PLAN ALUMNI INSTITUTE Modern Society Subject

Promise that the second Alumni Institute, to be held at Ithaca following Commencement next June, will offer "an interesting and important commentary upon modern society" is seen in the announcement that the University Faculty has approved the report of a preliminary committee appointed to recommend a subject for this year's sessions.

The general topic for discussion during the three days, June 16-18, will be, "Is Modern Civilization an Aesthetic Failure?" In its report the committee makes clear that "the word 'aesthetic' is to be thought of in its broadest sense of human satisfaction. It has seemed to the committee that the topic is broad enough, and yet vital enough, to warrant treatment from many points of view, and the committee envisages a program that will not only evaluate the contemporary condition of the fine arts and literature and the drama (selected portions of those subjects, with ample illustrations), but one that will lead inevitably into major questions in sociology and into historical background. It is a short step from aesthetics to social and even political economy. From that point it is another short step to the consideration of the part played by the engineering arts, or the mechanic arts, in providing essential satisfaction to humanity in this age of the machine, and of steel. These are the main objects of the program, but room may also be found for a consideration of education and domestic arts. The committee has worked out the plan in some detail, and thinks we have in the Cornell Faculty ample personnel to make the program an interesting and important commentary upon modern society."

Members of the committee to suggest a subject for the Alumni Institute were Professors William C. DeVane, English, chairman; Francke H. Bosworth, Architecture; Julian P. Bretz, History; Dwight Sanderson '98, Rural Social Organization; and Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, secretary.

It is expected that this second Alumni Institute, like the first one last year, will start with an evening session Commencement Day, June 15, and will continue through Thursday of that week, June 18, thus making it convenient for alumni who come to Ithaca for class reunions, June 12-14, to stay over for the Institute.

The idea of an Alumni Institute was first recommended to the University Faculty by the Cornell Alumni Corporation at its convention in October, 1934, and the plans for last year's successful sessions were made after extensive study of similar affairs at other universities and after many alumni had sent in their suggestions. Nearly one hundred alumni and members of the Faculty attended last June's sessions, and the opinion was general that they were decidedly worth while.

As last year, rooms will be provided in the University dormitories for alumni and their families, and all the "students" at the Alumni Institute will take their meals together in Willard Straight Hall, a single fee covering all expenses. Last year the Institute fee was fifteen dollars.

Members of the Faculty will address morning and afternoon sessions and the lectures will be liberally interspersed with round table discussions among small groups, with all taking part. Provision will be made for golf, tennis, and sightseeing trips in the late afternoons, and entertainment will probably be offered on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Speakers and their subjects have not yet been selected, but it is probable that the subjects will include virtually every phase and branch of modern life, with application to present-day conditions. The detailed program will be announced later in the ALUMNI NEWS. Reservations may be made by addressing Foster M. Coffin '12, at Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca.

WOMEN HEAR MRS. FARRAND

Members of the Cornell Women's Club of Ithaca, meeting February 24 at the Interim Club, were addressed by Mrs. Livingston Farrand, who described her recent trip to Spain with President Farrand. The Women's Instrumental Club, led by Margaret C. Edwards '36 of Freeport, gave several musical numbers. Mrs. R. W. Sailor (Queenie Horton) '09 was chairman of the committee.

MUSICAL CLUBS TRAVEL

The Musical Clubs will give three concerts during the spring recess, according to Jacob S. Fassett, 3d. '36, their manager. The first will be in Wayne, Pa. March 30, in the high school auditorium. On March 31 the Clubs will appear in Baltimore at the Maryland Casualty Company Auditorium, and a dance will follow. The Cornell Club of Maryland committee in charge is Guy T. Warfield, Jr., '25, August A. Denhard '25, and William A. Marshall III '29, secretary-treasurer of the Club. The next evening, April 1, the Club will give a concert in the grand ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D. C., with Edward D. Hill '23, secretary of the Cornell Club of Washington, heading the committee.

CAN WE AVOID WAR? By Professor Herbert W. Briggs

Asking the question, "Can the United States Keep Out of War?" Professor Herbert W. Briggs, Government, told a Farm and Home Week audience that of three possible methods, the one most likely to succeed is to "pass neutrality legislation now, making neutrality real and automatically effective if a general European war breaks out."

"Real neutrality," he said, "involves our making more sacrifices than international law requires. For example, selling munitions and contraband to either or both belligerents is perfectly consistent with legal neutrality. If, because one side controls the seas, we sell only to one side, that is still legal, but we have placed all our bets on one side and may gradually be drawn into war. An effective neutrality policy (in the sense of keeping us out of war) would involve a series of embargoes prohibiting American traders from selling munitions or other contraband or from making loans to either or all belligerents."

"This is the policy Congress adopted last August with regard to munitions; they plan to extend it to loans next week. Congress will probably refuse to extend it to other contraband because to do so would mean, in a major war, the loss of practically all our foreign trade. The cost would be great, but nothing compared to the loss of lives, property, and trade if we failed to keep out of war."

Professor Briggs traced the situation in Europe today and the history of our participation in the World War of 1914.

"We can keep out of the Italo-Ethiopian war," he said, "unless it spreads. But suppose Mussolini is mad enough to attack England. He is a dictator; he is waging a losing fight; there are rumors of discontent in Italy. He may follow the dictator's tried formula for local discontent: a nice big war. Conceivably Hitler's Germany might stop wooing England to throw in her lot with other dissatisfied countries: Poland, Hungary, Italy. Would Japan see advantage in an alliance with these states? Such a resulting world war would certainly threaten America."

"We all wanted to keep out of war in 1914. But in 1917 we didn't. After three years of neutrality we preferred war, because of Germany's ruthless submarine warfare; the skillful British propaganda, much more effective than Germany's; and the all-important fact that we had placed all our bets on the Allies. Because England controlled the seas, American munitions makers and exporters of food, cotton, and other war supplies sold only to the Allies. They did not technically violate neutrality, but would have sold to Germany also if they could have delivered."

Two other theoretical alternatives besides prohibiting all dealings with belligerents Professor Briggs mentioned: "do nothing now, but insist on our neutral rights when war comes," and "join the League of Nations, or at least, cooperate with it."

