PRICE 10 CENTS

RATES for the better class of rooms on the hill are to be reduced next fall, according to a report, because of the competition which is expected from the new University dormitories. The prices in the two residence halls now under construction run from $90 for the college year for a small single room to $260, or $130 a man, for a suite for two men. The average rent is about $118 for the college year of thirty-eight weeks, an average by the week of about three dollars. The rooms which bring the lowest rents are high up in the tower. Most of the rooms in the group will divide themselves, as to desirability, into two grades, and the difference in price of the two grades will be ten or fifteen dollars a year. The rates are much lower than many houses have charged for equally desirable rooms.

APPLICATIONS are now being received at the Treasurer's office for rooms in A and D, the two halls which may be completed by next fall. Leases will be executed subject to such completion. If a room is not ready, the lessee will have the option of surrendering his lease or making a fair adjustment of the rent for such part of the year as he may be able to occupy the room. Tenants of rooms in the Cascadilla dormitory will have preference over outsiders until May 22 in the execution of leases in that building for next year.

MOTION PICTURES were made at the Pennsylvania-Cornell track meet last Saturday. They will be used by the Star Theatre Company for a reel which is expected to be available next winter for use at alumni banquets. Like other reels which that company has been sending around the country, this one will depict a number of recent events, athletic and otherwise, at the University. The pictures taken last Saturday include the finishes of several races, the various winners, the crowd in the stand, and Jack Moakley's smile.

THE MANAGEMENT announces that in case of rough water next Saturday the collegiate boat races will be rowed before the Harvard-Cornell regatta begins. The college crews row in gigs and don't require such smooth water as do crews in shells. This announcement means that in all probability the observation train will start for the course at half-past four, the scheduled time, instead of waiting in town till word comes that the wind is going down.

THE MASQUE plans to give three one-act plays in Senior Week. One of them will be "Nettie," which George Ade wrote for a Lambs' "gambol" and which was presented last fall at the Princess Theatre in New York. Mr. Ade has very kindly given The Masque permission to use his play. It has five characters, all men. Another play selected for Senior Week is Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband." Trials of candidates for parts in the several plays were begun this week.

NEW UNIFORMS will be worn by the cadet corps next year. The department has adopted the olive-drab service uniform of the regular army and all cadets next year will be required to provide themselves with that sort of outfit, instead of the gray-blue which the corps has worn since the old navy-blue, brass button, spiked helmet costume was discarded. Cadets have been asked to give their old uniforms to the George Junior Republic.

JAMES T. QUARLES, the University organist, has gone to San Francisco to give a series of recitals in the festival hall at the Panama Exposition. Several of the best organists of the country have been invited to give five recitals each at the exposition. Mr. Quarles will be there May 23 to May 27 inclusive.

MAJURA, the odd-year social club, has elected these men from the class of 1917: Maury Hill, St. Louis; G. S. King, East Orange, N. J.; A. W. Mellen, jr., New York City; P. D. Mosser, Boston; W. M. Russel, Detroit; W. D. Siebern, Cincinnati; D. E. Stonebraker, Memphis, Tenn.; DeG. White, Butler, N. J.; J. R. Whitney, Sewickley, Pa.; S. C. Wilson, Indianapolis.

A CHAPTER of The Order of the Coif has been established in the law school. This is an honorary society which selects its members; as Phi Beta Kappa does, from among the students of highest standing. Not more than ten per cent of the members of the graduating class may be elected. The society was founded in 1902. Chapters have been established at Pennsylvania, Yale, Minnesota, Chicago, Michigan, Northwestern, and Stanford. The following members of the senior law class at Cornell have been elected: Samuel Simon Leibowitz, Brooklyn; Gilbert Levy, Brooklyn; Percy Wilson Phillips, Southampton; Paul Anthony Rieser, Poughkeepsie; Lorenzo Hughes Utter, Friendship; Walter George Zorn, Brooklyn. For next year these officers have been elected: President, Professor Burdick; vice-president, Professor Stagg; secretary and treasurer, Professor Wyckoff.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB has elected the following officers for next year: President, E. G. Fleming '16, Buffalo; first vice-president, R. Earnshaw '17, Manila; second vice-president, P. J. von Boetticher '16, Münden, Germany; recording secretary, R. A. Colorado '17, San Juan, Porto Rico; assistant recording secretary, S. S. Au '18, Canton, China; corresponding secretary, H. A. Cahen '16, New York City; treasurer, Professor F. A. Barnes; assistant treasurer, B. A. Smith '17, Salamanca, N. Y.; assistant editor of The Cosmopolitan Student, E. A. Beller '16, New York; directors, R. da C. Coutinho '17, Para, Brazil; F. Ferraris '16, New York City, Professor Heinrich Ries, and Professor E. E. Barker.

