Award Scholarships

Twenty-two Freshmen Receive Undergraduate Scholarships from Faculty

Twenty-two undergraduate scholarships have been awarded to students as the result of competitions held for entering freshmen at the opening of the University in September. The scholarship awards, announced by Dean William A. Hammond, range in value from $200 to $600 a year.

Two scholarships provided by a gift from Mrs. Bertha E. Dreyfus in memory of Dr. Louis A. Dreyfus carry an award of $600 a year and are awarded for one or two years at the discretion of the Faculty committee on undergraduate scholarships. Two Kenney Scholarships carry an annual award of $250 for four years and are given to the two freshmen ranking highest in the examinations.

The winners and their colleges:

Eudorus C. Kenney Scholarships: Miss S. A. Solovay, Arts and Sciences, Brooklyn; Gladys Rosenthal, Arts and Sciences, New York.

Cornell Scholarships: Simon Fellner, Arts and Sciences, Brooklyn; N. G. Welling, Arts and Sciences, Greenwich.

President White Scholarships: Miss M. E. Mills, Arts and Sciences, Ithaca; H. G. Hanson, Arts and Sciences, Marcellus.

Henry B. Lord Scholarships: Miss E. R. I'eist, Arts and Sciences, Clarence; Herbert Holzman Blau, Arts and Sciences, New Rochelle.

McGraw Scholarship: Edward Solomon, Arts and Sciences, Brooklyn; Reginald Denenholz, Arts and Sciences, Far Rockaway.

Sage Scholarships: Morgan Sibbett, Arts and Sciences, Provo, Utah; R. L. Marks, Arts and Sciences, Rochester.

Sibley Scholarships: Aaron Margolis, Engineering, Rochester; J. R. Rogers, Jr., Engineering, Bolivar.

Stewart L. Woodford Scholarships: Miss M. I. Glaeser, Arts and Sciences, Buffalo; R. J. Cothran, Arts and Sciences, Lockport.

John Stanton Gould Scholarships: Miss L. H. Nathan, Arts and Sciences, Buffalo; Samuel Bader, Arts and Sciences, Arverne.

Horace Greeley Scholarships: A. L. Ely, Engineering, Akron, Ohio, J. F. Taylor, Arts and Sciences, Berneville.

Louis Alexander Dreyfus Scholarships: Miss M. S. Dymott, Arts and Sciences, West New Brighton; Miss E. J. Varon, Arts and Sciences, Staten Island.

HONOR DR. FARRAND

President Farrand received an honorary fellowship in the New York Academy of Medicine at the opening session of the Graduate Fortnight on "Functional and Nervous Problems in Medicine and Surgery" October 7. The fellowship was conferred by Dr. John E. Jennings, vice-president of the Academy.

At dinner preceding the opening session, President Farrand, Clifford W. Beers, founder and secretary of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene and of the American Foundation for Mental Hygiene, and Dr. Harlow Brooks, professor of clinical medicine at New York University, were guests of honor and speakers.

President Farrand's address was on "The Medical Profession and the Public Good."

Other guests at the dinner included Dr. Walter L. Niles '00 and Dr. G. Canby Robinson, '03-5 Grad.

DR. THOMSON BEGINS LECTURES

Dr. George P. Thomson of the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, opened his series of addresses as George Fisher Baker non-resident lecturer in chemistry in Baker Laboratory on October 7. "Waves and Particles" was the subject of the introductory public lecture.

"The new dual theory of waves and particles regards the world as composed of particles controlled by waves," Dr. Thomson said. He referred to units of matter known as atoms and electrons. "The atom in its normal state contains an equal number of electrons and protons. The atom is made up of a nucleus of solid material surrounded by less solid material. This theory gives us a picture of discontinuity with a number of specks with long spaces of emptiness between. To account for this space, scientists invented ether.

"Ether has had a long and checkered history. So many ethers were invented that they became nuisances. For this reason Newton refused to admit that ether transmitted light, and for this reason, the new dual theory was propounded."

According to Dr. Thomson, the new theory considers the electron as really obeying the laws of any moving particle, accompanied by a wave motion, not as obeying Newton's laws of motion, which apply to a straight line.

"The new dual theory," Dr. Thomson concluded, "is the result of this guess of Newton, and is a supreme example of his intuitive genius."

Library Changes

Administrative Committee Directing Affairs Pending Selection of Successor to Willard Austen, Retired

Important action affecting the Library, taken by the Trustees, is announced. On the retirement of Willard Austen '91, the Librarian, a committee of administration for the operation and control of the University Library was created, pending the appointment of a librarian. The members of this committee are Professor Charles H. Hull '86, chairman, Professor Halldor Hermannsson, and Assistant Librarian Elias R. B. Willis, A.M. '14, secretary.

Mr. Austen's retirement closes a period of forty years' service in the library. First appointed to the staff in 1888, he became an assistant librarian in 1892. In that position he devised and put in force the library's system of records dealing with the circulation of books. In 1915 on the retirement of George William Harris '73, Mr. Austen succeeded him as librarian. He has had an active career in the library world and is a fellow of the American Library Institute and a member of the American Library Association, the American Bibliographical Society, the State Library Council, and the State Library Association, of which he was president in 1908-9. By action of the Trustees was made librarian emeritus.

