PLAN NEW SCHOLARSHIP

Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary, showed motion pictures and spoke at a smoker, songfest, and Dutch lunch of the Cornell Club of the Lehigh Valley, at the Beethoven Maennerchor in Bethlehem, Pa., November 17.

Seventy-five Cornellians were there from Bethlehem, Allentown, Easton, and surrounding territory. With Charles L. Beckwith '15, president of the Club, in the chair, they made plans to establish a new Alumni Club Scholarship at the University.

BATAVIA WOMEN ELECT

Officers of the Cornell Women's Club of Batavia for 1939 are Mrs. Julian Harvey (Mary E. Wright) '14, honorary president; Lura M. Ware '15, president; Dr. Myrta E. Hunn '00, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph D. Morgan, secretary; and Mrs. Donald S. Girven (Clara D. Sumner) '32, treasurer.

At luncheon September 17 at the home of Mrs. Ralph W. Brundage (E. Mae Morris) '18, Dorothea D. Durfee '19 described her work as occupational therapist at the Albion State Training School. As a result, following its next luncheon meeting November 19, the Club spent an interesting afternoon at the School.

COST OF EDUCATION

R.B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal

Last week we sold sixty bushels of potatoes and two shoats and what we got for 'em, Mrs. State and Tioga tells me after some complicated mathematical computations, lacks just thirty-one cents of being enough to pay this year's school tax on our farm.

The conventional thing to do, I suppose, in such a case is to hitch up one's pants, take a deep breath, and curse Roosevelt; but having spent most of our life in a college town the reaction to the impact on our situation is to reopen the whole question of the value of so much education. Once we got educated to a fare-thee-well, and here we are raising shoats to pay school taxes and we've never been able to add good.

My back is still bowed from hooking out those potatoes, picking them up, and sorting them; and since May, I've covered a vast amount of territory chasing those shoats when they got out. It seems an awful lot of back and leg work to sacrifice to one's country on the altar of education.

But I suppose it's really worth all it costs just to get the kids out of the house six hours a day and let the mothers have a little peace. And the school bus stopped the other day and gave us a chance when Kit was acting up, on the road to Mr.

Westervelt's. You've got to figure that in, too, on the credit side of this bill for public education!

MUSICAL CLUBS TOUR AGAIN

Christmas week this year will again see the Musical Clubs on the road, with a new show playing under Cornell Club auspices in five Eastern cities.

Sixty-five members of the Glee Club and Instrumental Club will present "Shifting Scenes," which the manager, William Y. Hutchinson '39, says resembles the New York hit, "Our Town," in that it is played in street dress and has little or no scenery. The author is T. Nelson Magill, AM '37, who wrote the last Junior Week show, "Hell's Bells," and "No Red in Hell," given during reunions last June. Eric Dudley, director of the Glee Club, and George L. Coleman '95, director of the Instrumental Club, will accompany the troupe in their special car, as will Thomas B. Tracy '31, a soloist and the conductor.

The shows opens December 26 in Albany, where W. Richard Morgan '27 is in charge of arrangements and for a Cornell dance following. The next evening they play and will dance at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia, with Morris D. Van Patten '29 chairman of the local committee. December 28 they will be in Harrisburg, Pa., with John W. Magoun '12 in charge; and jump to Wilmington, Del. for a performance and dance December 29 in the Hotel duPont. Kenneth B. Spear '23 is here chairman of the ticket committee. The tour ends in Baltimore, Md. December 30, with C. Stewart Fiske '21 making the arrangements, and a dance also planned.

"SHOOTING" A C.E. LAB IN COLOR

Barrett L. Gallagher '35 completes color movies of the College of Engineering, for use in schools and by Cornell groups, as Raymond F. Howes '24 directs the floodlight.

CENTRAL FLORIDA STARTS

Cornell Club of Central Florida resumed monthly luncheon meetings November 3, at the Angebilt Hotel in Orlando. Regular meeting dates were set for the Angebilt the first Monday of each month, at 12:30.

President George E. Cornwell '15 presided, and the versatile secretary-treasurer, Theodore J. Lindorff '07, accompanied at the piano for the singing of the "Alma Mater" and other songs, including his own compositions, "Carnelian and White" and "Fight for Cornell!"

LAW STUDENTS VARIED

Students in the Law School this year hold degrees from forty-five colleges and universities, other than Cornell. Among the institutions represented are Amherst, Brown, Bucknell, Catholic University, Colgate, Columbia, Cornell College, Dartmouth, Duke, Hamilton, Harvard, Lafayette, Lehigh, Mount Holyoke, New York University, Notre Dame, Rochester, Stanford, Syracuse, Union, Williams, Yale, and the Universities of Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, and Wisconsin.

This year, four students entered the Law School from Brown; three each from Colgate and Wesleyan; and two each from Dartmouth, Stanford, Syracuse, and Rochester, with one each from fourteen other institutions.

WOMEN AT WORK

Of the eighty women of the Class of '38 who were graduated last June from the College of Home Economics, all but sixteen are placed, according to Esther Stocks, secretary of the College. They are working at sixteen different kinds of jobs, seven in New York City and others in Arizona, California, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C.

Twenty-one are teaching; fifteen are working with foods, as hospital dietitians, managers of restaurants, or still studying nutrition; four are pursuing graduate study; and others are in a variety of jobs. Nine are married, and six others have announced engagements.

Perhaps the most unusual job is that of Irene M. H. Moran, daughter of the Rev. Hugh Moran, Presbyterian student pastor in Ithaca. She is one of two white women at the Sage Memorial Hospital in Ganado, Ariz., said to be the only American hospital for Indians, where she is in charge of all teaching, assists at operations, and goes with the ambulance to Indian homes. She spent two years at New York Hospital school for nurses, and after a year at this hospital will become a missionary nurse abroad. Her sister, Pauline B. Moran '38, is attending Yale Divinity School.

ATMOS, honor society in Mechanical Engineering, has elected Cecil W. Armstrong, MS '38, from the Faculty, and Paul F. Bracht of Seneca Falls, Clay R. Davis of Scarsdale, Udo W. Fischer of Mt. Airy, Pa., John M. McLellan of Short Hills, N. J., Jansen Noyes, Jr. of Montclair, N. J., Francis H. Thomas of Webster, James J. Wilder of New Rochelle, and Edward A. Zouck of Hanover, Pa., of the Class of '39; and William D. Wallace '40 of Camillus.

SCORELESS TIE IN PHILADELPHIA

The kind of a game that nobody likes—a scoreless tie—was the forty-fifth meeting of Cornell and Pennsylvania football teams, at Franklin Field Thanksgiving Day.

Cornell was heavily favored, but the Varsity line met its match in Pennsylvania's forward wall. The result was a game played almost entirely between the twenty-yard lines, with Cornell slightly ahead in midfield ground gaining.

