Vol. XXIII, No. 13

Ithaca, N. Y., December 23, 1920

Price 12 Cents

THE ANNUAL RUSH of students going home for the holidays was in full swing Wednesday noon when the University closed officially for two weeks. Special trains on all three lines all day Wednesday and far into the night carried thousands in all directions.

COACH DOBIE forsakes the role of Harpocrates long enough to tell in the Era that Cornell's football team was at its peak in the Colgate contest. Its decline after this was due, first, to the loss of G. P. Lechler from the backfield, as result of a severe injury,—“a blow from which the varsity never did recover.” The other contributing cause to the decline was furnished in general minor injuries.

AT THE FALL INITIATION of Phi Kappa Phi, held on December 14, Dean Betten gave a history of the growth of the Society and Professor Roswell C. Gibbs '06, president of the chapter, spoke on “Some Aspects of Higher Education.” A resolution was adopted pledging the chapter to cooperate in an attempt to secure an Honor Societies' Day in Commencement Week.

AGRICULTURAL ALUMNI are planning to return in force during Farmers' Week, February 14-19 inclusive. A special day will be given up to the affairs of the Agricultural Alumni Association.

THE SEVEN CONTESTANTS for the '94 Memorial Prize on January 10 are C. Garside '21 of Meriden, Connecticut, C. F. Ostergren '21 of Brooklyn, W. Polack '21 of New York, P. A. Schultz '21 of Buffalo, R. H. Smith '21 of Pittsburgh, C. A. Warburton '21 of Odessa, and A. Benenson '22 of Napa-noch, alternate.

PROFESSOR R. H. KENISTON spoke to Ithaca High School students last week on “The Problems of Italy.”

SUGGESTIONS FOR USING the Star Theater building, which has been dark since summer, have included its purchase by the city for a community house, or for a central fire station, and it use as a down-town State Armory. The last suggestion has been given weight by the publication of a letter from Carl A. Crandall, captain of the local company of the New York Guard. Captain Crandall says that the State Armory Commission, on recommendation of their architects, are considering leasing the building for an armory, and that the success of the local company depends largely upon its having a down-town armory, which might also be used for community purposes.

THE HEARING of the Ithaca Traction Company for a ten-cent fare has been adjourned to December 29 at Albany. At the preliminary hearing before the Public Service Commission in Ithaca the increase was officially opposed by the City Council and by the Ithaca Board of Commerce. A petition to Mayor Stewart from four hundred stenographers, clerks, and other employees of the University strenuously opposed any increase, but the attorney for the corporation stated that the company could not pay next year's taxes with present fares because of increased operating costs.

TO THE SATISFACTION of those who have used the street cars recently, announcement was made late last week that the Stewart Avenue bridge over Cascadilla Creek would be opened to traffic within a few days. New plank-ing, railing, and steel under-work have made necessary a dummy line from the bridge down Stewart Avenue and sent most of the traffic over the Eddy Street line.

WALTER HAMPDEN gave remarkable presentations of Shakespeare's “Merchant of Venice,” “Hamlet,” and “The Taming of the Shrew” at the Lyceum last week. In one of his curtain speeches he said that presenting Shakespeare to Ithaca audiences gave him new encouragement in trying to bring the great playwright back to popularity.

AS A RESULT of a post-card appeal addressed to “The Club of the Students of Medicine at the Cornell University of Ithaca,” eighty students and instructors contributed $110 to a medical student starving in Vienna. The card came through the American Relief Council, Herbert Hoover's organization which is appealing to American students to help feed those in Europe.

SIR AUCLAND GEDDES, British ambassador to the United States, has accepted the invitation of the Cornell British-American Club to visit the University, February 18. The ambassador and his staff will be entertained with a formal review of the R. O. T. C. and a banquet at the Dutch.

FINAL TRIALS for the Eastman Stage left seven students from more than sixty who entered the first contest. Those who will compete for the prizes Farmers' Week are L. K. Elmhirst '21 of Elmhirst, Barnsley, England; B. A. Jennings '21 of Ithaca; A. C. Lechler '21 of Philadelphia; R. L. Hahn '22 of Atwater; E. A. Perregaux '22 of Lincoln, Rhode Island; D. S. Cook '24 of South Byron; and F. H. Bond '22 of Jamestown, alternate.

D. B. STRICKLER '22 of Columbia, Pennsylvania, was chosen by the Student Council to represent the University at an intercollegiate student conference in New York on December 22, called to consider questions of student affairs and government. Representatives of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Cornell constituted the executive committee of the conference.

THE NAMES OF FORTY undergraduates, eighteen of whom were suggested by the new Independent Association, have been submitted to the Faculty by the Student Council with the suggestion that a Student Conference Committee be appointed from them to act with the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

A LARGE AUDIENCE voted the orchestra better than ever before, after the first of its free concerts made possible by the Hinkley Memorial Fund. A well selected and perfectly executed program was amplified by the solos of Dorothy Keppler Merrill, soprano, of Syracuse, and Eric Dudley, barytone, of Ithaca.

