to be elected to one of the women's honorary societies has hitherto stamped a girl as a representative type of Cornell women. That time seems to be past. There was a time when to be elected to the Senior Honorary society meant the highest honor possible to be conferred upon a girl. The old idea of the secrecy and mystery of the societies is passing. Having been a member of both honorary societies, I feel free to express an opinion. It is time, I think, to come out in the open and let it be known that your ideals are high and worthy, and above such things as election on a sorority basis. When an honorary society becomes a general matter of ridicule because of its election there is something radically wrong. It is neither logical nor reasonable to expect the judgment of a group of girls to be infallible, but it shows some faint glimmerings of intelligence as to what the term "representative" means.

The question of "good sportsmanship" raised in yesterday's Bulletin is hardly to the point with reference to the present question. Sore-headedness is not usually displayed in that fashion. Those who apply that term miss the point entirely and without doubt their sense of humour is a minus quantity. Certainly the group of girls who participated in Thursday night's performance in Sage dining room would never be accused by anyone of being poor sports.

ANOTHER COMMUNICATION.

We certainly did not think after the very cordial reception given us at our installation banquet at Sage Thursday that any one felt grieved or pained because they were not among our "noble ten". It did not occur to us that "good sportsmanship" as was so adroitly stated would be lacking. It is with deep compunction that we regard this dissatisfied state of affairs. Our grandmothers doubtless began under a different stimulus than we. Nevertheless we will endeavor to uphold their memory and make a fair start on "the royal road to victory."

PAGEANT.

At the dress rehearsal this afternoon the Hearst-Pathe company will take moving and still pictures. Be sure and come or you will not be in the movies, which will be shown in theatres all over the country.

GIRL'S ORCHESTRA.

Important rehearsal with the full Pageant on the green this afternoon at 2:15. Bring mandolins and violins and be prepared to play for the dancing. Then Mr. Coleman would like to have all the violins at Sibley come at 4:30. Every girls must be out.

Dr. Matzke, Dr. Parker and Dr. Starkey have arranged to have the Red Cross Classes called off next week in favor of Pageant rehearsals.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y.W.C.A typewriter, Smith #2 has not yet been returned. Do you know anything about it?

CORRECTION.

Edith Rulison was elected senior editor of the Cornell Countryman and Gertrude Sampson was elected junior editor.

ELECTIONS.

Elections for minor class offices will take place today in Sage, Risley, Dom. Econ, from 12 - 2:00.