Thus ended Cornell's fifty-second season of intercollegiate football, its third under Coach Carl G. Snavelly, with five victories, one defeat, and one tie.

In bitter cold, then rain, and finally sleet, the two teams put on a battle of defenses. Twice Pennsylvania reached Cornell's twenty-five-yard line, to be halted first when Holland threw Miller for an eleven-yard loss, and halted again by the final whistle. Twice in the fourth period Cornell reached Pennsylvania's thirty-yard line and twice Burke of Pennsylvania intercepted passes intended for Holland.

The rest of the way the teams drove and lunged around midfield, exchanging punts. In this tug-of-war Cornell ran up twelve first downs to nine for Pennsylvania and netted 175 yards rushing to 105 for the home team.

Most of Cornell's yardage was picked up by Eichler, the fullback, whose gains totaled eighty-one yards. Directly after the game Eichler was honored by his teammates with the captaincy for 1939.

Pennsylvania made the first sortie when McCullough punted on second down after the kickoff, from his 17 to the 48. Rainwater and Reagan mixed line plunges and end runs for two first downs, but Holland's brilliant play on Miller ended the drive and Reagan punted for a touchback.

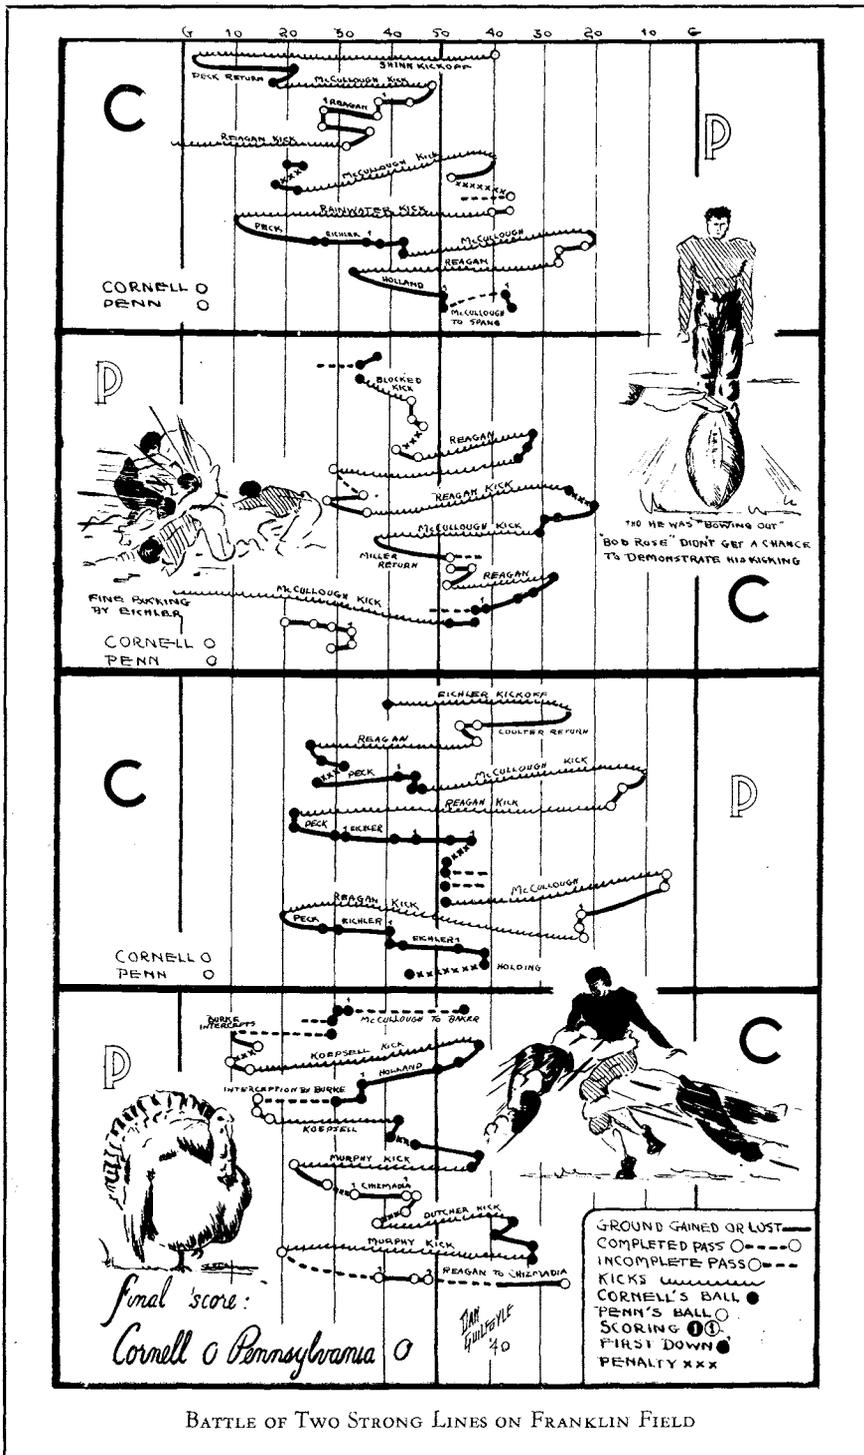

A punt exchange netted Cornell five yards. Eichler and Holland moved the ball to Cornell's 43 before another exchange of punts left Cornell with the ball on its 28. Holland got away for a first down, and McCullough tossed a forward to Spang for first down on Pennsylvania's 38 as the first period ended.

Stopped on two line plays and a forward pass, McCullough punted, but Shinn blocked the kick, and Gustafson recovered on Pennsylvania's 45. Neither team could gain consistently, although Eichler did insert one first down, and McCullough and Reagan exchanged kicks, the punting duel ending when McCullough booted the ball for a touchback. Pennsylvania wound up the second period with a first down to its 36 on runs by Rainwater and Reagan.

The first half was almost even, with Cornell registering four first downs to Pennsylvania's three and picking up seventy-eight yards to seventy for the home team.

Cornell began to roll in the third quarter, starting from the Cornell 24 and halted temporarily by a five-yard penalty. Peck, taking the ball as McCullough faked a quick kick, raced seventeen yards to Cornell's 43, where McCullough finally punted. On Pennsylvania's return kick, Cornell started again from its 22. Peck made first down on the 32, and Eichler, battering at center, picked up two more and put the ball on Pennsylvania's 43. There a penalty and two incompletes stopped the drive.

Pennsylvania picked up a first down before Reagan kicked to Cornell's 28. Eichler again hit the line for two first downs to Pennsylvania's 45, and Baker, in for Peck, added five more. On the final play of the period, Cornell was penalized fifteen yards.