The first, he said, we tried in the World War, resulting in long and acrimonious diplomatic controversies with both the Allies and Germany, for both flagrantly and outrageously violated the international law dealing with the rights of neutrals. "Of the ten major points of international law which we disputed with England and the five with Germany, not one has yet been settled. Could we keep out of another war by insisting on them?"

Of the alternative of allying ourselves with the League of Nations Professor Briggs said:

"The League theory is that a neutral is a 'slacker.' The League provides that all members shall discriminate against the aggressor, and shall employ sanctions against him. But will the League always be faced with a single aggressor? Suppose Italy, Germany, Poland, Hungary, and possibly Japan, flaunt the League. Do we want to become involved? And will effective sanctions work without leading to another world war? I am not of those who believe that the way to keep out of war is to risk war with an aggressor in order to avoid it!"

Dr. Briggs has been assistant professor of Government at the University since 1929. Receiving the AB degree at West Virginia in 1921, he taught international relations at Johns Hopkins, where he received the PhD degree in 1925, and at Ohio Wesleyan. After a year in Belgium on a fellowship, he was a member of the research staff of the Foreign Policy Association in New York City during 1928, and has written extensively on problems of neutrality. He is a member of the executive council of the American Society of International Law and of the advisory board of the Harvard research in international law, which is undertaking a three-year study of the international law dealing with neutral and belligerent rights. He conducts three undergraduate courses and a seminar in international law and international relations.

About ATHLETICS

TRACK TEAM DEFEATS YALE

Leading athletic event of the week end in Ithaca was the opening of the indoor track season, against Yale in the Drill Hall Saturday night. The Varsity won 71-42, by next to the largest margin in the twelve years of the series, giving Cornell nine victories to three for Yale.

The only new record made was by tall, blond Walter D. Wood, Jr. '36, of Summit, N. J., who in his third attempt put the sixteen-pound shot 49 feet 11 inches, thus breaking the Drill Hall record of 49:1 set by Lawrence H. Levy '30 in 1930 and the meet record of 48: 7 $\frac{7}{8}$  set by Otto B. Schoenfeld '32 in 1932. Wood's team mates, Donald T. Houpt '36 of Ambler, Pa., and Ralph J. Vreeland, Jr. '38 of Ridgewood, N. J. took second and third, respectively.

In the other four field events, Henry S. Godshall, Jr. '36 of Lansdowne, Pa. repeated his victory of last year in the broad jump, held in the baseball cage in the afternoon, and Cornell gathered three second places and four thirds.

In the eight running events, however, the Varsity scored seven first places, four seconds, and two thirds. John A. Meaden, Jr. '37 of LaGrange, Ill. considerably improved over last year by cross country training last fall, captured first place in both the mile and half-mile. Captain Robert E. Linders '36 of Jersey City, N. J., national Junior AAU indoor sprint champion, did likewise in the 75-yard dash and gave good account of himself as anchor man of the mile relay team. Robert A. Scallan '36 of Terrace Park, Ohio, defeated but once indoors, bettered his last year's mark to win the quarter-mile and make the only Cornell score in that event, and gained a lead to start the mile relay that was never lost as the baton passed first to Walter T. Tatum '38 of Long Beach and then to William G. Rossiter '37 of Bronxville.

Grandin A. Godley '36, Tenaflly, N. J., converted high jumper, won the high hurdles within a fifth of a second of the Drill Hall and meet record set by Elmo Caruthers, Jr. '28 in 1928, and then placed second in the high jump. The two-mile run of sixteen laps around the Drill Hall floor was won handily by Herbert H. Cornell '38, star of last year's Freshman cross country team. Only momentarily, in the middle of the fifteenth lap, was he challenged by Fox of Yale, and for the last five laps he was closely paced by his team mate, William V. Bassett '37 of West Newton, Mass., who finished close behind him and thirty-five yards ahead of Fox. The summary:

TRACK EVENTS

75-yard dash: Won by Linders, Cornell; Godshall, Cornell, second; Burlingame, Yale, third. Time 0:07.8.

75-yard high hurdles: Won by Godley, Cornell; Moore, Yale, second; Neff, Cornell, third. Time 0:09.4.

440-yard dash: Won by Scallan, Cornell; Michaels, Yale, second; Alofsin, Yale, third. Time 0:51.9.

880-yard run: Won by Meaden, Cornell; Mezitt, Cornell, second; Congdon, Yale, third. Time 2:02.0.

75-yard low hurdles: Won by Frank, Yale; Messersmith, Cornell, second; York, Yale, third. Time 0:08.5.

One mile relay: Won by Cornell (Scallan, Tatum, Rossiter, Linders). Time 3:30.9.

One mile run: Won by Meaden, Cornell; Woodland, Yale, second; Mezitt, Cornell, third. Time 4:29.6.

Two-mile run: Won by Cornell, Cornell; Bassett, Cornell, second; Fox, Yale, third. Time 10:05.4.

FIELD EVENTS

Running high jump: Won by Badman, Yale, 6 feet; Godley, Cornell, second, 5 feet 10 inches; Scott, Cornell, third, 5 feet 8 inches.

Running broad jump: Won by Godshall, Cornell, 22 feet 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches; Ritzman, Yale, second, 21 feet 10 inches; Clausen, Cornell, third, 21 feet 6 $\frac{3}{4}$  inches.

Pole vault: Won by Harding, Yale, 13 feet; tie for second between MacNab, Cornell, and Campbell, Yale, 12 feet 6 inches.

16-pound shot put: Won by Wood, Cornell, 49 feet 11 inches, (New dual meet and Drill Hall record); Houpt, Cornell, second, 42 feet 11 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches; Vreeland, Cornell, third, 42 feet 4 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches.

35-pound weight throw: Won by Loeb, Yale, 52 feet 2 inches; Castle, Yale, second, 47 feet  $1\frac{3}{4}$  inches; Leone, Cornell, third, 46 feet  $7\frac{3}{4}$  inches.

A colorful crowd nearly filled the balcony and stands along one end and a side of the huge Drill Hall floor, with the ROTC band in their red uniforms at another side and the arena dotted with the myriad officials, mostly recruited from the Faculty, in their formal dress. Presiding over the meet was Professor Bristow Adams, Faculty member for track of the Intercollegiate Advisory Council, resplendent in tails, top hat, white gloves, and a cane. Romeyn Berry '04 functioned at the microphone of the amplifying system, which he used impartially to call unoccupied officials off the playing floor and to inform the spectators of the progress and results of the various events.

