DR. PAUL MARCHAL, the head of the entomological service of France, has been in Ithaca for nearly a week, in company with Dr. Leland O. Howard '77, the chief entomologist at Washington. This is Dr. Marchal's first visit to America. He is to be in this country long enough for a trip across the continent and back. He arranged his plans so as to accompany Dr. Howard on his annual inspection of the field stations of the Bureau of Entomology, and to consult the leading entomologists of the country. They came to Ithaca to see Professor Comstock. A week had been spent in New England, where the campaign against the gypsy and browntail moths was inspected. From here they go to Lafayette, Ind., where the Bureau of Entomology has a field station; thence to Urbana, Ill., and to California via Salt Lake City. They will return through Texas and Louisiana to Washington. Dr. Marchal is a member of the French Academy of Sciences.

INSTRUCTORS who are registered in the Graduate School are taking steps to find out just what will be the effect of the recent ruling of the Board of Trustees in the matter of exempting instructors and assistants from the payment of tuition for graduate instruction. The new ruling in effect is that a member of the instructing staff must pay for work taken outside the college in which he is employed. The instructors of five colleges have elected representatives to a committee which will make an investigation. The committee is now composed of C. M. Baker, College of Civil Engineering, chairman; W. R. Wigley, Sibley College, secretary; E. V. Hardenburgh, College of Agriculture; O. Overman, Department of Chemistry, and E. M. Pickens, Veterinary College.

THE GROSS RECEIPTS of the Athletic Association from the Spring Day show on the campus, up to Tuesday morning, were $3,908. There were some returns from the sale of "strip tickets" yet to be made, and the graduate manager thought the total gross receipts would be about $4,000. This is the largest sum that a Spring Day show ever made for athletics. The largest previous amount was $3,600, in 1911.

Perhaps the sale of the "strip tickets" for one dollar, admitting the holder to the enclosure and to any ten of the sideshows, helped most of all to swell the receipts this year.

A FIELD DAY was held by the Aero Club on the fair grounds Monday. A professional aviator, Walter Johnson, was present and made three flights with a Thomas biplane. From the club's point of view, the most interesting event of the day was a successful flight made by C. H. Wetzel '13 in a biplane glider which the club had just built. With an automobile towing it, this glider made five circuits of the half-mile track in a single flight, at a height varying from fifteen to forty feet. Aviator Johnson said he had never heard of a circular flight by a glider before he saw this one.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB has announced that next year, instead of concentrating all its attention on one production, it will bring out four or five one-act plays in the course of the year. The plays selected will not be the works of professional playwrights alone. The club desires and solicits original sketches by undergraduates and others in the University. Competitors for membership in the club next year will have a chance to appear in these small plays. The president of the club for next year is J. S. Smith '14, of Elmira. Dr. A. M. Drummond of the department of oratory, will continue to coach.

SIX CHEER LEADERS for next year have been elected by the members of the senior and junior classes from among twelve juniors chosen in competition by the present cheer leaders. They are, in the order of votes: B. W. Hendrickson '14, Brooklyn; S. H. Ayer, jr., Boston; H. B. Merz, Philadelphia; C. H. Matson, Ogden, Utah; F. M. Rees, Pittsburgh, Pa.; E. S. Truesdell, jr., Binghamton.

A SCHOOL for Leadership in Country Life has been established as a regular part of the work of the College of Agriculture. For a number of years the college was urged to establish a school for the training of social workers in rural communities. In response to this demand two conferences were held, last summer and the summer before, both successful. The coming school will be held at the college from June 24 to July 4, immediately preceding the Summer School in Agriculture.

SPRING DAY's final event was the freshman cap-burning. More than two-thirds of the class gathered around a bonfire on the Library slope and threw their caps into the blaze. Then they paraded down town and around.

SENIOR SINGING will be held on Goldwin Smith steps Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings for the rest of the year.

AN OVERFLOWING HOUSE, which included many alumni, greeted the Savage Club in its second presentation of "Laughing Water" at the Lyceum on the night before Spring Day. L. P. Ward '11 gave a monologue between the acts.

OFFICERS of the Law Association were elected last week as follows: President, J. F. Greaney '14, Newburgh; vice-president, E. F. Colie '15, Buffalo; secretary, Nathaniel Lester '14, Brockport; treasurer, G. B. Shults '14, Bath.

THE TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY of the founding of Conkling Chapter of Phi Delta Phi, the law school fraternity, was celebrated by a reunion banquet in the Ithaca Hotel Friday and the presentation to the University through President Crane of a fund which the chapter has raised for a series of lectures to be known as "The Frank Irvine Lectures." The principal speaker at the banquet, which was attended by many alumni, was Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75. A meeting was to have been held in Boardman Hall in the afternoon with an address by Attorney General Thomas Carmody '82, but Mr. Carmody telegraphed on Thursday that he would not be able to keep the engagement.

