VOL. XXV, No. 27

ITHACA, N. Y., APRIL, 12, 1923

PRICE 12 CENTS

ALL QUIET along the Cayuga to-night, no co-eds are left here to vamp us; one sees some stray soul quite as lonesome as he, a-trudging his way 'cross the Campus. The bells do not chime and the class-rooms are mute, the restaurants serve us no ration. 'Tis not that the place has gone all to the dogs, —the students have gone—for vacation.

TRAINS which left Ithaca on April 4 were crowded to capacity, street cars coming from noon classes were loaded to the rails, taxicabs and flivvers dashed madly down State Street, and many undergraduates walked to catch the trains that took them out of Ithaca for the recess.

ONE STUDENT, George Myers '23 of Cohoes, spent most of his vacation in the City Hospital as a result of having been knocked down by a taxicab in the noon rush. He was thrown about ten feet and rendered unconscious, but examination later at the hospital revealed nothing more serious than severe bruises.

THE PRIZE POSTER for the Freshman Banquet was designed by W. E. Blanke '26, and he gets a free ticket to the feast, which is to be held in the Old Armory on May 5. The judges were Professors Walter K. Stone and Bristow Adams, with Burke D. Adams '23, former art editor of The Widow.

THIRTY-SIX CASES have been referred to the central honor committee since the Honor System has been in effect, starting with the spring term of 1921. Of these twenty-four have been reported by the Faculty and twelve by students. No cases have been brought against Law and Veterinary students.

THE SUN has announced the election of Jerome W. Thompson '24 of Littleton, New Hampshire, to be editor-in-chief for 1923-24; John M. Berry '24 of Lexington, Kentucky, business manager; Harvey S. Gerry '24 of Washington, managing editor; James A. Austin '24, of Brooklyn, editorial director; and Charles L. Felske '24 of Indianapolis, Indiana, to fill the newly created office of intercollegiate editor. Gustave S. Sobrano '24 of New Orleans, Louisiana, will conduct the Berry Patch. On the women's board Edith T. Klenke '24 of New York is editor and Martha L. Kinne '24 of Ovid, New York, is business manager.

PATRICK CONWAY, Ithaca's own, led the Symphony Orchestra of the Ithaca Conservatory in a concert on April 6 which pleased a capacity audience in the Lyceum Theater. The occasion was a benefit for the crippled children fund of the local Rotary Club, the members of which sold so many tickets that the concert was repeated on April 12.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM L. WESTERMANN is scheduled to lecture in German before the Deutscher Verein on April 13 on "The Importance of the Papyri in Their Bearing upon History and Literature."

TWO UNDERGRADUATES, George W. Turner '23 of Pittsburgh, and N. H. McLain '26 of Massillon, Ohio, were slightly injured on April 6 when the cut down Ford they were driving collided with another car near Trumansburg.

ITHACA OFFICIALS, in a spring drive to enforce the traffic laws, made fourteen arrests of violators in twenty-four hours. The City Fathers have announced that because of the decided increase in traffic, violations will be severely punished.

CAYUGA LAKE has not yet reached flood level, but to forestall difficulty with flooding the lower sections of the city and to help in its campaign of mosquito extermination, the city authorities have succeeded in having the Cayuga gates opened.

A BOARD of officers from the War Department is expected to inspect the Cornell R. O. T. C. units on April 26 and 27, about two weeks earlier than usual, according to an announcement published by the Commandant's office. A complete rehearsal of the formal review and field maneuvers is scheduled for April 21.

THE CIVIL ENGINEER announces the election of the following board for the coming year: Robert T. Sprague '24 of New Berlin, New York, editor-in-chief; Claude L. Brownell '24 of Glens Falls, New York, managing editor; James H. Ludlow '24 of Pittsburgh, Kansas, alumni editor; Paul F. Beaver '24 of Long Meadow, Massachusetts, business manager; Miles C. Newton '24 of Ithaca, advertising manager; and Joseph Bevacqua '24 of Rochester, circulation manager.

FOUR NEW COURSES are added to those given through correspondence by the College of Agriculture; these are in beekeeping, sheep-raising, pork production, and vegetable forcing. They are conducted through the Office of Publications.

WORK is being advanced on the new wing of the Veterinary College, just to the south of the present James Law Hall. It will include the library, an auditorium, some administrative offices, and a diagnosis laboratory.

AS A RESULT of the gift of fifty acres of land in Putnam County for the purpose by Sumner H. Lark, assistant district attorney of Kings County, a bill has been introduced in Albany authorizing the establishment of the New York State Agricultural and Mechanical Institute at Larkesburg. The work of the proposed school would be coordinated with that of the State College of Agriculture, so far as possible, but Lark, who is colored, suggests that "it would divert from metropolitan centers a large number of colored people who are constantly settling in New York and who are accustomed to agricultural pursuits." He would not, however, make it exclusively for colored persons.

OFF AGAIN, on again, gone again seems to be the sequence in respect to the Beaux Arts Ball, for several years an enjoyable occasion fostered by the College of Architecture. Now the Faculty has ruled that the rooms in White Hall may not be used for the ball, on the ground that not enough students are interested in helping to make the party an artistic success. Some students are in favor of having a masked ball down-town, but the chances seem to be against it.

ARCHITECTS who burn the midnight kilowatt at the top of White Hall will hereafter be compelled to get their midnight lunches elsewhere because the strewing of the drafting rooms with the relics of comestibles leaves the place untidy and draws too many mice in a place where there should be only drawing of plans and elevations.

CORNELL WOMEN DEBATERS won from Syracuse in the first contest of its kind held at Cornell between the women students of coeducational institutions in this part of the country. The challenge was issued at Syracuse, and the debate was held at Cornell on the question, Resolved: that legislation tending to increase Federal control of education should be discouraged. Cornell successfully upheld the negative.

A JOINT MEETING of Sphinx Head and Quill and Dagger senior honor societies in the Dutch Kitchen brought together the most notable of the male members of the undergraduate body, together with a liberal representation of Faculty and town members of former years. Good-natured badinage between Ross W. Kellogg '12 and R. W. Sailor '07 took the place of speeches.

