TREMAN ADDS TO FUND Will Makes Bequest

The will of Robert H. Treman '78, who died January 4, leaves to Cornell University the sum of $5,000, to be added to the memorial fund given in his name by his associates in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The original fund, presented in 1920, now amounts to $30,000.

Mr. Treman's will says in part: "I have been privileged to serve Cornell University during about fifty years of my life, during which I have given my best efforts for the development and advancement of Cornell University and have had great pleasure in its development and progress and in the increasing influence which it has and will have in this country and in the world at large. It is my earnest hope and desire that the ideals of Cornell University will ever become finer and that its influence will ever become higher and more far-reaching.

"I therefore give and bequeath to Cornell University to be added to the Robert Henry Treman Memorial Fund the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000); with the request to Cornell University to invest and reinvest all the income after my death from said Robert Henry Treman Memorial Fund until the principal thereof amounts to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). The said Robert Henry Treman Memorial Fund was established in 1920 by friends in New York, and I have heretofore filed a written request, with regard to it, in the office of the Comptroller of said University asking that only the income therefrom shall be used for the enhancement of the natural beauties of the Campus and of other property of the University, and for the furtherance at Cornell of religion and of music, and then for such other purposes as the Trustees of said University may determine."

The will recounts the several gifts of lands to the public and to the University made during his life by Mr. and Mrs. Treman, and expresses characteristically his love for his native country: "I have considered it a priceless heritage to live in the midst of and to enjoy the wonderful beauties of nature in the hills and valleys, the streams and gorges, the lakes and forests, in Ithaca and New York State. It is my earnest wish that in future years others will carry on the work of making these natural beauties more accessible and more enjoyed by all. I desire also to express my appreciation to my friends and fellow citizens in Ithaca and vicinity for their co-operation and encouragement; we feel that our lot has been unusually fortunate and happy because of the beautiful natural environment and the many pleasant acquaintances and valued friends among whom our life has been passed here. I wish we could have done more to have brightened their lives."

Mr. Treman's sons, Robert H. Treman '09 and Allan H. Treman '21, are named executors of the estate.

TO DISCUSS REUNIONS

The Association of Class Secretaries will hold its annual winter meeting in New York City on Saturday, February 13. Following the custom of other years, the meeting will start with luncheon, in the dining room on the main floor of the Midston Club at Thirty-eighth Street and Madison Avenue.

A principal item of business will be discussion of plans for the 1937 class reunions to be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 18, 19, and 20.

It is expected that some classes will return under the Dix Plan, which calls for reunions of contemporary classes, while other classes will be back on the old five-year schedule. The Dix Plan groups are '80, '81, '82, '83; '99, '00, '01, '02; '18, '19, '20, '21. '87 will be celebrating its fiftieth anniversary; '12 its twenty-fifth. Other five-year classes are '72, '77, '92, '97, '07, '17, '22, '27, and '32. '35 will return as the class two years out of college.

MORE GIFTS RECEIVED

Additional gifts received by the University in the last two days of 1936, besides those reported in the ALUMNI NEWS of January 14, brought the total for the half-year to $809,979, according to Comptroller Charles D. Bostwick '92. This amount is $28,492 more than was received during the entire fiscal year of 1935-36, when $781,487 was reported.

Among late gifts which increased the total was $7,400 from Jansen Noyes '10 of New York City to establish the "Jansen Noyes Fund." This Fund is to be added to the general funds of the University and allowed to accumulate with interest until such time as the donor may designate its use.

From Frank J. Tone '91 of Niagara Falls $5,000 was received to be added to the endowment funds of the University. J. DuPratt White '90 of New York City added $1,100 to the fund which he established in 1922 and which now exceeds $60,000.

The estate of Albert Jonas '82 of Washington, D. C. furnished $4,000 to be added to the Albert and Olive Jonas Fund for student aid.

BUILD NEW TELESCOPE For Novel Experiment

A new telescope, the most powerful portable one ever built, has been designed by Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd, Astronomy, and Dr. Robert W. Shaw, PhD '34, last year instructor in Physics, and is nearing completion at the University. Its principal mirror, twenty-four inches in diameter and twice the size of the one at the Fuertes Observatory, was poured at Corning from the same melt as the famous 200-inch mirror for the California Institute of Technology. Its grinding has recently been completed after nearly a year's work by William T. Thomas of Ithaca.

Its framework made mostly of duralumin, the whole structure weighs less than a ton, and can be taken apart to be easily carried by men or pack train.

The new instrument will first be used, Professor Boothroyd says, near Flagstaff, Ariz., in a novel experiment from which he hopes for much. It will be taken to the top of a 13,000 foot mountain, a mile higher than such an instrument has ever gone, to look first at the known Arizona desert below. Then it will be pointed upward, to the moon and stars, and the appearance of the planets through the instrument's spectro-scope will be compared with that of the desert, in the hope that similarities may be found which will help to solve the riddle of their composition.

Just one thing is lacking to complete the new telescope, Professor Boothroyd says. This is a very necessary clock-driven mounting, which costs about $5,000. Funds are not now in sight to complete this, but it is hoped that they may be forthcoming.

GIVE NEW SCHOLARSHIP

The Cornell chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society, has established a Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship for students in the Graduate School, Professor Michel G. Malti, PhD '27, Electrical Engineering, president of the chapter, has announced. The stipend will be fixed yearly by the executive committee of the chapter, and the scholarship will be awarded by the Faculty of the Graduate School, preferably to members of Phi Kappa Phi.

In accepting the scholarship the Board of Trustees have authorized free tuition in the Graduate School also to its recipient.

Phi Kappa Phi has recently elected eight members of the Faculty, fifty-two graduate students, fifty-three Seniors, and Oliver E. Buckley, PhD '14, recently elected executive vice-president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, as the only non-resident alumnus.

Faculty members newly-elected are Professors Beulah Blackmore, Home Economics; Robert E. Cushman, Government; John G. Kirkwood, Chemistry; Howard S. Liddell, PhD '23, Physiology; Carleton C. Murdock, PhD '19, Physics; James W. Papez, Anatomy; G. Eric Peabody '18, Extension Teaching; and Lester W. Sharp, Botany.

HE WAS THERE

TO THE EDITOR:

"Inauguration in October," you say.

Why not October 7? Inaugural day of the University was October 7, 1868.

I was there.