START OF THE HARVARD-CORNELL VARSITY RACE

1913 Adds $6,753.50 Yearly to the Alumni Fund

709 Members of the Graduating Class are Contributors

The Class of 1913 will give the University a memorial far exceeding in value the gift of any preceding class. Its memorial is a contribution of $135,070 to the Alumni Fund for the general support of the University. Under the form of pledge signed by the contributors of the class, five per cent of the principal sum pledged is payable each year for twenty years. Members of this class therefore have added the handsome sum of $6,753.50 to the annual income of the University from the Alumni Fund.

The committee which obtained the pledges from members of the class was composed of the following: Adolph F. Zang, Denver, Colorado, chairman; Miss Ethel Fogg, Philadelphia; Miss Genevieve Spencer, Milford, N. Y.; Gilmore D. Clarke, New York City; Archie L. Dean, jr., Brooklyn; George Fowler, Albany; Percival Goan, Hastings-on-Hudson; Roger C. Hyatt, New York City; John W. Little, Montclair, N. J.; Paul F. Titchener, Binghamton; Edward M. Scheu, Buffalo; Durbin VanLaw, Denver, Colorado; Dzong Kwen Wei, Hankow, China; Halsey V. Welles, Denver, Colorado; Theodore L. Welles, jr., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Alexander W. Keller '14, Rochester, and John Paul Jones, Washington, D. C., president of the class.

An official count of the subscriptions from members of the class of 1913 has been made in the office of the Cornellian Council at New York. It shows that there are 709 subscribers. The aggregate of their subscriptions, payable in twenty years, is $135,070. The annual income from the class to the University (five per cent of the principal sum) is $6,753.50.

The average amount to be paid each year by the 709 subscribers from the class is about $9.50. Most of the pledges were for $10 a year. There were 555 who subscribed that amount, according to the figures given out by the chairman of the committee. There are 87 members who pledged $5 a year each. Four pledged $20, three $15, two $3, three $2, and four $1. There are two members of the class who pledged themselves for $2,000, or $100 a year each. Fifty-two of the women members of the class are among the subscribers and the total of their yearly subscriptions is $373.

Memorials have been left by many classes, beginning with '72, which planted seventy-two elm trees along President's Avenue and East Avenue. The gift of '73 was the drinking fountain in front of McGraw Hall. It was in the nineties that class contributions were first made to a fund, and several classes gave sums of money for a university club. Several others gave toward the establishment of an alumni hall. Since 1904 the gifts have been for an endowment fund. The class of 1909 was the first whose contribution was formally merged in the Alumni Fund, and which conducted its canvass in cooperation with the Cornellian Council.

The contribution of the class of 1909, payable yearly as a part of the Alumni Fund, was $1,598; the class of 1910 gave an annual fund of $1,570, and stipulated that the money should be paid into the Alumni Field Equipment Fund until $20,000 was paid, the remainder to go yearly to the Alumni Fund proper. The class of 1911 pledged a yearly amount of $1,618, and the class of 1912 went beyond all previous records with a pledge of $2,805.-

50. The contribution of the class of 1913, therefore, is more than was subscribed by the classes of 1909, 1910 and 1911 combined, and is about 88 per cent of the total pledged by all the last four classes.

This generous contribution of the present graduating class naturally is very gratifying to the officers and members of the Cornellian Council, which has been working for the last three years to establish the Alumni Fund. When the last regular meeting of the Council was held, last January, there were about 2,800 subscribers, giving annually a little more than $26,500. Since then the secretary of the Council has published in the NEWS the names of more than a hundred additional subscribers. The class of 1913 therefore swells the number of subscribers to the Alumni Fund to more than 3,600. The annual income from the fund to the University is probably now in the neighborhood of $35,000. This is equivalent to the income at five per cent from an endowment of $700,000.

Sulzer Signs Syracuse Bill

Syracuse University Gets $250,000 for a Forestry Building

Governor Sulzer has signed the bill appropriating $250,000 for a building for the state college of forestry at Syracuse University. This sum, it is stated, does not include the cost of furniture or equipment, which will have to be provided for by future appropriations. Monday's Syracuse Post-Standard said:

"Dean Hugh P. Baker of the college yesterday said the appropriation means that Syracuse will be the home of the best equipped forestry institution in this country. It will be the center for the important work of solving the many problems in connection with the protection and management of forests and the reforestation of waste areas.

"Dean Baker also expressed the opinion, in which Chancellor James R. Day of the University concurred, that the appropriation ends the possibility of duplication of forestry work here and at Cornell University.

"Any question as to what institution has been designated by the state for educational work in forestry is now positively settled, and there can be no doubt about the fact that there is but one college of forestry, Dean Baker added."

