellians, 1094 are in New England, seventy per cent of whom live in Massachusetts. This analysis was the basis of the schedule of the campaign adopted by the Board of Governors of the Cornell Club at their meeting.

G. W. Borton '95 has compiled the average income received from endowments per student by the five largest Eastern universities, and has presented the figures graphically in a blue-print which he has recently prepared. The blue-print is compiled from the official figures received from the universities concerned, and is corrected to January 5, 1920. It shows that Princeton receives $598 yearly from its endowment for each student registered, that Harvard receives $400, Yale, $368, Columbia, $229, and Cornell, $129. Mr. Borton has represented the sum per student by blocks of proportionate lengths, which show, as compared with other universities, how great is Cornell's need of money if she is to maintain herself with them.

One of the prominent younger Cornellians of the Middle West, in a recent letter to the Ithaca office, says he is glad to mortgage his future by a subscription to the Endowment Fund because he realizes that the University has made his future possible. The following is quoted from his letter:

"Like every Cornellian, I feel that the University deserved and should receive from her sons and daughters the utmost support they can give. So far as I personally am concerned, to meet the payments of interest on my subscription will require over one-eighth of my present income. But to pay the debt which I owe Cornell, I am glad to mortgage my future, in a way, so that she may share in any returns I may receive from the use of the advantages she gave."

CLEVELAND'S NEW YEAR LUNCH

The Cornell Club of Cleveland held a "Happy New Year Lunch" last Thursday at the Hotel Statler, at which D. C. Wills, chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, spoke on the financial condition of the country, emphasizing the necessity of economy on the part of the public, and urging that everyone must save. The luncheon was well attended.

Big Men aid Endowment Prominent Bankers Establish Fund in appreciation of Robert H. Treman '78

A dinner in honor of R. H. Treman '78 was given at the University Club in New York on January 7 by his associates of the Liberty Loan Committee. Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, presented to Mr. Treman a silver ink stand, a copy of an old Queen Anne stand known in England as the "Treasury Ink" because it is always used by the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

In presenting the ink stand to Mr. Treman, Governor Strong said: "This ink stand is a replica of the original which was presented to the younger Pitt when he was Chancellor. It has long been the custom in London, when some man rendered a distinguished service, either in public office or as chairman of some important committee, for the King to present him with a souvenir of this character, and it is usually an ink stand. They are greatly prized, and this replica of the one presented to one of the greatest statesmen England ever produced, and one of the greatest financiers and economists, will give it added value to you."

As a surprise to Treman, and because of the knowledge that he would appreciate it more than anything they could give him for himself, the members of the committee raised a fund of $21,500 "to bear the name and perpetuate the memory of Robert H. Treman at Cornell University." One of the most interesting things about the testimonial is the fourteen signatures at the bottom. The text of the testimonial follows:

"As an enduring testimony to the unselfish, devoted and distinguished service in finance rendered to the Nation at its financial capital during the critical period 1916-1919 by Robert H. Treman and with appreciation of the sterling character and attractive personality that have won for him our respect and esteem, we, his recent associates in the Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District, by our joint subscriptions hereby establish a permanent fund of twenty-one thousand and five hundred dollars to bear the name and to perpetuate the memory of Robert H. Treman at Cornell University of which he is an alumnus, Trustee, and ardent well-wisher.

"We give this Fund to Cornell University with the understanding that Mr. Robert H. Treman shall have the privilege of designating the use to which the income from this Fund shall be applied."

The signatures added are those of J. S. Alexander, president, National Bank of Commerce; George F. Baker, chairman, First National Bank; Allen B. Forbes, of Harris, Forbes & Co.; Walter E. Frew, president, Corn Exchange Bank; G. W. McGarrah, president, Mechanics and Metals National Bank; J. Pierpont Morgan; Seward Prosser, president, Bankers Trust Co.; Charles H. Sabin, president, Guaranty Trust Co.; Jacob H. Schiff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Benjamin Strong, governor, Federal Reserve Bank; F. A. Vanderlip, of the National City Bank; Martin Vogel, manager, U. S. Subtreasury; Albert H. Wiggin, chairman, Chase National Bank; and William Woodward, president, Hanover National Bank.

MUSICAL CLUBS ENTERTAINED

The twenty-sixth annual trip of the combined Musical Clubs proved the most successful yet taken by the clubs in the number who attended, and financially and socially. The alumni of the eight cities visited were limited in their social provisions for the clubs only by the time allowed by the train schedule.

In Buffalo, where the first concert was given in the ball-room of the Hotel Statler, rehearsals and the first assembling of the clubs after Christmas made social events impossible. At Akron on December 27 a tea dance was given by the alumni at the University Club, and members were entertained at a dance at the City Club after the concert. In Cleveland on Sunday the alumni provided a coasting party and supper at the Mayfield Club. On Monday the Vassar Alumnae gave a tea dance at the College Club. Members of the clubs were also invited to dances after the concert, which most were unable to attend owing to the lack of time. In St. Louis on December 30 dressing rooms were provided at the Missouri Athletic Club, and a tea dance was given by the Misses Nulsen and Petring at the St. Louis Club. In Chicago on December 31 the clubs were housed at the University Club, where Cornell luncheon proved a particular attraction. A large number of alumni attended and several stunts and speeches enlivened the program. In the afternoon a theater party at the Majestic Theater was given by the alumni. In Cincinnati on January 1 a tea dance and dinner were given for the clubs at the Hamilton Country Club by Ralph Rogan '97, and after the concert buses were provided to take the members to the Cincinnati Country Club, where they were the guests at Mrs. Vachel Anderson's ball. An elaborate program at Pittsburgh was interrupted by the lateness of the train. In New York the members of the clubs were the guests of the alumni at a luncheon at the Cornell Club, and a dance was given in the Grand Ball Room of the Waldorf-Astoria after the concert.

