LAW COMMENCEMENT Thirty-Five Get Degrees

Thirty-five Seniors in the Law School receive diplomas on May 30, at Commencement exercises in the Moot Court Room of Myron Taylor Hall. Speakers are President Farrand, Dean Charles K. Burdick, and Dr. Stanley King, president of Amherst College. Dr. King, who gives the main address, is a member of the Massachusetts Bar and is chairman of the Massachusetts Commission on the Stabilization of Unemployment; he has been president of Amherst since 1932. Lieutenant-Governor M. William Bray and Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75 were also expected.

Professor William H. Farnham '20 is Faculty marshal; four honor men of the graduating class, David Altman '33 of Rochester, Matthew H. Dwyer of Syracuse, Robert L. Griffith '29 of Rochester, and Norman MacDonald of Fall River, Mass., are the student marshalls. The following honor-men of the second-year class will act as ushers: Robert Pasley of Maplewood, N. J., head usher; John M. Friedman of Rockaway Beach, John F. Maddever '33 of Niagara Falls, Leonard F. Marcussen '30 of Ithaca, and Frederick Whiteside, Jr. of Camden, Ark.

Other graduates with first degrees from the University are, Hale Anderson, Jr. '33 of Caldwell, N. J., Albert E. Arent '33 of Rochester, Benjamin L. Barringer '33 of Ithaca, John D. Bennett '33 of Rockville Center; Herbert H. Blau '33 of New Rochelle, Stewart G. Cook '33 of Newark Valley, John G. F. Devereux '32 of Ithaca, Sidney D. Edelman '32 of Highland Falls, William R. Geary '33 of Hornell, Eli M. Goldberg '33 of Brooklyn, Percy Ingerman '33 of Northport, Norman B. Matthews '32 of Saranac Lake, Jack Norden, Jr. '33 of Woodmere, Russell O. Pettibone '33 of Ithaca, Morris Pouser '33 of Endicott, Robert W. Purcell '32 of Watertown, Benjamin Schwartz '33 of Binghamton, Forbes D. Shaw '27 of Brooklyn, Harold S. Taylor '33 of Nichols, Benjamin D. White '32 of Morristown, N. J., and James R. Withrow, Jr. '32 of Columbus Ohio.

Those who received their baccalaureate degrees from other institutions include: from Williams, Henry A. Mark, William N. Mason, and George H. Winner; from University of Michigan, Lowell Altschuler, Sidney D. Edelman and Ledrue Davis; from Syracuse, Dwyer; from Marietta College, Ernest J. Gazda; from Brown University, Robert E. Johnson; from Queens University, Kingston, Ont., MacDonald; from Haverford College, Lauman Martin; and from Colgate, Peter P. Peterson.

EIGHTH WINS ROME PRIZE

LISTER '33 AT HIS DRAWING BOARD

James M. Lister '33 of Boston, O., winner of this year's Prix de Rome in Landscape Architecture, is the eighth Cornellian of the thirteen prizewinners. Lister holds the University Fellowship in Architecture and Landscape Architecture. He received the BA degree from Harvard, "cum laude," in 1929, entered the College of Architecture that fall, and received the BLA degree in February, 1933. He was one of the four finalists in the 1933 Rome Prize competition. This year's final, problem was to develop a New Jersey land subdivision, with estates of four to ten acres, golf courses, club house, and business centers. The award enables the recipient to travel abroad and study two years at the American Academy in Rome.

The first award in landscape architecture was made in 1914, to Edward G. Lawson '13. Other Cornellians to win the honor are Ralph E. Griswold '16, Norman T. Newton '19, Michael Rapuano '27, Richard C. Murdock '27, Neil H. Park '28, and Morris E. Trotter, Jr. '32.

Two other alumni of the College of Architecture won the preliminary competitions which entitled them to participate in this year's finals of the American Academy. Robert A. Wilson '33 was a finalist in the painting competition, and Robert S. Kitchen '34 in architecture.

Professor Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Regional Planning, was chairman of this year's landscape architecture jury award, and Rapuano was a member.

THE UPPER REACHES of the Library Tower are to be ruled by Edwin H. Hilborn '36, of Phoenix, head chimesmaster for next year. Leon I. Blostein '38 of Ithaca is his assistant.

REGISTER FOR INSTITUTE Alumni Get Programs

Early registration of alumni who will be coming back as "students" at the Alumni Institute directly following the reunions and Commencement include representatives from classes as early as '78 and as recent as '26. The programs were mailed only a little more than a week ago, and applications are coming in with each mail. Those who had registered to Monday include Mrs. Willard Beahan (Bessie DeWitt) '78 and Charles H. Bernheisel '90 and Mrs. Bernheisel, of Cleveland, O.; Henry J. Patten '84 of Chicago, Ill.; Archie C. Burnett '90 of Boston, Mass.; Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04 of New York City; Archibald M. Dershimer '04 and Mrs. Dershimer of West Pittston, Pa.; George T. Long '90 and Mrs. Long of White Plains; Major Henry C. Nelson '92 and Mrs. Nelson of Falls Village, Conn.; C. Reeve Vanneman '03 of Albany; J. Carlton Ward, Jr. '14 and Mrs. Ward of Long Island City; Jessamine S. Whitney '05 of New York City; Myron Zucker '25 and Mrs. Zucker (Isabel Schnapper) '26 of Royal Oak, Mich.

The committee has mailed the program to all the presidents and secretaries of all the Cornell Clubs and all the classes, and to some individuals in reunion classes; to the University Trustees; and to the officers and directors of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, the Cornellian Council, the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and the Association of Class Secretaries. Folders and application blanks may be procured on application to the Alumni Office, Morrill Hall, Ithaca.

This first Alumni Institute will formally open on Monday evening, June 17, following registration and a tour of the Campus and surrounding country in the afternoon. The six sessions and roundtable discussions will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, June 18, 19, and 20, in the mornings and afternoons.

Professors and others who will participate include: Julian P. Bretz, Professor of American History; Charles K. Burdick, Dean of the Law School; Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Professor of Regional Planning; Robert E. Cushman, Professor of Government; Seymour S. Garrett '04, Professor of Industrial Economics; Earle H. Kennard, PhD '13, Professor of Physics; Dexter S. Kimball, Dean of the College of Engineering; Carl E. Ladd '12, Dean of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics; Myron A. Lee '09, Professor of Industrial Engineering; Albert R. Mann '04, Provost of the University; Frank A. Pearson '12, Professor of Prices and Statistics; Loren C. Petry, Professor of Botany and Director of the Summer Session; Harold L. Reed, PhD '14, Professor of Economics and Finance; Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Professor of Physics and Dean of the Graduate School; Robert H. Treman '78, President of the Ithaca Trust Company and Chairman of the Board of the Tompkins County National Bank; George F. Warren '03, Professor of Agricultural Economics and Farm Management; Herbert H. Whetzel, Professor of Plant Pathology; Lyman P. Wilson, Professor of Law.

