"—The resources of civilization are not yet exhausted"—WM. E. GLADSTONE

Why greater strength weighs less and less

CAN YOU MAKE three pounds of steel do the work of four . . . and stay on the job longer? The answer is YES, with alloy steels—steels that are combined with small amounts of other metals, such as chromium, vanadium, and zirconium, to develop or increase desired qualities. For example, it's the element, chromium, that gives the stainless nature to steel.

So great is the improvement in steel, when alloy agents are used, that a freight car of alloy steel can weigh 25% less, haul heavier loads, yet stay in service much longer than similar cars of ordinary steel. Alloy agents not only increase the strength of steel, they also extend its life through reduction of destructive factors such as rust, corrosion, and wear.

The use of better materials to make steel go farther and serve longer is especially vital to all of us . . . with steel mills unable to catch up, and ore supplies dwindling.

Industrial gases have a big role in steel's better performance, too. Compressed oxygen aids in cleansing the molten steel . . . the oxy-acetylene torch cuts steel sections to size—and welds them together if desired. Finished steel articles are given a harder, longer-wearing surface through "flame-hardening." And carbon, in the form of electrodes, makes modern electric furnaces possible . . . with their output of high quality steels.

The people of Union Carbide produce these and related materials for improving steel. They produce hundreds of other materials for the use of science and industry—to the benefit of mankind.

How to tune a piano!

The piano's out of tune. So we'll chop it up. Then we'll get a tin horn instead.

Sure, these men are crazy.

But they're using the same kind of thinking a lot of people have been using on the American economic system lately.

Our American way isn't perfect. We still have our ups and downs of prices and jobs. We'll have to change that. But even so, our system works a lot better than the second-rate substitutes being peddled by some countries we could mention.

It works better because of a few simple things. We are more inventive, and we know how to use machine power to produce more goods at lower cost. We have more skilled workers than any other country. We believe in collective bargaining and enjoy its benefits. And we Americans save—and our savings go into new tools, new plants, new and better machines.

Because of this, we produce more every working hour . . . and can buy more goods with an hour's work than any other people in the world.

We can make the system work even better, too: by all of us working together to turn out more for every hour we work—through better machines and methods, more power, greater skills, and by sharing the benefits through higher wages, lower prices, shorter hours.

It's a good system. It can be made better. And even now it beats anything that any other country in the world has to offer.

So—let's tune it up, not chop it down.

Want to help? Mail this!

I want to help.

I know that higher wages, lower prices, shorter hours and larger earnings can all result from producing more goods for every hour all of us work.

Therefore, I will ask myself how I can work more effectively every hour I am on the job, whether I am an employee, an employer, a professional man or a farmer.

I will encourage those things which help us produce more and add to everyone's prosperity—things like greater use of mechanical power, better machines, better distribution and better collective bargaining.

I will boost the good things in our set-up, and help to get rid of the bad.

I will try to learn all I can about why it is that Americans have more of the good things of life.

Please send me your free booklet, "The Miracle of America," which explains clearly and simply, how a still better living can be had for all, if we all work together.

Taylor '94 Gives Interfaith Center Greater Cornell Fund Tops $5,000,000

CHRISTMAS gift to the University was the presentation by Myron C. Taylor '94 through the Greater Cornell Fund of $1,500,000 to provide and furnish a building for Cornell United Religious Work as the World War II Memorial. The new building will be named Anabel Taylor Hall, in honor of Mrs. Taylor, and will be designed as a companion structure and located near Myron Taylor Hall, for which Taylor gave a like amount just twenty years ago, to house the Law School.

Greater Cornell Fund Grows

Taylor's gift, together with previously-announced anonymous contributions of $1,500,000 and $1,000,000 and other special gifts reported by local committees over the country, brought the Greater Cornell Fund at the year's end to $5,091,000 of the first objective of $12,500,000 to meet the most urgent needs of the University. These needs are to improve Faculty salaries, the War Memorial building, additional buildings for the College of Engineering, the Laboratory of Nuclear Studies, research in the social sciences and humanities, new athletic facilities, and for a student dormitory and additional endowment and working capital for the Medical College in New York. A two-year campaign for this first phase of University development began October 8 for the Greater Cornell Fund under chairmanship of John L. Collyer '17.

Taylor has been a Trustee of the University since he was first appointed by Governor Alfred E. Smith, early in 1928. Former chairman of the board and chief executive of US Steel Corp., he has been since 1939 the personal representative of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman at the Vatican, and from 1942-44 he was a member of the advisory committee on postwar foreign policy under chairmanship of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Recently, President Truman presented him the Medal of Merit in recognition of his distinguished contributions to industry and diplomacy. He is vice-chairman of the Greater Cornell Fund and last June gave a fund to the University to establish the Myron Taylor Lectures on Foreign Affairs to be given on the Campus.

Taylor attended the Law School and received the LLB in 1894.

First announcement of the gift of Anabel Taylor Hall was a telegram to President Edmund E. Day, in which the donor said: "We would like very much to associate this gift with the spirit of Christmas. The building and its declared uses will satisfy a long-cherished desire on my part to establish at Cornell a suitable companion building to Myron Taylor Hall in honor of my wife and collaborator, Anabel Taylor."

Commenting on the gift, the President said: "At this season of the year, when peace on earth, good will to all men is uppermost in the minds of free peoples everywhere, there could be no more fitting gift than a building dedicated to the realization of one world under God. Anabel Taylor Hall, as the University's Interfaith Center, will be the headquarters of Cornell's unique student religious program. All faiths, including Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish, will share the building, with each participating in activities of united service to the whole Campus while no group will give up any of its distinctive message." The building will contain a memorial chapel dedicated to Cornellians who lost their lives in the war, an auditorium, a social "Hall of All Nations," a lounge and library, and conference rooms and offices for the staff and twelve cooperating church groups and their student activities now crowded in Barnes Hall.

Study Memorial Aspects

A University committee headed by Professor Morris Bishop '14, Romance Languages, and representing alumni, Faculty, students, and CURW staff was recently appointed by President Day to study the war memorial aspects of the proposed building.

New York Herald Tribune, Monday after Christmas, commented editorially:

The granting of large gifts to our universities, colleges, and schools is less frequent than in a generation past; many of our private educational institutions are hard put to it to meet increased salaries and plant upkeep, to say nothing of constructing the new buildings which their full development requires. Even war memorials have not always been easy to finance, in part because of the profound uncertainty in modern society as to the form such a memorial should take, and in part because high taxes and high costs combine to discourage potential contributors. One can imagine the more vividly, therefore, the mood in which Cornell University must have received on Christmas day the news of the magnificent gift of Mr. Myron C. Taylor. A Campus already endowed with great natural beauty and favored by a solid and handsome architecture is to be enriched by a new hall, its cost of a million and a half dollars donated by the University's distinguished alumnus.

... In an age when religious institutions, particularly among young men and women, have lost much of their former dominance, one cannot but admire the audacity and the faith which have prompted Mr. Taylor.

One hardly knows where congratulations ought more to be given: to Cornell, that it has so loyal a son; or to Mr. Taylor, that he has an Alma Mater which can promise to breathe through the walls of his great Christmas gift the religious ardor which can make it meaningful through the years.

"American Way" Lectures

CAMPUS lectures on "America's Freedom and Responsibility in the Contemporary Crisis," supported by a grant of $10,000 from the Carnegie Corp. of New York, will begin in February and be broadcast directly from the lecture platforms on the F-M stations of Rural Radio Network covering up-State New York.

First part of the symposium, designed to elucidate the American way of life, will bring seven speakers to the Campus on the general topic, "The Strengthening of American Political Institutions." A second series in March will deal with "Freedom and Responsibility of American Agencies of Communication," and a third, in late April and May, will examine "The Responsibility of the University for Freedom in the American Way of Life."

Opening speaker on the first topic, the evening of February 10, will be Arthur S. Flemming, vice-chairman of the Hoover Commission on Reorganization of the Government, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, and former US Civil Service Commissioner. He will discuss "Administrative Reorganization." February 15, US Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma will speak on "Congressional Reorganization." Thurman W. Arnold, former Assistant US Attorney General and associate justice of the US Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia, speaks on "The Loyalty Program," February 18. Representative Estes Kefauver of Tennessee will discuss "Presidential-Congressional Relations," February 22. Edgar A. Mowrer, former correspondent in Europe, Pulitzer Prize winner, and author of the recent book, The Nightmare of American

Foreign Policy, will speak February 24 on "Formulation of Foreign Policy." February 28, Donald Price, executive assistant to Herbert Hoover and associate director of the Public Administration Clearing House, Washington, D. C., will discuss "The Presidential Burden." This part will conclude March 2 with Hanson W. Baldwin, Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and military editor of The New York Times, speaking on "Mobilization."

The symposium is arranged by a Faculty committee of which Professor Edward W. Fox, Government, is chairman, with Professors Clinton L. Rossiter '39, Government, and Earl Brooks, Industrial & Labor Relations.

Students Combat Bigotry

HOUSE-WARMING at 103 McGraw Place, December 5, brought fulfillment of two-year-old plans for Watermargin, Inc., a new student group dedicated to fight against racial and religious discrimination.

The group is named after the Watermargin novel, an ancient Chinese classic about a band of Robin Hood-like fugitives who gathered in a water-girt fastness of the Liang mountains to fight the injustice of the Ming Dynasty. Guiding principle of the Cornell group is the phrase, "all men are brothers," which is also the title of the English translation of Watermargin by Pearl S. Buck, AM '25.

Originating in January, 1947, with two Sophomores, Samuel H. Sachman of Rockaway Beach and Jacob Sheinkman of New York City, now president of the Student Council, the idea attracted a nucleus of thirteen men who worked out the details of Watermargin, Inc. By February, there were twenty who formally organized to found a cooperative house where men of all creeds and races would live together to their mutual advantage. Also hoping to carry on an educational program on the Campus, the members set about getting sponsors and recognition. Six Faculty members accepted invitations to become advisors, and the group began to investigate the possibility of operating a house. During the following term, the membership was expanded to thirty-five and the group incorporated in December, 1947. A month later, they were formally recognized by the Student Council.

Watermargin's program really got underway during the spring of 1948 when several important contributions were received and the first issues of their monthly magazine, In The Margin, were published. By last summer, they had raised enough money to rent, renovate, and operate a house and had an imposing list of sponsors which now includes Dr. James H. Sheldon '88, Lessing J. Rosenwald '12, Hon. Samuel S. Leibowitz '15, Mrs. Thayer Hobson (Laura Zametkin) '21, author of Gentleman's Agreement; Charles Garside '21, chairman of the

New York State Commission Against Discrimination; Jerome H. Holland '39, and such prominent non-Cornellians as ex-governor Herbert H. Lehman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poletti.

Thirty-one resident members of Watermargin came back to Ithaca before classes started last fall, to renovate their house, leased from the University. (The house, back of University Avenue, was owned by Phi Kappa Psi until 1915, then by Sigma Phi Sigma for twenty-six years until the University took it over for a dormitory in 1941.) The educational program that was one of the original aims of the founders got underway with the first lecture of a series by the Rev. Donald C. Cleary, Catholic student chaplain. The house has a social program and intramural teams, and has started collecting a library on racial and religious tolerance.