The trip was in every way a success and the co-operation of the alumni made a very favorable impression on the members of the clubs and was of great assistance to the management. The enthusiasm of the alumni makes sure a successful trip next year.

A Final Batch of Reports

By Registrar, Adviser of Women, Heads of Four Colleges and Summer Session

We print below summaries of the reports of the deans of the Colleges of Agriculture, Architecture, Civil and Mechanical Engineering, the director of the Summer Session, the Adviser of Women, and the Registrar, this being the concluding instalment of the series.

Dean Mann's is the longest report. He first vigorously attacks the present absurd "budget" system of State appropriations, which prevents the quick adjustments of salary that are at times absolutely necessary in order to hold men here. The result of maintaining this system will be fatal to the welfare of the college. The year has been one of healthy progress toward recovery from the war. Two departments, Drawing and Farm Practice, have been discontinued as separate units and their members have been absorbed by other departments. Ten acres of land for experimental purposes have been acquired in Monroe County. There is great need of a forest tract of two thousand acres for research and demonstration purposes. Research in general has been vigorously prosecuted. The Faculty considered organizing a separate research staff, but decided that to do so would be opposed to the best interests of the college. Extension work has been developed and strengthened. More than 1,500,000 copies (3,674 pages) of bulletins, reports, etc., have been printed and distributed, more than half of these being reading-course lessons for the farm home.

Dean Martin was one of two who obtained recognition of architecture among the S. A. T. C. curricula, which recognition was amply justified by events. The total number registered in architecture during the year was 89, including ten women. Among the college needs specified are increased salaries; the expansion of the college into a College of Fine Arts; frequent lectures by distinguished practitioners; a deeper appreciation of the relation of true and fundamental education as opposed to mere technical training; more office and recitation rooms; a safer place for the library; in short, a large, new building.

Dean Haskell reports that in the third term there were 280 students in civil engineering, an increase of about 20 per cent over the previous year. The war roll of the College includes seven of the Faculty, 93 undergraduates, and 565 graduates. Fifteen men are mentioned who made the supreme sacrifice.

Dean Smith reports that the aviation school drew heavily on the Sibley Faculty, and that from June 15 to December 15, 1918, the Sibley shops were used exclusively by a war vocational school. The total number of students in Sibley was, in 1916-17, 890; in 1917-18, 593; in 1918-19, 741. The increase in the last year is probably due to war conditions. The specific needs of the college are endowment for the support of research; improvement in the quality of the teaching, by means of better salaries; new apparatus; and a new mechanical laboratory.

Director Bristol reports that in the Summer Session of 1918 the attendance fell off in most courses except French and music. On the general situation he has these pertinent remarks:

"The problems left to the public school by the war are many and serious. There has begun already a far-reaching reconstruction of the high school curriculum. Thousands of teachers will be compelled to adapt themselves to conditions for which they were not fitted, and they must have immediate and direct help. Few of them can attend a university during the winter. The Summer Session has the opportunity, and is reasonably charged with the duty, of preparing them to face their new tasks with some confidence. To this end it should offer in the various departments of instruction represented in the high school program courses arranged not only to present subject matter, but further to correlate this content with the problems of secondary instruction. Many excellent courses of the winter need revision to fit the needs of our summer attendance. Teaching in the Summer Session to be successful must be carefully planned in view of the peculiar demands of the students. It is pleasant work, but it has to be hard and serious work to be efficient and satisfactory."

Dr. Georgia L. White, adviser of women, reports that in 1918-19 there were 913 women at the University (879 at Ithaca), an increase of 7.9 per cent over the previous year; they were distributed as follows: Arts, 493; Agriculture, 291; Medicine, 50; Sibley, 6; C. E., 1; Architecture, 10; Law, 11; Graduate School, 65. Only 37.79 per cent of these were able to live in the dormitories and 18.07 per cent in eleven sorority houses; 11.06 per cent lived in outside approved houses and 9.2 per cent at home. There is thus great need of more residential halls for women. About one-fourth did remunerative work of some kind. In the Student Government Association emphasis was placed on the promotion of high standards, academic and social, and on constructive cooperation rather than on purely regulatory work; and on securing a feeling of individual responsibility and individual interest in the work of the association.

Mr. Hoy reports that up to June last 42,087 men and 10,799 women have attended the University, of whom 9,832 men and 6,560 women attended only in the short winter courses or the Summer Session. The number of matriculates the past year was 2,369. The total number of first degrees granted in 1918-19 was 535, bringing the total to 18,191; the number of advanced degrees was 70, bringing the total to 1,981. In all, 20,172 degrees have been granted thus far, to 16,278 men and 2,447 women. The total attendance for 1918-19 was 5,644. In 1918-19 648 were admitted on certificate, 649 on Regents' examinations, four on examination at Ithaca, and 22 on College Entrance Examination Board tests.

CORNELL YELL REVIVED

The Cornell Yell, the organ of the Cornell University Club of New York, which before the war was issued "often" by André Smith '02 and the late E. F. Graham '14, has been brought to life in practically the same form—a postcard-sized folder—and is to be issued "pretty often" with C. L.

Funnel '16, formerly of The Widow, as editor. Carl Burger '12 is drawing its cartoons. Since the club has moved into its quarters at 30 West 44th Street, over a hundred new members have been received. The Yell, the purpose of which is to carry announcements to members, began its fourth volume with the issue of January 3, and No. 2 appeared the following week.