CUSHMAN IN PHILADELPHIA

Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, spoke at a luncheon of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia, May 24. He was there to attend the sessions of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, where he spoke that afternoon on problems relating to "our antiquated judicial system." Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, Professor T. Reed Powell of the Harvard Law School, and many other famous personages were expected to attend.

WILLARD STRAIGHT USED

The doors of Willard Straight Hall, University Union, opened 19,466 times one week last month; 270 volunteers counted them for the Hall's board of managers. The check was made to determine the use made of the building and its facilities by the community.

The 270 found that students spend more time in the building on Fridays than on other days, and that the undergraduate tended to keep away from the building earlier in the week, presumably to study in the Library. Fifty-seven student organizations use the building for meetings; 697 people used the private dining rooms in six days and 5,444 meals were taken in the cafeteria of the total of 10,907 served, more at noon than at any other times.

The daily count of persons using the building: Monday, 2,985; Tuesday, 2,200; Wednesday, 3,771; Thursday, 3,296; Friday, 3,906; Saturday, 3,308.

HONOR THE MOTTS

One hundred seventy-five members of the Cosmopolitan Club, including members of the Faculty, students and townspeople were guests at a dinner May 20 at the Clubhouse to pay tribute to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mott, leaving the University after a two-year stay. Mr. Mott, assistant to the Dean of the University Faculty, head of the International Association of Ithaca, and director of the Club, will take up his new duties as director of the Rockefeller-endowed International House of New York City, September 1.

The Cosmopolitan Club, under Mott's guidance during the past two years, has succeeded in wiping out its debt, in improving its clubhouse, and in increasing its membership by 150. President Farland, at the dinner, declared that "Mr. and Mrs. Mott, in the invisible influence that has radiated from their home and their work during their all-too-short stay here, have created an atmosphere of idealism and of friendship important in the development of an international attitude, and appreciation is felt by the entire University."

Charles D. Hurrey, general secretary of the committee on friendly relations among foreign students, New York City, was a speaker at the banquet; others included Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04 of the Graduate School, William Boyd, president of the First National Bank of Ithaca, Norma Nordstrum '35 of East Aurora, president of Mortar Board, and Engueda Yohannes '35 of Addis-Abeba, Abyssinia. John R. Raeburn, Grad., of Fife, Scotland, and president-elect of the Club, was toastmaster.

FOREIGN STUDENTS SPEAK

A group of students from foreign lands were guests last week at a meeting of the Ithaca Rotary Club. En-Jung Fan, Grad., from Tungsein, China, and Engueda Yohannes '35 of Addis Abeba, Abyssinia, were the featured speakers.

Fan described his plans to promote adult education in his home land by means of radio broadcasting; the broadcasting powered by a man peddling a bicycle and the reception on small crystal sets. Thus he hopes to obviate the two problems confronting radio broadcasting in China—the absence of radio power and the poverty of the Chinese farmer.

Yohannes talked of the present plight of his country, menaced by Italy and preparing for war. He blamed the attractiveness of his country's natural resources for what he termed the "imperialistic plans" of various European nations, and spoke of the freedom his people have enjoyed for thousands of years, protected by natural barriers and their own fierce independence.

SCOTS AT NEW YORK CLUB

At the Cornell Club of New York on May 16, the Sportsmanship Brotherhood sponsored a reception and luncheon for the Scottish Internationals, football champions of Great Britain. John T. McGovern '00 was toastmaster, and the speakers included Sir Gerald Campbell, British Consul General; Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times; Hon. Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A.A.U.; Matthew Woll, vice-president, A.F. of L.; Grantland Rice, and a representative of the Scottish Societies.

EXTEND PHILOSOPHY

In step with reorganization of the curriculum of the College of Arts and Sciences, Professor George H. Sabine '03, chairman of the Sage School of Philosophy, has announced changes in the courses offered by that school for the undergraduate student. Previously a school devoted to the graduate student and the upperclassman, under the new plan the Freshman and the Sophomore, through a supervised course of reading, will be introduced to some of the great classics of philosophical literature, and may continue such study in more advanced classes.

Undergraduate courses are of three kinds: the reading courses; subjects like logic and ethics; and the third, a systematic study of the history of philosophy, with some well-selected reading and with attention to the historical relationships between systems and between philosophical thought and science or social questions. This latter group, the School Faculty believe, will probably always remain the best introduction to the general subject of philosophy.

In commenting upon the changes, Professor Sabine has declared that the guiding thought in constructing these groupings of subjects is that "philosophy" is a matter of general and not merely of professional concern. It is a study which touches in one way and another every important concern of an intelligent man's life. It combines with and forms the center of the most various interests, and for this reason it offers an excellent foundation for a liberal education such as may give a man insight into the manifold problems which he must face as a citizen, as the practitioner of a profession, and as an individual."

The Sage School of Philosophy, since its endowment in 1886 by Henry W. Sage, has achieved an international reputation; former philosophy students at Cornell are now heads of departments or professors in over fifty colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, and foreign countries. Its Faculty has included Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the first incumbent of the chair of "Christian Ethics and Mental Philosophy," and such recognized authorities as Professors James E. Creighton, PhD '92, Ernest Albee, PhD '94, William A. Hammond, and Frank Thilly. Its present Faculty includes, besides Professor Sabine, Professor George W. Cunningham, Dr. Edwin A. Burt, Dean Robert M. Ogden '01, three assistant professors, and an instructor. Registration in Philosophy courses this year numbers four hundred.

THE GOOD SHIP CORNELL

The May-June number of The Cornelian Council Bulletin carries an appeal for ten thousand contributors to the Alumni Fund before June 30. It contains a summary of the important developments at the University during the past year, a letter written by Neal D. Becker '05, president of the Council, and as a supplement, a novel check-and-envelope combination prepared at cost by the Todd Bankers Supply Company through the courtesy of Walter L. Todd '09, president. The enclosure urges reservations on the Good Ship Cornell for the annual Good-Will Cruise to the Port of Better Days, and includes a blank check.

ALUMNI AT AIEE MEETING

The program for the first meeting at a university of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, June 24 to 28, includes talks and demonstrations by several Cornellians.

Charles S. Rich '26 is general chairman; Hubert H. Race, PhD '22, of the General Electric Company, is chairman of dielectrics; Robert W. Graham '15, of application of electricity to iron and steel production; and Professor Vladimir Karapetoff, of research.