At the meeting of the Board in September, Francis P. Allen, Amherst '27, Columbia School of Library Service '29, was appointed assistant reference librarian for the year 1929-30. Mr. Allen will be at the reference desk for the assistance of readers daily 2-6 and 7-10:30. The Administrative Committee is strongly of the opinion that the service to readers should be as well provided for at night as it is in the daytime. The Committee recognizes the difficulties presented by a catalogue and by the search for the right book; it also realizes that the library has not always been orderly at night and that study there has often been liable to interruption. The provision now made for supervision of the library at night should increase its usefulness to the community and in the opinion of the Committee it will do so if the library may count upon hearty coöperation by the students.

ATHLETICS

Hampden-Sidney Defeated

Held by Hampden-Sidney to the margin of one point in the first half, when its line attack was halted time after time, Cornell rallied with a varied, powerful offensive in the third and fourth quarters and defeated the Virginians, 40-6, on Schoellkopf Field on October 12.

Forward passes played a more prominent part in the Cornell offensive than in either the Clarkson or the Niagara game. The defense against aeriels lapsed in the second quarter when Willis of Hampden-Sidney scored a touchdown but it was generally improved.

It was through the line, however, that Cornell made its major gains to score two touchdowns in the third period and, with a second string backfield in action, three more in the final quarter. Hampden-Sidney's line weakened perceptibly during these periods, and Red and White backs crashed through center, plunged off tackle to reverse the secondary defense for considerable gains, and skirted the ends almost at will.

Game in Detail

Hughes of Hampden-Sidney kicked off against the wind, the ball striking Wallace, center, who recovered it on Cornell's forty-one-yard line. Despite an off-side penalty against the Virginians, Cornell failed to gain, and Stevens kicked over the goal line. Hampden-Sidney was off-side on the play, and it was Cornell's ball, first down, on Hampden-Sidney's forty-four-yard line.

Cornish broke through for a first down. Johnson's pass to Stevens was intercepted by Bradford on Hampden-Sidney's twenty-eight-yard line. Willis was spilled for a thirteen-yard loss, and Hughes was forced to kick, the ball going out of bounds on Hampden-Sidney's sixteen-yard line. Cornish on two plays through the line made seven yards. A bad pass from Wallace lost seven yards, Handleman recovering. On the next play, Johnson tossed a short forward pass to Stevens, who scored a touchdown. Wakeman kicked a placement goal.

Neither team made appreciable gains after the next kick-off, Stevens and Hughes exchanging punts frequently. Intercepted forward passes were common. Wallace seized a toss from McCann to give Cornell the ball on Hampden-Sidney's thirty-eight-yard line. Two plays gained eight yards, and then Cornish got through left tackle for twenty yards. Handleman added five more, and Cornish put the ball less than two yards from the goal line. Handleman fumbled on the next play, Bradford recovering for Hampden-Sidney for a touchback. Hughes kicked out of danger as the first period ended.

A series of kicks gave Hampden-Sidney the ball on its thirty-four-yard line early in the second period, and on the first play McCann tossed a ten-yard pass to Willis, whose speed outdistanced Cornell pursuers as he ran fifty-five yards for a touchdown. The Cornell defense was caught napping. Hughes missed the kick for the extra point.

Second Half

The third period opened with Wakeman's kick-off against the wind to Willis on Hampden-Sidney's ten-yard line, and the Virginia halfback returned the ball thirty yards before Johnson tackled him. He was almost free.

A holding penalty put the visitors back fifteen yards, and Hughes kicked, Johnson returning the ball eight yards to Cornell's forty-eight-yard line. Hampden-Sidney was offside on the first play, losing five yards, and Stevens and Handleman made it first down on the visitors' thirty-five-yard line.

Johnson made two yards, and Handleman plowed through center for ten yards and a first down on the twenty-three-yard line. Handleman and Cornish added seven yards, and Stevens tossed a short pass over the line to Handleman to put the ball on the visitors' seven-yard line. Handleman and Cornish made five yards, and Johnson tossed to Lueder over the line for a touchdown. Wakeman kicked the goal.

Cornell kicked off, but Hughes was forced to return the kick, Johnson taking it on Cornell's twenty-three-yard line. Two plays netted only three yards, and Stevens went back to kick. Just as he swept around the Virginians' right end for a first down, Johnson shook himself loose after going off tackle and ran twenty yards to Hampden-Sidney's forty-yard line. After Handleman's five-yard buck through center, Johnson tossed a pass to Lueder, the play gaining twenty-five yards. Johnson and Handleman made it first down inside the six-yard line, and Johnson went over for the touchdown. Wakeman's kick was good, and Cornell led, 21-6.

After Hughes' kick-off, Cornell put the ball in play on its thirty-two-yard line. Kanich replaced Handleman and started off by scoring a first down on two plunges to the forty-five-yard line. Cornish sliced off tackle for fifteen yards, and three plunges by Kanich, Johnson, and Kanich put the ball on Hampden-Sidney's twenty-five-yard line. Cornish made a yard, and Stevens turned right end for eight more, Kanich adding the first down requirement on a center buck. Hampden-Sidney was holding as the third quarter ended.