Baseball Coach Chosen

John P. Henry, Amherst '10, Catcher for Johnson, Selected by Council

The Athletic Council last Friday chose John P. Henry as head coach of the baseball team for the current year. The Alumni Baseball Association, at its meeting on November 15, named three possibilities of whom Henry was one, any one of whom, if obtainable, would be satisfactory to them. Hugh Jennings '04 was a member of the advisory committee and his knowledge of the requirements and the possibilities, from his experience as a college coach, an alumnus, and a professional ball-player and manager, made his advice invaluable. Henry is the choice of the alumni organization, the team, and the Athletic Council.

Henry graduated from Amherst in 1910 and went immediately with the Washington team of the American League, playing until 1917. He was catcher for four years at Amherst and for eight seasons regular catcher for the Senators, catching for Walter Johnson among others. He has never coached a college team, but is of course fully alive to the difference between a college nine and a big league team. Manager Berry states that Henry, in all his catching experience, has never injured a finger.

FARMERS SUPPORT AG COLLEGE

The New York State Legislature will be asked by a representation of farmers of New York State to appropriate sufficient funds to erect and equip buildings which would put the State College of Agriculture on a par with the dairy industry of the State. The Legislature also will be asked for an adequate appropriation to maintain the present high standard of the teaching staff.

This action comes as the direct result of group conferences held at the college during the fall, which were attended by more than 125 farmers from all over the State. These conferences, it is said, were brought about by the concern felt by many New York State farmers over conditions which, it is claimed, now exist at the college.

At least four buildings will be started immediately if a sufficient appropriation, asked of the Legislature, is granted.

It is affirmed that the farmers have found that buildings and rooms are too small in practically every department, ventilation is poor, and light is inadequate for the tremendous business of the college. The Dairy Department, it is claimed, is fully ten years behind the dairy industry, and the equipment is sufficient only to teach the making of butter and cheese. Salaries are so low, moreover, that many of the teachers have left for other work.

A CLEAN-UP COMMITTEE

The Committee of Twenty of Utica, N. Y., of which Charles B. Mason '94 is a member, has just issued its second annual report, covering the year ending September 30, 1919. The aim of the committee is to stamp out commercialized vice. The report shows distinct progress. During the past year the committee complained to city, county, and State authorities against 293 violations of the law. 185 were made to the city, 22 to the county, and 86 to the State. The State Department of Excise gave apparently more efficient cooperation than the city authorities. The committee has secured a relatively greater number of jail sentences and a diminution of the number of fines imposed; also a system of licenses for pool and billiard rooms and bowling alleys, which will prevent such places from degenerating into hang-outs encouraging vice.

The committee hopes before another year is ended to secure a trained social worker on full time.

There are now 119 associate (supporting) members; the committee hopes to increase this to eight hundred or a thousand.

KOCH AT NORTHWESTERN

Theodore W. Koch, assistant in the Library from 1895 to 1900, and the compiler of the Catalogue of the Cornell Dante Collection, is now librarian of Northwestern University. After leaving Cornell he became librarian of the University of Michigan and was afterwards chief of the order department of the Library of Congress.

On January 3 he gave an illustrated lecture before the University Club of Evanston on "Famous Libraries."

WILLIAM GUSTIN of Boston has been selected as boxing coach for the remainder of the year. He is himself a boxer of long experience; and he has been coach in the Armory Athletic Club of Boston and in the Army during the war. He has already taken charge of boxing at Cornell. There is a possibility of an intercollegiate boxing meet, favorable sentiments being expressed at various colleges and stimulated by the General Staff.

FARMERS' WEEK AND JUNIOR WEEK this year fall at the same time, the former beginning Monday, February 9, the latter February 11. Complications are foreseen in housing, feeding, and transportation, and efforts are being made in advance to obviate them.

Published for the Associate Alumni of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company, Incorporated.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly during the summer; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. Weekly publication (numbered consecutively) continues through Commencement Week. Issue No. 40 is published in August and is followed by an index of the entire volume, which will be mailed on request.

Subscription price $3.60 a year, payable in advance. Foreign postage 40 cents a year extra. Single copies twelve cents each.

Should a subscriber desire to discontinue his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent in before its expiration. Otherwise it is assumed that a continuance of the subscription is desired.

Checks, drafts, and orders should be made payable to Cornell Alumni News.

A COLLEGE OF HOME ECONOMICS

The ALUMNI NEWS wishes to endorse heartily the movement for the elevation of the Department of Home Economics into a separate college. It will make, we believe, for greater efficiency in administration, and will largely facilitate the solution of many problems connected with the education of women—problems with which the College of Agriculture as such has little if any more to do than has Architecture or Law. It will help the students in these branches to cultivate such an esprit du corps as they could scarcely hope for if they continued to be a part of the College of Agriculture. If the new college is so fortunate as to be able to continue under the able management which the department has hitherto enjoyed, its success seems to us assured.

FOUNDER'S DAY UNOBSERVED

Founder's Day passed this year, as it did last, without official observance. A year ago difficulties in rearranging the calendar adopted during the war precluded a celebration; this year the eleventh of January fell on Sunday. We trust, however, that Cornellians both in Ithaca and elsewhere found occasion for at least a few minutes of earnest reflection on the life and achievements and ideals of Ezra Cornell, for some thought in grateful appreciation of the benefits made possible by his labors and his devotion "true and firm."

"True" as the steel to star:

With eye whose lifted lid
Let in all truth though far

In storm and darkness hid.

"Firm" as the oak's tough grain,

Yet pliant to the prayer

Of Poverty or Pain

As leaf to troubled air.

"The spires that crown the hill

To plainest Labor free,

Where all may learn who will,

His monument shall be."