Sandwiched in between the scheduled events was the annual interclass medley relay race, open to all non-Varsity runners. That three teams of Freshmen competed in this with but one Sophomore team and no entries of Juniors or Seniors, is eloquent testimony of the efficacy of Coach Moakley's methods in attracting to his teams the best of the University's track material. A Freshman team which included James B. Pender of Lawrence, Mass., said to be State interscholastic champion, won the race.

BEAT PENNSYLVANIA

An ROTC polo team not previously seen together had no difficulty in upholding the unbroken Varsity record of winning in the Riding Hall Saturday afternoon against Pennsylvania,  $28\frac{1}{2}$ -6. After the first of the six periods, which ended with the score tied at 3, the Cornell team, led in the scoring by Arthur B. Christian '38 of Elmira, had no difficulty in maintaining a safe lead over their Red and Blue opponents. In the fourth they scored 8 points to one. Henry Untermeyer '36 of New York City, polo manager, played at No. 1, and Howard E. Babcock, Jr. '36 of Sunnyside Farm, Ithaca, whose father is a Trustee of the University, at No. 2. The summary:

CORNELL ( $28\frac{1}{2}$ )		PENNSYLVANIA (6)
Untermeyer	No. 1	Shulman
Babcock	No. 2	Powers
Christian	Back	Ballard

Score by periods:

Cornell	3	4	6	8	4	4-29
Pennsylvania	2	3	0	1	0	1-7

Cornell goals: Untermeyer 5, Babcock 8, Christian 12, by pony 4.

Pennsylvania goals: Shulman 2, Powers 2, Ballard 1, by pony 2.

Cornell fouls: Babcock.

Pennsylvania fouls: Ballard, Powers.

Referee, Lieut. J. R. Pitman, Jr.

RIFLE TEAM STARTS WELL

Fitting ending to a week that included victories over six teams in postal matches, the ROTC rifle team defeated the Elmira Rifle Club in Elmira Friday night, 1395-1380, and outshot Syracuse in the Drill Hall range Saturday, 945-919. Captain Jonathan P. Blount '36 was high scorer at Elmira, with 281 out of a possible 300 points.

In the Syracuse match, with each man allowed a possible 50 in each of three positions, Robert M. Richman '36 of Brooklyn led with 141, and the other six high scorers were Robert G. Smith '36 of Poughkeepsie, John J. Serrell, Jr. '37 of Elizabeth, N. J., Walter F. Crissey '37 of Ithaca, Stephen C. Fordham, Jr. '38 of Tivoli, Clarence O. Pratt '36 of Marion, and William H. Jenkins III '38 of Drexel Hill, Pa.

Further shoulder-to-shoulder matches are scheduled for March 29 with Syracuse at Syracuse; March 7, 28th Infantry at Fort Ontario; March 14, 28th Infantry at Ithaca; March 21, U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis; and the season ends April 4 with the National Intercollegiate matches at Annapolis.

Nearly every week a postal match will be shot in the Intercollegiate Allegheny League or the Second Corps Area League, in which Cornell won the Hearst trophy last year. Defeated by mail last week were St. John's, Massachusetts State, North Dakota Agricultural College, Boston College, Penn State, and Lehigh.

Sixty-nine candidates appeared last week for the opening competition for the 1936 ROTC pistol team, called by the coach, Lieutenant John R. Pitman, Jr. A new range has been laid out in the Drill Hall and a series of postal matches has been arranged.

HOCKEY TEAM WINS

Saturday afternoon, on the best ice of the season, the hockey team scored its first victory, 6-2 over Syracuse, on Beebe Lake. David D. Dugan '37 of Hamburg opened the scoring by taking the puck down the rink in the first period for a fine close shot to the goal, and closed it in the last after a melee near the goal. William J. Simpson '37 of Larchmont, Bawlf's new center, led the scoring with three, and the other goal was made by B. Bristow Adams '36 of Ithaca, with a hard shot from forty feet out. The lineup:

CORNELL (6)		SYRACUSE (2)
Keeler	G	Eckers
D. Dugan	LD	Guenther
H. Dugan	RD	Mizett
Simpson	C	Bendixon
Hoyt	LW	Glant
Morton	RW	Michael

Cornell spares: Adams, Ehrlich, A. McElwee, C. McElwee.

Syracuse spares: Betters, Lahart.

First period: Goals, D. Dugan, Cornell, 5:34; Simpson, Cornell, 7:55; Bendixon, Syracuse, 9:30; Simpson, Cornell, 13:00. Penalty, Mizett.

The women's basketball team entertains teams from Wells College (in the white shirts) and from Alfred and Elmira College in the Old Armory Saturday afternoon.

Second period: Goals, Simpson, Cornell, 18:15; Adams, Cornell, 19:30. Penalties, Simpson, Bendixon, Guenther.

Third period: Goals, Guenther, Syracuse, 15:32; D. Dugan, Cornell, 19:30. Referees, Williams and Jordan.

The Freshman hockey team played its first game Friday afternoon, and lost to Clinton High School, 1-6. The single Cornell score was made by Eugene E. Crosby, son of Professor Cyrus R. Crosby '05, Entomology.

BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES

Away from Ithaca, the teams did not fare quite so well in their week end matches as those at home.

The basketball team slipped to sixth place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League of seven when it lost to Pennsylvania, whom it had beaten in the Junior Week game in the Drill Hall. Only Harvard now trails Cornell. Saturday's score was 21-38.

Pennsylvania seems to be steadily improving, having won their last four games, while Cornell lost three. Next Saturday the Varsity meets Columbia, League leaders, for the first time, in New York City.

Freed accounted for 11 of Cornell's 21 points on Saturday, but did not get started until the second half, when he was aided by Wilson and Rich. Downer was so closely guarded by Pennsylvania's Barrett that he was able to score but one field goal. The lineup:

The Freshman basketball team tied the Ithaca College Freshmen on their own court, 33-33, in a game that was close and hard fought throughout, February 19. The College team has not been defeated at home.

On Saturday at Hamilton the Freshmen lost to Colgate Freshmen, 28-38, their second game of the season. Thirteen field goals were made by the Cornell yearlings to only fourteen by Colgate, but the home team converted ten foul shots while the Cornell youngsters could find the net with but two. High scorer for Cornell was Walter H. Foertsch of Rochester, with six field goals and one foul.

