Good Attendance at Class Reunions

Nine classes held successful reunions on June 12 and 13. The numbers of those present ranged from twelve to seventy, the class of '94 having the largest party. The weather throughout the reunion period was all that could be wished. Chief among the events of general interest was a rally given by the class of 1899 at the Star Theatre on Saturday night. This is described on another page. It was an ideal means of bringing the old grads and the seniors together and it offered good entertainment. Everybody who was there voted that it ought to be done every year. The Musical Clubs and graduate and undergraduate members of the Savage Club gave a show for the alumni at the Lyceum on Friday night. On Saturday night President Schurman made the round of the class dinners and gave a welcome to the alumni in behalf of the University.

No Reunion of '69

This was the year for the celebration of the forty-fifth anniversary of the graduation of the class of 1869, the first ones to take degrees at Cornell, but no member of that class was registered in Ithaca.

The Forty Year Reunion

A coincidence which added much interest to the forty year reunion of the class of 1874 was the fact that just at this time Professor J. H. Comstock, a member of that class, was retiring from the University Faculty and was honored by a number of his former pupils in the gift of a memorial library to the University.

The '74 men had the Rites house at 516 University Avenue for their reunion quarters. This is a large house and was ample for the purpose. Nine of the men who came back brought their wives with them. The reunion of the class was in effect a week-end house party. Some of the men came as early as Thursday, and Monday morning found some still there.

The class dinner was held at the Rites house on Saturday evening. There was no formal program of toasts. President Schurman was the guest of the class for a good part of the dinner, as he began his round of visits that evening with '74. Mynderse Van Cleef, the president of the class, presided at the dinner. The class gave Professor Comstock a leather traveling bag and a silver water pitcher to show their appreciation of the work he had done in arranging for this class reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Mynderse Van Cleef entertained the class at a reception at their home on Saturday afternoon. The following members of the class attended the reunion :

J. L. Stone, Ithaca; Nelson W. Cady, Logansport, Ind.; Frank P. Wheeler, Chicago; F. C. Tomlinson, Ironton, Ohio; W. N. Smith, Canajoharie; J. H. Comstock, Ithaca; F. A. Darrow, Owego; J. C. Branner, Stanford University, Cal.; J. H. Southard, Toledo; F. W. Cooper, Pueblo, Col.; W. H. Sweeting, Savannah, N. Y.; J. Duncan Upham, Claremont, N. H.; Henry Tift, Chicago; H. B. Robinson, Oil City, Pa.; W. R. Lazenby, Columbus, Ohio; C. R. Dempster, San Francisco; H. M. Gillett, Bay City, Mich.; B. W. Law, Collins, N. Y.; J. Harvey Peirce, Chicago; Mynderse Van Cleef, Ithaca; A. J. Lamoureux, Ithaca; F. C. Wood, Buffalo; H. L. Fairchild, Rochester; Edward Hayes, Ithaca; Lewis P. Tier, Cleveland.

Representatives of '79

Twelve members of the class of 1879 were in Ithaca for the thirty-five year reunion. They met on Saturday night for dinner at the Ithaca Hotel. The following members were present :

George F. Simpson, New York; W. A. Ingalls, Phelps, N. Y.; Clayton Ryder, Carmel, N. Y.; F. J. Whiton, New York; F. W. Skinner, New York; S. J. Gibson, Norwich, N. Y.; Mary M. Pitcher, Ithaca; Lena L. Severance, Buffalo; Frank H. Severance, Buffalo; G. A. Dounce, Syracuse; Calvin Tomkins, New York; Addison Weed, North Rose, N. Y.

Gathering of the "Thirties"