With about half of its sixty members living at the McGraw Place residence, the group has elected as president Walter V. McNiece '51 of Elmhurst; with Richard H. Allaway, Grad of Brooklyn, vice-president and house-manager; Richard N. Goldstein '49 of Rochester, treasurer; and Toshio Sato '51 of Honolulu, Hawaii, secretary. Faculty advisors are Professors Mario Einaudi, Government; Paul W. Gates, History; Royal E. Montgomery, Economics; and Milton R. Konvitz, PhD '33, John W. McConnell, and Maurice Neufeld, Industrial & Labor Relations; F. Clifton White, Sociology; and William W. Mendenhall, Director of CURW.

A women's organization with similar aims and organization, though not actually affiliated with Watermargin, is Credo, still in its formative stages and as yet without a house, though long-range plans of the group call for one, possibly as early as next year. Credo, which joined Watermargin, Inc., in sponsoring the lecture series during the fall and winter, also carries on an educational program for its own members and associates, of whom there are approximately seventy. Regular meetings of the group usually include talks or films on cultural subjects. Concentrating more on the problem of international relations than does Watermargin, Credo cooperates with the Cosmopolitan Club, frequently sends members to meetings of foreign student groups, and tries to bring them into closer contact with non-foreign students at the University.

President of Credo is Marion G. Holley '50 of New York City; vice-president, Ann R. Ellis, Paterson, N. J.; secretary, Lydia Schurman '50, daughter of Judge Jacob G. Schurman '17, of New York City and grand-daughter of the late Jacob Gould Schurman, third President of the University; and treasurer, Joan B. Greenblatt '50 of New York City. On Credo's board of advisors are Professors Frederick G. Marcham, PhD '26, History; Carroll C. Arnold, Speech; and Jean McKelvey, I & L R.

Political Clubs Active

DEMOCRATIC and Republican student clubs have announced election of officers for the new year. Edwin J. Wesley '49 of New York City is president; and Irwin Littman '50, Brooklyn; Douglas J. Higgins '50, South Millbrook, and Marilyn D. Marple '49 of Great Neck are vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, respectively, of the Cornell Young Democrats. Young Republican Club president is Charles B. Forsyth, Jr. '50 of Webster, with Robert E. Shellenberger '50, Altoona, Pa., vice-president; Frederic H. Johnson, Grad, Ithaca, treasurer; and Nadene I. Evans '52, Brooklyn, secretary.

William J. Vanden Heuvel '50 of Rochester represented the Cornell chapter of Students for Democratic Action at a national convention in New York City. A Fabian Society has been organized by former members of the inactivated Student League for Industrial Democracy. Paul Robeson, Jr. '49 of Enfield, Conn., represented Cornell Young Progressives of America in a delegation sent to Washington in December to lobby for dismissal of indictments against twelve American Communist leaders.

Changes in Children

TWO more third-generation Cornellians who entered the University this year must be added to those listed in the December 1 ALUMNI NEWS, bringing the total to thirty-two.

Gretchen von Storch '52 is the daughter of Searle H. von Storch '23 and the former Helen Nichols '24 of Waverly, Pa., and granddaughter of Mrs. Walter C. Nichols (Mae Colegrove) '96.

Her inclusion and shifting of Margaret H. DeLong '51, daughter of Homer C. DeLong '21 and the former Florence Axtell '16, from the "One Cornell Parent" list brings to sixty-two the number of new students with both parents alumni and makes the total number of this year's alumni children 379.

Herbert H. Williams, Jr. '52, who was listed merely as the son of Herbert H. Williams '25, University Director of Admissions, is also the grandson of the late Herbert H. Williams '94.

In the "One Cornell Parent" list, Stephen R. Kaye was noted as the son of Mrs. John M. Keller (Marion Brooks) '23; Mrs. Keller is the mother of Joyce E. Keller '52.

Incorrect placing of a bracket made it appear that two children of Richard L. Pollock '31 had entered the University this year. One of these, Robert S., is actually the Freshman son of Frank C. Podboy '26, along with James A. Podboy '52, who was correctly listed. Podboy '26 writes: "My first impulse was to lay claim to my offspring, but on further consideration I think your arrangement is a good idea, providing you can get Mr.

Pollock to adopt him for the next four years, assuming, of course, all financial obligations. Since Robert is planning to study medicine, I might even be able to persuade his mother to extend the adoption period for an additional four years under the aforementioned terms!"

Additional names of alumni children who entered Cornell in 1948 are welcomed for the University records.

Debaters Win

CONTESTS with four Eastern Colleges leave experienced members of the Debate Association still undefeated. First Cornell victory, over Harvard December 3, was followed by others over Princeton, Brooklyn College, and Columbia. The debaters, chosen for each contest by competitions among themselves, include Alvin L. Arnold '49, Brooklyn; Edward H. Meyer '49, New York City; Lawrence Greenapple '50, Brooklyn; Eve L. Weinshenker '50, New York City; and William J. Vanden Heuvel '50, Rochester.

Novice debaters, who include Gerald P. Bellizzi '50, New York City; George M. Baroody '50, Geneva; Watson Parker '51, Hill City, S. D.; Robert K. Silva '51, Wailuku Mani, Hawaii; and Seymour I. Marcus '52, Trenton, N. J., lost their first debate to Rochester, but won against Hartwick Seminary. A contest with Hobart was a tie. Remaining schedule calls for debates with eleven Eastern colleges for the experienced group and three or four for the novices.

Law Seniors Sidney P. Howell, Jr. of Ridgewood, N. J., and Edward M. Horey of Cameron Mills represented Cornell in moot-court competitions in New York City. They were defeated by NYU in the opening round. Final winner was Brooklyn College.

University Treasurer Reports

TREASURER'S Report of the University for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1948, shows an operating surplus of $22,544.57 for the endowed Colleges. The accumulated deficit, however, stood at $675,584.69. This was caused by the previous year's operating deficit of $166,946.69 plus commitments and expenditures made during 1947-48 for extraordinary items. Some of the larger of these extraordinary appropriations made by the Trustees were for completing the Laboratory of Nuclear Studies and its equipment; for Savage Hall, the Administration Building, and temporary academic buildings; for Faculty and student housing; and for expenses of the Greater Cornell Committee.

Lewis H. Durland '30, reporting on his first year as Treasurer, points out that the University's total income of $22,817,024.49 and total expense of $22,748,303.55 both exceeded those of the previous year by more than $4,000,000. The endowed Colleges at Ithaca showed an operating surplus of $36,344.14 and the Medical College in New York had a deficit of $13,799.57. The State-supported Colleges operated within their income.

Gifts, both expendable and additions to endowment, are listed in the Report totalling $3,110,212.26, with the 1947-48 Alumni Fund amounting to $407,611.04 from 14,210 contributors. This is the largest amount from the most contributors in the history of the Fund.

The rate of return earned on the University's pooled investments last year was 3.98 per cent after deducting all direct investment expenses. If the rate had been computed as in former years, it would have been 4.35 per cent, which compares with 4.29 per cent for the year ended June 30, 1947. As usual, the Treasurer's Report lists in detail the University's investment portfolio of bonds, stocks, mortgages, and real estate. Total book value of investments June 30, 1948, was $42,886,779.91; market value $45,154,955.55.

$8,000,000 Business

Auxiliary enterprises under supervision of University Vice-president George F. Rogalsky '07 did a business last year of more than $3,200,000, with electricity, water, and heat for the endowed Colleges costing about $152,000, Residential and Dining Halls showing a deficit of more than $237,000, and the Purchasing Department and its related services a surplus of just over $15,000. Willard Straight Hall and the Johnny Parson Club showed an operating deficit of some $23,000 and the Athletic Division a deficit of $985. These, with surpluses of some $30,000 from Radio Station WHCU, nearly $15,000 from the Infirmary, and about $280 from University concerts, made a total business of these University-operated enterprises for the year of more than $5,000,000. Subsidiary corporations wholly owned by the University, the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, Comstock Publishing Co., and the Cornell Research Foundation, did additional business of just over $3,000,000 with net income for all three of $48,400.

The Report includes the summary reports of Hugh E. Weatherlow '06, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds; George S. Frank '11, Manager of Purchases; and Milton R. Shaw '34, Manager of Residential Halls. Alumni may obtain the Report from the University Treasurer, Administration Building, Ithaca.

Attend Inaugurations

REPRESENTING the University at the December 17 inauguration of Martin D. Jenkins as president of Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md., was Ezra B. Whitman '01, former University Trustee.

Cornell's official delegate at the installation of Harold L. Trigg as president of St. Augustine's College of Raleigh, N. C., January 14, was Wallace E. Caldwell '10, professor of history at the University of North Carolina.

Puerto Ricans Publish

PROGRAM of the Thanksgiving Day dinner of the Cornell-Pennsylvania Club of Puerto Rico lists 128 Cornellian members and 103 Pennsylvanians. Extensive advertising in the seventy-six pages paid for a wire and radio report of the game on Franklin Field and contributes to a scholarship fund the Club is building. Menu for the dinner lists "Fruit Cocktail Schoellkopf, Consommé Cornell, Stuffed Turkey Pennsylvania, Cranberry Jelly Franklin Field, Sweet Potatoes Football, String Beans Cayuga, Salad George Munger, Ice Cream Lefty James."

The booklet, in Spanish, includes suggested amendments to the Club by-laws; a report by the 1946-47 president, A. Rodriguez Geigel; a treasurer's report by Jaime Annexy '16; an historical sketch of the Cornell-Pennsylvania series by Jose M. Garcia '36, newly-elected president for 1948-49; an article by a Penn man mentioning a Puerto Rican, Esteban Fuertes, late Director of Sibley College, Dean William I. Myers '14, Agriculture, and the ideals of Ezra Cornell and Benjamin Franklin.

Mid-Hudson Club Meets

MID-HUDSON Cornell Women's Club held a tea at the home of Mrs. Nathan Reifler (Martha Gold) '31, November 27. Attended by seventy high school girls who are prospective Cornell students and twenty alumnae and undergraduates, the meeting featured talks by Isabel J. Peard, AM '46, personnel counselor from the Dean of Women's office, and three undergraduates: Arlene F. Whitman '49, Inez E. Wiggers '49, and Margaret E. Thompson '50, all of Poughkeepsie.

Binghamton Women Sew

TWELVE members of the Cornell Women's Club of Binghamton held a "sewing meeting" at the YWCA, November 18, and made thirty stuffed animals to give to children at the Susquehanna Valley Home for Thanksgiving.

Pauline J. Schmid '25, Assistant Alumni Secretary, spoke to forty at the annual luncheon of the Club at the Burlington Tea Room, December 4. Her topic was "Cornell Pioneering Still." She was introduced by the president, Nina A. Fenson '43.