THE SUNDAY NIGHT CLUB, a senior class organization which invites members of the Faculty to address it, has elected the following members from the class of 1916: Charles Barrett, Pittsburgh; J. M. Chamberlain, West Raleigh, N. C.; J. A. Fay, Washington, D. C.; R. J. Foster, Brooklyn; R. A. B. Goodman, Grand Rapids, Mich.; A. F. Griesedieck, Kirkwood, Mo.; R. C. Gwilliam, Ogden, Utah; R. M. Halsted, New York City; L. F. Hicks, New York City; E. S. Jamison, East Orange, N. J.; C. E. Kilburn, Malone; J. S. Lewis, Tribes Hill; Weyland Pfeiffer, Scarsdale; G. W. Rapp, jr., Cincinnati; P. F. Sanborne, Elmira; M. N. Shelton, Dunkirk; G. M. Stevens, Rome; Hamilton Vose, jr., Milwaukee; R. H. Wilson, jr., Brooklyn; Horace Wyman, Worcester, Mass.

The Agricultural Appropriation Not Reduced $90,000 by the Governor, as Was Reported

Since the publication last week of Dean Galloway's statement that the legislature had appropriated about $600,000 for the maintenance of the College of Agriculture next year, a report has appeared in the newspapers that Governor Whitman disapproved of items aggregating about $90,000 in the appropriation bill. That report was technically correct when the newspapers printed it, but now it needs revision.

The Governor did cut out about $90,000 of what the legislature had allowed, but all his cuts were made in items known as "reappropriations." These are allowances granted in former years and not yet fully expended by the college. In such cases the Comptroller of the State requires that balances unexpended when a new annual appropriation is asked for be included in the new bill.

Among the items which the Governor deleted was one of $35,000 for completing the college heating plant. That item he has restored to the bill and approved. He has done so after being told by President Schurman that the prompt completion of the heating plant is an urgent necessity to the college.

That leaves about $55,000 as the amount of the Governor's reduction. But it happens that most of this money was expended by the college and that vouchers were accepted by the Comptroller between the time when the present bill was prepared and the time when the bill came to the Governor's desk. The money was being used for work already in progress, and the work was completed and the bills were paid. That was not true in all cases. The departments of animal husbandry and soil technology, for instance, will not have so much money as they had counted on for completing the equipment of their new buildings this year.

Summer School of Peace

A Part of a System of International Polity Clubs in Colleges

The World Peace Foundation has published at its Boston office an announcement of the summer school of international relations which is to be held at Cornell University June 15 to 30. The Foundation's arrangements for the school have been made in co-operation with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and the Church Peace Union.

The school is said to be an outgrowth of a system of "international polity clubs" developed within the last year in a number of American universities and colleges. These clubs have more than one thousand members. From each of these groups the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace is to send two representatives to the summer school, all expenses paid. The Church Peace Union is similarly to send twenty students chosen from theological seminaries in the United States. A few other students are to be admitted for a small charge.

Among the colleges and universities to be represented at Ithaca, in all of which there are international polity clubs, are: Cornell, Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Syracuse, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Vanderbilt, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Georgia, Louisiana, Tulane, Texas, Brown, Wesleyan and Toronto Universities and Dartmouth and Amherst Colleges. Dr. George W. Nasmyth '07, who is a director of the World Peace Foundation, has had active charge of the organization of the school. Dr. Nasmyth not long ago returned to Boston from a tour in which he organized international polity clubs in eleven universities. In a report on this movement, soon to be issued, he says:

"A greatly increased interest has been aroused in the study of the leading facts concerning the relations of states in the modern world. During the campaign, many students were brought into the constructive and rational side of the peace movement—the side which possesses the greatest attraction for university men. This increased interest, which was widely spread in the university communities reached during the campaign, will undoubtedly result in a demand for courses in international law, the theory of international trade and other aspects of international relations, in the future. Groups numbering from twenty to sixty of the leading students in the university community, carefully selected in most cases for ability and promise of leadership in the future, have been enabled to make an intensive study of international polity at a time when the world crisis has made them especially impressionable for this study."

Ralph Norman Angell Lane ("Norman Angell"), author of "The Great Illusion," will preside over the school. He has conducted two similar summer schools, one in France in 1913 and one in England last year. It is expected that one of the leaders in the conference will be G. Lowes Dickinson, author of recent magazine articles published under the title "The War and the Way Out." The services of other American and European authorities on international relations have been obtained. The preliminary announcement of the school says:

"The breakdown of civilization in Europe has emphasized the need of a close study of the leading facts concerning the underlying ideas that ought to govern the conduct of nations toward one another. * * * The fundamental idea of the summer school is that war is due to the absence of an enlightened public opinion with regard to international relations. A searching analysis will be made of militarism and the philosophy of force which has dominated the international relations of the past, not for the purpose of replacing one set of false ideas by another set which are equally false, but for the purpose of finding the truth. All points of view will be welcome. Complete freedom will prevail, and the emphasis throughout will be rational. * * *

"Short courses in the fundamentals of international law and in the theory of international trade will be given in the mornings by experts in those fields. These lectures will be followed each day by a two-hour conference and discussion of the most important subjects and problems of international relations. The evenings will be devoted to the more constructive side of international relations: world organization, the conditions of permanent peace, the Hague conferences, Pan-American relations, relations between the United States and Japan, non-intercourse and other methods of enforcing international obligations, and a league of peace."

