Director Bailey's Resignation Accepted

Head of the College of Agriculture will Retire July 31

The most important action taken by the University Board of Trustees at its regular June meeting this week was the receipt and acceptance of the resignation of Professor L. H. Bailey as Director of the New York State College of Agriculture. It had been known for some years that Director Bailey desired to withdraw, but he had been induced to remain on the assurance that no hindrance would be put in the way of his withdrawal after a few years. Professor Bailey has long desired an opportunity to devote himself to travel and study and to carry out plans for the remainder of his life which he formed many years ago and which he had not been able to accomplish.

In order that there might be no misunderstanding, a committee of the Board of Trustees held a conference on Tuesday with Director Bailey and some of the most prominent members of the Faculty of the College of Agriculture. Every effort was made to induce Professor Bailey to change his determination, but he stated distinctly that he was not withdrawing on account of any dissatisfaction or any matter connected with his position or the University. He said that his reason was a wholly private and personal one involving plans for his future life—plans which he had been obliged to sacrifice now for many years.

Professor Bailey's resignation has been accepted to take place at the close of the present academic year, July 31, but he will undoubtedly be glad to render any service that he can unofficially to the University. The question of providing for the administration of the College of Agriculture for the present has been referred to the Acting President, the Agricultural College Council and the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Any permanent arrangements, of course, will be made by the full board.

Following is a copy of the letter of Professor Bailey to the Acting President of the University tendering his resignation :

NEW YORK STATE
COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
AT CORNELL UNIVERSITY
ITHACA, N. Y.

Office of the Director.
June 14, 1913.

Dr. T. F. Crane,
Acting President,
Cornell University.

Dear Sir :—

I desire now to sever my official connection with Cornell University, and I earnestly request that such action be taken as will make it possible for me to do so readily.

So far as the College of Agriculture is concerned, I feel that it is organized and established, the building development having gone far enough to ensure its continuation, the maintenance having reached a point that will enable the institution to do its present work effectively, and the staff being of sufficient extent and quality to constitute a first class working body. The completion of the plant and the extension of the work are now largely matters of detail. There is widespread public interest in support of the College. There is every reason to think that it has entered its epoch of permanent and steady development. I hope that a change in administration may now be made without detriment.

In taking this action, I am mindful of the opportunities and facilities that have been placed at my disposal by President and Board of Trustees for many years; and I wish to express my appreciation of the relations that I have enjoyed. It is a great privilege to have been connected with Cornell University for twenty-five years.

I desire that my retirement take place with the close of the present University year, July 31.

Sincerely yours,

L. H. BAILEY.

Director Bailey was seen by a representative of the ALUMNI NEWS, and was asked if he had any statement to make in addition to what he said in his letter to the President. His reply was that he had nothing to say except what was contained in that letter.

Pound and Matthews Elected

Alumni Choose Them for the Board of Trustees

The alumni have elected as their representatives in the University Board of Trustees for the term of five years ending in 1918 Cuthbert Winfred Pound '87, of Lockport, a Justice of the State Supreme Court, and Franklin Matthews '83, of the editorial staff of The New York Times. Judge Pound received 4,024 votes and Mr. Matthews received 2,690. For Maurice Connolly '97, of Dubuque, Iowa, 2,140 votes were cast. The total number of ballots received was 4,589; there were 46 thrown out as defective, and 4,543 were counted; of those, all but 221 were cast for two candidates; the number necessary to a choice was 1,515. Messrs. Pound and Matthews succeed Judge A. H. Sewell '71 and Judge H. L. Taylor '88.

The official canvass of the vote was made and the result was announced at an adjourned meeting of the Associate Alumni held at the College of Agriculture on Tuesday morning, June 17. Most of the business of the association was transacted at a meeting held in the same place on Saturday morning, June 14. About 300 alumni attended that meeting. Albert J. Himes '87, of Cleveland, the president of the association, was in the chair.

Officers of the Associate Alumni for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Roger Lewis '95, New York City; vice-presidents, Mrs. Frederick V, Coville '89, Washington; E. H. Hooker '94, Greenwich, Conn.; secretary, Willard W. Rowlee '88, Ithaca; treasurer, Richard O. Walter '01, Boston; directors, James H. Edwards '88, Passaic, N. J.; Charles Monroe Thorp '84, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Simon L. Adler '89, Rochester; Fred Rollin White '95, Cleveland; Alfred D. Warner '00, Wilmington, Del.

