Your Best Friend Won't Tell You

... that he has lost touch with Cornell. During the late depression, you'd be surprised to know how many alumni were forced to drop their weekly contact with Cornell through the Alumni News. Now that business is picking up, they have intended to subscribe again, but just haven't gotten around to let us know. Too many haven't seen the paper since its recent rejuvenation.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

The Alumni News urgently needs more subscribers. Show your latest copy to your best Cornell friend, and suggest that he subscribe. Then send us his name and address, with request to enter his subscription at the regular rate of $4 a year. We'll do the rest, and he'll thank you for putting him in touch with Cornell again.

'12 TO SURVEY MEMBERS For Twenty-Five-Year Book

"College Education: Asset or Liability?" This question will be answered by more than 1,000 members of the Class of '12 in a world-wide survey which the Class "Planning Commission," meeting recently in New York City, has recommended to be conducted in connection with the Silver Jubilee Reunion of the Class to be held in Ithaca June 18-20.

Dr. Edgar A. Doll '12, director of the Training School at Vineland, N. J., will be asked to direct the survey and interpret the findings, according to Ross W. Kellogg '12, Class Secretary, and the Class will publish them in book form.

DR. EDGAR A. DOLL '12

"A scientific appraisal of the value of education twenty-five years after graduation made by Cornell's Class of '12 should prove of even greater interest than the survey of the Harvard Class of '11 made last year by John R. Tunis and published under the title, Was College Worth While," Kellogg says. "We believe that the Cornell 1912 survey will be of unusual national interest because of the wide scope of training given at Cornell, and because it will include women as well as men."

The Planning Commission of the Class of '12 is composed of Ernest F. Bowen, executive vice-president of the Class; Walter R. Kuhn, reunion chairman; Kellogg; Louis C. Boochever, treasurer; Stanton C. Finch, New York City chairman; Leopold Tschirky, Philadelphia chairman; Malcolm Vail, Chicago chairman; Herbert N. Putnam, Cleveland chairman; Foster M. Coffin, University Alumni Representative; Walter S. Fogg, publicity chairman; Edward L. Bernays, Class public relations counsel; and Walter H. Rudolph, chairman of transportation. They met in New York City March 12, before a general meeting of forty-one members of the Class from New York and Philadelphia, at which Finch presided.

Kellogg presented a general outline of plans for the Silver Jubilee Reunion, and it was generally agreed that at least 212 men of the Class should be back in Ithaca in June. The present reunion record of 156 men is jointly held by '12 and '09.

It was decided to retain the Class uniform of Kelly-green sweaters and caps, adopted in 1925, but to substitute long white trousers for knickers this year. In deference to the wish expressed by some of the older alumni, a resolution was passed assuring reunion visitors that the Class will discontinue extensive use of fire-crackers at the dormitories. Coffin announced that the Class will be housed during reunions in South Baker Hall; and Boochever outlined a plan for the establishment of a Class Memorial Fund to be presented to the University at the close of the reunion. Members present unanimously approved a plan advanced by the Class of '11 for a "Reunion in Manhattan" at the Cornell Club of New York late in May.

Kellogg promises that further innovations for the Class of '12 Silver Jubilee Reunion will be announced in forthcoming issues of the ALUMNI NEWS.

DR. FARRAND IN CHICAGO

Three hundred enthusiastic Cornellians greeted President Farrand at the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Chicago on March 12, in the Great Hall of the University Club. Colonel Edward Davis '96, toastmaster, introduced the President and these other speakers: Harry W. Helmer '09, president of the Cornell Club of Chicago, Albert E. Koehl '28, and James P. Harrold '93. Rawleigh Warner, president of the Princeton Club of Chicago, was a guest, and the out-of-town alumni included John H. Wilson '06 and Oliver T. Griswold '26 of Milwaukee; Bruno V. Bitker '21, president of the Cornell Club of Milwaukee; Edward D. Ramage '32, of Rochester; Willard A. Vawter, 2d '05, of Benton Harbor, Mich.

The banquet committee consisted of Messrs. Harrold, honorary chairman, Richard D. Vanderwarker '33, chairman, John C. Trussell '28, Richard H. Sampson '32, and Koehl, with Helmer and Mead Montgomery '24 ex officio.

That afternoon Dr. Farrand had been the guest of honor at a tea of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago, at the College Club. About thirty members were present. Mrs. Paul Shorey (Emma Gilbert) '90 and Mrs. Hiram Conger (Mary Campbell) '08 poured. Edith W. Ouzts, AM '30, former social director of Willard Straight Hall, was also present.

FACULTY TRAVELERS To Meet School Boys

Three members of the Faculty committee on relations with secondary schools will spend part or all of the University's spring recess talking with boys about Cornell, both in meetings arranged by Cornell Clubs in preparation for Cornell Day and at high schools and preparatory schools about the country.

First of the current travelers to start will be Professor John G. Jenkins '23, Psychology. He will speak at a reception arranged by the Cornell Club of Michigan Easter Sunday afternoon, March 28, at the University Club in Detroit. Blinn S. Page '13 is head of the committee in charge. Professor Jenkins will visit Toledo, Ohio, April 8, where Harold M. Alexander '34 is making the arrangements. April 9 and 10 he will be in St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., with James C. Otis '01 in charge; and Bruno V. Bitker '21 is arranging for him to meet boys in Milwaukee, Wisc. April 11 and stay to speak at the annual dinner of the Cornell Club April 12.

Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Latin, will spend the entire week on the road: April 5 in Chicago, Ill., where Alfred H. Hutchinson '09 is in charge of the program; April 6 in Omaha, Nebr., with Laurens Williams '31 the responsible alumnus; April 7 and 8 in Denver, Colo. under the wing of Russell D. Welsh '13; and April 9 and 10 in Kansas City, Mo., where Philip S. Lyon '27 is making the arrangements.

Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, will be in Washington, D.C. April 7 and 8. John S. Gorrell '05 is in charge of his program there.

TACOMA FETES REA '69

The Cornell Club of Tacoma, Wash. held a dinner at the Tacoma Hotel March 13 in honor of John A. Rea '69. The only table decoration was the Class Secretaries' cup which is given each year to the class having the largest percentage of attendance at reunions. Last June this cup was presented to Mr. Rea, the only surviving member of Cornell's first class. Mr. Rea recalled the early days at the University; told briefly of the lives of the other seven members of the first class, besides relating striking incidents in his own life during the sixty-eight years since his graduation.

Walter J. Ryan '06 was elected president of the Club.

FACULTY MEDIEVALISTS ORGANIZE To Maintain University Leadership

Friends of Medieval Studies is a new group organized by fifteen members of the Faculty to maintain Cornell's acknowledged leadership in a field of increasing significance. The members of the group comprise representatives from the Departments of German, Embryology, Classics, Architecture, English, Romance Languages, Music, History, and Philosophy. Their officers, working with the University Librarian, are making plans to fill serious gaps in the present collections of legal records, social documents of various sorts, periodicals, and books, which cut across departmental lines, to provide materials needed for study.