CORNELL NOT INTERESTED

Concerning the new Teachers' Union recently organized in New York Dean Niles, of the Medical College in New York, under date of December 31 writes to the ALUMNI NEWS as follows:

"I have seen several accounts similar to the one which you sent to me and all of which stated that 'the new Teachers' Union is enlisting members from various universities, including Cornell Medical College.'

"The solicitation of members, so far as I know, has been entirely through circular letters and is hardly sufficient reason for presuming that the Medical Staff will have any part in the Union. In fact, after considerable inquiry I have learned of only one member of our staff who has joined the Teachers' Union. He is a young assistant who is serving his first year's appointment. Almost without exception our Faculty are opposed to joining such an organization."

A NOTABLE CONCERT

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Ossip Gabrilowitsch, on the eve of Founder's Day, gave a concert in Bailey Hall, the third entertainment in this year's series under the auspices of the Department of Music. As on the former occasions, the hall was filled to overflowing; every audience thus far has taxed the capacity of the building. Since all seats were sold in advance to purchasers of season tickets, those who wish to attend but once must trust to chance that a seat here or there may be available or must be content with standing room only. For the same reason advertising of the separate concerts is unnecessary. Saturday evening's program, excellent in choice and well-rendered, was this:

Overture to "Oberon"-----Weber
Symphony No. 5, in C minor, Op.

67 -----Beethoven

Allegro con brio.

Andante con moto.

Scherzo.

Allegro.

Concerto in E minor for Violin and

Orchestra -----Mendelssohn

Allegro molto appassionato.

Andante.

Allegretto non troppo: Allegro
molto vivace.

ILYA SCHKOLNIK.

Overture to "Tannhäuser"----Wagner

The fourth concert will be given by the Philadelphia Orchestra on Wednesday, March 17.

CORNELL AT TENNESSEE

The following Cornell men are members of the faculty of the University of Tennessee: John A. Switzer, M. E. '96, professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering; Gordon M. Bentley, B. S. A. '00, A. M. '01, professor of entomology; Charles B. Burke, Ph. B. '01, professor of English; Charles E. Allred, M. S. A. '13, professor of agricultural economics; Nathan W. Dougherty, M. C. E. '13, professor of civil engineering; Lex R. Hesler, Ph. D. '14, professor of botany; and Walter H. MacIntire, Ph. D. '17, chemist of the Experiment Station.

A MEMORIAL ADVERTISEMENT

We quote the following from The New York Times for January 11:

"Julian R. Tinkham, of Upper Montclair, N. J., is placing an advertisement in favor of the ratification of the Treaty of Peace, including the League of Nations covenant, in a number of newspapers throughout the United States as a memorial to his son, Ensign Edward I. Tinkham, a naval aviator, who died in the service at Ravenna, Italy, on March 30, 1919. The advertisement contains a petition signed by forty-nine of the fifty-nine members of the American Legion post named in his honor, and in part reads:

"Germany has been defeated and the outcome has been a solemn international engagement for war's prevention. The United States, however, may celebrate no triumph until she has become a sincere party to that engagement, for, in denying this obligation, her Government is false to its professions and guilty of betrayal of those who at its command suffered and died for a great ideal.

"We believe the prevention of war can only be accomplished by the co-operation of nations to abolish neutrality and make international war the concern of all, to limit armaments, to arbitrate differences, to forego secret treaties and to boycott economically would-be belligerent nations."

NEW CLUB SECRETARIES

Several changes in secretaries of Cornell alumni clubs have been made since last summer, while several secretaries have changed their addresses.

St. Paul.—J. J. Caulfield, Twin City Rapid Transit Company.

Southern Ohio.—Tell Berna, G. A. Gray Co., Gest and Depot Streets, Cincinnati.

Dayton.—Barton Myers, Travelers' Insurance Co., 412 Dayton Savings and Trust Building.

Waterbury, Conn.—William Van Kirk, Box 133.

OBITUARY

Howard W. Baker '86

Howard Winfield Baker died at his home in Coronado, Calif., on December 30, of heart failure.