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

The Trustees have approved the application of Professor Gilbert of the department of plant breeding for a year of sabbatic leave to begin with the fall of 1916. Professor Gilbert will probably spend the year in research and study.

Professor James E. Rice of the poultry department has received leave for the second term of the fiscal year 1915. This is the first time Professor Rice has applied for such leave in more than twelve years of continuous service. He says his intention is to devote the time to special study, and that most of this study will be taken at Cornell, particularly in farm management and economics. He will also complete a text book upon which he has been working.

Professor W. A. Stocking has sabbatic leave for the first half of the academic year 1915-16. He expects to use the time for writing or study, and probably a portion of it in making an investigation of dairy work and industry in New York State and in the dairying departments of a number of the leading colleges of agriculture.

THE FIRST senior singing of the year was held on Tuesday night of this week.

Cornell Law List

New Directory of Cornellians in Legal Practice to Be Published

A list of Cornell lawyers is to be published. There has been no satisfactory list since the last edition of the Cornell Legal Directory, published in 1905 by the late E. P. Allen.

The large number of requests for such a list which have been received by the dean and the present acting dean of the law school indicates that there is a demand for such a volume. Data for it has been collected by the Secretary of the University, under the oversight of the acting dean.

The new directory will be published by E. Morgan St. John (A.B. '11, LL.B. '13) of Ithaca, to whom Professor Woodruff has turned over all the data that has been collected. A few men to whom information blanks have been sent have not returned them, but the publication will not be much longer delayed.

It is the intention of the publisher to include not only the names and addresses of those who have attended the Cornell law school but also of all those who have attended Cornell University and are now engaged in legal work, except that those who were at Cornell for no more than one term will not be included. The names and addresses of between 1,500 and 2,000 Cornell lawyers, and additional data, will be arranged alphabetically by states and towns, and followed by an alphabetical index of personal names.

The price of the law list will be one dollar. There will be no charge for the insertion of names, and no advertising or special cards will be inserted.

THE GRADUATE CLUB

The Graduate Club held its last meeting of the year last Saturday evening on the north shore of Beebe Lake. A fairly large crowd enjoyed the picnic supper. At a business meeting the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, H. W. Elley, University of Nebraska, 1912; first vice-president, Miss S. P. Caswell, Wellesley, 1912; second vice-president, C. C. Camp, Grinnell, 1914; secretary, Miss H. S. Strong, Vassar, 1914; treasurer, D. S. Dye, Denison, 1907; advisory committee, Miss Elizabeth Dean, Wellesley, 1913, and Miss H. Knowlton, Mount Holyoke, 1902.

THE AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION has elected Arthur R. Eldred '16, of Rockville Centre, president for next year.

Exhibition of Paintings

About Forty Canvases Now Shown in Goldwin Smith Hall

An exhibition of works of contemporary painters was opened in Goldwin Smith Hall on Monday of this week. It will continue till June 5. About forty painters are represented in the collection. The exhibition is held under the auspices of the Cornell Art Association, an organization of faculty members, undergraduates and townspeople, of which Professor Brauner is the moving spirit. It is one of several which this association has held.

This year the paintings are displayed in Room B, the auditorium of Goldwin Smith Hall, instead of in one of the smaller rooms. In that room the great advantage of overhead lighting is gained. The seats have been removed, and a semi-circular screen has been placed around the room to shut out the light from the side windows. The paintings are hung on the screen and they are all equally well lighted. This screen is built of wood, in sections, so that it may be taken down and used in the same manner for future exhibitions. It was obtained through the generosity of W. D. Straight '01.

Randall Davey '09, the winner of the second Hallgarten Prize this year, has sent his well known portrait of a lighthouse keeper, "Captain Dan," for this exhibition. There is also a painting by Truman Fassett, another member of the class of 1909. A canvas is contributed by Robert Spencer, a former resident of Ithaca, who recently won a prize of one thousand dollars and a gold medal offered by the Boston Art Club. Miss Anna Milo Upjohn, whose portraits of the late Professors Babcock and Fuertes are owned by the University, has sent a painting called "Little Boy Reading."

Other paintings in the exhibition are "Edna," by Robert Henri; "The Great American Desert in Eastern Oregon," by Childe Hassam; "The Critics," by William Sergeant Kendall; and "Russian Girl," by George Bellows. Mrs. Edith Woodman Burroughs has sent four bronzes.

Some of the painters who have loaned examples of their work for this exhibition are William Ritschel, Richard Andrew, G. H. Macrum, Edward H. Pott-hast, Ernest Lawson, Ben Foster, Leonard Ochtman, Hayley Lever, John C. Johansen, Charles Rosen, William H. Singer, William M. Paxton, Arthur Crisp, Maurice B. Prendergast, Charles Hopkinson, Edward Redfield, Charles H. Woodbury, Cullen Yates, John F. Carlson, Gifford Beal, Henry S. Hubbell, A. B. Davies, F. C. Friesecke, C. W. Hawthorne, R. E. Miller, Joseph De Camp, Willard L. Metcalf, and Leon Kroll.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS TRACK DAY IN PHILADELPHIA

A smoker will be held at the rooms of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia, 1519 Sansom Street, on Friday evening, May 28, at eight o'clock. All Cornell men are invited. The final dope on the inter-collegiate will be given by experts (or those who think themselves such).