In the early days, largely through the unceasing labors of Professor George L. Burr '81, an excellent medieval collection was gradually built up in the University Library, which was further enriched by the generosity of Willard Fiske, who contributed the noted Icelandic, Dante, and Petrarch collections. Of former teachers in Cornell three were specially active in the medieval field. Professor Burr taught many of the men who now occupy chairs of medieval history in this country. In his chosen field, the history of witchcraft, especially in its legal aspects, Burr's authority is unrivalled and it is due to him that the library has gathered a "Witchcraft Collection" which is probably unique. Professor T. Frederick Crane in numerous writings enlarged the knowledge of medieval folklore, as well as of medieval Latin and Romance literature. Professor J. Morgan Harte, besides compiling a bibliography of English literature in which Old English had a foremost place, composed an Old English dictionary which, though still in manuscript, has been of great service to younger scholars.

Several of the present members of the staff have done significant research in this field. Professor George L. Hamilton has written various papers dealing with folklore and the literature of the Romance languages in the Middle Ages. Professor Walter H. French '19 has special interest in medieval romances in England. Charles W. Jones, PhD '32, has published several papers on early medieval chronology and is preparing a much-needed edition of two of Bede's scientific treatises. Professor Harry Caplan '16, after two extended visits to European libraries, brought out a volume and a supplement describing the numerous medieval Arts of Preaching that still survive in manuscripts, and is projecting further studies in medieval rhetoric. The medieval part of Professor Halldor Hermannsson's work is concerned with Old Icelandic and Old Norse literature and history, but equally valuable to the medievalist is that part of his bibliographical writings that deals with the Middle Ages in the Scandinavian countries. Professor Carl Stephenson is a specialist on medieval institutions. His monograph, Borough and Town, published in 1933 by the Medieval Academy of America, has been recognized by American and European scholars as authoritative. Professor Max L. W. Laistner in 1931 published a volume on the Latin literature and thought of Western Europe during the early Middle Ages. More recently he has written several papers on the Venerable Bede, two of whose commentaries he is about to publish in a new critical edition.

Professor Burr was one of the first scholars to be elected a fellow of the Medieval Academy of America, when that learned body was formed some twelve years ago. Professor Laistner was elected a corresponding fellow in 1935, and Professor Hamilton a fellow in 1936.

Professor Laistner is chairman and Professor French secretary of the Friends of Medieval Studies. Other members are Professors Albert L. Andrews, Howard B. Adelman '20, Donald L. Finlayson, Otto Kinkeldey, Benton S. Monroe '96, Clark S. Northup '93, Richard Robinson, PhD '30, George H. Sabine '30, Caplan, Hamilton, Hermannsson, Jones, and Stephenson.

SUMMER SESSION PLANS

Staff appointments for the University's 1937 Summer Session which opens July 5 were announced this week by Professor Loren C. Petry, the Director. The Summer Session Faculty will consist of 213 members, of whom forty will come from other institutions. Among these are Professor George G. Andrews, PhD '21, of the State University of Iowa, who will give courses in modern European history; Professor Roger Bailey of Yale, who with Michael Rapuano '27, winner of the Rome Prize in Landscape Architecture and now with the firm of Vitale, Geiffert, Clarke, and Rapuano in New York City, will give the course in architectural and landscape design; Dr. Francis Bitter, associate professor of physics of metals at MIT; Professor Charles S. Thomas of the Harvard Graduate School of Education, who will give a new course in methods of teaching English; Walter Lande, formerly of the Prussian Ministry of Education and now at Brooklyn College, who will offer courses in the history of education and comparative education; Dr. Keith A. H. Murray, PhD '29, of the Agricultural Economics Research Institute at Oxford University in England, who will give a course in prices; Dr. Harlan Updegraff, formerly professor of education in the University of Pennsylvania and formerly president of Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, who will give courses in educational administration; and Professor George H. Clarke of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, who will give courses in modern poetry and modern American literature.

Courses offered this year will number 327, with increases over last year's number in the Departments of Music,

ALUMNI CORPORATION'S SECONDARY SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETS IN ALUMNI HOUSE

One of the first alumni gatherings in the lounge room of the new Alumni House was this of the committee responsible for Cornell Day and other alumni activities with secondary schools. From left to right around the table are Clarence J. Pope '10, of Orange, N.J.; Roger F. Hall '23 of Baltimore, Md.; John S. Gorrell '05 of Washington, D.C.; Robert C. Hosmer '03 of Syracuse; G. Gilson Terriberry '15 of Summit, N.J.; William J. Thorne '11 of Syracuse, chairman of the committee; C. Reeve Vanne-man '03 of Albany, president of the Cornell Alumni Corporation; Alfred H. Hutchinson '09 of Chicago, Ill.; Blinn S. Page '13 of Detroit, Mich.; Herbert R. Johnston '17 of Buffalo; Howard T. Critchlow '10 of Trenton, N.J.; Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary; and Prentice Cushing '05 of Albany. Photo by Fenner.

French, History, Education, Botany, Astronomy, Home Economics, and Hotel Administration. Noteworthy new courses include one in medieval history to be given by Professor Carl Stephenson; courses for teachers of chemistry and physics by Dr. Carleton A. Moose, PhD '36, of the State Teachers' College at Albany; new courses in agricultural education, industrial education, and school administration.

The annual symposium conducted by the Physics Department, this year July 1-3, will be devoted to "Ferromagnetism and Related Topics." Professor Bitter of MIT will be one of the speakers.

The Summer Theatre will give ten performances during this year's Summer Session, and concerts have been arranged by the Music Department for the Thursday evenings of the first five weeks. An illustrated announcement of the Summer Session is being prepared, which will be ready for distribution about April 1.

SUN EDITORS WITH BERNAYS

The last three managing editors of the Cornell Daily Sun are all employed by Temperature Research Foundation, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City, operated by Edward L. Bernays '12. They are Robert S. Hutchings '35, George A. Lawrence '36, and Edward J. Caldwell '37.

These three and Wendell J. Wheeler '36, who is with the Borden Company, 350 Madison Avenue, live at 740 Riverside Drive, New York City.

ALUMNI FUND INCREASES

The Alumni Fund through last Saturday, March 20, had received $80,146.82 from 3,815 contributors since last July 1. There is every indication, according to Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of the Cornellian Council, that this year's Fund will be the largest in recent years. He is urging every Cornellian who can to make some contribution in this last year of Dr. Farrand's presidency of the University, so that the 1937 results may express in some measure the appreciation of alumni for the President's services to Cornell.

The amount given so far this year is $19,270.85 greater than that for the same period of last year, and more than double the comparable sum of $39,465.06 to March 20, 1935.

The Class of '10 still leads all others, with $10,784.00; and is followed, in order, by '91, '20, '16, '24, '98, '23, '13, '12, and '21 in the first ten. One more class passed $1,000 during March, making twenty-six to date.

In number of contributors, the younger Classes still lead, '36 heading all the rest with 189. Next is '35, then '34, '26, '22, '13, '24, '23, and '12 and '16 are tied in ninth place. Five new classes this month have passed 100 in number of contributors, making eighteen so far.