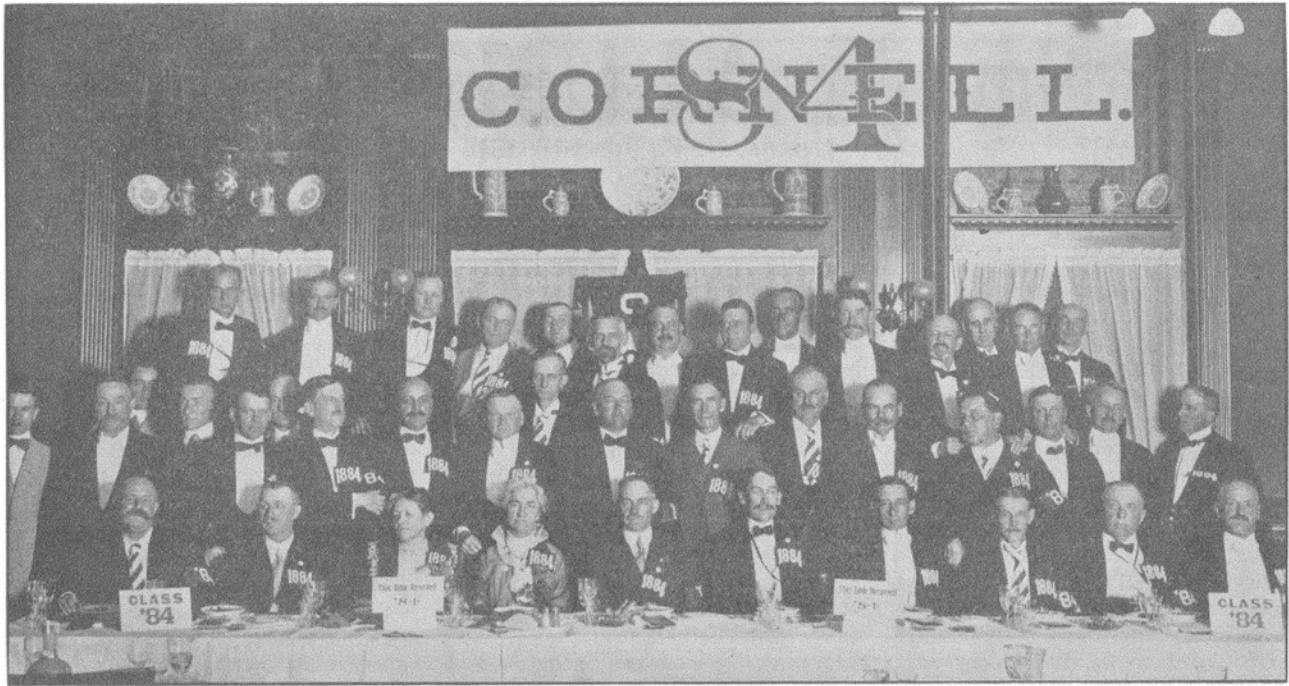

There was a good representation of the class of '84 for the thirty year reunion. They made their headquarters at the Ithaca Hotel. This class had the nearest approach to a reunion costume of all the older classes, for they wore arm bands and red and white neckties. The reunion began on Friday noon with a luncheon at the Home Economics building. The class dinner was held Saturday night at the Ithaca Hotel.

Sunday was given up to an excursion down the lake. A boat was chartered and the members of the class and their families went to Taughannock Falls and then on to Sheldrake for luncheon. They returned to Ithaca in the afternoon and most of them met at the Ithaca Hotel in the evening for a farewell supper. Following is the '84 reunion list :

W. L. Webb, Lansdowne, Pa.; C. B. Dann, New Haven, Conn.; H. D. Sibley, Olean, N. Y.; Lucretia Taber Kellogg, Philadelphia; T. S. Williams, Brooklyn; Ida Cornell Kerr, Ithaca; E. G. Y.; G. B. Davidson, Scranton, Pa.; W. F. Cassey, Newburgh; C. A. Brewster, Addison; Lewis H. Tuthill, New York; Delbert H. Decker, Millerton, N. Y.; F. W. Carpenter, New York.

'89 Starts an Endowment Fund

The class of '89 made its twenty-five year reunion noteworthy by beginning the collection of a class fund to be added to the permanent endowment of the University. A sum amounting to several thousand dollars was raised for the beginning of such a fund. Members of the class said that they hoped subsequent twenty-five year classes would adopt the idea and they believed that if this were done it would be a means of substantial addition to the University's resources.

This class had a part of the Cascadilla Dormitory for its quarters. The first gathering was for luncheon at the Home Economics Building on Friday noon. On Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Treman gave a reception for the class at their home, and at 7 o'clock the class dinner was held in the dining room of the Cascadilla Dormitory. The following members attended the reunion:

'94's Large Delegation

The class of 1894 had one of the largest reunions of all, with about seventy members present. They got together for the first time at a luncheon at the Home Economics building on Friday noon. The secretary, E. E. Bogart, called the roll of those present. As he read the names he recalled, so far as those present had figured in it, the list of honors conferred by the class in its senior vote twenty years ago, that is, the handsomest man, the most conceited, etc. In behalf of the class, Delehanty then presented a token of appreciation to the "class baby," Miss Marion Towle.