THE FIRST WORK of clearing the site for the new Cornell Union building started on April 2 when a squad of workmen began cutting away brush and shrubbery south of the Library. It is said that the house occupied by Professor George R. Chamberlain '90 is to be vacated this month; the former Crane house is already vacant.

PSYCHOLOGISTS GATHER HERE

A group of the eminent American psychologists closed a three-day informal discussion session in the psychology laboratories of Cornell University on April 7.

These conferences have been held annually for twenty years during the spring vacation for comparison and discussion of the psychological work being done in laboratories of this country. Each year experimental psychologists meet in the laboratories of one of the institutions, where problems and results are compared. Twenty-five visitors were the guests of the Cornell psychologists during the conference. The conference had no program and no formal meetings.

Among the former members of the Psychology Department of Cornell who attended the sessions were Professors Edwin G. Boring of Harvard, Gilbert Rich of Pittsburgh, Forrest L. Dimmick of Michigan and Michael J. Zigler of Princeton. Other prominent psychologists present were Professors Warren of Princeton, Langfeldt of Harvard, Robinson of Chicago, Shepherd of Michigan, Sanford of Clarke, and Anderson of Yale.

LOSE EARLY ONES

The famous picture puzzle especially prepared for "Hoo Zoo in the Early Eighties," continues to attract international attention. The United States Government took a personal interest in the matter and returned the cards, sent to the following persons, with the brief memorandum stamped on it, "Address unknown." Can anyone supply the missing information? If so, it will be greatly appreciated by Henry P. de Forest, M.D., 71 Central Park West, New York, N. Y.

NOVICE FENCING was won by Robert S. Coleman '24, of Wichita, Kansas, over William S. Zabriskie '26, of Brooklyn. Both won the same number of bouts, but Coleman had more touches to his credit.

SPORT STUFF

The police of Ithaca are vigorously enforcing the Motor Vehicle Law. Defective lights, careless parking, misplaced license plates, violations of the rules of the road—twenty-nine distinct damnations, one sure if another fails!

A score of us stood up in the police court this morning and bowed simultaneously to the Judge. It's a grand sight of a Monday morning to watch a spotless Elder of the Village try to look impressive while he informs the clerk that he is fifty-two, white, married, temperate, Protestant, and never before convicted of a crime.

This is a good thing. When you live in a small town where everyone is buddies with everyone else, you're apt to think of the minor statutes and ordinances as applying only to the other fellow—students, mostly. There is nothing like passing through the lesser mills of justice to purge the soul of pomp and pride and to chasten the spirit.

Moreover, it's worth an evening in the station and a morning in the dock to have one's faith renewed in the immortal genius of one Charles Dickens. All police courts smell of carboic acid and Dickens in equal parts—and just a touch of garlic.

'13 WOMEN START

A letter regarding the ten year reunion to be held this June has been sent to all the women of 1913. The chairman, Gertrude Marvin Woodruff (Mrs. Allan) asks any who did not receive it to send her correct address to her at 5368 Magnolia Avenue, Germantown, Philadelphia.

REDUCE REUNION FARES

Information that is bound to result in increasing the attendance at class reunions in Ithaca next June is the official assurance that reduced railroad fares again will be granted. To date the Trunk Line Association, the New England Passenger Association, and the Central Passenger Association have advised the Alumni Office that certificates would be given on request with tickets purchased for Ithaca between June 12 and 16, entitling their holders to return fare at half price until June 20. It is expected that the other passenger associations of the country will grant the same privilege, as they did last year.

At least two hundred and fifty certificates must be presented before the reduction will be made, but the Alumni Office thinks that this figure will easily be reached if all who come to Ithaca are sure to request certificates when purchasing their tickets. Last year the reduction in fare was given to three hundred ninety alumni.

With the reunions being held on June 15, 16, and 17, reduced fare certificates from June 12 to June 20 make provision even for those who plan to come to Ithaca early and stay late.

'01 STARTS REUNION PLANS

Several members of the Class of '01 attended a dinner at the Cornell Club of New York City on April 6, to plan for the reunion next June. Among those present were Clarence H. Fay, Roger B. Williams, Jr., Frederick L. Ackerman, Walter Mofat, Frederick Willis, Sidney Lowenthal, Fred C. Tag, Roy M. Hart, and James O'Malley.

It was decided to increase the membership of the committee in charge of the reunion and to make a special drive to secure the attendance of those members of the class who have not heretofore returned to celebrate at previous reunions. It was the sentiment of those present that the reunion this year promises to be the most successful of the Class.

Another meeting will be held at the same place on Thursday evening, April 12, when the members of the enlarged committee will be announced. The names of those to serve upon this committee will appear in the next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS.

ACCEPT MEDICAL FELLOWSHIP

The Committee on General Administration of the Board of Trustees at its monthly meeting on April 7 accepted for the University the anonymous gift of $2,000 recently made to the Medical College, and approved of the recommendation made by the Medical College Council that it be used to establish a traveling fellowship in medicine for the year 1923-4.

This fellowship is designated to aid men and women who desire to continue the study of medicine abroad. It will be available for men and women who have graduated from the Medical College within ten years, or men who have graduated who are now attached to the instructing staff of the College. Candidates must be completed a hospital internship or have been engaged in laboratory training or research for two years after graduation. Candidates who intend to teach or spend their lives in research will be preferred in the award, which will be made about May 1.

The Trustees' committee granted a leave of absence to Professor Wilder D. Bancroft beginning May 9 and continuing through the present academic year and a sabbatic leave for the first term of 1923-4 to Professor Sutherland Simpson of the Ithaca Branch of the Medical College.

The Trustees announced that the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Fellowship in chemistry would be continued next year. It carries a stipend of $750.

GRADUATE WOMEN ORGANIZE

The Cornell Women's Graduate Club held its initiation banquet on March 31, in Risley Hall.

Guests of honor were President and Mrs. Farrand, Dean James E. Creighton '92 and Mrs. Creighton, Professor George L. Burr '81, Dean Georgia L. White '96, Mrs. Andrew D. White, Miss Gertrude Nye, Miss Grace Seely '10, and Miss Carolyn Slater '23. Mrs. Earle H. Kennard, president of the club, was toastmistress. Dean White, President Farrand, Dean Creighton, and Professor Burr responded to toasts.