ALUMNI HOUSE—CENTER OF ACTIVITY

A Brief Visit to Headquarters

Headquarters of the University's relations with former students are now in the new Alumni House at 3 East Avenue, at the upper end of the Old Armory green. Here the Alumni Office and the Cornellian Council, moved last fall from their former cramped quarters in Morrill Hall, have their offices and records, with a conference room for the use of alumni committees and as a meeting place for visiting alumni, and other rooms for allied purposes.

The building was entirely remodelled during the summer by the Department of Buildings and Grounds under the supervision of Conant Van Blarcom '08, former superintendent. Built in 1889 by Dr. Liberty Hyde Bailey, it was the family residence until he sold it in 1900 to Professor John Craig. Later it was occupied for a time by Professor Allyn A. Young, and still later it housed women students until it was occupied by members of Psi Upsilon and Sigma Phi while their present houses on Forest Park Lane were being built.

Now one enters the front door into a pleasant hall with wide stairs to the second floor and at the end a large conference room which occupies the southeast corner of the building. This room is attractively furnished with rugs and hangings, comfortable chairs, reading lights, and a large table for the use of committees and other alumni groups. It is open every day during business hours for the convenience of visiting alumni.

At the right of the front entrance is the office of Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary of the University, and behind that a reception room and office of his assistant, Pauline Bird. These two handle the local arrangements for Cornell Day and serve as the Ithaca clearing house for the work of the alumni and Faculty committees on relations with secondary schools; do much of the scheduling of Campus speakers and movies for meetings of Cornell Clubs and other alumni groups; take care of many of the visitors who come to Ithaca accompanied by alumni and others, to see Cornell; and serve generally as friends and counsellors to many undergraduates.

Across the hall from Ashbery's office is the domain of Olive Northup Snyder '22, Assistant Alumni Representative, who has in her charge not only the special relations with the Cornell Women's Clubs but the supervision of the alumni records, the address lists, the answering of the many requests that come for information about alumni, and now the preparation of the new Alumni Directory. In a large front room, steel files hold separate folders for each of the 50,000 or more former students of the University, and into these are carefully sorted and filed the hundreds of newspaper clippings, questionnaires, and other bits of biographical information that come to hand about Cornellians. Directly behind this room is one in which are kept the metal address plates, one for each former student, and electrical machines upon which operators make these plates and address from them. These address lists are kept constantly up to date and are arranged so that they can be used by classes, by regions, and by other classifications for the convenience of University and Cornell Club officers, Class secretaries, and others who have legitimate reason for addressing Cornellians.

At the northeast corner of the first floor is a large fireproof vault, built of concrete, brick, and steel, in which are filed duplicate master cards for all alumni, with their correct names, years at the University and degrees, addresses, and other information of permanent record. In this room are also kept the permanent records of the Cornellian Council.

Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Secretary of the University, combines with the general responsibility for the Alumni Office the directorship of Willard Straight Hall, and so maintains his regular office there. He is frequently at Alumni House, however, handles much of the correspondence with alumni, and is always in direct touch with the operation of the Alumni Office.

The second floor of the building is given over entirely to the work of the Cornellian Council, with a reception room and the office of Marjorie E. Beatty '31, acting assistant secretary of the Council, at the head of the stairs, and that of Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary, beyond at the front. Across the hall the financial affairs of the Council are handled in a separate office, with another for other assistants and at the back the office of Raymond F. Howes '24, whose special work is the preparation of promotional material and the Cornellian Council Bulletin.

On the third floor is the Campus office of the ALUMNI NEWS, where Romeyn Berry '04 has a desk and another is occupied occasionally by the managing editor; a storage and work-room for the moving picture films which the Alumni Office makes and sends about the country to alumni gatherings; and two small conference rooms and work rooms used by the Alumni Office and the Cornellian Council.

For the main offices and conference room special rugs, furniture, and hangings were obtained last fall when the building was first occupied. Further to add to its attractiveness, members of the Architecture Faculty have agreed to loan some of their work to be displayed for stated periods. At present the rooms are attractively decorated with several paintings by Professor Kenneth L. Washburn '26, and in the large conference room is the plaster original of a bronze fountain figure, "Amphitrite," which he displayed in the sculpture exhibition at the Texas Centennial Exposition last season. Professor Washburn is now engaged on a series of twelve murals representing communication in the life of man, for which he won a competition last December to decorate the new Federal Postoffice building in Binghamton. Later the work of Professors Walter King Stone and Olaf M. Brauner will be exhibited.

The use of the building for an alumni headquarters grew out of an idea for an "alumni hall" which started almost fifty years ago with a resolution passed by the Associate Alumni in June, 1888, that funds be raised for such a purpose. A considerable fund was raised by contributions from alumni, but the completion of Willard Straight Hall met a large part of the need. When the Board of Trustees in February, 1936, authorized the use of the present Alumni House for its present purpose, funds were appropriated for its remodeling from the balance of the old Cornell Central Cub Fund, raised by alumni and which had accumulated for many years.

About ATHLETICS

POLO TEAM WINS TWO

The ROTC polo team defeated a team of the Detroit Polo Association, 17-6½, in Detroit, Mich., Friday, and the Black Horse Troop in Chicago, Ill., 16½-4, Saturday night. The former team, on which Paul Deming '32 opposed Combs at No. 2, received a four-goal handicap, and the Chicago team had seven. Captain Roberts rode at No. 1, with Lawrence back. Combs made 25 goals in the two games, Roberts 8, and Lawrence 2.

They played before a crowd estimated at 1,500 in Detroit, and at 10,000 in Chicago, where the receipts, after expenses, were to be devoted to the scholarship fund of the Cornell Club of Chicago. The team reports royal entertainment by Cornellians in Chicago, including a special luncheon given for them by the Cornell Club at the Interfraternity Club, and the loan of his horses for the game by Leon Mandel, II '23.

Cornell has drawn Yale for the first game of the national indoor intercollegiate championship matches, to be played March 30 in the Squadron C Armory, Brooklyn. On April 1 the winner will meet Princeton at Squadron A Armory in New York City, while West Point, defending champion, meets Harvard. Eastern championship finals will be held in Squadron A Armory April 3, and East-West championship matches April 7. Cornell has won thirteen of the sixteen games played this season, only Army having beaten them and not been avenged with a victory.

TRACK TEAM WINS

The track team closed its indoor season in the Drill Hall Saturday night showing a balanced power that was generally unexpected, and defeating Colgate and Syracuse handily, for the fifth successive year since this triangular meet was inaugurated in 1933. The score was Cornell 81, Colgate 18, Syracuse 17. Two meet records were broken and another equalled by Varsity men; McKeever '39 and Safford '37 both exceeding the 35-pound weight throw record of 49 ft. 3 in. set by Joseph L. Leone '36 last year; Captain Meaden '37 bettered his own half-mile record of 1:59.9 last year; and Bassett '37 outstepped Cornell '38, the intercollegiate champion, to equal the two-mile meet record of 9:44.3 set by Bruce D. Kerr '35 three years ago.