It was Cornell's ball, fourth down and four yards to go on the visitors' eighty-yard line as the final period began. Johnson tossed a pass that failed, the Virginians taking the ball on downs. Hughes punted to Johnson on Hampden-Sidney's thirty-yard line, and he returned five yards. On the third down, Johnson threw a pass to Stevens off left end. Bradford tackled Stevens on the five-yard line. Both men were disqualified for roughing. Hoffman replaced Stevens. Cornish made two yards, Kanich took the ball over for the fourth touchdown, and Wakeman again added the extra point with a place-kick.

Kanich took Hughes' next kick-off on Cornell's goal line and returned it thirty-five yards. In two plays through the line, Kanich made a first down. Hoffman was forced to kick, and Willis ran out on his thirty-three-yard line. Willis reeled off a first down on a delayed pass play, but Cornell then held, and Hughes kicked to Cornell's forty-yard line. Scott replaced Cornish. Kanich made first down at mid-field. Johnson broke through for twenty yards, and Scott added another first down in two plays. Scott and Kanich again made a first down, and Hoffman went over for a touchdown. Wakeman missed the goal.

The final score came quickly. Kanich returned the kick-off from Cornell's thirty-five-yard line to the visitors' twenty-eight-yard line. M. I. Johnson replaced Howard Johnson, and started by plunging through for fifteen yards. Hoffman and Johnson made a first down, and Kanich took the ball over. Wakeman again missed the goal.

The team gave a discouraging performance in the first half, but the exhibition in the second half was heartening. Things did not click in the first two periods; in the second, coördination and team work brought good interference and much better football. In the first half the line did not do much for the backs; in the second it was on the job and gave the backs plenty of chance to step out. When this team is keyed up it gets somewhere. But so far it has not been keyed up for a whole game.

Freshmen Win

The freshman football team also staged a second-half rally in the game against Cortland Normal School and won handily by a score of 21-0. The first half was notable only for good defensive play on the part of the apparently strong backfield. In the second half, however, the yearlings took the offensive and scored three touchdowns, mainly by plunges and off-tackle plays. The touchdowns were made by Viviano, Nieman, and Beall.

Soccer Team Wins First Game

The soccer team opened its season on Lower Alumni Field October 12 by blanking Hamilton, 4-0, with a fine offensive that the visitors could not cope with at all in the second half of the game.

Carey, Cornell's outside left, opened the scoring with a goal in the first period, but Hamilton held for the rest of the half. In the second half Hall, Captain Bessmer, and Donovan scored goals in rapid succession, while the defense successfully held the Hamilton sallies to the net.

Opponents' Scores

Cornell's next opponent, Princeton, which comes to Ithaca October 19 suffered defeat at the hands of Brown at Princeton on Saturday by a score of 13-12.

Columbia, Dartmouth, and Pennsylvania won. Columbia ran up fifty-two points against Wesleyan and Dartmouth defeated Allegheny, 53-0. Pennsylvania found stubborn opposition from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, winning by the margin of one touchdown, 14-8.

Heads Baseball League

Romeyn Berry '04, graduate manager of athletics, was elected president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League at a meeting in New York October 9 by representatives of Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale.

The league will be organized by next spring after a season's informal play last year, when it was impossible to schedule the full complement of games.

Charles H. Blair '97 has offered for perpetual competition a silver trophy, the Blair Bat, to be awarded to the university whose team wins the batting championship of the league each year. The batter heading the league in individual hitting will be awarded each year a replica of the Blair Bat in the form of a gold pencil.

DEAN SPEAKS AT MEETING

Faculty and students of the College of Agriculture held their annual get-together under the auspices of the Agriculture-Home Economics Association in Roberts Hall October 7. Douglas M. Roy '30, Branchville, N. J., president of the Association, presided.

Dean Albert R. Mann '04, in the principal address, described the development of the Association, founded fifty years ago. "Since we met a year ago, there have been many changes," the Dean said. "The student groups in hotel management and agriculture have increased. A large body of students affords important opportunities as there is a great variety of personalities, points of view, and interests."

The program was concluded with a dance in the Old Armory.

SPORT STUFF

In New York it's always a problem whether to walk and risk being crushed to earth by death-dealing taxicabs or to ride behind any man who looks like the photograph on the dashboard.

All the stores seem to be going in for boys' sizes exclusively. The British nobleman who attended me failed miserably in the matter of waistcoats. He suggested, however, that if I could force myself to become interested in handkerchiefs or walking sticks, he'd promise a perfect fit.

They are advertising at $46.50 "A small but complete still, suitable for family use." The instructions tell you to throw away what comes over on the first part of the run. My limited information leads me to believe it's better to throw away all of it. In this field of human endeavor—as in boxing—a mediocre professional can always beat the best amateur.

At the Metropolitan a middle-aged gentleman with long hair was copying a Winslow Homer—and doing a good job of it. From time to time the uniformed attendant would slip over and hiss something in the artist's ear. Eavesdropping, I discovered it was the score of the World's Series, inning by inning. True art is universal. The medium of expression is unimportant.

They are tearing down the Waldorf too soon. If they'd kept it another ten years I feel I might have learned in just what parts of the lobby you were supposed to take off your hat and where it was the thing to keep it on. As it is, I'll never know.