Dean White spoke of the friendly relations which she hopes may be fostered between graduates and undergraduates by means of the organization. President Farrand spoke of the danger of too great specialization, urging the graduate women to devote more of their time to civic and social responsibilities.

He was followed by Dean Creighton who told of the history of the Graduate School and of the work of various prominent women graduate students of Cornell as college presidents, deans, and professors. Professor Burr was the last speaker. He told of the early days at Cornell and of the work of Andrew D. White, reading extracts from his correspondence, and stressing particularly President's White's liberal attitude towards women students.

1908 STARTS REUNION

1908's fifteen-year reunion is booming in great shape! From present indications a record-breaking crowd will be back and 1908's reputation for big crowds at reunions will be outdone.

June 15, 16, and 17 will be big days.

Members have been signing up rapidly. To date the following have definitely signified their intention of being back:

Clarence R. Andrews, Ross R. Harrison, Henry W. Humble, Alvin W. Josephy, Percy O. Wood, Leonard R. Gracy, Stephen L. Vanderveer, Harold M. Sliter, Richard O. Geis, John W. Taussig, Louis D. Root, Herman A. Uihlein, B. Vail Marsh, Bert H. Brower, Robert J. Spencer, Henry E. Schlobohn, Percival S. Peck, Victor D. Harriman, George N. Brown, Laurence M. Ryan, Omar H. Simonds, Ralph R. Lally, James W. Parker, Charles L. Bradley, Berton J. Lemon, Al-Lemon, Albert W. Morse, Robert E. Friend, Clarence T. Seipp, Ralph A. Smallman, Albert J. Love, William H. Watson, Jack A. Benjamin, Lester V. Walker, Geofge H. Adler, Clarence Maine, Elmer J. Booth.

When shall we hear from you?

SETH W. SHOEMAKER, Secretary.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for April 15 will be the Rev. Dr. Hugh Black, Presbyterian, of Union Theological Seminary, New York.

MASQUE OFFICERS for 1923-4 are Albert E. Milliken '24 of New York, president, and Daniel F. Davis, Jr., '25 of Brooklyn, vice-president.

MARCH in Ithaca averaged about two degrees colder than normal, according to the Weather Bureau, which reported only one clear day.

THE FIRE LOSS in Sibley reported in the NEWS some weeks ago has been set at about $4,000, fully covered by insurance.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

New England Banquet Saturday

The annual banquet of the Cornell Club of New England will be held on Saturday, April 14, at 6.30 at the Hotel Essex, Boston. The committee in charge promises "the best beefsteak dinner, moving pictures of Cornell, our own jazz orchestra, none but impromptu speeches, and a real roof-raising party." All Cornellians in the vicinity are invited to send their names and a check for $3.50 to Philip L. Davidson '18, 176 Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

St. Louis Holds 30th Banquet

About fifty Cornell alumni gathered at the University Club on Saturday evening, March 31, 1923, for the thirtieth annual banquet of the Cornell Club of St. Louis.

George J. Tansey '88, Alumni Trustee, and one of the founders of the local organization, acted as toastmaster.

William P. Gruner '07 was cheer leader, while Hender C. Schuyler '10 presided at the piano. Alvin Griesedieck '16 led the singing, which, thanks to the arrival of song books from Ithaca, was a delightful feature of the evening. Griesedieck also sang two solos and Alden H. Little '02 gave his famous interpretation of the Crew Song.

The guest and principal speaker of the evening was Hon. Cuthbert W. Pound '87, Judge of the Court of Appeals of New York and an Alumni Trustee. After presenting a clear picture of present conditions at the University, Judge Pound stressed the importance of alumni helping to raise a fund that would assure adequate salaries for members of the Faculty.

Chicago Considers Russia

"Alien" Smith, a British secret service agent who has just arrived in this country from Moscow, talked of "Bolshevism" at the weekly meeting of the Cornell men of Chicago, at the Hamilton Club on April 5. Mr. Smith served during the entire four years of the war. He fought against Bolshevism in 1918 and 1919 and then served in the Bolshevik army.

THE "DELICATE BROWN" annual grid-iron dinner and satire review of the year given by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, has been set for May 7. Last year its tone was funereal, but this year the occasion is to have a more joyous aspect, and will be more like a circus than a cemetery.

A COMMISSION of Japanese physicians and medical scientists which arrived in New York on March 19 as guests of the Rockefeller Foundation expects to pay a visit to the Cornell Medical College in New York and its pay clinic.

CORNELL SONGSTERS were forced by an epidemic of influenza to withdraw from the Intercollegiate Glee Club contest in New York on March 3, according to The Musical Courier. Dartmouth took first place, with Princeton second and Yale third.

WOMEN IN THE NEW RENAISSANCE

Mrs. Lucie A. Zimmern, wife of Professor Alfred E. Zimmern, writes in The Century for April on "Women's Part in the New Renaissance." We are on the eve, she thinks, of a great intellectual and spiritual change. But the big movement must really proceed from within; individuals must be helped to liberate themselves; and the individual is no longer man alone, but man and woman.

Man has hitherto made of woman a convenience. St. Paul, a misogynist, did immeasurable damage not only to the personality of woman but also to the cause of human decency. Had it not been for Paul and his sex embitterment, the truer teachings of the gospel might have won through. The Renaissance marked a sharp break with the Pauline tradition, but if the body was restored to its rights, man rather than woman profited; and the Puritan and the Jesuit once more polluted the air. The industrial revolution of the nineteenth century deprived woman of much of her household occupation and engulfed many women in the gulf of industrialism. We now have the Nineteenth Amendment. But even though women now have voting rights in some countries, there is as yet no sign of sex equality.

To bring in the new and ideal sex relationship men must treat women as equals and women must think of themselves as the equals of men. This means, first, a revolution in women's education. Mrs. Zimmern condemns both the English system, carried on by spinsters on lines imitated from the men's universities, and the American system, in which coeducation is the rule rather than the exception. She admits that in America "the atmosphere is freer, brighter, and, on the surface opener"; but she contends that "the young men and women who grow up at school and college together pursue their lives, as married men and women, more independently and in greater mutual isolation than is the custom for married couples in any other modern country. Marriage in America, so far from being a partnership of soul, body, and mind, is too often merely a convenient nucleus for separate interests, separate activities, separate ways of thinking and feeling,—in a word, for two separate ways of life."