WRESTLERS LOSE NARROWLY

The wrestling team provided thrills for Lehigh alumni in convention at Buffalo on Saturday, as it led Lehigh 18-10 at the end of the sixth bout. Appropriately enough, however, Cornell in the 175-pound class and George in the heavyweight division were thrown by their Lehigh opponents to make the final score Cornell 18, Lehigh 20. Falls were scored by Gregory Shallenberger '37 of Cleveland, Ohio, in the 118-pound class; by John P. Floros '36 of Ithaca in the 135-pound class; and by Harry Smith '38 of Buenos Aires, Argentina, in the 165-pound class. Lehigh defaulted in the 145-pound class. The summary:

118-pound class: Shallenberger, Cornell, threw Clow with a fore-hand scissors and headlock. Time 5:40.

126-pound class: Oshman, Lehigh, threw Wilson with a half-nelson and crotch hold. Time 3:48.

135-pound class: Floros, Cornell, defeated H. Perry. Time advantage, 2:09.

145-pound class: Cornell won by default.

155-pound class: Bishop, Lehigh, threw Brownell with a three-quarter nelson and arm lock. Time 3:41.

165-pound class: H. Smith, Cornell; threw Crockett with a half nelson and crotch hold. Time 2:36.

175-pound class: Sternbaugh, Lehigh, threw Ken Cornell with a body press and head hold. Time 1:44.

Unlimited class: Scobey, Lehigh, threw George with a crotch and side-arm hold. Time 1:36.

SWIMMERS IMPROVE

Fordham was forced to four new pool records to defeat the swimming team in New York City Friday night, 48-23, and Manhattan won the 400-meter medley relay by inches on Saturday to defeat the Varsity swimmers, 43-27, who broke two existing records of the DeWitt Clinton High School pool.

Robert D. Cloyes '38 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, starred in both meets, winning the 50-yard free style, breaking the 100-yard free style pool record, and swimming as No. 4 on the relay team against Manhattan, and forcing two Fordham winners in the dashes to new records. Norman H. Rasch '37 of Buffalo set a new record in the 220-yard breast stroke against Manhattan and won the event in both meets, as did R. Gurden Miller, 3d. '38 of Cleveland, Ohio. The summaries:

CORNELL 23, FORDHAM 48

220-yard free style: Won by Schirmer, Fordham; Rasch, Cornell, second; Devlin, Fordham, third. Time 2:25.4 (new pool record).

50-yard free style: Won by Giesen, Fordham; Cloyes, Cornell, second; Hedley, Fordham, third. Time 0:24.5. (new pool record).

Low-board dive: Won by Miller, Cornell,

102.9; Pace, Cornell, second, 91.68; Whelan, Fordham, third, 80.28.

440-yard free style: Won by Schirmer, Fordham; Ameno, Fordham, second; Critchlow, Cornell, third. Time 5:15.8 (new pool record).

150-yard breast stroke: Won by Devlin, Fordham; Hedley, Fordham, second; Hassell, Cornell, third. Time 1:52.0.

220-yard breast stroke: Won by Rasch, Cornell; King, Fordham, second; O'Connor, Fordham, third. Time 2:48.

100-yard free style: Won by Giesen, Fordham; Cloyes, Cornell, second; Goebel, Fordham, third. Time 0:55.5 (new pool record).

440-yard relay: Won by Fordham (King, Devlin, Schirmer, Giesen); Cornell (Weil, Hill, Naquin, Critchlow), second. Time 3:57.6.

CORNELL 27, MANHATTAN 43

50-yard free style: Won by Cloyes, Cornell; Curtin, Manhattan, second; Weil, Cornell, third. Time, 0:25.6.

100-yard free style: Won by Cloyes, Cornell; Kemly, Manhattan, second; Cunnion, Manhattan, third. Time, 0:59.4. (New pool record).

220-yard free style: Won by Hayes, Manhattan; Kemly, Manhattan, second; Dasch, Cornell, third. Time, 2:32.4.

440-yard free style: Won by Gillespie, Manhattan; Critchlow, Cornell, second; Denvir, Manhattan, third. Time, 6:08.6.

150-yard back stroke: Won by Curtin, Manhattan; Hayes, Manhattan, second; Hassell, Cornell, third. Time, 1:51.

200-yard breast stroke: Won by Rasch, Cornell; Mangano, Manhattan, second; Mooney, Manhattan, third. (Mooney was disqualified for using an illegal kick). Time, 2:45.8. (New pool record.)

Fancy diving: Won by Miller, Cornell, 96.95 points; Stadelberger, Manhattan, second; Pace, Cornell, third.

400-yard relay: Won by Manhattan (Kemly, Denvir, Curtin, Hayes); Cornell (Rasch, Weil, Naquin, Cloyes), second. Time, 4:00.5.

SKI COMBINATION WINS

A ski team composed of Verner F. Ogi '37, Joslyn A. Smith '38, and Carl-Eric Beve '39 of the Varsity team, and Evan L. Noyes '37 of Indianapolis and Robert K. Story '37 of Beverly, Mass., highest scorers in the interfraternity meet last week, won at Chittenango Falls Saturday against Colgate, Syracuse University, and the Syracuse Ski Club. Cornell scored 200, Colgate 174.48, Syracuse 150.03, and Syracuse Ski Club 103.61.

Smith, Ogi, Noyes, and Beve took the first four places in the slalom race, with just over six seconds separating the first and the fourth. Ogi was third in the downhill race, five seconds behind the winner.

Next Saturday afternoon a meet is scheduled at Hamilton.

ROCHESTER HAS CELEBRITIES

The Cornell Club of Rochester celebrated Washington's Birthday with a dinner dance. An attendance of more than two hundred gave evidence of the enthusiastic acceptance of the program. Elbert H. Carver '26 was chairman of the committee.

Arthur B. Curran '16, president of the Club, presided at the dinner. At the table with him were Nicholas J. Weldgen '05, president of the Rochester Bar Association; Lieutenant-Colonel Robert J. Halpin '04; Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Kenyon '07; Dr. Floyd S. Winslow '06, past president of the Cornell Alumni Corporation and president-elect of the New York State Medical Association; Stearns S. Bullen '09, president of the Rochester Academy of Medicine; and Supreme Court Justice John C. Wheeler '09, former Steuben County Surrogate, who commenced a fourteen-year term as New York Supreme Court Justice on January 1.