The clubhouse will be open all day Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29, to out-of-town Cornell men. Meals can be had at the club.

A limited number of tickets to the intercollegiate games are being reserved for out-of-town Cornell men. These can be had by sending check or money order to Robert Isett, 1519 Sansom Street, with stamped envelope. Tickets are $1.50 each. These will not be held, unless paid for, after ten o'clock, May 28.

DUTCHESS COUNTY CLUB

An alumni association known as the Cornell University Club of Dutchess County was organized at Poughkeepsie on May 10. The officers are: President, Herbert E. Mills '90, of the faculty of Vassar College; vice-president, William L. Gellert '95; secretary, Selden H. Hall '03; treasurer, Hermann H. Vail '11; athletic councillor, Henry H. Van Cleef '93. The officers of the club, including the athletic councillor, will serve as the executive committee.

For some time past informal suppers have been held on the second Monday of each month at the Hofbrau, 12 Washington Street, Poughkeepsie. These suppers will be continued and will be open to any Cornell man who happens to be in town on those days. Supper is served at 6:30 p. m.

Among those at the organization meeting, in addition to the men named above, were F. H. Lacy '11, F. W. Platt '98; R. A. Hopkins '13, Murray Campbell, F. W. Wardle '14, J. P. Snyder, V. A. Stibolt '11, Robert W. Andrew '11, J. E. Nelson '10, R. F. C. Kieb '02, J. H. Blauvelt '11, W. A. Saltford '97, Julian Hickok '11, and Henry Flood, jr., '09.

THE REV. SAMUEL M. CROTHERS, pastor of The First (Unitarian) Church, Cambridge, Mass., will preach in Sage Chapel on May 23.

Crew Defeated by Yale

Cornell Second on Lake Carnegie—Victory for Freshmen

Yale's well earned victory in the triangular regatta on Lake Carnegie came as a surprise to most followers of inter-collegiate rowing. According to all critics the Yale victory was due to no accident or luck but was a simple demonstration of better rowing ability. The Blue oars flashed in perfect precision and the Yale shell advanced without a tremor between strokes throughout the entire one and seven-eighths miles of the race. Cornell, while showing perhaps more latent power, rowed somewhat raggedly at times, especially on the port side of the boat. Princeton rowed well but was practically out of the race at the mile mark.

At the mile the race developed into a remarkable struggle between Yale and Cornell. Cornell had cut down a slight lead established by Yale in the first half mile, and the two crews passed the mile mark almost even. At the mile Cushing and Collyer, at 2 and 4 respectively, caught crabs and the Cornell boat was checked for a stroke. But Andrus raised the beat a trifle and the loss was regained.

Down the last half mile of the course, spectators say, it was a see-saw race between Yale and Cornell. Every stroke of either boat would send that boat ahead of the other. Both were sprinting. The Yale crew had more finish than the Cornell eight did in this kind of struggle, as they showed by maintaining their place with a slightly lower stroke than Cornell's. Right down to the mark boat the two crews rowed that see-saw race, and Yale pulled the bow of her boat across the line about fifteen feet ahead. The official time: Yale, 9:09 2-5; Cornell, 9:10 3-5; Princeton, 9:21 2-5.

In the freshman race Cornell caught the water first, got away to an early lead, and was never headed. Yale challenged at the mile, but the Red and White youngsters kept ahead. Cornell won by a length with Yale second and Princeton third. The winning time was 9:27.

Mr. Courtney did not make the trip to Princeton last Saturday. On Monday he would not say whether or no the same varsity crew would row against Harvard on Spring Day, May 22. He planned to give all three of the varsity combinations a thorough trial this week, and said that the fastest would race Harvard. It was possible, but not probable, that changes would be made in the boating.

the new drill hall. The buildings in the background of that picture belong to the College of Agriculture, the college auditorium (Bailey Hall) being at the left end of the group. The building most prominent in this picture is Schoellkopf Memorial, containing the quarters of the teams and the offices of the Athletic Association. The capacity of the stand is nine thousand spectators. There were about thirty-five hundred in it at this meet. The jumping and vaulting pits are within the oval of the track and may be seen in this picture. Between Schoellkopf Memorial and the agricultural buildings is the Student aPlyground.