Tracing the movement of this new principle of sex collaboration and cooperation along the pathway of modern life, Mrs. Zimmern begins with the schools. We need she thinks, better teaching—"teachers who are live, observant, and sensitive human beings, working under conditions in which their natural insight and love of their pupils can bear fruit." Mrs. Zimmern opposes coeducation both in school and in college. "Just as there is an English approach to Hellenism, and a German approach and an American approach, so also there is a man's approach and a woman's approach."

As for the school of life, the Nineteenth

Amendment, she thinks, has not really got us very far. The Founder of Christianity knew that mind and body must be treated together. "It is through sincere self-analysis and sincere observation, through clean thinking as the source of clean living, through the courage to set the big and the little things of life in the right perspective and proportion, to set love, for instance, above convention and happiness above riches, that modern men and women can find their way out of our present perplexities."

PUNCHING THE CLOCK

Under this title Better Times, George Hecht's diminutive but enterprising sheet, for April prints the following:

"A Time Clock, which is 'punched' by every worker in the clinic from the scrub women to the chief, has been installed in Cornell Clinic. It is not intended to act as a detective of careless workers, explained Dr. George H. Bigelow, director of the clinic, but is merely an easy way of keeping track of the time of the members of the staff. This record is used in making up the payroll and in working out time studies.

"Time statistics have been very carefully worked out at Cornell and a unit system developed. In the ear and nose department, for example, the unit is five minutes; three units are considered necessary for the new patients and two for the old. Of course, there is no rule which prescribes that new patients must be attended for fifteen minutes and no longer, or that old patients may have only ten minutes. This is merely a means, worked out from averages for several months, of determining the number of persons that should be admitted in one day.

"The time studies also demonstrate the efficiency of the various departments. Figures giving the amount of time spent by the doctors in the clinics, the amount of time assigned to them, the number of patients seen, etc., show whether the departments have been doing all that they could."

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

THE PANHELLENIC Association of New York is planning to erect a clubhouse at an estimated cost of a million dollars. It will be twelve stories high and contain 260 rooms. Three floors will be devoted to public meeting, club, and dining rooms. Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Pi Beta Phi have approved of the plan.

IT IS PROPOSED to erect on the Elmira College campus, from funds given without solicitation, a memorial in honor of Mark Twain. Mr. Clemens married Olivia Langdon, of Elmira, an aunt of Jarvis Langdon '97 and Professor Ida Langdon, Ph.D. '12, of Elmira College, and lived for many years at Quarry Farm on East Hill, Elmira. Here his children were born and here he wrote "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn," and other books. The kind of memorial selected will depend on the final amount of the fund.

THE UNIVERSITY of Iowa started the first permanent American department of education in an educational institution in 1873. The fiftieth anniversary of the event is to be observed on April 27-8; Professor Stephen Leacock is to speak on "Education for Democracy."

BEGINNING with September tuition at Brown will be $300 a year. This is an increase of $50 over the present figure, which became effective in September, 1921. Mount Holyoke College will also increase the tuition fee by $50, effective in September. This will raise the total charge for board, room, and tuition to $800, with a few rooms at a lower price making totals of $750 and $700.

THE LEGISLATURE of North Carolina at its last session appropriated $1,600,000 for new buildings at the University of North Carolina and increased the maintenance fund by approximately fifty per cent. This duplicates the action of the preceding Legislature.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for an exchange of tutors next year between Harvard and Oxford and Cambridge. Two Harvard tutors will teach in England, one in history at Oxford and the other in economics at Cambridge; and an Oxford tutor in history and a Cambridge tutor in economics will come to Harvard.

FACULTY NOTES

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL was the principal speaker at the graduation exercises of the Technical Evening High School at Buffalo on March 21.

PROFESSOR HEINRICH RIES was a guest of the American Ceramic Society at its twenty-fifth anniversary meeting held in Pittsburgh on February 12. Professor Ries is a charter member and a former president of the organization.

DR. CHARLES R. STOCKARD of the Medical College in New York talked on "The Origin of Human Types and the Influence of Internal Secretions" under the auspices of the Zoology department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor on March 26.

PROFESSOR FLORA ROSE sailed on the Majestic from New York on March 31 to study child nutrition in Belgium.

PRESIDENT FARRAND has been announced as a member of Secretary Hoover's advisory council for "Better Homes Week," which will be held June 4 to 10.

PROFESSOR OTHON G. GUERLAC spoke at the luncheon meeting of the City Club of Rochester on March 31.

PROFESSOR LYMAN P. WILSON, of the Law College, discussed "The X-Ray in Court" before the joint meeting of the Society of Medical Jurisprudence and the New York Roentgen Society at the New York Academy of Medicine on April 9. Professor Wilson is said to be the foremost American authority on the legal uses of the x-ray.

PROFESSOR FILIBERT ROTH, who with Bernhard E. Fernow, started the Forestry College at Cornell, has been given the title of emeritus professor of forestry by the Regents of the University of Michigan, where he established the forestry department, after leaving Cornell.

ROGER SHERMAN CURTIS, eleven-year-old son of Professor and Mrs. Ralph W. Curtis, died on April 4 from meningitis resulting from having accidentally been struck with a swinging club in the hands of one of his playmates. He was an only child.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM L. WESTERMANN will be one of the lecturers at the Institute of Modern History to be held at Bowdoin College on April 16-28.

PROFESSOR ERNEST MERRITT '86, with his wife and two daughters, recently landed in Naples. They will visit Italy, Switzerland, France, and Spain before the end of Professor Merritt's sabbatic leave, which will bring him back to Ithaca for the beginning of the fall term.

LOOKS LIKE A FALL

Leonard C. Hanson '23, Cornell's intercollegiate wrestling champion in the 175-pound class, obtained a referee's decision over Parke, of Penn State in the Wrestling Intercollegiate with a time advantage of 7 minutes and 3 seconds. THE ALUMNI NEWS endeavors to constitute itself a weekly letter from the University containing news of happenings on the Hill and news of Cornellians wherever they may be. Its value to its readers lies in its ability to perform these two functions. Its ability to perform the former depends upon its own efforts on the ground at the University, but the manner in which it accomplishes the latter is necessarily determined by the amount of news it is able to obtain of Cornell alumni. The fact of the matter is, the NEWS has become too much of a one-sided correspondence.