Boston Tea Party

MEETING at the College Club, December 4, for their annual Christmas tea, eleven members of the Cornell Women's Club of Boston heard a talk by Sarah A. Beard '24, library consultant with children and young people for the Massachusetts Department of Education. Mrs. James B. Palmer (Martha Kinne) '24 presided.

Daniels Addresses Club

PUBLIC relations of the University were discussed by Whitman Daniels, assistant to the President, at the annual dinner of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall, December 6. The sixty guests included Mrs. Edmund E. Day, Mrs. Daniels, General Alumni Secretary Emmet J. Murphy '22, and the presidents of the Cornell Women's Clubs of Cayuga County, Florence G. Beck '21; of Syracuse, Hazel E. Reed '30; and of Cortland County, Mrs. Fred C. Briggs (Flora Mullin) '42. Mrs. Horace E. Shackelton (Alberta Dent) '20 presided.

Plantations Quarterly

AUTUMN issue of The Cornell Plantations has a surprising article, with picture, on "Fishing Cornell Plantation Waters" (some of them, on the Campus), by Professor Dwight A. Webster '40, Conservation. Professor Carl Crandall '12, Civil Engineering, describes and pictures "Watkins Glen State Park," as does Professor Walter King Stone, Architecture, Emeritus, some "Excursions and Field Days" of his youth on the farm. Rodney D. Day '06 contributes an intriguing account of "Nut Trees as a Hobby" on his one-and-a-half-acre plot at Haverford, Pa.

Book Lists Faculty

WORLD Biography, a new biographical dictionary in two volumes that gives brief histories of 40,000 living men and women in its 5,120 pages, includes many alumni and Faculty members. Among those listed are President Edmund E. Day; Provost Cornelis W. de Kiewiet; Professor Leonard S. Cottrell, Jr., Dean of Arts and Sciences and head of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology; Dean William I. Myers '14, Agriculture; Dean Robert S. Stevens, Law; Director Leonard A. Maynard, PhD '15, Nutrition; James B. Sumner, Director of the Laboratory of Enzyme Chemistry and co-winner of a Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 1946; Professor Otto Rahn, Bacteriology; Chairman Peter J. W. Debye, Chemistry; Professor Emile M. Chamot '91, Chemistry, Emeritus, one of the foremost exponents of microscopy; Professor Leslie N. Broughton, English, Emeritus; George E. G. Catlin, former professor of Government;

SCIENTISTS RECEIVE APPRECIATION AWARDS FOR WAR WORK

Army-Navy certificates for war work for National Defense Research Council were presented by Captain Charles W. Gray, USN, and Colonel Ralph Hospital, USA, heads of Cornell Navy and Army ROTC, at a ceremony in the Administration Building, with Provost Cornelis W. de Kiewiet presiding. Recipients (left to right) were Professors James L. Hoard, Chemistry, for work on crystalline materials; and Faith Fenton, Home Economics, for vitamin and palatability research for Army cooking; Dr. John W. Hirshfeld '30, for research at Wayne University; Professor Alfred T. Blomquist, Chemistry, explosives expert; and Martin A. Paul, chairman of chemistry at Triple Cities College, former research supervisor of NDRC explosives laboratory.

Professors Max L. W. Laistner, and Carl Stephenson, History; George J. Thompson and John W. MacDonald, Law; and Virgil Snyder, Grad '90-92, Mathematics, Emeritus.

Members of the Philosophy Department listed include Chairman Arthur E. Murphy, now on leave as visiting professor at the University of Washington, Seattle; and Professors G. Watts Cunningham, PhD '08, acting chairman, Max Black, and George H. Sabine '03, Emeritus. Physicists include Professors Robert S. Bacher, former director of the Laboratory of Nuclear Physics now on leave as technical member of the US Atomic Energy Commission; Carleton C. Murdock, PhD '19, Dean of the Faculty; and the late Ernest G. Merritt '86, Emeritus. Members of the College of Agriculture are Professors Clive M. McCay, Animal Nutrition; Julian E. Butterworth, Rural Education; Professor Walfred A. Anderson, PhD '29, Rural Sociology; and Frederick B. Hutt, Animal Genetics.

Rochester Speakers

LUNCHEON meeting of the Cornell Club of Rochester at the Powers Hotel, December 8, featured a talk by Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, Director of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, on the future of aviation.

Speaker at the December 15 luncheon was David S. Cook '24, sales promotion manager of Stromberg Carlson Co., who discussed television in Rochester.

Washington Internship

INTERNSHIP involving ten weeks summer work with the Bureau of National Affairs, Inc., of Washington, D. C., and a stipend of $400 has been established in the School of Industrial & Labor Relations. Chosen from the Junior Class on the basis of academic merit and interest in editorial research, each intern will work under the Bureau's associate editor in charge of labor publications. The Bureau, which is a private organization publishing legal and economic reports, will select each year's intern on recommendation of the Industrial & Labor Relations School Faculty.

"Arsenic and Old Lace"

LARGE audiences and an excellent Dramatic Club cast made the most of Joseph Kesselring's comedy-melodrama of the Brooklyn Brewsters, "Arsenic and Old Lace," at the University Theatre in Willard Straight Hall, December 2, 3, and 4. The hilarious thriller was enjoyed to the full.

Especially noteworthy were Thomas W. McCarthy '51 of Evanston, Ill., who seemed made-to-order for the demented brother, Teddy, with the T. Roosevelt complex; Sylvia Hirschhaut '49 of Buffalo as Aunt Martha; Charles T. Hubbs '51 of Warren, Pa., as the insane killer,

Jonathan; and the German Dr. Einstein, as portrayed by Abraham I. Schweid '50 of New York City. The difficult lead part of Mortimer Brewster, blasé dramatic critic, was sometimes overplayed the first night by John W. Darley, Jr. '49 of Kenilworth, Ill., as was the part of Aunt Abby by Zoe N. Baylies '50 of New York City. Direction was by Harold V. Gould and the excellent setting was directed by Louis V. Marsh, both graduate-student members of the University Theatre staff.

Now, in My Time!

ALL candidates for a degree are subject to the "residence requirement." It is not enough that they spend a prescribed period of time pursuing a specified course of study; at the end submit a thesis and withstand the assaults of the examiners. All this must be done within sound of the Bells on the implied assumption that at Ithaca much of what the University has to give is absorbed from the air that the student breathes and from intimate contacts and conversations with his fellows.

Residence, however, is not required of the staffs of instruction and administration. A large and increasing number of these now breakfast, dine, sleep, and purchase their groceries in communities more than five miles away from the Clock Tower and beyond hearing of the Changes. They boil out of the buildings in the dusk, jump into their cars, and are away in all directions to their rural homes in Mott's Corners, Rogue's Harbor, Enfield Center, Etna, and King's Ferry. Deans, vice-presidents, professors, and instructors are over the hill and gone now long before the Master of the Chimes concludes the day with the "Evening Song."

Old-timers sometimes wonder what social and academic values are involved with the growing practice of commuting. To what extent, if any, is the residence requirement also desirable for the teacher? What happens to the solidarity of the Gown when it is no longer possible for a professor to slang his colleague across the back fence or break up incipient fights among their respective small fry?

So far, your Alma Mater is keeping abreast of the changing conditions to the extent of creating another parking lot every time a group of Campus homes has to be destroyed to make room for Progress and Expansion; by doing an excellent job of snow removal and sanding the more precipitous slopes to provide traction for the tardy scholar roaring up from Odessa in the dawn to meet his class in Aesthetics 21; to speed his return the instant he's completed his Ithaca business for the day.

Time is not of the essence in this matter; the problem is one of pace. By straining at the wheel and taking advantage of every opportunity to pass an impeding Greyhound bus, the Sage Professor of Christian Ethics and Philosophy can doubtless drive from Miller's Corners to the Goldwin Smith Hall of the Humanities in less time than it took Morse-Stephens to stroll from Cascadilla Place to Morrill. But the point is that Morse-Stephens could stroll!

And there you have dimly suggested the nature of the small doubts that now incubate in the current thinking of Old-timers. Will the Campus ever be given back to strollers? Can culture, serenity, and a fine sense of proportion be first acquired and then imparted at 60 mph?

Morse-Stephens timed his saunter to the length of his cigar. The negligible butts that he flicked away on his arrival at the center door of Morrill never varied in the estimation of a hair. A group of curious students collected a dozen once, measured them by instruments of precision, and so reported. But the inner circle of the man's disciples knew that when Morse-Stephens interrupted his stroll to look about him, he was not timing his cigar to make it come out even, but was rather fashioning and polishing the concluding quip that a little later would drive the core of his lecture home and clinch it.

One did not take Modern European History in my time; he took Morse-Stephens and got the significance of the French Revolution as a by-product. He might also take Hiram Corson, Nathaniel Schmidt, and Billy Strunk, all of whom were noteworthy strollers. Commuting scholars, we suspect, are more apt to prepare their lectures on hurried Lucky Strikes, a diet less favorable to the slow development of concluding sentences.

There is merit in the "residence requirement." Perhaps we'll stroll again when it becomes possible for a professor to find a place to lay his head and rear his little flock of Campus Tigers within hearing of the Bells!

Team Tries Hard

VARSITY basketball team won four of its first eleven games of the season, through its defeat by Syracuse in Barton Hall, January 5. Since the Gettysburg game, reported in the last News, it won two of the four played in Ithaca and beat Michigan State in the first of five played on a Christmas recess trip. Scores after the Gettysburg game were:

Cornell 67, Buffalo 44
Cornell 57, Colgate 48
Niagara 54, Cornell 47
Yale 64, Cornell 57
Cornell 56, Michigan State 45
Illinois 71, Cornell 47
John Carroll 62, Cornell 60
Utah 52, Cornell 44
Canisius 57, Cornell 33
Syracuse 49, Cornell 44

Injuries, lack of height, and inability to shoot fouls seem to be the team's main handicaps. Captain Hillary Chollet '50 has been slow in recovering from the ankle sprain sustained in the football game with Army. Tom Turner '50, a veteran from last year's team, received a kidney injury in the Buffalo game that kept him out of action. Walt Ashbaugh '51, a regular in his first year on the Varsity, sprained his ankle before the Michigan State game, was out of two games, and off in those that followed.

Paul Lansaw '50 led the team in scoring with an average of 16 points a game. He set a Cornell record against John Carroll University in Cleveland when he scored 31 points. Other starters have included Dick Herson '50, Paul Gerwin '51, and Jack Rose '50.

Spectators in Ithaca saw two of the finest players in collegiate ranks today, Ernie Vandeweghe of Colgate and Tony Lavelli of Yale. Vanderweghe has the best average of any player in the country, over 26 points a game. Lavelli, who led Yale to win Cornell's first League game, was sensational with his over-the-head hook shots.

An average of 5,005 spectators attended the games in Barton Hall during December. That compares with 5,019 in December, 1947, and 4,349 for the corresponding month in 1946. A new high for December of 7,264 persons saw this year's game with Colgate.