Governor Sulzer announced the appointment of nine trustees, who, with the chairman of the state conservation commission, the president of the Senate, the state commissioner of education and the chancellor of Syracuse University, will make up the governing board of the college. The nine trustees are: Charles Andrews, Syracuse; John H. Delaney, Brooklyn; John R. Clancy, Syracuse; George W. Driscoll, Syracuse; Hendrick S. Holden, Syracuse; Louis Marshall, New York; Harold D. Cornwall, Beaver Falls; Alexander T. Brown, Syracuse, and Edward H. O'Hara, Syracuse.

Organization of Landladies

Association to be Run With the Cooperation of Barnes Hall

"The Association of Certified Student Rooming Houses of Ithaca" is the name of an organization which the Christian Association has effected among the landladies, for the mutual protection of roomers and landladies. The organization is to be partly controlled from Barnes Hall. A tax of one-half of one per cent will be levied upon the gross room rents of its members, and an inspector will be employed to keep up the standard of cleanliness, comfort, etc. The list of members will be circulated among the freshmen by the C. U. C. A., and the members will be furnished with a copyrighted display sign. The C. U. C. A. will fill the association houses as far as applicants for information go. No others will be recommended.

Roomers in the association houses will be required to sign a contract which will compel them to submit disputes between them and their landladies to an appeal committee consisting of one professor chosen by the association, the chairman of the committee on student affairs, a member of the association elected by the association, and two others chosen by these three. The fiscal officer of the association is the Student Secretary of the Christian Association. Administration is in the hands of an executive committee controlled through Barnes Hall. At the organization meeting, twenty-seven landladies, operating for the most part the better class of houses, became charter members.

OFFICERS for next year have been elected by the Association of Civil Engineers, as follows: President, H. A. Mossman '14, London, England; vice-president, E. J. Merston '14, Brockport; secretary, J. S. Bailey '14, Montgomery, Ala.; athletic director, J. T. Burton '14, Oil City, Pa.; treasurer, W. M. Reck '14, Brooklyn.

Had a Shekel Handy

Spring Day—"H. A. S. H."—"Have a Shekel Handy"—was one grand, rousing success, despite a cloudy sky and some dampness produced by a rain of the day before. A success financially? Naturally. Why else Spring Day? But there was a poetry, a glamour about it, far removed from any sordid consideration of mere money. There was a certain joviality, a care-free manner about the gay thugs who knocked you down and took your money away from you, even more noticeable than usual.

For the first time, the show this year was held on the Library slope below West Avenue—a location which proved fortunate in that the ground drained quickly. There the tents were spread, and the ropes stretched about them were guarded by cadets only too glad to carry a gun for three hours and avoid the expense of paying their way in—and around—and out.

Who can tell of the delights there to be enjoyed? The magnificent parade lured on the populace, every individual of which had a shekel handy and found it altogether too handy, perhaps. The Minor Sports Association was there with a spectacular production labeled "Mutt and Jeff in Turkey" and exhibiting a "whole harem of creamy-skinned Turkish charm-ers." The Cosmopolitan Club's "The Mongrels—a magnificent mobilization of modern marvels," showing "two truculent torpid mischievous Mongol men, one tender, timid, tripping, chic, charming, chattering Chinese chicken," and "a buff, bouncing, buxom, bounding, black boy articulating actual aggravating African accents," is too wonderful to describe. But then there was "Kan-Heg-Ether," wherein the Aero Club daringly rescued a damsel by aeroplane; "The Cemetery Lunch, or a scene in a dog," ably presented by juniors as a "fearless exposé." It was fearless; and fearful. Agriculture was there with "The Ball-Can-War," with the "Pash daughters of Nazim Pasha." "On the Trail of the Lonesome Dime" had a universal appeal, and "Zubelda," presented by the freshmen, proved to be a veritable "whiff from the Orient."

For those who insisted on having a fighting chance for their money, there were games of chance galore. You had an opportunity to tempt fate by trying to throw your money on a glass-topped table. Nobody was seen to do it; everybody tried. There were other ways—the baseball poker or the "niggerdip."

The law school policemen were active. Professor Bauer was brought before the tribunal. "Your honor," said the officer, "this man was doing absolutely nothing."

"What! Professor Bauer doing nothing? Fifty cents!"

A student and a girl. "But, your honor, this is my sister."

"Here with your sister? Thirty-five cents."

Confetti, ticklers, and noise-machines added to the tumult, and caps for the classes added color.

A feature of the financing this year was the sale of one-dollar strip tickets admitting to ten of the shows. This stroke of genius had brought the Athletic Association two thousand dollars even before the day dawned.

Graduate Fellowships

Announcement has been made of the award of several fellowships in the Graduate School. The Edgar J. Meyer Memorial Fellowship in Engineering Research has been awarded for next year to Marshall McKinley Koch, of Pottsville, Pa., a candidate for the degree of M.E. at the coming Commencement. This fellowship was founded as a memorial by the parents of Edgar J. Meyer '04, whose life was lost by the sinking of the steamship Titanic. The resignation of A. H. ar in botany was accepted and the vacancy was filled by the appointment of Gertrude Douglas, A.B. (Smith) '04; A.M. (Cornell) '07. Other appointments: The Sibley Fellowship in Mechanical Engineering, Frederick George Switzer, M.E. (Cornell) '13.