Sensation of the meet was the winning by Hucker '38 of the quarter-mile race over the Syracuse intercollegiate champion, O'Brien. Coach Moakley entered Hucker but a few minutes before the race. Nevius '39 started at the pole, with O'Brien next and Hucker outside. Hucker gained the lead around the first turn and both Cornellians kept ahead of the champion for the first of the two laps. In the second it was a fight between O'Brien and Nevius, with Hucker safely ahead, so that O'Brien's final spurt was not enough to catch the winner.

The Varsity gained all three scoring places in three events, the 35-pound weight throw, mile run and the half-mile, and made five other firsts and tied for another; six second places; and six thirds in the thirteen events. In the mile relay, Breitenbach '39 took the lead in the first leg, Rossiter '37 maintained it in the second, and Nevius raced his third leg in 49 seconds, giving Hucker, the anchor man, a generous start to finish thirty yards ahead of O'Brien. The summaries:

TRACK

75-yard dash: Won by Glickman, Syracuse; Tatum, Cornell, second; Pender, Cornell, third. Time 0:07.6.

75-yard high hurdles: Won by Neff, Cornell; Rossiter, Cornell, second; Schroeder, Colgate, third. Time 0:09.5.

75-yard low hurdles: Won by Neff, Cornell; Schroeder, Colgate, second; Rossiter, Cornell, third. Time 0:08.4.

440-yard run: Won by Hucker, Cornell; O'Brien, Syracuse, second; Nevius, Cornell, third. Time 0:50.4.

880-yard run: Won by Meaden, Cornell; Levy, Cornell, second; Sampson, Cornell, third. Time 1:57.5. (New meet record).

Mile run: Won by Welch, Cornell; Bentley, Cornell, second; Boynton, Cornell, third. Time 4:29.3.

Two-mile run: Won by Bassett, Cornell; H. Cornell, Cornell, second; Southard, Syracuse, third. Time 9:44.3. (Equals meet record).

One-mile relay: Won by Cornell (Breitenbach, Rossiter, Nevius, Hucker); Syracuse, second; Colgate, third. Time 3:26.6.

FIELD

Broad jump: Won by Trento, Syracuse, 21 feet 11½ inches; Dorius, Cornell, second, 21 feet 3½ inches; Tallman, Cornell, third, 21 feet ¾ inches.

High jump: Tie for first between Walters,

Colgate, and Riker, Cornell, 5 feet 10 inches; Gregg, Cornell, third, 5 feet 8 inches.

Pole vault: Won by Thomas, Colgate, 12 feet 6 inches; tie for second among Davis, Hildreth, and Selden, Cornell, 12 feet.

35-pound weight throw: Won by McKeever, Cornell, 50 feet 7½ inches; Safford, Cornell, second, 49 feet 6½ inches (New meet record); Shoemaker, Cornell, third, 43 feet 8½ inches.

16-pound shot: Won by Nast, Colgate, 46 feet 10⅝ inches; Vreeland, Cornell, second, 43 feet 11½ inches; Hooper, Cornell, third, 43 feet ½ inch.

Two Freshman events, which did not count in the scoring, were also won by Cornell. Walter W. Zittel, Jr. of Buffalo won the 75-yard dash in 7.9 seconds, with Lester E. Murdock of Buffalo second; and a mile relay team composed of Murdock, John A. Kramp of Newburgh, George M. Walker of Somerville, Mass. and Zittel, competing against Syracuse only, won in 3:58.8.

A colorful interfraternity relay race, run in two sections because of the large number of entries, was won by Phi Delta Theta, with Lambda Chi Alpha second, Alpha Zeta third, and Sigma Phi Epsilon in fourth place.

FENCERS LOSE

The fencing team lost to Columbia, 11½-15½, in the Drill Hall Saturday afternoon. They won in the foils, 5-4; lost the sabre matches by the same score; and lost the epee, 2½-6½.

SPORTS EXTRA!

Baseball practice had to be suspended for two days last week. The heavy snow on the glass roof of the cage made the place so dark that it became impossible to see either a thrown or a batted ball. This phenomenon, while not unprecedented, had not occurred for years.

To Name New Shells

Left to themselves in the matter, the Crew Club decided to name the two new racing shells "Poughkeepsie" and "Saratoga '75." The vessels have not yet been formally christened. This ceremony will take place just as soon as the road to the boathouse has been sufficiently cleared of the snowdrifts that now block it.

The practice of naming shells started eight years ago. Prior to that time the boats were designated by the year of their construction. The Navy now contains the "Uncle Pete," the "John Ostrom," the "Andrew D. White," the "C. E. Treman," the "John Hoyle," and the "John Collyer." The coaching launch of course, has always been "The Old Man."

Indoor Sports

On March 16 Ray Ashbery, Alumni Field Secretary, and Carl Snively, football coach, motored to Schenectady to attend a Cornell Club dinner that evening. They were put up at the Mohawk Club. The following morning, while Ashbery was addressing the assembled students at two high schools, Snively, being barred from all contacts with school boys under the new intercollegiate understanding, hung around the Club and practiced pool shots. So well did Snively employ the morning that when Ashbery got back and suggested a game of pool Snively won, 50-8.

Dobie Here

Gilmour Dobie, now of Chestnut Hill, Mass., spent the first three days of last week in Ithaca. Characteristically, he told no one he was coming or why he came. But the world found out he was here and soon wore a path to his door in a remote corner of an upper floor at the Clinton House. Undaunted by his serious automobile accident of last December, of which he shows no ill effects, Mr. Dobie drove out and back all alone in his own car.

TAUSIG BOXING CAPTAIN

John G. Tausig '38 of Harrisburg, Pa., 135-pound contestant for two seasons, has been elected captain of the boxing team for next year.

BASEBALL CHANGES

Changes in the baseball schedule as first announced include the game with Harvard April 24 at Ithaca instead of Cambridge and a return game May 14; and the transposition of the two games with Syracuse, at Syracuse May 5 and at Ithaca May 19. The entire schedule is included in "Coming Events."

The Freshman baseball team will open its season April 24 against the Syracuse freshmen at Ithaca, and will play eight home-and-home games, against Syracuse and Colgate freshmen, Cook Academy, and Manlius School, the last on May 2.

FRESHMAN WRESTLERS DONE

The Freshman wrestling team closed its season Saturday, losing to Mansfield Teachers' College at Mansfield, Pa., 11-19. Mansfield last month defeated the Junior Varsity team in the Drill Hall, 23-6. William D. Kiehle of East Orange, N.J., 175-pound wrestler, was elected honorary captain of the Freshman team.

SPEAK AT SCHENECTADY

Forty members of the Cornell Club of Schenectady met for dinner at the Mohawk Club March 16, with Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary, and Carl Snively, head coach of football, as the principal speakers. Ashbery spoke of plans for Cornell Day in Ithaca May 1, and showed movies of the Campus, and Coach Snively discussed athletics. John J. Matson '15 was toastmaster at the dinner. The meeting was arranged by Glen W. Bennett '27 and Carl Schabtach '32, president and secretary, respectively, of the Club.