Freshmen Do Well

The Freshman basketball team was undefeated in its first five games, beating the Junior Varsity, 53-42, and the first-year teams of Colgate, 48-40; Niagara, 55-46; and Cortland and Syracuse each 59-46. Regulars on the Freshman team have been James H. Stanley of Belmont Mass. (son of Former Professor William E. Stanley, Civil Engineering) John E. Werner of St

Albans, Fred J. Eydt of Binghamton, Larry W. Goldsborough of Philadelphia, Pa., Roger W. Chadwick of Leonia, N. J., and James C. Jerome of Bennington, Vt.

Junior-varsity, following its defeat by the Freshmen, lost to a General Electric Co. team from Syracuse, 41-47.

Polo Does Well

POLO team met its first defeat of eight games this season when it was beaten, 20-18, in the Riding Hall January 5 by an "alumni" team which included the coach, Dr. Stephen J. Roberts '37, and Dr. Arthur B. Christian '38. The game was a feature of the annual Conference of Veterinarians here.

Varsity riders won over Georgetown University, 14-5, in the Riding Hall, December 13, and beat Princeton, 22-12, December 4.

Track Season Opens

INDOOR track season opens January 15 with a dual meet with Dartmouth in Barton Hall. February 12, the team will meet Michigan in Ann Arbor; February 26 are the Intercollegiates in Madison Square Garden, New York City; March, the Heptagonal meet at the Garden in Boston, Mass.; and March 19 Yale comes to Ithaca.

A combined track team of Cornell and Princeton will meet an Oxford-Cambridge team June 11 at Princeton, N. J., in a resumption of the international meets that were interrupted by the war.

Wrestlers Win

WRESTLING team opened its season December 11, winning 21-9 over a strong Cortland Teachers College team in Barton Hall. Pete Bolanis '51 of Pittsburgh, Pa., Bob Hoagland '50 of Canisteo, and Dick Clark '50, the football tackle from Canastota, scored falls in the 128-pound, 155-pound, and heavy-weight classes respectively. Chuck Taft '50 of North Collins and Fred Reeve '49 of Aqueboque won decisions in the 165- and 175-pound classes. Earle Wilde '50 of Canastota, Captain Joe Calby '50 of Philadelphia, Pa., undefeated in dual meet competition during the last two seasons, and Jack Adams '49 of Deansboro lost decisions to their Cortland opponents in the 121-, 136-, and 145-pound classes, respectively.

Sports Shorts

Phi Kappa Sigma won the intramural touch football championship by defeating Zeta Beta Tau, 32-0. Seventy-eight teams competed. Phi Kap outweighed their opponents forty pounds to the man.

Lambda Chi Alpha won the interfraternity cross country race of two and a quarter miles, and a trophy this year, by vote of the managers, instead of the traditional turkey ("You don't eat up a cup!"). Individual winner of the 160 men competing was Donald C. Irving '52, whose Alpha Gamma Rho team took second place.

The Intramural Sports office directed by Swimming Coach G. Scott Little has 125 basketball teams playing two games a night six nights of the week on six courts in Barton Hall.

Captain Joe Quinn '49 played for the North in the first annual North-South Shrine benefit game in Miami, Fla., on Christmas Day. On New Year's Day, Bob Dean '49 and Jack Rogers '49 played in the annual East-West Shrine game in San Francisco, Cal. Dean's 2 points after touchdown brought about the East's 14-12 win.

Thirty-three Varsity football players were awarded the "C" for the 1948 season.

Dick Clark '50, Varsity left tackle, was selected by Associated Press sports writers for the AP all-Eastern team, with Captain Quinn on the second team and Chollet and Fleischmann given honorable mention. Quinn was placed on the AP all-American third team, and he and Clark on the "Ivy League" first team by vote of the writers.

Frank (Moose) Miller '51 of Atlanta, Ga., was the leading Cornell ground-gainer of the 1948 football season. He is credited with 602 yards, averaging 6.1 yards a try.

The Athletic Office reports total attendance of 109,914 at the five home football games this year. This compares with 92,813 persons at four home games in 1947. NYU game had 12,112; Harvard 20,043; Army 33,642; Colgate 17,031; Dartmouth 27,086.

Cornell tied with Princeton for second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound Football League, winning three games and losing two. Navy took the championship for the third consecutive year, with five wins and no defeats. Rutgers, Pennsylvania, and Villanova trailed in that order.

Richard C. Corwith '50, son of James C. Corwith '16 of Water Mill and captain-elect of the 150-pound football team, has been awarded the Francis Snively Trophy as the most valuable player on the 1948 lightweight squad. The Trophy was given by Sigma Alpha Epsilon in memory of Snively, standout of the 1947 team, who died last spring.

Hillary Chollet '50 of the football and basketball teams will head the annual March of Dimes campaign on the Campus. Chollet, a pre-medical student, was an orderly at the Ithaca Reconstruction Home last summer.

Cornell Varsity boar finished last behind Yale, Princeton, and Pennsylvania over a 2000-meter course on Lake Worth, Fla., December 31. The Junior Varsity won, with Princeton, Yale, and Pennsylvania finishing in that order.

Carl B. Johansen '49 of Oslo, Norway, is player-coach of the 1949 ski team. He succeeds William A. Dillon, Jr. who was coach last year.

Dick Savitt '50 and Len Steiner '51, number one and two on the 1948 championship tennis team, have been placed fifth and ninth in the 1948 rankings of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association. In the annual Sugar Bowl tennis championships during the holidays, Savitt was defeated in the first round by Ted Schroeder, who successfully defended the title he won last year.

Gordie Gardiner '50, Ridgewood, N. J., and Bud Schwenke '50, Marathon, have been elected co-captains of the 1949 soccer team.

Freshman soccer team at the end of its season elected as honorary co-captains for this year Joel White, son of E. B. White '21 of North Brooklyn, Maine, and Ronald E. Gebhardt of Clinton, N. J.

Attractive blue flannel sport coats with the "C" and "1948" and "Cornell University Athletic Ass'n." embroidered on the left breast pocket are gifts to members of this year's championship football and soccer teams. They are awarded now to athletes who win the "C" in two or more sports for two successive years, to individual championship winners, to members of championship teams in a recognized league or association, and for "outstanding performance of a team or individual which in the opinion of the athletic committee should be recognized." Previous winners were the members of the unbeaten Varsity swimming team of 1946, of the 1947 tennis team which won the Eastern Intercollegiate League championship, and of last year's Varsity ski team which led the western division of the Intercollegiate Ski Union.

Many Graduates Marry

MARRIAGE has claimed more of the 168 graduates of the College of Home Economics last June than any other occupation. Fifty-five of the Class of '48 were married before November 1, according to a recent statement by the College, with thirty-two of these taking up marriage as a full-time career. Next in size is the group of twenty-nine who have entered business in capacities ranging from secretarial and clerical to food testing and field work for textile and clothing companies. Almost as many have taken up teaching, most of them in public schools, and twenty-one are in institutional food service in hospitals, colleges, and industry. Other occupations include extension work, journalism, research, graduate study, personnel and library work. One graduate is an airline stewardess.

Letters

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

Bromfield in Overalls

TO THE EDITOR:

In your issue of November 15, page 175, in your news note on Louis Bromfield '18, you quote from an article by John Bainbridge which appeared in Life Magazine, October 11, that Mr. Bromfield "has never been seen wearing overalls."

I am enclosing a picture of Mr. Bromfield clipped from the New York Herald Tribune during the Forum, and if Mr. Bromfield isn't dressed in overalls, then he must be wearing a tuxedo.

Visitor's Observations

TO EMERSON HINCHLIFF:

A highlight of my recent Ithaca trip was attendance at Sage Chapel, Sunday morning. I was more than impressed by the capacity crowd and by the general way in which the congregation took part in the service. I gave my son a lecture about church attendance, and I hope he is taking my advice.

Another thing that caught my attention on the Campus is the fact that almost none of the boys was wearing Class numerals or Varsity letters. In our time, almost everyone who earned either award wore a cap bearing the insignia, and many wore sweaters with the same. Apparently, the wearing of letters and numerals is not being done. To me, this seems wrong; it hardly seems "showing off" to wear an honorable badge of achievement. Furthermore, the wearing of numerals and letters should tend to make the students conscious of their athletes and keep up interest in athletics, especially by those who could qualify for these awards but do not now go out for the teams.

Game Pays Off

ALUMNI FUND received a check for $45 from the Cornell Club of Milwaukee, Wis., as a result of the football victory over Dartmouth in November. Philip G. Kuehn '41, secretary of the Club, enclosed the check with a letter saying:

"This money is the result of a bet made on the day of the Cornell-Dartmouth football game between the Cornell gang and the Dartmouth gang when we had a joint meeting and heard the game via Western Union wire service. It was agreed before the game started that the proceeds of the bets would go to the winning team's school. Needless to say, our loyal Cornell crowd was confident of victory from the very start of the game, and then that fabulous fourth quarter confirmed our confidence in the Big Red.

"On behalf of the Cornell Club of Milwaukee, please express our hearty congratulations to Coach James for a splendid job and to the members of the squad for a hard-fought, well-played season."

Westchester Women

CORNELL Women's Club of Westchester County met December 2 at the home of Elizabeth J. Le Blond '45 in Larchmont. Twenty members heard a talk by Madame Y. Y. Tsu, wife of the Episcopal Bishop of China and sister of Mrs. Chi-Ting Kwei (Helen Huie) '20. Club president Mrs. Clyde L. Kern (Norvelle Curtis) '25 presided.

Applicants Start Early

ADMISSIONS Office mailed to about 3,000 secondary schools early in December a sheet for posting titled, "Admission to Cornell in 1949." It points out that all who apply for admission to the Colleges of Architecture, Arts and Sciences, or Engineering and the Department of Hotel Administration must take a scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board, as must those for Home Economics and the School of Industrial & Labor Relations who do not offer New York State Regents examination results for entrance.

"Those who intend to apply to Cornell should do so as soon as possible," the instruction continues. "Early application makes possible the gathering of supplementary data by March 1, when the selection process begins."

Director Herbert H. Williams '25 reports that at the New Year, about 14,000 application blanks had been sent to inquirers and about 4,000 had been returned, applying for admission next September.

Cornell Engineer

CORNELL Engineer for December contains a description by Professor Benjamin K. Hough, Civil Engineering, and pictures of new soil testing laboratories. These laboratories, moved from the basement of Lincoln Hall, have been newly-equipped in the former Navy barracks erected on the Forest Home road near Beebe Lake. Harold M. Sawyer '11, vice-president of American Gas & Electric Co., describes and pictures his company's "Test Project for 500,000 Volt Power Transmission." A diagram and two pages of pictures show the synchrotron in the Nuclear Studies Laboratory and how it operates.

Intelligence

By Emerson Hinchliff '14

In my last column, I discussed some aspects of the Graduate School and mentioned the question of graduate assistants or instructors as opposed to straight undistracted graduate study. Rather frequently I hear criticism of having so much of the underclass teaching done by young graduate students. Some say that students get better pedagogy in their last year at secondary school than in the first year of college. That is probably true of Freshmen from the best preparatory and high schools. High school subject matter is relatively simple, the emphasis is on facts rather than on developing judgment, teachers are selected exclusively for teaching (not research) ability, and the secondary schools probably concentrate their best teachers in the last two years, just as do the colleges.