Ithacans, I find, have the same general feeling about the metropolis. It's a grand place to go on a visit, but when they are in the station on the way home they always run the last ten feet. They feel that if they don't the gates will close in their faces and keep them there. The worst form of nightmare an Ithacan can have is to dream that he has to live somewhere where he can't see the Lake or Connecticut Hill.

On the other hand the most fanatical of us will admit there is a place on Twenty-third Street where they do you a salt mackerel in a manner that can't be approached anywhere in the Finger Lakes region.

OBITUARIES

Ernest R. Copeland '75

Dr. Ernest Roscoe Copeland, well known physician and surgeon and oldest member of the Cornell Club of Milwaukee, died on September 10 after a short illness of jaundice.

He was born in Stony Creek, Mich., seventy years ago. He took four years in the natural history course, and later received his medical degree at Michigan.
He had been practicing in Milwaukee since then. He was also a well known art critic and was one of the founders of the Milwaukee Art Institute, and president of the Layton School of Art.

Livingston A. Leeds '09

Livingston Allaire Leeds, prominent builder and realtor in Pelham Manor, committed suicide on September 7. He was born on April 16, 1885. He took two years of civil engineering at Cornell, and later graduated from the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. He lived most of his life in Pelham Manor, of which he had been tax assessor for eight years. His parents, his wife, and a daughter survive him.

D. Arthur Sauve '12

David Arthur Sauve, a lawyer in Detroit, was killed in an automobile accident near Detroit on September 16, 1928. He was born in Bay City, Mich. on September 25, 1890. He received the degree of LL.B. During the War he served as a lieutenant of cavalry. His wife and his mother survive him.

Charles P. Tymeson '16

Charles Prindle Tymeson died at his home in Johnstown, N. Y., on August 12, after a long illness.

He was born in Johnstown on August 18, 1892, the son of Arthur A. and Margaret Prindle Tymeson. He was at Cornell from 1911 to 1916, with one term's absence. He received the degree of M.E., and was a member of Sigma Pi.

During the war he served as first lieutenant at the Rock Island, Ill., Arsenal.
After a year with the Walter Kidde Company, in 1920 he took over his father's interest in the McGuire-Tymeson Hardware Company in Johnstown, and was junior member of the firm until this year.

A sister, Miss Margaret A. Tymeson, and his step-mother survive him.

1933's Church Preferences

Twenty-eight Denominations Represented —Ninety Per Cent Claim Some Religious Affiliation

An analysis of freshman records by Richard H. Edwards, director of United Religious Work, shows that twenty-eight different denominations are represented in the church preferences of 1,428 members of the Class of 1933. Ninety per cent of the freshmen expressed a church preference, while 166 students had no preference.

The list of denominations follows:

Baptist, ninety-two; Catholic, 153; Christian Science, nineteen; Congregational, ninety; Episcopal, 19; Friends, fifteen;
Jewish, 186; Lutheran, forty-eight; Methodist, 198; Presbyterian, 253; Unitarian, thirty-two; United Brethren, four; Latter Day Saints, three; Community Church, three; Seventh Day Adventists, one;
Union Church, two; Christian Fellowship, one; Brothers of Truth, one; People's Church, one; Church of Denmark, one;
Church of Christ, one; Russian Greek Orthodox, three; Disciples of Christ, one;
Armenian Apostolic, one; Moravian, one;
Society of Concord, one; Buddhist Church,
one. and Immanuel Church, one.

PLAN PRINCETON HOP

On the eve of the Cornell-Princeton football game, a dance, the Princeton Hop, will be the social feature of the week-end.

WIN YACHTING RACES

Flying the colors of the Chicago Yacht Club, a Universal R boat, "Ariel," piloted and manned by Edwin E. Sheridan '11 and Malcolm D. Vail '12, won the championship of the Chicago yachting season.

The boat is the oldest one of nine in its class. With it, Sheridan and Vail tied for first place in the Class A series of races, won Class B, won two out of four open regattas, and got second place in the Lipton races "on account," Mal Vail

THE CLUBS

Rochester

The Club is starting its season with its usual high record of attendance at the weekly luncheons.

Although the high score was at the opening on September 18, when 131 Cornellians were present to hear Professor Charles L. Durham '99 give words of cheer to the entering freshmen, the attendance has been over eighty at each of the last two meetings.

Justice Willis K. Gillette of the Supreme Court, a graduate of the University of Michigan, was the speaker on September 25.

Coach Nicholas Bawlf was particularly well received on October 2, in a talk on the proper balance between athletic and academic work.

Northern California Women

Miss Sophy P. Fleming '74, whose death was noted in the issue of October 3, was, with Mrs. Leroy A. Foster (Emma S. Eastman '73), the first woman to take regular work at Cornell. The Cornell Women's Club of Northern California, of which she was president, has sent in the following resolution:

Her life has been devoted to educational pursuits. At the time of her passing she was actively teaching in Miss Merriam's School in Oakland, California, a position which she had held for many years. She was the devoted leader of a group of welfare workers in St. John's Presbyterian Church in Berkeley. In this work her basic principle was that children must be educated before they were put to work.