The next day Ashbery spoke at an assembly of 1,000 students at the Mont Pleasant High School in Schenectady and before 200 at Draper High School.

THE CAMPUS IN MINIATURE, FOR EXHIBIT AT CHICAGO HOTEL SHOW

These two Seniors in Architecture, Daniel B. Warner of Mexico City, and Roger H. Ayala, son of the former President of Paraguay, built this scale model of the Campus for the Department of Hotel Administration. It is on display this week at the Cornell booth in the Mid-West Hotel Exposition at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, Ill., with Richard D. Vanderwarker '33 in charge, and will also be shown at Hotel Ezra Cornell in Williard Straight Hall May 7. It is an exact replica of the Campus from Stewart Avenue east to just beyond the Poultry Building, and from Thurston Avenue south to Cascadilla Gorge. Photo by Fenner.

OUR NEW-OLD COVER

Some of our older subscribers have no doubt recognized as an old friend the cover design which we used March 4 and which appears again on this issue of the ALUMNI NEWS. This design, the work of Andre Smith '02, was a surprise gift of the artist, and first adorned the ALUMNI NEWS November 22, 1911, when Woodford Patterson '05, now Secretary of the University, was the editor. For years the paper had had a succession of cover designs of varying beauty and effectiveness, but the delicate artistry and distinctiveness of Smith's cover so delighted Cornellians and made us the envy of all other alumni magazines that it was used on every issue for more than twenty years, until June, 1932, and last appeared four years ago.

For the sake of variety and to relieve the austerity of the all-type covers which we have been using between our monthly covers printed in red, we shall continue occasionally to reprint Andre Smith's beautiful cover. As we had hoped, its reappearance was noted with pleasure by at least one of our readers. William E. Reed '89, who has been a subscriber since the paper's second year, writes:

"May I express my great gratification and pleasure in your return to the use of the Andre Smith design for the front page as it appears on the last issue. Personally, I think it is the most delightful and distinctive of any of the alumni publications that I know, and I hope you will continue its use."

The photograph on our cover this week shows the recently-completed addition to the University Library. Designed and constructed entirely by the University Department of Buildings and Grounds under the supervision of Conant Van Blarcom '08, until lately head of the Department, the addition provides needed space for 180,000 volumes. Two of the nine floors are under ground, and the new wing is fireproof and contains an elevator, modern lighting, and fifty cubicles or carrels for study. Professor Otto Kinkeldey, University Librarian, estimates that at the Library's recent rate of growth the new wing will offer sufficient space for five or six years. In its construction the builders used mostly the weathered stone taken from the walls of the inner angle of the building, and supplemented this with new stone taken from the University's quarries, cut in the same way.

WOMEN HONOR TWO

Two Cornellians were among the twenty men honored March 18 by the New York League of Business and Professional Women "as representative of those who have recognized the talents and abilities of women." Henry Bruere '02, president of the Bowery Savings Bank, and Lenox R. Lohr '16, president of the National Broadcasting Company, were presented at a dinner at the Hotel Biltmore with "honor scrolls" in recognition of a "liberal attitude toward women in business."

ROCHESTER PHILHARMONIC

The University concert series came to a close March 19 with a brilliant concert in Bailey Hall by the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra with José Iturbi as conductor and pianist. Performing entirely without music, the Spanish artist revealed an entirely new personality to those who had heard him in piano recitals here last year and in 1930. Not only in the Beethoven Concerto No. 3, in C Minor, which he led from the piano, acting also as soloist, but in the rest of the program, the orchestra under his direction gave a concert that was masterful, colorful, and thoroughly enjoyed. Especially appreciated was the rendition of the "Caprice Espagnole," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, with its successive solos by various instruments.

Repeated requests for encores were answered with two amusing compositions by Paul White, a member of the Orchestra, the "Hippo Dance" and a "Mosquito Dance."

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

ALL THE SNOWS of an otherwise mild and open winter were crowded into the middle of March. A light but continuous downfall extending over three days produced what was said to be eight inches on the level, but the accompaniment of a twenty-mile gale piled that snow into tremendous drifts across the country side. Thirty-five big plows forced through by more than a hundred red-eyed, sleepless men kept the County's main arteries open, but the back roads soon became impassable. Communications with Syracuse and other centers ceased entirely, rural schools were closed, and commuting to Ithaca from the villages came to a standstill. Tanned professors returning from Florida were obliged to wear chains and wield shovels through the last long miles.

ON MARCH 17, anniversary of last year's high water and sleet storm, the level of Cayuga Lake was officially recorded as 380.5 feet above the sea. Last year at the same time it was 6.5 feet higher than that. The difference is comforting to those who see the promise of freshets in the heavy snows of last week. Cayuga Lake, as you remember, is forty miles long and from one to four miles in width. It takes a lot of water pouring out of Fall Creek, Six Mile, Cascadilla, and the Inlet to raise the level of Cayuga a matter of six feet.

ENCOURAGED by its success in clearing $3,000 from this year's Junior Prom, the Prom Committee revived the old custom of buying itself, out of the profits, $150 worth of commemorative keys and watch chains. Upon receipt of the financial report the Student Council complimented the committee for its excellent service and heartily disapproved the item for keys and watch chains. The boys will get a shingle and no more; unless they want to pay for the keys and watch chains out of their own pockets. Editorially the Sun complimented the committee for doing such a good job, the Student Council for stepping on the key and watch chain idea.

HOLY WEEK is being observed on the Campus with daily vesper services in Sage Chapel, conducted successively by the various University pastors of the CURW, and with the Rev. Justin W. Nixon, of the Brick Presbyterian Church of Rochester, as the guest preacher at each. Services Good Friday afternoon will be conducted by the Rev. Donald M. Cleary, Roman Catholic University Pastor, and an Easter dawn service will be held at the Observatory. A Lenten organ recital was given Tuesday evening in Sage Chapel by four undergraduate organists, assisted by Ruth Fisher Rosevear, 'cellist; and Friday evening's

THE TRACK MEET with Syracuse and Colgate was featured by Hucker's victory over O'Brien in the 440, and by the pants worn by John D. Williams '39 while running for D.K.E. in the first leg of the interfraternity relay race. These pants, in pleasing stripes of red, gold, and brown, were generally suspected of having been purchased for intimate, confidential, everyday purposes and not at all for track competition or public display. However, they stayed up, which is about all you can ask in an interfraternity relay race. This is the same Williams who recently purchased a second-hand automobile for $15 and then paid $50 more in fines trying to get his bargain home without license plates. (See ALUMNI NEWS of January 28.)

presentation of Beethoven's Passion-oratori "The Mount of Olives" by the Sage Chapel Choir and the University Orchestra will also be given in Sage Chapel, as will the Saturday afternoon broadcast.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER Easter Sunday is the Rev. Albert W. Beaven, president of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

FROM THE SUN: "Lost: Log log slide rule in Strand Theater or Ithaca Barber Shop. Call 2898 and ask for Bob Hentz." The engineers seem to be stepping out!