ALL Cornellians who attended the track meet on Alumni Field last Saturday afternoon enjoyed a pleasure such as no similar event in Ithaca had ever given before. It was hard for them to realize that the ample field and track, the spacious stand, the beautiful Schoellkopf Memorial Hall—all the splendid equipment now provided for the football and track teams—was their own. The contrast with the present shabbiness of Percy Field was so sharp that one had to recall oneself from a feeling that all this was in some other town than Ithaca. Even the familiar figures of the Proctor and the Graduate Manager and Gene Andrews looked strange. After the sensation of strangeness had been overcome there remained a feeling of pride and satisfaction in the fitness of the new field, and admiration for its beauty. Two intercollegiate events were taking place at the same time on Alumni Field. While one part of it, Schoellkopf Field, was in use for the track meet with Pennsylvania, Harvard and Cornell were playing a championship game of lacrosse on another section, the Student Common. The big concrete stand on Schoellkopf Field had its first real test and it met the test well. A crowd of thirty-five hundred persons seemed to occupy only a small part of it. There was little trouble in handling the crowd, although only about a third of the entrance and exit space which will be available in time could be used last Saturday. There are to be two passageways to the seats—a wide one at the top of the stand and a narrower one at the bottom. Only the narrower one was in use. Some other details of the equipment are not complete, but it needs only a little imagination to see that the new athletic field is going to be all we have hoped for during the years since it was begun.

REUNION SPECIAL

The Cornell University Association of Chicago announce that the Reunion Special, via Lake Shore and Lehigh Valley route, will leave La Salle Street Station, Chicago, Wednesday, June 9, at 5:30 p. m., stopping at Englewood, South Bend, Elkhart, Toledo and Cleveland, and arriving in Ithaca not later than 10:45 a. m. Thursday, June 10. The train will be made up of Pullman equipment of the latest type and will consist of one club car, one dining car, one eight-room compartment sleeping and observation car and standard sleeping cars.

Provided the advance reservations warrant, sleeping cars will be set in at Toledo for the accommodation of that territory as well as Detroit, also at Cleveland (cars open for occupancy at 10 p. m.) attached to the special upon arrival at those points. At that time special round trip rates will be available to Buffalo, of which advantage should be taken. Local tickets, Buffalo to Ithaca, can be had on the train from passenger agent.

All intending to make the trip to Ithaca should have one of the booklets that are being issued and mailed to all Cornellians as their addresses appear upon the Secretary's list in the following states: Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio.

The Committee will be pleased to mail circulars and promptly answer all inquiries addressed to Waldo F. Tobey, Edison Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

OPINION AND COMMENT

Dog

Editor, Cornell Alumni News:

"Refectory" suggests stained glass windows, carved oak, and small beer furnished on Sunday from the income of a Sixteenth Century trust fund. I like it, but its use in Tompkins County would be a bit of affectation.

The letter published in your issue of May 13th states that a visitor to the Pacific Coast "would find a cafeteria in every business block of all towns of any size and sometimes more than one."

Which dismisses "cafeteria."

Dog, sir, is the only possible term. Dog hasn't been slang for over twenty years. It is as much a part of our language as is the verb "to bust." When anything is universally and exclusively called something for more than twenty years that is its NAME. (Boy, page Dr. Johnson.) Just as a twist in a London street shows to the seeing eye the course of a fuddled Saxon through the fog or the angle of a Roman fortification, so the term Sibley Dog, even though it be applied to a vast and beautiful dining hall, recalls pleasantly to your sentimental alumnus what once was and never will be on the Campus.

Don't destroy any word that links us to what little past we have. Who would substitute "cafeteria" for "dog" is a Vandal, a breaker of images, a restorer of ancient churches, and a modernizer of Colonial architecture.

ROMEYN BERRY.

NOTICE—1906

You are doubtless familiar with the situation which confronts our classmate, Leo M. Frank, of Atlanta, Ga. There seems to be grave doubt on the part of many people as to whether his trial was entirely fair. In view of the general feeling in this respect, the Secretary of the Class of 1906 has been advised to call the attention of the Class to the grave situation which confronts Mr. Frank on June 22d. All those members of the Class who feel that he has not had a fair trial are hereby notified to send a letter to the Secretary expressing their feelings in a clear, unprejudiced, moderate tone. These letters will be bound and will be used on behalf of clemency for Mr. Frank.

C. H. TUCK.

THE CIVIL ENGINEERS will camp on Frontenac Point this summer. They will continue their survey of Cayuga Lake.

Saturday Morning, June 12th will be more or less informal. It's a good time

To see your old friends on the Hill.

To take a trip around the Campus.

To see the many new buildings.

To get acquainted all over again.

Several Meetings Are Scheduled

ALUMNI GAME ON CAMPUS

Council Invites Alumni to Inspect Schoellkopf Field and Building

The Schoellkopf Memorial Building will be open on Friday, June 11, from three to six o'clock in the afternoon, and the Council of the Cornell University Athletic Association will be glad to have all former students and their friends inspect the building and Schoellkopf Field.

The baseball game between the varsity nine and a nine representing the alumni will be played at four o'clock that afternoon, on the Student Playground, north of the Schoellkopf Memorial, instead of at Percy Field. Bleacher seats will be erected to accommodate about six hundred persons.