AS A RESULT of suggestions that a substitute for the Sophomore Cotillion be found, the Student Council lately voted to refer the question of abolishing it to the fraternities, deciding that no substitute was possible in the Junior Week Festivities. Because it detracts from the Junior Prom, they decided to abolish it.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL has appointed committees to formulate plans for a memorial to “the Old Man,” Mr. Courtney, and to arrange a welcome for the cross country team when it returns from England.

TWENTY-SEVEN UNDERGRADUATES have received numerals for track and cross country, two of whom, E. D. Luque '23 of Mexico City, Mexico, and C. Geoghegan '24 of New Rochelle, were honored in both sports.

Stagg Goes to Albany

Governor-Elect Miller Appoints Law Professor His Legal Adviser

Following the custom of choosing Cornellians as legal advisers inaugurated by Roswell P. Flower when he was Governor of New York State, Governor-Elect Nathan L. Miller has appointed Professor C. Tracey Stagg, LL. B. '02, to fill a similar position for him. Since Governor Flower chose Professor Charles A. Collin from the Law Faculty as his legal adviser, two other governors up to the present time have similarly honored Cornell and Cornellians. Professor Cuthbert W. Pound '84, now of Lockport, was adviser to Governor Higgins and Dean Edwin H. Woodruff '88 was adviser to Governor Charles E. Hughes, who was himself professor of law at Cornell from 1891 to 1893.

With the announcement of Professor Stagg's appointment, Mayor Edwin C. Stewart of Ithaca and Dean Woodruff issued statements commending the judgment of the Governor-Elect and congratulating the appointee, while regretting his temporary absence from Ithaca and Cornell. He has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence from the University, and now spends most of his time in Albany, although his family are still in Ithaca. Students in Professor Stagg's classes presented him with a gold watch and a gold pencil when he left, and the members of Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity of which he is a member, presented him with a leather brief case.

While an undergraduate, Professor Stagg was a winner of the Boardman Scholarship and colonel in the Cadet Corps. He practiced law in Elmira, his home city, until 1906, when he moved to Ithaca, and entered partnership with Jared T. Newman '75. He maintained this connection until 1909, although he was appointed instructor in the Cornell Law School in 1908. In 1909 he was made assistant professor and in 1914, professor. He has been secretary of the College of Law since 1915 and is president of the Cornell Cooperative Society. He is also a member of the American, New York State, and Tompkins County Bar Associations, and prominent in the Masonic order. During the war he was secretary of the Tompkins County Draft Board, and is a director of the Ithaca Savings and Loan Association.

Professor Stagg has many close friends on the Hill and in the city to wish him success.

INDEPENDENTS' POLICY

The Cornell Independent Association, whose organization was described in our issue of December 16, has issued, through its executive committee, the following statement suggesting a reorganization of the Student Council:

When an organization such as ours first comes into existence it is natural that there should be much conjecture as to just what its aims and policies may be. We therefore take this opportunity to officially place the Cornell Independent Association on record as not being antagonistic to any existing organization on the Campus. By working in complete co-operation with the others for a fair and representative opinion upon all matters which concern the student body we hope to advance the interests of Cornell and the ideals for which she stands. This, we believe, can be best effected at the present time by a reorganization of the Student Council that will give proportional representations to all.

NEW YORKERS PAGE TEAM

Forty-five Cornell alumni gave the cross country team "God speed" in a novel way as they set sail for England recently. They rigged a mammoth amplifier on the top of the General Electric Building in New York City. As the Aquitania steamed down the harbor with the team aboard, the following message went to them over the Battery:

"Ahoy Aquitania; ahoy Aquitania!"

"Paging the Cornell cross country team; paging the cross country team of Cornell University."

"Mr. Moakley is wanted; Jack Moakley of Cornell University; Jack Moakley and his Cornell cross country team."

This was followed by the calling of each man on the team, to whom a word of cheer was directed. Then came the short Cornell yell, followed by the playing of the "Alma Mater" on a phonograph placed near the amplifier. Just as the ship left the bay the following message was sent to the team:

"Fifty Cornellians send greeting to the Cornell cross country team. We wish you a pleasant voyage. More than six hundred college men in this building of the Western Electric Company wish you success. America expects you to win."

The Debate Schedule

Varsity Speakers To Meet Two New Adversaries This Year

Six more adversaries have been announced for the varsity debate team in addition to the Dartmouth and Amherst teams which they have already defeated. The team,—or rather, teams,—will meet Pittsburgh and Virginia for the first time and Princeton for the first time in four years. The others on the schedule are Pennsylvania, Colgate, and Columbia.