As members of the nominating committee in place of George W. Harris '73, Ithaca; Norton T. Horr '82, Cleveland, and Ernest S. Shepherd '02, Washington, the following were elected to serve for three years: L. O. Howard '77, Washington; David F. Hoy '91, Ithaca; Joseph Porter Harris '01, Cleveland.

The report of the outgoing trustees was brief. Judge Taylor read it in behalf of Judge Sewell and himself. He said that the report was not historical or statistical but was merely suggestive. His principal suggestion was that the alumni try to cultivate a spirit of cooperation with the Board of Trustees. A majority of the board, he said, were themselves alumni. He had served on many committees and boards in his life, and never had he known one in which there was higher ability or a more conscientious devotion to trust than in the Cornell Board of Trustees.

The association voted to turn over to the Alumni Fund, through the Cornellian Council, the life membership fund of the Associate Alumni, amounting to $540. This was done on the recommendation of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni. Considerable opposition to the motion developed on the floor, but nevertheless it was carried by a large majority.

Successful Class Reunions Held

Large Attendance, Especially of Older Classes

'73 Returned 42 Strong

The 40th anniversary of the Class of '73 was marked by the largest of the five year reunions of the class, 42 members of the class being present, viz., A. C. Almy, Port Jefferson; H. E. Ames, Washington, D. C.; S. F. Avery, West Taghkanic; E. H. Bartley, Brooklyn; M. S. Bierce, Albany; J. W. Boothby, New York City; F. T. Brinkley, Winston-Salem, N. C.; J. W. Chamberlin, Buffalo; I. P. Church, Ithaca; W. H. Denham, Duluth; C. S. Dutton, Ithaca; J. W. Finch, New York City; C. Finster, Grand Haven, Mich.; S. F. Forgeus, Huntington, Pa.; W. H. French, Chicago; F. N. Hagar, Plattsburg; F. W. Halsey, New York City; G. W. Harris, Ithaca; J. W. Hill, Chicago; E. M. Howard, Camden, N. J.; E. F. Knibloe, Buffalo; F. J. Knight, Monroe; R. Leavitt, Bellaire, Mich.; C. Levings, Estes Park, Colo.; C. W. Livermore, Pasadena, Cal.; J. L. Moffat, Ithaca; J. G. Moore, Minneapolis; G. C. Morehouse, Utica; W. T. Morris, Penn Yan; E. L. Moses, Chautauqua; J. H. Owen, Chemung; G. E. Patrick, Washington, D. C.; W. K. Pierce, Syracuse; A. H. Phinney, Detroit, Mich.; F. J. Root, New York City; M. A. Shotwell, Elba; C. D. Smith, Trumansburg; W. H. Smith, Ithaca; G. B. Turner, Auburn; M. W. VanAuken, Utica; F. E. Wadhams, Albany; T. Worthington, Jacksonville, Ill.

In the afternoon W. T. Morris took the class down the Lake on his yacht "Lucy T.", and gave the men a chance to see the changes and improvements in the Inlet and along the shores of the Lake since 1873.

The reunion dinner was held at the Ithaca Hotel at 8:30. At this, in addition to the members of the class, there were present Professors J. M. Hart and L. A. Wait, and the following '74 men: J. H. Comstock, A. J. Lamoureux, W. R. Lazenby, J. L. Stone, and the sons of Morehouse and Worthington, and J. L. Clapp '74 of Michigan.

W. H. French presided and was unanimously elected President of the class for life. Greatly to the regret of all present the Life Secretary of the class, E. Gillette, to whose untiring efforts was largely due the success of the reunion, was unable to be present, but all were glad to know that he is rapidly recovering from the effects of an operation undergone two weeks ago. To him and to five other members of the class who were prevented from attending the reunion, by illness, individual letters of sympathy, each bearing the signatures of those present, were sent.

Letters and telegrams of regret were read from Albro, C. F. Allen, Anderson, Beardslee, Boies, Blake, Brown, Ferris, Foster, H. F. Gilbert, Gridley, Gusdorf, Hatch, Jackson, Joy, C. L. Smith, H. L. Sprague, W. L. Sprague, Snow, Stevens, Sutor, Wells, E. Williams, T. E. Williams.

A flashlight picture of the gathering was taken by Robinson, just as the men were seated for dinner.