1910 REUNION

A "chick" Chinese costume is to be used by the class in the reunion this year. The costume has been planned with great care and is very effective. From reports thus far received by the committee there will be a large number of wild Chinamen let loose in Ithaca on June 11th and 12th. Have you pledged allegiance to the Chinese tribe of 1910? If not, communicate with the committee at once. The time for the big party is drawing near. Notify Andy Whinery at 810 Broad Street, Newark, N. J., immediately that you will be among those present.

HOWARD A. McDONELL, of Brooklyn, a freshman, has won the individual medal given for the best score made at the rifle range by a member of the cadet corps.

THE LAW SCHOOL CREW has been eliminated from the final race for the collegiate rowing championship of the University.

THE ARTS BANQUET

The banquet of the Association of the College of Arts and Sciences was held this week in the dining room of Risley Hall, and was followed by a dance.

When the Association announced the place of the banquet, the Sun, remembering previous assemblies of the Association in the Dutch Kitchen, expressed the hope that this experiment might "turn out to be a very dainty affair, in fact the pink-ribbon event of the year."

This brought a retort from J. E. O'Brien '15, the chairman of the banquet committee, who is Number Seven in the varsity crew. Mr. O'Brien said that women made up one-third of the membership of the Association, that the meetings this year had had an average attendance of between two hundred and four hundred, nearly half of it women. He contrasted this with the old days when eight men was a large attendance. The banquet was held at Risley and there were more than two hundred present. Professor Durham was the toastmaster and there were talks by Professor Crane and Professor Sill.

Cornell 2, Columbia 0

Two scratch hits to the infield were all Columbia got against Bryant's pitching. The only time the visitors threatened to score was in the seventh, when Friedrich hit and stole second, but Bills's remarkable fielding of Page's hot grounder over second base retired the side. In the ninth Watt singled, but Benson hit into a double play, Donovan to Keating.

Smith held Cornell to only five hits and scattered them, but Cornell profited by errors. A sacrifice by Sutterby and a Columbia error enabled Keating to cross the plate after he had singled in the fifth. In the sixth Gordon made the circuit of the bases on Columbia misplays, with the help of a sacrifice by Donovan. Except for those costly errors Columbia played a strong game. The score:

Cornell 2, Michigan 1

A pitchers' battle was fought at Ann Arbor last Saturday. Sisler and Regan each gave five hits. Sisler struck out fourteen and Regan nine. Regan passed six and Sisler five.

All the scores were made by men who had been passed to first, all were made in the second inning, and all were made with two men out. In Cornell's half of the second Clary grounded out to McQueen, and then Sisler passed Keating. Sutterby fanned, but Sisler again had trouble finding the plate and passed Flock. Regan's hot grounder to right scored Keating, and a wild pitch advanced the runners. Benton threw wide to second and Flock tallied. Sisler walked Burpee, but with runners on third and second he struck out Donovan.

In Michigan's second inning Labadie drew a pass, stole, and scored on Maltby's single. Waltz also singled and stole, but with the two men on bases Anderson struck out.

Regan was in a tight place in the third inning. Sheehy beat out an infield hit and McQueen walked. Regan caught Sheehy on Brandell's grounder, and Brandell was forced on Sisler's grounder. Benton then struck out.

Flock, a sophomore who has been playing first base on the second nine, was in center field for six innings of the Michigan game. Dr. Sharpe is still looking for a good batter to use as a substitute outfielder, and Flock is the latest man to get a trial. The score:

The Schedule Changed

The team played Columbia at Ithaca last week Thursday, and met Michigan at Ann Arbor on Saturday. Two return games with Michigan were scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Freshman Baseball.—The team won its first game of the season last Saturday by defeating Wyoming Seminary 19 to 5 in a seven inning game. With the visitors two runs ahead the freshmen started a batting rally in the third inning which netted eight runs. In the course of the game every man on the freshman team hit safely at least once, and Olsen, the 1918 pitcher, hit a triple, a double, and a single, in three times at bat.

Track

Pennsylvania Defeated by Strength in Field Events and Distance Runs

Cornell won the dual track meet with Pennsylvania on Schoellkopf Field last Saturday in the first intercollegiate contest held on that field. The final score of the meet was 73 2-3 to 43 1-3, a slightly larger score than in Cornell's dual victory last year.

Cornell was the stronger in the field events and the distance runs, while Pennsylvania prevailed in the dashes and the hurdle races. Cornell made a clean sweep of all the points in the mile and two-mile runs, the shot-put, and the two jumps. Pennsylvania took first place in five events and Cornell in eight.

Richards '17 won the shot-put and the broad jump and tied with two other Cornell men for first place in the high jump. The broad jump was last of the events in which he competed and he made only one jump. He cleared 23 feet 4 1-2 inches and that was good enough to give him first place. His tie in the high jump was at 5 feet 9 1-2 inches. He might have bettered that, for he has cleared 6 feet 5 inches this spring, but at that height Cornell had all the points for the event and by sharing first place with McLaren and Cady he made it possible for both those men to win the "C."

Coach Orton sent three men, Colton, Lieberman, and De Korn, into the two mile run. Seven of Cornell's harriers started—Grime, Potter, Corwith, Eldred, Hoffmire, Tinkham, and Clark. None of the visitors was in the race after the mile, so it became a race to see which of the Cornell second string men would win his "C." Grime beat Tinkham in a final sprint for the honor.