The debate with Virginia is to be in Philadelphia on February 26 under the auspices of the University Extension Society, taking the place of one of the Society's series of lectures. On the same day another Cornell team will meet either Colgate or Pittsburgh at Ithaca. For the Princeton contest, which is to be held at Princeton, April 2, neither team will have any idea of the subject until the day before they meet. Each team will take a sealed envelope containing the subject for debate to the conference room of the Princeton Library exactly twenty-four hours before they meet on the platform, when they will decide which side of the question each will take. If the Colgate debate is held in Ithaca on February 26, another varsity team will meet Pittsburgh here on April 2; if Pittsburgh comes to Ithaca first, then the varsity speakers will confront Colgate on that date. On March 11 one team meets Pennsylvania here while the other debates with Columbia in New York.

The method of selecting debaters to represent Cornell this year is a novel one. Each man must try for a place on the team before every contest and anyone interested may enter the trials. Members of the final teams may call upon any person who entered the trials for assistance. In this way more students than ever before are being given a part in the debates. The success of the plan may be judged from the fact that varsity teams have won both contests so far by unanimous decisions.

EMERITUS PROFESSORS J. H. Comstock '74 and E. L. Nichols '75 have been chosen by the Heckscher Fund Committee to complete its membership. The committee administers the $500,000 fund for research which was given to the University last June by August Heckscher of New York.

JULIUS KAHN, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, who was active in securing the passage of the Selective Draft Act, visited Ithaca recently to be initiated into the local chapter of Zeta Beta Tau.

The End of the Campaign

Semi-Centennial Endowment Committee to Turn Over Its Work to the Cor-nellian Council January First

The Semi-Centennial Endowment Committee has taken advantage of the Christmas season to make its last appeal to the alumni body to make a holiday gift to the University in the form of a subscription to the Semi-Centennial Endowment. The campaign, which has enriched Cornell by more than six and a quarter millions to date, will come to a close on January 1, and there are still three-quarters of Cornell's alumni and former students who have not come to their Alma Mater's support.

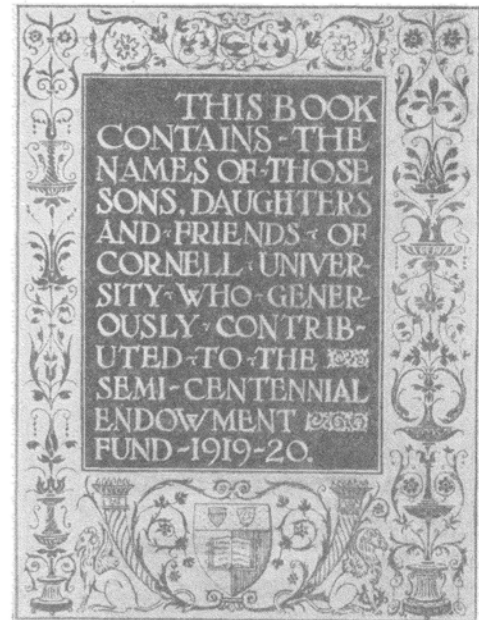

Notwithstanding the untiring efforts of loyal Cornellians throughout the world in personally interviewing their fellow alumni and in carrying Cornell's message, it is obvious that there are still many former students who have not subscribed and who could if they so desired; that there are many who intend to but who have not quite made up their minds as to the proper amount. It is to these that this opportunity is presented to enroll their names with those of their friends and classmates who will be listed by classes in the permanent record of Semi-Centennial donors which will be deposited in the University Library.

The Endowment Committee has suggested as the easiest manner of making a Christmas gift to the University the sending of Liberty Bonds, which the University will credit at par value either on new subscriptions or in payment of old. Owing to the present low market value of several series of Government bonds, alumni have been unusually responsive to the suggestion that all such securities would be accepted at par value, and thousands of dollars have been received recently in the form of Liberty Bonds of the various issues.

Plans are now being made by the Cornellian Council to take over the money-raising functions of the University immediately following the close of the Endowment Campaign and in order to carry on the work of cleaning up the records and files of the Semi-Centennial Endowment organization. It is expected that the impetus which has been given to the money-gathering for Cornell will continue to bring in results in the form of Endowment subscriptions until far into the spring, although every effort is being made to make a final accounting of the campaign on January 1. The opening of the last week of campaigning has resulted in the awakening of new and increased activities on the part of all local committees throughout the country, and it is evident that they will carry on their work through the old year to obtain as many names as possible on the list of benefactors.

One of the interesting results of the campaign is the fact that thirty per cent of the members of the Cornell Faculty who hold Cornell degrees have made subscriptions to the Endowment Fund, which has for its primary purpose the raising of the salaries of Faculty members. These men have invariably expressed the thought in making their subscriptions that although they are members of the Faculty they are also Cornellians and they would not feel like permitting alumni and former students who have left the University to evince a greater spirit of devotion to Cornell than they themselves. The result is that the Faculty average is higher than that of the general alumni body.