Nevertheless, I want to speak up for the graduate instructor, though with the reservation that the department head should keep his eyes open and his ears to the ground and bounce promptly any who turn out to be poor teachers. I saw, when I was teaching, an occasional grad student who was lackadaisical about his classroom work and I remember one brilliant young fellow who was rather frequently unable even to meet his classes because of "morning-after" complaint. Contrariwise, I remember most of them as keen, spirited, able, interested young men, learning from their work and each other, getting guidance and inspiration from the professors, and handling their classes well.

A distinguished scholar and professor recently told me that he did his best teaching during the first couple of years he was at it. He said he taught a few things that weren't so, but he doesn't think it did the students permanent harm; he is sure that he was at his peak in vigor and enthusiasm, sufficiently to make up for an occasional gap in his knowledge. One valid point he made is that a young instructor is close enough in age to undergraduates so that he can understand their questions. An older hand, steeped in his subject and interested in the niceties thereof, is likely to read too much into a simple query; thinking that any dumbbell should know the elementary point brought up, he is likely to launch into an abstruse discussion quite over the inquirer's head. The older man can keep touch if he disciplines himself, but it is easy to get lost.

But it's rather an academic question, anyway. If all colleges wanted to hire nothing but experienced seasoned staff, where would they find them in these days of enormously increased enrollments? And how could they pay them? A university just has to use graduate-student "slave labor," as it is sometimes jocosely called. The young man makes enough to help out and he also learns a lot himself; I can testify that you never really know a subject until you have tried to teach it to others.

I still agree with Dean Cunningham that it is a pity that we do not have more full-time graduate students. I would settle for having the final year of the work for the PhD free from teaching interruption. It would be still more pleasant if both the first and the last years were thus unencumbered, with a couple in the middle sharpened by work with undergraduates. Bring on those fellowships the Dean craves!

Massachusetts Meets

DINNER meeting of the Cornell Club of Western Massachusetts, November 22 at the Hotel Highland, Springfield, was attended by thirty-five who saw color movies of the Campus and heard a talk by R. Selden Brewer '40, Alumni Field Secretary. Election of Club officers made Richard R. Nickerson '43, president; John L. Dickinson '21, vice-president; and Paul F. Beaver '24, secretary-treasurer.

Syracuse Elects

CORNELL Club of Syracuse entertained thirty-five undergraduates and thirty high school seniors at a December 23 luncheon enjoyed by more than 200. Highlight was a football movie with commentary by Head Coach George K. James and Assistant Coach Alva E. Kelley '41.

At a business meeting before the luncheon, W. Dean Wallace '40 was elected president of the Club for 1949 and Henry A. Orrick '39 and Philip B. Scott '38 were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Seattle Starts Anew

REJUVENATED Cornell Club of Western Washington, attracting alumni from Seattle, Tacoma, and other regions of the State, arranged direct wires and a grid-graph for the Dartmouth and Pennsylvania football games. Twenty-five attended the first event, at the University Club in Seattle, and forty cheered the Thanksgiving Day victory at a breakfast in the Ranier Club.

Still more came for an organization dinner, December 8, at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, arranged by Lynn P. Himmelman '33, general manager. By-laws were adopted and officers elected: Norbert O. Fratt '27, president; Arthur W. O'Shea '29, vice-president; Thomas D. Kelley '31, secretary; and Francis G. Frink, Jr. '30, treasurer.

All Cornell men in the State are invited to join the Club.

Curtiss '38 Speaks to Club

CHRISTMAS recess luncheon of the Cornell Club of Southern Ohio took sixty alumni and undergraduates to the University Club in Cincinnati, December 29. Introduced by President John J. Luhrman '35, Professor W. David Curtiss '38, Law, brought a message from the Campus. Robert O. Klausmeyer '38, vice-president of the Club, was chairman of arrangements.

Pittsburgh Party

UNDERGRADUATES' Christmas luncheon of the Cornell Club of Pittsburgh, Pa., December 30, at the Hotel Henry, was attended by 140 members and guests, the largest gathering in the history of this annual event. Assistant Football Coach Alva E. Kelley '41 showed football movies of the 1948 season and discussed prospects for 1949. Club President Paul S. Hardy '16 presided.

Bergen County Hosts

SEASON'S first general meeting of the Cornell Club of Bergen County, N. J., brought 100 high school juniors and seniors to hear R. Selden Brewer '40, Alumni Field Secretary, and Alva E. Kelley '41, assistant football coach, with movies, at the Englewood Field Club, December 3. Singing was led by Robert W. Eisenbrown '16. H. Victor Grohmann '28 presided.

California Celebrates

CORNELL Club of Northern California met with the Pennsylvania alumni club for a pre-Thanksgiving dinner at the Marine Club in San Francisco, November 23. The evening included songs and cheers of both universities and remarks by William C. Collyer '15, right halfback of Cornell teams that defeated Pennsylvania on two successive seasons, and Harry Braddock, Pennsylvania '10, former all-American end. William B. Kuder '33, former Army colonel, told of his experiences in the trials of Japanese war criminals. This second annual Thanksgiving get-together of the two clubs was attended by sixty-three.

An earlier Marine Club gathering drew seventy members of the Cornell and Dartmouth clubs to hear a broadcast of the Dartmouth game, reconstructed from teletype reports from Ithaca, November 13. Presiding over Cornell's delegations to both meetings was Lewis R. Hart '16.

Thirty Years Ago

January, 1919—Cornell is a beneficiary in the estate of the late Willard D. Straight '01, in what way or to what extent it is difficult to say. The will offered for probate at Mineola, L. I., December 17, bequeaths most of the estate, estimated at half a million dollars, to the widow, Mrs. Dorothy Whitney Straight. The clause referring to Cornell directs Mrs. Straight "to do such thing or things for Cornell University as she may think most fitting and useful to make the same a more human place."

January, 1929—A new home for the Cornell Law School is made possible by a gift of $1,500,000 from Myron C. Taylor '94 of New York, Trustee of the University and chairman of the finance committee of the US Steel Corp. The building will be known as Myron Taylor Hall. Preliminary plans have been prepared by F. Ellis Jackson '00 of Providence, R. I. The building will be erected at the south end of the Campus, overlooking Cayuga Lake and the City of Ithaca.

Crew Alumni Meet

FIFTY former crew men and others interested in rowing attended a meeting of the Cornell Crew Alumni Association at the Cornell Club of New York, December 10. "Rusty" Callow, Pennsylvania rowing coach, was guest of honor and the principal speaker. A constitution of the Association, which first met in April, 1947, was adopted and it was agreed that Cornell Clubs throughout the country would be asked to foster regional Crew Alumni Associations, open to all former oarsmen and other alumni interested in promoting rowing. Fred H. Guterman '42 is temporary president and Donald E. Kastner '43, secretary, with elections to be held at the annual meeting in April.

Tokyo Alumni Meet

GATHERING of Cornellians in Tokyo December 15 at the newly-completed home of Tokisuke Yokogawa '21 is reported by Morgan Sibbett '34. Including alumni, friends, and relatives, forty-five attended the party highlighted by songs, games, and food procured from a highly confidential source. Present were Tetsushiro Nakamigawa '14, Paul T.

Tono '21, Tokisuke Yokogawa '21, Walter D. Popham '22, Gumpei Matsuda '23, Seikichi Ushioda '23, Kobe Shimizu '24, Kakumaro Jemmotsu '28, Takayoshi Yoda '29, Gwladys F. Hughes, AM '30, Keiji Akabane '31, Shigeo Hirata '31, Roger H. Mitsui '39, Otto Marquart '41, Lt. (jg) John J. Houlihan '43, Shigeo Kondo '43, Capt. Philip G. Beal '44, Hossein Motavalli '46, Margaret T. Chadwick '51, and Professor Ernest V. Staker, formerly Agronomy.

Three Japanese alumni reported to have died during the war are Masao Nakatsukasa '27, Takanobu Ajiki '31, and Yozo Fujii '34.

At Theatre Conference

HONORED at a reception during the annual convention of the American Educational Theatre Association in Washington, D. C., December 28-30, was Professor Alex M. Drummond, Director of the University Theatre. Assistant Director H. Darkes Albright, PhD '36, 1948 president of the AETA, gave two addresses at the conference, and Professor Walter H. Stainton '19, Executive Director, was chairman of a section on "recent technical developments" of which William A. Jewett, Jr., teaching fellow in Speech and Drama, was secretary.

Other Cornellians at the convention were Barnard W. Hewett '28, University of Illinois; Richard H. Lipscomb '42, Texas; Richard Moody, PhD '42, Indiana; Walden Boyle, PhD '43, UCLA; David W. Thompson, PhD '47, Minnesota; and Alan L. Schneider '41, representing Theatre, Inc.

COACH LINES UP ALUMNI FOR "SIGNAL PRACTICE"

After a Cornell Club dinner in the University Club of Hartford, Conn., December 15, Coach George K. James "calls the signals" as quarterback for Walter P. Knauss '21, Robert P. Butler '05, and Max M. Savitt '26 in the backfield and Marshall P. Hoke '38 at center.

Your Help Requested

NEXT April marks the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the ALUMNI NEWS, first issue of which appeared April 6, 1899. For the NEWS of April 1, 1949, which is being planned as a special Golden Anniversary Issue, we ask the help of our subscribers in two particulars.

We should like to receive pictures of the University taken during the fifty years, from which to select typical illustrations of the Campus at various stages of its development since 1899. Some of you may have such pictures among your mementoes of your student days, which you will loan for reproduction. If you will send them to the NEWS, they will be carefully handled and returned to you after we have made our selection. For satisfactory reproduction, we need original photographic prints (not halftone reproductions), preferably on glossy paper, five by eight inches or larger, clearly printed in black and white. Prints should be marked with owner's name and address to assure return, and labeled if possible with the date and subject.

Our second request is to find the persons who have been the longest continuous subscribers to the ALUMNI NEWS. If some of our elder present readers have been subscribers since the first issue, in April, 1899, or continuously for many years, won't you tell us who you are and when your subscription started, for suitable recognition in our Golden Anniversary number?

The NEWS has always been peculiarly the publication of and for its Cornell alumni readers. We invite you thus to share in making this forthcoming Golden Anniversary Issue of special interest and value to all Cornellians.

One Issue in February

MID-YEAR examinations and brief holiday for Junior Week before the spring term begins again interrupt our semi-monthly publishing schedule. The next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS will be mailed February 14. Thereafter, we shall resume our schedule of two issues a month, beginning March 1.

On The Campus and Down the Hill

Birthday of Ezra Cornell, January 11, was commemorated by the Sage Chapel Choir singing the Brahms anthem, "How Lovely is Thine Own Dwelling Place," in memory of the Founder at the Sage Chapel services January 9. That afternoon, Radio Station WHCU broadcast a dramatization of Ezra Cornell's life.