All of these were introduced, and Judge Wheeler responded briefly.

HOTELMEN DANCE

The last regular meeting of the Cleveland, Ohio, chapter of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen took the form of a dinner dance at Monaco's restaurant cafe. Every resident member of the Society was present, with his lady, and the guest of honor was Mark Egan, chairman of the Cleveland Convention Bureau, who on February 21 came to Ithaca to lecture in Hotel Administration, speaking on "Promoting Convention Business for Cities."

Present at the Cleveland meeting were Ruel E. Tyo '27, manager of the University Club and president of the local chapter of the Society; Harry A. Smith '30, manager of the Cleveland Club; B. Franklin Copp '29, Richard P. Irwin '32, Milton R. Shaw '32, and William E. Chisler '34.

NEWARK HOLDS SMOKER

Attendance of more than three hundred at the smoker given February 21 by the Cornell Club of Newark made it one of the largest Cornell gatherings ever held in New Jersey. The party was given at the Essex County Country Club in West Orange, N. J. Besides the Cornellians present, the Club had invited representatives of Columbia, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale.

President Farrand, the main speaker, inspired his audience with a discussion of the ideals and standards of education at the University. George R. Pfann '24, Alumni Trustee and member of the Athletic Policy Board, explained the new plan of athletics and expressed an optimistic view of the future of Cornell sports.

Andrew J. Whinery '10, also an Alumni Trustee, was toastmaster, and Philip O. Hoag '23 was master of ceremonies. A special entertainment committee was headed by William W. Sproul '28, and the chairman of the committee which arranged the smoker was Charles F. Hendrie '18.

It was agreed that this successful party would undoubtedly bring increased attendance at the regular monthly luncheons of the Cornell Club of Newark, which are held the second Fridays at the Down Town Club in Newark. President of the Club is Clarence J. Pope '10; secretary, Milton H. Cooper '28, 744 Broad Street, Newark, N. J.

"STATE AND TIOGA" By Romeyn Berry '04

Last September we laid in our usual supply of coal; which is all the bin will hold. Some years there is a little coal left when the time comes to put on the screen doors and attach the awnings to the sunny side. Other years there isn't quite enough, and we are regretfully obliged to order another ton at the end of April. But there is no close figuring now. At the moment of reporting it is my considered opinion that what coal we have left won't last us beyond the 5th of March; the 10th anyway!

It is, of course, none of your business, but the present lot isn't quite paid for. But it nearly is. One more installment and all the coal that was in the now-empty bin will be our very own. Goody! Goody! Goody!

Our New Door Bell

We have a new door bell. We've had it less than a week but already my disposition has improved immeasurably. When pressed by the Fuller brush man, or by the defective who desires to put himself through Cortland Normal by taking subscriptions to the Delineator, this new door bell emits none of your abrupt, mandatory summonses. There comes rather from an indefinite location in the spirit world the lascivious pleasing of a lute. It's the sweet contralto hum of a temple gong that has been gently rubbed—not struck—by a sinister, slant-eyed priest. There is no concussion on the auditory nerve. The sensation is rather one of sympathetic awareness produced by an unlocalized but pleasurable stimulus.

It acts, this lovely tone, like an insidious drug. In less than a week my shredded nervous system has been so healed by the soft stroking of the new door bell that I have purchased six Fuller brushes and subscribed twice to the Delineator—with pleasure. Even the boy's weekly request for eighteen cents toward The Ithaca Journal no longer engenders murderous designs on my old friend, Mr. Harry Stutz. Summoned by the celestial music of the door bell I now invite the little fellow within while I spend hours searching all my old pants for the ultimate penny.

I esteem this new musical door bell an invention of the utmost importance to jumpy America and the principle thereof as one to be applied to all other raucous summoners. Our order is in for a second temple gong, in the key of C, to supplant the foot buzzer in the dining room, to the end that our ears shall no longer be needlessly assaulted every time a child craves still another double slug of lamb stew at the evening meal.

But the lasting cure of American nerves will not have been attained until the rude challenge of the telephone is supplanted by the soft, seductive lure of muted music. So far the Telephone Company does not seem to have heard about this thing. I called up and tried to tell them, but the man acted about the way I used to act toward the Fuller brush man and the maddening adolescent from The Ithaca Journal. While he didn't say so, I inferred the company was stocked up with millions of old telephone instruments and, until these were worked off on the subscribers, the less said the better about temple gongs and lascivious lute pleatings as a substitute for harsh noises. But we'll come to it eventually!

Nature Notes

On Tuesday I saw my first robin. My report did not excite the Department of Ornithology. Dr. George Sutton said, in substance, that he didn't question it was a robin, but what of it? He said lots of robins get fed up with their fellow robins (taut nerves, no doubt, produced by telephone bells) and stick around all winter by themselves. I was glad to know this. I'd hate to think that robin had been silly enough to start North in this particular February. It would have shaken my ancient faith that in the matter of weather, robins know more than white folks.

Garden Seed

The seed for this year's garden came last week. Nasturtiums, marigolds, and scabiosa blue cocade! There's zinnias and poppies, petunias, asters, and violas, too. I would not care to be thought bragging, but ours is essentially a perennial garden and most of the things are already there: the peonies, the iris, the delphinium and phlox. That list of seeds is nothing much—just filler in; and besides, they've sent schizanthus, venedium, and arctotis; gypsophila, didiscus, and antirrhinum. Hot dog!

No one remembers ordering the didiscus. Mr. Henderson must have generously slipped that in just before doing up the package, in the same sly, deceitful manner Mr. Atwater slips in the thirteenth bun when we've ordered but a dozen. And no one in our untutored household knows what a didiscus is. Some claim it's short and fat for borders, and others contend it's tall and slender with pinkish flowers—sorter—and should be planted in the rear beside the hollyhocks.

With a didiscus on his hands, one regrets the passing of the old-fashioned seed packet that actually pictured in brave colors the ultimate flower that the enclosed germs portended. They lied shamelessly, to be sure, these colored packets; but at least they gave you a general idea of what you had a right to expect. These plain envelopes give you English literature, but convey no clear-cut, mental picture of the finished plant.