On Saturday night the class had a smoker at the Senate, and one of the large rooms on the third floor was packed full of '94 men and a few guests from '93 and '95. The class gave Bogart a loving-cup. One of the '95 men related the story of what happened inside Clinton Hall on that famous night in 1892 when so many windows on Cayuga Street were smashed. Delehanty, as toastmaster, and Sanderson, as toastmaster for his end of the room, called on a large number of '94 men for talks and stories. The period of the two Suns was reviewed by Ahern and Rosewater. Fordham sang an original song entitled "Twenty Years After," and the class joined heartily in the chorus. President Schurman came in and gave a short talk in which he expressed his pleasure at seeing so large an attendance of the members of the twenty year class. Following is a list of those who attended the reunion:

J. L. Ahern, Buffalo; W. J. Andrews, Raleigh, N. C.; E. G. Ashley, Rochester; W. E. Austin, New York; D. W. Barron, Buffalo; G. E. Barnes, Herkimer, N. Y.; F. W. Barry, Pittsburgh; Wallace B. Beardsley, Arlington Heights, Ill.; Anna Benjamin, Owego; E. E. Bogart, New York; H. H. Burroughs, Washington, D. C.; E. B. Clark, Chicago; F. G. Clark, Toronto, Ont.; E. S.

The '99 Reunion

Forty-four members of the class of 1899 made a busy two days of the reunion. Shorty Zeller was about the first of the crowd to show up in Ithaca, but he did not have a very long start, for there were many of the blue sailor suits worn Friday morning. Some of the wearers of the suits spent that morning in an inspection of the campus, and some of them were too busy. That night the class had an informal dinner at the Dutch and then went to the concert at the Lyceum. Saturday morning there was a class baseball game on the Playground, in which most of the men limbered up. After a lunch at the Dutch the men piled into motor trucks and saw the varsity nine lose to Colgate. The class dinner was held on Saturday evening at the Alhambra. There were speeches by President Schurman, Lieutenant Bull, John N. Ostrom '77, Sport Ward '11, and H. W. Peters '14. At 10:30 the committee in charge of the '99 Rally opened the doors of the Star Theatre to the alumni and the senior class, inaugurating a reunion week function which they hope to see become an established custom.

Following is the '99 reunion roll :

The class of 1904 had a picturesque costume which consisted mostly of a Roman toga and included a wooden dagger and a tin shield. Many of the men had rooms in the Cascadilla Dormitory, and the class established its headquarters in a vacant store on South Aurora Street. Various meetings were held by the class during the two reunion days, and the men all turned out in costume for the parade on Friday afternoon to Percy Field, where they went through various evolutions before the game began. One of those present at the reunion was the camel which had attended the reunion five years ago. Since then the beast had been stored in the garret of the Zeta Psi House. It obstinately refused to come out of there until after several members of the class had worked nearly all day. They were so disgusted by its behavior that they abandoned it on Percy Field. Following is the reunion list:

W. H. Aldrich, Cleveland; Louise Barbour, New York; A. T. Banning, jr., Duluth, Minn.; H. Emile Behnken, Brooklyn; Romeyn Berry, New York; William F. Bleakley, Yonkers; R. H. Bourne; H. S. 1909 Gets Out the Old Truck

The class of 1909 had a reunion booth on the corner of State and Tioga Streets, near the Corner Bookstore. For their excursions around town they had the five-ton sand truck which they had used two years ago. On Friday night there was a banquet at the Senate, at which time R. E. Coulson was re-elected to represent the class on the Cornellian Council. The class achieved some notoriety at the concert at the Lyceum Theatre on Friday night. One of the properties used in the play "Susan's Past," given by the Savage Club, was a pitcher of beer. A 1909 man captured the beer while the actors were not watching it and took it down to his classmates, who discovered that it was ginger ale. On Saturday afternoon the class took a motor truck ride around town and on the campus, where they cheered for President Schurman, Ex-President White, and Dean Smith. The class costume was a gorgeous affair of purple and gold, with small parasols worn in the hats. The following members were registered:

R. E. Bishop, Fay H. Battey, R. E. Treman, F. O. Ebeling, Ellis J. Finch, W. H. Hilborn, Newton C. Farr, Walter F. Evans, William Shea, Connie Roland, J. A. Farris, Charles E. Montague, Werner W. The Three Year Class

The three year class appeared in blue and white sailor suits. They had a motor truck and a drum corps for their parade on Friday, and they repeated the parade to the second ball game on Saturday. Their reunion took the form of a smoker at the Senate on Saturday night. The following members returned to Ithaca :

'99 Entertains All

Interesting Rally of Graduates and Seniors Held at the Star Theatre

In connection with its fifteen year reunion this year the Class of 1899 discovered a most admirable way to entertain itself, to share its entertainment with members of all other reunion classes, and to bring the graduates and the members of the graduating class together. The '99 men organized a big rally at the Star Theatre, on East Seneca Street. Its feature was the exhibition of moving pictures of Cornell events, athletic and otherwise. There were also songs, short talks, and other stunts. Tickets had been distributed to graduates and seniors.