Seven-thousandth veteran advised by the Campus Veterans Administration Guidance Center was Erick C. Weber '52 of Winnipeg, Can. He was given a Cornell Engagement Calendar in a commemorative ceremony, December 9.

Poultry judges coached by Professor Goldan O. Hall, PhD '26, won first prize in an Eastern intercollegiate judging contest at Rutgers, November 27. Winning team consisted of three Seniors, Gordon D. Rapp of Forest Hills, who was high individual scorer; Robert R. Place, Sacketts Harbor, third place; and Richard P. Glor of Buffalo, fourth.

Christmas poem, "Greetings, Friends!" by Frank Sullivan '14 in the December 25 New Yorker carries his felicitations to more than 100 major and minor celebrities. Among those named are University Secretary Raymond F. Howes '24, Charles H. Shuff '36, Edward J. Weeks '36, Louis J. Daukas '44, Hillary A. Chollet '50; Michael R. Hanna, manager of University Radio Stations WHCU and WHCU-FM; and Football Coach George K. James.

Farm and Home Week in the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics will be March 21-25 this year, just before spring recess.

Radio Telescope described in the November 1 ALUMNI NEWS is pictured in color on the February cover of the McGraw Hill magazine, Electronics. Director Charles R. Burrows, Electrical Engineering, writes on "Radio Astronomy" in the same issue. A four-page illustrated article, "Radio Telescope Creates New Science," by Volta Torrey, appears in Popular Science for December.

Cornell Countryman in its December issue signalizes its forty-fifth anniversary with a resumé of the publication's history by Associate Editor Frederick L. Trump '49 of Westfield. Vol. 1 No. 1 appeared in December, 1903, with the late George F. Warren '03 as editor, and the magazine has been published regularly ever since by students in the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics. Last year, and for three of the last four years, The Countryman has won first award for general excellence of Agricultural College Magazines, Associated.

Election of Law School Association officers makes John C. Osborn '50 of Ithaca president for 1949. Charles R. Simpson '50 of Bakersville, Cal., is vice-president and William M. Donnelly '48 of Owego, secretary-treasurer.

Fencing Club elected Stuart M. Paltrow '49, son of R. Harold Paltrow '25 of Bay-side, president for the year. Other officers elected were James J. Jackson III '49 of Woodbury, N. J., vice-president; and James A. Chase '49 of New York City, secretary-treasurer. The Club participated in a sports program at the Veteran's Hospital in Bath, November 18.

Psi Chi, newly instituted as a chapter of the national psychology honor society, has elected as president, Carl N. Zimet '49 of New York City; vice-president, Wayne E. Brougham '49 of Elmira; and treasurer, Albert J. Kuehn '49, South Orange, N. J.

Graduate Student Board, created to help solve student problems, elected Robert H. McCambridge, Grad, of Pawtucket, R. I., president. Vice-president is Don Benton '49 of Philadelphia, Pa.

Approval of five new student groups has been given by the Faculty committee on student activities: the Agronomy Graduate Society, American Veterans Committee, Students for Thomas, West Essex Club of New Jersey, and Young Democratic Club. Students for Wallace have changed their name to Young Progressives of America.

HOLIDAY travel and unfinished term papers competed for attention as the old year waned. December 18 week end saw a mass exodus from Ithaca aided by Lehigh Valley's Diesel-powered "Cornell Special," three extra Robinson Airlines flights, nine busses chartered by the Independent Council whose lavish Christmas preparations included distribution of free cigarettes, candy, and song sheets to enhance the holiday spirit. Others left by car and some hitchhiked. Returning to a snow-blanketed Campus after New Years Day, students were faced with only three weeks in which to prepare for mid-year examinations and Junior Week.

Navy Department is building a $250,000 training center near Stewart Park on land given by the city, for the Ithaca Naval Reserve unit commanded by Lieutenant Commander Loren W. Schoel, USNR, assistant Varsity rowing coach. Commander Leonard Miscall '19, USNR, is resident engineer for the Navy Department.

College of Home Economics received first prize and a $25 award for its scrapbook of newspaper and magazine clippings about the College exhibited at the American College Public Relations Association convention in Denver, Col. Professor Mary Phillips, College editor, directs its publicity. She is the wife of Professor E. Franklin Phillips, Entomology, Emeritus.

Science weekly reprints in its December 17 issue the address "The Atomic Nucleus, a New World to Conquer" delivered by Professor Isidor I. Rabi '19 at the dedication of the Laboratory of Nuclear Physics.

Legis Hall, new residence for Law students, is the former Cascadilla School dormitory at 114 Summit Avenue. The building has been taken over by a private group including Professor Harrop A. Freeman '30, Law.

Cornell Review, student literary quarterly, brought out its winter issue, January 6. This sixth issue of the magazine which was first published in March, 1947, contains forty-four pages, nine short stories, and five poems. Editor is Louise A. Spitzer '49, daughter of Mrs. Ester Pfeffer Spitzer '24 of New York City. The Review prints 1,000 copies.

Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical engineering society, installed a chapter at Cornell in November. Warren R. Higgins '49 of Winter Park, Fla., is the first president of the chapter which has thirty student members and Director W. Julian King and Professors Andrew S. Schultz, Jr. '36 and Edwin B. Watson, MS in Eng '43, as honorary members.

"The Egg and Dye," a film on the crash-safety experiments of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, was shown to the Cornell Pilot's Club by Professor Edward R. Dye, director of the experiments in which eggs and liquid-filled dummy heads are thrown against barriers to simulate crash effects on the human skull. Former members of any Cornell flying society are invited to correspond with Robert J. Gottlieb '49 of the Pilot's Club, 123 Heights Court, Ithaca.

The Faculty

University Trustee Myron C. Taylor '94, the President's personal representative to the Vatican, was awarded the Medal of Merit December 20, at a special White House ceremony. In making the presentation, President Truman praised Taylor's "brilliant career" both in industry and diplomacy, saying he has "earned the accolade of his countrymen." Taylor was also recently awarded the fifty-year Masonic Service Medal for outstanding service to his lodge.

Tribute to University Trustee Frank E. Gannett '98, publisher of the Gannett Newspapers, was paid by Hotel Hamilton in Utica through the medium of a large ad in the Utica Observer-Dispatch. Headed "A Prayer for a Great Man" and signed "The Youth of America," the copy read: "Somewhere in the sunshine of Florida, a great man is regaining his health. This distinguished American rates with Jane Addams, General William Booth, Father Flanagan, and the many others who knew and understood youth. To visit the fairyland he has established in your State in the City of Rochester would make the hardest of all hearts melt. Here, youth gathers in clean fun . . . here, America meets. . . . To Frank E. Gannett, founder of the Gannett Youth Club, our prayers . . ."

Transformation of the American Embassy in Poland by Former US Ambassador Stanton Griffis '10, University Trustee, was described by Jack Iams in an article, "Whirlwind in Warsaw," in This Week section of the December 3 New York Herald Tribune. "The physical advantages which the embassy enjoys are almost entirely, though sometimes grudgingly, credited to Griffis and his high-pressure businessman's methods which, though he departed last July, still hover legendarily about the place," wrote Iams. "His whirlwind arrival in July, 1947, brought a change not only in the material setup but also in diplomatic punctilio." Waldemar J. Gallman '21 succeeded Griffis as US Ambassador to Poland.

Theodore P. Wright, Vice-president of the University in charge of research and president of the Cornell Research Foundation and of the Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, has been appointed a member for five years of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics by President Truman. He has been serving out the unexpired term of the late Orville Wright.

Professor Arthur A. Allen '08, Ornithology, has an article in the December National Geographic Magazine about the successful expedition he led in Alaska last summer in search of the nest of the Bristle-thighed Curlew. Entitled "The Curlew's Secret," the article is illustrated with photographs by the author and his son, David G. Allen '49. Professor Allen wrote and illustrated with photographs, "Sea Bird Cities Off Audubon's Labrador," in the June issue of the Geographic. An article about him appeared in the December 18 issue of the Toronto Sunday Star, entitled "He Puts Bird Songs on Wax."

Statement made by Counsellor of Foreign Students Donald C. Kerr '12 before a US Senate committee investigating the immigration laws is summarized by him in the December 1 News Bulletin of the Institute of International Education. Kerr is chairman of the Institute's committee on immigration. Donald J. Shank, executive vice-president and secretary of the Institute, formerly professor of Industrial and Labor Relations, writes an editorial, "Students Show the Way," in the same issue.

The People's Colleges: A History of the New York State Extension Service in Cornell University and the State, 1876-1948, by Professor Ruby Green Smith, PhD '14, Home Economics, Emeritus, will be published in February or March by the Cornell University Press. Probable price of the 500-page, extensively-illustrated volume is $5.00.

Professor George N. Papanicolaou, Clinical Anatomy, Medical College in New York, was one of six scientists to share $21,000 in prize money awarded December 8 by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences for research in disorders of the human organs. He was cited for his work on hormones and their relation to cancer.

The December issue of Notes, issued by the music division of the Library of Congress, is dedicated to Professor Otto Kinkeldey, Musicology, Emeritus.

A heretofore unpublished and unknown short story by Herman Melville was discovered by Professor F. Barron Freeman, English, while editing manuscripts of Melville's last novel, Billy Budd, Foretopman, for publication. The literary find, "Baby Budd, Sailor," together with the complete text of the novel and an analysis of Melville's writings have been published by Harvard University Press in a volume entitled Melville's Billy Budd.

Rabbi Morris Goldfarb has come to the University as a member of the CU-RW staff and director of B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation. Rabbi Maurice Schatz, director of the Foundation since 1945, has returned as counsellor of Jewish students to Queens College, New York City. Rabbi Goldfarb, who was counsellor to Jewish students at Lehigh University and Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa., received the BS in Ed at Columbia in 1937 and was ordained at the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York in 1944.

Commemorating his golden jubilee as a Christian pastor, the Rev. Samuel Trexler, first president of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and first Lutheran student pastor at the University, December 6 gave $10,000 to found within the Church a fellowship to enable an outstanding student each year to travel and study at universities in other countries.

First honorary president of the National Theatre Conference is Professor Alex M. Drummond, Speech and Drama, Director of the University Theatre. The position was created at the annual meeting of the Conference in New York City in November.

Professor Howard B. Adelmann '20, chairman of Zoology, has been elected a member of the Institute International d'Embryologie, whose membership is limited to seventy-five eminent embryologists; about one-third are Americans.

Professor Hans A. Bethe, Physics, is the author of the article on "Neutron" in the current revised printing of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Professor Robert C. Bald, English, has been appointed to the advisory committee of the Folger Library in Washington, D. C.

David Pratt, sixteen-year-old son of Professor Arthur J. Pratt '25, Vegetable Crops, and Mrs. Pratt (Terrace Morgan) '32, won a national marketing contest sponsored by the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association. His prize was a $500 scholarship given by the A&P Food Stores. Pratt raised $1,235 worth of vegetables for a profit of $652 on less than two acres of land.