As a result of this persistent claim many a child in Berkeley now stands ready to cope with life with a good foundation and a definite aim. She will be sorely missed in many a little home where her kindly spirit has given aid. David Starr Jordan, in his autobiography,¹ characterized Miss Fleming as "a girl of delicacy and refinement." Such also was her womanhood, and we can aptly give homage in the words of Longfellow.

Honor to those whose words or deeds
Thus help us in our daily needs
And by their overflow
Raise us from what is low.

As if a door in Heaven should be Opened and then closed suddenly
The vision came and went
The light shone and was spent.

A Lady with a Lamp shall stand
In the great history of the land
A noble type of good Heroic Womanhood.

Morris County, N. J.

The Club is reorganized for the year with the following officers: president, G. Gilson Terriberry '15; vice-president, Paul W. Drake '21; secretary James R. Hillas '19. One of the principal activities of the Club this year will be work with the Committee on Relations with Preparatory Schools.

New England

The Club has elected Newton C. Burnett '24 secretary, to fill out the term of Clarence B. Piper '05, who recently resigned on his removal to Los Angeles.

The new secretary is the son of Archie C. Burnett '90, past president of the Club and of the Alumni Corporation.

Schenectady

At the opening meeting held on September 10, twenty-nine Cornellians met at the Mohawk Golf Club. The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Carrol G. Brown '16; vice-president, Glen W. Bennett '27; secretary-treasurer, Clyde H. Harrison '28.

The Club has actively sponsored a troop of Boy Scouts and at the next meeting will witness a demonstration by this troop. The Club has been active during the summer months with outdoor meetings, featuring a swimming party and a steak roast.

Michigan

The Club opened its fall season on Friday, October 11, when the annual meeting was held. The following slate was presented by the committee on nominations: president, Arthur L. Rose, '10; vice-president Myron B. Bloy '20; secretary, Frank Nitzberg '22; treasurer, Theodore G. Seemeyer '27; industrial secretary, William A. Cater '13.

The weekly luncheons will start at the Hotel Book-Cadillac on Thursday, October 17.

Rochester Women

The Club held the first meeting of the year at the home of Miss Elizabeth Keiper '21 on October 3. The new officers took up their duties: Carroll C. Grimminger '24, president; Katherine Crowley '20, vice-president; Mary Casey '24, secretary; Ina Hall '18, treasurer; Phyllis Bodler '26, corresponding secretary.

Definite plans were made for the entertainment of the women delegates and guests at the approaching convention. The Club welcomed seven new members.

VESPERS RESTORED—JUBILATE!

VESPER services have been restored to their place on the University calendar. Cornellians of every denomination, or none, will be pleased to learn the good news. Vesper choir, Sage Chapel preacher, and the rest of the program are again as they were.

Much has happened musically to Ithaca in the past six months. The removal of the Westminster Choir from Toledo to Ithaca and the acquisition by the University of Professor Weaver as head of the music department have both awakened a new interest in choral music. The monopoly of the downtown churches is broken, probably to the benefit of the churches themselves, and certainly for the general good of the community.

Apparently the Vesper Choir, under its distinguished leader, will be able to maintain its fine reputation after its forced sabbatic leave. The situation gives rise to hope that in due course consideration will be given to the restoration of the Summer School of Music and to the winter Festival, on the same grand plane from which Cornell once shed musical glory on the University world.

TELLS OF GERMANY'S RECOVERY

In the ten years since the treaty of Versailles, there has been a marked stabilization in Germany, Dr. Herbert Kraus of the University of Göttingen declared in an address on October 3 on "German's Hope of Future World Peace." Dr. Kraus's lecture was the first to be given on the Schiff Foundation this semester.

"The Central Government," Dr. Kraus added, "has taken over the government of most of the smaller states, until now German's government is much like that of the United States. The reparations problem is still unsettled. I cannot see how Germany can pay her debts, heavily loaded as she is. And as long as this situation is unsettled, no one can claim that Germany is stabilized."

Referring to world peace, Dr. Kraus said that the idea "is no longer a Utopian one but a political reality." He characterized world peace as "a frail boat needing careful nurture. No single state can promote peace. Peace is now the center of Germany's foreign policy."

Two supports for the idea of world peace are humanitarianism and international solidarity. "These two pillars," Dr. Kraus said, "must come in our theoretical conception of peace, and our theoretical conception rests on the work of teachers and students."

In The Philosophical Review for September Professor Glenn R. Morrow, Ph.D. '21, of the University of Illinois, reviews Kurt Singer, "Platon der Gruender." Richard G. F. Robinson, Grad., reviews John Burnet, "Platonism." Professor George E. G. Catlin, Ph.D. '24, reviews W. F. Ogburn and H. Goldenweiser, "The Social Sciences and Their Interrelations." Professor G. Watts Cunningham, Ph.D. '08, reviews the first and second volumes of George Lasson's edition of Hegel's "Saemtliche Werke."

Several Gifts Reported

One A Draft for $20,000 From Anonymous Friend—$10,000 for Research

An unusual gift to the University was received last week by President Farrand in the form of a typewritten letter signed "L. H. Anon" and a draft for $20,000 drawn on a New York bank. The letter requested that the gift be applied to the general fund, the donor expressing the wish that "this gift remain entirely anonymous." The letter contained no clue to his identity.