STATE CONSERVATION Department recently sponsored a two-day Fish Culture Seminar here. Lots of people attended. Supervisor (of fish) S. M. Cowden said that in spite of the terribly low water of last summer, the record shows that more trout were taken in 1936 than in either of the two preceeding seasons. He said the Department is making progress by not announcing what streams they were stocking or had stocked, and by putting in only trout of legal size.

IN ADDITION to performing its obvious service to the institution, the University Purchasing Department functions usefully in promoting interdepartmental trades of second-hand equipment. Its confidential bulletin of March 1 calls attention to these attractive swaps: "There is a gelatin roll Beck duplicator available in Plant Pathology. If interested call Professor Massey. . . . The Medical Advisor's office has a Fairbanks platform scale, in good condition, for disposal for $10. Give Dr. Smiley a ring. . . . There is a large paper cutter practically new in Home Economics. It can be seen in room B-8. Call Miss Morin."

"GRADUATE," writing in the Sun March 18, thinks that the Women's Self-Government Association "is no longer what it used to be;" that it "seems to have gone largely to seed." "Personally," the lady goes on to say, "I have wondered why the Dutch Kitchen and the Lido Inn are approved when other drinking resorts just as well or better regulated are forbidden, but under the system as it now operates it doesn't make any particular difference. The women sign out for one place and then go wherever they please."

IT IS PIECES like the foregoing that overwhelm the present reporter with the realization of his own inadequacy. We've simply got to stay up later and get around more if we are to keep the alumni fully and accurately informed!

ANNUAL CONFERENCE of the State Extension Service last week brought to the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics many alumni among the 300 county agricultural, home demonstration, and junior extension agents here for the three days.

DR. GEORGE SUTTON, Curator of Birds, has just received another live goshawk. Almost every day the Department of Ornithology does something—or has something done to it—that is news. This goshawk was a present from a Pennsylvania game commissioner. It is so tame it will eat a piece out of your hand.

AT 11:58 A.M. on March 18 a platform truck heavily laden with baled straw slewed on the ice between Willard Straight and the University Library, tilted and spewed 51 bales of straw across Central Avenue and the sidewalk just as a thousand students burst out of the Quadrangle on their way down to lunch. The students just walked over and around the bales, didn't stop to ask questions. After a little while the Department of Buildings and Grounds sent four men down from Morrill Hall to help the driver get his load back on and the street cleared.

LAST FRIDAY the soda bar at Willard Straight served 1498 customers and did a gross day's business of $161.05. There was nothing unusual about that. Friday is mentioned just because your reporter happened to drop in Saturday when the departmental reports were being sorted. The business included the sale of 512 Coca-Colas and 248 portions of canned beer. On the occasion of a joint party for Graduate students and the Faculty March 16 (attended by 265 persons) the bar sold 194 coffees and 192 cans of beer.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

NEWS AND TOMCATS

TO THE EDITOR:

It was a surprise to read in the ALUMNI NEWS two weeks ago that I had become Secretary of this Company. It happened so long ago—four or five years—that I almost had forgotten it. I expect along about 1940 you'll find out I am also, or will have been, one of that strange and rare species, a Vice President, as well as General Counsel and Secretary.

Probably I never would have mentioned this amazing instance of speedy news-gathering if I had not read last week in the ALUMNI NEWS the libel perpetrated by some fellow named Berry (R.B. '04) on the Town of Hector. He presumes to question the blue blood, culture, and refinement of a gentlemanly tomcat who "belongs over the ridge in the Town of Hector." Mr. Berry is too provincial; he should travel. He should go up onto that ridge and observe how for many centuries, antedating even the days of the lordly Senecas, life upon the Hector Ridge has looked down upon the swamps of Tompkins County and wondered that humans ever should strive to endure in so forsaken a land. The Garden of Eden was a barren desert compared with the ridges of Hector. Beautiful sunrises, gorgeous sunsets, Seneca Lake, more inspiring than any in Switzerland, towering peaks, majestic vistas, pure air fresh from Heaven, all these have conspired to make any Town of Hector tomcat scorn any Tompkins County pedigreed Persian cats; these latter simply do not enter into his scheme of things and he is happily unconscious of their inexplicable existence.

I was born in "them thar hills" on the sunny and glorious side of the Town of Hector, and I long ago learned it was a favorite trysting place and happy summer home of all the ancient, medieval and modern Gods and Goddesses. Their annual conventions and all their jubilees were held there until Smiling Franklin and his toy, New Deal, made them go to the South Sea Isles for a while.

Meanwhile, however, no self-respecting, genteel, fastidious Town of Hector tomcat will cast even a passing contemptuous glance at any Tompkins County pedigreed Persian cat. Royal blood, my dear Mr. Berry, even in the socialized state of the pedigreed Persians, will sustain the superiority of our Town of Hector tomcats.

J. C. ARGETSINGER '05

We reported February 18 that "J. Cameron Argetsinger is secretary of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Youngstown, Ohio." We leave it to our readers if it isn't news that any person should have held such a position of responsibility through the last five depression years. The most recent news we received directly from Subscriber Argetsinger we printed October 27, 1932, to the effect that he had then become general counsel and secretary of his company. As to the rest of this letter, Romeyn Berry speaks for himself.—ED.—

"Hell! If I'd known that stray Tom was one of the Argetsingers of Hector, I'd have let him in!"—R.B. '04.

MID-HUDSON WOMEN

The Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club met March 9 at the home of Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18 in Poughkeepsie. Sixteen members were present. Plans were made for entertaining high school students during the spring recess. Mrs. Knauss was appointed chairman of the committee.

NECROLOGY

'73—ROSWELL LEAVITT, February 14, 1937 at Turner, Me. He was a student in the Optional Course from 1869 to '72. He received the LLB from the University of Michigan in 1875, and practiced as an attorney in Bellaire, Mich. for years. After some time in Washington, D.C. he moved in 1932 to North Leeds, Me. Vice-president, Tom Hughes Boat Club. Son, Clyde Leavitt '06.

'07 ME—SIDNEY VANDER VEER STEWART, January 14, 1937, in Corry, Pa. He was with the Ajax Iron Works in 1907, and secretary-treasurer of the Standard Turnbuckle Company in 1922, both in Corry.

'16—HARRY NESBITT MATCHNEER, December 30, 1936, in Pittsburgh, Pa. At the time of his death he was vice-president and secretary of Reymer & Brothers, Inc., manufacturing confectioners and importers of cigars. He entered Agriculture in 1912 and remained three years. Chi Psi. Brother, William W. Matchneer '10.

'22 ME—HERBERT DAYTON TOBEY, February 9, 1937, in Lakewood, Ohio, where he lived at 2316 McKinley Avenue. He had been for some time in the employ of the American Steel and Wire Company in Cleveland. His wife was Eva M. Cable '21 and they have three daughters. During the World War he served in the Army. Varsity track; Atmos; Quill and Dagger; Theta Alpha.