Opening the last quarter, McCullough threw a pass to Baker, who reached Pennsylvania's 34. Two more plays netted four yards, and a fourth-down pass from McCullough was intercepted by Burke. Holland spilled him on Pennsylvania's 15.

Reagan kicked to McCullough on Cornell's 42. Eichler picked up eight yards, and Holland raced around end for fifteen more. Again Holland ran for five yards, and the ball was on Pennsylvania's 30, third down and five to go.

Scholl, in for McCullough, passed, but Burke again intercepted, and again Holland nailed him. Koepsell, Pennsylvania's substitute, punted short from Pennsylvania's 15 to the 42. A five-yard penalty and a loss of fifteen yards by Scholl as he attempted to pass set Cornell back to its 40.

Murphy, going in for Scholl, punted to Pennsylvania's 23. Dutcher and Chizmadia, substitute backs, helped by another five-yard penalty against Cornell, made two first downs on Pennsylvania's 45, where Dutcher punted to Cornell's 35. Eichler picked up five yards, but Holland, attempting to throw a pass as a variation to his end-around play, was downed on Cornell's 30.

Murphy punted to Pennsylvania's 19. Dutcher threw a pass. Peck, back in the game, tipped the ball into the arms of Polilli for a first down on Pennsylvania's 40. Chizmadia plunged twice for first down at midfield, and Reagan passed to Chizmadia. Roth and Matuszczak finally spilled the Pennsylvania fullback on Cornell's 25, and the game was over.

The lineups:

CORNELL (O)	Pos.	PENNSYLVANIA (O)
Holland	LE	Fielden
McKeever	LT	Shinn
Roth	LG	Mendelson
Van Ranst	C	Becker
Hemingway	RG	Lorber
Drahos	RT	Polilli
Spang	RE	Warner
Matuszczak	QB	Reagan
McCullough	LHB	Coulter
Peck	RHB	W. Miller
Eichler	FB	Rainwater

Cornell substitutes: End, Kelley; tackles, West, Blasko; guard, Hershey; backs, Baker, Scholl, Murphy, Brown, Dorius.

Pennsylvania substitutes: Ends, Gustafson, J. Miller, Straub; tackle, Yard; guards, Smith, Hunt; center, Frick; backs, Koepsell, Dutcher, Burke, Chizmadia.

Referee, W. H. Friesell, Princeton; umpire, A. M. Barron, Penn State; linesman, Larry Conover, Penn State; field judge, George Vergara, Notre Dame.

It was the first tie game since the 10-10 deadlock of 1926 and the first scoreless tie since 1906. Pennsylvania has won thirty-one, Cornell eleven, with the three ties, in the forty-five games since 1893.

It was the final game for seven Seniors

Holland, Roth, and Van Ranst played the entire game, as did Matuszczak, the Sophomore blocking back and field general.

The result gave Cornell the championship of the so-called "Ivy League." The final standing:

	W	L	T	PC
Cornell	3	0	1	1.000
Dartmouth	3	1	0	.750
Pennsylvania	2	1	1	.667
Harvard	2	2	0	.500
Princeton	2	2	0	.500
Columbia	1	2	0	.333
Yale	0	5	0	.000

LOSE FIRST AT POLO

The ROTC polo team opened its season November 23 in the 103d Cavalry Armory in Philadelphia, where it was defeated by Pennsylvania Military College, 12-4. The cadets led from the starting whistle, making six goals the first period. In the second, Cornell made three. David Pollak '40 of Cincinnati, Ohio, playing No. 2, made two goals, and Merton F. Gerhauser '39 of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, and Henry J. Lawrence '40 of Smithtown Branch, one each.

150-POUND TEAM DOES WELL

With four straight victories, after defeats in the first two games, the 150-pound football team completed its first season in the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight Football League in second place.

The lightweights defeated Pennsylvania Thanksgiving Day, 20-0, as Robert S. Nicol '40 of Evanston, Ill., scored two touchdowns and Robert F. White '39 of Cleveland, Ohio, one. White converted two points with a placement and a line plunge.

The final standing in the League:

	W	L	T	PC
Princeton	6	0	0	1.000
Cornell	4	2	0	.667
Rutgers	2	1	3	.667
Yale	3	2	1	.600
Villanova	1	3	2	.250
Lafayette	1	4	1	.200
Pennsylvania	0	5	1	.000

Cornell lost to Princeton and Rutgers.

In the Pennsylvania game, White scored first early in the third period, climaxing a twenty-yard drive started by an intercepted pass with a six-yard plunge through center.

Nicol wound up a seventy-five-yard advance with an eighteen-yard sprint off tackle for the second touchdown. The third score came in the final period after Henry J. Wickert '41 of Albany recovered a fumble twenty-three yards from Pennsylvania's goal. Nicol took the ball on a Statue of Liberty play and swept around end for the touchdown.

CROSS COUNTRY CORRECTED

The cross country teams did not finish last in the intercollegiate championship races November 14, as stated in a NEWS headline last week. The Varsity was seventh among seventeen teams which finished, ahead of all other starters of the "Ivy League." The Freshman team was sixth of fourteen teams to finish. The complete team scores:

Varsity: Manhattan 43, Michigan State 76, Pittsburgh 90, Alfred 109, Penn State 110, Syracuse 166, Cornell 215, Maine 216, Yale 217, Princeton 247, Harvard 260, MIT 282, Fordham 368, NYU 384, Rutgers 407, Columbia 499, CCNY 504.

Freshman: Penn State 52, Syracuse 108, Manhattan 120, Princeton 128, NYU 144, Cornell 186, Dartmouth 200, Maine 204, Fordham 242, CCNY 250, Alfred 251, Columbia 259, Rutgers 308, Yale 322.

At the traditional end-of-season Cross Country Club banquet in the Varna church November 22, a letter was read from co-captain Howard W. Welch '39, recuperating at his home near Trumansburg from his recent injury, and Emery G. Wingerter '40 of Red Bank, N. J., the newly elected captain, spoke briefly. Professor Herbert H. Scofield '05, Civil Engineering, told of experiences as a track meet official and follower of the sport, and Coach Moakley presented the year's awards. Everett A. Sargent '39 of Morris won the Varsity blind handicap prize, and Wingerter, the "fast time" prize. Lung Mow trophy for greatest improvement for the year went to George E. Ranney '40 of Ithaca. In the Freshman cup series, winners were Albert Schmid of Peekskill, Frank P. Hoag of Poughquag, and Robert E. Kennedy of Susquehanna, Pa. Alpha Delta Phi won a turkey and the obligation to provide one next year, for winning the interfraternity cross country race, in a field of some twenty teams and eighty runners.