This is the first case on record where the University has been unable to thank directly the donor of any considerable sum. Cornell has had many gifts where anonymity of the donor was asked. No attempt will be made to trace this $20,000 addition to the University endowment.

Two other gifts and a new prize fund were made public by the President.

The Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, Inc., has granted $10,000 for the purpose of conducting an investigation into the underlying causes of the formation and adhesion of ice upon aircraft during flight.

The research on this subject will be carried out under the direction of William C. Geer '02, who has returned to Ithaca to live, in cooperation with the Department of Physics. Professor Frederiek Bedell, Ph.D. '91, and Professor Carleton C. Murdock, Ph.D. '19, will work with Mr. Geer.

A gift of $5,000 has been made by Earl J. Bennett '01 of Rockville Center for the benefit of the Law School. The income will be used to purchase statutes for assistance to students making researches in the sources of modern laws.

Dr. Albert E. Merry '06 has established an annual prize of $50 to be awarded to a student in the College of Veterinary Medicine in the field of anatomy. The prize memorializes the late Addison D. Merry '80.

HOSPITAL PLAN MODEL

The plan by which Bellevue Hospital in New York has instruction units established in connection with the Cornell, New York University, and College of Physicians and Surgeons medical schools, will be adopted for all New York City hospitals, Dr. William Schroeder, Jr., commissioner of hospitals, has announced.

Each hospital will organize an instruction unit in cooperation with existing medical schools. "The teaching of students in any hospital makes for better service. It is the patient who gains," Dr. Schroeder said.

In The Journal of Experimental Psychology for August Professor Joy P. Guilford, Ph.D. '27, of the University of Nebraska, writes on "Ocular Movements and the Perception of Time."

The Week on the Campus

ALL the Clubs are organizing and recruiting members with whatever temptations they may. The Musical Clubs look forward to a good year. Sixty new men have tried out for the Glee Club; there is plenty of material for the Orchestra and the Mandolin Club. We spoke last week of the scission of the Band into two bands. I wonder if the radio has anything to do with this musical enthusiasm. Music now envelops us from the cradle onward. Life is accompanied by music like an opera. And far from resting content with mechanical music, the boys want to produce some too.

WEAI has been getting encouraging responses from its auditors. "Our fan mail is constantly increasing," says Charles B. Taylor, head of the program committee. The only difficulty is that the broadcasting station is set on the poultry farm, and when the windows are open the roosters join in the program in a very puzzling manner. Suggestion to the program committee: play selections from "Le Coq d'Or."

AN ALL-CORNELL Radio Broadcast will be shed abroad by the Cornell Club of Chicago on Monday October 21, in connection with the "Allerton Club Collegiate Hour," between 6:30 and 7 p. m., Central Standard Time; over Station KYW (294 meters). Rendition of Cornell Songs by the Allerton House Glee Club will be under the direction of George F. Pond '10 and Erskine Wilder '05, soloists, of the Chicago Club.

PERHAPS MUSIC can be overdone. An unhappy junior writes to the Sun to this purpose: "Do you realize that all last year the State Theater forced us to listen to their darned old jazz bands all winter. . . . If the management of the State Theater wants to have jazz bands once a month that will be often enough, but forcing us to listen to it every week is too much." One might remind the junior that an old custom permits the student to take three cuts a term. Apparently they take attendance at the State.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB put on its second bill of one-acters on Friday and Saturday: "The Valiant," by Holworthy Hall, "A Wedding," by John Kirkpatrick, and "The Minuet," by Louis N. Parker. Adolph W. Haber '30 was especially commended for his work in "The Valiant."

THE DRAMATIC CLUB promises an enjoyable bill for Friday and Saturday of this week, i. e., before and after the Princeton game. It will consist of three comedies by George Bernard Shaw: "The Man of Destiny," "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," and "How He Lied to Her Husband."

THE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC began its thirty-seventh year last Thursday, with the largest registration in its history.

THE LECTURE SEASON got well under way in the course of the week. George P.

Thomson, George Fisher Baker non-resident lecturer, opened his course with a public address on "Waves and Particles". Ernest Fowles, of the Royal Academy of Music in London, talked on "Modern Music, Its Idioms and Issues," and also, obligingly, spoke to the Women's Club on "Musical Judgment." Professor Charles T. Seltman of the University of Cambridge lectured on "The History of Greek Coins." Dr. Karl Sudhoff, professor of the history of medicine in the University of Leipzig, spoke on "Salerno and Toledo." Alfred C. Hottes '13, associate editor of Better Homes and Gardens, gave the Garden Club of Ithaca an informal talk on plant materials.

DEAN ALBERT W. SMITH '78 addressed the opening meeting of the student branch of the A. S. M. E. on "A Chapter from the Life of Ezra Cornell." Dean Smith dealt especially with our Founder's early achievements as a self-trained engineer. He told the story—it has been told before, but there are many Cornellians who do not know it—of the building of the tunnel from above Ithaca Falls to the present Ithaca Gun Works. The tunnelers met in the middle of the rock with a deviation of less than two inches. That was in 1831, when Ezra Cornell was twenty-four years old. It is a pity that all our freshmen—and a good many graduates—could not have heard the inspiring tale of the Founder's character and achievement.