The University Fellowship in Mechanical Engineering, Charles Edwin Thomas, M.E. (Cornell) '13.

The University Fellowship in Architecture, John Neal Tilton, jr., B.Arch. (Cornell) '13.

Elections to Aleph Samach

Aleph Samach, the junior society, has announced the election of the following members from the class of 1915:

Herbert Johnson Adair, Portland, Indiana; freshman baseball captain; varsity baseball; Chi Phi.

Willard Wilcox Butts, Manlius; varsity crew; Phi Sigma Kappa.

William Lambert Kleitz, Glens Falls; Sun board; Psi Upsilon.

Harold Averill Phoenix, Davenport,

Iowa; assistant football manager; Phi Delta Theta.

Oliver August Reller, St. Louis, Mo.; track team; Beta Theta Pi.

Clement Leith Spieden, Summit, N. J.; track team; Phi Gamma Delta.

Memorial Service

A memorial service for Miss Mary C. Mallett, Miss Martha McCormick, Brainard Bailey and Reinhart A. Zimmer, the students who were drowned on May 17, was held in Sage Chapel Sunday afternoon in place of the usual vesper service. The Rev. Hugh Black, the University preacher of that day, conducted the service. President Crane spoke of the University's loss, a loss, he said, which could be estimated only by those who had known the four students. Search has been made for the bodies of the victims ever since the accident, but none of them has been recovered.

DR. ANDREW D. WHITE has accepted an invitation to speak at a joint meeting of the Ethics Club and the Phi Beta Kappa Society in Barnes Hall Thursday evening. His topic will be "Evolution versus Revolution in Politics."

OBITUARY

Francis M. Rites '81

Francis Marion Rites, B.M.E., '81, was found dead at his home in Slaterville, N. Y., on May 8. He had been living alone, and the cause and time of his death are not known. Rites was an inventor, and made a fortune from his patents. When he was chief engineer of the Westinghouse Machine Company at Pittsburgh he invented an appliance for controlling the speed of steam engines which is known the world over as the Rites governor. When the gasoline engine came into common use he adapted his device to the new form of engine and obtained another patent on it. Many other appliances commonly used in steam engineering were invented and patented by him. A medal was once awarded him by the City of Philadelphia on the recommendation of the Franklin Institute. He was fifty-four years old. His wife and son survive him.

A PAINTING by Randall Davey '09 is one of the canvases by contemporary artists now on exhibition in Goldwin Smith Hall. It is the "Girl in Blue" which was shown at a recent exhibit in New York.

THE Sun has elected Alden C. Buttrick '16, of Ithaca, to its board.

ITHACA, NEW YORK, MAY 28, 1913

THE CLASS OF 1913 deserves the congratulations and thanks of the entire body of alumni for the spirit shown in its contribution to the Alumni Fund and for the efficiency of the committee which obtained the pledges. No other class in the history of the institution has made itself so large a factor in the future welfare of Cornell University. More than 700 members of the class have, before graduating, signed a pledge that, as alumni, they will retain a sense of proprietorship in and responsibility for the University. The deeper significance of this fact is a thing entirely apart from the amount of money contributed. Measured by dollars alone, the gift is the largest ever made by a class of this University. It has increased by twenty per cent or more the amount of the Alumni Fund, which was established three years ago. With the graduating classes adding to the fund so liberally as the last four or five classes have done, the effort of the alumni to provide Cornell University with a permanent annual endowment is no longer an experiment. It is an established fact, and the only question now is how large the fund will become. There is nothing in the history of this Alumni Fund more encouraging than the extent to which undergraduate members of the University have made themselves responsible for its success. A very large proportion of its subscribers are persons who belong to classes since 1908, when the Cornellian Council was started. Those Cornellians have left or are leaving the University with a sense of responsibility for its future, and a feeling that they are to remain a part of it. Their action alone would have justified the establishment of the Alumni Fund and would have insured its success even if no contribution had been made by graduates prior to 1908. They have set an example to older graduates, as well as to future classes. The record made by 1913 in the size of its contribution may stand for some time, but, even if it does, the custom of making a generous class pledge is established, and coming classes are not likely to fall far short of the record. The Alumni Fund is going to grow, and grow at a good deal better than a snail's pace. Any Cornellian has the privilege of giving to it and feeling that he is a part of an organization which is doing something well worth while for Cornell University.

The Alumni Game

It begins to look as if the baseball game between two alumni teams on Saturday, June 14, would assume the proportions of a real contest. Most of the alumni who have responded to the letter sent out by the committee of arrangements are heartily in favor of the plan adopted, which is to have one team picked from the classes 1903-1912, and the other team from the older classes.