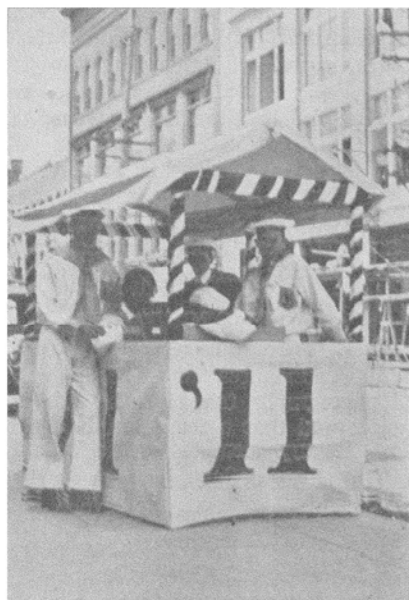

The affair began at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, just after the regular show at the Star ended, and it did not conclude till about 1 o'clock. It came at such a time that members of all reunion classes were able to attend without inconvenience. There had been ample time for them to have their class dinners. The crowd began to gather in front of the theatre half an hour before the time set, and within a few minutes after the '99 committee opened the doors the auditorium was jammed with about fifteen hundred Cornellians.

"Alma Mater" was the first number on the program, and then M. M. Upson, president of the class of '99, gave a short address of welcome to the guests of the class. Linton Hart, of the senior class, led in the "Alumni Song," and the first reel of moving pictures was put on the screen. It showed the Lafayette football game last fall and some other views taken about the same time.

After another song, Max Upson read a letter from Mr. Courtney, which the "Old Man" had sent from Poughkeepsie. Then there were talks by Jack Moakley and Dr. Sharpe, mixed with enthusiastic cheers by the audience, some more moving pictures, and a selection by the Mandolin Club. Then Jimmy Munns, the president of the class of 1914, gave a talk. Louis Fuertes '97 told a couple of stories and was called back to tell a third. The Savage Club quartet (Babcock, Clark, Doyle and Underhill) gave some songs. Lute Emmert '11 joined them in one of the numbers.

President Schurman received a roaring welcome when Max Upson introduced him to the audience. The President spoke briefly on the need for thought on scholastic lines in the midst of so much enthusiasm for the physical side of undergraduate life. He ventured the prediction that the time would come when moving pictures at similar gatherings would include films showing the student at work on his books, or showing the interior of an undergraduate brain at work.

THIS number of the NEWS contains an incomplete account of the events of Reunion Week and Commencement Week. Several important matters have been left for the next number, which will be dated June 25 and will be published within a few days after this one. Among the subjects postponed are the Commencement exercises themselves and the transactions at the June meeting of the Board of Trustees.

THE ISSUE OF JUNE 25 will be the last weekly number of the present volume. Two more numbers will be published to complete the volume, one in July and one in August. The July number will contain a full account of the annual intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie. The August number will be followed by an index of the volume. A copy of this index, together with a title page for binding, will be sent free to any reader of the paper who asks for it.

THE THANKS OF THE ALUMNI are due to the class of 1899, which devised and carried out a delightful form of entertainment for reunion week. The general meeting of alumni and seniors at the Star Theatre filled a need which had been felt at reunions for years past. In fact, it filled several needs. An exhibition of moving pictures of Cornell athletic events, combined with songs and speeches, was very entertaining. The idea of getting the graduates and the members of the senior class all together at one meeting also was a happy thought. Finally, the rally was a pleasant climax to the two days of class reunions. It began late enough in the evening so that plenty of time had been given for class banquets. Instead of ending with an anticlimax, the reunion of 1914 was brought to a close in a blaze of enthusiasm.

EVERYBODY SAYS that the example set by the class of '99 should be followed in future reunions. The rally is too good a thing to lose. One suggestion that has been made is that such an entertainment be given every year by the fifteen year class. Several members of the class of 1900 were in town, and they declared that they would try to have their class give such an entertainment next year. Whether it be given by the fifteen year class or by some other class, the rally should certainly be adopted as a permanent feature of our reunions.

THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI

The annual meeting of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University was held in Goldwin Smith Hall on Saturday morning, June 13. The principal business at the meeting was the consideration of amendments to the by-laws, proposed respectively by the Cornell Club of Rochester and by President Lewis in behalf of the board of directors. The object of these proposed amendments was to give local clubs and associations more direct representation in the transactions of the Associate Alumni.

Final action was not taken upon them, but they were referred to a committee to report at the November meeting of the board of directors.

Ira A. Place '81, of New York, and George J. Tansey '88, of St. Louis, were elected by the alumni to the Board of Trustees of the University for a term of five years beginning at this Commencement. There were no other candidates. Mr. Place was re-elected, and Mr. Tansey succeeded Willard Beahan '78, of Cleveland, whose term expired.

THE CORNELLIAN COUNCIL

At the annual meeting of the Cornellian Council, held on June 13 at Ithaca, action was taken providing that $20,000 be turned over to the University from the Alumni Fund, to be used as the Trustees see fit. This amount is the same as was turned over last year.

Thomas B. Crews, jr., newly elected member of the Council from the Class of 1914, reported that the pledge committee of his class had secured 451 subscribers to the Alumni Fund, giving annually $5,775.

It was announced that the Class of 1904 had voted to turn over to the Alumni Fund $2,000 which had been contributed toward a class memorial.

Officers of the Council were elected for the coming year, as follows: President, Ira A. Place '81, New York; vice-president, E. Vail Stebbins '93, New York; secretary, Eads Johnson '99, New York; executive committee, the officers and Edward L. Stevens '99, New York; Robert E. Coulson '09, New York, and Harland B. Tibbetts '04, New York. Members at large were re-elected, as follows: George W. Bacon '92, New York, and George B. Kittinger '85, Seattle.

DEATH OF DR. STERRETT

Professor John Robert Sitlington Sterrett, head of the department of Greek, died at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, June 15, at the Ithaca City Hospital. The cause of his death was apoplexy. Dr. Sterrett was recovering from a surgical operation for an intestinal trouble. The operation had been successful, and he had been pronounced out of danger, when a cerebral hemorrhage occurred.

STUDENT DROWNED IN FALL CREEK

Holland Thorpe Heitzman, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was drowned in Fall Creek on Thursday, June 11. With several companions he was swimming in the pool under the swinging bridge back of Morse Hall. He was a poor swimmer. When he was missed his companions searched the shallows at the lower end of the pool, and then went back under the falls, deciding that the undertow had carried him back. In a few minutes the body was recovered. Efforts to resuscitate were kept up for two hours under the direction of a physician. Heitzman was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Heitzman of Muskogee, Oklahoma.

"TELL" SCENERY SOLD

The "Wilhelm Tell" scenery, used by the Deutscher Verein in 1910, and afterward acquired by The Masque, has recently been sold to the Irving Place Theatre, New York. After the presentation of the play "Alt Heidelberg" in Ithaca and New York by the Deutscher Verein in 1908, the managers of the New German Theatre in New York offered to give the "Wilhelm Tell" scenery and costumes to the Verein provided that "Wilhelm Tell" be given by that organization within three years. The play was presented in 1910. The Verein had had no funds with which to pay for shipment and storage and had persuaded The Masque to bear those expenses and become the owner of the scenery. A short time ago representatives of the Irving Place Theatre came to Ithaca to negotiate for the property and bought it for $150.

A Good Record in Baseball

The baseball season, under Schirick's captaincy and Dr. Sharpe's coaching, has been brought to a successful end. After Cornell's victories over Princeton, Yale, and Columbia, several critics of college sports expressed the opinion that the Cornell team would have as good title as any to the eastern college championship, provided it should be successful in the series of three games to be played with Pennsylvania. Cornell's second victory in that series was won on June 15. The only serious reverse in a successful season was the two defeats by Michigan. Of course the college baseball championship is a myth. With one of the best teams in the east, Harvard, Cornell did not have a match this season.

Cornell, 5; Pennsylvania, 4

An eighth inning rally that tied the score, followed by a lucky run in the ninth, won the victory for Cornell in the second game of the Pennsylvania series on June 15 at Percy Field. After Pennsylvania had scored four runs in the fourth inning, giving them a two run lead, Cornell hits and Penn errors turned the tide in an exciting finish, the final score standing 5 to 4.