SOCCER SEASON OVER

The soccer team closed an unusual season November 23, losing to Haverford in Haverford, Pa., 2-1. This made it five ties and three defeats for Cornell this year. The victory gave Haverford the championship of the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Soccer League.

Haverford scored early on Allinson's goal on a relay from Atkinson. Mears made it 2-0 with another goal in the third period. David Podrisky '40 of Buffalo averted a shutout by scoring after a scramble at the goal mouth in the closing quarter.

STUDENT DELEGATES from the College of Agriculture to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last week and this are James A. Beneway '41 of Ontario, Norah P. Partrick '42 of Fulton, and Olin C. Barber '42 of Homer.

MYERS '14 IN BUFFALO

Nearly 100 members of the Cornell Club of Buffalo greeted Professor William I. Myers '14, Agricultural Economics, who was guest of honor at a Club dinner at the University Club November 18. With Herbert R. Johnston '17 presiding, the speaker, the mayor of Buffalo, and other city officials were introduced by General Ralph K. Robertson '04. President Johnston also introduced a number of high school guests.

Football and Campus motion pictures were shown, and Neil W. Willard '18 led Cornell songs to the music of Charles G. Seelbach '19 and his orchestra.

NEW YORK CLUB BOWLERS

Cornell Club of New York has two teams this year competing in the Inter-college Club Bowling League, meeting teams from the clubs of Columbia, Harvard, Princeton, and Williams. John W. Cobb '35, captain of the Cornell "B" team, is president of the League, and Robert L. Bliss '30 is treasurer. They bowl Wednesday nights for twenty-six weeks at the Tudor City recreation alleys, with individual tournaments in April.

In the opening matches, November 2, the Cornell "B" team defeated Princeton, 7-2, and Captain Cobb was high man of the evening with 217. Next was Adelbert P. Mills '36, also of the "B" team, with 214. The "A" team lost to Harvard, 2-7.

Bliss is also a member of the "B" team, with John W. Laughlin '35 and Robert J. McNamara '37. Captain of Cornell's "A" team is Malcolm B. Carroll '18, the other members Ernest J. J. Kluge '13, William J. McCarthy '14, Dean C. Wiggins '19, and Leonard A. Marcussen '30.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Thirty-five years ago, you remember, the "Student List" was a modest pamphlet which neatly fitted the pocket of all Class politicians. You could get them up in Morrill for the asking, and many of the more active politicians like James O'Malley and Ralph Kent and Floyd Carlisle wore out two or three each term in checking up the eligible voters.

They don't have Class politicians like that any more, and the old Student List has become the Directory of the University—a formidable volume of 180 pages, sewed, bound in heavy covers, and nicely printed on glossy paper. It costs fifteen cents.

Mr. Woodford Patterson and his assistants produced the opus for the current year last week, and let me recommend its thoughtful perusal to persons of imagination who like to reconstruct the lives of others from small evidences at hand.

The new Directory of the University devotes 74 of its pages to "Faculty, Officers and Employees," from "Abbott, John, 3331-1101, Janitor, Schoellkopf—210 N Corn, 6275" to "Zorsch, C. P., 8606, Asst. Entomology, Insectary—Estys, Hyde Farm, R.D.1." The other 106 pages list the "Students." Both estates receive pretty liberal treatment—full name, job or course, address, married or single, house and office telephone numbers, and (in the case of students) place of origin.

An asterisk is used to indicate a married person. Naturally, the asterisks are thicker in "Faculty, Officers and Employees," but you'd be astonished how they are peppered through the "Students." A majority of graduate students appear to be living in the holy bonds of matrimony, and no small number of Sophomores and Juniors as well. Educated youth seems to have taken as its motto in these days when jobs are hard to get, "Marry in haste and get your degree at leisure," or "Two can get a PhD as cheaply as one."

But the most striking disclosure of Mr. Patterson's book deals with the extent to which the Faculty, driven from the Campus by progress and economic necessity, have scattered into the rural towns for miles around. Professor Jones is domiciled at Interlaken a good 22 miles from his classroom, Professor Botsford at Jacksonville, and the rural villages of Newfield, Dryden, Locke, Ludlowville, Caroline, and Brooktondale are well supplied each night with sleeping scholars. One person on the list lives 250 miles away at Brewster (name of Farrand), but he doesn't have to punch the clock anymore.

One finds an amusing touch in the fact that the lady who handles all the football tickets lives in Dryden, and her telephone number appears in ten-point type. I won't tell you who or what,

METROPOLITAN CARTOONIST PAYS RESPECTS TO NEW WILLARD STRAIGHT LIBRARY

Announced to the newspapers as a "browsing" library, the new collection of books in Willard Straight Hall elicited this cartoon by Stanley MacGovern in the New York Post November 14. The artist presented his original drawing to the Hall and it will be hung in the library.

because then she'd have to move. On the other hand, the publication of that information might take a great load off the scores of professors who are now waked from a sound sleep five nights a week in October and November by alumni who have never lost the habit of tardiness.

'10 IN HORSE SHOW

Two Cornellians of the Class of '10 are in large measure responsible for the success of the National Horse Shows held each year in Madison Square Garden, New York City. This year's show closed November 12.

Jansen Noyes '10 has been for several years treasurer and a director of the National Horse Show Association, and his debutant daughter, Shirley Noyes, rides in the saddle classes. Maximilian Elser, Jr. '10, chief of the press bureau of the J. Walter Thompson Company, has handled the public relations of the Show the last six seasons.

NEW YORK HEARS PRESIDENT

William McC. Martin, Yale '28, first paid president of the New York Stock Exchange, was the guest speaker at luncheon of the Cornell Club of New York, November 16. The luncheon was one of the regular Wednesday series of the Club.

Charles H. Blair '97 presided, and introduced the guest of the day. Present were a large number of Cornellians engaged in finance, and among those seated at the head table were Basil B. Elmer '13 and Winton G. Rossiter '11, governors of the Stock Exchange.

Martin said he was glad to address one national institution as representative of another, and mentioned that there are fifty-eight Cornellians who are members of the New York Stock Exchange.

WOMEN START NEW CLUB

New alumnae group is the Cornell Women's Club of Northern New Jersey, which completed its organization with the assistance of M. Lucille West '28, membership chairman of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and adopted its constitution at a recent meeting of thirty members at the home of Dorothea M. B. Vermorel '36 in Hackensack. Ten meetings a year are planned; the stated purpose of the Club: "To further the interests of Cornell University and promote sociability and fellowship among its members." Second meeting was November 1 at the home of Mrs. Stephen Paliska (Agnes D. Skuzinski) '29, in West Englewood.

Officers of the new Club are Marjorie MacBain '27, president; Mrs. B. Mervyn Lupton (Ethel M. Picard) '23, vice-president; Miss Vermorel, recording secretary; Mayda B. Gill '34, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Carle C. Harris (Myra A. Burton) '25, treasurer.