David Marcham, son of Professor Frederick G. Marcham, PhD '26, History, won first prize of $50 in a recent essay contest sponsored by The Ithaca Journal. Contestants wrote on "Should the School Day in Ithaca High School Be Lengthened in Order to Eliminate Home Study?"

Scale developed by Professor Walfred A. Anderson, PhD '29, Rural Sociology, for studying the values in rural living will be used in a research program in England and Wales. A survey of the position and needs of young farmers in relation to the new Education Act of England will be carried on by the National Federation of Young Farmers' Clubs and the Research Institute of Agricultural Economics at Oxford University.

An international loan of two tons of scientifically-precious rock which may help to solve the classic riddle of the origin of the Pacific's thousands of tiny atolls was brought about through the efforts of Professor John W. Wells, PhD '33, Geology. Preparing to visit London last year as a delegate to the International Geological Congress there, Professor Wells volunteered to approach the British Museum. The British were anxious to cooperate, he reported, but Parliamentary regulations on museum loans prevented an unrestricted loan. Finally the US Government undertook to guarantee the safety of the rock specimens and an agreement was reached. Brought to the United States in November by a US Naval vessel, the material now is deposited in the National Museum in Washington, D. C. Before coming to the University last year, Professor Wells worked for the US Geological Survey on Bikini Atoll, studying the effects of the atom bomb.

Associate Director of CURW Edward D. Eddy, Jr. '44 will leave the University next summer to become assistant to Arthur S. Adams, former Cornell University Provost and now president of the University of New Hampshire. After taking the AB here in February, 1944, Eddy studied for two years at Yale Divinity School, where he received the BD, and was ordained as a minister in June, 1946. He returned to Cornell as associate director and non-denominational minister in charge of Campus activities of CURW that summer. He was editor of the Sun and president of the Student Council; is a member of Sigma Phi and the Sun board of directors. He is the son of Professor Martha H. Eddy, Home Economics; brother of David H. Eddy '36 and Mrs. McCarthy Hanger, Jr. (Marjorie Eddy) '40. Recently his engagement to Mary A. Schurman '51, daughter of Judge Jacob G. Schurman '17, Alumni Trustee, was announced.

Professor Carl A. Binger, Clinical Psychiatry at the Medical College, was a technical adviser for the motion picture, "The Snake Pit."

Mrs. Helen Humphrey, Helen Hope of the fashion world, has come to University Station WHCU as fashion editor. She is the wife of Thomas R. Humphrey, audio facilities supervisor for Rural Radio Network.

A son, Duane Howard Andrus, was born September 4 to Howard G. Andrus, MS in Ed '47, Director of the Educational Placement Bureau, and Mrs. Andrus.

Geologists Gather

FORTY-SEVEN alumni and members of the Geology Department attended a Cornell breakfast during the annual meeting of the Geological Society of America at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City in November. The roll-call showed Monroe G. Cheney '16 from Texas; Ernest G. Robinson '20, Louisiana; Stephen M. Herrick '27, Georgia; and Kenneth E. Caster '29 and Mrs. Caster (Analiene Schloh) '31, who had just returned to the University of Cincinnati from four years in Brazil and South America.

Professors Alfred L. Anderson and John W. Wells, PhD '33, read papers at this sixtieth anniversary meeting of the Geological Society of America, which was founded at Cornell in 1888.

Washington Luncheon

LUNCHEON of the Cornell Club of Washington, D. C., at the Colonial Hotel, December 29, entertained seventeen undergraduates among the forty members and guests present. Speaker was Sao-ke Alfred Sze '01, former Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

Gilmour Dobie Dies

GILMOUR DOBIE, head football coach at the University from 1920-36, whose spectacularly victorious teams in his thirty-three years of coaching made football history, died in Hartford, Conn., December 24, 1948. He was sixty-nine.

Dobie's sixteen Cornell teams won 82 games, tied 7, and lost 36. They scored 3,274 points in the 125 games to 1,159 for their opponents. The teams of 1921, 1922, and 1923 were undefeated and untied. In 1902, he was assistant coach at Minnesota, his alma mater, and in 1906-7 he was athletic director and coach of all sports at North Dakota Agricultural College, where the football teams were undefeated. During nine seasons as football coach at the University of Washington, to 1916, his teams likewise did not lose a game, and in 1918 he took charge of football at the US Naval Academy, where his team beat Army for the first time in five years. After leaving Cornell, Dobie coached for three seasons at Boston College. A past-president and charter member of the Football Coaches' Association, he was awarded last January the Association's Alonzo A. Stagg Award for distinguished contributions to football.

Coach Dobie was buried in Lakeview Cemetery in Ithaca, beside Mrs. Dobie, who died in 1927. Bearers were Director of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34; Captain Charles W. Gray, USN, Commandant of the NROTC; his former players Edward V. Gouinlock '23, George R. Pfann '24, and Floyd D. Ramsey '24; and Ray T. Hunt, former assistant football coach here. Honorary bearers included Romeyn Berry '04, former Graduate Manager of Athletics; Foster M. Coffin '12, Director of Willard Straight Hall; General Alumni Secretary Emmet J. Murphy '22 and Ray S. Ashbery '25, both football managers under Dobie; and Bartholomew J. Viviano '33, who also played for him.

His son, J. Gilmour Dobie, Jr., and daughter, Mary L. Dobie, live in New York City; Jane Dobie, in Trenton, N. J.

Club Hears Secretary

MEETING at the home of Mrs. Frank C. Heath, Jr. (Constance Allen) '39, November 16, twenty-six members of the Cornell Women's Club of Cleveland, Ohio, were addressed by Pauline J. Schmid '25, Assistant Alumni Secretary. Mrs. Heath and the Club president, Mrs. Kent L. Brown (Elizabeth Myers) '37, had visited four Cleveland high schools with Miss Schmid that day.

Coach O'Connell '11 Dies

WALTER C. O'CONNELL '11, head coach of wrestling and second oldest coach at the University in point of service, died at his home at 115 Mitchell Street, December 31, 1948. He had been in ill health for about two years and in December, 1947, suffered a stroke.

O'Connell was a coach that never wrestled in team competition. He took up the sport as a boy to build up his health. A railroad clerk threatened with tuberculosis, he was persuaded in 1907 by his brother, Edward J. O'Connell '11, who was resigning as wrestling coach at Yale to become wrestling coach at Cornell, to succeed him at Yale. The following year he succeeded his brother at Cornell, and attended the Law School three years.

O'Connell's wrestlers won many team and individual championships. Their record of winning six successive intercollegiate championships has never been surpassed. As one of the outstanding wrestling coaches of the country, the American Wrestling Coaches' Association selected him last year for its first annual award to the coach who has served American amateur wrestling with distinction for at least twenty-five years. Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan commended him last May for the part he played in preparing Naval trainees here during the war. The American Red Cross presented him with a medal and certificate of honor two years ago for his life-saving instruction and the fact that no accidents occurred on Beebe Lake during the twenty years he supervised swimming there.

Mrs. O'Connell survives, with three daughters, Mrs. Frank Willis (Mary Ann O'Connell) '46, Kathleen M. O'Connell '48, and Eileen A. O'Connell '49, and a son, Walter C. O'Connell, Jr. '51.

News of the Alumni

Personal items and newspaper clippings about Cornellians are earnestly solicited

'93—Wellyn B. Clark of 2535 Hawthorne Terrace, Berkeley, Cal., retired from the Berkeley public schools ten years ago after forty years of service, most of which was spent in administrative work. He has two daughters; one is married to a Yale professor and the other is with UNRRA in Washington, D. C.

'93 ME—Guido H. Marx, who lives with his daughter and son-in-law at 356 Lincoln Avenue, Palo Alto, Cal., recently achieved "the proud distinction of great-grandfatherhood." Marx has spent nearly all of the years since graduation in California, teaching mechanical engineering at Stanford University. He retired in 1936, but on two occasions since was called back to teach. Mrs. Marx (Gertrude Van Dusen) '84 died in 1945.

'93—Dr. Frederick F. Strong of 6129 Fountain Avenue, Hollywood, Cal., has been in Hollywood since 1918 and is still practicing as a cardiologist.

'94 AB—Mrs. Harriet Connor Brown, author of Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years, a book about pioneer life in Iowa and The Atlantic Monthly's prize biography in 1929, was elected recently to membership in the State Historical Society of Iowa. With her husband, Herbert D. Brown, formerly chief of the US Bureau of Efficiency, she now lives in the country at Glenora-on-Lake Seneca, nine miles north of Watkins Glen. She is working on a sequel to her story of Grandmother Brown called The Education of a Hawkeye, which is an account of her own experiences in the schools of Iowa. This summer she spent several weeks in Iowa City.

'99—Plans are being made for the Fifty-year Reunion of the Class of '99 this spring. Any suggestion sent to Max Upson at 140 Cedar Street, New York City, will be welcome. The annual letter will soon be sent out to all members of the Class, and from then on wires will be kept hot to insure a 99% attendance. The dates are June 17 and 18. Tar Young is secretary of the Reunion committee and his address is Ithaca.

'00 LLB—At a meeting of the US Olympic Association in New York City December 5, John T. McGovern, master of ceremonies at the 1948 London Olympic Games, was by adopted amendment to the Association's constitution, made a life member of the executive committee of the US Olympic Committee. His term on the board as a representative of boys organizations was soon to expire. There are only four other life members.

'01 ME—Francis W. Mastin is manager of the district office of the Social Security Administration at 202 Post Office Building, Passaic, N. J.

'02 ME—Reginald Trautschold is an engineering consultant and his address is 273 Grant Avenue, Nutley, N. J.

'06 AB—President Truman November 23 named Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of his Economic Advisory Council, to work out an anti-inflation program for presentation to Congress early this year.

'07 AB—R. Warren Sailor, secretary and sales manager of the Cayuga Press, Ithaca, and former editor-in-chief of the ALUMNI NEWS, was a speaker at the Downtown Athletic Club in New York City, December 7, at the dinner for Doak Walker, Southern Methodist University quarterback, 1949 recipient of the Heisman Memorial Trophy. Also on the dais were Charles A. Taussig '02, secretary of the Touchdown Club, and H. C. Ballou '20.

'09 AB—Bessie C. Stern has just retired after about twenty-seven years as chief of the Bureau of Measurements and Statistics, Maryland State Board of Education, Baltimore, Md. She lives at 4013 Maine Avenue, Baltimore 7.

'12 BS—Edward L. Bernays, public relations counsel, addressed the House Magazine Institute of America, December 9 in New York City, reporting on research he had done on the relationship of house organs to American industry. The Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues has announced two awards made possible by a gift from Bernays, one of its members: The Edward L. Bernays Intergroup Relations Award for the year 1948-49, a $1,000 US Government Bond, to be presented "to the individual or group contributing the best action-related research on some aspect of the problem of improving relations between groups within the United States;" and The Edward L. Bernays International Tensions Award for the year 1949-50, also a $1,000 US Government Bond, to be given "to the individual or group contributing the best action-related research on some aspect of the problem of reducing tensions in relations between nations." Professor Robert B. Mac Leod, Psychology, is chairman of the judging committee for the latter award.