Roswell C. Van Sickle '23 of the Westinghouse Company, William Deans, Jr. '13 of the ITE Circuit Breaker Company, and Ezra F. Scattergood '02 of the Bureau of Power and Light, City of Los Angeles, Cal., and Director Paul M. Lincoln will present papers. Provost Albert R. Mann '04 gives the address of welcome.

Professor Michael G. Malti is chairman of a technical conference dealing with the problems of the cadet and student engineer and including among its speakers Dean Dexter S. Kimball and Bancroft Gherardi '93, Clarence F. Hirshfeld '05, and Alexander C. Stevens '07.

BACKSTAGE AT UNIVERSITY THEATRE

By Argus Tressider '28 of the Direction Staff

The Dramatic Club closed its successful twenty-sixth season, except for the Senior Week play, June 14 and 15, with the presentation of its eighth annual Music Hall Night and Revue in the University Theatre last Friday and Saturday, repeating the Spring Day performances. The cast included most of the undergraduate members of the Club, with the president, Seymour Gross '35, as master of ceremonies. Skits and lyrics were written by the members, and the last half dealt largely with Campus life, ending with a scene of colossal geniality between the living statues of Ezra Cornell and Andrew D. White. A sixteen-piece stage band was led by Willis J. Beach '34.

The following description of the "backstage" work of the Club was prepared at the request of the ALUMNI NEWS by Argus Tressider '28, now Assistant in Public Speaking and member of the Theatre's direction staff.

Alumni who worked under Professor Drummond during the early years of dramatics at Cornell have been interested in the tremendous changes in equipment and technique that have been effected since the Dramatic Club moved in 1925 from Goldwin Smith B to the University Theatre in Willard Straight Hall. The ALUMNI NEWS has printed accounts of many of the productions in the new building, which have helped to establish The Cornell University Theatre as one of the foremost organizations of its kind in the country.

For those who have seen Willard Straight Theatre only from the auditorium or not at all, it may be interesting to hear about some of the things that go on backstage. Behind the back wall of the stage is the workshop, lighted by the brilliant glare of thousand-watt floodlights. Here the "flats" that make up the greatest part of modern stage scenery are painted. Here, too, student members build much of the scenery that looks so substantial from the "house"—pannelled cabinets of wallboard, plaster walls, tree-trunks of canvas and chicken-wire, screens, and such. Much of this work is done with power-tools: a circular saw, a band-saw, a spray-gun.

In the workshop are stored some of the flats used in past productions, together with doors, windows, arches, and similar pieces. Ramps, "parallels," stairs, railings, fireplaces, and other heavy "props" are piled on an overhead platform. Stairs in the corner lead to the furniture and property rooms, where lamps, chairs, trunks, tables, and furniture of every description await use. Here too are the thunder machines and the wind machine.

On the wall in the workshop is a long, painted trumpet-like tube labelled "Whoosh," used in some now-forgotten production. A sign under it says, "Listen for Whoosh at every 100% performance." Needless to say, "Whoosh" never blows, for no matter how good a show is, it can always be better.

The accompanying photograph of the workshop shows the loaded platform, the make-up box (for the workshop is also used as a make-up room on the evenings of performances), and the power saws. Constance Lebaire '36 is painting a piece of decoration for a Revue, designed by Colby Lewis '34, now assistant technical director of the Club. The man with the hammer is Joseph Percy '34, student stage manager last year.

In the past two years the Club has turned towards the production of recent Broadway successes, rather than expending all its energy on the plays of Shakespeare, Sheridan, Ibsen, Shaw, and the like. Last fall, for example, it produced

The Dramatic Club's Workshop-makeup Room behind the Stage

Noel Coward's "Private Lives," Lennox Robinson's "The Far-off Hills," Robert Sherwood's "The Queen's Husband," Sidney Howard's "The Late Christopher Bean," and the Spewacks' "Clear All Wires," all presented on Broadway within the last six years. During the second term, the Club has presented original plays, and the Laboratory Theatre, composed of students in Professor Drummond's advanced courses, have produced such classics as "Uncle Vanya," by Tchekov, and Ibsen's "Rosmersholm."

The staging and lighting of the Theatre plays compare favorably with professional work. Instead of having unrelieved box-sets, some plays are produced in front of a black cyclorama which surrounds the stage, with flats of different heights. On stage, right, is the switchboard, connected with the maze of spotlights and connections in all parts of the stage. The plots for lighting each play are carefully worked out and tested.

This is the rosy side of backstage. The dark side is that, because of the well-known Great Depression, the Club has had to make the best of now rather battered flats, much equipment that has outlived its normal life, and an inadequate stock of furniture. "The play must go on," however, and student players and stage-workers cheerfully cooperate, hoping that some day soon, through subsidy or the end of depression, or both, the drama at Cornell will enjoy more favorable conditions.

Meanwhile, Professor Drummond invites former members of the Club and other interested alumni to send in their checks and thus share with him the joy of paying the deficits. He asks them also to remember the Club when they clear their attics of old costumes or start usable "props" toward the back-yard bonfire.

At the regular luncheon, May 23, of the Cornell Club of Chicago, Dr. Robert McMurray of the Social Science Department, University of Chicago, spoke on "The Jungle in Our Own Back Yard."

ALUMNI MUSICIANS HERE

Jacob S. Fassett, Jr. '12 and Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 and his inimitable banjo will be featured artists at the annual Musical Clubs Senior Week show, June 14, in Bailey Hall. A varied and amusing program has been arranged; a group of instrumental acts and several Glee Club songs are included.

HONOR WAR DEAD

Commemorating the eighteenth anniversary of the day, May 24, 1917, when Cornellians carried the first American flag into action in the World War, a simple but impressive ceremony was held Friday afternoon at the University's War Memorial buildings to the Cornell dead.

As the westering sun sank toward the hills, eight student officers of the ROTC, under the command of Addison D. Merry '35, cadet Colonel, stood at attention while two buglers sent over the valley the poignant strains of "Taps" and a color guard in the gray uniforms of the ROTC slowly lowered the flag from the battlements of the Memorial colonnade where the names of the 264 who lost their lives in their country's service are permanently engraved in stone.

Following the ceremony, some of the group visited the beautiful Memorial Room in the north tower, where the names of the 264 are enshrined, together with the script of President Herbert Hoover's address, given by telephone from his camp on the Rapidan at the dedication of the Memorial buildings, May 24, 1931. Just fourteen years before, Captain Edward I. Tinkham '16, who is buried at Ravenna, Italy, had led the first American detachment, of the American Field Service, composed largely of Cornellians, to the Aisne battle front.

MEDICAL COMMENCEMENT

The thirty-seventh annual Commencement of the Medical College in New York will take place at four o'clock, Thursday afternoon, June 6, at the College, 1300 York Avenue. Sixty-four are candidates for degrees.