JOE HARRIS TO WED

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Matthai of Baltimore have announced the engagement of their daughter Margaret to Joseph Porter Harris '01. Miss Matthai's two brothers, Albert D. and Joseph F. Matthai, were Cornellians of the classes of 1910 and 1911 respectively, and her sister Alice is the wife of Alfred D. (Bud) Williams '15.

Harris was secretary to President Schurman from 1901 to 1906, returning to the University for the year 1908-9 as the first incumbent of the newly created office of Secretary of the University. He is now vice-president of the Citizens Savings and Trust Company of Cleveland. He was elected last June president of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University. He is in his forty-first year. Friends had noticed his unusual behavior for the last few months but were surprised, nevertheless, and pleased to hear the announcement.

CONNECTICUT CELEBRATES

If the enthusiasm of the delegations which came together in Waterbury on December 11 from all sections of Connecticut is an index of future activity, the Cornell Alumni Association of Connecticut is destined to become one of the strongest alumni bodies. Following the general let-down after the war, the Waterbury club has been one of the few Connecticut organizations to get under way, and it is now going at full speed, but the other sections are evidently going to press for first honors. Cornell representatives were in Waterbury on December 11 from Hartford, Bridgeport, Danbury, Stamford, Meriden, Shelton, and various other points.

Charles E. Treman '89 went from Ithaca to make the principal talk. Speaking as a member of the University Board of Trustees, as a member of the Board of Stewards of the Poughkeepsie Regatta, and as an old resident of Ithaca, Mr. Treman gave first hand authoritative information regarding Cornell which kept his hearers interested for an hour. The last fifteen minutes were given over to questions and answers.

Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, was present to assist in the formation of the State association, and he outlined the possibilities of his office at Cornell, showing how it can be made of service to alumni, and how alumni can be constructively helpful to their University.

Officers of the Cornell Association of Connecticut were elected as follows, to serve until the meeting next summer: president, Irvin W. Day '06; vice-president, William Van Kirk '13; secretary, A. V. S. Lindsley '09.

The chairman appointed a committee consisting of Charles A. Haines '08, chairman, W. P. Ferguson '12, and William Van Kirk '13 to revise the constitution and by-laws to include provisions that an executive committee be created to consist of the officers and one representative from each of the local clubs throughout the State, and that the officers of the club should, for the convenience of administration, be selected all from one locality. The officers for the ensuing term are Waterbury men.

Among those present at the meeting were T. B. Peck '77, C. E. Treman '89, W. R. Webster '90, E. S. Sanderson '94, J. J. Crain '96, W. A. Gordon '96, J. B. Potter '97, A. R. Mabey '99, M. C. Loewe '01, V. M. Knapp '04, R. P. Butler '05, James Lynah '05, W. E. Hogan '06, B. S. Coe '06, I. W. Day '06, J. E. Forgy '06, J. K. Williamson '06, A. T. Gilyard '07, W. T. Rowland '07, C. A. Haines '08, R. L. Coe '08, J. C. Andrews '09, A. V. S. Lindsley '09, R. W. Weed '09, R. C. Germond '09, S. G. Malby '09, R. W. Clark '09, W. A. Moore '09, P. R. Buchanan '10, R. B. Hurlburt '10, H. H. Williamson '11, W. P. Ferguson '12, F. M. Coffin '12, E. H. Sparfeld '12, R. Allen '13, T. V. Meyer '13, Alexander Lyle '13, R. L. Seymour '13, William Van Kirk '13, A. W. Hummell '13, W. F. Geraghty '13, T. J. Fleming '13, E. J. Daly '14, H. L. Hall '14, R. Bartholomew '15, F. G. Dennison '15, H. G. Blodget '15, A. E. Binks '15, F. A. Davis, jr., '16, W. A. Coulter '17, R. K. Reynolds '17, R. F. Hagerty '17, J. S. Coe '18, A. Pierson '18, H. V. Lalley '19, K. N. Sachs '20, and J. F. McGrath '20.

CHICAGO GROWS

Cornellians in Chicago are turning out in such force at the weekly luncheons that it has been necessary to change the place of eating from the City Club to the Hamilton Club. The attendance record is growing each week, with sixty-four as the high mark, when Bion J. Arnold, '88-9 Grad., was the speaker of the day. An interesting feature of the lunches, which may or may not be responsible for the increasing attendance, is that every man is given a number each week, the lucky number, in the raffle which is held during the hour, winning a prize of not more than two dollars' worth of wearing apparel, or smokes, or something. The Chicago Alumni Association stands the expense, so that there is no cost to the members.

On December 30 the Chicago alumni will hold their annual meeting and luncheon to meet the undergraduates.

All Cornellians are invited, at the Hamilton Club, 20 South Dearborn Street, at 12.30.

The annual banquet of the Chicago Alumni Association will be held the middle of January.