Class of 1913

Here begins what is expected to be a continuous series of 1913 "columns" in the ALUMNI NEWS. The Class Executive Committee decided last autumn that we have failed to advise the Cornell portion of the world adequately that "We are the cream" and that we should cease to be shrinking violets; also that we should keep each other better informed on happenings. Meanwhile, Neill Houston had been carrying on research into ways and he has persuaded your Executive Committee that 1913's scheme was the most effective. All '13ers will receive a letter from Neill in a few days explaining in detail. Please give it prompt and earnest attention, and answer it as the book of etiquette requires.

While I intended from the start to use the Life Secretary's privilege of hogging the first column, I jockeyed the boys into "persuading" me that the initial effort ought to be a greeting from the secretary to the Class. It is a pleasure always to write to a Classmate and a greater pleasure to write to all Classmates at once. Such writings never fail to produce a train of memories enjoyable and vivid.

After I have had my fun, the column is to be devoted to providing fun and interest for the other 835 men on the 1913 list in the form of notes concerning your friends. For one man it will be hard work: the column editor. The victim for that job, it seemed clear, should have the background that came from editing the biographical sketches in our 25-year Book. But that famous civil engineer, Farmer Sessler, has gone into hiding beyond the Dartmouth campus, which introduced enough difficulties of time and space to make it a dirty trick to stick him with the job. Bridgeman, since the 25-year days, has wandered away off to Racine and covered himself with so smooth a coat of Johnson's Wax (or is it Car-nu?) that you cannot grip him firmly enough to put him to work. The third member of the group was Ernie Kluge; well, those who observed Ernie's shape at the 35th Reunion realize that he could not run fast enough to elude the pursuing job.

So Ernie has promised to edit the column but has been promised the assistance of 836 eager 1913 news hounds. You are to send him news items about yourself and, just in case they forget, news you find about other '13ers. Classmates from other parts of the country visiting New York should call him up. His address is care Marsh & McLennan, 70 Pine Street, New York 5, and the 'phone is Whitehall 3-2000.

We are indebted to Neill Houston for initiating and perservering with the plan which he will write you about; to the Executive Committee for approval; to Jess Whyte and Joe Strahan for much assistance; and finally, the usual fine co-operation of a group of Classmates to make it a reality. Your Executive Committee is very much on the job, and believes that this Class as evidenced at the 35th Reunion and thereafter, is only beginning to be active.—G.H.R.

'14 ME—Home address of James J. Munns is now 999 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago 11, Ill.

'14 BS—William Hazlett Upson has a story, "Botts and the Jet-Propelled Tractor," in the Saturday Evening Post for January 15.

'15 CE—A new play, "Leaf and Bough," was presented by Charles P. Heidt at the Plymouth Theatre in Boston, Mass., December 27. Written by Joseph Hayes and featuring Richard Hart, Coleen Gray, and Dan O'Herlihy, the play ran in Boston for two weeks, then opened January 10 at the Forrest Theatre in Philadelphia, Pa., for a week's run before opening in New York City January 20.

'15 BS—William L. Houck was re-elected mayor of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, for a third term December 6, with the highest vote ever received by a mayoral candidate there.

'15 AB—Bleecker Marquette and the work of the Public Health Federation of Cincinnati, Ohio, of which he is executive secretary, were praised in an article, "Cincinnati's War on Death," in the July issue of Coronet. After telling of the former lack of medical services in Cincinnati and surrounding communities, the author, Jack H. Pollack, stated: "The Federation helped immeasurably to change all this after Bleecker Marquette, its dynamic executive secretary for the last twenty-seven years, took over. A small, energetic man who continually reminds wealthy Cincinnatians of their city's squalor, the fifty-five-year-old Marquette—collateral descendant of Mississippi discoverer Father Marquette—is doing his missionary work in exploring new health horizons along the grimy Ohio River."

'16 AB—Anthony O. Shallna was the attorney for the twenty-nine Latvians who were detained for about four months at the East Boston Immigration Station for not having unexpired immigration visas. This group of refugees had left Latvia in 1944 and gone to Sweden, when Soviet Russian forces had re-entered Latvia. This summer they braved the Atlantic Ocean for forty-three days in a sixty-four-foot ketch to come to the United States. The Board of Inquiry at Boston excluded them and, on appeal, the Commissioner of Immigration affirmed the decision. Shallna then appealed their cases to the Immigration Board of Appeals in Washington, D. C., which decided to parole them under a $500 bond for each adult until Congress determines their status. Shallna, an attorney at law at 366 West Broadway, South Boston, Mass., has been honorary consul for the Baltic States at Boston for some years.

'17 BS—Resolution pledging members to "work untiringly toward elimination of the vicious element" in comic books, unanimously adopted by the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs at its annual convention in New York City in November, was introduced by Mrs. Alice Brewster Porter, Federation historian. Mrs. Porter, the wife of George C. Porter '21 and recording secretary of the Cornell Women's Club of Albany, is director of the cafeteria at Philip Schuyler High School in Albany.

Wallace B. Quail, Class Correspondent
503 S. Main St., Middletown, Ohio

This column has been missing for the last two issues of the ALUMNI NEWS simply because your correspondent had a complete lack of material. As a result of diligent research, some news has come to hand.

Ben Fishman of Laurelton, Long Island, wrote some weeks back to ask if he could not affiliate with our Class instead of '20, with which he had been listed because of being away from Ithaca in World War I. We would be delighted to have him affiliate with us, which is where he really belongs, and we are sure there are others whose Class affiliations were messed up during World War I who should logically be part of the '19 Class. We would be happy to welcome them back, too.

Along this same line, in a recent trip to New York your correspondent had a pleasant visit with Stan Collins '18 and it came to my mind that here is another good man who more properly should be with the '19 Class instead of the very old men known as the Class of '18. I had quite a chat with Stan and endeavored to secure some information on various Classmates such as Bill Dietrich and Bill Henningbaun. Perhaps the mention of their names in this column will stir their stumps to at least give a report on themselves.

On this same trip, your correspondent had the pleasure of seeing Tor Parke, who has already made complete plans to be present at the 30th Reunion.

Our president, Morg Kendall, has written that the Class Executive Committee has been appointed and consists of Rudy Deetjen, Bo-Dial, Victor Emanuel, Bill Emerson, John Hollis, Parker Monroe, John Ross, Dean Wiggins, and Art Dean. Jimmy Hillas has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee, which will consist of Dean, Monroe, Kendall, and one other yet to be named. This committee is now at work preparing a slate of nominees which will be presented to the Class some time after the first of the year. Morg Kendall is working on the 30th Reunion and is looking for a chairman. As soon as he is named, you will be informed because he will most certainly need your full cooperation.

How many of you analyzed the list of alumni children tabulated in the December 1 issue of the NEWS? In the list covering three Cornell generations we have Wallace P. Beardsley and George B. Gordon. In the list where both parents are Cornellians we have Carroll B. Clark, Maynard E. Hall and Frank W. Hankins. In the list with one Cornell parent we have Edwin W. Biederman, Arthur W. Bull, Percy L. Dunn, Charles Ennis, Byron Hicks, Carroll L. Homan, Lowell S. Huntington, William T. Kerr, William G. Shanks, Maxwell M. Siegel, Ainsworth L. Smith, Charles R. Stewart, Frederick T. Sutton, Frank Veith, and Eugene F. Zeiner.

'20—The Class of 1920 started their organization for their Thirty-year Reunion in June, 1950, by a gathering at the Cornell Club of New York December 3. Twenty-five members (space does not permit us to print the list of names) attended, with K. A. Mayer presiding at the dinner, assisted by H. J. Benisch, Class treasurer, and H. C. Ballou, Class secretary. With approximately 250 members of the Class living in the Metropolitan area, it was decided to have another get-together February 25 at the Cornell Club of New York for dinner at 6:30. A committee of Bill Littlewood, Joe Diamant, and Spike Livingston will bring in suggestions after making a study of the Reunion Manual furnished by Selly Brewer.—H.C.B.

'21 AB, '23 AM, '29 PhD—Harold W. Blodgett, professor of English at Union College, Schenectady, has been named as the first incumbent of the recently endowed chair at the college, The Thomas Lamont Professorship of English Literature. Professor Blodgett will give a course

The Energetics of Human Behavior

By G. L. Freeman, formerly Professor of Psychology and Director of the Laboratory of Psychophysiology, Northwestern University

The results of many years of objective physiological experimentation in the field of behavior energetics are here published. Dr. Freeman's study has involved pouring over physiological and neurological research reports, searching for dynamic implications in essentially analytical work, trying out on human subjects every known variety of recording device. The results of these studies, here placed in systematic context, have been acclaimed as an outstanding contribution to the field.

"It achieves a rather coherent systematic way of looking at human behavior, one that should be very fruitful in terms of hypotheses to be tested. It will also serve as an antidote to much of the loose thinking that has run riot in certain areas in psychology."—J. P. Guilford, University of Southern California.

"PROTECTING THE AMERICAN HOME"

Pioneers fought for it... You can buy it!

SECURITY—for our homes, our families, ourselves—that is what men have always wanted most.

To the pioneer, security meant actual physical safety—protection from hostile Indians, resentful of the white man who dared to homestead on their hunting grounds.

Today, there are other threats to the peace and security of the family... but most of them can be thwarted by life insurance. In case of your death, life insurance can:

Keep your home in the family with mortgage retirement insurance...

Feed and clothe and educate your children...

Keep your widow's declining years reasonably free from money worries.

On the other hand, if all goes well with you, the same life insurance can bring comfort and happiness to your own retirement years.

Have you heard about "YOUR PLAN FOR SECURITY"? This is a new service offered by your local National Life representative. It will give you a clear and accurate picture of your family's financial needs over the years to come. A post card will bring you the details on how you can get this helpful new family service. No obligation, of course.

"See your National Life underwriter at least once a year"

Fly with the Leader

More people...
TWICE AS MANY PEOPLE
fly abroad by
PAN AMERICAN
than by all other
U. S. airlines combined!

● If you're planning to fly to any major city abroad, plan now to go by Clipper*.

Ten U. S. airlines are currently flying overseas from the United States... but month after month, one of these airlines—Pan American World Airways—flies twice as many overseas passengers as all the other nine combined!

When you fly by Clipper, you fly on the world's most experienced airline—a System that has flown 9 million passengers almost 700 million miles... totals unequalled by any overseas airline in the world.

For reservations call your Travel Agent or the nearest office of—

PAN AMERICAN
WORLD AIRWAYS

*Trade Mark, Pan American Airways, Inc.

Rio—city of sun, sea and samba—one of the greatest winter playgrounds of the world!... You can be there, by flying Clipper, in 30 hours from New York. Only Pan American offers two through flights daily from New York, plus other daily services from Miami, New Orleans, Houston and Los Angeles.

World's most experienced airline