KIMBALL IN WESTCHESTER

David M. Williams '06 presided at the final year's meeting of the University Club of Port Chester on May 22 at the Tamarack Country Club, with almost a hundred present. Cornell alumni who were not members of the club were invited. Dean Dexter S. Kimball, guest of honor, spoke on "This Changing World."

NEWARK CLOSES YEAR

The Cornell Club of Newark, N. J., at its last meeting of the year on May 17 elected new officers, heard reports of Cornell Day, and discussed plans for increased activity next year. Primarily a luncheon club, it is considering evening meetings to accommodate many alumni in the district who find it inconvenient to attend the luncheons.

The retiring president, Eric Ruckelshaus '27, reviewed the activities of the year and especially the Club's party on April 5 at the Rock Spring Country Club, West Orange, when more than a hundred and fifty prospective freshmen, head masters, and alumni were entertained. Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, and members of the Savage Club were down from Ithaca, and Andrew J. Whinery '10 was master of ceremonies. The Club's secondary schools committee, under the chairmanship of vice-president Clarence C. Pope '10, arranged the party and for the bringing to Cornell Day of twenty-four boys by Club chauffeurs.

Pope was elected president of the Club for 1935-36; Charles F. Hendrie '18, vice-president; and Milton H. Cooper '28, secretary-treasurer. Cooper's business address is 744 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

WORK FOR REUNION CUPS

Although the number of alumni returning for reunions is difficult to estimate, advance information indicates that competition for the cup awarded each year by the Association of Class Secretaries to the class registering the largest delegation, will lie among '10, '15, and '27. Andrew J. Whinery and Mrs. John B. Grace (Anna Fielden), secretaries for 1910, are attempting not only to establish a record for quarter-century classes, but to show the way to all others this June. They will be hard-pressed by 1915, with Hugh C. Edmiston as reunion chairman and Mrs. Richard Haff (Mildred Watt) as secretary for the women; and by 1927 under the leadership of the two secretaries, Robert B. Brown and Mrs. Bernard A. Savage (Carmen Schneider). The women of '27 already hold a record for the greatest number of women back at a reunion, with 112 in 1929.

The Association of Class Secretaries awards another cup each year, to the class registering the largest proportion of its living members. That cup usually goes to one of the older classes, and it is probable that a class not later than '90 will win it this year. Professor James E. Rice, secretary of the 45-year class, is expecting a big return.

Although the reunion dates are Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 14, 15, and 16, many alumni are planning to come to Ithaca at least a day early, while others will stay into the following week to participate in the Alumni Institute.

The annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs is to be held in the East Lounge of Willard Straight Hall, Friday afternoon, June 14, at 2:45. Delegates from most, if not all, of the twenty-five clubs represented in the Federation are expected at this meeting, to be followed by a tea honoring the alumnae who have daughters in the Class of '35, and their graduating daughters.

The business of the annual meeting will include brief reports by the delegates on the activities of their clubs during the past year. The terms of office of the first and third vice-presidents of the Federation expire this year, and the nominating committee, of which Mrs. J. Bert Wilson (Louise Dean) '18 is chairman, has announced the following candidates: for the office of first vice-president, Mrs. Claude M. Bigelow (Lucile Wyman) '23, of the Cortland Club, Elizabeth Brennan '18, of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Club, and Hilda Goltz '21, of the Buffalo Club; and for the office of third vice-president, Mrs. Charles E. Duncan (Ann Phillips) '18, of the Binghamton Club, and Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18, of the Mid-Hudson Club.

Mary Donlon '20, president of the Federation, has appointed Mrs. Keith Sears (Lydia Godfrey) '21, Mrs. Roy H. Van Tyne (Isabelle Hoag) '18, and Mrs.

Walter A. Calihan (Anna Messer) '05, to the credentials committee, which will meet in Willard Straight at 2:30 on June 14 to receive and pass upon the credentials of the club delegates.

The always-popular Alumnae Breakfast will be held this year in Memorial Hall, Willard Straight, Saturday, June 15. As usual, the breakfast hour has been set for 7:30, so the program may be concluded in ample time to allow alumnae to attend the nine o'clock meetings of the Cornellian Council, the Association of Class Secretaries, and other organizations.

CORNELL LAW QUARTERLY

Four Cornellians contribute leading articles to the April Cornell Law Quarterly, published by the Faculty and students of the Law School. Professor John W. MacDonald '25 and Albert E. Arent '32 of Rochester write on "The Felony Murder Doctrine and Its Application Under the New York Statutes," and Parker Bailer, Law '34, and Charles K. Rice '32 on "The Extraterritorial Effect of the New York Mortgage Moratorium."

Professor Herbert D. Laube reviews the Report of the Commission on the Administration of Justice in New York State; Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, reviews Jeremiah Sullivan Black, by William N. Brigance; Harvard Legal Essays are reviewed by Professor George J. Thompson; Professor Lyman P. Wilson reviews Police Administration in Boston, by Leonard V. Harrison; Professor Gustavus H. Robinson reviews Double Taxation of Property and Income, by A. L. Harding; and Professor Royal E. Montgomery, Economics, reviews The House of Adam Smith, by Eli Ginzberg.

'35 ELECTS LIFE SECRETARIES

John W. Todd, Jr., son of John W. Todd '06 of Pittsburgh, Pa., was elected May 24 life secretary of the Class of '35. Like his father, young Todd is a student in Mechanical Engineering. For two years he has been a member of the Student Council and was secretary this year. He won his Freshman numerals in football and has rowed four years, in the Varsity boat as a sophomore, Junior Varsity last year, and this year at No. 5 in the J-V boat. He was president of Aleph Samach, is a member of Sphinx Head, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Psi.

Senior women elected Lois L. Coffin '35 of Brooklyn their permanent secretary. Miss Coffin is the daughter of the late William J. Coffin '98 and the late Mrs. Coffin (Selora A. Gaskill) '06.

Miss Coffin is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority, of Mortar Board, Raven and Serpent, the WSGA council and of the CURW, of Cercle Francais. She was last year president of Riskey Hall and has served during her senior year as chairman of organized activities, of WSGA.

THEY SERVED

On this Memorial Day, when the thought of the country is concentrated on honoring those who have given their lives for it, there is much discussion of ways and means to prevent future wars. Not all this discussion is sane. Much of it would leave the country at the mercy of any marauder that chose to overturn its civilization.

The problem is not America's alone. Whatever our own internal readjustments toward peace, it would be necessary for a simultaneous tendency to show itself throughout the world, and for all nations to govern themselves in their foreign relations according to the rules of sportsmanship.