From the returns received thus far the balance seems to be on the side of the Old Ones. Tar Young has been playing with the varsity scrub at intervals and is in almost old-time form. With Ed Young behind the bat and such men on hand as Harry Taylor, Doug Brown, Maurice Whinery and Clyde Johnson (both of whom are expected but are yet to be heard from), Charlie Blair and Eads Johnson, the youngsters will have to hustle.

Stubby Magner is the captain of the Young Ones. He has been coaching the freshmen this spring, and is expected to cover the whole infield, although Artie Costello and Tip Watson have signified their willingness to help, with Matchneer and a number of others to be heard from. Fulton and Champaign are the fielders thus far signed. The notices to the Young Ones have been sent out only in the last week or ten days, but the line-up at present promises a game that will be worth while. Kirk Welch says he will be on hand if he can possibly make it. Bob Caldwell is regarded as the safe bet in the box. If there are any pitchers in practice who can come to Caldwell's relief, in case of necessity, Magner would like to hear from them; also from any other players of the last ten years who are not afraid to stand up against a few wild slants and inshoots.

1908 REUNION

Out of eighteen who sent in return cards last week there were nine recruits for the big reunion on June 13 and 14, including U. H. Alderman, A. L. Chapin, Fielder J. Coffin (?), Harry C. Hills, Roger T. Holloway, Thomas M. Jackson (?), Ogden Minton, Henry E. Schlobohm, Floyd C. Stephens (?).

How long will it be before you send in word you are coming? From present prospects more than fifty will surely be back. Hurry up and get in line and make it seventy-five. Be sure to send word you are coming back within the next week, so that you will be provided for. But if you can't do this come anyway at the last moment and we will do the best we can. There'll be a bully good time in Ithaca anyway.

SETH W. SHOEMAKER,
827 Electric St.,
Scranton, Pa.

1910 REUNION

The following men will be here, anyway: Rollo Blanchard, "Puss" Lally, "Swede" Goodwillie, "Russ" Hurlburt, "Mal" Jones, and Roy Taylor. The letters will be sent out as soon as the lists are received. In the meantime if you are coming back be sure to write to G. E. Kent, Ithaca, so your costume may be ordered and tickets reserved.

E. C. HEG, Life Secretary.

Tennis.—The team took the four singles matches from the Williams team in Williamstown Saturday. Rain prevented the doubles matches. Benton, Cummins, Tewksbury and Bowers played.

Michigan, 5; Cornell, 3 (10 innings)

Although Michigan got fourteen hits off Johnson, and Cornell only five hits off Quintaine, the game went to ten innings. What evened up the difference in hitting was the fact that the Cornell fielding was sharp and nine Michigan men were put out after they had reached first base.

Bell drew a pass in the first inning, and Sisler batted him home. Sisler is the pitcher who won the Cornell game at Ann Arbor. In the game at Ithaca which we are describing he played in right field, and his batting won the game. In five times up he got four safe hits.

Cornell tied the score right away. Schirick singled and stole. The next two men were easy outs, but Clute drew a pass and Butler was safe on an error. Trainer rapped the ball to center field. Schirick scored and Clute tried to score too, but was caught. There was nothing more doing till the sixth, when Donovan was passed and scored on an error. Michigan got three hits and two runs in the seventh, and Cornell tied the score again. Quintaine hit two batters and gave a base on balls, and an error in the field helped Cornell to a run.

Michigan won in the tenth. Quintaine and Bell both hit safely. The former was nipped at the plate on Cory's grounder to Clute, but Bell scored on McQueen's sacrifice fly and Sisler brought Cory home with a clean drive to center field.

Cornell managed to get men on second and third in the latter half of the tenth, but could not bring them home. The score:

Yale, 4; Cornell, 1 (11 innings)

The Yale nine came to Ithaca for the Spring Day game with a record of seventeen victories and only one defeat by a college team this season—a striking contrast to the Cornell nine's record. Yet the two teams fought eleven innings. Brown of Yale had only a little the better of Acheson of Cornell in the pitching. It was a drive to the outfield by Pitcher Brown in the eleventh, when the bases were full, that won the game. Cornell had two chances to win in the eighth, and another in the tenth when a clean hit would have ended the game right there.

The prospect of playing the game had been dubious up to Saturday morning, for it rained hard all Friday and during the night, but the sky cleared before noon and a crowd was on hand which filled all the stands and overflowed upon the borders of the field. The diamond was a little slippery, and that caused an unfortunate accident in the second inning, when Pumpelly of Yale sprained an ankle.

He was on second base when Burdett hit safely to center field. Pumpelly was rounding third base when the coacher there saw that Butler's throw would beat him to the plate and stopped him. In making a quick stop on the wet ground he turned his ankle. McGhie took his place for the rest of the game.