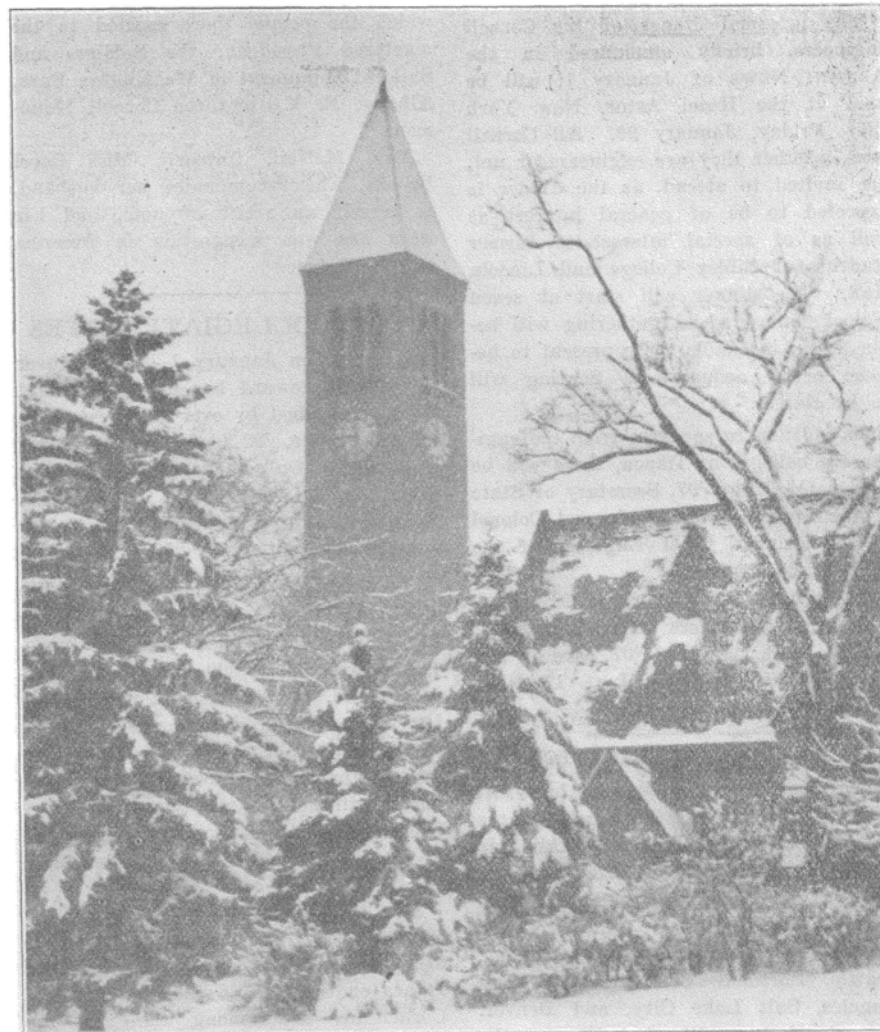

Mr. Baker was a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering. Soon after his graduation he became superintendent of construction and locating engineer with the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern Railroad. After leaving this company he became associated with Butler Brothers, of Chicago, and later was made manager of their Minneapolis branch. He retired from active business some years ago, and had made his home in Coronado.

He was a brother of Charles H. Baker '86, of Mohegan Lake, N. Y.

Ralph B. Hamilton '96

Ralph Bergen Hamilton died at Cleveland, Ohio, on December 24; death resulted from a heart attack suffered early in December.

He was born on April 11, 1875, and was graduated from Sibley College in 1896; he was a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Practically his whole business life had been spent in St. Catharines, Ontario, first as general manager, and later as president of the Packard Electric Company, Ltd. He had lately moved to Cleveland as vice-president of the National Safe Company, and had nearly finished engineering a merger that would have been a great triumph for him. For the past few years he had also been president of the Cary Safe Company, of Buffalo.

Mr. Hamilton is survived by his widow and four children, the eldest of whom, Ralph Bergen, jr., is a freshman in the College of Civil Engineering. He leaves also a brother, John Alan Hamilton '92, of Buffalo.

Herman F. Schnirel '06

Information has been received that the death of H. F. Schnirel, which was recorded in the ALUMNI NEWS for July, 1919, occurred on April 19, 1919, at Sülze bei Celle, Hanover, Germany. Schnirel's health had been poor for six years prior to his death. He was ill in a sanitarium when it was possible for Americans to leave Germany, and was later held as an alien.

LIBRARIAN WILLARD AUSTEN '91 attended, during the first three days of January, the national conference in Chicago of the American Library Association. The meeting was called for the purpose of securing concerted action in the solution of problems which the war, in libraries as everywhere else, brought in its train.

DR. MEYER G. GABA, from 1915, to 1918 an instructor in mathematics here, has been appointed an associate professor of mathematics at the University of Nebraska.

ENGINEERS MEET NEXT WEEK

The informal dinner of the Cornell engineers, briefly announced in the ALUMNI NEWS of January 1, will be held at the Hotel Astor, New York City, Friday, January 23. All Cornell men, whether they are engineers or not, are invited to attend, as the dinner is expected to be of general interest as well as of special interest to former students of Sibley College and Lincoln Hall. The dinner will start at seven o'clock, but a social gathering will begin at six to enable those present to become better acquainted. Seating will be by classes.

In addition to speakers from the engineering colleges at Ithaca, there will be Francis M. Hugo '97, Secretary of State of the State of New York, and Colonel W. C. Langfitt, Chief Engineer of the A. E. F. in France.

The price of the dinner is $5. Reservations and remittances should be sent at once to L. B. Cleveland '07, care of The Associated Contractors, Inc., 17 West 42d Street, New York City.

KIMBALL'S SPEAKING TOUR

Professor D. S. Kimball has left Ithaca for a trip of five weeks to the Pacific coast. He will make this trip in the interest both of Cornell University and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He plans to stop in Chicago, St. Paul, Butte, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, and Denver. In each of those cities he will meet the local committee on the Cornell University Endowment Fund and the local section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. In the larger cities he will address joint meetings of the engineering societies. He expects to resume his work in Ithaca at the beginning of the second term.

MCNEIL A PROFESSOR AT ROME

Herman Atkins McNeil, instructor in industrial art here in 1886-9, and now of College Point, L. I., sailed on January 3 for Rome, where he is to be for the next six months a professor in the Academia Americana di Roma. Mr. McNeil was the first American student in this academy, in which he studied twenty-four years ago. The bestowal of this professorship is considered a testimonial to his high standing among the sculptors of the day. A recent newspaper writer says: "Three of Mr. McNeil's most notable creations are the McKinley Memorial in Columbus, Ohio, which the people there erected to the martyred President; the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument in Washington Park, Albany, N. Y.; and the Cornell Monument."

Mrs. McNeil, formerly Miss Carol Brooks, who accompanies her husband, is herself an artist of note, and her work has won recognition in America and in France.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

HARVARD on January 1 had well over $11,000,000 toward her new endowment fund, subscribed by over 14,000 persons. Of the classes, '92 leads with over half a million. Only $1,400,000 has come from non-Harvard men and women. Regular Harvard students have so far subscribed about $8,519,000.