Know any others?

JOHN A. REA '69

NEW MICHIGAN OFFICERS

The annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Michigan will be held at the University Club, Detroit, Mich. February 26.

New officers installed at the Founder's Day meeting are: Clinton R. Tobey '18, president; John W. Braffette '15, vice-president; Edward A. Proctor '25, secretary; and Allan W. Dow '20, treasurer. Nearly fifty attended, and Matthew Carey '15, retiring president, was presented with a scroll in appreciation of his work last year.

ITHACA WOMEN'S BRIDGE

One hundred sixty persons attended, and many others supported, a successful benefit bridge party sponsored by the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca in Willard Straight Hall January 23. Mrs. Charles S. Powell (Carrie W. Thompson) '02, head resident of Balch Halls, Unit II, was chairman of the committee, of which Mrs. Arthur A. Allen (Elsa Guerdum) '12, president of the Club, was a member ex-officio.

Other members of the committee were: Mrs. R. W. Sailor (Queenie N. Horton) '09, Mrs. John Bentley, Jr. (Maria Seguin) '23, Ruth Davis '17, and Lillian Fasoldt '27.

DR. CRAWFORD '04 IN BOSTON

Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, whose term as Alumni Trustee of the University expires next June, will be guest of honor at a dinner to be given February 13 in appreciation of her services as a Trustee by the Cornell Women's Club of Boston and the Cornell Club of New England. The dinner will be at 6:30, at the College Club, 40 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass. Mrs. Ralph T. C. Jackson (Elizabeth M. Rhodes) '97 is chairman of the committee; reservations are being made by Mrs. M. Gregory Dexter (Jennie A. Curtis) '24, 72 Chester Road, Belmont, Mass.

Earlier that day Dr. Crawford will speak on "Women in This Upset World" at a tea given by the Boston College Club.

Member of the Board of Trustees since 1927, Dr. Crawford is a member of its committee on general administration, of the State College Council and the Graduate School Council, and of the committee on the inauguration of Dr. Edmund E. Day as President. She is a former president of the Cornell Medical College Alumni Association, was a member of the committee which drafted the by-laws of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, and served as chairman for women in the War Memorial campaign.

NEW BALTIMORE OFFICERS

At the luncheon of the Cornell Club of Maryland in Baltimore December 14, Henry R. Gundlach '11 was elected president, succeeding F. Meredith (Jim) Wood '19. Norman D. Kenney '25 is the new vice-president. William A. Marshall, 3d '29 was reelected secretary-treasurer. Thomas S. Hauck '10 and O. Lynn Rhodes '08 were elected to the scholarship committee, to fill the places of Wood and N. Herbert Long '18. Other business included the report of Gustav J. Requaardt '09 as general chairman of the convention of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, which was held with such success in Baltimore November 27 and 28.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS

The Dramatic Club presented January 22 and 23 three one-act plays: "Soul of a Professor," by Martin Sampson; "Yeah, Variety," by George Fass '29; and "Sort of Like Capek," by Regina Harvey. The Club's Junior Week production, February 11 and 12, will be a revival of "Charley's Aunt," famous farce comedy of the '90's. A new play in preparation is "Around the Corner," by Martin Flavin, which the Club will present in cooperation with the Dramatists' Guild of New York, simultaneously with its production on Broadway.

In its current series from the Museum of Modern Art Film Library the University Theatre presented recently in the Willard Straight Theatre a collection of German films. Some dated back to 1896, but the feature was "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," produced in 1919 and little known in America, although ranked as one of the three most famous of all films.

CLUBS GIVE CUPS

This year's Moakley trophies, given by Cornell Clubs in honor of the veteran track coach for greatest improvement and interest, are being delivered to the undergraduate recipients for performance during 1935-36. The donor Clubs, with the name and event of each recipient, are as follows:

Cornell Club of New England, William V. Bassett '37, two-mile run; Cornell Club of Southern Ohio, David H. Brown '38, two-mile relay; Cornell Club of Atlanta, John A. Clausen '36, broad jump; Cornell Club of New York, Herbert H. Cornell '38, mile run; Cornell Club of Harrisburg, W. Robert Crary '36, pole vault; Cornell Club of Philadelphia, Henry S. Godshall, Jr. '36, hundred-yard dash; Cornell Club of Elmira, Holland C. Gregg '38, high jump; Cornell Club of Newark, Elliot H. Hooper '38, javelin throw; Cornell Club of Maryland, Donald T. Houpt '37, discus throw; Cornell Club of Buffalo, Charles Y. Neff '37, high hurdles; Cornell Club of Syracuse, William G. Rossiter '37, low hurdles; Cornell Club of Rochester, Harold F. Shepard '38, half-mile run; Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania, John W. Shoemaker '37, hammer throw; Cornell Club of Delaware, Walter T. Tatum '38, quarter-mile run; Cornell Club of Washington, Ralph J. Vreeland '38, shot put; Cornell Club of Chicago, Howard V. Welch '38, four-mile relay.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN

The Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut held a Founder's Day meeting at the Stratfield Hotel, Bridgeport, Conn. Dinner was followed by a brief business meeting with Mrs. Russell Y. Moore (Mary H. Johnson) '17 presiding.

Mrs. Albert H. Emery (Julia E. McClune) '02 introduced the guest of honor, Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, Alumni Trustee, who spoke of the University's early history and recent happenings.

Guests were present from Hartford, Stamford, Norwalk, and Bridgeport.

DELAWARE ELECTS OFFICERS

Thirty-four members of the Cornell Club of Delaware met for dinner December 10 at the Hotel Darling in Wilmington. After dinner a short business meeting was held. Alfred D. Warner, Jr. '00 gave a report of the alumni convention at Baltimore, and Edward Mendenhall '16 reported on Cornell Day relations with the secondary schools in Delaware. At the annual election of officers Laurence V. Smith '20 was elected president; A. Lynam Satterthwaite '22, vice-president; Raymond H. Fleckenstein '22, secretary; and Kenneth B. Speak '23, treasurer.

INDUSTRY NEEDS SALESMEN

The current Bulletin of the University Placement Bureau reflects, in the large proportion of sales jobs listed, the present pick-up in industry. Five of the ten "Positions Open" are for salesmen, all but one for work with manufacturers of engineering materials. Three are for research chemists, and two are for engineers. The Bulletin refers also to seven engineering jobs available through the Philadelphia Technical Service Committee of the Engineers Club, 1317 Spruce Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Alumni interested in obtaining or bettering present positions are invited to send information about their training and experience, with photograph if possible, to Herbert H. Williams '25, Director, University Placement Bureau, Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca.