Even if the Government should establish an academy, comparable with West Point or Annapolis, for the training of public servants and the consequent elimination of the jingoists and the comedians from the control of National affairs, the Utopia will not arrive during our life time in which there is no threat of war and no need for national defense.

Cornell's part in the World War is too easily forgotten. Last week appropriate ceremonies celebrated the fourth anniversary of the dedication of the University's War Memorial. Eighteen years ago, on May 24, Eddie Tinkham '16 carried the flag of the United States into action in France for the first time. A Cornell banner went with it because the contingent was mainly composed of Cornellians. Metropolitan newspapers carried Cornell on the first pages in their then seven-column streamer headlines. Other colleges followed into action in five or six months.

Because of the training it had given its former students, the University contributed more than its share of the commissioned personnel of the Army and Navy. It is astounding to find that the number of commissioned officers from Cornell exceeded the combined total from West Point and Annapolis, and with this over-contribution, came, of course, a proportionate share of the lists of injured and dead. Cornell's record in the War, terrible as it was in some aspects, abounds in thrills and glorious memories that will never be forgotten by Cornellians of the first fifty classes.

It was to honor those two hundred sixty-four Cornellians who died in the War, primarily, but incidentally all those thousands of Cornell officers and men, and women, who served their country so effectively, that this anniversary, Cornell's own Memorial Day, was observed last week. That but a handful of spectators were present may be attributed to lack of information and to lack of sympathy on the part of those who believe that a magnification of war's physical horrors and a minimizing of its spiritual contribution will produce a warless world. Whether the hamstringing of one's own country alone can produce this result, has not yet been proved.

Constantly Cornell apologizes, and minimizes the training she gives for usefulness to the country and the world when they are beset. Rather, we should adopt a firmer attitude, in which Cornellians cease to apologize for their University's differences from other colleges. Instead, we can proudly recognize not only Cornell's many contributions to university education, but equally the part she has taken in respect to other phases of her country's weal. It is wholly within the limits of probability that where Cornell differs, she is greater; and that, given time, many of the bases for present apology will become the accepted order among those that now differ.

GORTNER BAKER LECTURER

The George F. Baker non-resident lecturer in Chemistry for the first term of the next academic year will be Dr. Ross A. Gortner, professor of agricultural chemistry at the University of Minnesota and chief of the same Division at the State Agricultural Experiment Station, it has been announced by Professor Jacob Papish, PhD '21, head of the Department. Dr. Gortner will lecture on "Colloids with Reference to Biochemical Problems." He gave the Baker lectures here also in 1932.

In addition to his duties at Minnesota, Dr. Gortner has been since 1926 consultant in the Chemical Warfare Service of the Army, and is assistant editor of Chemical Abstracts and associate editor of the Journal of Physical Chemistry. He is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of the National Research Council and of many professional societies, and the author of Outline of Biochemistry, published in 1929.

Dr. Gortner received the BS degree from Nebraska Wesleyan in 1907, the MA from University of Toronto, and the Doctor's degree from Columbia. Until he went to Minnesota in 1914, he was resident investigator in biological chemistry at the Station for Experimental Evolution of the Carnegie Institution at Washington, D. C.

TO BROADCAST VARIETY

Undergraduates, organized into a Radio Guild, will next fall begin a series of weekly variety broadcasts over the University station, WESG. Professor William C. DeVane, English, will act as Faculty advisor for the group, which will write, direct, and produce the skits and musical programs. The Guild was organized by Ruth Press '35 of Philadelphia with the cooperation of Professor Charles A. Taylor '14, director of the Station.

The officers of the Guild are: president, Charles Brunelle '36 of New York City; acting department, Robert A. Hamburger '36 of Flushing, manager, and John W. Scott '37 of Niagara Falls, assistant; writing department, Donald R. Hassell '36 of Scarsdale, manager, and Leonard Feinstein '36 of New York City and Melville Shavelson '37 of Spring Valley, assistants; music department, Leonard C. Marsac '36 of Crawford, N. J., manager, and Mae A. Zukerman '37, of Vineland, N. J., assistant; directing department, Edward J. Caldwell '37 of Sharon, Pa., and Jeanne S. Paquette '37 of Norwich, co-managers.

C. U. A. A. ABDICATES

In accordance with the action of the Board of Trustees, April 27, authorizing the administration of athletics by the University instead of the Athletic Association, the Council of the Athletic Association, through its president, Professor Walter L. Conwell '09, officially notified all of its employees whose contracts expire this year, that the Association will not renew them. This formality leaves the way open for the appointment of coaches, manager, and other employees by the athletic policy board and Director of Athletics and Physical Education, when appointed, as authorized by the Trustees.

Professor Conwell's notification to the staff says, in part:

"The recent action of the Board of Trustees of the University stipulates a reorganization of the Athletic Association and the appointment of new governing authorities. As a result, the policy committee of the Athletic Council cannot make any commitments beyond the end of the present fiscal year, August 31, 1935. The policy committee of the Athletic Council feels that in fairness to the individual members of the coaching and administrative staff, it must take this opportunity of notifying you of its inability to consider, at this time, any appointment for the year 1935-36."

The only present employee of the Athletic Association who did not receive the notice is Gilmour Dobie, football coach, whose contract runs to May 1, 1938.

BRIEF NEWS OF CAMPUS AND TOWN

LILIES-OF-THE-VALLEY bloom in the garden before Professor Bancroft's house at 7 East Avenue; Coach James Wray's crewmen are spending more and more time on the Lake, getting ready for Poughkeepsie; they're swimming at Beebe; a solemn, busy hush has fallen upon the Campus as five thousand undergraduates get ready for final examinations. Summer, we report, has come to Ithaca.

OFFICERS are being elected to many organizations as the Class of '36 succeeds the Class of '35. John F. Forsythe of South Orange, N. J. was chosen president of Sphinx Head; George R. Brownell of Westfield, N. J., vice-president; Howard T. Heintz of New Rochelle, secretary; William M. Hoyt, Jr., of Summit, N. J., treasurer; and Walter D. Wood, Jr., of Summit, N. J., master of ceremonies.

MAIDA HOOKS of Englewood, N. J., was elected president of Mortar Board; Mary P. Tillinghast of Hamburg, vice-president; Frank R. Zingerle of New York City, secretary; Marion R. Blendenman of New York City, treasurer; and Ann Sunstein of Pittsburgh, Pa., historian.

ETA KAPPA NU, honorary Electrical Engineering Society, chose Llewellyn W. Collings, Jr. of South Orange, N. J. as president for the next year; Morton P. Matthew of Berkeley, Calif., vice-president; Daniel D. Moretti of Newark, N. J., recording secretary; Edward P. Ellis of Maplewood, N. J., corresponding secretary; and Emanuel J. Shapiro of Woodmere, treasurer.