PETERS '14 UNIVERSITY PROVOST To Raise Funds for Endowed Colleges

Heber Wallace Peters '14 returns to Ithaca December 1, it was announced by President Day on Monday, as Provost of the University, a new position created by the Trustees this fall. Serving directly under the President, he will be the executive officer of the new standing committee on funds for the endowed Colleges created by the Board of Trustees to engage in a sustained program of fund raising, and will correlate the activities of this committee with those of the Cornellian Council. The president emphasized that the new officer will not be concerned with academic functions of the University, but will be available for other administrative duties as the need arises.

Peters became Secretary of the University in his Senior year, and served in that capacity until 1916. In the Secretary's office he organized the University's address lists of alumni and laid the foundation for much of the work now carried on by the Alumni Office. He was a member of a committee of the Associate Alumni which compiled and published in April, 1915, a handbook of Plans for the Organization of Local Cornell Alumni Associations.

He left Ithaca in 1916 to become assistant to the president of Packard Motor Car Company, and became successively general manager of the Detroit and Chicago branches of Packard and vice-president of the company in charge of sales. From July, 1917, to April, 1919, he served in the Army Air Service; attained the rank of first lieutenant with the Thirty-third Aerial Squadron in France; and received a General Headquarters citation.

From 1934 until he retired in 1936 to become an investment counsellor in Detroit, he was with General Motors Corporation as assistant general sales manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company.

With Mrs. Peters and their two children, he has lived recently in Birmingham, Mich.; was formerly a member of the school board of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

The new position of Provost was created by the Board of Trustees following a comprehensive survey of the needs of the University, as recently announced by J. DuPratt White '90, who is chairman of the new committee to carry out the financial program. Other members of the committee are Frank H. Hiscock '75, chairman of the Board of Trustees; President Day; Bancroft Gherardi '93, chairman of the Board's committee on general administration; and Stanton Griffis '10, chairman of the finance committee.

President Day has said of the program of this committee: "The pressing need for such additions to the University's resources as ought to be provided in a new Library building, a modernized plant for the Engineering College, new indoor sports buildings for both men and women, increased endowment for salaries and research, cannot be fairly questioned. Funds for these and other purposes must be raised in due course and without too much delay."

Peters is secretary of the Class of '14 and general chairman for the twenty-five-year reunion to be held next June. He has been industrial secretary of the Cornell Club of Michigan, and travelled over the State in the interests of the Semi-Centennial Endowment campaign of 1919; is a member of the executive committee of the Cornellian Council.

He is the son of Heber C. Peters '92, brother of Arthur C. Peters '15. Born in 1893 in New Bedford, Mass. he entered Mechanical Engineering in 1910 from Yonkers High School, but transferred to Arts and received the AB in 1914. He was chairman of the Freshman advisory committee, a member of the Varsity tennis team, and as manager of hockey was minor sports representative on the Athletic Council. He is a member of Sphinx Head and of Phi Delta Theta.

POUGHKEEPSIE MAKES PLANS

Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. Nathan Reifler (Martha Gold) '31 in Poughkeepsie, November 15, for a buffet supper, with a business meeting following. Mrs. Homer Root (Junia Woolston) '27 and S. Louise Miller '24 were appointed co-chairmen of the spring tea for prospective students. Plans were made for a Christmas tea for undergraduates.

ON RICHMOND COMMITTEE

George L. Bascome '05 and W. Wallace Neale '21 represent Cornell on a committee of college men in Virginia who are arranging an organization meeting for a new University Club of Virginia, to be held December 10 in Richmond. Besides Cornell, Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Dartmouth, and Brown alumni are members of the committee. Graduates of all colleges and universities will be invited to join the new organization. Regular meetings will be held in Richmond hotels.

STATE FEDERATION OFFICERS

Cornellians and their wives who live on farms in New York State took active part in the annual conventions of the State Farm Bureau, Home Bureau, and 4-H Club Federations, held in Buffalo the week of November 14. Several were elected officers of these rural organizations through which much of the State Extension Service of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics is carried on.

Herbert P. King '00 of Trumansburg was re-elected president of the Farm Bureau Federation, Warren W. Hawley '14 of Batavia is first vice-president, and Earl B. Clark '14 of North Norwich is second vice-president. The wife of Dr. Wilburn H. Potter '18 of Truxton is a vice-president of the State Home Bureau Federation, and the wife of Walter I. Thomson '04 of Holland Patent is a director. President of the State 4-H Club Federation is Carl G. Wooster '12 of Union Hill.

CORNELL CALENDARS

Morgan calendar for 1939 contains twelve new and sumptuous photographs of the Campus and the gorges. They are of large size, mounted on heavy paper, one to a page. Each is appropriate to the month for which it appears, and they include many familiar scenes, some of the newer buildings, an interior of the Willard Straight Hall library room, and two airplane views. One strikingly lovely picture is of the Goldwin Smith portico at night. On the cover is a Cornell shield in red, with the University seal in colors.

Distributor of the Morgan calendar again this year is the Triangle Book Shop, Sheldon Court. It is mailed post-paid at $1.60.

Cornell Co-Op offers at fifty cents a less elaborate calendar, printed in two colors on calendared paper. It contains twelve finely printed halftone reproductions of Campus pictures.

Trevor Teele, downtown Ithaca photographer, has still another, at the higher price. It is an ingenious arrangement of a paper frame bearing a calendar pad, with twelve interchangeable photographs any one of which can be put uppermost. One of these is a portrait of President Edmund E. Day.

PITTSBURGH OFFICERS

Cornell Alumni Association of Western Pennsylvania, at a special meeting November 16 held at the University Club in Pittsburgh, elected Darwin F. Carrell '23 vice-president, and reelected John L. Slack '26 secretary-treasurer. The following committees were also appointed: scholarship, Eugene C. Batchelar '02, chairman, Henry M. Hughes '12, Thomas C. McDermott '22, Marshall R. Barbour '14; Cornell Day, David C. Amsler '36, chairman, Benjamin M. Herr '06; placement, Charles L. Munroe '02; entertainment, Carrell, chairman, John P. Batchelar '36, Amsler.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN

Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut met November 18 at the home of Frances A. Hurd '02. Nineteen Cornell women, several of them recent graduates, were present. After the business meeting Mary C. Coughlin '26 spoke on the British problem in Palestine, and Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23 reported on the Cornell Alumni Corporation convention to which she had been a delegate.