About ATHLETICS

BOXERS OPEN SEASON

Record crowd turned out for the first appearance of Coach Schuyler Slater's Varsity boxing team, against Penn State, Intercollegiate champions, in the Drill Hall Saturday night. Spectators overflowed the balcony and the bleachers set up on four sides of the ring. Cornell lost, 6-2, but when two Cornell Sophomores made the points for the Varsity with technical knockouts, officials were somewhat put to it to preserve the gentlemanly quiet during the bouts which is prescribed by the Eastern Intercollegiate rules.

First Moses L. Goldbas '39 of Utica, brother of last year's boxing coach and Law Senior Jacob I. Goldbas '34, decisively overpowered Tapman, his Penn State rival in the 125-pound class. The referee stopped the bout after 1 minute, 45 seconds of the first round. Again, in the last bout, Frederick V. Siemer '39, holder of the regional alumni scholarship from Buffalo, seemed to enjoy himself mightily until the referee removed his intercollegiate champion opponent, Rickter, from the ring after 1 minute 10 seconds of the second round, with a cut cheek.

As usual, it was impossible, because of illness, scholastic, and other ineligibility, for Coach Slater to use Saturday night all the University champions who won their titles January 18. One, furthermore,

TWO KNOCKOUTS ACCOUNTED FOR

Goldbas, had trained down to enter the next lighter class; and in the continued illness of Karikka and the incapacity of Schaaf it was necessary to forfeit to Penn State in the 145-pound class.

The summary:

CORNELL 2, PENN STATE 6
115 lb.—Sopchak, Penn State, defeated Lehni, decision.
125 lb.—Goldbas, Cornell, scored technical knockout over Tapman, 1:45 (1).
135 lb.—Goodman, Penn State, defeated Tausig, decision.
145 lb.—Cornell defaulted to Donato.
155 lb.—Soose, Penn State, scored technical knockout over Wilson, 1:30 (3).
165 lb.—Ritzie, Penn State, scored technical knockout over McLaughlin, 2:00 (1).
175 lb.—Kociubinsky, Penn State, scored technical knockout over Grossman, 1:12 (2).
Heavyweight—Siemer, Cornell, scored technical knockout over Rickter, 1:10 (2).
Referee, George Courtney. Judges, John LaPinto and Mayor Joseph Myers. Timers, Lou Smith and Bill Schickel.

Last year's coach, "Jake" Goldbas, was present Saturday, both to see the bouts and to take over for the evening his brother's job, inherited from Jake, as sport correspondent for the United Press.

The University boxing championships:

115 lb.—Alexander R. Early '38 of Newport, R. I. defeated John H. Lehni '39 of New York City, decision.
125 lb.—Max P. Goodfried '37 of Mt. Vernon defeated Jacob Groman '39 of New York City, decision.
135 lb.—Moses L. Goldbas '39 of Utica defeated John G. Tausig '38 of Harrisburg, Pa. technical knockout in 1 min. 45 sec., first round.
145 lb.—William T. Fine '40 of Canastota defeated George E. Schaaf '38 of Buffalo, substituting for Aarni K. Karikka '39 of Ithaca, ill, decision.
155 lb.—Ira W. Wilson '38 of Brooklyn, unchallenged.
165 lb.—Jack J. Siegel '38 of New York City defeated Leonard R. McLaughlin '38 of New London, Conn., decision.
175 lb.—Louis Grossman '39 of Brooklyn defeated Charles J. Carmody '37 of Scarsdale, technical knockout in 1 min. 11 sec., third round.
Unlimited—Captain Irving A. Jenkins '37 of New York City defeated Frederic V. Siemer '39 of Buffalo, decision.

SWIMMERS SURPRISING

With four of its members incapacitated, the Varsity swimming team lost to the University of Rochester, 30-45, in the Rochester pool Saturday night, but took four first places in a meet in which two city and five pool records were broken.

Captain Norman H. Rasch '37 of Buffalo set a new city and pool record winning the 200-yard breast stroke in 2:40.41; as did the Cornell 300-yard medley relay team, composed of Kenneth C. Holgate '39 of Buffalo, Rasch, and Robert D. Cloyes '38 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Their time was 3:17.2. Cloyes also won the 50-yard free style race, in 26 seconds; and William G. Luke, Jr. '39 of Pelham won the 100-yard free style in 59.4 seconds.

Luke was third in the 220-yard freestyle; Joseph C. Antrim '38 of Worthington, Ohio, was third in fancy diving;

Harold G. Ryevelt '38 of New Rochelle was second and Richard G. Zens '38 of Philadelphia, Pa. was third in the 440-yard free style race in which a new pool record of 5:45 was set; Holgate was second in the 150-yard back stroke, won also with a new pool record, of 1:48.6; and Frank P. Hill '38 of Forest Hills was third in the 200-yard breast stroke.

POLO TEAM WINS

The ROTC polo team defeated Pennsylvania Military College, 20-12, in the Riding Hall Saturday night in a game that was never in doubt. Captain Stephen J. Roberts '38 of Hamburg, Thomas Lawrence '38 of Smithtown Branch, and Robert C. Taber '38 of Newfield quickly overcame their handicap of 4 and led from the first. This was the Varsity's first meeting with PMC, of which Clarence C. Combs '39 of Lakewood, N. J., who sometimes plays with the Varsity, is a former member. With a 5-goal intercollegiate rating, Combs divides his time this winter between the ROTC Varsity and the Winmont Farms team of the Metropolitan League. Recently he led Winmont Farms to win over the 112th Field Artillery in New York City, and opposing him was Milton F. Untermeyer, Jr. '34.

RIFLE TEAM STARTS

The ROTC rifle team, opening its season of thirty-five postal matches and eight shoulder-to-shoulder events, has so far lost to the Elmira Rifle Club, 1379-1381, and to Syracuse, 668-679, shoulder-to-shoulder; and has defeated in postal matches Washington University, 3615-3586; and Rose Polytechnic Institute and Mississippi State College, Cornell shooting 2676 to 2459 for the former and 2585 for the latter.