Here it is February and it looks as if we'd have to wait 'til August before we can find out what didiscus really is. Or, perhaps, are.—From The Ithaca Journal

CHICAGO TALKS POWER

At the regular luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago February 27, Harry B. Gear '95, vice-president of the Commonwealth Edison Company, was scheduled to speak on "Electric Power Output in the Chicago Area." The Club reports an excellent advance sale of tickets for the Leap Year polo game, February 29, of the ROTC Varsity against the Black Horse Troop of Chicago, with a party at the Casino following.

DETROIT HAS TWO

The Cornell Club of Michigan at its regular luncheon meeting February 20 heard from Victor T. Wilson '98, who discussed the Townsend plan. Instructor in Drawing at Sibley College from 1893 to 1903, Wilson has taught at Illinois, Penn State, and Michigan State, and is now a Christian Science practitioner in Detroit.

On February 25, many Detroit Cornellians attended a luncheon of the Michigan Housing Association at which the guest of honor was Tracy B. Augur '17, formerly a landscape architect in Detroit and now chief of the planning section of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

DEAN YOUNG REPORTS

Dean George Young, Jr. '00 mailed last week to alumni of the College of Architecture one of his interesting "alumni letters" in which he gives recent news of the College. He describes recent changes made in White Hall, a new course in construction for landscape architects, arranged in cooperation with Director S. C. Hollister of Civil Engineering, and gives recent news of the Faculty. Among those mentioned are Professor William M. Dunbar, back from four years' leave of absence spent at Scripps College, where he taught history and appreciation of art and architecture, and Professor Clarence A. Martin '90, who is building himself a house in Sarasota, Fla., "and starting in practice as nearly, if not quite, the most recently licensed architect in the State."

Employment of alumni is increasing, Dean Young reports. Landscape men, he says, are fully employed, so far as is known; the number of Architecture alumni out of jobs is decreasing; and of the Class of '35 the last to be located found a job about November 1. Dean Young urges alumni of the College who may not have received the letter to send their addresses to him.

LYNAH IN CLEVELAND

Guest and speaker at the regular luncheon of the Cornell Club of Cleveland on February 14 was James Lynah '05, University director of physical education and athletics. He described the present athletic situation at Ithaca.

BOOK GETS RECOGNITION

Honor came to Ithaca last week with the announcement that The Search for the Northwest Passage, by Nellis M. Crouse, PhD '24, had been selected by the Institution of Graphic Arts as one of the fifty best books of 1935 for mechanical excellence. Designed by Frank Spur of Columbia University Press, its publisher, the book was printed at the Cayuga Press in Ithaca, which is operated by Cornellians and owned by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Corporation.

Printers and publishers count it a signal honor to have their books chosen in this annual competition. Books submitted are judged, independently of literary merit, as being the best examples of the designers', printers', and binders' arts, and in appearance the most appropriate to their literary or artistic contents. For the period from December 1, 1934, to December 1, 1935, more than five hundred books printed in the United States and Canada were entered. The jury of selection consisted of Lewis Mumford, Milton Glick of Viking Press, and Karl Kup, curator of the Spencer collection in the New York Public Library. The fifty books selected are on exhibition at the New York Public Library until March 9.

Dr. Crouse's volume of 534 pages is a chronicle of the voyages made in quest of a westward ship passage across the polar wastes of America to India. It begins with the first sailing of the Englishman, John Cabot, four hundred years ago, and ends with the discovery of the Northwest Passage by Amundsen early in this century.

The book is bound in blue and silver, with silver-flecked fly leaves. A full page etching of Arctic adventure by John Murray of London, 1821, is its frontispiece, and chapter headings are wood cuts by Paul Laune, who is the brother of Mrs. Edward O. Hopkins. Captain Hopkins is coach of the ROTC polo team.

Most of the stockholders of the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Corporation are Cornellians. Besides the Columbia University Press, the firm has printed books for many publishers, including Macmillan, Dutton, McGraw-Hill, Comstock Publishing Company, and the University Presses of Cornell, Yale, and Michigan.

HAWAII HEARS NEW SONG

The Cornell Club of Hawaii met for dinner at the Honolulu Country Club on January 18. Guests of honor were Glenn S. (Pop) Warner '94, coach of the Temple University football team, and Professor Robert S. Stevens, Law, who was traveling on sabbatic leave from the University. R. Alexander Anderson '16 presided, and a feature of the evening was the introduction of "When Twilight Falls on Blue Cayuga," a song of which Anderson wrote the words and music.

NEW YORK WOMEN

One hundred seventy-five attended the annual luncheon, February 15, of the Cornell Women's Club of New York. Among the guests was Dr. C. Adeline McConville '91, who has attended every annual luncheon of the Club.

Katharine Etz '17, the chairman, introduced President Farrand and Mrs. Chi Ting Kwei (Helen Huie) '20. Mrs. Kwei described "Women in Modern China." She is in this country on sabbatical leave from the Central China College, where she teaches English.

THE CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA

The Cleveland Orchestra, making its first Ithaca appearance under the direction of Artur Rodzinski, February 18, was warmly applauded by the large audience who braved an icy storm to come to Bailey Hall. They came not only from Campus and town, but in busses from Wells College and Elmira, and in cars from other outlying towns.

It was apparent to all that the tall, grave man who led the ensemble had thorough mastery, not only of his music but of the artists who rendered it so compellingly. There was a certain analytical quality about his conducting, especially in the lighter and more intricate passages, when, his baton laid aside, the conductor's whole person seemed to savor with discrimination and enjoyment the niceties of tone and harmony that came with precise response to the very movements of his finger tips.

The program included offerings to please every taste: Bach, Beethoven, Ravel, Strauss, and Wagner. Particularly impressive was the rendering of the "Death and Transfiguration," of Strauss, the music as inevitable as the elements themselves. Recalled again and again, Dr. Rodzinski gave as an encore the "Triana" from Albeniz "Iberia."

BRIEF NEWS OF CAMPUS AND TOWN

BUTTER MELTED again on Faculty breakfast toast Monday morning, as pantry temperatures approached a comfortable norm, along with that of the out-of-doors, after a Sunday of warm sun. For what seemed like a full month, family tempers have been strained as chunks broke the crispness of hot toast. Actually, we are informed by John C. Fisher of the Cornell Weather Bureau station, February so far has had only five consecutive days (February 18 to 22) when the mercury went below the zero mark. But Ithaca is glad the backbone of winter is broken—for the moment!