THERE WAS a chimney fire last Wednesday in the house of Professor Walter F. Willcox at 3 South Avenue. No serious harm done.

THE ROCK PIGEONS that strut about the Campus used to breed in the tower of McGraw Hall, says Professor Arthur A. Allen '08. When that was wired off, they moved to the Library Tower, thence to the roof of the old Chemistry Building, and now they have settled in the Agricultural Barns.

NOTES ON FOOTBALL'S New Magnificence: "The Governor of Georgia has made October 12 a legal holiday this year; not because of Christopher Columbus, but because of Yale's trip to Athens for the opening of the new University of Georgia stadium. . . . Those thousands who will attend the game have been furnished with gold tickets, lettered in red and blue. On the front they have pictures of two bulldogs—one with a red ribbon, one with a blue—and of Connecticut Hall and Old College, at Georgia. On the back there is a brief editorial on 'Georgia's kinship with Yale.' . . . Let the impresarios of movie premieres look to their laurels."—R. F. K. in The New Yorker.

THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR WILLIAM I. MYERS '14 of the Department of Farm Management has been elected president of Phi Kappa Phi. Professor Herman Diederichs '97 was named vice-president, Professor Alexander Veissig was made secretary-treasurer, Professor Jacob Collins '21 historian, and Professor Laurence Pumphelly '04 member of the Executive Committee.

PROFESSOR FLOYD K. RICHTMYER '04, vice-president of the special committee on physics of the National Research Council, attended a meeting of the council's executive committee in Washington, D. C., on October 8.

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR KARAPETOFF of the School of Electrical Engineering spoke October 7 at the annual banquet of the Society of Automotive Engineers of Detroit at Detroit. His subject was "Some Recent Changes in Our Attitude toward the Physical World."

GEORGE A. EVERETT '99, professor of extension teaching, spoke on the life and customs of the French Canadians at the weekly luncheon of the Ithaca Rotary Club on October 2.

PROFESSOR MARtha Van Rennselaer '09 of the College of Home Economics gave an address on October 2 at the State D. A. R. convention on "What the American Family Has Gained from Revolutionary Days."

PROFESSOR Marguerite Wilker of the Extension Department of the College of Home Economics spoke on October 1 before the Buffalo District Child Guidance Clubs. Dr. Wilker told of the nursery school plan in England and France.

IN Extension Service News for October Professor James D. Brew '12 describes "Some Differences Between Raw and Pasteurized Milk." Professor Walter C. Muensch, Ph.D. '21, writes on "Poison Ivy and Sumac." Roland F. Buckman '14 has an article entitled, "New York State Farmers Use More Electricity."

"DIRECTIONS for Grading and Packing Peaches" by Professor John W. Lloyd '03 has lately been published as a bulletin by the University of Illinois Experiment Station.

THE MEN OF '12 who live in and about New York, one of the most active of all the alumni groups, plan to meet for dinner every month at the Cornell Club, 245 Madison Avenue. The dinners will be held at 6:30, and will be held on the 12th except when that date falls on a Saturday, a Sunday, or on Lincoln's Birthday. Stanton C. Finch '12 is president of the 1912 New York Association.

BOOKS

The Effect of Armaments

Brooks-Bright Prize Essays, 1929. With an Introduction by John H. Finley. New York. The Brooks-Bright Foundation. 1929. 19 cm., pp. 143.

The essay topic of the Brooks-Bright Foundation for 1929 was, "What is the Psychological Effect on the National Mind of Great Armed Forces Maintained Ostensibly for National Defense?" More than 87,000 essays were written in the schools of forty-two States. The six winning essays are here given to the world. The average age of the writers was about seventeen.

The writers are unanimous in their views. One of the first-prize essayists thus sums it up: "The chief cause of fear between nations is armament. Fear is the chief cause of war. War breeds still greater fear. Fear in turn produces larger armaments. This is the vicious circle in which the nations have been traveling the past one hundred years." As a result, in 1922 we devoted 20.2 per cent of our expenditures to the Army and Navy. In 1923 23 per cent of the French budget, 15 per cent of the British, and 34 per cent of the Japanese went for the same purpose.

Yet if similar sums had been devoted to education, the world, unless the psychologists have deceived us, would have been vastly more secure and immeasurably farther along.

Some curious facts are revealed by these young writers. The book will bear careful reading.

Tudor-Stuart Verse

Poetry of the English Renaissance, 1509-1660. Selected from Early Editions and Manuscripts and Edited by J. William Hebel, Ph.D. '20, Assistant Professor of English in Cornell, and Hoyt H. Hudson, Ph.D. '23, Assistant Professor of English in Princeton. New York. F. S. Crofts & Co. 1929. 23.5 cm., pp. viii, 1068. Price, $5.

This is a well made book, in which Cornellians have done all the work except the trifling part of writing the poetry. Woodford Patterson '95 laid out the title-page, Professor Midjo contributed the design of the Tudor rose and the Stuart thistle, and Frederick S. Crofts '05 is the publisher. And no Cornellian need be ashamed of so good a book.

The editors have been scrupulously careful in preparing their texts. They have followed original editions or authentic manuscripts, and where emendation seemed unavoidable, they have given the authority for such deviation from the basic text. They have wisely modernized the spelling and punctuation.