Middlebrook opened the first inning with a hit to right and was safe at second when Taber failed to get Donovan's throw of Schofield's grounder. Both runners then stole and Captain Blossom was passed, filling the bases. Middlebrook scored when Riddell went out, Donovan to Clute. Reilly hit to Adair, who threw Schofield out at home. Schirick caught Reilly napping with a quick throw to first, and Blossom, in trying to steal home while Clute and Donovan were running Reilly down, was beaten by Donovan's return throw to the plate. One run.

Yale almost had another run in the second. Pumpelly opened the inning with a drive to right and went to second on Cornish's out. Burdett singled to center field. After Pumpelly's accident, described above, McGhie was on third and Burdett on first. Brown sent a short fly to Keller, who caught it and threw quickly to first to double Burdett, but Clute muffed the short throw. McGhie crossed the plate on the play, but the run did not count. Brown's bat had swung around and hit Schirick on the head, dazing him for a minute. The umpire ruled that it was interference and sent McGhie back to third, where he was left when Middlebrook grounded to Acheson.

With two down in Yale's third inning, Riddell singled but was caught stealing second.

Meanwhile, in Cornell's first three innings, nine men failed to reach first.

Reilly opened Yale's fourth inning by beating out a bunt, but the next three men were easy outs.

With one down in Cornell's fourth, Donovan singled and Keller also hit safe. Keller was forced out on Clute's grounder to Cornish, while Donovan went to third. Donovan tried to steal home while some of the Yale players were conferring, but he did not get away with it.

Yale got two men on bases in the fifth, and again in the sixth, but no runs. Trainer and Taber hit safely for Cornell in the fifth, but Acheson fanned and was the third man down.

In the sixth inning, however, Cornell tied the score. Schirick singled and Donovan sacrificed. Keller went out, but Clute rapped a grounder down inside the right field foul line on which Schirick scored. Clute tried to make two bases on his hit, but McGhie's throw to second was too quick for him.

Acheson was in fine form in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, only nine men facing him. Nobody reached first for Cornell in the seventh, but in the eighth Taber was safe on Reilly's fumble and Acheson beat out a bunt. Schirick's sacrifice advanced them both, but Donovan flied out and Keller sent an easy grounder to Reilly.

Acheson passed Middlebrook in the tenth, but tightened up and stopped the next three men. In Cornell's half, with one down, Taber singled to center field and stole second, but Acheson fanned and Schirick sent an easy one to Brown.

Reilly opened the eleventh with a safe rap to right. McGhie was safe on a bunt when Schirick threw high to first. Cornish singled, filling the bases. Acheson had struck out Burdett and had two strikes on Brown when the Yale pitcher clouted the ball into center field and three runs came in. Acheson struck Middlebrook out, but hit Schofield, and the bases filled up again when Blossom hit over second. He was forced, however, on Riddell's grounder to Taber.

Clute was still in the game with a hit to center field, but there were two down when he made it, and Butler sent up an easy foul fly. The score:

Spring Day Regatta

Cornell Varsity and Harvard Freshmen Win—Sibley Wins Intercollege Race

Cornell's varsity eight won a decisive victory over the Harvard varsity crew in the Spring Day regatta on Cayuga Lake last Saturday, finishing six lengths to the good at the end of the two-mile course. The Crimson freshman crew made up to some extent for the varsity defeat by winning from the Cornell freshmen in a pretty race over the same course by about a length. These results were somewhat as had been expected. Coach Wray of Harvard had said that he expected his freshman crew to win. The Harvard freshmen did, as a matter of fact, cover the course three seconds faster than the Harvard varsity. There were two other events on the program—a race between the Cascadilla and Stone School crews, which was won by Cascadilla, and the race for the intercollege championship of the University, which the Sibley crew won.

Weather conditions were favorable for the races, although a brisk north wind had kicked up considerable sea in the afternoon, and it was six o'clock before the lake flattened out. Then the Cornell crews rowed from their boathouse to the starting point, three miles down on the east side of the lake, and the Harvard oarsmen rowed across from Glenwood. Thousands of persons had a fine view of the regatta from the Lehigh Valley's long observation train, from yachts, motorboats, rowboats and canoes, and from the high bank. The steam yacht Calypso of Auburn was the judges' boat. Lieutenant J. H. Ingram of the United States Navy was referee of the races.

In the varsity race, the first of the day, Cornell's victory was won apparently without a great deal of effort. Harvard got away with a little lead, but Dole whipped up the Cornell stroke and overhauled the Crimson shell within a hundred yards. After that the Cornell boat gradually drew away. At the mile Cornell had a lead of four lengths, and there Dole let down the pace a little. Entering the lane of boats near the finish, Cornell's stroke was again quickened for a dashing sprint across the line, six lengths ahead of the Harvard bow. The Cornell oarsmen were all fresh at the finish, while some of the Harvard men were rowed out. Cornell's time was 10 minutes 29 seconds. Harvard's was 10 minutes 51 seconds.