Regan for Cornell and Wisner for Pennsylvania pitched the entire game. After Penn had been retired in order in the first inning Cornell scored two runs. Bills reached first on a fielder's choice and advanced to third on Grossman's two base hit to the clubhouse. Both scored when Adair's infield hit was thrown wild to first. No more scoring was done until the fourth inning, when Penn brought in four runs by clever bunting and Cornell's errors. Haley, the first man to bat, bunted and reached first on Regan's error. He was forced out at second when Irwin bunted. Irwin advanced a base on Regan's balk, and went to third on a passed ball. He scored when Regan threw Minds's bunt wild to Schirick. Minds took second. Regan then hit Williams. Schwert hit a line drive to center which Sutterby muffed, the ball rolling to the clubhouse, scoring Minds and Williams and leaving Schwert on third base. He scored a minute later on a passed ball.

No more scoring was done by either team until the eighth, when Donovan, the first man up for Cornell, beat out an infield hit, took third on Bills's single, and scored on Grossman's sacrifice. Adair beat out an infield hit and Bills scored on Taber's double. Halsted and Keating struck out, ending the rally with the score tied, and men on second and third. Pennsylvania failed to score in the first half of the ninth. Regan, the first Cornell batter, was thrown out at first base. Schirick reached first when his short fly to left field was dropped. He stole second and came home on a wild pitch, winning the game.

A fairly large crowd, including many senior week guests, saw the game. The score :

Colgate, 4; Cornell, 1

Hicks of Colgate held Cornell to only three hits on June 13 at Percy Field. One lone run was made in the fourth by Donovan, who was safe on a muffed fly and scored on a three-bagger by Bills, who was put out a moment later at the plate. The weakness of Cornell's batting in this game is shown by the fact that the team had only two men left on bases in all the nine innings. The fielding was bad, too, Cornell players making five errors.

Three pitchers, Regan, Bryant and Johnson, were in the game for Cornell, Bryant going in for the third and fourth innings and Johnson for the last five. Colgate won the game off Regan in the first inning, getting three runs. It was a very uneven inning for Regan, for he allowed five hits and struck out two men. The third out was an easy assist, Regan to Keating. Colgate got five more hits after the first inning, but only one run. That was in the eighth, when a triple was followed by a single. Johnson pitched a good game during the last five innings, allowing three hits and striking out six men. The score :

Varsity, 4; Alumni, 2

The old grads played a good game against the varsity at Percy Field on the first alumni day, but the boys beat them 4 to 2. Bob Caldwell pitched for six innings. He gave only three hits, but two passes which he issued in the fifth contributed to the undergraduate victory. Tar Young went to the mound for the other two innings.

Five varsity pitchers were in the game. Four of them went two innings apiece, and Johnson had the ninth inning, in which he fanned three straight.

Neither side scored for the first three innings; in the second inning three old grads went to bat, all three got on, and all three were successively put out off second base. In the fourth Grossman was safe on an error and scored on Taber's three-base clout. Schirick and Donovan were passed in the fifth and then Bills doubled to the clubhouse. In the seventh Acheson walked, stole second, and scored on a wild throw.

Thompson scored the first alumni run in the fifth. He singled, stole second, and came home when Schirick threw wild to third. In the seventh Caldwell walked, went to second on Young's out, and scored on Ebeling's drive to left. The score :

Practice on the Hudson

All the Cornell Crews Reported to Be in Good Condition

Word from Poughkeepsie says that all the Cornell crew men are in fine shape. Spransy, the varsity stroke, has fully recovered from a boil on his arm which bothered him for the first few days on the river. All of the other crews entered in the regatta are in their quarters and are rowing daily. Mr. Courtney orders the Cornell squad out twice daily, at 10 a. m. and at 5 p. m. The crews row about ten miles each trip. The varsity and junior varsity boats are made up exactly as they were in the early season races. In the freshman crew, Reichert has been put in for Lund at seven, Lund moving to bow, and Morgan going out of the boat. The "Old Man" appears to be satisfied with his crews.

Tribute to J. H. Comstock

Presentation of a Library Fund by His Former Students

Former students of Professor John Henry Comstock '74 have presented to the University a fund of $2,500, to be known as the Comstock Memorial Library Fund. The gift is made at the time of Professor Comstock's retirement from the Faculty after forty-one years of distinguished service.

