Wartime readjustments . . . #6

GIL TURNER HAS TO LEAVE HOME TEN MINUTES EARLIER WHEN IT'S HIS DAY TO DRIVE THE CAR POOL

The men in Gil's car pool eat on the run, once a week. But they're better neighbors now, for having to depend upon each other.

Many wartime readjustments have their saving side. They make lost luxuries seem less important — and basic values look larger.

This war-born insight, applied to the family budget, puts taxes and War Bonds first, then life insurance. All three help the war effort (much of your life insurance premium goes into Government bonds). Insurance also provides a lot of family protection for the modest price you pay.

Life insurance in this company, like the car pool, is a mutual proposition. But here you share your risks with a nation-wide group, instead of a neighborhood. And your insurance has a guaranteed value that grows steadily, year by year.

Uncertainty need not keep you from buying now, for the liberal New England Mutual contract even helps carry itself if the going gets tough!

New England Mutual contracts meet present-day needs because:

- 1 DIVIDENDS begin at the end of the first year.
- 2 CASH VALUES begin at the end of the second year.
- 3 A PREMIUM LOAN is available beginning with the second annual premium.

Let a Career Underwriter show you how valuable these features can be

Pool Insurance Problems, too!

Like the car pool, life insurance is a mutual matter. And so is life insurance counsel.

Sound counsel calls for mutual trust and confidence. A good way to get good advice on your wartime financial readjustments is to talk them over fully and frankly with competent underwriters.

A number of them are listed below. They're alumni of your college and they talk your language. They are also trained representatives of the First Mutual Life Insurance Company Chartered in America.

Out of their experience you'll get practical, constructive suggestions. They'll help you make the most of your limited life insurance dollars — help you protect your present policies with premium loans if necessary. Check your protection now when you need it most.

NO ANNIVERSARY PARTY War Again Interferes

President Day announced last week that because of the war, the University will not have an elaborate celebration of its seventy-fifth anniversary, which occurs October 7, 1943. This was agreed at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Thus, as for the University's fiftieth anniversary in 1918, war conditions will prevent any but a quiet observance of the birthday date. It was not until after the war, in June, 1919, that the University's Semi-Centennial Celebration brought to Ithaca a record number of more than 5,000 alumni. The four-day exercises included impressive gatherings at Schoellkopf Field, mammoth dinners in the Drill Hall, and Class Reunions of unprecedented size and enthusiasm. The Semi-Centennial Endowment Fund which was started to commemorate the occasion has brought to the University nearly $4,500,000 in principal and approximately $635,000 in interest on pledges made by alumni during the course of the campaign.

"Bonded Reunions" This Year

Class Reunions in the war year of 1918 were greatly curtailed, with only the Classes of '73 and '78 attempting to meet in Ithaca. This year, by recent action of the Association of Class Secretaries, the plan of "Bonded Reunions" will supercede any Class gatherings in Ithaca. All alumni will be urged, instead, to use the money that they would spend for Reunion to purchase at least a $25 War Bond for Cornell. Class secretaries will devote their usual Reunion efforts to promoting this idea among their Classmates, in the hope that again, as for the University's Semi-Centennial, the war emergency as it effects Cornell will be met with contributions from alumni. Chairman of the Bonded Reunions committee is Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28, and all Class secretaries will shortly be enlisted for the plan.

The ALUMNI NEWS of October 3, 1918, published an editorial commemorating the University's fiftieth anniversary and a chronology of its first half-century. Because of the war disruption, the Cornell Daily Sun had suspended publication, as had The Cornell Era. The Widow was about to publish its first issue of the year, and The Cornell Annuals had announced that no Cornellian would be published. The Student Army Training Corps had taken over forty fraternity houses as barracks, and the Telluride House was an officers' club. President Jacob Gould Schurman, who was in France for the YMCA War Board, had recently taken his first plane ride, arranged by the late Harold Flack '12 who was on duty in France. In less than a month, November 4, 1918, was to come the death of the University's first President, Andrew D. White.

For the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of the University, in 1893, the celebration began the evening of October 6 with a Reunion gathering in the Library. Saturday, October 7, opened with an artillery salute of twenty-five guns, and the Chimes played for an hour. At exercises in the Library auditorium, Chauncey M. Depew was the orator of the day and other speakers included General Stewart L. Woodford, Dr. G. C. Caldwell, the first professor appointed at Cornell, and Joseph C. Hendrix '74 for the alumni. After a dinner in the Armory, at which President Schurman read a cablegram from President White who was then in Russia, speakers included Professor T. Frederick Crane, Presidents Seth Low of Columbia, Cyrus Northrop of University of Minnesota, and James M. Taylor of Vassar, Andrew Carnegie, Oscar S. Strauss, and Seward A. Simons '79. A sermon by Bishop W. C. Doane of Albany closed the anniversary exercises on Sunday, October 8.

The University Board of Trustees last spring appointed a committee to consider the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary. Chairman is Neal D. Becker '05 and the other members are President Edmund E. Day, Trustees Edward R. Eastman and John L. Collyer '17, and from the Faculty Professors Walter L. Conwell '09, Harry Caplan '16, and Lincoln D. Kelsey.

"BONDED REUNIONS" CHAIRMAN

Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28 heads Association of Class Secretaries committee to celebrate University's seventy-fifth anniversary with gifts of War Bonds instead of Class Reunions this spring.

SENIOR SOCIETIES ELECT Fifty of Junior Class

Forestalling the possibility that a large number of the able-bodied men of the Junior Class may shortly be called to military service, the Senior Societies published their lists of new members February 19. This was even earlier than last spring's accelerated date of April 22. The traditional spring pledging day has been the first Tuesday of May.

Sphinx Head elected twenty-eight Juniors; Quill and Dagger, twenty-two. Fifteen of the total are the sons of Cornellians. The new members are:

About ATHLETICS

SPORTS TO BE CUT

Retrenchment of intercollegiate athletics at Cornell is in the cards, with definite announcement expected after a meeting of athletic directors of Eastern colleges in New York City March 4.

Harvard announced last week a reduction in spring sports schedules and withdrawal from league competition. Yale and Princeton likewise announced retrenchment, but did not specify discontinuance of league play. After the Harvard announcement, Asa S. Bushnell, head of the Central Office for Intercollegiate Athletics, said that "if Princeton and Yale do not follow Harvard's action we will operate the baseball league with six teams." The other four teams in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League are Cornell, Columbia, Dartmouth, and Pennsylvania.

Countering the general trend toward curtailment, however, was the announcement of H. Jameson Swarts, director of athletics, that Pennsylvania expects to play a full eight-game football schedule in the fall and that it will invite other colleges to row on the Schuylkill River, using Pennsylvania equipment. Further, Swarts said that if other members drop out of the baseball league, they will be replaced on the Pennsylvania schedule by other colleges.

Cornell is scheduled to play football with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day, November 25.

Princeton has cancelled intercollegiate crew, golf, and tennis. Yale will abandon track, tennis, and golf. Yale also announced it will play only those games to which it can travel and return on the same day.

WIN, LOSE AT BASKETBALL

The basketball team won and lost in Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League games in Barton Hall last week, defeating Yale, 51-34, Wednesday and losing to Princeton, 37-41, Saturday.

Outcome of the Yale game was never in doubt, but the Princeton contest developed plenty of suspense in the closing minutes when a Cornell rally twice came within 2 points of tying the score.

Richard K. Giles '45 scored the first point in the Princeton game on a free throw, and it was five minutes before Captain Samuel W. Hunter '43 caged a field goal. By that time Princeton had built up a 9-4 lead. Cornell reduced the deficit to 2 points at 12-10 midway in the first half, but Princeton, on the excellent shooting of Captain Munda, picked up a 4-point advantage, 19-15, at the half.

Palmer of Princeton and Captain Hunter threw in field goals to start the second half, then Princeton rolled in 9 points to 2 for Cornell in the first seven minutes for a 29-18 advantage. At the ten-minute mark, Princeton held its longest lead of the game, 13 points, at 32-19. Then Captain Munda was lost to Princeton on four personal fouls.

The Cornell rally began. William F. Hunt '45 scored a field goal. Milton D. Coe '43 converted two free throws, and Robert E. Gallagher '44 cut in for a 2-pointer. Princeton interrupted the string on Palmer's field goal. Giles and Palmer traded goals, and Palmer's turned out to be Princeton's last from the field in the game. Not long after, he too was out on four personal fouls. Cornell lost Roger D. Booze '45 the same way.

Princeton's Brewer converted a free throw, and the visitors held a 10-point lead. Coe converted, and Hunter scored from the field. Johnson of Princeton, involved in a double foul with Hunt, converted his throw, but Hunt missed. In the next minute Cornell piled in 6 points, 4 on goals by Giles, the other two by Hunt from the field.

Princeton led, 38-36, with one minute thirty-five seconds left. From there on, Cornell elected to play the ball from out of bounds at midcourt instead of trying for single points on Princeton fouls. There were three such occasions, but the strategy didn't work. Both teams played wildly and fouled repeatedly in the last 95 seconds. Hunter made one point good, when he had two chances on one foul, and Princeton converted three chances. All told, five players were ousted. Princeton lost Doar, Munda, and Palmer; Cornell lost Booze and Gallagher.

The Yale game was a different story. Gibbon of Yale scored first on a field goal, and Hunter tied the score. Then Cornell ran up 7 points in a row and built up a 31-18 margin at the half. Bromsteen's five field goals in the second half kept Yale in the running, but Cornell applied continuous pressure to keep comfortably ahead.

The week's games left Cornell with a League record of four games won and five lost. It was the second victory over Yale and the second loss to Princeton this season.

The Junior Varsity won twice in preliminary games, defeating the Ithaca College Freshmen, 40-37, Wednesday and the Penn Charter School, 46-39, Saturday. The defeat was Penn Charter's first after twenty-three consecutive victories in two seasons. The visiting school team led through the first three periods, then tired quickly in the closing quarter.

WRESTLERS LOSE

The wrestling team lost closely last Saturday to Columbia, 13-16, in New York City. The score was tied at 13-all at the start of the unlimited class bout, but Columbia's undefeated heavyweight, O'Shaughnessy, scored the meet-winning decision over James H. Barrett '43.

Fred D. McNair '45 and Kuntze split 4 points with a draw in the opening bout, and Komsa of Columbia earned a decision over John G. Raine '46. Cornell won the next three bouts to take a 13-5 lead. Starting the string, Captain Richard R. Nickerson '43 threw Shanley with a half-nelson and body press in the 136-pound class, and Eric J. Miller, Jr. '44 and Carl W. E. Almquist '45 won decisions in the next two weight divisions.

Columbia rallied, likewise to win three bouts in a row, starting with a fall for Roach over John R. Crawford '46. Roach used a double arm lock to score 5 points in the 165-pound class. Horvath tied the score with a decision over Gordon H. Steele '44, and O'Shaughnessy clinched the meet with his victory over Barrett.

FENCING TEAM WINS

The fencing team won its first meet of the season in Barton Hall last Saturday with a 16-11 victory over Columbia. It had tied MIT and lost to the US Naval and Military Academies.

Cornell won with all weapons, although by only one point in foil and epee contests. Captain Philip V. Johnson '43 won three foil bouts and George E. Rap-

Rogers, who set up a lead in the relay that Syracuse couldn't overcome, also won the 50- and 100-yard freestyle races. Captain Warren H. Fisher '43, who was kept out of several earlier meets with an injured ankle, was back in form. He won the 220- and 440-yard freestyle races.

Where Cornell won all the freestyle races, Syracuse captured the medley relay, diving, and backstroke and breaststroke events. Second-place point getters for Cornell were John H. Eppler '43 in diving, Dennett in the 100-yard freestyle, William R. Hughes '44 in the 150-yard backstroke, and Robert E. Hickman '43 in the 200-yard breaststroke.

In a preliminary meet, the Junior Varsity defeated Syracuse, 34-32.

BOOKS

By Cornellians

NATHAN THE CRITIC

The Dramatic Criticism of George Jean Nathan '04. By Constance Frick. Cornell University Press, Ithaca. 1943. $2.00.

This book, in its inception, ran the risk of being deadily dull. For the author is interested in George Jean Nathan's critical principles rather than in his application of the whiplash to playwrights, actors, producers, and other critics; and to winnow such abstractions from the work of any critic is usually to sift out a handful of pronouncements not only absurdly pontifical but also quite obviously second-hand. It must have been a great temptation to write a very different kind of book, with chapter headings such as "How Nathan Slew the Giant Belasco," "How Nathan Found the Infant Saroyan in the Bulrushes," and perhaps, to adopt Berton Braley's tinkling refrain, "Nathan, Mencken, and God."

But fortunately for Constance Frick, Nathan's life work has been motivated by his hatred of boredom; and that hatred includes a passionate fear of boring others. Hence, despite his erudition in his special field, Nathan has rarely allowed himself to philosophize. As a result, the chapters in this book on "The Nathan Critical Credo: the Art of the Drama," and "The Nathan Critical Credo: the Art of Criticizing Drama," are sprightly and entertaining, as any chapters must be that quote him extensively.

The opening chapter on "Nathan's Life and Works," which obviously owes much to the subject's own selection and presentation of material, is also highly entertaining. "I went to Cornell,"

Nathan reports, "because all the boys from Cleveland were going to Cornell that year." He never seems to have regretted the impulse. It is recorded that besides helping to write skits for Savage Club shows, he "once played—in a long, taffy-blond wig—a French hussy to a chorus line composed largely of the football team in skirts," that he was an editor of The Widow and of The Sun, and that, "as chairman of the Cornell Spring Day, he was responsible for the creation of the mysterious 'Mzupzi,' a campus sensation for antecedent weeks which ultimately was revealed—at a quarter a head—to be the two-year-old son of the colored cook at the Cayuga [?] Hotel . . . He also was chairman of The Widow Ball, the first which The Cornell Widow ever put on, a roughhouse never equalled at the University, which lasted from ten o'clock one Friday night until eight a.m. the following Tuesday and landed no less than fifty participants in the Cornell infirmary." Even then, as the author points out, Nathan was creating his role in the world, that of the delightful companion, who, in his own words, "combines the mind of a gentleman with the emotions of a bum."

George Jean Nathan has been an important influence on American drama not because he has laid down and tried to enforce any principles, but because he has derided everything and everyone that seemed to stand in the way of an interesting evening in the theatre. The author has the wit to make that fact clear. She deserves the praise given her by Nathan himself in an introduction to the book, where he says of her selection of material from his voluminous works, "I congratulate myself that so expert a manipulator of the sieve has been willing to apply herself to the heroic task."

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

They're fixing up Morse Hall. After it burned in 1916, a temporary roof was reared on the ruins and everyone expected what was left would be torn down, and the site cleared, when the new Baker Laboratory was built.

But we should have known better. In a university you can't tear down any ruin that can be made tight enough to shed water. Stepchild departments creep into it before the ashes have cooled and, once in, you can't throw them out until you've found another place for them to creep to. And you never find it. Emmons Williams used to say: "What this University really needs more than anything else is a back yard or an attic: some place to put things you can't throw away, but which should be kept out of sight when company comes."

President White said of Morse Hall (1 Autobiography, 410) long before the fire, "There was indeed one sad mistake; and I feel bound, in self-defense, to state that it was made during an absence of mine in Europe: this was the erection of the Chemical Laboratory upon the promontory northwest of the upper quadrangle. . . . It was the place to which Mr. Cornell took the Trustees at their first meeting in Ithaca, when their view from it led them to choose the upper site for the University buildings rather than the lower."

And again (p. 321): "On the morning after the attack [on Mr. Cornell and the University] in the Legislature had been blazoned in all the leading newspapers—in the early hours, and after a sleepless night—I heard the rattle of gravel against my windowpanes. On rising, I found Mr. Cornell standing below. . . . The bells of the University, which were then chimed at six o'clock, were ringing merrily, and he called out 'come down here and listen to the chimes; I have found a spot where you can hear them directly with one ear, and their echo with the other.'

Your reporter once asked President White where that spot was. He did not remember. When you live and grow old on this Hill, he said, you get so you hear bells every place. But it was probably where Morse Hall is. That, he said, was where he and Ezra Cornell were pretty apt to go to talk things over any time something came up on which they realized it was necessary to "look far and think big."

You can't crowd a Board of Trustees too much in wartime. What they do then is more apt to be what circumstances oblige them to do than what they want to do. But we wish they'd penned a reassuring note on the Morse Hall job to the effect that it was just a temporary expedient; that just as soon as they possibly could, they'd clear away the last vestige of the old wreck and restore the site to the condition it was in when the soul-stirring loveliness of the view from it always made Phillips Brooks cry when he came here to preach; when Ezra Cornell and Andrew D. White always went there when they wanted to "think big."

We'd feel better, too, if the Trustees were to make it a prerequisite to the election, or re-election, of any member of the Board that he furnish evidence that at some time in the five years last past he had read the Autobiography of Andrew D. White; the Cornell chapters, anyway.

We heard President Day make his first speech to a downtown group in Ithaca. It was within a week of his taking over his new job here. He started right off by saying he was a stranger in town but believed he already possessed something of the feel of the place because he'd just begun his third reading of President White's book. Right then your reporter figured he could stop worrying about this new man and safely resume minding his own business.

KIMBALL ON COAST

Fifty-four members and guests of the men's and women's Cornell Clubs of Southern California greeted Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus, at a dinner in the Clark Hotel, Los Angeles, February 9. Since last fall, Dean Kimball has been teaching at Texas A & M College and was a consultant in reorganizing their industrial engineering department. Introduced by President Floyd C. Brundage '06 of the men's Club, he told about the University and spoke of the influence of the land grant colleges, including Cornell, on the development of this country. Singing of the "Alma

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

FROM ABROAD

TO THE EDITOR:

Although I receive the ALUMNI NEWS four to six weeks late, I enjoy every issue very much. It is my only medium of contact with the University since I graduated in June, 1936.

There is no one part I enjoy most, for the whole magazine is read to the utmost. Keep it coming, and I shall be ever grateful.—JOHN J. GILLESPIE '36, Capt., C.A.C.

Mater" and "Evening Song" was led by Irland Davis '07.

February 11, Dean Kimball was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Southern California Section, American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

MORE NAVY OFFICERS COME

Diesel engineering course in the US Naval Training School at Cornell will be increased toward the end of April from 200 to 320 student officers, Captain Burton W. Chippendale, USN, commanding the School, has announced. February 22, a class of 170 officers arrived for the sixteen-week Diesel course, and 100 graduates are scheduled to leave for sea duty March 5.

March 1, a class of about ninety apprentice seamen received commissions as ensigns in the Naval Reserve after completing a month of indoctrination. At the same time, approximately 175 Reserve officers arrived for training in deck duties and steam engineering, to replace classes which left February 25.

ADD "E" AWARDS

Arma Corp. of Brooklyn, which has four Cornellians among its executives and engineers, holds the Army-Navy "E" Award with three stars, indicating more than two years of outstanding war production. The firm manufactures precision instruments for the Navy. Among its employees are George O. Kuhlke '14, Eugene Odin '27, Nelson Zabriskie '31, and Frederic J. Schroeder '34.

Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., Rochester, of which Edward Bausch '75 is chairman of the board and where many Cornellians are employed, won its third star for its Army-Navy "E" pennant February 3. An illustrated booklet, "Bausch & Lomb at War," describes the contributions of the ninety-year-old firm in the development and manufacture of optical instruments and shows their uses by the armed forces.

Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Co., Rochester, received the Army-Navy "E" Award January 12 for outstanding war production of communications apparatus and equipment. George L. Todd '26 is a director of Stromberg-Carlson, and other Cornellians in the organization are F. Augustus Alberger '16, expeditor; M. Agnes Conroy '19, secretary to the vice-president and general manager; Florence T. Broadbooks '23, engineering draftsman; Mrs. Kenneth B. Spear (Vera Dobert) '23; David S. Cook '24 who has recently become editor of a new employees' news magazine; William R. Todd '33, sales division; Edward C. Yeaton '40, radio development, and Mrs. Yeaton (Pauline LaRock) '39, culinary department.

BUFFALO TURNS OUT

Speakers at a Cornell Club smoker February 5 at the University Club of Buffalo were Lieutenant John T. Casey and Chief Petty Officers George J. Ray and Everett Bone from the Sampson Naval Training Station, one of whom was at Casablanca and the other just back from duty in the Solomons; Brigadier General Ralph K. Robertson '04, and Coach Carl G. Snavely. To hear these men discuss their various wartime experiences 175 alumni and fifty guests came on foot and by bus.

John Pennington '24, chairman of the Club's smoker committee, presided. Motion pictures were shown of military actions and Cornell football games. Cornell songs were led by Neil M. Willard '18, with the orchestra of Charles G. Seelbach '19.

CLUB GETS PLAY RIGHTS

Sergeant Sidney Kingsley '28 has given production rights for his successful current play, "The Patriots," to the Cornell Dramatic Club and University Theatre. The play opened January 29 at the National Theater in New York City, and has been favorably commented upon by the critics. Whether it can be given by the Dramatic Club this spring, Professor Alex M. Drummond, director of the University Theatre, is not sure. The cast is large and mostly men, and it is likely that most of the men in the Dramatic Club will be called to military service, Professor Drummond says.

As an undergraduate member of the Club, Kingsley appeared in several plays with Franchot Tone '27 and Daniel Duryea '28. Professor Drummond says that his one-act plays were among the best written by his students, "The Wonder Dark Epilogue" especially showing promise of the dramas which have brought him fame. When Kingsley's "Men in White" won the Pulitzer Prize he was abroad at European productions of the play, and he asked Professor Drummond to represent him at the Pulitzer Prize dinner in New York City.

CREDIT FOR AID

We learn belatedly that the Cornellian's experience with fraudulent "Norman L. MacLeod" in New York City, which we published February 18, came to the NEWS at the instance of Mrs. Marion O'Sullivan at the Cornell Club of New York. Our correspondent informed the NEWS only after Mrs. O'Sullivan urged him to do so in order that his complete report might forewarn other alumni against this impostor.

Such cases are always embarrassing to the victims, but publication of all the facts and circumstances have served in the past, and will again, to prevent alumni from being similarly victimized. If and when this impersonator of Norman L. MacLeod '11 again turns up, we hope that any Cornellian who talks with him will immediately send us complete information. Eventually, perhaps, he can be brought to justice, and meantime the NEWS will continue to warn alumni.

All credit to Mrs. O'Sullivan and to all other loyal Cornellians who help to keep such frauds from operating!

GIFTS FOR STUDENT LOANS

Addition of $30,000 to the Francis Leon Chrisman Loan Fund has come to the University from the estate of the widow of Francis L. Chrisman '87. Mrs. Chrisman died in 1940 and named Cornell University residuary beneficiary in her will.

Chrisman, who died in 1934, left a bequest of $5,000, income of which was to be used for loans and scholarships to needy and promising students. He received the PhD in 1887, and the next year was secretary to President Andrew D. White while a student in the Law School. He became a journalist of note, and was credited with first writing the story of the message to Garcia, which he got from Lieutenant Rowan and telegraphed to the New York World. He was a reporter for the New York Herald and for the Commercial Advertiser, New York correspondent for several papers, Washington correspondent, founder of a news syndicate, and proprietor of the Montclair, N.J., Herald.

The will of Mrs. Katherine O. Williams, who taught kindergarten in Ithaca for thirty-six years before she died last May, was probated last week and the residue of her estate of approximately $80,000, after certain life interests, was left to Cornell University, the income "to assist students of excellent Christian character who are in need of assistance." She was the widow of the late Professor John T. Williams, Engineering, and is said to have helped many students in the University.

ON BAR COMMITTEES

Ten Cornell lawyers are members of committees of the New York State Bar Association whose appointment has been announced by the newly-elected president, James McC. Mitchell.

Committee on taxation includes George F. Bodine '98 of Rochester, Francis L. Durk '07 of Brooklyn, and Willis D. Morgan '23 of Utica.

Among members of the committee on legislation are Walter C. Lindsay '17 of Buffalo and Henry S. Fraser '26 of Syracuse.

Committee on corporation law has as members James F. Hubbell '98 of Utica, Harland B. Tibbetts '04 of Brooklyn, Harry Moseson '10 of Elmira, George A. Newbury '17 of Buffalo, and Arthur H. Dean '21 of New York City.

HOTELMEN IN SERVICES

Professor John Courtney '25, secretary of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, summarizes in the Society's Bulletin for January the military records of the 323 Hotel Administration alumni who are known to be in the armed forces. He says:

"We know that in the Army at least 125 of our men are officers: 2 majors, 23 captains, 39 first lieutenants, and 61 second lieutenants. There are at least 8 officer candidates, 6 aviation cadets, 10 sergeants, 8 corporals, and we know of 28 who still sign themselves as privates. Of the 100 lieutenants, at least 21 started as privates. Two of our alumni are retired army officers.

"In the Navy we know of 2 lieutenants, 17 lieutenants (j.g.), 37 ensigns, 4 aviation cadets, and 3 seamen.

"In the Coast Guard we know of 3 ensigns, 2 cadets, and 1 seaman.

"In the Marine Corps we know of 3 lieutenants and two privates.

"And what we don't know is plenty.

"Gentlemen, I salute you!"

BANGS '21 IN PHILADELPHIA

Cornell Club of Philadelphia, Pa., and the Cornell Society of Engineers announce a dinner March 12 at the Engineers' Club, with Professor John R. Bangs, Jr. '21, Administrative Engineering, as speaker. He will describe his recent tour of the West Coast for the War Manpower Commission when he visited the Kaiser shipyards and several airplane plants.

Reservations may be made at the Engineers' Club, 1317 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

FRATERNITY STEWARDS are having their troubles with the new point rationing of processed foods. Dining rooms of most houses serve fewer than fifty persons regularly, so the total supply of rationed foods is only that called for by their pooled ration books. J. Basil Ab-bink '43 points out in The Sun: "With nine out of ten cooks on the Hill using canned or frozen or dehydrated foods wherever possible, and with one day's serving of a canned vegetable taking up two men's points for a whole month, trouble is sure on its way."

SHORTAGE of gasoline and tires did not reduce attendance at the track meet with Penn State in Barton Hall February 20. Spectators at the meet numbered more nearly 1600 than the 600 we reported last week.

POCKET BILLIARDS team which represented Cornell, playing in the Willard Straight Hall game room, placed fourth among the eleven teams of the Association of College Unions. Cornell's score was 327 of a possible 750, behind Minnesota, Florida, and Michigan universities. Games were played simultaneously and scores were gathered by mail by Edgar A. Whiting '29, secretary of ACU, and Everett W. Adams '35, tournament manager. Martin H. Mulner '45 of Attica was high scorer for Cornell, with 86 of a possible 150 points.

SORORITY CHAMPIONSHIP in basketball was won by Kappa Alpha Theta, whose team defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma in the finals, 34-25. Stars for the Thetas were Eleanor A. Kent '45 of Atlanta, Ga., and Olga M. Weber '45 of Clementon, N.J., forwards, who shot a succession of baskets to break a 14-14 tie at the half. This year's intramural season saw 200 women playing on twenty-one sorority and dormitory teams.

"SHAMROCK SHENANIGANS" open house in honor of St. Patrick's Day in the Willard Straight Memorial Room is in charge of Nancy R. Torlinski '44 of Chevy Chase, Md., and Miles A. Bailey '45 of Rochester.

HONESTY of True Jacob, who is employed by the University as a cook in the Naval Training School mess hall, received wide newspaper notice two weeks ago. In 1919, he found $400 in a hotel in Fort Worth, Tex., where he was then employed, was apprehended by the police but denied he had it. Becoming an ardent disciple of Father Divine, he located the owner of the money and telegraphed $700 to him in Pittsburgh, Pa., representing the original sum and "interest." Jacob has been in Ithaca since 1941, working first at the Gamma Alpha house, then for STUDENT COUNCIL reorganizations are a surer forerunner of spring to observant Campus dwellers than even the first robin. At last week's meeting, the Council voted for a new sort of governing body, to take effect immediately after the spring recess. Instead of members elected by the various Classes with representatives from other student organizations, ex-officio, the new Council will be comprised of the editor of The Sun, president of CURW, president of the Interfraternity Council, president of the Independent Association, chairman of the Cornell-for-Victory committee, president of WSGA, presidents of Sphinx Head and Quill and Dagger, and the secretaries of the four undergraduate Classes. The change was voted as a war measure, "for the duration," with provision that the new Council would elect its own officers and may provide for additional members to assure its continuance.

Delta Upsilon before he went to work for the University Department of Residential Halls at Balch Hall. The money with which he made restitution for his youthful aberration he said he had "scraped together through hard work" in the last three years.

SEBELA WEHE, Ithaca's self-styled "great operatic star and dancer," advertised her 152d concert for Military Hall, "opposite the Police Station," February 25.

ENGAGEMENT of Pauline G. Bird of the Alumni Office to W. Wallace Babcock of Cambridge, Mass., and Scarsdale was announced last week. Miss Bird came to the Alumni Office in 1936 from the office of the Dean of Women, and was assistant to Raymond S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary. Babcock has been at the Naval Training School as a yeoman, second class; enlisted in the Naval Reserve in January, 1942, and was formerly with the Consolidated Coal Co. in New York City.

STUDENT FORUM on "Our World" wound up Campus observance of Brotherhood Week in Barnes Hall February 28. Miss Ping-sheng Yen '43 of Shanghai, China, and Bal D. Kalelkar, Grad, of Wardha, India, spoke for the Far East; Cornelius Chiamori, Sp, a Japanese-American recently at an American evacuation center, for the United States; Jack Lawrence '45 of Palestine, for the Near East; Sonja Kramarsky '45, recently from The Netherlands, for Europe; Franklin S. Anthony, Grad, of Sierra Leone, for West Africa; and Pierre A. Roumain '43 of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, for Latin America.

FRESHMAN CLASS is advertising its '46 Day Dance March 6 as "the last chance to gather with your Class." A "date bureau" has been set up by the Class under management of William L. Brach of East Orange, N. J., and the Sun reports nightly forays of masked "commandettes" at various fraternity houses, where the imaginary feminine raiders deliver musical invitations to "Come to the Freshman banquet and dance" before they vanish into thin air. These reports were preceded by a "teaser" story in The Sun that a mysterious company of "commandettes" was training on the Campus.

CAMPUS CAMPAIGN for the Red Cross has a goal of $6,000 in contributions from students. The undergraduate committee is headed by William T. Dunn, Jr. '43 of Great Neck and Maxine L. Katz '43 of Manchester, N.H.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION filled the Willard Straight Memorial Room with 250 couples February 27. The Class invited all students, even Freshmen, in its Sun notices of the event.

TOWN MEETING in Ithaca March 4 has four members of the Faculty speaking on "The American Taxpayer and Winning the War." They are Professors George P. Adams, Jr., Economics; Forrest F. Hill, PhD '30, Agricultural Economics; M. Slade Kendrick, PhD '24, Public Finance; and Howard B. Meek, Hotel Administration, with Professor Howard R. Anderson, Education, as chairman.

BIG RED ROOM at the Johnny Parson Club was formally launched February 25 with entertainment by the Swing Five who were a feature of the "V's In Our Bonnet" Victory Show. This is the former warming room which housed skaters when Beebe Lake was used for skating. It has a new "juke box" and the walls decorated with impressionistic Campus murals painted by Louis G. Martsolf '43 of Beaver Falls, Pa. Besides his accomplishments in the visual arts, Martsolf plays the Kettle drums in the University Orchestra and the bass drum and tympani in the ROTC Band.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER March 7 is Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of the Central Synagogue, New York City.

AIRCRAFT RECOGNITION school conducted by the First Fighter Command, US Army Air Forces, in Albany this week is being attended by Mrs. Melvin L. Nichols (Mary Bancroft) '18, who has been a member of the Ground Observer Corps at the Campus observation post since last September. Upon her return, she will instruct other observers of her post.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR RIVERDA H. JORDAN, Education, Emeritus, writes that he is "still picking oranges" in Avon Park, Fla., where he and Mrs. Jordan now live. He is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, vice-president of Rotary, treasurer of the Episcopal Men's Club, co-chairman of the Highlands County Defense Speakers' Bureau, and adjutant of the Avon Park Junior Air Corps.

PROFESSOR O. A. REINKING, Plant Pathologist at the Geneva Experiment Station, recently returned from a special mission for the State Department and Board of Economic Warfare to the Canal Zone and Honduras, reports that he found no satisfactory substitute for the copper in the sprays used to combat banana leaf-spot and had worked out the minimum requirements for that critical material. He said that while every effort is being made to send more bananas to the United States, the transportation problem is still acute. Dr. Reinking advised regarding various fiber plants and with cinchona, the source of quinine.

PROMOTED from major to lieutenant colonel while stationed here with the ROTC in 1937-41, Herbert D. Gibson is now a brigadier general commanding the Hawaii District. After leaving Ithaca he was stationed at Governors Island and was promoted to the rank of colonel in December, 1941. When the war broke out, he was put in charge of a task force and sent to a Pacific island outpost and later detailed to the staff of the commanding general.

THE FIFTH SYMPHONY by Dr. Roy Harris, Composer in Residence, received its world premiere by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Serge Koussevitsky, February 26 in Boston, Mass. It was given a nationwide broadcast February 27, was short-waved to Russia as a tribute to the Soviet Army on its twenty-fifth anniversary, and recorded by the Office of War Information. The Fifth Symphony was written between early October and December, 1942, but Dr. Harris says that he had been planning it for three years. His first symphony was the first American composition to be recorded and his Third Symphony, acclaimed by Koussevitsky as "the first great American symphony," achieved a record of more than forty performances in four seasons, including a nation-wide broadcast by Toscanini and one by the BBC from Queen's Hall in England by the London Philharmonic. President Edmund E. Day wired Dr. Harris in Boston, February 26: "Congratulations to you for the auspicious world premiere of your Fifth Symphony on this great occasion. We of Cornell University are proud and deeply pleased that this evidence of America's creative strength in music should have been completed in our midst even in these perilous days of our nation at war. To listeners both here and abroad, and to our allies on the fighting fronts, may this broadcast from America help to bring renewed hope and courage for the ultimate victory and the lasting peace to follow."

DIRECTOR of women's work in CURW in 1937-40, Ruth Morrison is now personnel adviser to the Curtiss-Wright "cadettes" at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. She left Cornell in 1940 to do graduate work at Columbia and received the MS in 1941. Miss Morrison returned to the Campus last December to recruit women here for the Curtiss-Wright program.

PROFESSOR DONALD W. BAKER '29, Veterinary, was one of the speakers at a short course for veterinarians at Michigan State College, January 26-28.

NECROLOGY

'94 ME—EDWARD SPALDING SANDERSON, February 13, 1943, at his home, 155 Buckingham Street, Waterbury, Conn. ## Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'75—In his column, "These Days," in the New York Sun for February 18, George E. Sokolsky says, "Republican dinners in honor of Abraham Lincoln have been given in New York continuously for fifty-seven years. In fact, the idea of these Lincoln dinners was conceived by Colonel ANDREW B. HUMPHREY who is now ninety-four years old." Humphrey was a member of the guard of honor at the funeral of Lincoln and director of The Sulgrave Institution, Inc., New York City. In June, 1940, as president of the Allied Patriotic Societies, Inc., his name was appended to an open letter to Congress urging Congress to stay in session, and approving the increase of the regular Army to 1,000,000 men with ample reserves, registration of all aliens, and deportation of criminals, undesirables, and fifth columnists. For many years Colonel Humphrey lived at the National Republican Club, 54 West Fortieth Street, New York City.

'90 PhD—EDWIN MIMS, former professor at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., has been visiting college chapters under the sponsorship of a National Phi Beta Kappa Lectureship inaugurated last fall.

'92 BL—The John L. Elliott Institute of Human Relations, Society for Ethical Culture, 2 West Sixty-fourth Street, New York City, named in honor of the late Dr. JOHN L. ELLIOTT '92, opened February 8 its second series of courses designed to enable people of the city to meet critical issues of the present day. Dr. Elliott was a teacher of ethics and later senior leader in the Society.

'97 BS—Mrs. William R. Buchanan (CARRIE A. LAWRENCE) has moved from Riverdale-on-Hudson to 3875 Waldo Avenue, New York City.

'02 MD—Dr. JAMES S. GREENE, founder and medical director of the National Hospital for Speech Disorders, New York City, is of the opinion that stutterers should be rejected for active military service because such speech disorders are symptoms of an underlying nervous condition and there is danger of permanent impairment. He says that local examining boards see only the symptoms; they do not realize that impaired speech indicates that a man is nervously and emotionally disorganized.

'04—Dr. CHARLES HYMAN lives at 333 Central Park West and has offices at 225 West Eighty-sixth Street, New York City.

'05 LLB; '33 AB, '35 LLB—HALE ANDERSON is vice-president of The Fidelity & Casualty Co., New York City. HALE ANDERSON, JR. '33 is his son.

'06—JOHN STERNS is with the W. A. Bechtel Co., 155 Sansom Street, San Francisco, Cal.

'07; '45—MARTIN L. WILSON lives at 88 Ogden Avenue, White Plains. His son, ROBERT S. WILSON, is a Sophomore in Arts.

'09—THOMAS D. CAMPBELL, president of the Campbell Farming Corp., Hardin, Mont., is a colonel overseas with the Air Corps. He has been connected with the War Department for the last year.

'10—In the pamphlet report of E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co. for 1942, announcing the largest sales volume in the company's history, WALTER S. CARPENTER, JR., president, reports all Army and Navy ordnance projects assigned to the company are on or ahead of contract schedules; also that over-all savings to the government on the war orders had been in excess of $260,000,000, and greater unit outputs than were anticipated had made unnecessary the building of several additional explosives plants.

'12 AB, '13 LLB—ARTHUR W. MATTHEWSON of Lowville has been appointed an assistant New York State attorney general.

'13—WILLIAM H. CHOWN lives at 1850 Oaktree Drive, Los Angeles, Cal., where his business address is 505 Laughlin Bldg.

'14 CE—HARRY J. FEEHAN is district sales manager of the Truscon Steel Co. at 75 State Street, Albany.

'14—EMERSON HINCHLIFF, editor of the 1914 Class Letter, requests news scouts to send in late information about themselves and other Classmates. "The 1943 edition will germinate between March 28 and April 4 (spring vacation), so send in copy pronto." Address: Goldwin Smith Hall, Ithaca.

'14 CE—NEIL C. McMATH was promoted from vice-president to president of Whitehead & Kales Co., Detroit, Mich., January 1. The company fabricated and erected all the structural steel in the Ford Willow Run bomber plant and the Wright Aeronautical Co. plants, as well as in many other large defense plants. McMATH lives on Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

'15 AB, '17 AM, '20 MD—Dr. JOHN E. SUTTON is a surgeon with offices at 136 East Sixth-fourth Street and lives at 522 East Eighty-seventh Street, New York City. A major commanding the medical detachment of the 51st Regiment, New York Guard, he is associate visiting surgeon for City Hospital and on the surgical staff of New York Hospital. His daughter expects to enter the University this year.

'15—DANIEL D. DEMAREST of Little Neck is chief engineer for Linken Machines, Inc., Newark, N.J. He writes that he is working as consulting engineer on production machines "to keep us busy and make life better after 'V.' If every citizen is going to live decently, we must produce more than the world has ever dreamed of."

'16 ME—FREDERICK E. LYFORD is a trustee of the New York, Ohio & Western Railway at 330 West Forty-second Street, New York City; lives in Scarsdale. His son, F. CABOT LYFORD, is a Freshman in Civil Engineering and his daughter Nancy is a Junior at Mt. Holyoke.

'17 ME—Address of Lieutenant Colonel WILLIAM C. BLISS is Broadmoor Hotel, Colorado Springs, Colo.

'17—RAY T. HOFFMAN is chief utilities engineer on the construction of the Lordstown Ordnance Depot, Lordstown, Ohio. His address is 306 Woodbine, S.E., Warren, Ohio.

'17 AB—DONALD B. VAIL, assistant counsel for the Irving Trust Co., New York City, since 1933, was elected a vice-president February 14.

'18 WA—WILLIAM M. LEFFINGWELL, president of the Glen Springs Hotel at Watkins Glen which closed December 1 for the duration, was commissioned a captain, US Army, attached to AAA-ORP, January 5 and reported for active duty at Fort Eustis, Va., January 27. His daughter, MARGARET, is a Sophomore in Architecture.

'19, '31 AB—Major WILLARD I. EMERSON, on foreign duty with the Army Air Forces, writes, "I am in charge of the personnel section of the Army Air Force located here which, with many ramifications including courts martial, auditing, and other assignments, in addition to other duties, has kept me relatively busy." His address is Hq. AAF Station No. 597, APO 636, New York City.

'20 CE—ALFRED L. FAY, Army engineer, is stationed in Canada. Address him at 266 Raymond Street, Rockville Centre.

'21 CE—"Minnesota's Blitz Producer" by Robert M. Yoder in the Saturday Evening Post for February 20 describes "the irreverent Mr. Hawley [JOHN B. HAWLEY, JR.] who sticks out his tongue at fellow employers, the RFC, and anybody else who gets in his way." Hawley is president of Northern Pump Co. of Fridley, Minn., the nation's largest private Naval ordnance plant, now turning out gun mounts and hydraulic machinery "two months ahead of the unbelievable." Hawley is pictured holding the Baron twins, the first twins born to an employee, who won for their parents the $1000 offered by "the rapid fire naval gun producer" to celebrate a twin-gun contract. In conclusion Yoder says, "Inventors are a restless lot and it may be that Hawley's prowess as a war producer stems from the same thing that made him give up his one venture into mass production. He made 8,000 oil-burner pumps one year, but didn't like it. So he quit. 'Got tired' he says, 'of seeing the same damn thing all over again'."

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

FORD H. SEVERANCE wrote to Professor Howard B. Meek, Hotel Administration, in January: "Right now this chicken is on Guadalcanal and everything is going along swell. Have the best organized and smoothest running supply depot on the island and am damn proud of it. . . . My storekeepers are an up-and-coming bunch, and are right on the ball. They are always ready and willing to assume any job given them. . . . We have stowed all our gear in tents and our dunnage so that it will not absorb the moisture which is one of our headaches. . . . All things considered, it is a great education. . . ." Mrs. Severance (HELEN ANN GROSS) '40 lives at 16 Nassau Road, Great Neck.

Downs

With pleasure trips out, business and official travel has hit new highs. Some Cornellians are all but commuting from their home towns . . . up from the south, down from the north . . . and more and more of them are coming to The Grosvenor.

They like the comfort of the over-size rooms, the smart address; the subways, buses and tubes that get you places fast, the friendly hospitality of the staff.

They say: "Make it The Grosvenor and check your worries at the desk."