They have omitted Spenser, Shakespeare, and Milton on the ground that readers desire to have complete editions of these poets. Ninety-four authors are named in the table of contents, while under the heads of Minor Courtly Makers of Henry VIII's reign, Elizabethan Miscellanies, Sonnet-Sequences, Songs from Plays, Broadside Ballads, Lyrics from Song-Books, Epigrams, and Stuart and Commonwealth Miscellanies are grouped poems by many more authors. There are appended Extracts from Critical Essays, Introductions and Notes running to 133 pages, and an admirable Index of 28 pages.

It is the sort of book the thoughtful person will like to have at his bed's head. At any moment, browsing through, he may encounter a gem; like this:

SIC VITA

Like to the falling of a star,
Or as the flights of eagles are,
Or like the fresh spring's gaudy hue,
Or silver drops of morning dew,
Or like a wind that chafes the flood,
Or bubbles which on water stood:
Even such is man, whose borrowed light
Is straight called in, and paid to night.

The wind blows out, the bubble dies;
The spring entombed in autumn lies;
The dew dries up, the star is shot;
The flight is past, and man forgot.

In The American Historical Review for October, Professor William L. Westermann of Columbia, formerly of Cornell, writes on "New Historical Documents in Greek and Roman History." Professor Preserved Smith reviews "L'Introduction des Décrets du Concile de Trente dans les Pays-Bas et dans le Principauté de Liège" by Abbé F. Willcox. Professor Wallace Notestein, now of Yale, reviews the "Bibliography of British History: Stuart Period, 1603-1714" edited by Godfrey Davies. Professor Eloise Ellery, Ph.D. '02, of Vassar reviews "The Era of the French Revolution, 1715-1815" by Professor Louis R. Gottschalk '19, Ph.D. '21, of the University of Chicago. Professor Theodore Collier, Ph.D. '06, of Brown, reviews James Edward Gillespie, "A History of Europe, 1500-1875." Professor Elizabeth Donnan '07 of Wellesley reviews "Extracts from the Records of the African Companies" collected by Ruth A. Fisher. Arthur C. Cole reviews "Illinois College: a Centennial History, 1829-1929" by President Charles H. Rammelkamp '96 of that institution.

In The Cornell Countryman for October Dr. Cornelius Betten '05 writes on "New Curricula of Less Than Four Years." Earl A. Flansburgh '15 discusses "County Extension Work." Professor Edmund L. Worthen, M.S.A. '08, writes on "Alfalfa-Clover Service for New York." Howard W. Beers '29 writes on "The Ag-Home Ec Association." Douglas M. Roy '30 describes "Your College's Athletics." Professor Charles L. Allen '16 writes on "Our Cattle-Judging Teams." Charles A. Taylor writes under the title, "The College Runs the Year Round."

ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA

THERE has never been anything like it—never anything even remotely approaching this magnificent new Fourteenth Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Cast aside your old ideas of reference works and encyclopaedias, for here is something new, different, tremendously vital, alive.

"An unprecedented achievement," is the verdict of foremost critics, a verdict that is sweeping the country. "The most exciting book of 1929," says Henry Seidel Canby. "The last word in encyclopaedia perfection," says a well-known librarian.

And so it goes, without a dissenting voice!

3,500 Contributors

From the four corners of the earth, from the great universities, from the great industries, from world-famous clinics and laboratories, from the studios of the greatest artists—from these and from every source of up-to-date information came the material to make these wonderful volumes.

The roster of contributors is a roll-call of the great and famous from the whole world—3,500 from fifty different countries.

No university could possess such a faculty, nowhere else can you find so complete a survey of the entire record of human thought and achievement.

Unique in Human Interest and Practical Value

The new Britannica is not only unique in scholarship. It is unique in human interest and sheer practical value.

It establishes the new principle that a wealth of learning can also be a treasure of fascinating reading. The amazing richness of illustration alone makes every subject easier and simpler to grasp and, at the same time, ten times more interesting than ever before.

Super-Eyes of Industry

In the relentless sweep of modern industrial progress, the engineer today finds ever greater need for the assistance of optical science. Countless processes call for the increased accuracy in control of raw materials and finished products that can come only from precision optical instruments of special design.

Today, Bausch & Lomb supply special optical instruments to a wide variety of industries. In many instances, these Bausch & Lomb products have effected pronounced economies and radically improved accuracy.

Let us consult with you concerning your specific optical requirements.

When You are in Ithaca Make the Co-op Your Headquarters

We Mail Your Purchases for You

When one is hurrying from a luncheon to a ball game or another group meeting it is an easy matter to lay down a package and forget to pick it up. To save you the trouble the Co-op mails your packages for you. Spend a little time at the Co-op and buy Cornell things.

Postcards of the Campus

Visitors to the campus wish to send a description to their friends. Postcards can now be mailed with one cent stamps. More postcards are being used. Viewbooks cost a little more but the description is better. The "Book of Views" leads when a good description of the campus is wanted.

The Campus Map $1.50

The campus map was the biggest item at Christmas time. Some did not buy because they had not seen one. Here is your opportunity while you are in Ithaca. The Co-op is conveniently located on the campus.