In the mile run Pennsylvania had Hartman, Humphreys, and Peeso. Cornell started Irish, Burke, Speiden, Windnagle, Brown, and Leonard. Peeso, Brown, and Burke took turns in setting pace. Irish broke from the pack in the middle of the last lap and finished fifteen yards ahead of Burke.

Meredith won the 440 easily and took first place in the half-mile after a struggle with Windnagle. Ferguson had things his own way in both hurdle races.

The dashes were interesting on account of the good showing made by Ingersoll and Bartsch. Bartsch is a sophomore. Ingersoll took first place in the final of the hundred, a good yard ahead of Lippincott, and Bartsch beat Patterson for third place. Bartsch also took third place from Patterson in the 220. Lockwood won that race and Lippincott was second.

In none of the track events was fast time made. The track is new and still somewhat heavy, and a northwest wind slowed up the runners on the straight-away.

The summary:

100 Yard Dash, first trial heat—Won by Ingersoll, Cornell; Kaufman, Pennsylvania, second; Leister, Cornell, third. Time, 10 2-5 seconds.

Second trial heat—Won by Lippincott, Pennsylvania; Patterson, Pennsylvania, second; Bartsch Cornell, third. Time, 10 3-5 seconds.

Final heat—Won by Ingersoll, Cornell, by one yard; Lippincott, Pennsylvania, second; Bartsch, Cornell, a very close third; Patterson, Pennsylvania, fourth, a stride behind Bartsch. Time, 10 2-5 seconds.

120 Yard High Hurdles, first trial heat—Won by Starr, Cornell; Ferguson, Pennsylvania, second. Millard of Cornell was third and did not qualify. Time, 16 seconds.

Second trial heat—Won by Gubb, Cornell, by inches; Lukens, Cornell, second. Warren of Pennsylvania was third, two yards behind Lukens, and did not qualify. Time, 16 1-5 seconds.

Final heat—Won by Ferguson, Pennsylvania; Gubb, Cornell, second; Lukens, Cornell, third. Time, 16 seconds. All three finished within the span of a yard in a fight for the tape. Starr was a close fourth.

One Mile Run—Won by Irish, Cornell, by fifteen yards; Burke, Cornell, second, by thirty yards; Windnagle, Cornell, third. Time, 4 minutes 29 seconds. Speiden, Cornell, finished fourth, close to Windnagle and twenty yards ahead of Humphreys, Pennsylvania, who had been penalized six yards for two false starts.

440 Yard Run—Won by Meredith, Pennsylvania, easily; Lockwood, Pennsylvania, second; Crim, Cornell, third. Time, 50 2-5 seconds. Meredith passed Crim eighty yards from the finish. Lockwood challenged Crim fifty yards from the finish and beat him by a stride.

Two Mile Run—Won by Grime, Cornell, by eight yards; Tinkham, Cornell, second; Hoffmire, Cornell, third. Time, 9 minutes 50 3-5 seconds. Hoffmire and Potter allowed Grime and Tinkham to fight it out for first place.

220 Yard Low Hurdles, first trial heat—Won by Kaufman, Pennsylvania; Acheson, Cornell, second. Time, 25 2-5 seconds. Lyford, Cornell, was running second at the next to the last hurdle when he fell.

Second trial heat—Won by Ferguson, Pennsylvania; Starr, Cornell, second. Time, 26 1-5 seconds.

Final heat—Won by Ferguson, Pennsylvania, easily; Kaufman, Pennsylvania, second by two yards; Starr, Cornell, third. Time, 25 1-5 seconds.

220 Yard Dash, first trial heat—Won by Lippincott, Pennsylvania; Bartsch, Cornell, second; Newman, Cornell, third. Time, 23 1-5 seconds.

Second trial heat—Won by Lockwood, Pennsylvania; Patterson, Pennsylvania, second; Woodburn, Cornell, third. Time, 23 3-5 seconds.

Final heat—Won by Lockwood, Pennsylvania; Lippincott, Pennsylvania, second; Bartsch, Cornell, third. Time, 22 4-5 seconds. Close finish. Patterson was fourth, a yard behind Bartsch.

Half Mile Run—Won by Meredith, Pennsylvania, in a close finish; Windnagle, Cornell, second; Beckwith, Cornell, third. Time, 1 minute 55 4-5 seconds. Beckwith set pace; Meredith passed him on entering the final stretch; eight

Lacrosse

Harvard Defeats Cornell and Wins the Northern Championship

Harvard defeated Cornell at lacrosse on Alumni Field last Saturday by the score of 4 to 2, thus winning the championship of the northern division of the intercollegiate lacrosse league.