ROCHESTER ELECTS

The Cornell Club of Rochester held its annual meeting December 11. The following officers were elected: president, Dr. Stearns S. Bullen '09; vice-president, Louis B. Swift '12; secretary, George C. Wright '03; treasurer, John Arthur Jennings '15; governors for two years, Delaney Bentley '15, S. S. Bullen '09, Raymond Wynkoop; governors for one year, O. B. Webber '13, Walter P. Northup; nominating committee, Alexander Beebe '15, J. K. Quigley '03, J. F. Skinner '90, J. J. Carmichael '09.

The financial report showed that the club has helped two students through the University this year by making loans to them and has about $1,000 on hand for other purposes. Professor Samuel P. Orth of the University Faculty gave an interesting address in which he called attention to the Pilgrims, particularly emphasizing the fact that the colonies began to develop when private ownership of land was established and that the restrictions placed on immigration at that time were worthy of consideration at present. Professor Orth is a favorite with the Rochester alumni and his address was greatly enjoyed. More than one hundred members turned out for the meeting, which was characterized by much enthusiasm and Cornell spirit.

It was announced at the meeting by Frank E. Gannett '98, chairman of the endowment committee, that Rochester had raised its total subscriptions to the Endowment Fund to more than $114,000, while additional subscriptions were expected before the drive ended, as several reports had not yet been received.

At the meeting it was also decided to hold a weekly Cornell luncheon at the Powers Hotel. The first of these meetings was held Wednesday noon and over fifty attended. They will be a regular feature hereafter. All Cornellians who happen to be in Rochester on Wednesdays are invited to these lunches. Arthur Messner '12, who with his father manages the Powers Hotel, is making a special arrangement for these gatherings.

NEW ENGLAND MEETING

Advance notices from Boston spread the news that the annual meeting and banquet of the Cornell Club of New England will be held Saturday evening, January 15. Details will be divulged later.

DETROIT WOMEN OFFICERS

The Cornell Alumnae of Detroit held their first meeting of the season at a luncheon at the Woman's Exchange on Wednesday, December 1. Seven charter members were present. Definite plans for the future work of the club were discussed and officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. C. H. L. Allen '96, 240 Alger Avenue, and secretary, Miss Cora E. Cooke '20, 828 West Bethune Avenue.

NEW JERSEY STUDIES RUSSIA

The monthly luncheon of the Cornell Club of Northern New Jersey was held at the Down Town Club, Kinney Building, in Newark, on Wednesday, December 8. There were more than twenty-five Cornellians in attendance. Charles L. Hedden of Williams College gave an interesting talk on his experiences and conditions in Russia during the World War.

The next luncheon will be on Wednesday, January 12, at 12.30. The committee is preparing for a big turnout of all Cornell men in the vicinity.

BUFFALO WOMEN

The officers for the Buffalo Club of Cornell Women for the coming year have been elected as follows: president, Mrs. Walter C. Nichols '96; vice-presidents, Miss Mildred Watt '15 and Miss Ruth E. Delahunt '16; secretary, Mrs. Harry D. Sanders '98; assistant secretary, Mrs. George R. Phipps '16; treasurer, Miss Ida Elliott '19.

INVITED TO NEW YORK

The Cornell Women's Club of New York City invites to its regular January meeting any Cornell alumna who is in town January 8, when at the Women's University Club at 106 East 52d Street Miss Mary Lane will tell of her recent experiences in Poland. The meeting will open at 2.30 and tea will be served at 4.00.

WILL ENTERTAIN MASQUE

The Cornell Club of Cleveland is making great plans for the Cornell Masque performance which is to be given at the Dutchess Theatre, December 27, and for the "father and son" luncheon to be held at noon that day at the University Club.

Members of the Masque will be guests at that luncheon, to which will also be invited all men from Cleveland and vicinity who have attended or are now in the University; each will be asked to bring his father or his son. Reports indicate that there will be between two hundred and fifty and three hundred in attendance, and that the "S. R. O." sign will be prominently displayed at the Masque performance.

C. O. Benton '15 is chairman of the committee in charge of the Masque performance, and L. B. Timmerman '14 is in charge of the luncheon.

At the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cleveland Club on December 9, eighty men heard Rabbi A. H. Silver, who returned recently from studying European conditions, analyze Bolshevism and show why, since it is founded on universal revolution and dictatorship, it should and will fail.

President H. B. Bole '11 announced that Chief of Police Smith of Cleveland would speak at the luncheon December 16 and Whiting Williams, a student of sociology who worked as a miner in Scotland three months this year, would speak December 23.

SECRETARIES TO MEET

The mid-winter meeting of the Cornell Association of Class Secretaries will be held on Friday, December 31, at the Cornell Club of New York, 30 West 44th Street, New York. Dr. Luzerne Coville '86, president of the association, has called the meeting for 2.30 p. m., with luncheon to be served at one o'clock.

In many respects the mid-winter meeting of the association is of greater importance than the meeting held at Ithaca in June. Plans for the coming reunions are discussed at that time. This year important questions of general policy are to be considered.