SKIING, HOCKEY OFF

Lack of snow again last week end interfered with a hockey game scheduled with Clarkson at Potsdam and a ski meet with Williams at Ithaca. The latter will be included in the invitation meet planned for the Caroline hills Friday and Saturday of Junior Week.

POUGHKEEPSIE RACE JUNE 22

William H. Forbes '06 has become the Cornell member of the Poughkeepsie regatta's Board of Stewards. He succeeds in that office John Collyer '17, who now resides in England and who in 1930 succeeded the late Charles E. Tremann '89.

The Stewards met in New York City January 21, and selected June 22 as the date of this year's regatta at Poughkeepsie. As a departure from the custom of recent years the races will be rowed not at sundown, but early in the afternoon. The first race is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. That brings the possibility of delay by reason of wind; but there is room for delay.

LOSE AT BASKETBALL

Weakness on the defense cost Cornell its fifth consecutive League game, to Yale 39-49, in New Haven Saturday night. Early in the game Cornell led, 10-4, but could not stop Beckwith, who threw them in from all angles. Wilson, handicapped by injuries suffered in the game against Colgate, played only half the game.

Score at half-time: Yale 29, Cornell 17. Referee, Degnan; umpire, Chapman.

On January 20 the Varsity played Colgate evenly in a rough game, full of thrills, but lost, 40-43. There was never more than a few points difference from the first, and first one team led, then the other. Foertsch was high scorer, with 7 baskets from the floor and 7 foul shots. Despite the roughness of play, only one man was put out on fouls, Turevon of Colgate.

Captain Thomas A. Rich '38 is ill in the Infirmary with scarlet fever, said Saturday to be "very sick."

The Freshman basketball team lost their first game of the season January 20, to the unbeaten Colgate freshmen, 21-29.

SHOWS EVOLUTION OF ATOM

Professor William D. Harkins, Baker non-resident lecturer in Chemistry this term, publishes this month the results of his research explaining the process of forming new elements by the impact of atomic masses. He finds that the shooting of "bullets" of hydrogen and other particles in the powerful machines that have been developed sometimes causes penetration of the atoms, with momentary formation of "intermediate" atoms which may be either the same as the parents or a different chemical material. The latter is alchemy.

Sometimes more than one new element is formed. An example is aluminum when struck with the kind of hydrogen that makes "heavy water." The aluminum changes into a temporary atom of silicon, and then this produces magnesium and helium. Three such new atoms are the largest number so far seen, but more are not impossible, Dr. Harkins believes.

"This building up of new atoms by a breaking of the old is called 'transmutation of elements,'" said Professor Hans A. Bethe, Physics, commenting on the new theory. "In order to penetrate or break each other, atoms, like automobiles, must be shot together with terrific force. The only place where this occurs naturally is in the interior of the sun where the temperature is measured in millions of degrees. The machines by which man generates this shooting force are so expensive to make and operate that alchemy, as a result of this atom evolution, will be possible only in certain fields. To make gold in this way, for instance, would cost more than the gold is worth. The future of the process lies in the radio-active materials, of which the best known is radium. Creation of such substances by atom collision will be of value to medical and biological research."

ROCHESTER WOMEN

The Cornell Women's Club of Rochester met for its Founder's Day luncheon at the University Club on January 16. About twenty-five members were present. Olive Northup Snyder '22, Assistant Alumni Representative, brought news of the Campus and spoke on various activities of the women. Mrs. William F. Donoghue (Mary G. Heughes) '02 was chairman of the luncheon committee.

Next meeting of the Club will be February 16, at the home of Mrs. Barton Baker (Bernice M. Dennis) '25, 100 Brookwood Road, Rochester.

CLARKE '13 HONORED

Election of Professor Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Regional Planning, to membership in the National Institute of Arts and Letters at its annual meeting in New York City, January 20, is a signal honor to him, and indirectly, to Cornell. He is the first landscape architect to be elected to the Institute since Frederick Law Olmstead, the designer of Central Park, and one of the few Cornellians to be so honored.

The National Institute of Arts and Letters is limited to 250 members, chosen for notable achievement in art, music, and literature. Since its organization in 1898, its membership has comprised the most distinguished Americans in these fields. Other Cornellians who are members are Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor '86, Kenneth L. Roberts '08, and Professor Carl L. Becker, History.

Gilmore Clarke has been a member of the University's architectural advisory board and of the advisory committee on landscape architecture since 1930. In February, 1935, he was appointed Professor of Regional Planning and started the courses in large scale planning organized by the Colleges of Architecture and Engineering with the cooperation of the Carnegie Corporation, for students in all Colleges. He is perhaps best known as landscape architect for the Westchester County Park Commission, but he has collaborated also on many other state and national parks and parkway projects, and is consulting landscape architect of the New York City Department of Parks and a member of the planning board of the New York World's Fair. Member of advisory committees for the School of Architecture and Landscape Architecture at Harvard and course in city planning at MIT, he is a trustee and member of the executive committee of the American Academy in Rome, and since 1932 has been chairman of its jury in landscape architecture. In 1934 he won the gold medal of honor of the Architectural League of New York. He attended the College of Agriculture, received the BS degree in 1913, and was a member of the Widow board and Mabrique. Devoting half time to his teaching at Ithaca, he is a member of the firm of Vitale & Giefert, Gilmore D. Clarke, landscape architects, 101 Park Avenue, New York City.

AT CHICAGO HOTEL SHOW

The Chicago chapter of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen has voted to have a Cornell booth at the Midwest Hotel Show, March 23-27, at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, and will give a smoker for visiting hotelmen. They have also invited Hotel Administration undergraduates and staff members to attend the Show, as they did last year. Albert J. McAllister '28, Drake Hotel, is president of the chapter.

CORNELL COUNTRYMAN

Cornell Countryman for January contains a photograph and account of the Cornell livestock judging team of which two members, James B. Outhouse '38 and Charles F. Fagan '37, took individual honors at the Baltimore Livestock Show and the International Livestock Show, respectively. This was the first year a Cornell team had entered at Chicago, where it placed seventh, and third at Baltimore.

The Countryman also publishes interviews with eight of this year's winter course students, among them Wayne H. Duell '37 of Mexico, back after two years as a regular student. O. William Vaughan '38, under the title, "Are You Qualified to Marry?" discusses the answers received to a questionnaire on the subject circulated among "a representative group of college students from different colleges of the University." Albert J. Davis '39 describes as "Secure in an Eggshell" the business of poultry farming; and John T. Kangas '38 notes the "Passing of the Barnyard Fowl."