KAPPA TAU CHI, Administrative Engineering honorary society, has elected Richard L. Hibbard '36 of Akron, O.; Frederick Peirce, Jr. '36 of Wynnewood, Pa.; Albert W. Hartman '37 of Mansfield, O.; Vernon L. Ingersoll '37 of Rockville Center; Franklin S. Macomber '37 of Toledo, O.; Wilbur H. Peter, Jr. '37 of Lakewood, O.; Henry L. Priestley '37 of New Rochelle; Fred F. Sampson, Jr. '37 of Mt. Vernon, and John W. Shoemaker '37 of Scranton, Pa.

SAVAGE CLUB has elected Jerome A. Fried '12 its president, succeeding William F. Detwiler '35 of Pittsburgh, Pa. Re-elected were Professor Clyde H. Myers, PhD '12, treasurer; Truman K. Powers '30, secretary; and Charles W. Thomas '25, steward.

DEBATE ASSOCIATION has elected Philip Goodheim '36 of Gloversville, president; Stanley D. Metzger '36 of New York City, vice-president; Allan B. Campbell '36 of St. Albans, secretary; Joseph W. Cribb '37 of Canandaigua, treasurer. The Men's Debate Club has weekly discussions of current topics, and a team of three went to Skidmore, May 15, to uphold the affirmative of the resolution that the medical profession of the United States should be socialized.

ITHACA is getting ready for summer, too. TERA money is going for development of Van Natta's dam for swimming and wading; Cole Brother's circus comes to town May 31 with Clyde Beatty and 40-Arab Stallions-40; a county-wide Fourth of July celebration is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for fireworks, dedication of the City's golf-course (down where the garbage dump used to be), motor and sailboat races, airplane exhibitions at the City airport, and more fireworks.

TWO SCHOOLS for religious training are announced for next summer, July 15-26, by the College of Agriculture and Cornell United Religious Work. Under the sponsorship of the State Council of Churches and Religious Education, town and country ministers will be offered special classes, as will teachers of Sunday and weekday classes in religious education.

HOTELMEN of the Finger Lakes Region will publish new information designed to attract tourists this summer. F. Augustus Alberger '16, proprietor of the Glenwood Hotel, recently opened, is chairman of the executive committee which will cooperate with the Finger Lakes Association under the presidency of Ernest D. Burton '98.

MEETING upon the Campus recently were members of the American Bacteriologists Society, seventy-five of them; and New York State home demonstration agents, sixty-five more.

SIX JUNIORS and five sophomores have been elected to Skull, honorary pre-Medical society. They are Marshal Clinton, Buffalo; Edwin Hilborn, Phoenix; Courtland S. Jones, Jr., Buffalo; George B. Davis, Kingston, Pa.; Dean Widner, Jr., Brooklyn; and Byron R. Woodwin, Dunkirk, all of '36; and Henry B. Risley, Brooklyn; Keath O. Guthrie, Pleasantville; Fred Sauter, IV, Great Neck; Robert P. Grant, Plandome, and Frederick W. Stamps, Niagara Falls.

AIR-MINDED undergraduates heard a representative of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company talk upon his company's contributions to aviation, May 27. The talk was sponsored by the Cornell Flying Club, recently organized with Manton L. Riley '35, of Ithaca, its president.

CAYUGA LAKE was crystal-smooth over the last week-end; the weather was perfect. The only thing lacking for a crew race was the necessary number of young men from Annapolis, Princeton, and New Haven—and the Lehigh Valley observation train.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 26 was Rev. Maxwell Savage, D.D., of First Church (Unitarian), Worcester, Mass. Rev. Albert W. Palmer, president of the Chicago Theological Seminary, follows him June 2 in the Chapel pulpit.

ITHACA'S FIREWORKS this summer are not to be limited solely to pyrotechnics. Major General Smedley D. Butler of billy-be-damned fame comes June 1 to talk for the benefit of the Ithaca Kiwanis Club. Another Marine was in town recently, asking enlistments among University students.

DOROTHY A. KUTSCHBACH '38 will go to Washington, D. C. June 13 as a reward for 4-H Club achievement, it was announced recently. She was awarded a 4-H medal in February by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

INSTALLATION of women's officers was held at the final WSGA Mass Meeting in Sibley Dome, May 15. Miss Marjorie S. Kane '36 of Far Rockaway, new president of WSGA, presided.

NINE STUDENTS in the College of Agriculture won the third intercollegiate livestock judging trials, held at Briarcliff Farms, Pine Plains, for Cornell. They included Roland Sirois '36 of Brooklyn, Clifford R. Harrington '36 of Frewsburg, William R. Stewart '35 of Cortland, Ronald D. Wilson '36 of Caledonia, James V. Scully '36 of Jackson Heights, Vivian H. Melass '35 of Johannesburg, South Africa, Richard Hammond '35 of Marathon, Robert T. Carter '36 of Constantia, and Garry McBride, Sp., of Slingerlands.

STEWART PARK seems better suited for ducks than peacocks, three of the four birds purchased last year having died during the winter. But the powers-that-be at the Park are taking another chance with two new ones. They are to arrive some time this month. The Park menagerie will again have its monkeys; two swans are being secured for the lagoon. Harry W. Eustance '24, City Engineer, will have TERA help for road and landscape development.

ITS EIGHTEENTH annual poultry judging and breeding school will be sponsored June 18 to 21 this year by the Department of Poultry Husbandry.

About ATHLETICS

TRACK TEAM WINS EASILY

The track team on Saturday won its thirteenth dual meet from Princeton, of the twenty that have been held since 1898; four of its members broke records; ten of them won eleven of the fifteen first places. Jack Moakley's field day ended with the Red leading, 82-53.

Once again J. Hamilton Hucker, short and swift Sophomore star, made himself a hero of the day, taking the 400-meter dash in 48.6 and the 200-meter low hurdles in 24.3, to break a meet record. Duke Wood broke Otto Schoenfeld's 1932 shot-put record by almost three feet and became the first Cornellian to exceed 50 feet, by 3 1/8 inches. Donald T. Houpt '36 broke the meet record held by Healy of Princeton (1927), and the Cornell record of Warren L. Worden '29, made in 1928, by throwing the javelin 190 ft. 11 in.

Most satisfying event of the day for Cornell spectators was Captain Walter Merwin's record-breaking win in the 110-meter high hurdles. Merwin throughout the winter and spring has been far below his 1934 form; he returned to Schoellkopf Saturday for the last dual meet of his career, won the event in 15 seconds flat, and broke by two-tenths of a second the Cornell and the meet record he had set up last year.