PRINCETON, it was reported in The Princeton Alumni Weekly for December 17, had at that time obtained something over $3,000,000 for her endowment fund. It has been announced by President Hibben and Chairman Henry B. Thompson, of the Endowment Committee, that the endowment fund campaign will not be abandoned in consequence of the Frick gift, the actual value of which will not be known for some time.

EDWIN C. STEWART, former state senator, assumed his duties as mayor of Ithaca on the first of January. Several Cornellians are among the new appointees to city offices: city attorney, Riley H. Heath '12; police commissioner, George S. Tarbell '91; health commissioners, J. Wesley Judd '95 and Leon D. Rothschild '09; commissioner of public works, Lawrence C. Ramsey '11; building commissioner, Henry N. Hinckley '11; acting city judge, Harry C. Baldwin '06; sinking fund commissioner, Emmons L. Williams, lately comptroller of the University. The new commissioner of charities, Mrs. Effie D. Morse, mother of Robert V. Morse '11, is the first woman to head an Ithaca city department. Mayor Stewart, elected on a non-partisan ticket, promises a business administration, regarding himself and the Common Council as directors of a corporation, the citizens as the stockholders, two bodies which should have a full understanding and enjoy the confidence of each other. The council, by reason of the previous experience of its members both in business and in municipal government, is the strongest that the city has had in years. Among his recommendations Mr. Stewart proposes that Ithaca should acquire at least a portion of the land fronting the lake and maintain it as a public park.

ITHACA'S SHARE of State and county taxes for 1920 is $118,529.91, the consequent rate for each thousand dollars of assessment being approximately $7.44.

ATHLETICS*Another Basketball Victory

The basketball team resumed its schedule last Wednesday, defeating Bucknell by the score of 36 to 25 in a ragged game. Both teams suffered from the interruption of practice caused by the holiday vacation, and their play lacked finish.

Cornell's field goal throwing was rather efficient, but in tries for fouls the Cornell marksmen missed more than half of their chances.

Cornell scored first when Bastian caged a field goal, but Bucknell soon tied and then obtained a temporary lead, 5 to 3. The Cornell team then got together and drew rapidly ahead, the half ending 18 to 6 in their favor. A Bucknell rally in the second period in which Waddell and Townsend were the principals brought the score to 19 for the visitors to 22 for the home team, but Captain Molinet's men then settled down and proceeded to make the game safe. In the second period three substitutions were made by Coach Ortner, one of them, that of Sidman for Porter, being particularly helpful.

LITERARY REVIEW

Dewey's Logical Theory

John Dewey's Logical Theory. By Delton Thomas Howard, Ph. D. '16. New York. Longmans, Green, & Co. 1919. 8vo, pp. vi, 135. Cornell Studies in Philosophy, No. 11.

This is a good book. The author goes over the whole range of Professor Dewey's writings and presents a vigorous criticism of Dewey's philosophical point of view, to which Howard is consistently opposed. He thinks Dewey was wrong at the outset of his career when he asserted that the psychological point of view was held in common by the transcendentalists and the British empiricists, and that he has continued to be wrong on many points ever since.

For Dewey "organism in relation to environment" becomes the keystone of the theory of knowledge. He interprets thought as itself a function of the organism, biologically considered. This biological or functional psychology Howard weighs in the balance and finds it wanting. The net result of Dewey's theory, Howard thinks, is "to place the function of knowing in an embarrassing situation with respect to its capacity for giving a correct report of reality." The purpose of knowing, it is true, is not, Dewey asserts, to give an account of the nature of things. Reality "is what it is 'experienced as being,' and it is normally experienced in other ways than by being known"; it is not something to be searched out, but is here, and now, as it comes and goes in the form of passing experience. Knowledge is transformed, cumulative experience—experience reflected upon, digested. Thus Dewey, himself, having reflected upon experience, professes to give a correct account of its nature. But on his own terms he has failed, since he holds reflection to be "shut in to its own moment" and therefore unable to "deal adequately with any problems except such as are furnished it by other 'functions.'" He sharply separates thought from action; Howard maintains that thought is a part of action; it "accompanies all conscious life, in greater or less degree, and the moment of real, earnest thinking is at the high tide of life, when all the powers are awake and operating. Thought must be made integral with all other activities, a feature of the total life organization, rather than an isolated phenomenon. Man is a thinking organism, not an organism with a thinker."

This attitude of Dewey's "cut him off from the community of understanding that exists among modern idealists concerning the proper aims and purposes of philosophical inquiry." His opposition to idealism is ill-based. "Are the categories of biology fitted to explain mind and spirit?" Without thinking this question through, Dewey assumes "evolutionism as final, and attempts to force all phenomena into conformity with his resulting logical scheme." In contrast with the method which combines criticism with experiment, Dewey's psychological method "seems strained and far-fetched, an artificial and externally motivated attempt to guide the intellect, which only by depending upon its own resources and its own increasing insight can hope to attain the distant and difficult, but never really foreign goal."

Books and Magazine Articles

In Economic Geology for December Bert S. Butler '05 writes on "Primary (Hypogene) Sulphate Minerals in Ore Deposits."

Professor Albert L. Andrews contributes to Rhodora for November a note on "Dieranoweisia Crispula in the White Mountains."

Dr. William A. Murrill '00, in Mycologia, of which he is the editor, for November, continues his "Illustrations of Fungi," describes "A Field Meeting of Pathologists" held at New Haven and Storrs, Connecticut, on August 18, and contributes several notes.

In Bird-Lore for November-December Louis A. Fuertes '97 furnishes as a frontispiece a handsome colored page of jays (Canada, Oregon, Piñon, Clarke's Nutcracker), and also furnishes several illustrations for Frank M. Chapman's "Notes from a Traveler in the Tropics (Chile)." The annual report (illustrated) of the Cayuga Bird Club, by Professor Arthur A. Allen '07, also appears.