The presentation exercises were held in the assembly room of the College of Agriculture on Saturday afternoon, June 13. At the hour set for the meeting, the University chimes were rung as a mark of respect for Professor Comstock, who was the chime master in 1872-3.

The program began with an address by Dr. L. H. Bailey. This was followed by a letter from Dr. David Starr Jordan '72, which was read by Mrs. A. W. Smith. An address was given by Professor W. R. Lazenby, of the Ohio State University, a classmate of Professor Comstock. A letter from Dr. L. O. Howard '77, chief entomologist at Washington, was read by Professor G. W. Herrick. The presentation address was made by Professor J. G. Needham. Professor Comstock accepted the memorial and turned it over to the University, in whose behalf it was accepted by President Schurman.

The fund will be used for the purchase of books on entomology.

Honored by War Department

Cornell's Cadet Corps Named as One of the Ten Best

A telegram from the War Department was received last Saturday at the military office announcing the designation of Cornell as a "distinguished college" in the teaching of military science. This distinction comes as a result of the recent inspection of the cadet corps by a United States army officer, in which Cornell competed with sixty-one other institutions of a similar class. The honor is conferred each year on the ten institutions whose students have exhibited the greatest degree of military training as compared with others in their class, and whose graduates of that year are best qualified for commissions in the army. Each year one man may be selected from the corps by the president and the professor of military science and tactics to be designated as "honor graduate." This man, when designated from a distinguished institution, is eligible for a commission in the army in case of vacancy, competing in a mental examination with others of his class for precedence in appointment. The honor man from Cornell has not yet been appointed.

Medical College Graduates

Twenty Persons Receive the Degree—The Honor Roll

Twenty graduates of the Cornell University Medical College received the degree of Doctor of Medicine at the sixteenth annual Commencement, held in the Dispensary Hall of the College on Thursday afternoon, June 11. President Schurman presided and conferred the degree. He made a short address.

Dr. L. A. Stimson, acting dean, read the honor roll, as follows: 1, Helen Letitia Palliser, A.B. (Barnard) '05, Brooklyn; 2, Philip Moen Stimson, A.B. (Yale) '10, New York; 3, Robert Joseph Shea, A.B. (Manhattan) '09, New York; 4, May Elizabeth Walker, B.L. (California) '03, Seattle, Wash.; 5, David Preswick Barr, A.B. (Cornell) '11, Ithaca; 6, William Donald Rolph, A.B. (Cornell) '11, Chula Vista, California.

The John Metcalfe Polk Memorial Prizes were awarded, the first prize of $300 to Dr. Palliser as the student having the highest standing; the second prize of $125 to Dr. Stimson, whose standing was second highest, and the third prize of $75 to Dr. Shea, who had the third highest standing.

The prizes given by Professor Whiting, for efficiency in otology, were awarded, the first, of $50, to Dr. Stimson, the second, of $25, to Dr. Shea.

The members of the class, besides those already mentioned, are: Alfred Kelly Bates, Smiley Blanton, Jack Verne Bohrer, Anne Eunice Cochran, Joseph Harkavy, James William McClesney, John Harold Morris, John Henry Nugent, Isadore Rosen, Benjamin James Slater, Max Soletsky, William Herman Sugarman, Anna Tjomsland, and Geraldine Eggleston Watson. All but two of the class have received hospital appointments. Nine of them will be in Bellevue Hospital. The New York Hospital gets two and Mount Sinai two. Five other hospitals take one each.

The Cornell Dinner in Europe Alumni Entertain a Number of Dis- tinguished Men at Paris

The annual Cornell Dinner in Europe occurred on June 4th, at the new literary and art club, the Cercle Carré, in Paris, and proved to be the largest, most enthusiastic and most representative of these gatherings. Among the alumni present were Theodore Stanton '76, who presided and acted as toastmaster; Henry C. Charpiot '86; Herbert Howland '86; A. D. Weil '86; Henry R. Ickelheimer '88; Fordyce A. Cobb '93; William G. Moore '06; Robert Stanton '07; Antonio Lazo '07; and Franklin H. Smith '09.