The freshman race was more of a contest. The Harvard youngsters got away cleanly and open water soon showed between the boats. Harvard was rowing smoothly, about 32 strokes a minute. The Cornell freshmen hurried their stroke and it was lacking in finish. Harvard led in this fashion throughout the race. Near the finish the Cornell youngsters made a desperate effort, but the Harvard boat held its lead of about a length. The time in the freshman race was: Harvard, 10 minutes 48 seconds; Cornell, 10 minutes 53 seconds.

Many persons thought that, next to the Cornell varsity eight, the Cascadilla crew was the prettiest on the lake. It won its race with Stone school easily by about five lengths. It rowed with a snappy but effective stroke. The course was one mile and the time was: Cascadilla, 6 minutes 24 seconds; Stone, 6 minutes 53 seconds.

The last race of the day, for the intercollege championship, was by no means the least interesting. There were five crews entered, representing the Colleges of Agriculture, Architecture, Civil Engineering, Law, and Mechanical Engineering. It soon became a race between Sibley and Agriculture. The Sibley crew seemed to be the smoothest and it proved itself the fastest. Agriculture took the lead with a burst of speed which put it ahead of all the rest, but it was unable to fight off the Sibley boat, which came up near the finish with a sprint which carried the Mechanical Engineers over the line less than a length to the good. The Civil Engineers were third, the lawyers fourth and the architects fifth. It was a pretty finish, for the crews crossed the line in a bunch.

Freshman Baseball

The Cornell freshman nine defeated the Pennsylvania freshmen at Philadelphia last Saturday morning by a score of 4 to 3. The game was played cleanly. Russell, the Cornell pitcher, struck out twelve men and gave only five hits. But he was wild at times, and in the ninth inning, when the score was 4 to 0, he weakened long enough so that the Pennsylvania freshmen got three runs. Only one fielding error was charged to the Cornell team. The Cornell players were Ludwig, lf; Inness, 2b; Barrett, cf; Gordon, 3b; Darch, c; Lewis, 1b; Keeler, rf; Greenwald, ss; Russell, p. Freshman Track Team

The Cornell freshman track team defeated the Pennsylvania freshmen at Philadelphia last Saturday by a score of 67 to 50. Cornell men won eight of the thirteen events. The score:

100 Yard Dash—Won by Van Winkle, Cornell; second, Lockwood, Pennsylvania; third, Dimico, Pennsylvania. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

220 Yard Dash—Dead heat between Lockwood, Pennsylvania, and Van Winkle, Cornell; third, Crim, Cornell. Time 21 4-5 seconds.

440 Yard Dash—Won by Meredith, Pennsylvania; second, Kelly, Pennsylvania; third, Taylor, Cornell. Time 51 seconds.

880 Yard Dash—Won by Meredith, Pennsylvania; second, Souder, Cornell; third, Irish, Cornell. Time 2:00 4-5.

One Mile Run—Won by Potter, Cornell; second, Souder, Cornell; third, De Korn, Pennsylvania. Time 4:30 4-5.

Two Mile Run—Won by Humphreys, Pennsylvania; second, Hoffmire, Cornell; third, Tinkham, Cornell. Time 9:52.

120 Yard High Hurdles—Won by Lincoln, Cornell; second, Millard, Cornell; third, Turner, Pennsylvania. Time 17 1-5 seconds.

220 Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Millard, Cornell; second, Murphy, Pennsylvania; third, Keyes, Pennsylvania. Time 23 3-5 seconds.

Pole Vault—Won by Sewell, Pennsylvania, 10 feet 6 inches; Darrin, Cornell, and Cheney, Cornell, tied for second place, 10 feet.

High Jump—Won by Cady, Cornell, 5 feet 6 inches; second, McLaren, Cornell, 5 feet 4 1-2 inches; N. Turner and P. Turner, Pennsylvania, tied for third place, 5 feet 3 inches.

Broad Jump—Won by Kelly, Pennsylvania, 21 feet 5 1-2 inches; second, Mullen, Cornell, 20 feet 7 3-4 inches; third, McLaren, Cornell, 19 feet 11 inches.

Shot Put—Won by Westbrook, Cornell, 38 feet 2 3-4 inches; second, Harris, Pennsylvania, 36 feet 8 inches; third, McCutcheon, Cornell, 35 feet, 5 3-4 inches.

Hammer Throw—Won by Westbrook, Cornell, 120 feet 11 inches; second, Harris, Pennsylvania, 83 feet 2 1-2 inches; third, Parker, Pennsylvania, 87 feet 3 1-2 inches.

Track.—Up to the time this paper went to press, Coach Moakley had not decided just what men would go to Cambridge as members of the team. The Cornell squad will probably number about twenty.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS

Schenectady

The Cornell Alumni Association of Schenectady has selected July 12 as a tentative date for the annual Yale-Cornell alumni boat ride. All members who expect to be at Schenectady at that time are requested to let the secretary (H. W. Dix, General Electric Company) know. Any 1913 men who are going to Schenectady are requested to send in their names and addresses.