Probably the most interesting part of the NEWS is that which constitutes the Alumni Notes, but the editors of the paper can in no way increase the value of the Alumni Notes unless they have the facts which may be the subject of such notes. The ALUMNI NEWS will be of increased value to each of its readers if every subscriber gives us information of his activities that he may think are of interest to his friends. Anything that is of sufficient interest to write in a letter to a friend is of sufficient interest to tell other friends through the columns of the NEWS. Items of this kind are not hard to send in, and they serve the double purpose of keeping Cornellians in constant touch with each other and of letting the alumni world know what graduates of their own and other classes are doing.

CHEMISTS VISIT YALE

Eight Cornell chemists attended the meeting of the American Chemical Society held in New Haven the latter part of last week in connection with the formal opening of the Sterling Chemical Laboratory at Yale. Nearly fifteen hundred of the leading chemists of the United States were present at the gathering, which was the occasion of the sixty-fifth meeting of the society.

The Cornell chemists who attended the sessions were Professors Wilder D. Bancroft, Arthur W. Browne, Louis M. Dennis, Emile M. Chamot, Melvin Nichols, Frank E. Rice, Frederick R. George, and A. C. Purdy.

The Sterling Laboratory, which has just been opened at Yale, cost approximately two million dollars, and in size and cost of construction it may therefore be compared with Cornell's new Chemistry Laboratory.

TABLET FOR GROSER

Friends of the late Leslie H. Groser '13, who was killed in action near Chateau-Thierry, France, June 6, 1918, have erected a bronze memorial tablet commemorating his services in the World War in the Church of the Good Shepherd, McDonough Street, between Lewis and Stuyvesant Avenues, Brooklyn. The tablet stands twenty-four inches and is thirty inches in length.

Groser was editor of the Sun, and a first lieutenant in the Twenty-Third Infantry when he was killed in France.

The wording of the tablet is as follows:

IN MEMORIAM

THE TOTEM POLE, laid upon its side to make room for a trench of the heating system, is still recumbent. The base is pretty thoroughly decayed, and it will take a lot of tree surgery to make it secure and presentable again.

THE INDEPENDENTS propose the establishment of an independent bulletin, to be issued several times during each term as an aid in unifying the interests of non-fraternity men.

THE HAPPY HOUR Theatre had a fire scare last week, when dense clouds of smoke from the basement set up a smudge through which the patrons marched out with no confusion.

CORNELL was voted as the favorite men's college, after their own, by members of the senior class at Columbia, in their annual questionnaire.

ATHLETICS

Five Crews at Work

Three varsity crews and two freshman combinations remained in Ithaca during the spring recess, rowing on Courtney Inlet twice a day. Cold weather in late March interrupted outdoor work, the practice being suspended for a week; for several days the squad went back to the rowing machines.

The heavy varsity eight stroked by Filius is quite similar to last year's major eight; six men who pulled oars in the varsity boat at Poughkeepsie last June are boated in this crew, which is rowing as follows: bow, Kells, 2, Egeberg, 3, Fates, 4, Luhrs, 5, Hearn, 6, Baker, 7, Strong, stroke, Filius, coxswain, Nicholson.

Egeberg is a recruit from last year's junior eight; Fates rowed in the junior crew two years ago.

The light varsity crew stroked by Wheeler is also well supplied with experienced oarsmen, including besides Wheeler, Hoffman, Garnsey, Calleson, and Fix of last year's junior eight. This crew is boated as follows: bow, Hoffman, 2, Garnsey, 3, Maduro, 4, Fix, 5, Hall, 6, Calleson, 7, Purcell, stroke, Wheeler.

Start Trip Even

The baseball team lost the first game of the Southern trip to Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va., last Friday, by a 5 to 3 score, but on Saturday defeated Virginia Military Institute, also at Lexington by a score of 9 to 1. The team was scheduled to play two games with University of Virginia at Charlottesville, before returning to Ithaca Thursday. The Washington and Lee game scheduled for last Thursday was called off on account of rain.

The squad of seventeen men left Ithaca Wednesday noon, April 4. It included six pitchers, W. R. Rollo, F. H. Henderson, H. I. Frederick, W. E. Flumerfelt, D. M. Knipe, and J. J. Brown; three catchers, F. J. Tone, Jr., T. L. Sterling, and W. S. Woolf; and eight infielders and outfielders.

The infield chosen by Coach Carney consists of H. G. Fox at first base, Captain E. C. Woodin, Jr., at second, Alvin Hulnick at third, and G. H. Capron at short stop. Captain Woodin played second last year and Capron third, while Fox played in both the infield and outfield. Hulnick, the only newcomer to the infield, was third baseman on the freshman team a year ago.

The outfielders chosen were C. S. Frantz, center field on last year's varsity; George Bickley, substitute short stop last season; G. T. Gould; and J. A. Smythe, a senior, who has developed rapidly this season. Smythe has been out for the team before, but has never shown the promise he has this year. Gould played on his freshman team three years ago, and was a substitute half back on the varsity eleven in 1921. Henderson, one of the pitchers, is also a fast outfielder and Carney has used him in that capacity.

Of the pitchers, Rollo is the only experienced man on the team. He has been a pitching mainstay for two seasons and judged by his early work is in first rate form this year. Henderson, who is better known perhaps as a football player, having played left end as a regular last season until an injury forced him to retire, Frederick and Brown are sophomores, while Flumerfelt and Knipe have been on the squad for two years, but never became regular varsity pitchers. Of the catchers Tone participated in many games last season; Stirling caught on the freshman team a year ago.

Washington and Lee won the opening game by a score of 5 to 3, obtaining twelve hits off Flumerfelt to seven that Cornell secured off Lackey. Cornell scored first, sending two runs across the plate in the third inning, but in the fourth the Generals tied the score and in the fifth scored three more runs on three singles and three Cornell errors. A Cornell rally in the ninth inning was threatened when Frantz cracked out a two-base hit, but Carney's proteges were unable to follow this up and McDonald, who succeeded Lackey, retired the side.