FOUNDER'S DAY

Following the example to be set at Ithaca next month in the celebration of Founder's Day, many alumni clubs and associations are planning to take fitting notice of the one hundred and fourteenth anniversary of the birth of Ezra Cornell, on January 11, 1921. Until the war came along to interfere with so many customs, Founder's Day had always been appropriately noted at Cornell and in many alumni centers around the world. In 1916, the last normal year, "All-Cornell" meetings were held in practically all alumni clubs.

SPORT STUFF

The basketball victory over Princeton on December 20 was just what the doctor ordered. It will buck up the despondent undergraduate a lot. He had come to think that nobody loved him and that there was no balm in Gilead—no, not a bit.

Old grads of fifteen years back do not realize what has happened to basketball. A normal basketball crowd of the present day would have been a good football crowd at Percy Field in the early part of the century. Now we have about 3,500 seats about the court in the Drill Hall, but folks don't use them much. They stand up and whoop most of the time. Already people are beginning to reserve seats for the Syracuse game on January 11.

There is two inches of ice on Beebe Lake. Not a single little boy has fallen in yet. As far as I can ascertain this is the world's record. Mr. Bells, who runs the golf course in the summer and Beebe Lake in the winter, says he generally pulls out two little boys a day during the early period of ice-making.

There will be three hockey rinks on the lake, another on the Armory green and a fifth on the lower playground opposite Schoellkopf Hall. In addition a good many houses flood their tennis courts and play the game thereon.

Most of the students leave on the 22d. A few have already beaten the gun and will be penalized five yards and five dollars. When they all get away we residents of the Hill can sleep 'til eight and go to Christmas week meetings of the various learned societies and snow shoe and shoot ducks. The chimes will cease and the Campus will be dark at night.

That's wonderful for about a week. And then how glad we'll be to see the boys come back!

Merry Christmas.

R. B.

THE MASQUE ON A TOUR

The Cornell Masque gives three performances of this year's play on its first annual Christmas trip beginning December 27 in the Dutchess Theater in Cleveland. On December 28 it will appear in the Goodyear Auditorium at Akron, and on December 30 at the Schenley Theater in Pittsburgh. In all three cities, alumni organizations will entertain the visitors and manage ticket sales.

The play this year is a musical comedy, "Martini," of which the plot was written by S. C. Doolittle '20, last year's editor of The Widow, and the music by G. W. Teare '22. The play has been coached by Adrian S. Perrin, of New York. The cast includes twenty principals and twenty-four chorus "girls" and men, besides three members of the University Orchestra who will play with the local orchestras in each city. The first appearance of the players in Ithaca will be on Thursday of Junior Week.

THE CORNELL British American Club wished the cross country team bon voyage by telegram as it set sail for England.

A. B. WELLAR, known to Cornellians for his system of financing fraternity houses, has been elected cashier of the Ithaca Trust Company.

THE END OF THE DRIVE

Eight days after the date of this issue the Cornell Semi-Centennial Endowment Campaign passes into history and the work of the committee is taken over by the permanent Cornellian Council.

That the entire ten million was not raised is due to several facts. Although about two-thirds of the amount is raised, about three-quarters of us have not understood, or have been unwilling or unable to subscribe even nominally so as to be listed among those that realize Cornell's emergency.

The facts are these. The campaign has raised enough to make the condition of the lower grades of teacher more enduring. It offers little to the leaders in the profession. Not enough has been raised to attract to Cornell educators of outstanding ability. Pot-boiling has to continue. Anyone who wants a good job well done can still go to Cornell and find an intelligent professor or instructor to do it for him, either on full time or part time. The compensation is applied for necessities. The sacrifice is a sacrifice of progress, just that many hours or months taken out of the man's time that ought to be used for study, research, or publication.

There is still a little more than a week left before the campaign is officially over. It is not probable that the three millions will come in in such a short and busy period. And yet the period is one when the spirit of giving is uppermost, when to those that we love and those that we pity we give freely. It is a period where we are to some extent free to recommend beneficiaries to others.

Cornell University has the love of her many children. She has the pity of those who realize that her progress is halted. If each of us can bring it home to the Cornellians we see before the New Year it may still be possible to make a substantial gain before the rescue work passes into other hands.

HONORING THE FOUNDER

The custom of honoring the Founder and the University in celebrations of various sorts by alumni clubs each January eleventh, almost an established event before the war, was virtually thrown into the discard by that event along with many other interesting and valuable customs.

Alumni clubs were not alone in this necessary materialism. The University, for other reasons, was forced to drop Founder's Day from its list of holidays during the emergency, and is this year restoring the celebration, not as a day off, but as a Convocation in honor of Ezra Cornell.