Johnny Meaden, Sophomore middle-distance man upon whom the Varsity hopes for next year in these events largely rests, won the 1500-meter run in 4:7, but was prevented by illness from taking part in the 800-meter run. Robert Scallon, also ill, did not enter the meet.

Charles R. Scott, Jr. '36, with a jump of 6 ft. 2 3/8 in., broke a thirty-five-year old meet record held by Carroll of Princeton and by Hedges, also of Princeton, and John Wickham '31 since 1929.

An undefeated freshman track team won its third meet of the year Wednesday, May 22, at Schoellkopf from Central High School of Syracuse, 63-45. The Red won every field event but the running broad jump, and every running event except the 100-yard dash and the half-mile.

DROP THREE LEAGUE GAMES

The baseball team returned to Ithaca May 26, defeated twice by Harvard and once by Yale, its chances for League leadership completely blasted, and its bats wreathed with crepe. Heart-breaking losses to the Crimson in a double-header at Cambridge Friday made the Varsity easy prey to Yale the day following; when the smoke had cleared, Cornell had dropped from a tie for second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League to a tie with Princeton for fourth. The scores: Harvard 11, Cornell 10; Harvard 11, Cornell 4; Yale 9, Cornell 1.

The Harvard games, even though disastrous to the team's chances, put Switzer well towards the top of the League in batting; the former football captain in the two games hit .750 and knocked out two home runs. But the 22 hits Cornell made, and the six errors chalked up by Harvard, failed to win the game. The Varsity pitching staff, Pross, Batten, and Lindheimer, all saw service, and none successfully.

Batten, tired from his work of the day before against Harvard, let Yale reach him for 10 hits in Saturday's debacle; his team-mates made six errors, three at third base, two at short, and one at second. Ted Horton, Yale pitching star and number-six man on the batting lineup, held Cornell to four hits.

The freshman had no more pleasant a time of it last week; they lost to Ithaca College, 4-3, and to Colgate, 7-2. Gatsik pitched the first and Lozier the second; in the first, four runs—two for Ithaca and two for the yearlings—were scored by home runs.

TRAIN AT POUGHKEEPSIE

The Athletic Association has received an allotment of tickets for the observation train at Poughkeepsie, June 18, for the convenience of Cornellians. They may be purchased from the office of the Association at Ithaca at $4.75 each; if by mail add 25¢ for registration and postage. The train will leave Highland station on the west side of the Hudson about a half-hour before the first race.

The present plan, for reasons of economy, is to send but two crews to race at Poughkeepsie, June 18; the Varsity and Junior Varsity. In February, when the Athletic Association's rowing budget was made, it was found possible to send only two crews each to Cambridge, May 4, and to Poughkeepsie (the 150-pound crews are not financed by the Association, but raise or pay their own expenses). At that time it was thought that the Junior Varsity might be sent to Cambridge and the Freshman crew to Poughkeepsie, but on the basis of the showing of both, Coach Wray has recommended, and the Faculty committee has approved, that the Junior Varsity oarsmen be sent. Red Key has contributed two hundred dollars toward helping the Freshmen finance themselves, but no official approval had been given by Monday.

TENNIS TEAM SUCCESSFUL

The highly successful Varsity tennis team won the last game of its season Saturday, winning from Penn State on Upper Alumni Field Courts, 8-1. The Red lost but one doubles match during the afternoon. Captain Stephen Hamilton, who has never been defeated in dual meet competition in his four years of college play, won the No. 1 match from Green, 6-2, 6-2.

The task of defeating Penn State's Miss Anderson, the only co-ed, so far as is known, in men's collegiate tennis competition, fell to Lloyd Doughty. He did it, 6-4, 6-3.

The freshman tennis team won Saturday morning, on upper Alumni, from a Christian Normal School team that gave it little competition. Sobel, No. 1. man, started the meet with a 6-4, 6-3 win from Wetzell.

LACROSSE CLOSES SEASON

The lacrosse team, following its precedent throughout the spring season, lost to Syracuse Saturday, 19-9. With Borger and Nunn absent, and with goalie Oleg Petroff still experiencing difficulty with his eyes, the Orange had full sway upon its home field. It was the last game of the season for the Red players; they have lost them all.

YACHTSMEN LOSE

The Princeton Yacht Club won from the Cornell Corinthian Yacht Club on Lake Carnegie Saturday, taking four of the five races, with a point score of 91 to Cornell's 88. The four Corinthian crews included Davis E. Adler '38 and Woodward Garber '36; Joseph M. Steiner, 3d. '37 and Wendell C. Johnson '36; Richard H. Bertram '37 and Stephen S. Jones '37; and Irwin W. Tyson '38 and Edward P. Holland '38.

WOMEN DEBATERS on May 14 met a team from University of Buffalo in Willard Straight Hall, arguing the negative of Government control of armament. Cornell speakers were Louisa F. Davis '37 of Hoboken, N. J. and Florence E. Singer '38 of Ilion.

THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE'S seventh annual school for missionaries will be held again next winter, the College announced last week. The four weeks' course is to begin January 21.

Concerning THE FACULTY

MRS. LIVINGSTON FARRAND was recently one of the official judges at the Syracuse Garden Show.

GEORGE S. FRANK '11, purchasing agent, and his assistant, Ralph C. Avery '22, attended the convention of the National Purchasing Agents' Association in New York City, the week of May 20.

PROVOST ALBERT R. MANN '04 and Professor Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Regional Planning, attended a conference on planning held in Cincinnati, O., May 20-22. The Provost, chairman of the New York State Planning Board, spoke May 20 on "The Urban and Rural Land Use Survey," and Professor Clarke, that evening, on "Parks in the Plan." Hon. Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, was another speaker at the convention.

PROFESSOR JULIAN O. BRETZ, American History, spoke on regulation of foreign trade as an alternate to war over station WESG May 21.

DR. JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN, former President, told members of the International Association of Torch Clubs. at their annual dinner in Utica, May 16, that Japan "was a menace to the peace of the world" and that her "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine" is "an utter misrepresentation" and a "shameless falsification."

MAJOR JOHN STEWART and Mrs. Stewart, formerly stationed here with the ROTC, were the guests of Captain Stephen E. Bullock and Mrs. Bullock, and Mrs. James W. Curtis of Fort Niagara, wife of the Captain Curtis who was also formerly here, was a visitor at the home of Captain Robb S. MacKie and Mrs. MacKie over the Spring Day week-end.

DR. MYRON GORDON '25, Zoology, spoke on May 17, before the Westchester Aquarium Society in Bronxville, on his recent trip to Mexico for rare tropical fishes.

DEAN CARL E. LADD '12 is pictured in the 75th anniversary number and historical review of the Delaware Republican, published in Delhi, issued May 15. He was the first director of the Delhi State School of Agriculture when it opened in October, 1915.