Cornell started fast and looked like a winner for a time. After ten minutes of play in which the Crimson defense was hard pushed all the time Gargiulo scored the first goal for Cornell. This was followed by another caged by Collins near the end of the first period. Harvard scored once just before time was called. In the second half Harvard commanded the situation at all times. Three goals were scored in quick succession, and Cornell's defense was kept busy to keep the score as low as it was. The line-up:

Cornell	Harvard
Bush.....goal	Cochran
Grimes.....point	Ful
Spiegelberg.....cover point	O'Neill
Hart.....first defense	Cotton
Williams.....second defense	Beal
Taylor.....third defense	Elliott
Collins.....center	Wanamaker

Goals—Cornell: Collins, Gargiulo; Harvard: Persons, Nash, Lucas, Fleming.

Freshman Track Victory.—Cornell 1918 defeated Pennsylvania 1918 in a dual track meet at Philadelphia last Saturday by the score of 66 to 51. The place and the best performance of the Cornell men in each event were as follows: 100 yard dash—Hickman, first, 10 2-5 sec.; high hurdles—Lasser, second, winner's time 16 3-5 sec.; 440 yard run—Shelton, second, winner's time 51 1-5 sec.; mile run—Hudson, first, 4 min. 35 sec.; two mile run—Campbell, first, 10 min. 7 1-5 sec.; half mile run—Ruoff, first, 2 min. 4-5 sec.; low hurdles—Watt, second, winner's time 25 4-5 sec.; 220 yard dash—Shelton, first, 22 3-5 sec.; high jump—Hickman and Watt, tie for third at 5 feet 6 inches; shot-put—Gillies, second, winning put 40 feet; broad jump—Hickman, first, 21 feet 10 1-4 inches; pole vault, Hickman, second at 11 feet 6 inches; hammer throw—Dixon, first, 111 feet 8 1-2 inches.

Tennis.—The tennis team kept its slate clear of defeat by winning a nine match contest from the fast Harvard team by the score of 6 to 3. Captain R. Norris Williams, the national amateur champion, won his singles match against Captain Benton of Cornell without much trouble. Williams and Caner in the doubles had a much harder time defeating Benton and Blair. The Cornell men won the first set 6-4, and lost the remaining two by the same score. Harvard's only other victory was that of W. W. Mansfield over L. K. Callahan '16 in the singles. The scores:

Singles: Williams (H) defeated Benton (C) 6-4, 6-2; Hunter (C) defeated Caner (H) 7-5, 7-5; Blair (C) defeated Rand (H) 1-6, 8-6, 6-2; Thompson (C) defeated Curtis (H) 11-9, 6-2; Mansfield (H) defeated Callahan (C) 6-1, 6-3; Cooke (C) defeated Brown (H) 6-4, 8-6.

Doubles: Williams and Caner (H) defeated Benton and Blair (C) 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Hunter and Thompson (C) defeated Rand and Curtis (H) 6-4, 6-0; Cooke and Callahan (C) defeated Mansfield and Brown (H) 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Golf.—The golf team was defeated by Princeton and tied by Pennsylvania on a trip taken last Friday and Saturday. Princeton won every match from Cornell. The score was 6 to 0. At Pennsylvania C. T. Lansing '16, John De Witt '17, and Horace Wyman '16 won their matches, while Captain A. L. Mathews '15, D. D. Cooke '16, and W. J. Snively '16 lost theirs, making the score 6-3.

POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

ALUMNI NOTES

'92, B.L.; '94, LL.B.—Sherman Moreland, a justice of the supreme court of the Philippine Islands, has arrived at his home in Van Etten, N. Y., for a vacation of six months. He was a passenger on the steamship Minnesota, which was wrecked in the Pacific.

'95—Captain Laurance Angel of the Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry, U. S. A., has just received leave of absence for one month.

'99, M.S.A.—Homer C. Price, dean of the college of agriculture of Ohio State University, has resigned from the faculty. The current number of Science contains the text of correspondence between him and President Thompson. It appears from the correspondence that the board of trustees of the university recently demoted Dean Price, "without," as he says, "assigning any cause and without explanation." He was removed from the deanship but was asked to remain in the faculty as professor of rural economics. The president urged him to accept that appointment. In a letter declining to do so he says: "I believe that conditions in the university are fundamentally wrong in that the encroachment of the business administration upon the academic has brought about a condition that is rapidly growing intolerable to members of the faculty. Such action as the board has recently taken in reference to me will intimidate your faculty, but it will not give it a sense of permanency that is conducive to constructive, efficient work, neither does it develop the spirit of loyalty."

'09, C.E.—Arthur Hillemeier was married to Miss Marian Budworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Budworth, sr., of Mount Vernon, N. Y., on April 28. J. D. Burrage, C.E. '12, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hillemeier will make their home in Mount Vernon.

'10, A.B.; '12, A.M.—Linda Louise Utter was married on September 16, 1914, at Ithaca, to Paul W. Allen (St. Lawrence University, B.S. '10, M.S. '14), now assistant professor of bacteriology in the University of Illinois.

'12, A.B.—Jacob S. Fassett, jr., has resigned his clerkship in the Second National Bank of Elmira, of which he is a director. He plans to enter the graduate school of Harvard University next fall for a course of study in English literature and modern languages, and he