A FAMILIAR CAMPUS FIGURE PASSES

This photograph by Norman Herr '37, with its accompanying memorial written by Jane Olden '38, are reprinted by permission from Areopagus for January.

He sleeps, and one of his young colleagues maliciously caught him in the act. His name was Mr. Baker, and in 1931 he came to Cornell to die. This summer he achieved his purpose, and those of us who saw him and wondered, but did not speak, have forgotten him. His history is as blurred as though he had lived far in the past, for the few who did speak to him found little information. A Cornell student of the eighties, he became a carpenter in Rochester, and, surviving his generation and friends, returned to his Alma Mater. He lived in College Town in a basement room cluttered with books and magazines defying the tidiness of the landlady. His food was meagre, his life simple. Rising at eleven, he combed his whiskers, took his gnarled stick, his shapeless, worn hat, and hitchhiked to the Library.

In that high-ceilinged, grey sanctuary where the creaking chairs and passing students readily distract the earnest readers, the appearance of this strange old man was greeted with curious eyes. Always he walked slowly to the back of the Library, put his cane and hat on the same shelf, blew his nose, and automatically reached for one of the books which line the walls. There he remained, reading steadily among the flux of students cramming for exams, whispering, and wandering in and out. He interrupted his long stay only long enough to eat a particular candy-bar which he bought with unfailing regularity, and, when the Library closed, he sought more books. Until the early morning hours he sat in the library at Willard Straight with a book or magazine on his lap.

His mind retained little of what he read, but he read to avoid sleep and to wait for death, and the mere act of constantly seeing new words occupied his eyes and soothed his mind. Booth Tarkington's Seventeen, The Atlantic Monthly, and Judge, as well as the scholarly volumes in the Library answered this need. With no illusions about improving his mind or cashing in on his learning, he was wiser than many an undergraduate; and now, successful, he sleeps beyond the camera's focus.

NEED CLASS OFFICERS

The Student Council has just revised its form of organization for wider representation of minority groups. It is generally believed that the changes will increase the efficiency of this, the general governing body of undergraduate men's affairs.

Since the formation of the Council in 1915, it has had complete charge of the functions of the men of the four undergraduate classes, cooperating, with varying degrees of completeness, with the older and better organized Women's Self-Government Association.

With the inception of the Council, all elective officers of the individual classes ceased to function. Officers were appointed by the Council for specific tasks, except that recently Senior men have again elected each spring their permanent Class secretaries.

The Council has been reorganized from time to time, although the changes have rarely been revolutionary. The absence of class officers, elected by the class only and responsible to the class, has resulted in a somewhat diminished class enthusiasm and an increase in uncertainty and lack of interest in class membership. In many ways the loss has been considerable, particularly in alumnal life, while the gain for the class has been very much less than for the undergraduate body as a whole.

We sincerely wish that the Student Council would set up, perhaps in addition to its own organization, a complete set of class officers for each class, elected by the class itself alone, and empowered by the Council to manage certain types of class functions without let or hindrance, except as necessary cooperation is required to avoid interference. If this were done we believe that again the class would flourish as an integral unit in alumnal organization, as it has not often done since the establishment of the Student Council, and that Cornell would thus eventually have the benefit of cooperation between contemporaries rather than having to rely wholly on Cornell clubs.

An alumni body that is strongly class-minded is more powerful, more flexible, more interested, than one that lacks this additional sentimental interest between persons who were in college simultaneously.

ALUMNI ELECTED

Three Cornellians were elected November 3 to serve as members of the United States House of Representatives in the Seventy-fifth Congress. They are Thomas C. Hennings, Jr. '24, Democrat, St. Louis, Mo.; John J. O'Connor '24, Democrat, New York City; and Daniel A. Reed '98, Republican, Dunkirk.

Four alumni are members of the Senate and two of the Assembly of New York State for 1937. Nelson W. Cheney '99, Eden; C. Tracey Stagg '02, Ithaca; and Earle S. Warner '05, Phelps, were elected on the Republican ticket to the State Senate, as were Howard N. Allen '29, Pawling, and Wheeler Milmoie '17, Canastota, to the State Assembly. State Senator Peter T. Farrell '22, Corona, was the lone Democratic alumnus elected.

TO DIG IN ANTIOCH

Frederick O. Waage, instructor in Classical Archaeology, will sail from New York City March 2, with Mrs. Waage, to join the Princeton Archaeological Expedition which is excavating the ancient city of Antioch, Syria. He has received leave of absence from the University for the second term, and will act as recorder of the expedition, with Mrs. Waage as assistant recorder.

This is Waage's second visit to Antioch, ancient seaport town of the Mediterranean whose mosaic floors and other objects from back to the seventh century B. C. have told the world much about ancient art and painting. As a graduate student at Princeton he worked there in 1934. The Princeton expedition is supported by several French and American museums, by Princeton University, and by individuals, of whom Henry J. Patten '84 is a member of the directing committee.

Waage came to Cornell as instructor the fall of 1935. He received the Bachelor's degree at Pennsylvania in 1928 and holds the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Fine Arts from Princeton, where he studied under Professor Charles R. Morey, who is largely responsible for beginning the excavations at Antioch, in 1932.

MATTHEW HERSON, 82, who for more than forty years conducted the Old Homestead Cafe on South Cayuga Street, died December 12. The Old Homestead was the one with the noteworthy collection of oil paintings, directly across the street from the main entrance to the Lyceum Theatre.

COMING EVENTS

Time and place of regular Club luncheons are printed separately as we have space. Notices of other Cornell events, both in Ithaca and abroad, appear below. Contributions to this column must be received on or before Thursday to appear the next Thursday.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

By Romeyn Berry '04

REORGANIZATION of the Student Council, that we told you about last week, went through with landslide majorities. Even the proposal to include women in the membership of the Council, the outcome of which was supposed to be dubious, was carried, and by a vote of 608 to 155. Other changes adopted included elimination of Freshmen representatives, open meetings, and ex-officio representation (without vote) of the Independent Association, the Interfraternity Council, and the Cornell Sun. Elections to the Student Council will now be held in the spring only instead of twice a year. All the changes are regarded as tending to the advantage of The Forgotten Man and toward making things harder for undergraduate politicians.