Dramatic Club; Phi Sigma Delta. Brother, Joseph H. Percy '34.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR RUSSELL L. CECIL of the Medical College in New York City told the New Orleans Graduate Medical Assembly's first annual meeting that arthritis "is a poor man's disease; rich people don't get it, unfortunately." "Your usual arthritis sufferer is the long, lanky fellow, or the dried-up old maid with no flesh on her bones, a stenographer or school teacher perhaps, whose joints feel as if they were made of hard rubber," he said.

PROFESSOR ANDREW P. PELMONT, PhD '30, Romance Languages, has edited the first American edition of Stendhal's "La Chartreuse de Parme." Based on the last edition published during Stendhal's life, the text is designed to bring this fore-runner of the psychological novel within the reading capacity of the intermediate student of French. The book contains a resume of the life of Stendhal, 275 notes, and a comprehensive vocabulary.

PROFESSOR LYMAN P. WILSON, Law, conducted an open forum on legal questions before the Ithaca Kiwanis Club last week. In reply to a query concerning debarring undesirable lawyers, he said: "We're trying to get at the other end of the problem—weed 'em out before they get to be full-fledged lawyers—at Law School, for instance."

MABEL ROLLINS '32, Home Economics, sailed March 17 from New York City for Europe. She plans to spend most of the term in England, and return in June.

PROFESSOR JOHN E. PERRY, Engineering, attended the annual convention of the American Railway Engineering Association in Chicago, Ill. last week.

THE TECHNIQUE OF GOOD MANNERS, by Mary P. Barker, with an introductory note by Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus, is the subject of a recent article by James Thurber in the New Yorker. He says the pamphlet was first used in a course of study at the Newark (N.J.) College of Engineering, and is now in general circulation as a guide to "proper behavior in the classroom, the ballroom, the laboratory, and the office."

PROFESSOR FORREST B. WRIGHT '22, Agricultural Engineering, and Professor Martin P. Catherwood, PhD '30, Agricultural Economics, have been elected president and secretary, respectively, of the newly-formed Town of Ithaca planning board.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of the Hotel Administration Faculty and selected Seniors are attending the Mid-West Hotel Exposition at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, Ill., March 23-27. Professor Frank H. Randolph '17, Hotel Engineering, speaks on "Air Conditioning" at one of the sessions. The Chicago branch of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen has a booth devoted to the Hotel Course, of which the central feature is the scale model of the Campus pictured on another page.

ALLAN NEVINS, who was professor of American History at the University during 1927-28, will lecture at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Calif., during the academic year 1937-38. Professor Nevins won the 1932 Pulitzer Prize for biography with his book, Grover Cleveland: A Study of Courage. He is now professor of history at Columbia.

GEORGE R. PFANN '24, Alumni Trustee, and Mrs. Pfann (Betty Wyckoff) '27, of Forest Hills, have a son, born March 16.

PASCAL: The Life of Genius, by Professor Morris C. Bishop '13, Romance Languages, is included in the spring list of approved books for Catholics, announced last week by the Cardinal Hayes literature committee.

PROFESSOR LEMO D. ROCKWOOD, PhD '31, Home Economics Extension, represented the American Home Economics Association at the American Eugenics Conference in New York City last week. The meeting dealt with the development of a eugenics program in high schools and colleges.

PROFESSOR GEORGE M. SUTTON, PhD '32, Ornithology, will leave Ithaca about April 10 to begin a two-months' survey of the bird-life of Oklahoma. He will be accompanied by John B. Semple, trustee of the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, Pa., with whom he has travelled in past years to Hudson Bay, British Columbia, Florida, and the Mexican border.

MISS R. LOUISE FITCH, Dean of Women, left Saturday for a trip to the West Coast. She will address the Cornell Women's Club of Los Angeles at a luncheon meeting April 3. She will also speak before the Women's League of the University of Arkansas; visit Mrs. C. F. Brook, head-resident of Risley Hall last year, at the University of Kansas; and attend the national convention of Women's Self-Government Associations in Los Angeles, Calif., where she will be joined by the outgoing and incoming presidents of WSGA, Katherine E. Skehan '37 of Richmond, Va. and Janet E. Dempster '38 of Schenectady. Before her return to Ithaca, about May 1, Miss Fitch will visit the University of California and Stanford University; Eugene, Ore.; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Fort Collins, Col.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'82—Alvin H. Sanders, for fifty years editor of The Breeder's Gazette, during which time he published eleven books, is now writing his twelfth volume, A Window in Wayne, concerning the Philadelphia suburb where he is now living in retirement. Assisting his father in founding the Gazette, the circulation reached under his direction a maximum of 100,000. He is the author of five standard histories of leading breeds of livestock, one of which merited the French government's cross of "Officier du Merite Agricole." His outdoor books include New Walks in Old Ways, In Winter Quarters, The Road to Dumbiedykes, and Black Swans. His most recent publication, a 630-page book, is Red, White and Roan. In 1900 he was the United States commissioner to the Paris Exposition, and from 1908-12 he was vice-chairman of the United States Tariff Board.

'88, '89 ME—Bryant H. Blood has left Hartford, Conn. for The Halekulani, Honolulu, T.H.

'89 ME (EE)—Frederick G. Schlosser was formerly with the American District Telegraph and Messenger Company, 9 Clinton Street, Newark, N. J. He still lives at the Hotel Lenox, 25 Central Avenue.

'94—Earl D. Babst, chairman of the board of directors of the American Sugar Refining Company, explains in his annual report for the forty-sixth year, ending December 31, 1936, that our present national sugar policy, as embodied in the United States Sugar Plan, endangers the continued dependability of our sugar supply by establishing distant, tropical areas as important sources of our refined sugar requirements. Adequate tariff protection against imports of refined sugar, and provision that sugar from tropical areas be admitted, under the quota system, only as raw sugar, would, he says, place the home refiners in position to continue rendering their greatest national service, reassure domestic cane and beet sugar producers, benefit supply and material firms throughout the country, and increase employment within and without the industry.

'95 ME—George T. Ladd, president of the United Engineering and Foundry Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., told stockholders recently that the company is employing more than its normal number of employees, and that operations at present are being maintained on the basis of a forty-hour week, which requires considerable overtime pay.

'98 ME—Jeremiah D. Maguire, president of the Federation Bank and Trust

Co., Thirty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue, New York City "likes the feel of his driver at the National Golf Links at Southampton, L. I.," according to a columnist in a New York City newspaper. Maguire is said to regret that his "frequent business trips to California prevent his playing more than four or five rounds a season." The columnist concludes that he "expends much of his energy on charitable enterprises, among them the Charity Organization of New York and the United Hospital Fund."

'98 LLB; '06 LLB—James S. Truman has been practicing law at Owego for thirty-nine years since graduation. His partner in the law firm of Truman, Bassett & Wood is Robert V. R. Bassett '06.

'99 MD—"One of the colorful figures of New York's realty history" is the New York Sun's characterization of Dr. Charles V. Paterno, who bought the property of the Church of the Epiphany in May, 1936. "At that time he wasn't sure of what his plans would be and apparently he's still undecided," the Sun states.