DUTCHESS COUNTY MEETS

Thirty-one members of the Cornell Club of Dutchess County met for dinner at Smith Brothers Restaurant, Poughkeepsie, November 1. President Albert E. Keller '28 appointed as a committee to arrange for the annual Christmas recess banquet Robert P. Stieglitz '31, chairman, Henry S. Bahret '17, and Myron Smith '20. Nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the next meeting, December 6, consists of George L. Nickerson '13 and Isaac Platt '98. Following the business meeting Lloyd L. Rosenthal '32, secretary of the Club, spoke on his recent trip to France during the period of the war scare.

CHINESE ENGINEERS

Interesting Campus organization is composed of all Chinese students in Engineering and Architecture. Organized some ten years ago, it now has thirty-three members, and having made affiliations in China, is known as the Cornell Chapter of the Chinese Institute of Engineers.

Members meet once a month to listen to lectures, see motion pictures, and discuss engineering subjects. Their program also includes visits to nearby engineering projects and industrial plants. Last year, a trip was arranged by Professor John E. Perry to visit the railroad shops at Sayre, Pa., as the guests of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04 arranged for a visit to the Corning Glass Works.

President of the Chapter last year was Chen-Hsu-T'ang, MCE '37, of Wusih, Kiangsu, China; secretary, Cheng-Hsi Shi, Grad, of Nantung; treasurer, Shih-Jui Raymond Wang '38 of Tientsin.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

COMMUNITY CHEST campaign in Ithaca, with many Cornellians at work for it, realized $63,270 from a record of 6,479 contributors. A University division, headed by Professor E. Franklin Phillips, Apiculture, exceeded its quota with $13,270. Professor Walter F. Willcox, Economics, Emeritus, was honorary chairman of the campaign; Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering, Emeritus, is president of the Chest; and Harry G. Stutz '07 was general campaign chairman.

STUDENTS simultaneously organized their own Campus Chest, to be divided equally between the Red Cross, the Ithaca Community Chest, and an emergency loan fund for needy students. About 400 undergraduate solicitors, men and women, had exceeded the goal of $3,000 the day before Thanksgiving, with some teams not yet reported.

THANKSGIVING REUNION concert of Ithaca High School alumni is always largely attended. This year was no exception, and as always many Cornellians took part. T. Nelson Magill, AM '37, was the guest soloist, and a High School "Alumni Glee Club" led by Paul M. Mattice '36, gave several numbers.

ARCHITECTURE HONORS for last year were awarded at a recent party at the College. Paul Dickinson Prizes for highest academic records went to Robert M. Mueller '40 of Rome and Allen R. Kramer '41 of Bloomfield, N. J. Robinson Prizes for advanced work in History of Architecture were awarded to Daniel B. Warner '38 of New Orleans, La., and Frederick L. Fryer '41 of Washington, D. C. Gargoyle Prize for the best group of sketches and Alpha Alpha Gamma Prize for the best photographs were both won by Clifford H. Ruffner, Jr. '38 of Rochester.

R. W. SAILOR '07, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS, is in Memorial Hospital in Ithaca, recuperating from an operation performed November 21.

DEBATE ASSOCIATION (men) has announced two Varsity tilts, with Colgate December 9 and University of Rochester later. A Freshman team will meet Syracuse. Debate Club (women) next term will meet teams from St. Lawrence, University of Vermont, and Pennsylvania.

CAMPUS HOLIDAY after Thanksgiving was the occasion for a two-day regional foundry conference which brought approximately 150 executives and technical experts from six States. Faculty speakers were Dean S. C. Hollister and Emeritus Professor Dexter S. Kimball, Engineering; and Professors Heinrich Ries, Geology; Clyde W. Mason, PhD '24, Chemistry; and Lyman P. Wilson, Law. The conference was arranged by the Buffalo chapter of the American Foundrymen's Association, the Syracuse Foundrymen's Association, and the College of Engineering, with Professor A. C. Davis '14 a member of the committee.

SNOW blanketed the Campus seven inches deep Thanksgiving Day, and the next night the temperature went to five above zero, the coldest November night since the last day of the month in 1887. But skiing was good. The Caroline hills were whizzing with Faculty youngsters home for the holiday, and not a few of their elders.

CORNELL ENGINEER won second prize for its covers last year among the twenty-four publications of the Engineering College Magazines, Associated, at the annual convention at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, October 27 and 28. W. Harry Johns, Jr. '39 of Great Neck, editor-in-chief; Albert T. Mayle, Jr. '39 of Niagara Falls, business manager; and Thomas L. Snowdon '39 of Niagara Falls, advertising manager, attended the convention.

FRESHMAN WOMEN have elected as their president Jane C. Smiley, who is the daughter of Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, University Medical Adviser. Phyllis D. Sainburg, daughter of Dr. Philip C. Sainburg '12 of Ithaca, is vice-president of the Class, and Elizabeth A. Church of Bala-Cynwyd, Pa. is secretary-treasurer. Juanita R. Birch, daughter of Dr. Raymond R. Birch '12, Veterinary, was elected historian.

NEWEST BUSINESS building to open in Ithaca is an attractive white brick Colonial structure at 207 North Aurora Street. Occupying the street floor are Donohue-Halverson, Inc., plumbing and heating firm of which James P. Donohue '30 is president and City Judge Harold E. Simpson '19 is secretary, and a new tea room. On the second floor are new offices of Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28, now practicing alone as a surgeon after having been associated with Dr. Frank J. McCormick. Carl C. Tallman '07 was architect of the building, and Jes J. Dall, Jr. '16, its builder.

MAYOR MYERS of Ithaca has appointed a committee to study and report on the city's traffic problem. It is composed of Police Commissioner H. J. Van Valkenburg, Police Chief William Marshall, Fire Chief Bernard J. Reilly, City Engineer T. Frederick Marble '24, Planning Commissioner Allan H. Treman '21, and City Attorney Truman K. Powers '30.

A THOUSAND STUDENTS led by the ROTC band interrupted practice on Schoellkopf Field for a "Plunder Penn" football rally late November 22, before the team left that night for Philadelphia. Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Latin, presided at the microphone, and Coach Snavely, Captain Van Ranst, and Jerome H. Holland spoke briefly.

THE CAMPUS, apparently, is not of one mind about Spain. Last week we reported that seventy Faculty members had dispatched a telegram to President Roosevelt urging him to lift the United States embargo, to protect the Loyalist government. Five days later another group of sixty-five persons sent a petition to the President discounting the previous argument of their colleagues and suggesting that "the propaganda carried on in the United States for several years on behalf of the communistic Spanish government should be discouraged." No word on either message has been reported from Washington.

CHESTER BUCHANAN Memorial Scholarship has been awarded for this year by the Geology Faculty to Otto A. Poirier '39 of Cincinnati, Ohio. It was established by the mother of Chester F. M. Buchanan '33, who was killed in an airplane accident in 1934, to be awarded to a Senior male student majoring in Geology.