AT ANY RATE, Nick Bawlf vouches for the fact that there have been forty-two consecutive days of good skating on Beebe Lake, the ice on Sunday being more than twenty-five inches thick. Cayuga Lake since a week ago Tuesday froze over all the way northward from Myers Point. Dirt roads of the surrounding country are still blocked by snow-drifts, and some concern has been expressed over the danger of possible floods if rains should overtax stream beds still cluttered with the debris of last summer's disaster.

THAT DISASTER, surveys reported last week showed, took forty lives in six counties and caused property damage estimated at more than $28,000,000.

SIXTEEN LAWYERS of Ithaca and vicinity, all Cornellians, are sitting as judges in the Law School's moot court proceedings which began last week. They are Charles H. Blood '88, Willard M. Kent '98, Sherman Peer '06, Arthur G. Adams '06, Daniel Crowley '08, L. N. Simmons '12, Charles H. Newman '13, George H. Russell '19, Harold E. Simpson '19, William H. Coon '22, Louis K. Thaler '25, Henry J. Shirey '25, Norman G. Stagg '26, James F. O'Connor '30, Truman K. Powers '30, and John A. Noble, Jr. '31.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL team defeated Wells College, 14-8, and lost to Elmira, 12-17, in the Old Armory Saturday afternoon, and Alfred defeated both other visiting teams. Bertha M. Bussinah '37 of Hampton Bays, forward, starred for Cornell, making 6 goals in all. Other members of the team, selected in preliminary competitions, were Lucia M. Angell '37 of South Otselic, Pauline M. Messinger '37 of Bangor, Pa., and Marjorie L. Shenk '38 of Buffalo, forwards; Mary A. Couch '37 of Ithaca, Edna R. Strobeck '37 of Macedon, Hope Stevenson '38 of Cayuga, Mona A. Brierly '39 of Buffalo, and Pauline A. Riley '39 of Ithaca, guards. The visitors were entertained at luncheon in Balch

Hall by members of the WAA council and for tea at Willard Straight Hall after the games by the staff of the Physical Education Department.

THE SUN MARCHES ON! Beginning March 2, the Cornell Daily Sun enters the field of news broadcasting. It will co-operate with the Radio Guild on alternate Mondays at 5:15 to dramatize Campus news over Station WESG.

PRIVATE EMPLOYERS in Tompkins County put more persons to work during 1935 than were given work relief, for the first time since 1929, it was reported last week by the local office of the National Re-Employment Service. 626 residents of the County were added to private payrolls, as compared with 549 who accepted Government employment.

ADD SIGNS of something or other: Sale of automobile license plates in Ithaca for 1936 reached a new all-time high with 7,025 purchased by February 1; and thirty-two more babies were born to Tompkins County parents in 1935 than in the previous year.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER March 1 is Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of the Free Synagogue, New York City. Rabbi Wise will also conduct the fourth of the Campus Forum series in Willard Straight Hall that evening.

OTHER LECTURES for the week include Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, before the current events class February 24; Dr. George M. Sutton, PhD '32, Ornithology, at a tea for University women February 25; Professor Cushman before the class in city and regional planning, on "The Relation of Planning Commissions and Boards to Government Departments," February 26; Dr. Johannes Holtfreter, director of the Zoological Institute at Munich, on "The Malformations of Vertebrates and Their Interpretation by Experiments," February 27 on the Jacob H. Schiff Foundation; and Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University on the Goldwin Smith lectureship and Campus Forum, discussing "The American Negro's Great Adventure."

FASTNACHTFEST, to be held February 29 in Willard Straight Hall, will observe appropriate Leap Year customs, it is announced. True to its Teutonic origin, this annual pre-Lenten costume carnival always brings, according to "Stuffy" DeMun who presides at the Willard Straight soda bar, more than the normal sale of beer. The festival is sponsored by Der Deutscher Verein cooperating with the Willard Straight board of managers.

NINE MEN and one woman undergraduate survived the first trials for the '94 Memorial Debate Prize contest. Second preliminary trials were scheduled for February 27, with Professor Herbert A. Wichelns '16, Public Speaking, in charge.

ROGER H. AYALA, son of the former president of Paraguay, left Ithaca suddenly for New York City February 18, following receipt of the news of his father's deposition by a swift military rebellion. Originally a member of the Class of '35, young Ayala's course in Architecture was interrupted for more than a year by service in his country's army, which terminated with the ending of the war with Bolivia last June. He refused to comment on the present situation at home.

BARRISTERS' BALL is scheduled for Willard Straight Hall the evening of March 6.

CLAIRE R. KELLY '37 of Utica and M. Clare McCann '37 of Ithaca represented the Women's Debate Club in Buffalo February 21 against a team of the University of Buffalo. They upheld the negative side of the question: "Resolved, that Congress should have the right to override by a two-thirds vote in both houses any Supreme Court decision declaring an act of Congress unconstitutional." On February 29 a women's team will meet Syracuse at Syracuse, and feminine debaters from Penn State will visit Ithaca for a tilt on March 3.

INTERFRATERNITY SKI tournament of three events, concluded last week, attracted thirteen teams and nearly fifty entrants. Delta Upsilon won the tournament with a score of 300, and led in the cross-country, slalom, and downhill races. They were followed by Theta Xi with 224, Sigma Pi 219, Chi Phi 193, Llenroc Lodge 192, and the eight other entrants. Individual tournament winner was Evan L. Noyes '37, member of the Psi Upsilon team and the son of Nicholas H. Noyes '06 of Indianapolis, Ind. He made 290 points, and was followed by Robert K. Story '37 of Beverly, Mass., 254; and John G. Whitman '36 of Baltimore, Md., 245, both representing Delta Upsilon.

FARM AND HOME WEEK aftermath is reported by Cecil R. Rosenberry '25 in the Ithaca Journal as he records the death of "Susie," a black tarantula who, with her blond companion, "Jean Harlow," constituted one of the popular exhibits of the Department of Entomology. After the tumult was over, she quietly turned up her eight toes and died.

NECROLOGY

DR. LYNN A. HOAG, February 16, 1936, in Barrington, R. I. He had taught Pediatrics at the Medical College in New York since 1923, and for some time past had had leave of absence because of ill health.