ANNUAL MEETING of the Tompkins County Trust Co. (formerly the Ithaca Trust Co.) elected Miss Eugenia Van Cleef a director to fill the vacancy created by the death of her uncle, Robert H. Treman '78. Miss Van Cleef also follows in the footsteps of her father, the late Mynderse Van Cleef '74, who was a director of the Trust Company from its organization and, at the time of his death, chairman of the board.

THIRD ISSUE this year of Areopagus, "Cornell Journal of Opinion" and apparently organ of the Third Estate, appeared January 20. It contains twenty-seven advertisements and four additional pages. Editorially, it approves of the reorganization of the Student Council and of the Rev. Richard H. Edwards, soon to retire; disapproves of any athletic tax.

PROFESSOR HORACE WHITESIDE '22 of the Law School has been elected president of the Ithaca Country Club.

THE REV. REGINALD E. CHARLES, formerly rector of the Church of the Epiphany in Detroit, Mich., will succeed the Rev. Henry P. Horton as rector of St. John's, Ithaca, when the latter retires next March after twenty-six years here. Mr. Charles, in the meantime, is Episcopal student pastor, following the Rev. Frank Lambert, who has become rector of Christ's Church at Cambridge, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Horton have purchased the Biggs house in Trumansburg, where they now live.

UP IN HOME ECONOMICS they have a kitchen available to students. It's open from 8 to 12 on Saturdays and from 8 to 6 on other weekdays. Some students cook their own lunches up there. A good many cook things to take back to their rooms. You can purchase supplies from the storeroom clerk, provided you let her know what you want the day before.

JOHN D. WILLIAMS '39 of Cleveland has been suffering from motor troubles. On January 15 he discovered downtown, and purchased for $15, a second-hand automobile. Before he had driven the car all the way up to the DKE house it had cost him $50 more. The items on the bill were: for speeding, $25; for driving without license plates, $10; for driving without an operator's license, $10; miscellaneous, $5. Having learned his lesson, Mr. Williams parked his purchase on the tennis court and borrowed a fraternal motorcycle on which to go back downtown for a whole lot of licenses. That was $10 more. It appears that one must have an operator's license for a motorcycle also. Officer Dinty Moore made all the arrests involved.

DEBONAIR GESTURE of contempt for danger was the Willard Straight formal dance on the eve of examinations. The affair was given the cryptic name of "The Final Swing."

ART COMMITTEE of Willard Straight is this week showing forty-three photographic studies of Charleston by Mrs. Bayard Wooten of Chapel Hill, N. C. They are lovely pictures of fine old houses, gardens, wrought iron gateways, and moss-hung oaks. They make it harder to have to stay up North through the winter.

THIRTIETH ANNUAL Farm and Home Week is announced to begin February 15. Governor Lehman is coming again and so is Mrs. Roosevelt. They never miss. Just about the time F. D. R. inaugurated the practice of having the Governor of New York always drop in at Ithaca for Farm and Home Week, a considerable block of up-State towns shifted from the Republican to the Democratic column, and stayed there. Folks up our way like to have the Governor drop in. You may not realize it, but Farm and Home Week brings annually to the Campus vastly more people than ever come here for any other event (except an occasional big football game). And what's more, they come in Packards and Lincolns and stay the week.

THE PROBLEM of making the new Alumni House at 3 East Avenue "a more human place" is being abundantly solved by the University's group of professional artists. They are to exhibit there in turn, at monthly intervals. Professor Kenneth L. Washburn '27 is the first exhibitor, and is showing six oils (landscapes mostly) and a bronze figure. He will be followed by Professors Brauner, Stone, Midjo, Baker, et al.

PROBABLY YOU'RE SICK of having us talk about the weather, but in dropping the subject for good and all, we can't help mumbling, in a sulky way, that on January 16 forsythia bloomed in the Seneca Street back yard of Mrs. Raymond Mitchell.

SOLE LECTURER this week-before-examinations is S. K. Ratcliffe, British journalist and lecturer, who spoke on "The British Crown, People, and Empire," January 25, on the Goldwin Smith foundation.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER January 31 is the Rev. Albert G. Butzer, of the Westminster Church, Buffalo.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK has elected Provost Albert R. Mann '04 chairman of the board. The First National and the University have always been intimately related. The University holds a considerable block of stock in this bank and keeps a checking account there. Ezra Cornell was one of the organizers of the First National, and served on its first board of directors. Alonzo B. Cornell was its first cashier. The late Roger B. Williams for many years served both as president of the bank and as chairman of the University's finance committee.

THE COLGATE basketball game January 20 turned out to be a thriller with the victory hanging in the balance, and the spectators on each other, right up to the final bell. And right in the middle of the most breath-taking rally, with the ball in the air, all the lights in the Drill Hall went out. That admirable and astonishing ROTC Band met the emergency by breaking instantly into a joyous march, with volunteers lighting matches so the trombone could see the conductor. When the lights went on the referee took the ball back to the center and started play all over again. That seemed to him, he said, about the only thing he could do under the peculiar circumstances. There is nothing in the rules about it.

IN THE INTERDENOMINATIONAL Intramural Basketball League two previously undefeated teams met on Thursday night when the Hillels (Jewish) grappled fiercely with the Presbyterians. The Presbyterians are still undefeated. The score was 26-21. The charter of the University provides that at no time shall a majority of the Board of Trustees be members of any one church, and just now the number of Presbyterians is close to the danger point. Fortunately, however, the charter places no limitations on the Presbyterians in connection with Interdenominational intramural basketball.

Concerning THE FACULTY

HARPER SIBLEY received a bound testimonial volume containing the signatures of leading Rochester fellow-citizens at the annual meeting of the Society of the Genesee January 18. His fellow University Trustee, Frank E. Gannett '98, who was elected president of the Society, paid tribute to Sibley's accomplishments as a farmer and business man.

THREE CORNELLIANs were speakers at the 105th annual meeting of the New York State Agricultural Society, oldest farm organization in the State, in Albany January 26. Professor Clyde H. Myers, PhD '12, Plant Breeding, discussed new farm crops including wheat, hybrid corns, cereal plants, forage, and soybeans. Professor Homer C. Thompson, Vegetable Crops, related the development in vegetable crops in the last twenty-five years. Professor Leland E. Weaver '18, Poultry Husbandry, outlined the trend of the poultry industry today.