LECTURES for the week include "Some Principles of Development Illustrated by the Ear," by Dr. Ross G. Harrison, Sterling professor of biology at Yale and president of the National Academy of Sciences, on the Schiff Foundation, November 30.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER December 4 is the Rev. Halford E. Luccock of the Yale Divinity School.

HERMAN BERGHOLTZ, who settled in Ithaca in 1892, built the Triphammer Falls power plant, extended the trolley line up the Hill and around "the loop" after the construction of Triphammer bridge, and served as mayor of the city, died in Ithaca November 16. He was the father of Mrs. Edwin F. Hopkins (Hilma M. Bergholtz) '15 and of Herman Bergholtz, Jr. '25.

ALPHA OMEGA ALPHA, national honor society at the Medical College in New York, numbers among its members this year: in the fourth-year Class, Ralph R. Tompsett '34, Thomas P. Almy '35, LeRoy Hyde '36, John H. Mayer, Jr. '36, Charles E. Robinson, Jr. '36, and William G. Woodin '36; in the third-year Class, Robert M. Richman '36 and Jacques C. Saphier '36.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR EDWARD A. WHITE, Floriculture, has been awarded the gold medal of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, for outstanding service in the field of horticultural education. Professor White organized the first department of floriculture in the United States, at Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1904. He is now in Central America, and is expected in Ithaca next week.

PROFESSOR EDWARD S. GUTHRIE, PhD '13, Dairy Industry, has been elected vice-president of the American Dairy Science Association, next year to become automatically the president. His election marks the fourth time that the presidency will have come to a Cornell professor, more than to members of any other institution.

PROFESSOR FRANK A. PEARSON '12, Prices and Statistics, forecast that the next general business peak will occur between November, 1939, and February, 1940, speaking in Buffalo to the State Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Clubs. Professor Helen Canon, PhD '30, Home Economics, urged a study to determine how a "normal upward trend in the standard of living" can be "protected from the serious inroads caused by war and financial depression."

ROBERT M. STEPHENSON, present acting commercial attaché at the United States embassy in Berlin, Germany, is the brother of Professor Carl Stephenson, History. Stephenson is in charge during the absence of his chief, Douglas Miller, who was recalled to Washington.

PROFESSOR JOHN R. BANGS '21, Administrative Engineering, has been reappointed chairman of the committee on professional status and employment of engineering graduates and a member of the committee on industrial engineering of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

PROFESSOR FRED B. MORRIS '22, Extension, assistant county agent leader, is acting as county agent leader in place of Professor Earl A. Flansburgh '15, Extension, who has a sabbatic leave for six months to aid in supervising extension in the Northeastern States for the Department of Agriculture. Professor Flansburgh's headquarters remain in Ithaca.

VERSATILITY of Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, well known to his students and other friends, was again demonstrated November 17, during the course of his regular Thursday noon book review from Station WESG. Reviewing a children's book, Ezekial, by Mrs. Elvira Garner, and quite without premeditation when he found that each chapter ended with a simple Negro song, he sang some of them. Within a few days he received several letters from his radio audience asking for repeat performances as a vocalist!

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

FOOTBALL REFLECTIONS

TO THE EDITOR:

Driving home from the Cornell-Dartmouth game the other day started a train of thought: How great are the changes through the years since I first saw a game of football on old Percy Field in 1906!

Schoellkopf stadium, the automobile as a means of transportation, and 30,000 people in Ithaca to see a game of football. Then too, Dartmouth is a friend made since 1906, and I doubt whether there is any team that Cornellians would rather see win—when they are playing someone else!

What a game it was! I cannot remember seeing but one other game that even approached it during the many years that I have been going to Cornell games. There have been other exciting games, but this was one of the best when you consider perfection of football play. The only other game I could remember that approached it was the 1907 game with Princeton that finally ended 6-5 in favor of Cornell. It was a well played game and was duly celebrated afterward.

Probably the most exciting game ever played in Ithaca was the Dartmouth game of 1926 when Carey kicked a field goal just before the final whistle blew. I think it was the same year that the boys went down to Philadelphia and played a tie game with Pennsylvania, 10-10. The Harvard game of 1915 should not be left out of the list of outstanding Cornell games. Cornell won it 10-0 even after Barrett had to be taken out.

We are going to miss those boys who played Dartmouth: Van Ranst, Roth, McKeever, Holland, Peck, Spang, Hemingway, and the rest of the gallant band of 1939 Seniors. I do not believe that any college in the country could put a team of seniors on the field that could compare with them.

In closing, I would like to salute this team of 1938. It had the greatest line of any team in Cornell history, and the names of several of its members will be engraved in Cornell's Hall of Fame.

"ALUMNI BLUES"

Ray Goldstone '40, conductor of the "Berry Patch" in the Cornell Daily Sun, voices his undergraduate disappointment in the "lack of imagination" displayed by correspondents of the ALUMNI NEWS. He headed his column of November 19 "Alumni Blues," and had this to say:

Every time we read the "Concerning the Alumni" column in the excellent Alumni News, we get a terrible pang. For this is the column, written by the alumni themselves; the only job of the News editors seemingly is putting the items in some kind of order.

It will always seem a bit morbid to us that a group of presumably intelligent people who have had four years of highly specialized training behind them, can't write better letters. All they seem interested in, as manifested in their epistles, are getting jobs, and keeping them, and getting spouses. We feel that they are sadly misrepresenting themselves.

Just picking up any copy and starting anywhere, we find, "Electrodynamic Works of the Electric Boat Works, Ralston Purina, Knickerbocker Laundry, Standard Oil Company, Taylor Instrument Company, and International Business Machine Corporation." It looks like a miniature "Who's Who" of industrial America.

And almost every letter printed in the column, especially of the younger graduates, concerns these two entirely prosaic things. Every letter is taken up with "I am working at such and such a place," and "I am married," or "I am just about to get married."

We feel that there is a depressing lack of imagination and warmth in these letters. Many of the senders, realizing that they haven't said anything interesting, manage to drag in the alumni angle by the shreddiest hair on their tasseled mortar board and end bruffly with "Have seen loads of Cornellians" or "I miss Cornell."

The Great Stone Face [Goldstone's Platonic confidante—Ed.] would probably say that they are just smirking in a black and white sort of way, flaunting it over their classmates with a "I've got a job and you haven't" spirit.

Now we don't feel that way at all. We believe that many alumni have gotten careless and haven't bothered to show any character in their letters, or evidence that they have gone to college for four years of higher education, instead of just a Business School. That this dreadful thing doesn't happen to you, dear readers, we submit two sample letters as they should be:

Dear Alumni News:

I woke up this morning with the most wonderful idea. My wife's root beer fermented all over the cellar this summer and we haven't been able to scoop it out yet. My idea was maybe the stuff had refermented back to its original condition, so I decided to make a little qualitative analysis of the beer and see if it was drinkable. It wasn't but I had so much fun rigging up my old chemical equipment that I just had to tell you about it. I hope you are all well.