Some of the alumni clubs have already made arrangements to hold special exercises on January 11. The day in 1921 is the 114th anniversary of Mr. Cornell's birth. While this particular year has no especial significance in round numbers it is nevertheless an excellent year for a new start in that it is impossible to begin earlier and undesirable to wait until later.

Were it our duty to recommend a program, we would suggest that the utterances of Mr. Cornell, Dr. White, and the great educators who stood with them at the first inaugural ceremonies, could profitably be studied and quoted. The motto of the University was not the sole object of its founding. It was, perhaps, the best slogan offered, but it by no means sums up the educational policy of the founders, nor was such its intention.

What Cornell University signifies was ably set forth at that time, and the policies, many of them now universally adopted, are still sound. A review of them by alumni who have perhaps forgotten all but the motto would be beneficial of course at any time, and in this period of reconstruction would be exceedingly interesting.

We hope each of the alumni clubs will take the opportunity of holding some sort of affair on Tuesday, the eleventh of January, and do its share toward the re-establishment of All-Cornell Night.

ATHLETICS

Wins First Basketball Game

The basketball team won a fine victory over Princeton in the first game of the Intercollegiate League series played in the Drill Hall Monday night. The score was Cornell 24, Princeton 20, and the game was won in the last minute of play by two field baskets.

Princeton was a slight favorite before the game, and for a time it looked as if the Tigers would win, as they led practically all the way up to the middle of the second half. Their team work was smoother than Cornell's, and their basket shooting was more accurate. Each team scored eight baskets from the floor, but the Cornellians tried quite a few more shots than the Tigers. Princeton, in other words, had the experience of several early games, while for Cornell this was the opening game. The victory, therefore, was all the more worth while and encouraging. The team played aggressive basketball all the way, particularly toward the end of the game.

Individual honors on Cornell's side went to Captain Molinet, who shot three goals from the floor, and to Sidman, who made eight foul goals out of eleven tries. He also shot one goal from the floor. For Princeton Legendre was most conspicuous. He got four, or just half, of the field goals scored by the Tigers.

A foul goal by Sidman was the first score of the game, but the Tigers soon evened things up and had a 7 to 1 lead about the middle of the first half. Cornell then rallied and cut down the Princeton lead to one point by the end of the half, the score then standing 9 to 8. Sidman made it ten all at the beginning of the second half, but two field goals by Legendre sent the Princeton team ahead again. They maintained a lead until the last few minutes of play when Cornell made it 20 all. A long basket by Molinet, and a goal by Cornish after a fast dribble down the floor in the last half minute of play clinched the victory for the home five.

In the Cornell line-up were four men who had played last year, Molinet, Cornish, Rippe, and Sidman. Cornish, a guard last year, has been transferred to forward. He showed much promise.

Pope, playing a right guard, a newcomer to the varsity, made a favorable impression, as did Barkalew, another newcomer, who substituted at right forward during part of the second half.

The game brought out a crowd of three thousand persons who were kept on edge throughout the evening by as exciting and hard fought a basketball contest as one would care to see. The University Band contributed much to the success of the evening.

The line-up and summary:

Cornell.	Princeton.
Molinet -----	Opie
Left Forward
Cornish -----	Netts
Right Forward
Rippe -----	Dickinson
Center
Sidman -----	Legendre
Left Guard
Pope -----	Wittmer
Right Guard

Cornell 24, Princeton 20. Goals from floor: Cornell: Molinet 3, Cornish 2, Sidman, Barkalew 2. Princeton: Legendre 4, Opie 2, Netts, Jeffrie.

Substitutions: Cornell, Barkalew for Cornish, Cornish for Pope. Princeton, Jeffrie for Opie.

Referee: Messer. Umpire: Metzendorf.

Dobie Not to Leave

Gilmour Dobie, the football coach, came to Cornell under a three-year contract, which has two more years to run. This may be worth pointing out in view of reports published in the metropolitan and up-State press that Mr. Dobie would leave Ithaca to coach at some other institution.

Both Mr. Dobie and Graduate Manager Berry have issued statements denying that there was any truth in such reports, which said among other things that Dobie was dissatisfied with Cornell and Cornell was dissatisfied with Dobie. There is nothing to show that Dobie will not fulfill his contract, that he does not want to, or that the Athletic Association does not want him to.

CORNELL SCIENCE DOCTORATES

In two recent numbers of Science (November 19 and 26) is published a report of the doctorates conferred in the sciences of American universities for the year 1920 together with statistics of the years 1912-16 inclusive. 328 degrees in science were conferred by 31 universities; Chicago has first place with 59, Cornell second with 35, and Harvard third with 28. During the years 1912-16, Cornell had the largest number in 1913 and again in 1914; she was second in 1912, third in 1916, and fourth in 1915. The following list shows the distribution of degrees by subjects in Cornell for 1920, and also Cornell's percentage of the total number of degrees in the respective subjects:

Agriculture, three or 37 per cent; anatomy, one or 33.3 per cent; anthropology, none; astronomy, none; bacteriology, none; botany, including plant breeding and plant physiology, ten or 21.3 per cent; chemistry, four or 4.2 per cent; engineering, none; geography, none; geology, none; mathematics, one or 5 per cent; pathology, none; physics, one or 5 per cent; physiology, none; psychology, nine or 22.5 per cent; zoology, including insect morphology, economic entomology, and histology and embryology, six or 16 per cent.