Professor Arthur A. Allen '07 writes in American Forestry for December on "A Christmas Walk with Birds and Beasts," illustrated in twelve photographs, and Frank W. Rane, M. S. '92, discusses the question, "Why Not a Secretary of Forestry?"

In The Psychological Review for November Professor Grace A. de Laguna '03, of Bryn Mawr, writes on "Emotion and Perception from the Behaviorist Standpoint."

ALUMNI NOTES

'79 BCE—James C. Kennedy is engaged in the general practice of civil and mining engineering at Fernington, Nevada; he is at present working on surveys for a reservoir and power development project on the West Walker River, California. His mail address is Box 503, Fernington.

'89 BS—Mrs. J. Herbert Ballantine, the wife of J. Herbert Ballantine '89, of New York, died on December 24 at Pasadena, Calif. Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, John Holmes '15, and Herbert Wilgus '17, of New York.

'92 BL—Dr. John L. Elliott, head worker of the Hudson Guild in New York and president of the National Federation of Settlements, recently spoke at the convention of the Cooperative League of America in Paterson, N. J.

'00 BS—Professor Thomas L. Hankinson has been named ichthyologist of the Roosevelt Wild Life Experiment Station of the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University. For the past seventeen years Professor Hankinson has been engaged in the study of fish in Michigan and Illinois, and for five years has been cooperating with Dr. Adams in the study of the fish in Oneida Lake and the Palisades Interstate Park region; since 1902 he has been teaching biological sciences in the Eastern Illinois Normal School, Charlestown, Ill. He is about to publish a report on the fish in Lake Michigan.

'01 AB—Clarence H. Fay was married on December 24 to Mrs. Florence Ostrander Parcells, of Brooklyn. On the same day he was appointed commissioner of public work of the Borough of Manhattan. Fay has been practicing law in Brooklyn since 1903; in 1910 he was appointed a deputy attorney general, in 1914 was made secretary of the New York Fire Department, and in 1915 was appointed deputy fire commissioner. He is secretary of the Republican County Committee in New York.

'03 FE—Asa S. Williams was married on October 30, 1918, to Miss Bell Larkin; they are living at 3937 Osler Avenue, Vancouver, B. C. He is interested in the development of logging along the coast, and has recently opened an office at 330 Seymour Street, Vancouver.

'03 LLB—Egbert V. Nelson, formerly assistant trust officer of the South Side Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has recently been appointed trust officer. Before he became associated with this company in 1910, he practiced law in New York.

'04 AB—Jay B. Odell is general manager of the Southeastern Division of the Western Electric Company; his address is Three Chopt Road, West Hampton, Va.

'04 AB, '06 BArch—Charles E. Cutler is practicing architecture at Westport, Conn. During the war he was resident architect for the York ship village at Camden, N. J.

'04 LLB—Francis L. Durk and Miss Marie E. Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Donnelly, of Brooklyn, were married on December 29 at the Hotel Bossert, New York.

'05 AB—Andrew W. Newberry has opened an office at Room 1800, 66 Broadway, New York, for the examination of mining properties. He graduated in 1907 from the Columbia School of Mines.

'05 CE—At the November election, Nathan N. Tiffany was re-elected supervisor of the town of East Hampton, N. Y. He is chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Suffolk County.

'06 CE—Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Knowlton announce the birth of a daughter, Nancy Hamlin, on November 20.

'08 ME—Fayette A. Cook is with the American Engineering Company, 1111 Citizens Bank Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

'08 CE—Roy Paulus is vice-president of the Paulus-Ullman Pointing Corporation, of New York. His address is 295 Lafayette Street.

'08 ME—Alvah A. Scott has been appointed plantation manager of the Hilo Sugar Company, of Honolulu, to succeed his father, John A. Scott, who retired on January 1, having been manager for the past thirty-five years. The son has been directly connected with the company for about ten years.

'09 BSA—A daughter, Helen Irene, was born on March 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Willard, jr., 153 Oakley Road, Belmont, Mass. Since September, 1917, Willard has been with the Fottler, Fiske, Rawson Company, The Seed Store, 12-13 Fanueil Hall Square, Boston, Mass.

'09 ME—William Wilke, jr., is secretary and treasurer of the Metals Refining Company, Hammond, Ind.; his address is 28 Detroit Street.

'09 ME—Adrian V. S. Lindsley is with the Connecticut Light and Power Company, Waterbury, Conn.

'11 LLB—William E. Hawke is a traveling auditor for Stone & Webster, of Boston; his permanent address is 31 Holyoke Street, Malden, Mass.

'12 ME—George F. Myers is now living at 231 East Thirtieth Street, Paterson, N. J. He served with the 29th Division in France, as a captain in Company B, 111th Machine Gun Battalion, and as a member of the division commander's staff during the Argonne offensive.

'12 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Foster M. Coffin announce the birth of a daughter, Priscilla Miles, on January 6. Coffin is with the National Bank of Commerce in New York.

'12 AB, '16 AM; '16-18 G—Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Demaree (Anna J. Haney '12) are living at 1 Austin Street, Asheville, N. C.

'13 CE—Henry Ten Hagen was discharged from the 3d Engineers on June 27, at Corozal, Canal Zone. On July 20 he entered upon his duties as county assistant with the State Commission of Highways, in charge of Wyoming County, New York. His address is Warsaw, N. Y.

'13 ME—Donald H. Reeves is chief of the fuel systems branch, Engineering Division, of the Air Service, and is located at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio. He lives at 351 Edgewood Avenue, Dayton.