PROFESSOR D. B. JOHNSTONE-WALLACE, Agronomy, lectured January 20 on "New Facts in Pasture Management" before the Connecticut Dairymen's Association meeting at Hartford, Conn.

STATE NURSERYMEN'S Association, meeting in Rochester last week, recommended the establishment in the College of Agriculture of a new full-time research professorship in Ornamental Horticulture. Action was taken after they had heard Professor George F. Warren '03, Agricultural Economics, predict increasing demand for ornamental nursery stock, "with rising prices and increasing building activity."

PROFESSOR ANDREW C. HAIGH, Music, gave a piano recital at the Town Hall in New York City January 25. The program featured selections by Schubert, Debussy, and Brahms. Gilbert Ross, violinist, former professor of Music now at Smith College, will also give a recital in the Town Hall series.

DEAN FLOYD K. RICHTMYER '04, Graduate School, addressed the Ithaca Women's Club January 18 on the discovery of the X-ray and its importance to the medical world.

FLOYD F. HEDLUND, Agricultural Economics, told the Ithaca League of Women Voters that "It costs over a billion dollars a year to run our state and local governments in New York. Three fourths of this amount is raised by taxes on real property."

NEW BOOK by Professor Harry H. Love, PhD '09, Plant Breeding, is Application of Statistical Methods to Agricultural Research. Written while Professor Love was agricultural adviser to the Chinese Government, the text was prepared under the auspices of the National Agricultural Research Bureau and the China Foundation for the Promotion of Education and Culture. Profits from the sale of the volume, published by the Commercial Press, Ltd., of Shanghai, China, will be used for fellowships in agriculture for Chinese students.

EMPIRE STATE Honey Producers' Association elected Professor Everett F. Philipps, Apiculture, president at the annual convention in Syracuse recently. Professor George H. Rea, Apiculture Extension, was named field secretary.

DIRECTORS and officers of the newly-incorporated Co-operative Consumer's Society, of Ithaca, include Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd, Astronomy; Mrs. G. Eugene Durham (Mary P. Porter) '22, and Professor Robert A. Polson, Rural Social Organization.

FINAL VOLUME of the Dictionary of American Biography, published December 10, devotes nearly five pages to an account of the life of Andrew D. White, first President of the University. The article concludes: "In bearing White was kindly, though not without reserve; in temper active, buoyant, generous. . . . For years his life was threatened by a throat ailment due to exposure in his drives to Ithaca during Cornell's early days. . . . All the fine arts he loved; but architecture gave him greatest joy the world over. The school for it at Cornell was his creation and his pet. . . . He hoped to be judged, above all, by his work as University founder and moulder."

IN HIS BIENNIAL report to the trustees of the University of Pittsburgh, Chancellor John C. Bowman declared his unqualified opposition to "State control" of the University. He quoted the following statement of Professor George J. Thompson, Law, who made a study of higher education in Pennsylvania: "Well may the commonwealth (Pennsylvania) ponder soberly the recent suggestion of a departure from the traditional policy toward her two great universities, which, at a minimum of public burden and expense, have given the people of Pennsylvania the maximum benefit of private administration and endowment, and maintained the standards of public higher education on a par with the best in the country."

MARRIAGE COURSES for high school and grammar school pupils were advocated by Professor Mark Entorf, Home Economics Extension, in an interview recently. "College teaching about the home and family relationships often comes too late because students at that stage have already developed fixed emotional attitudes, ideas, and habits," he suggested.

NECROLOGY

'73 BS—DR. ELIAS HUDSON BARTLEY, January 12, 1937, at his home, 70 Remsen Street, Brooklyn. After two years as instructor in Chemistry, he taught chemistry for three years at Swarthmore College; then received the MD degree at Long Island College Hospital in 1879, where he served continuously on the faculty until becoming professor emeritus of chemistry, toxicology, and pediatrics in 1917. He practiced as a physician in Brooklyn for more than fifty years, was consulting pediatricist of several hospitals and chief of the department of pediatrics at Brownsville and East New York Hospitals, and was dean and professor of organic chemistry at the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy. Son, Dr. Samuel P. Bartley '13. Irving Literary Society; Chemistry Club.

'90 ME—FRANCIS DANIEL DAVIS, December 28, 1936, at his home in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Since 1913 he had been an engineer with Welman, Seamer, Morgan Co. President, Athletic Association; president, Athletic Council; baseball director; treasurer, Inter-Class Baseball League; secretary, Football Association.

'90 ME—GEORGE CLEVELAND HICKS, at his home in La Jolla, Calif., recently. He was vice-president and engineer of the P. H. and F. M. Co. in Connersville, Ind. for fifteen years prior to his association with the Westinghouse interests in St. Louis, Mo., and La Jolla, Calif. He was a Major in the Ordnance Department during the War. Psi Upsilon; Class football and baseball director.

'93 LLB—CLARENCE RICH SPERRY, June 18, 1936, at Boonville. He practiced law in Boonville all his life. He entered the Law School in 1891.

'95 CE—ABRAHAM GETMAN GIDEON, December 17, 1936, at his home in Oakland, Calif. after a long illness. He had been superintendent and engineer of water supply and sewers in Manila, P. I., from 1912 to 1932, when he went to Oakland as a consulting engineer. Civil Engineering Association; Cornell Congress; Mathematical Club.

'95 BSA—JOHN MAIN TRUEMAN, January 13, 1937, at Truro, Nova Scotia. He entered Agriculture in 1892 from the Nova Scotia Agricultural School, and for two years was an undergraduate assistant in the Dairy Department. For eight years he taught agriculture at the University of Illinois, returning to Nova Scotia Agricultural College in 1913 as farm superintendent and professor of agriculture, a position he resigned last year.

'00 ME—JOHN VAUGHAN McADAM, December 28, 1936, at his home in Hastings-on-Hudson. He invented several electrical and mechanical appliances, including a standard part for Pullman cars used for thirty-five years, and until his recent retirement was a consulting engineer. He served in France during the War as a Major in the Ordnance Department. Delta Upsilon.

'02 Sp—ROBERT LEAL HYETT, June 19, 1936. He was a special student in Architecture in 1898-99, and practiced architecture in Chicago, Ill. His address was 511 Maple Avenue, Wilmette, Ill.