Sincerely

John Doe, B.S. '37

Dear Alumni News:

Some of the Westchester Cornellians were over to our place a few nights ago, included Mary Smith and Jane Clark, whom the University misjudged and busted out in 1935. I am happy to say they are well and have joined many cultural clubs here. My husband George "Coochy" Wilson '37 led us into a discussion of "Eugenics versus the Man in the Street" after which several members of the party did a Greek pantomime and sang a few choruses from "The Wasps." We finished a delightful evening with a "Big Red" frankfurter roast.

With Love

Jane Doe, A.B. '37

The ALUMNI NEWS will be happy to print rejoinders from its readers, and bring them to the attention of the "Berry Patch."

'37 WOMEN START REUNION

Women of the Class of '37 discussed preliminary plans for their first reunion next June, at a meeting November 8 in the Barbizon Hotel, New York City. Carol H. Cline of Dayton, Ohio, Class Secretary, was present and urged that all Classmates cooperate with Ruth Lindquist, general reunion chairman. Miss Lindquist announced the following committee chairmen: publicity, Shirley E. Leighton, New York City; finance, Louise C. Odell, New York City; costumes, Mary E. Marlow, New York City; banquet, Virginia M. Goff, Ithaca; rooms, Rose Curtis, Ithaca; registration, Gertrude Kaplan, Aurora. '37 women meet the second Tuesday of each month at the Barbizon.

A second meeting was held November 13 in Willard Straight Hall for women resident in Ithaca or in town for Homecoming week end. Miss Cline told of the publicity committee's plans for circulating a series of "round robins" among the Class members. Thirty women in key cities will start letters, each to go to ten women.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'96 PhB; '03 AB—William H. Glasson has resigned the deanship of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Duke University after twelve years of service. He is continuing his work as professor of economics and chairman of the economics department. He and Mrs. Glasson (Mary B. Park) '03 live at 710 Buchanan Road, Durham, N. C.

'02 BArch—R. H. Shreve, senior partner of the architectural firm of Shreve, Lamb, and Harmon, New York City, and a director of the American Institute of Architects, was one of the principal speakers at the convention of the New York State Association of Architects. He pointed out that while organizations of architects formerly dealt almost entirely with matters directly linked with architectural practice, their interests now have become "tangled with legislative problems." He deplored the fact "that work architects have been accustomed to do is now being performed by Federal, State, county and municipal agencies and bureaus."

'05 AB; '35—Arthur D. Camp, chemical engineer and manager of the technical data department of The Dorr Company, 570 Lexington Avenue, New York City, writes, "My son, Richard C. Camp '35 is finishing his deferred education at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., where he is a member of the class of '39. He has an assistant instructorship in the chemistry department and is chairman of the freshman advisory committee."

'06 LLB—H. Roger Jones is recuperating from a serious illness at his home in New Hartford, Conn. Since resigning as assistant attorney general of Connecticut two years ago, Jones has been practicing law in Winsted and New Hartford.

'06 LLB—Ramson W. Akin is secretary of the National Metal Trades Association and of the Associated Employers of Indiana, with an office at Room 1203, 129 East Market Street, Indianapolis, Ind. He lives at 3561 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis.

'07 LLB—District Attorney Arthur G. Adams of Ithaca has been chosen a trustee of Starkey School, Dundee, formerly known as Starkey Seminary, from which he was graduated before entering the University. The school, which has been closed for the past two years, during which time an exhaustive examination of various types of schools has been made, will open next September as a boys' preparatory school. It was formerly co-educational.

'08 ME—Fayette A. Cook is an assistant mechanical engineer with the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company; lives at 219 Doremus Avenue, Ridgewood, N. J.

'09 AB—Roscoe C. Edlund, manager of the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, gave a series of lectures on "Today's Challenge to Trade Associations" at the Western Conference for Commercial and Trade Executives, held at Stanford University in August. These lectures have just been published in book form by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The book may be obtained from the Western Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, 433 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.

'10—Harry D. McCreary is in the office of the District Engineer of the Illinois Division of Highways, 126 East Ash Street, Springfield, Ill. He lives at 1329 Holmes Avenue, Springfield.

'10 ME—Frank R. Oates is managing director of Technicolor, Ltd. His address is Claremont, Hill Way, Gerrards Cross, Bucks, England.

'11 ME—William G. Merowit is head of the William G. Merowit Company, manufacturers' agents for the last twenty-one years, specializing in automatic motor controllers, industrial electric heating, and transformers. Merowit's address is 505 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo.

'11 ME—Frederick H. Bird is with the Binkley Coal Company, 230 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

'12 BChem—William H. Pratt married Elsie C. Sibbald October 22. He lives at 1046 Warren Parkway, Teaneck, N. J.

'12 BS—Edward L. Bernays, called by Time magazine "United States Publicity Agent No. 1," spoke on "Public Relations" to students in Hotel Administration at the University November 18. He said, "The problem of public relations is much more important to hotels than to any other industry. All hotels, in essence, are alike. They all sell rooms and food, and the great difference between hotels lies in a hotel's public relations. . . . The public relations expert must know his objective, public, and the attitude of his public before he can form any system outlining for his staff." He stressed that "meticulous attention must be given to detail in regard to your public."

'13 ME; '35—Sterling W. Mudge writes, "Was recently transferred from sales manager of the New York division of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, to supervisor of training of Eastern operations, with headquarters at 26 Broadway, New York City. In addition to two children at Cornell now, I have a grandson, Todd William Mudge, who is planning to enter with the Class of 1959. Todd is the son of William S. Mudge '35." The program made its debut early in October and I write and present the script, my sponsors being Long Island townships and businesses, for whom I write the commercial copy, too. This gets me into business for myself, as I have always advocated, after two fascinating jobs working for others, one being that of doing radio script. . . . But about this interview—and Jean Kilkenny. She is in New York City now, working for Ted Malone, whom a lot of Cornellians know for his poetry-reading quarter hour over NBC. So our interview was on Long Island's poets and authors, for Jean knows just about every contemporary poet going. Ted Malone receives thousands of poems each week, and Jean has a fascinating job with him, being in her element among books and poetry. She and I will be establishing winter quarters again in New York, 'though I'm on the Island most of the time, having organizational work to do for the program and for the Farm Bureau program, giving a six-minute talk to housewives twice a week over WHN, New York."

A NEW THOUGHT FOR DAD

Most life insurance advice is directed at fathers----as it properly should be.

They are urged to make sacrifices that their wives and children may be protected.

But there's another side to it.

A little self-denial by the family might enable father to pay for a more adequate amount of protection.