Rollo was in fine form in the game with Virginia Military Institute, which Cornell won 9 to 1. The big pitcher allowed but four hits, while the Cornellians pounded Page hard, getting eight hits and six runs in three innings. Nugent, who succeeded Page, prevented further scoring until the ninth, when three more hits brought in three runs. Fox and Rollo got three hits apiece, Woodin and Bickley two each. One of Rollos' was for three bases.

Lacrosse Team Loses

The lacrosse team, which stayed in Ithaca during the vacation to get into condition for the spring campaign, went down to Philadelphia last Saturday and fell victim to the Pennsylvania team by a score of 6 to 1. The Quakers were superior in team work, but the showing of Coach Bawlf's five indicated that with more practice and experience a formidable team will be developed this spring.

THE GENEVA-CORNELL merger is nearer consummation with the passage of the bill by the State Assembly providing for uniting the two agricultural experiment stations under one board.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for April 1 was the Rev. Dr. Francis J. McConnell, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA won the interfraternity basketball series in a hard-fought game with Kappa Phi, runners-up, by a score of 39-26.

POLO PLAYERS at Cornell have a spring schedule which includes ten games, including three in which Pennsylvania, Yale, and Princeton are the opponents.

LITERARY REVIEW

New York Woods

The Forests of New York State. By A. Bernard Recknagel, Professor of Forest Management and Utilization in Cornell. With an Introduction by Liberty Hyde Bailey. New York. Macmillan. 1923. 20.5 cm., pp. xviii, 167. Price, $2.50.

If anyone wants full information about the forests of New York State, he cannot do better, we believe, than to buy and read this book. It is a practical, up-to-date account of the subject, written by an expert. It is a workmanlike performance.

In 1609, when Champlain entered what is now New York from the north and Hudson went up from the south, practically every part of the State was covered with woods, chief among which, probably, was the pine. To-day, out of a total of 30,498,560 acres, the forest area is only 12,060,567 acres, or 39.5 per cent of the whole. To this may be added 3,313,455 acres of unimproved lands on the farms, chiefly suitable for forest crops, making a total of 15,394,022 acres—more than half—as the total potential forest area of the State. Of the present actual forest area, about 38 per cent is in the Adirondacks and ten per cent in the Catskills.

The war census of 1918 showed about 49 billion board feet of timber of all kinds standing in the State.

New York was one of the first States to develop the lumber industry, the highest volume of production being reached in 1830-40. In 1850 New York ranked first among the United States in the amount of lumber cut—1,600,000,000 board feet or one-fifth of the total cut in the United States. In 1920 New York was twenty-fifth on the list of States, cutting only 410,909,000 board feet, value $19,760,181. The total cut in the United States that year was 33,798,800,000 board feet, value $1,298,899,107. New York now imports heavily. The annual per capita product of lumber is only thirty feet as against a consumption of three hundred feet. In fact New York has not produced all of its own consumption of lumber since 1870.

Besides lumber other forms of wood products (pulp, cooperage, veneers, acid wood, excelsior, etc.) bring the total wood products of 1920 to 841,744,786 board feet, besides more than 2,500,000 cords of fuel wood. The yearly growth is only 412,900,000 board feet. The industries of the State, on the other hand, require 1,845,048,000 board feet annually.

The State Forest Preserve now includes 1,992,516 acres (land and water). By a Constitutional amendment of 1895 the timber thereon cannot be sold, removed, or destroyed. The State Conservation Commission, created in 1911, has as its chief purpose to protect the forests from fire and trespass and to reforest denuded areas. In spite of all efforts to prevent fires, in 1921 720 fires burned over 26,663 acres with a loss of $49,920.

The burden of Professor Recknagel's message is that the State lands should be treated according to the principles of scientific forestry; that ripe timber should be used, not wasted. If the waste land were made productive, 1,700,000,000 board feet could be produced annually, or nearly enough to supply the industries as they are at present constituted. It will take time to bring about this production. White pine for a 14-inch trunk needs eighty years; the Adirondack sugar maple needs 150-165 years.

But scientific forestry will not merely help to restore the waning wood industries; it will help to rebuild a rural civilization that has partly broken down. The duty of the State is plain. How shall it do this duty and still keep the forests out of politics?

Books and Magazine Articles

The report of Dean Veranus A. Moore '87, of the Veterinary College, to the State Legislature for 1921-2 is a document of 172 pages. Besides the reports of the various departments it contains the following articles: "Autopsies" by Professor Samuel A. Goldberg '14 and Lloyd B. Sholl; "Report of Poultry Disease Investigation" by Dr. James W. Fuller '21; "Interpretation of Diseases of the Nervous System" by Professor Denny H. Udall '01 and Drs. Edward R. Cushing '18 and Myron G. Fincher '20; "Surgical Diseases of the Udder" by Professor James N. Frost '07; "Local Anaesthesia" by Professor Howard J. Milks '04; "A Study of Some Factors Influencing Sterility and Fertility in the Bull" by Dr. Herbert L. Gilman '17; "The Pathological Tissue Changes Resulting from Continuous Feeding of Cottonseed Meal" by Professor Goldberg; "The Lesions in Neerobacillosis" by Professor Goldberg; a "The Principles of Bovine Mastitis" by Dr. James R. Varley '20; "Vaccination in the Control of Chicken-Pox" by Dr. James W. Fuller; and "Further Study of a Parasite Found in the Ligamentum Nuchae of Equines" by Dr. Edward A. Caslick '22.

"Human Life as the Biologist Sees It" by Dr. Vernon L. Kellogg, '91-2 Grad., is reviewed in The Nature-Study Review for March.

President Farrand contributed to Health News for October an article on "The Layman in Public Health."

Professor Melville B. Anderson's translation of Dante is reviewed in The Stanford Illustrated Review for January.

Professor Hosmer's "Impressions of European Forestry" is reviewed in The Yale Alumni Weekly for January 12.

In School and Society for February 24 Professor Theodore H. Eaton has an article entitled "Penalizing the Social Sciences." In the issue for March 24 the Summer School of Biology is described, and Professor William C. Bagley, Ph.D.

'00, of Teachers College, discusses "Intelligence Tests." The issue for April 7 includes President William Oxley Thompson's Founder's Day address, which is printed under the title, "The Influence of Public Sentiment upon Education."