The son of Professor Emeritus William A. Hammond, former Dean of the University Faculty and now at the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., Hammond entered the Arts College in 1917, but left the next year to enter West Point, where he graduated in 1920. From 1926 to 1930 he was a member of the ROTC staff at the University, where he played and coached polo, became golf champion of the Ithaca Country Club, and was a member of the squash team of the Town and Gown Club. Brothers, Donald V. Hammond '16 and John W. Hammond '20.

'26—CHARLES JULIUS ANDERSON, in June, 1934, at his home in Jamestown. Seal and Serpent.

TWELVE IN SPOKANE

Cornell men participated in an all-college dinner and smoker held in Spokane, Wash. on January 20. More than two hundred men representing colleges and universities from all parts of the country met for dinner at the University Club. Twelve Cornellians, of classes from '93 to '35 occupied one table.

PUBLISH POUND VOLUME

In the Cornell Law Quarterly for February Ralstone R. Irvine '23, editor-in-chief of the Quarterly in 1925-26, collaborates with William J. Donovan in elucidating "The President's Power to Remove Members of Administrative Agencies." Trusts and Trustees, by Professor George G. Bogert '06, published in 1935, is reviewed by Professor Horace E. Whiteside '22; Professor Lyman P. Wilson reviews two books by John H. Wigmore, A Code of the Rules of Evidence in Trials at Law, and A Students' Textbook of the Law of Evidence; Professor Herbert D. Laube reviews Mr. Justice Cardozo, by Joseph P. Pollard; and Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, reviews The Constitution in School and College, by H. Arnold Bennett, and Parliamentary Law and Procedure, by John Q. Tilson.

This is the second number of this year's "Cuthbert W. Pound Volume." The first (December, 1935) contains an excellent portrait of Judge Pound and two memorial articles: "Cuthbert W. Pound: an Appreciation," by Frank H. Hiscock '75, chairman of the University's Board of Trustees, and "A Liberal Judge: Cuthbert W. Pound," by Professor Henry W. Edgerton '10.

To this number Professor Gustavus H. Robinson contributes "An Introduction to Admiralty Law," the first three chapters of a forthcoming Hornbook on Admiralty. Two book reviews by Professor Robinson also appear, and others by Smith Simpson '31 of the University of Pennsylvania and Henry S. Fraser '26 of Syracuse.

On February 21 the Law Quarterly elected to its staff three Seniors and six Juniors. The third-year men are Willi Kohler of Stuttgart, Germany, Carl F. Hollander '34 of Ithaca, and Leo Nevas of South Norwalk, Conn. Second-year men elected are Daniel J. Blaugrund '35 of Utica, Herbert T. Brunn of Brooklyn, William Goldman of Auburn, Frank C. Heath of Weston, W. Va., Ira L. Tilzer '35 of Staten Island, and Daniel G. Yorkey '35 of Central Square.

Concerning THE FACULTY

FIFTY-SEVEN members of the Faculty last week signed a telegram to Christopher C. McGrath, chairman of the State Assembly committee on public education, requesting repeal of the Ives Law, which requires teachers to take oath to support the Constitution. The telegram branded the law as "futile, unnecessary, and tending to hamper proper freedom of expression regarding governmental matters."

PROFESSOR EDMUND L. WORTHEN, MS '08, Agronomy Extension, addressed the northeastern states extension conference in Boston, Mass., February 19-21, on "What Adjustments are Demanded by the Economic Situation in Our Dairy Feeding Program?"

SALARY CUTS as high as fifty percent, with the average about fifteen percent where flat reductions were made, were disclosed in a survey of ninety-six colleges and universities made by Professor Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Physics, and a colleague from the University of Minnesota, and reported at the recent meeting of the American Association of University Professors.

NEW PROFESSOR of Psychiatry at the Medical College in New York is Dr. Oskar Diethelm, former chief associate of Dr. Adolf Meyer at Johns Hopkins, it was announced February 6. Beginning his new duties in March, Dr. Diethelm also becomes psychiatrist-in-chief of New York Hospital. He succeeds in both positions Dr. George S. Amsden, who retired last year, having served since 1931. Dr. Diethelm was born in Switzerland thirty-nine years ago and studied medicine at the University of Zurich and the University of Berne, where he received the Doctor's degree in 1923. He had been at Johns Hopkins since 1932.

NATIONAL DEFENSE WEEK was observed in Ithaca with a lecture February 20 on the Hawaiian Islands, given at a troop school conference of the Organized Reserve Corps by Lieutenant-Colonel J. I. Muir, former Military Intelligence officer and now with the University ROTC unit.

PROFESSOR HOWARD B. MEEK, Hotel Administration, addressed the Ithaca Advertising Club February 20 on "Showmanship in Advertising as Illustrated in Hotel Promotion."

PROFESSOR PAUL J. WEAVER, on sabbatic leave for the remainder of the academic year, will spend several months in New York City and visiting other universities as a member of the recently-appointed Commission on Music. Working through the agency of the Association of American Colleges, the Commission will establish projects in music, to be carried out with the cooperation of the Carnegie Foundation.

PROFESSOR ALBERT W. LAUBENGAYER '21, Chemistry, and Mrs. Laubengayer sailed on February 22 for a visit to France, England, Germany, Switzerland, and Denmark. Professor Laubengayer will study in England and Germany. They plan to return in September.

THE PASSING OF THE NAIL FILE

TWENTY YEARS AGO, the wise car driver carried a nail file to clean the platinum points in the distributor.

Today, the nail file is banished from the automobile tool kit. Tungsten points, developed in the General Electric Research Laboratory, in Schenectady, N. Y., have replaced soft and expensive platinum. There is little need to file tungsten points. Hidden away, requiring no attention, they break electric circuits half a million times an hour and save car owners millions of dollars a year.

Is this all G-E research has done for 24 million car owners? No! It has given new welding methods—and a stronger and safer car at lower cost; Glyptal finishes—and the expense of repainting your car is postponed for years; headlights and highway lighting—night driving becomes safer for motorist and pedestrian.

Every product that carries the G-E name has built into it the results of G-E research. Other industries—and the public that buys the goods of those industries—have benefited by this research, that has saved the American people from ten to one hundred dollars for every dollar it has earned for General Electric.