'11 DVM, '25 PhD—CHARLES VICTOR NOBACK, January 16, 1937, in New York City. He lived at 100 Bradley Road, Scarsdale; for ten years, as veterinarian of the New York Zoo in Bronx Park, he guarded the health of its 4,000 animals from all over the world. A week before his death he presided at the annual meeting in Ithaca of the alumni association of the Veterinary College, of which he was president last year. After two years with the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, he worked for eight years in the New York City Department of Health and took graduate work at Columbia. Later he went to Bogota, Colombia, for further research and to teach in the National University there, returning to Ithaca in 1922 for graduate work in Pathology, Biochemistry, and Physiology in preparation for the PhD degree. Then for a year he was bacteriologist in the State Department of Health. Member of the national, State, and New York City Veterinary Associations, American Association of Physical Anthropologists, American Society of Mammologists, and fellow of the New York Zoological Society, New York Academy of Science, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Sons, Charles R. Noback '36 and Joseph C. Noback '38; brother, Gustave J. Noback '16, professor of anatomy at New York University. Cosmopolitan Club.

'13 ME—AUSTIN WELD DEYO, December 5, 1936, at his home in Scarsdale. He was successively with the Ingersoll-Rand Company at Painted Post; engineer and designer with the Larabee-Deyo Truck Company in Binghamton; and an executive with the Deyo Oil Company. In 1930 he joined the Colonial-Beacon Oil Company as engineer in charge of construction and equipment in upstate New York, and in January, 1936, was transferred to their New York City office, in charge of construction in New York and Connecticut.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'89 PhB—A loving cup inscribed with the names of judges of the Court of Appeals and the seal of New York State was presented December 31 to Associate Judge Leonard C. Crouch who retired that day, having attained the age limit of seventy. In the presentation ceremony Judge Crouch was characterized as one who is "as keen to all appearances for the right decision as you were upon the first day of your entry into court." The Judge, a Democrat, voted to uphold the State's unemployment insurance law in the last major court decision rendered while he was on the bench. He expects now to become an official Court of Appeals referee and as such to handle litigation in which the State is a party. "I hope to keep my mind busy so it won't grow rusty and yet not so busy as to be swamped," he said in commenting on his plans for the future.

'91—Seventy-two paintings by Lewis E. Dofflemyer were exhibited in Ithaca last month. Dofflemyer is city assessor of Ithaca and lives at 427 North Cayuga Street. Included were a pen and ink original of the title page of the 1891 Cornellian, an original drawing picturing the cane rushes of those days; a drawing for "The Tunnel," a poem used in the Cornellian; and pencil drawings of the old Inlet with its boathouses, the old flumes behind the Ithaca Gun Company, and the "haunted house" at Buttermilk Falls. Dofflemyer's avocation being painting, his exhibit purposed to show "what a pleasant thing art is when you love it."

'93 ME (EE)—Arthur W. Berresford, past president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, took part in a symposium commemorating the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of George Westinghouse, at the recent annual meeting of the ASME in New York City.

'94 LLB, '95 LLM—Frederick C. Woodward, vice-president of the University of Chicago, married Mrs. Ernst Freund, January 5.

'95—Waldrom P. Belknap, vice-president of the Bankers Trust Company, was elected recently vice-president of the Mortgage Conference of New York. The Conference is a clearing house for information among institutional mortgage lenders.

'96 ME(EE)—Leadership in curbing what is expected to be "the biggest building boom in history" and in spreading construction activity over a longer cycle should be asserted by architects in 1937, declares Ossian P. Ward, secretary of the Kentucky chapter of the American Institute of Architects. "A building boom is always upsetting and unsatisfactory," he warns in a report of architectural progress in 1936 which discusses "Housing a Nation from an Architect's Viewpoint." "A rush of construction creates high prices, which in turn cause expensive building, making it impossible for a structure to earn enough revenue to constitute a profitable investment except perhaps over a very short period. Such a condition always spells grief for someone."

'98 AB—Frank E. Gannett has the distinction of having received the largest vote of any Republican candidate for Presidential electors last November, according to the official tabulation of the Secretary of State. Gannett received 2,180,670 votes, more than two-thirds the number listed for the leading Democratic electors. Speaking before the convention of the National Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers January 4, Gannett described newspapers as the "first estate" in a republic, and asserted that "no republican form of government is safe without its free press." He added that "We are seeing evidence of that every day in some foreign countries." Gannett denied that the press had lost prestige in the recent election: "The newspapers gave the public the facts, and on these facts the voters rendered their decision."

'02 LLB—State Senator C. Tracey Stagg introduced an amendment to the motor vehicle and traffic law January 7 providing for a flat registration fee of $3 for automobiles. A similar amendment which he introduced at the last legislative session failed.

'05, '06 AB, '07 AM, '11 PhD—Addressing the Mineralogical Society of America meeting jointly with the Geological Society of America in Chicago, Ill., recently, Dr. John L. Rich asserted that heat may bring new mountains. He advanced a theory that "blistering" of the earth's surface into mountains and volcanoes may be due to radioactive heating within the earth by such minerals as uranium and thorium. It is conceivable, he added, that "new ranges of mountains will be formed at some point on the earth's surface in the future through the same process." Dr. Rich is associate professor of economic geology at the University of Cincinnati.

'06 DVM—Elizabeth Giltner, daughter of Dr. Ward Giltner '06, dean of the Michigan State College of Veterinary Science, was murdered at East Lansing, Mich. ## Good for Business

Advertising in the Cornell Alumni News increased materially during the business year 1935-36. Advertisers find it profitable to carry their messages directly to our five thousand Cornell graduates and former students through this personal news-magazine.

It will be good for your business to advertise in the Alumni News this year . . . Because . . .

You Buy Quality Circulation. You reach more than 5,000 Cornell men and women, prosperous, loyal, and interested. Their tastes, inclination and ability to buy are far above the average. They constitute a selected market for quality products.

Your Advertisements Will Be Read. The men and women who read the Alumni News are not urged into it by high pressure methods. They buy the paper because they want it, and they read each issue from cover to cover. Furthermore, it's small enough so that every advertiser gets preferred space.

You Get Your Money's Worth. A full page costs Alumni News advertisers less than one cent for each interested reader. With us, you don't buy unproductive circulation.