The association had a dinner at the Mohawk Golf Club on the 19th. About thirty members were present. Chester C. Platt, Governor Sulzer's secretary, who used to live in Ithaca, addressed the association.

Oswego County

The fifth annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Oswego County, N. Y., was held on May 15 at the Hotel Pontiac in Oswego. The toastmaster was Justice Irving G. Hubbs '91, and the speakers were P. W. Cullinan '73, Justice P. C. J. De Angelis '71, Francis M. Hugo '97, Professor C. F. Hirshfeld '05, John R. Pidgeon '03, and Justice Leonard C. Crouch '89, of Syracuse, newly appointed to the Supreme Court, who was the guest of honor.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. Edward Dowdle, '09, Oswego; first vice-president, Clayton I. Miller '93, Pulaski; second vice-president, Louis W. Emerick '91, Fulton; secretary, Charles W. Linsley '07, Oswego; treasurer, Arthur Wyllys Hawkes '11, Phoenix; representative to the Athletic Council, Irving G. Hubbs '91; delegate to the Associate Alumni, D. P. Morehouse, jr., '06.

The following were present: N. S. Bentley '91, P. W. Cullinan '73, H. M. Doyle '13, George W. Davis '01, Ellwood Diment '09, Dr. Edward Dowdle '09, D. H. Judson '07, C. W. Linsley '07, D. P. Miller '93, Pulaski; C. H. Lard '11, Fulton; D. G. Monroe '13, Baldwinsville, and Harold Snyder '09, Auburn.

THE REV. GEORGE HODGES, dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., will preach in Sage Chapel next Sunday.

ALUMNI NOTES

'74, B.S.—John Casper Branner, elected president of Stanford University to succeed David Starr Jordan '72 (now chancellor) has been professor of geology at Stanford since 1892 and vice-president of the university since 1899. For about eight years after he left Cornell he was employed in Brazil by the imperial geological commission, by the United States Department of Agriculture, and by a mining company. Then he was successively geologist with the geological survey of Pennsylvania, professor of geology in Indiana University and state geologist of Arkansas. He was director of the Branner-Agassiz expedition to Brazil, 1899; member of the California Earthquake Commission, 1906-7; special assistant to the geological survey of Brazil, 1907-8, and director of a scientific expedition to Brazil in 1911. The University of Arkansas and Maryville College have both given him the degree of Doctor of Laws. He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America and was the society's president in 1904.

'81—While Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is in Marquette, Mich., to prosecute his libel suit against the editor of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, he is the guest of George Shiras, 3d, whose summer home is in Marquette. The attorney for the defendant editor is William P. Belden, LL.B., '95, of Ishpeming, who is the attorney of the Ishpeming Steel Company.

'83, B.S.—The geological survey of Ohio has just issued a bulletin treating of the Devonian and Mississippian formations of Northeastern Ohio, in 570 pages, by Professor Charles S. Prosser of Ohio State University. It is the most comprehensive geological bulletin yet issued by the state.

'03, M.E.—Alan G. Williams was married to Miss Agnes Gray, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Gray, of Terre Haute, Indiana, on April 9. Williams's home address is 448 North Seventh Street, Terre Haute.

'04, A.B.—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Romeyn Berry, of Summit, N.J., on May 21. She has been named Ruth Seelye, after a great-grandmother on her mother's side.

'04, M.E.—A. Penn Denton is president and manager of the Denton Engineering & Construction Company, formerly Denton, Foote & Co. (H. B. Foote '04 having withdrawn from the firm). His address is 639 Schaefer Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

'04, A.B.—Frederick W. Rope, for eight years with the Manufacturers' & Traders' National Bank of Buffalo, is now engaged in the general insurance business with The Hart A. Webster Company, 204 Morgan Building Buffalo, N. Y.

'06, M.E.—After June 1st Joseph B. Philips will be with F. W. Bird & Son, East Walpole, Mass., manufacturers of roofing felts, cardboard boxes and packing cases.

'06, M.E.—Harold J. Wise was married to Miss Imogene Carroll, daughter

SPALDING FIFTH AVENUE

Our forty-second store, in a list that embraces the principal cities of the English-speaking world, from London to Sydney, and one in Paris.

Athletics is a bigger word than it was; it means the Open; it spells Outdoors. It has ushered in the Country Life.

To meet this demand we have inaugurated a department in this new store in which will be carried garments—made in England, the home of Country Life—suitable for all Outdoor purposes or just Lounging around the Country Club.

And, as the location would indicate, this store is not exclusively for men. The Wives and Daughters of America are now a big factor in Outdoor Life. They will be surprised and delighted with the extensive and exclusive assortment of Apparel and Implements.