The Brown Alumni Monthly for April includes an interesting letter from President Alexander Meiklejohn, Ph.D. '97, on his recent talk about modern college education before the American Association of American Colleges, with comment by the editors.

In Modern Language Notes for April Professor Esther C. Dunn '13 of Smith College publishes "Notes on Wordsworth" and Theodore T. Stenberg, 15-16 Grad., of the University of Texas, has "A Word on the Sources of The Charge of the Light Brigade."

Professor John C. Rolfe, A.M. '84, Ph.D. '85, of the University of Pennsylvania, contributes to Classical Philology for January a note "On Cicero, Ad Familiares vii 10. 2."

In Science for March 23 Dr. David Starr Jordan's "The Days of a Man" is reviewed by Dr. Vernon L. Kellogg, '91-2 Grad. In the issue for March 30 Dr. Kellogg writes on "National Research Fellowships in the Biological Sciences." Professor Graham Lusk proposes "A Fund for German and Austrian Laboratories Raised by Those Who Have Worked in Them."

In The Journal of Geography for March Professor Ray H. Whitbeck '01, of the University of Wisconsin, writes on "Fact and Fiction in Geography by Natural Regions."

In The Journal of Religion for March Professor Charles A. Ellwood '96, of the University of Missouri, discusses "Social Evolution and Christianity." The article is made up from a part of Professor Ellwood's address before the Yale Divinity School on November 22. Bishop Francis J. O'Connell, a recent Sage Chapel Preacher, presents "A Survey of Protestant Christianity in America."

In The Nation for March 28 Dr. Louis R. Gottschalk '19, of the University of Illinois, reviews "Napoleon from the Tuileries to St. Helena" by Louis Etienne St. Denis, translated by Frank Potter, and Philip Guedalla's "The Second Empire."

The opening article of The Cornell Chemist for April is by John W. Turrentine, Ph.D. '08, formerly director of the Government's Experimental Potash Plant at Summerland, Calif., on "Kelp as an Industrial Raw Material." Professor Vladimir Karapetoff writes "On Continuous Threads of Activity." Linn B. Bowman '25 describes "The Annual Chemistry Banquet."

In the January Journal of Forestry Professor A. Bernard Recknagel prints a summary of Weber's report on changes of curriculum in the Swiss Forestry School.

OBITUARY

Henry S. Wright '72

Henry Swift Wright was born in Lexington, Tenn. on October 27, 1849, son of Henry and Lydia (Swift) Wright. He was of collegiate ancestry; the father was an A.B. of Yale, 1836, sometime a professor in East Tennessee College, Knoxville, but later a practicing attorney in Lexington; the grandfather, Dr. Asahel Wright, Williams 1803, was a prominent physician of Chester, Massachusetts.

Soon after the death of his father in 1859, he came with his mother to Utica, New York, where he attended the public schools and then Utica Academy where he prepared for college.

He won the first State Scholarship for the First Oneida District, entered Cornell University at the beginning of the second trimester, January, 1869, in the course in civil engineering, and remained until the Easter vacation, 1871. He came to Cornell because of the State Scholarship, its freedom from denominational control, and the offer of employment, an offer which he accepted. He was a member of the Y.M. C.A. and sergeant of Company E, Second Battalion, in his junior year.

Soon after leaving he was employed as assistant engineer by the New York, Boston and Montreal Railroad Company. He practiced his profession for only a few years, being advised that he should live an outdoor life.

He then purchased a farm on Elm Street, West Hill, Ithaca, where, for forty-five years, he was one of the best known horticulturists and farmers in Tompkins County. He had been elected a Justice of the Peace and afterwards he served as supervisor from the Town of Ithaca, 1915-22. He was a Mason, a charter member and past master of Forest City Grange, and a member of the Tompkins County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Wright was married in Ithaca on March 3, 1873, to Miss Inez Elizabeth Terrill, daughter of Miles and Eleanor (Cameron) Terrill of Ithaca. There were five children: Florence Swift Wright; Charles Swift Wright; Fanny Bascom Wright; Edward Everett Wright; and John Henry Wright '09; of these only the youngest survives. Florence Wright made industrial nursing her life work and, besides writing many articles on the subject, was the author of "Industrial Nursing," largely used as a text-book. Charles Wright served in the Spanish War, being six years in the Regular Army. John Henry Wright afterwards attended Michigan University and is director, department of bio-chemistry, of the Pease laboratories, New York City.

Mr. Wright died as the result of a cerebral hemorrhage, on February 25, 1923, burial was in Hayt's Cemetery, Ithaca.

He was present at the fifty-year reunion of the Class with unwavering loyalty and with a lifelong record of fidelity to the Cornell spirit.

E. V. W. '72.

Dick M. Kirby '73

Dick Murray Kirby died on October 28, 1922. He was an optional student in the University in 1869-70, and was a member of Kappa Alpha and the Base Ball Club. He lived at Palatka, Florida.

John Van Sickle '85

John Van Sickle of Auburn, N. Y., died in New York on April 3. He had been in ill health for some time and had gone to New York two days before to consult a nerve specialist.

He was about sixty years old, and was one of the best known lawyers in central New York. Entering the University in 1880 in the course in science and letters, he received the degree of B.S. in 1885. He was a member of Psi Upsilon.

Mr. Van Sickle was a former partner of the late Representative Sereno E. Payne, and had served as president of the Cayuga County Bar Association. He had also been a commissioner of education in Auburn.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. James Waite, of Auburn.

A. Benjamin Edmonds '08

Dr. Alfred Benjamin Edmonds died on March 16 at his home in Glen Cove, Long Island, following a two-weeks' illness of pneumonia.

Edmonds was born on January 24, 1887, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Edmonds, and prepared for college at Friends Academy, Locust Valley, N. Y. He entered the College of Veterinary Medicine in 1905, receiving his degree in 1908, and was a member of Alpha Psi and the Society of Comparative Medicine. For a time after his graduation he was a Government food inspector in Chicago.

He married Miss Lottie Hervey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Hervey of Fall River, Mass., who survives him with two children, Alfred B., Jr., and Janice.

John E. Breglia '09

Dr. John Eugene Breglia died on March 19, 1923.