'02 ME—Joseph B. Weaver, director of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation of the Department of Commerce since 1934, resigned March 10.

'03 LLB—Justice Martin Travieso of the Puerto Rico Supreme Court was toastmaster at a Democratic victory dinner in San Juan, P.R. March 4 "to express Puerto Rico's gratitude for President Roosevelt's solicitous attention to the Island's problems."

'05—Sherman Jones is in the automobile business; his address, 7 Geer Avenue, Utica.

'06, '07 BS—Howard C. Pierce is with The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City. He lives at 32 McIntyre Street, Bronxville.

'08 ME, '10 MME; '15 AM—George W. Lewis, director of research of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was elected vice president, and Elmer A. Sperry '15 of the Sperry Products Corporation, Brooklyn, treasurer, of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences at the annual dinner in New York City recently.

'08 AB—Northwest Passage, Kenneth Roberts's new historical novel, will be published early in June, according to his publishers, Doubleday, Doran. They have just received the last of the MS from Roberts in Genoa, where he and Mrs. Roberts have spent the winter. They announce an early limited edition of 1,000 copies, to be autographed by the author and published in two volumes. The first will contain the novel itself and the second an appendix of source material, much of which has never before been published in English and has been translated from the French by Mrs. Roberts. The book is the almost incredible story of the expedition of Major Robert Rogers and his Rangers against the Indians to the St. Lawrence River, and of Rogers' dream of finding a "North-west Passage" to the Pacific.

'09, '10 ME—Frank W. McChesney returned to the State of Washington about a year ago, after several years' absence in Mexico and various countries in South America, and is "rusticating in our little shack on Bainbridge Island." He has three children, and lives at Port Blakely, Wash. "It seems a long time since Davey 'raised Hell with me, up in Morrill Number 3," he comments.

'09 AB—Robert W. Standart is manufacturing automatic fire alarms with the Garrison Engineering Company, Detroit, Mich. He lives at 810 Washington Road, Grosse Point, Mich.

'10, '11 BSA—Ray E. Deuel will move April 1 from Manlius to Oak Hill Road, Canastota.

'10 BS—William H. Marcussen, vice-president of the Borden Farm Products Company, Inc. 110 Hudson Street, New York City, told the New York State Legislative Milk Committee that "we cannot help but feel that milk price control is today of no benefit to any one." Speaking at a public hearing on the question of abandoning, continuing, or amending the milk control law passed in 1933, he said: "This is not because of constitutional limitations; not because of defects in the law; not because of poor administration; but because the whole concept on which the law was founded is basically unsound. Since the emergency on which it was originally justified is passed, the law should be discontinued at once."

'10 DVM—"The patter of tiny pedigreed feet may be heard on polished marble floors, no less, when society's pampered pets amble into the snooty new Dog Bath Club, due to open about a month from now at 144 East Fifty-seventh Street, under the direction of Dr. A. Maurice Stark. Here Dr. Stark is realizing the fulfillment of a lifelong dream in his specially designed new two-story building which fairly bristles with snappy ultra-modern equipment for the care and comfort of man's, and woman's, four-footed friends, the dog and the cat. With thirty years' experience as a veterinarian behind him, the doctor is now benefiting cat-and-dog-dom to the extent of $50,000 which, he said, is what his venture is costing him. His office, until he moved to the new building, has been at 507 Park Avenue, where he operated the Park Avenue Dog Shop."—From the New York World-Telegram of March 6.

'11—Paul V. Shields, partner in Shields & Company, brokers, 44 Wall Street, New York City, is chairman of a committee for the protection of preferred stockholders of the Utilities Power & Light Corporation, which has filed a petition under Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act.

'12 AB; '12—"If you want to go on the stage, try majoring in economics or engineering when you're in college," said Jay Fassett in a recent Cornell Daily Sun interview. Recalling his undergraduate experience in the title role of the Dramatic Club's performance of Gogol's "The Inspector General," Fassett added: "But there was a chap in our Sophomore Vaudeville who has done fairly well. His name was and is Adolph Menjou!" Expressing the belief that "Our theatre is too complex to develop true greatness," he added a word of praise for Helen Hayes. Asked his opinion of motion pictures, he replied, "I'll stick to the stage, thank you."

'13—William N. Paine of Paine & Clooney, manufacturers of petroleum products and tank steamers, has moved his offices from 101 Park Avenue to 60 East Forty-second Street, New York City.

'14 AM—Arthur M. Acheson is an associate of Dr. Nevil M. Hopkins, inventor and president of National Electric Ballots, Inc., who has perfected a practical apparatus, capable of being installed on any radio set operated by house current, which would make possible an instantaneous automatic survey of the number of radios tuned to any program at a given time. The device also would enable the radio listener to "talk back" by sending an electric signal, thus denoting approval or disapproval of the entertainment program, or recording a yes-or-no vote on questions of public interest. Acheson said the cost of the device is so small that it could be installed on new radios without affecting the retail price appreciably. He believes the radio voter could be used to obtain radio results similar to the Audit Bureau of Circulation which guarantees the size and honesty of newspaper circulation.

'24 BS—Gregory Pincus is the subject of an article, "No Father to Guide Them," by J. D. Ratcliff, in Collier's for March 20. The writer predicts that the scientist's experiments with rabbits may lead to mammalian reproduction without male factors. Describing the researcher at work in Harvard's biological laboratory, the author writes: "His name might have been borrowed from a cop in a detective novel: Gregory Pincus. But what he saw has possibilities more thrilling than anything a detective-story writer ever imagined: a world in which woman would be a dominant, self-sufficient entity, able to produce young without the aid of man." He quotes Pincus as saying "I am not interested in the implications of the work."

'26 BS; '26 AB—John J. Wille is a statistical writer on commerce and foreign trade with the Port of New York Authority, 111 Eighth Avenue, New York City. "At present, working on a report on airports involving a seaplane base for trans-Atlantic clipper ships and an inland landing field for Zeppelin service, Frankfurt to New York. To prove that local weather conditions are not too severe for that service, almost year round. New York has the passengers and the volume of mail and express packages to attract both types of air transport." TO CORNELL FATHERS Is Your Son Happy?

Many undergraduates prefer the privacy and comfort of Sheldon Court, especially as they become upperclassmen and the range of their University interests begins to broaden. The convenience and freedom of our well-appointed accommodations brings us Seniors each year from fraternities and rooming houses.

Right after the University Spring Recess we'll be making reservations for next year. Perhaps while your boy is at home, you'll want to talk it over with him and see if he wouldn't be more comfortable next year in Sheldon Court.

Rates are reasonable. Our location on College Avenue at the gates of the Campus is convenient. Rooms and suites are completely and comfortably furnished. The building is quiet and safe, with free tennis courts and parking space for cars. Under the same roof are an excellent restaurant, bookstore, barber shop, and a physician's office.

Send for our folder giving complete information and diagrams of reservations for next year. Address:
