MUSICIANS GOING FAR WEST.

Outline of Plans for Christmas Tour— Concerts in Ten Cities.

When the Musical Clubs leave Ithaca on the 21st of December they will begin the longest Western tour the organization has ever undertaken. Except for concerts given in St. Louis, the clubs have never been west of the Mississippi. This winter they are to be heard in Omaha and Kansas City. There are ten cities on the itinerary, and alumni committees are now busy making arrangements for the concerts and the entertainment of the musicians. The clubs will travel most of the way in a special train consisting of two Pullman sleeping cars and a special baggage car to be used as a dressing room. Between 55 and 60 men will be in the party. In a number of the cities there will be solos by former members of the Glee club to add local interest to the program.

The alumni in a number of cities which are not on the itinerary have asked for concerts there, but as their requests were received after the schedule had been arranged, they had to be disappointed. These requests will be kept in mind by the management, however, and an attempt will be made to include them in the next western trip. Following is an outline of the plans for the trip:

December 21.—Rochester; concert in the Lyceum Theatre; smoker after the concert; alumni committee—John H. Agate, William B. Zimmer, R. H. Gorsline.

December 22.—Cleveland; concert in Engineers' Auditorium; dance or smoker after the concert and perhaps a reception in the afternoon; alumni committee—W. J. Crawford, jr.; R. H. Cobb, C. L. Bradley.

December 23.—Chicago; concert in Orchestra Hall; reception and ball; a number of committees of arrangement have been appointed, of which Charles M. Howe is general chairman.

December 24.—Milwaukee; concert in the Pabst Theatre; smoker after the concert; alumni committee—E. M.

Prescott, Henry Schoellkopf, E. C. Welborn.

December 26.—Omaha; place of concert undecided; dance after the concert and reception in the afternoon; several committees have been appointed by President Arthur C. Wakeley of the Omaha Cornell Club.

December 27.—Kansas City; concert in the Westport High School Auditorium; smoker after the concert; alumni committee—George F. Mosher, A. H. Place, C. S. Burns, George J. Mersereau, Howard L. Snider, Robert J. Thorne.

December 28.—St. Louis; concert in the Odeon; reception and smoker; alumni committee—Kelton E. White.

December 29.—Cincinnati; concert in the Odeon; reception and smoker; alumni committee—R. K. Caldwell, Clyde P. Johnson, J. A. Pollak, W. W. Balke, W. H. Schmidlapp.

December 30.—Pittsburg; concert in Carnegie Hall; smoker at the University Club; alumni committee—J. H. Rose, R. R. Lally, Walter S. Wing, Conant Van Blarcom.

The Masque to Take a Long Trip.

During the Christmas vacation the Cornell Masque will make the longest trip it has ever attempted. The show which the Masque will present this year is "The Butterflies," by Henry Guy Carleton. It was given by the Masque last June in senior week and was such a success that the organization decided to take it for presentation this season in place of "The Conspirators," a musical comedy which had been previously accepted. "The Conspirators" was written by F. Dana Burnet '11, at present editor of the Widow.

Following is the itinerary, which has been ratified: Auburn, December 22; Geneva, December 23; Binghamton, December 24; Brooklyn, December 26; Philadelphia, Pa., December 27; Baltimore, Md., December 28; Washington, D. C., December 29; Newark, N. J., December 30.

Last year was the first time that the Masque attempted a trip of any importance. It was taken during the Easter vacation, but it is impossible to take this year's trip at that time because the change in the University calendar has resulted in the Easter vacation being cut to only a few days. Elmira, Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and New York were the cities in which "The Misfit Man" played last year. The trip was successful but hardly warranted taking so expensive a production on the road.

When the trials for actors came this fall there was such a large response that the management decided to select double the number needed. Last week the final selection was made and the cast as it now stands is as follows: Frederick Ossian, Hugh J. MacWilliams '11; Andrew Strong, L. P. Ward '11; Hiram Green, W. P. Rose '11; Barrington B. Green, J. A. Hogan '14; Nathaniel Bilser, D. F. Crane '10; Coddles, C. H. Cull '11; Miriam Stuart Dodge, E. P. Williams '13; Susanne Green, R. S. Brown '14; Mrs. Beverly Stuart Dodge, Harry Sonnenfeld '12; Mrs. Ossian, R. D. Spraker '13.

The Masque is to have its own scenery for the Christmas trip and the Ithaca performances.

Faculty Appointments.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees, held on October 25, the following appointments were made: Lewis J. Cross '09, C. C. Hedges '08, and F. E. Rice, instructors in agricultural chemistry; R. E. Wadsworth and H. B. Frost '08, assistants in horticulture; Miss Anna E. Jenkins, assistant in plant pathology; O. W. Dynes, student assistant in farm management and farm crops for the first term; Eugene D. Montillon '07, assistant to Professor Fleming, assistant professor of rural art; H. O. Buckman, assistant in soil technology; W. C. Funck and I. B. Lipman, student assistants in soil technology; S. J. Fuller and W. B. Cornell '07, instructors in machine design; H. M. Douglass '07, instructor in mechanics of engineering; D. J. Davies, assistant in the foundry; A. K. Starkweather, assistant in economic geology; O. W. Boies and J. M. Fry, assistants in chemistry; R. S. Rife, assistant in economics and finance; L. M. Parker, assistant in geology for the first term; M. L. Zurkow, hospital interne in the veterinary college; H. B. Kirkup, assistant in the reference department of the library; Giorgio de Grassi, attendant in the shelf and reference library.

Osgood's Death in Cuba.

General Frederick Funston is relating in Scribner's Magazine his story of the Cuban insurrection, in which he served as an officer under General Calixto Garcia. The narrative possesses considerable interest for Cornellians, for one of Funston's fellow officers was the late Winchester Dana Osgood '92, formerly well known as a Cornell athlete and then holding the rank of major as an American volunteer in the Cuban army. In the November installment in Scribner's, entitled "The Fall of Guaimaro," are related several incidents of Osgood's service. General Funston thus describes the circumstances of Osgood's death:

"Just as the sun came over the horizon Osgood landed a shell squarely on the Isabella fortin, and for a couple of hours deliberately shelled that work and others in the vicinity. As always when these fragile blockhouses were under artillery fire, the enemy left the structures and fought in the trenches around them, where only by chance were they liable to suffer casualties from our shells. Here, however, our slight elevation above the town gave us some advantage in this respect. During most of the bombardment of this morning I remained outside, some forty feet east of the blockhouse, calling the shots for Osgood, as none of those in the structure could observe the effects of their fire owing to the smoke. I spent a part of the time in the building, however. Our infantry supports were well covered in standing trenches on the flanks of the blockhouse, these having been constructed during the night, so that there were no groups on the hill to draw the Spanish fire. The result was that the enemy apparently paid but little attention to us. It was finally noticed, however, that about once a minute a bullet would come through the port-hole, or strike very near it. The regularity of these shots and their accuracy convinced us that some exceptionally fine sharp-shooter was giving us his attention. On one of my runs to the blockhouse to announce the result of a shot, one of these bullets came in the port-hole just as I entered the gap in the rear, missing me only an inch or two. Several of those serving at the gun had had narrow escapes, and everybody was keeping as much as possible out of the danger zone, though a certain amount of exposure was unavoidable.

"Partly owing to our defective ammunition, and partly to a brisk wind blowing across the line of fire, several unfortunate shots had been made, and Osgood stooped over the gun to make on the sight a correction for wind. He had adjusted it satisfactorily, sighted the piece, and made the remark, 'I think that will do,' when all those near by heard a bullet strike him with a sound like a base-ball being thrown against a building. The few words just spoken were his last on earth. He sank across the trail of the gun, unconscious, and was lifted from it by his horror-stricken comrades and hurried down the hill to one of the dressing-stations. He did not recover consciousness, and in four hours was dead. The bullet had gone through his brain, and he passed from the vigor of early manhood into the long sleep in the fraction of a second. He could never have known that he had been hit. A year and a half later, it fell to me to recount the circumstances of Major Osgood's death to his father, Colonel, afterward Brigadier-General, Osgood of the United States Army. The latter knew that his son had been killed, but was ignorant as to the attendant circumstances. * * * *

"It was rightly guessed that the sharp-shooter was stationed in the church tower, distant eleven hundred yards, and I determined to make it my special business to kill him if I could. It was subsequently learned that he was an officer, using a rifle with telescope sight. As the gun had not been touched since Osgood had sighted it, I ordered the lanyard pulled, and a shell smashed its way through one of the blockhouses. The poor fellow's last work had been well done."

New Jersey Cornellians Meet.

With Professor T. F. Crane as the principal guest, the Cornell University Club of Northern New Jersey gave one of its most successful informal smokers on Friday evening at the Essex County Country Club in West Orange. About sixty Cornell men gathered in one of the comfortable lounging rooms of the spacious clubhouse and talked, sang and listened to informal addresses. The first speaker was Ira A. Place '81, vice-president of the New York Central Railroad and president of the Cornell University Club of New York. He spoke of old days at Cornell. F. L. Hoffman, chief statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company, then spoke. His theme was what he considered a tendency on the part of college undergraduates nowadays not to make the most of their educational opportunities. William M. Aitchison '11, a member of the varsity eight for the past two years, spoke about the hard work it takes to make a Cornell crew man. A short talk on the public school system was given by A. B. Poland, superintendent of public schools of Newark, and then Professor Crane spoke on matters of to-day at Cornell. He received a hearty welcome. The speakers were introduced

OBITUARY.

F. DANA REED '74.

Fitch Dana Reed died suddenly on October 21 at his home, 561A Halsey street, Brooklyn, N. Y. He had been connected with the Brooklyn Eagle for thirty-seven years and for fifteen years was its literary editor. He was sixty-one years old. Mr. Reed was born on a farm at Wassaic, N. Y., and when fifteen years old he left the academy at Dover to set type in the office of the Amenia Times. He entered Cornell University in 1870, but left college without graduating and went into the newspaper business in New York. He joined the Eagle staff in 1873 and remained with that paper till the close of his life except for a brief interval when he managed a daily paper in New London, Conn. He leaves a widow.

L. B. PAINE '14

Lauran Bosworth Paine, a member of the freshman class in Sibley College, died in the Cornell Infirmary last Thursday evening. He was a son of Franklin Paine, of Duluth, Minn. He had been a member of the freshman football team this fall, and his death was at first supposed to have been caused by an injury received in practice, but an autopsy, performed on Friday, proved that it was due to a chronic illness. Paine was prepared for college at Phillips Academy (Andover). He played on the football and hockey teams there and won the Yale cup, awarded to the best student and best athlete. He was pledged to the Kappa Alpha society at Cornell.

The annual meeting of the American Society of Naturalists will be held from December 28 to 30 at Cornell University. The general program will consist of a symposium on the subject of "Genotypes or pure lines of Johannsen." Professor Johannsen himself, of Copenhagen, will contribute a paper, and other invited papers will be given by investigators working in the fields of inheritance and evolution. Each presentation will be followed by an open discussion. The naturalists' dinner will be arranged for the evening of December 29, when the president, Professor D. T. MacDougal, will deliver his address. Dr. Charles R. Stockard, Cornell Medical School, New York City, is the secretary.

The Ithaca Conservatory of Music has bought the Boardman property on Buffalo street, adjoining DeWitt Park.

CORNELL RUNNERS WIN.*Easy Victory over Pennsylvania in Dual Cross-Country Meet.

Cornell won the cross-country race easily from Pennsylvania last Saturday, taking first, second, third, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth places and scoring 17 points as against 46 by the Penn runners. John P. Jones, a sophomore, won the race, making the course of about five and one-half miles in 29 minutes and 4 seconds. He was not an easy victor, however, for Tell Berna, a member of the junior class who holds the American record for the two-mile run, crowded him all the way around the course and finished only eleven seconds behind.

The men finished in the following order:

1. Jones, Cornell ..... 29:04
2. Berna, Cornell ..... 29:15
3. Putnam, Cornell ..... 29:29
4. Walle, Penn ..... 29:30
5. Major, Cornell ..... 29:41
6. Kraker, Cornell ..... 29:43
7. Brown, Cornell ..... 29:49
8. Longfield, Cornell ..... 29:53
9. Crandall, Cornell ..... 29:59
10. Finch, Cornell ..... 30:42
11. Church, Penn ..... 31:17
12. Nearing, Penn ..... 32:09
13. O'Neill, Penn ..... 32:17
14. Hyer, Penn ..... 33:05
15. Wagner, Penn ..... 35:02
16. Hepburn, Penn ..... 35:16

The course was a new one. The start was in front of Morrill Hall, from which the runners cut diagonally across the quadrangle and around the north end of Goldwin Smith Hall to Reservoir avenue. The runners went directly east from Reservoir avenue across the University farm to the three-mile course. They then went south and west to the corner of South and Garden avenues. Along the west side of Alumni Field they were pretty well bunched. Kraker was setting the pace and Walle and Church were the only Pennsylvania men up with the Cornell bunch. The men circled the college of agriculture and went east to the four-mile course. They then returned to the campus by way of the Forest Home road and finished in front of Morrill Hall.

Kraker made the pace for the Cornell men until the last mile, when Jones took the lead and held it until the finish. The most exciting part of the race was the finish of Walle of Pennsylvania and Putnam of Cornell. When they came in sight of the crowd from around Sibley, the Penn man was leading by nearly 75 yards. Putnam sprinted to the finish and got in just a second ahead.

The cross-country training table has been running for several weeks and this week the hardest part of the training for the intercollegiate meet at Princeton on November 12 will begin.

Cornell particularly fears the Harvard team in the meet this year. The other teams are far from being in good form. The Cornell men are all running well. Jones, Berna and Putnam are almost sure of scoring among the first men and Major and possibly another Cornell man will be well up in the list. Captain Brown is not running in as good form this year, owing probably to the responsibilities of the captaincy.

Crew Celebration.

Extensive plans had been made for the celebration of last spring's crew victories which was to be held in the Armory on Monday evening of this week, just as this paper was going to press. It was to follow the annual flag rush between the two lower classes. The program was as follows: Toastmaster—Professor E. H. Woodruff.

Alma Mater—Glee Club.

Address—President J. G. Schurman.

Crew Songs—Glee Club.

Address—Professor C. L. Durham.

Remarks—Dean Frank Irvine.

Selection—Glee Club.

Crew Prospects—P. L. Day '11, Commodore of the Navy.

Evening Song—Glee Club.

Mr. Courtney was expected to attend the celebration, although he had asked to be excused from speaking on account of his recent illness.

Among the lecturers at this winter's course at the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago are Dr. Charles F. Milspaugh '75, of the Field Museum, on "What Plants Mean to Man," and Dr. Joseph A. Holmes '81, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, on "Waste of Life in American Industries."

FOOTBALL.*No Williams Game—The Week's Practice—Several Regulars on the Injured List.

The football game which was to have been played with the Williams College eleven at Percy Field last Saturday was cancelled, at the request of President Schurman, on account of the sudden death of Lauran B. Paine, of Duluth, a member of the freshman football team, on Thursday evening. After an autopsy had shown that the unfortunate death of Paine had not been the result of football injury, an effort was made to have the game played as scheduled, but it was then too late to reassemble the Williams team.

Paine had been slightly hurt in a practice scrimmage on October 18, and this fact was naturally uppermost in the minds of the community when it became known that he had died in the Infirmary. President Schurman sent a telegram to the young man's father in which he said:

"With heartfelt sympathy I have to inform you that your son, L. B. Paine, suddenly and unexpectedly passed away at 6:10 o'clock this evening in the Cornell Infirmary. He had injured his side October 18 in practice football scrimmage. Neither the attending physician nor anyone else regarded the injury as dangerous. Physicians sent the boy to the Infirmary that evening and boy left next morning, the 19th. He returned to the Infirmary on the 21st, complaining of sore side and chest. Physician applied remedy which brought relief and boy left Infirmary on 22nd. That afternoon he watched football game and though his side was still sore, he was in excellent spirits. Next day, Sunday, he walked a couple of miles into the country with two of his friends and was otherwise active. Tuesday afternoon, the 25th, he again went to the Infirmary with marked distress on whole right side and intense headache. Headache yielded yesterday to physician's treatment and right side pain practically disappeared this morning. Doctor thought boy on point of recovery until 4 o'clock this afternoon but just after 6 o'clock he suddenly passed away. Until 4 o'clock no one had any apprehension of danger."

On Friday morning President

THE VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD.

Schurman requested the president of Athletic Council to have the Williams game cancelled. The visiting players were already on their way from Williamstown to Ithaca, but the Cornell management intercepted them at Auburn and informed them of the action that had been taken.

On Friday afternoon Dr. Charles A. Bentz, of Buffalo, performed an autopsy and made the following report:

"Autopsy performed October 28, 4 p. m. From findings it is my opinion that the patient died of unavoidable acute dilatation of the heart, associated with arterial disease and a gastro entero colitis. There was no evidence of rupture, hernia or anything due to a football injury. The gastro entero colitis was the most important cause of the dilatation."

Dr. Bentz's report, showing that the young man's death had not been the result of an avoidable accident, relieved the distress which the community had felt, and the President said he thought there was no longer any objection to the playing of the Williams game. The assistant graduate manager then tried to reach the Williams manager, but the eleven had dispersed, and, although efforts to bring them together in Ithaca were kept up until Saturday morning, they could not all be located.

Practice Under Difficulties.

Secret practice was the order throughout the week on Alumni Field, despite the difficulty of closing the field to spectators. Injuries kept a large number of men out of the week's practice. Among those disabled were Champaign, Robb, Pitcher, Baker, Austin, Weekes, Carey, Stephenson and Eyrich. So many of the ends were unable to play that the coaches shifted Seagrave from center to right end, Miller and Stimson being tried in his place. Coach Reed said that the varsity and scrub players were reaching the field in good time. Ever since practice was called off one afternoon by the coaches because of the large number of absentees, there had been much less trouble caused by men being detained at University work. Schedules, it had been thought, were arranged so that trouble of this sort would be avoided, and the heads of the colleges were all trying to make it easy for the men to reach the field in good time, but there were some instructors, Coach Reed surmised, who were not so inclined to be helpful. Whether or not they had learned of the coaches' feeling in the matter he did not know, but there had been much less trouble.

Henry Schoellkopf '02 was in Ithaca consulting with the coaches during the week.

Complaint About Equipment.

The coaches say they attribute the injuries some of the players have suffered to poor or insufficient equipment provided by the management. They asserted that shoulder pads and leg guards had to be used which were practically worthless for protection and that some of the men were wearing broken shoes. Graduate Manager Dugan has been out of town for the past three weeks. Assistant Graduate Manager Scott said that the management had been unable to get a delivery of felt which had been ordered for renewing the padding of uniforms. He said that every requisition for supplies which had been made from the field had been honored at the athletic office.

A Scrub Game Played.

Enough spectators remained at Percy Field on Saturday, after the underclass meet, to fill the steel stand. The coaches put on a game with the scrubs which resulted in a victory for the varsity by a score of 58 to 0. A cheer leader announced to the stand that "The long expected Williams team had just arrived and was prepared to enter the field." The announcement brought loud cheers, amid which the scrubs, each with a large letter W on his blue jersey, ran upon

AN INTERESTING INSTANCE of university co-operation comes from Missouri. Graduates of the University of Missouri and other persons interested in the welfare of the institution have asked for the co-operation of Cornell men in the state in an effort to secure the adoption of an amendment to the state constitution. The proposed amendment provides for a state tax of 3 cents on the hundred dollars, to be levied for the benefit of the state university. At present the income of the university depends chiefly upon the inheritance tax, which is variable in amount, and the officers of the University are under the necessity of lobbying every two years for appropriations to keep the institution going. The proposed amendment has been endorsed by both political parties, but it may fail of passage for lack of affirmative votes, since a majority is necessary to pass it. The president of the Cornell Club of St. Louis has sent out a circular letter to the Cornell alumni of Missouri, asking them not only to support the amendment, if they approve of it, but to call the attention of their friends to it as a measure vitally affecting the educational system of the state. President Hill of the University of Missouri is an alumnus of Cornell and was lately dean of the college of arts and sciences here.

THE PURPOSES of the Egypt Exploration Fund, an account of whose work we published three weeks ago, are to organize excavations in Egypt, to publish periodically descriptions of the sites explored and excavated and of the antiquities brought to light, and to insure the preservation of such antiquities by presenting them to museums and similar institutions. The society's acts of incorporation prohibit the presentation of antiquities to individuals. Any subscriber to the Fund, however, may request that his subscription be credited to Cornell University. As the division of the antiquities recovered is proportionate to the sums so credited to different institutions, all such subscribers would to that extent benefit the Cornell collection. Each subscriber to the year's work of not less than $5 receives the illustrated volume of the season; the archaeological report, illustrated, and the annual report. Patrons contribute $25 annually. It is estimated that $25 will support a spade for a year.

Ezekiel, the Sculptor, in Ithaca.

Moses Ezekiel, an American sculptor whose home is in Rome, Italy, was the guest of Dr. Andrew D. White last week. Mr. Ezekiel was the sculptor of the statue of Mrs. Andrew D. White which is in the Sage Memorial apse and of the bust of Goldwin Smith which is in the main corridor of Goldwin Smith Hall. He is best known in America by his busts of the poets in the Corcoran gallery in Washington and his Jefferson monument at Louisville, Ky.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUBHOUSE.

New Building to Be Completed Soon—Adapted to Its Use.

Within less than a month the new home of the Cornell Cosmopolitan Club will be completed. The heating system is the only part of the house not yet ready. Ground for the new house was broken during the Christmas vacation of 1909, when the national convention of Cosmopolitan Clubs was held at Cornell. Work was not commenced on the building until late in July of this year. The house is situated in the Bryant Tract, a new residence section a short distance from Dryden Road. The building consists of three stories and a large basement. The basement is at street level.

The main purpose of the building is to furnish club rooms, an auditorium for meetings and dining accommodations for the club members. The dining room, which is in the basement, will seat about sixty men. At the basement level there are also kitchen, serving rooms and servants' quarters and the heating and vacuum cleaning plants. The building is of concrete and is practically fire-proof.

The first floor is so arranged that it can be thrown into one large room for club meetings. It will seat 400. When not in use as an auditorium this room can be divided by door partitions into a number of smaller rooms available for club and lounging rooms.

On the second floor are twelve rooms and a large bath room. The third floor has thirteen rooms and several shower baths. The dormitories will easily accommodate twenty-five men.

The building will cost about $50,000. The money has been raised by subscription of the members of the club, by bonds sold to club members and business men of Ithaca and by a first mortgage to the Auburn Savings Bank. The committee which has had charge of the construction of the new house and the financing of the project is composed of Frank Morse, chairman; Frederick Robinson, vice-chairman, and the following officers of the Cosmopolitan Club: President Harry Eastwood '11, of England; Harry Lubin '08, of Russia, chairman of the board of directors, and Professor F. A. Barnes '97.

In one day last week 236 men exercised on the two sets of rowing machines in the gymnasium. Mr. Courtney said that if there had been six sets of machines 500 men would have used them. Some of these men are varsity and freshman crew candidates, and some are aspirants for seats in the college eights. "I guess all the agricultural college was there except the stenographers," Mr. Courtney said.

In the Far Northwest.

An account has been received of a hotly contested game of intercollegiate baseball played at Prince Rupert, British Columbia, in the evening of August 13, between teams composed of alumni of Cornell, Princeton, Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Michigan. The teams were:

The Midnight Sons.—W. C. Durant, Cornell '04, (captain) right field; B. N. Durant, pitcher; Henry B. Close, Cornell '05, catcher; M. J. Hobin, Michigan '04, first base.

The Northern Lights.—F. B. Hussey, Princeton '02, right field; Sanford B. Hunt, Cornell '04 (captain) pitcher; C. M. Brown, Cornell '04 catcher; J. M. Walter, jr., Worcester '04, first base.

The game was called at 9 p. m. on account of darkness, dishonest umpire, injury to players and lost ball. The score after the third and final inning was 12 to 11, each side claiming the winning run. After the game the players had a banquet at the Durant ranch.