The author of the article is Callie Hull, technical assistant, Research Information Service, National Research Council.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SOCIALISTS

The Intercollegiate Socialist Society has called a conference in New York on December 29-30. Among the speakers at the reception on December 30, at which ten-minute talks will be given "on the actual service that has been rendered by collegians in radical and labor movements, and the possibilities for the future," will be Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch and Mrs. Florence Kelley '82. Mrs. Kelley is a member of the executive committee. Cornellians "endorsing the object of the society" are Professors Othon G. Guerlac, Vladimir Karapetoff, and Nathaniel Schmidt of Cornell and Franklin Edgerton '05 of the University of Pennsylvania.

HOSMER HONORED

Professor Ralph S. Hosmer, of the Department of Forestry, has been appointed chairman of a Committee on the Undergraduate Course Leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Science. His committee reported at the National Conference on Education in Forestry which met in New Haven on December 18 and 19, under the auspices of the Yale School of Forestry. Professor Hosmer's committee, with others which reported at the same time, expected to revise the standardized curriculum in professional instruction in forestry which was adopted by the Conference in 1912 and is now followed by all the leading forestry schools in the United States.

Applicants should apply to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., asking for Form 1312 and stating the title of this examination. Also, on January 19, March 23, and May 4 there will be examinations for law clerk and typist, to fill vacancies in Washington and elsewhere, at entrance salaries ranging from $1,400 to $1,740. ## ALUMNI NOTES

'96 LLB—Col. Edward Davis, Cavalry, U. S. A., is now United States military observer at Berlin. His address is Viktoria Strasse 37.

'02 MD—A movement has been started to raise $300,000 for a new home for the New York Free Clinic for Speech Defects, which was founded a little more than three years ago by Dr. James S. Greene, who in addition to his private practice was at that time physician to the Christie Street Settlement House. There he became interested in an institution for the vocally crippled. Later when he was taking post-graduate work in Europe, he was associated with an authority on speech in Berlin. This strengthened his interest in the subject, and when he returned to New York, he established the Clinic of which he is now the head, the first free clinic of its kind in the world. The three years' experience of the Clinic has proved the great need for such an institution, and cures have been effected which seem almost miraculous. The Clinic now has on its register, under observation and treatment, more than 2,500 cases, and is overflowing its present quarters in the remodeled dwelling house at 143 East Thirty-seventh Street. It is the hope of the directors that the fund will be raised by February 1.

PLAINLY, these companies foresee an increase in industrial activity and power demands which will tax them to the utmost. They know that reaction from the present temporary lull is inevitable. It cannot be otherwise in the face of the growing need for products of all kinds.

Will you be ready? Or will you postpone decision upon your extensions or new plant until the need is immediate and building costs are forced up by the rush to build?

This Company, convinced that increased activity will soon be upon us, has expanded its organization and facilities. It is prepared even better than formerly to offer estimates, building advice, and building service to manufacturers, engineers, architects and others.

As a first step toward timely preparation let us acquaint you with the North-Eastern type of service in Building.

In the Land of Perpetual Light

NIGHT comes but light remains, for electricity knows no darkness.

For electric light is no longer a luxury. In the forty years of its development it has become a necessity. It has made our streets safer and more attractive, blazed a trail for conveyances on land, sea, and in the air, aided surgery and medicine in correct diagnosis and brought comfort and cheer to farm, factory, and home.

The greatest contribution to better light has been the creation of the MAZDA Lamp. G-E research and engineering fostered this achievement. In addition the General Electric Company has designed and built all the apparatus essential in the science of illumination—for harnessing Nature's forces to generate current, for safely transmitting this current, and for applying it where perpetual light is desired.

Service to Cornellians is our aim in business.

The Co-op. is one of the "student activities" at Cornell. ¶ ¶ Students founded the Co-op. in 1895 and our aim has been to serve the University community. The fact that you graduated does not change our position. We feel that we can still serve you, especially at this time of year.

Cornell University and what it has done

This is interestingly told in the book "Concerning Cornell." You may have spent four years at Cornell and yet missed much. You may have graduated long enough ago to begin to be interested in the continued success of the University. "Concerning Cornell" sells in cloth at $3.50 and in leather at $5.00, postpaid.

Refresh your memory with a glance at the familiar sights

The views in Troy's Calendar will certainly keep you up to date. There are new pictures each year and the printing is excellent. Price $1.55, postpaid. The Co-op. viewbook at 85 cents, postage paid, is another good article. If we don't advertise what you have in mind, write us.