He was born on January 19, 1887, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Breglia, and prepared at Erasmus Hall High School, Brooklyn. He entered the Medical College in 1905, receiving the degree of M.D. in 1909. He had practiced in upper New York, living at 600 West 178th Street.

Harold Oliver Stanton '10

Harold O. Stanton died May 18, 1922.

He was born on June 29, 1886, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Stanton of New York. He prepared at Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H., and entered Cornell in 1906, receiving the degree of M.E. in 1910. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi, Scarab, the Savage Club, the Glee Club, Bench and Board, Mermaid, and the Senior Banquet Committee.

For some time he was in the Erie, Pa.,

HAROLD D. NORTH '07

"PERFORMANCE—that's the idea, Cornellians! Its performance that counts . . . that brings recognition . . . the active shows up the inactive."

"The day has passed when a man or woman who once passed the approval of Davy Hoy can sit back and think he or she has been forgotten."

In the next issue of the CORNELLIAN COUNCIL BULLETIN, Harold D. "Bub" North '07 will give away his secret of perpetual motion.

When he can spare any time from his Cornell activities in Cleveland "Bub" North is Secretary and Sales Manager of the Ferry Cap and Set Screw Company. The Hardware World recently called him "one of Cleveland's High Tension Dynamos of Energy" and applied such terms as genial, constructive, versatile, optimistic. "Bub" is a contraction of "Hubub" raised on the campus while he was in Ithaca. "Bub" North is great at starting things. Let him start you!

Read "Bub's" article in the April Cornellian Council Bulletin; it will be on your desk next week office of the General Electric Company, and was later in the cartridge department of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, New Haven, Conn.

He was married on November 7, 1911, to Miss Dorothy C. Duell of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., who survives him with two sons. He was a brother of Robert B. Stanton, Jr., C.E. '09.

Russell W. Watrous '13

Russell Wilcox Watrous died at the Sacred Heart Hospital, Spokane, Wash., on March 21, after a month's illness.

Watrous was born on June 26, 1889, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Watrous, and before coming to Cornell attended the University of Minnesota. He entered Sibley College in 1909, leaving at the end of his sophomore year to go into business in Salem, Oregon. At death he was a civil engineer with the Washington Water Power Company, Spokane, Wash.

He is survived by his parents, who reside in Portland, Oregon.

Eugene D. Roth '22

Eugene Debs Roth died at the Conklin Sanitarium, Ithaca, on March 26 after an illness of five weeks, during which time he underwent two operations for mastoids.

Roth was born on February 15, 1900, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Roth of Ithaca. He prepared at the Ithaca High School and entered the University in 1918, receiving the degree of M. E. in 1922, at which time he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Ordnance Reserve Corps. Since his graduation he had been an apprentice sales engineer with the Worthington Pump and Machinery Company, Newark, N. J.

ALUMNI NOTES

'93—Edward Everett is in the real estate business in Lakewood, Ohio.

'97 PhD—At the meeting of the Indiana chapter of Sigma Xi on March 15, Professor Arthur L. Foley, of Indiana, spoke on "Architectural Acoustics."

'98 BSA, '01 DVM—Dr. Archibald R. Ward, formerly of the United States Department of Agriculture, has accepted a position as assistant chief of the dairy research division of the Frederick C. Matthews Company, with headquarters in Detroit. While studying for the degree of D.V.M., Ward was dairy bacteriologist at the Cornell Agricultural Experiment Station.

'04—Edward F. Brundage is manager of Wing and Evans, Inc., 40 Rector Street, New York, selling agents for the Solvay Process Company.

'07 LLB—John H. Mooers, formerly assistant to the general counsel, has recently been appointed general counsel of the American Railway Express Company; the law department of the company is located at 49 Broadway, New York.

'09—James A. Harris, Jr., is in the Atlanta, Ga., office of the White Company of Cleveland, Ohio, of which he is vice-president. His new business address is 134 Boulevard, Atlanta.

'10 AB—Dr. William F. Russell, dean of the College of Education of the University of Iowa, has accepted an appointment as associate director of the International Institute of Teachers College, New York, and will take up his new duties on May 1.

The International Institute, which recently received a gift of one million dollars from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to be used over a period of ten years, is organized for the purpose of studying educational problems in foreign lands and of training at Teachers College the increasing number of foreign students who come from all parts of the world. The director of the Institute will be Dr. Paul Monroe, and Dr. I. L. Kandel, formerly of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will be in charge of the research work.

'10 ME—Walter Knapp, supervisor of piece rates with the General Electric Company, Pittsfield, Mass., is in immediate need of graduates out of college from one to three years for positions dealing with analysis of operations and time studies.

'10 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Munsell have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith Josephine Munsell '10, to Chris Andrew Hartnagel on March 31 at New Hartford, N. Y. Miss Munsell was at one time in the office of the College of Agriculture, as an assistant editor, was later editor with the State Division of Foods and Markets, Albany, and more recently has been editorial manager with the National Lime Association in Washington, D. C. Hartnagel was graduated from Union College and took his post-graduate work at Columbia; he is now assistant State geologist for New York State. Mr. and Mrs. Hartnagel will make their home in Slingerlands, N. Y., a suburb of Albany.

'10 AB—On April 1 Harry M. St. John became associated with the Detroit Lubricator Company, 5938 Trumbull Avenue, Detroit, Mich. His residence address is 5383 Ivanhoe Avenue.

'11 BChem—Harry Eastwood has left the Cook Paint Company and is now with Heath and Milligan, 1833 Seward Street, Chicago.

'12—Thomas N. Bishop is with the D. W. Bosley Company, manufacturers of railway and commercial weather strips, with offices in the Peoples Gas Building, Chicago.

'13 AB—A daughter, Elizabeth Van Praag, was born on December 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Bache, of White Plains, N. Y. Bache is in the real estate business at 1261 Broadway, New York.

'13 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Everett R. Wilkinson (Irene B. Osterkamp '13) announce the birth of their son, Everett Rankin, Jr., on September 11 at Glenwood Springs, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson are now making their home at 330 South Gilpin Street, Denver, Colo., where Mr. Wilkinson is engaged in construction work.

'14 ME—Edwin S. Dawson has left the H. Lee Reynolds Company of Pittsburgh, and is now associated with the Deming Company of Salem, Ohio.