Among the speakers were Dr. Martinez Ortiz, the Cuban Minister to France, who represented General Menocal '88, President of Cuba, and who paid a high tribute to him; Dr. David Jayne Hill, formerly president of Rochester University, who dwelt on the dominant features of Cornell and showed how they were incarnated in ex-President White; Professor C. H. Van Tyne, of Michigan University, who pointed out what Cornell owes to that institution; Professors Legouis and Koszul, of the Sorbonne, who praised American university life; Professor Ernest Dimnet, of Stanislas College, who related in a charming manner his American experiences; Professor Boutroux, who, son of the Academician, nephew of the famous mathematician, Henri Poincaré, and cousin of the President of France, landed from the United States the day before the dinner and gave an interesting account of the first year's working of the great Graduate School of Princeton, where he fills the chair of mathematics; and Trustee Ickelheimer, who responded to the toast, "Alma Mater," and presented in a striking manner many remarkable facts and figures.

The dinner passed a formal resolution of thanks to the Society of French Architects for the two medals, one of gold and one of silver, which are to be awarded annually in the College of Architecture. In this connection a letter was read from Professor Georges Mauxion, by whose action these medals were obtained. M. Jacques Hermant, one of the leading architects of France and president of the Society of French Architects, was at the table and made a reply full of friendly feeling for the architects and students of architecture of the United States.

A similar resolution was carried thanking James Gordon Bennett for the annual prize which he has accorded to the Veterinary College, and a letter was read from Director V. A. Moore, in which he says: "This prize is stimulating to a great extent interest in the humanitarian handling of unfortunate animals. Its value comes from the fact that students during their formative period in their effort to win this prize make themselves proficient in the use of anaesthesia, which of course they will carry with them in their life practice." Mr. Bennett, who was prevented from being present at the dinner on account of his absence in the south of France, sent a letter of regret in which he said: "I am glad to learn that the veterinary prize given to the School of Cornell has been of service."

Among the other guests were Louis Guilaïne, one of the foreign editors of the Paris Temps; Schalck de la Faverie, one of the librarians of the National Library of Paris; Jean Hébrard, formerly professor at the College of Architecture, and Samuel J. Brun, formerly instructor in French, now in France on a mission from the San Francisco exhibition.

Tau Beta Pi Convention

Delegates Here from All Parts of the United States

About seventy men attended the convention of Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering society, held under the auspices of the Cornell chapter on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week. Twenty-six delegates, representing all the chapters except one, five officials, delegates from the Chicago and Schenectady alumni chapters, and several visitors made up the convention. The regular delegates came from all over the United States, representing the engineering colleges from the University of California to the University of Maine.

The convention began with a reception and luncheon at the Agricultural cafeteria Thursday noon, at which Professor E. L. Nichols addressed the gathering. That night a smoker was given in Sibley Dome, where Professor Shearer gave a talk on the history of Cornell. His speech was illustrated with lantern slides. Friday night the entire delegation attended the joint concert of the Musical Clubs and the Savage Club at the Lyceum. A boat ride to Taughannock Falls was the program for Saturday. On the way back the party inspected the Portland Cement Works at Portland Point. At Glenwood a banquet brought the convention to a close.

About thirty members of the Cornell chapter attended the convention, which was the first ever held by the society in Ithaca.

Meanwhile the picture operator had been busy at intervals and had shown a large number of views. One of these was a collection of pictures of Spring Day and the Navy Day regatta, taken last month and shown for the first time. It was loaned by the Whartons, who have a moving picture company operating in Ithaca. It had just passed the national board of censors, and the pictures had not yet been labeled, but the labels were not missed. Spring Day was shown, from the parade in the morning to the boat races at night, the film showing the finish of the triangular varsity race being especially good. The rally ended with the "Evening Song," and when the crowd left the theatre they found a long line of street cars waiting to take them up the hill.

The committee of '99 men which arranged the entertainment was composed of M. M. Upson, C. L. Durham, R. S. Haynes, J. A. Haines, and E. L. Stevens.

CORNELL WOMEN'S CLUBS

At a meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, held on June 12, the following officers of the federation were elected: President, Mrs. Willard Beahan '78, 2213 Bellfield Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio; first vice-president, Alice Henrietta Bruere '95, 400 Riverside Drive, New York; second vice-president, Emma Gertrude Kunze '01, 2215 Tioga Street, Philadelphia; third vice-president, Mrs. Elizabeth Cassidy White '04, 2123 College Avenue, Indianapolis; secretary-treasurer, Emma Bowers '97, 408 Hector Street, Ithaca.

Delegates were present from the federated clubs of Albany, Cleveland, Chicago, Ithaca, New York, Philadelphia, Utica, Washington, and Worcester.

The secretary reported that the bequest from the Florence E. Dearstyne estate had been partly paid; $2,367.71 had been turned in and deposited with the Treasurer of Cornell University to be used as a fund for needy women students.