DONALD J. BUSHEY, Ornamental Horticulture Extension, has left for a vacation in Duxbury, Mass. He will study for his PhD next year at Ohio State University.

DR. CORNELIUS BETTEN, PhD '05, Dean of the University Faculty and Director of Resident Instruction of Agriculture and Home Economics, gave an illustrated lecture, May 16, on his trip through Germany last summer, under the auspices of Ho-Nun-De-Kah, Agriculture Senior honorary society.

DR. FLORA ROSE, director of the College of Home Economics, was appointed last week to the board of technical advisors for the State's milk advertising campaign.

PROFESSOR JAMES E. BOYLE, Rural Economics, addressed the Ithaca Federation of Women's Organizations on May 10. He is quoted as saying that the sin which affects society most is that which corrupts business and politics; and defined the political "criminaloid" as one who practices a protected mimicry of the good for business reasons.

SUMMER CHEMISTRY COURSES

Three courses in Chemistry of special interest to industrial and other technical workers are being offered in this year's Summer Session which opens July 8. One, in quantitative microanalysis, is new this year, the result of need for analyzing rapidly and economically minute and often valuable samples of rare products. This course will be given by Professor Melvin L. Nichols '18, who trained under Pregl of Vienna and Emich of Graz, the European masters of the subject.

Instruction in chemical microscopy, first given in America at Cornell more than thirty years ago, has been offered in summer sessions for ten years, under Professor Clyde W. Mason, PhD '24. He says that the many industrial chemists who take it, with their knowledge of practical problems in the manufacturing plant and testing laboratory, make stimulating students. Chemical spectroscopy has been given for some eight years by Professor Jacob Papish, PhD '21, head of the Department, and attracts also its quota of experienced technologists. It is used to detect minute amounts and to study the association of elements and purification of chemicals.

Dr. Loren C. Petry, director of the Summer Session, says that increasingly, and particularly in Chemistry, many of the students come for the six weeks from commercial laboratories on the lookout for new methods, just as the physician may leave his practice to attend post-graduate clinics and demonstration courses.

NEW YORK STATE'S million-dollar tuberculosis hospital is almost finished on West Hill, above the Lake; contractors say it is 91 per cent completed. The group of buildings is imposing; they overlook Cayuga just about over Crowbar Point, and are situated so as to share equally in the occasional Ithaca sunlight and in the prevailing northwest wind.

OBITUARY

HARRIET MAY MILLS '79 died May 15 in Syracuse, after being in poor health nearly a year. She had suffered a partial breakdown last June after a winter of speaking and other political activity had sapped her strength. Born in Syracuse in 1857, Miss Mills entered the University in 1875 and received the degree of Bachelor of Literature in 1879. In addition to her life-long activity in public affairs, she retained her interest in the University. From 1899 to 1901 she served as the fourth president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and was the honor guest of the Cornell Women's Club of Syracuse at its tea for prospective women students on April 5. The Federation was officially represented at her funeral by Mrs. Roy H. Van Tyne (Isabelle M. Hoag) '18, president of the Syracuse Club. Miss Mills was active in the suffrage movement and was the first woman to seek New York State office, having been a candidate for Secretary of State in 1920. At the time of her death she was secretary of the State Democratic Committee. She had campaigned for Alfred E. Smith and for President Roosevelt, and cast an electoral ballot for him. President and Mrs. Roosevelt were her personal friends, and the White House paid tribute to her memory.

ROBERT JAMES EIDLITZ '85, first secretary and one of the original members of The Cornellian Council, died at his New York City home, 755 Park Avenue, May 17, at the age of 71. He had been ill six weeks. Since the death of his brother, Otto M. Eidlitz '85, in 1928, he had been president of the internationally known building firm of Marc Eidlitz & Son, Inc. They built the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, Harkness Memorial at Yale, Columbia University library, Presbyterian Medical Center, New York Stock Exchange, and many other famous buildings. He left the Course in Architecture in 1884 to continue his study at the Polytechnic in Berlin, Germany, and later returned to join his father's business. In 1908 he was appointed by the Trustees one of the original class representatives on The Cornellian Council, served as temporary secretary of the Council for a year from its organization, and was its second president, in 1915-16. At the time of his death he was still the representative of his Class. He was a member of Delta Upsilon, of the Cornell Club of New York and various other clubs, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Architectural League. At his estate at Ardsley-on-Hudson he was greatly interested in gardening; and he was an authority on numismatics, owned a fine collection, and had published two books, Medallic Portraits of James Watt and Matthew Boulton (1928), and Medals and Medallions Relating to Architecture (1927). He is survived by his widow, Sadie S. Boulton Eidlitz '85, and by two brothers, Charles L. and Ernest F. Eidlitz '90, both of New York City.

JOHN IRVING GLOVER '88 died March 13 at his home in Kansas City, Mo., at 68 years of age. He received the degree of B Arch, and was a member of Psi Upsilon and the Richardson Club. He gave up active business twenty years ago after successful trading in wheat in 1914. During the Boer War his firm, in New Orleans, La., had all British grain contracts placed in this country. He was a pianist of ability; a member of the Metropolitan Opera Club of New York City.

HENRY ROBERT KENNEDY '89, patent lawyer and real estate broker at Watchung, N. J., died at his home there on April 30. He entered the course in Electrical Engineering in 1885 and left as a Junior. During the war Kennedy supervised Government work at the plants of the Remington Arms Company and the Wright-Martin Airplane Company. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, and by a brother, Rev. Phineas B. Kennedy, missionary in Kortcha, Albania.

HENRY BURR SAUNDERS '92, died at his home in Buffalo, March 25. He was a well-known newspaper man of Western New York, having been publisher of the Erie County Press after leaving Cornell in 1890, and later night editor of the Buffalo Evening News.

LESLIE JACKSON GRAY '96, since 1928 assistant to the president of the American Steel & Wire Co., died of a heart ailment March 4 in Cleveland, O. He entered Sibley College in 1893 and received the ME degree in three years. He entered the steel business in 1901 in Pittsburgh, Pa., and was there until eight years ago. He was 59.

ROMAINE OGDEN COLE '11 died at his home in Baldwinsville, March 27, after a long illness. He entered the University in 1907 from Interlaken and received the degree of BSA.

DR. ROBERT CARROLL HOWARD '11, died suddenly, May 4, at the age of 54, of a heart attack suffered in the yard of his summer home in the Awosting settlement at Greenwood Lake, N. J. Apparently in good health, he had attended the alumni day at the Medical College in New York, May 2. He was clinical professor of otology in the Polyclinic Graduate School of Medicine, and had an office at 839 West End Avenue, New York City. He is survived by his wife, and a son, Robert C. Howard, Jr.