'13 CE—Holbert W. Fear is a junior member of the firm of Fear and White, glove manufacturers, of Gloversville, N. Y. He lives at 74 Prospect Street. He resigned on February 1, 1918, as assistant engineer in the water resources branch of the U. S. Geological Survey, at Boston.

'13 AB; '16 ME—A daughter was born on November 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Roese (Gretchen Hainlin '13), 29 North Forge Street, Akron, Ohio. She has been named Gretchen Hainlin Roese.

'13 ME—Charles S. Thayer is in charge of the recently organized efficiency department of the Massena works of the Aluminum Company of America. His address is 24 Allen Street, Massena, N. Y.

'13 AB—A daughter, Annette, was born on November 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph F. Zang, 709 Clarkson Street, Denver, Colo.

'14 CE—Thomas T. Newbold is an engineer for Irwin and Leighton, working on the construction of a dirigible hangar for the Navy Department. He received his discharge from the Army on July 28, as captain of engineers, after thirteen months in France with the 302d Engineers and the 544th Engineers. His present address is Box 166, Lakehurst, N. J.

'14 AB—Millard's Review of Shanghai, China, publishes for 1919 "Who's Who in China" (8vo, 134 pages), in which appear a portrait and sketch of the career of Suh Hu, literary revolutionist. After leaving Cornell, Hu continued his advanced studies in philosophy, and was given a graduate scholarship at the Sage School of Philosophy; then he went to Columbia, where he spent two years winning his Ph. D. degree. He is the champion of radical reform in Chinese literature, insisting upon the use of the colloquial tongue, and has written in La Jeunesse and The Chinese Students' Quarterly several strong articles embodying the results of his mature thoughts. He is the first Chinese poet to use, since 1910, the spoken language in poetry. The result is, besides his own poems, the very promising school of vulgate poets. Dr. Hu is a professor of philosophy in the Government University in Peking, and is acting head of the Department of English Literature. His two latest books, in 1918 and 1919, are written in vulgate, or the ordinary spoken Chinese, a bold venture.

'14 CE—John M. Phillips is resident engineer of Boonton, N. J. His address is Lathrop Avenue, Boonton.

'15 ME—Mr. and Mrs. John Willard Braffette announce the birth of a daughter, Betty Ann, on December 4.

'15 BS—George E. Cornwell is general manager of the Spring Brook Farms, Inc., West Cocksackie, N. Y.

'15 ME—J. Orne Green is with the Erie Tool Works, Erie, Pa. He lives at 530 East Sixth Street.

'15 BChem—Lewis C. Perry, jr., who since 1915 has been with the Standard Oil Company of New York in China, is spending a five-months' furlough in this country. He spent two and a half years in Shantung, the province which has been of so much interest internationally of late years, and since January, 1919, has been manager of the lubricating oil division at Hankow. His address for the present is 206 Eddy Street, Ithaca.

'15 (M. D., Harvard '19)—Dr. Donald C. McGill is house officer in charge of gynecological and obstetrical service at the Boston City Hospital.

'15 CE—Edward J. Thomas is assistant superintendent of the Barksdale, Wis., works of the Du Pont Chemical Company; his mail address is P. O. Box 832, Washburn, Wis.

'16 ME—Robert A. Anderson and Miss Margaret Leith Center, both of Honolulu, were married on November 14 at Chicago. They are at home at 5045 North Robey Street, Chicago.

'16 AB—George R. Allen is a member of the class of 1921 at the University of Vermont Medical School; he lives at 32 Orchard Terrace, Burlington, Vt.

'16 ME—August H. Bamman was discharged from the Army on July 3; his present address is 64 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J.

'16 BChem—J. Stanley Babbitt was discharged from the service on August 15 at Camp Dix, N. J.; he is now a chemical engineer with the Barrett Manufacturing Company, 17 Battery Place, New York, and lives at Prospect Park, White Plains, N. Y.

'17 BS—William A. Duckham is a member of the sales force of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, Pittsburgh, Pa. He lives at 246 Rebecca Street.

'17 AB—Watson G. Harding is with the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio. He lives at the University Club.

'17 BS—Miss Melva M. Lattimore is financial assistant at the American Red Cross Cafeteria, National Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Fitted to Business Big and Little

Your business may be large or small. But in either case its operations can be made simpler, swifter and more accurate by the application of Baker-Vawter ideas and devices to clerical tasks. They will save you money, too. If you have an office problem one of our men will discuss it intelligently with you.

To facilitate deliveries we maintain production at these points:

Benton Harbor, Mich.
San Francisco, Cal.
Holyoke, Mass.

At this, one of Washington's finest hotels, the largest-selling cigarette is Fatima—showing the fast-growing preference for this inexpensive, "just-enough-Turkish" blend. Not only do Fatimas please the taste but, as compared with straight Turkish cigarettes, they never give you any worry as to "how many."

ROXBURY

Roxbury's success has been due to the efficiency of teaching method. There are no forms. After a careful physical and psychological test each boy is assigned to classes no larger than 5. The number of hours' instruction in each course, the size and character of class entered, and the number of courses a boy may carry are determined by his ability and state of preparation.

Large faculty—one master for each five boys. One hundred and fifty-acre campus and farm. Three dormitories. All athletic teams, gym work, boxing, wrestling, under expert coaches and instructors. Ten saddle horses for boy's use. A large open-air swimming pool to be constructed next spring. Two months' summer session for boys who need additional work, and boys preparing for September examinations.

Roxbury's record has been extraordinary. This summer only two out of over one hundred final candidates failed to enter college.

Students admitted any time during the year when there are vacancies.