In the course of the evening Ex-President A. D. White visited the class and was enthusiastically received. He gave an earnest and eloquent address touching some of the great questions now before the nation.

Professor Wait gave some account of his experiences in meeting Cornellians during his trip around the world. C. D. Smith, who had just returned from Brazil, gave his impressions of that country and of its future, and H. E. Ames delighted the class with some of his naval experiences. A letter of greeting was read from Professor Hewett. A quartette from the glee club came in and sang several songs.

About 3 a. m. the gathering broke up, every one declaring his firm intention of being present at the next five-year reunion.

'78 Had a House of Its Own

A score of members of the Class of '78 spent two or three delightful days at the class reunion headquarters, the Rites house on University Avenue. There were twenty-five at the reunion dinner, besides several guests.

The members of the class who came to the reunion were Eugene Baker, Mrs. Bessie DeWitt Beahan, Willard Beahan, J. M. Borden, T. P. Borden, C. G. Brown, Eugene Carey, C. B. Everson, William S. Gottheil, E. B. Green, H. T. Jones, F. M. Kendall, W. O. Kerr, J. S. Lehmaier, W. L. McKay, F. W. Mann, Thomas D. Merrill, M. M. Pitcher, C. M. Rexford, Mrs. M. M. Sherman, A. W. Smith, C. S. Thacher, W. B. Throop, and R. H. Treman.

Dr. Andrew D. White visited the class at the dinner and spoke for half an hour. If anything were needed to make the reunion a complete success it was afforded by the opportunity of hearing "Prexy" White again. Other guests at the dinner were Mrs. Anna Botsford Comstock and members of the families of some of the '78 men. A quartet from the Glee Club came in and sang during the dinner.

The Reunion of '83

'88's Was the Best Ever

Sage Cottage was the headquarters of the Class of '88. There the members of the class and the families of several of them lived while they were in Ithaca. It was the largest and most successful and enjoyed reunion the class had had. They were present more than forty strong. Having a whole house in a convenient location for the reunion was a great help. They had such a good time that before they went away they clamored for another reunion next year. To wait five years for another one, they declared, was too long. Professor Rowlee, the class secretary, was ill and was unable to attend the reunion banquet of the class.

To show how pleased they were with his work in organizing the reunion the members called on him at his home in a body and gave him a pearl stickpin.

Following is the roster of the class at the reunion:

W. W. Rowlee, Ithaca; Mary M. Wardwell, Buffalo; J. R. Chamberlain, Raleigh, N. C.; G. W. Bissell, East Lansing, Mich.; H. G. Johnson, Hornell; A. H. Eldredge, Boston, Mass.; E. E. Johnson, New York City; M. W. Barnum, Ossining; F. B. Pitcher, Watertown, N. Y.; J. H. Edwards, Passaic, N. J.; C. L. Becker, Philadelphia, N. Y.; R. S. Miller, Washington, D. C.; G. J. Tansey, St. Louis, Mo.; W. H. Fisher, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Albert E. Hoyt, Albany; W. H. Sawyer, Watertown, N. Y.; William W. Parshall, Uniontown, Pa.; J. C. E. Scott, Albany; Thomas Shannon, Bath, N. Y.; C. W. Curtis, Rochester; Stephanie Marx Curtis, Rochester; W. S. Farrington, Syracuse; M. F. Webster, Victor, N. Y.; A. E. Metzger, Indianapolis; Charles H. Blood, Ithaca; Harry L. Tay-

Ninety-three had the best reunion in its history. No costume was attempted, but a hatband was provided in the class colors, with the class numerals thereon. After the alumni luncheon the class proceeded from its headquarters, 522 Stewart Avenue, in two special cars, accompanied by the Ithaca Band, to the ball game at Percy Field. A picture of the class was taken by S. L. Sheldon.

nomics Building at 6:30. Dr. and Mrs. Andrew D. White were guests and Dr. White spoke on the prospects of republican government. E. Vail Stebbens was re-elected to the Cornellian Council, and the class voted to create the '93 Memorial Fund, the principal of which is to be kept intact and which is to be given to the University through the Council. Several letters of regret from absent members were read. Katte acted as toastmaster.

Those who took part in the reunion were Perrine, Wessling and Miss Wessling, Jaquish, Professor and Mrs. Howland, Federspiel, Miss Fitzpatrick, Dr. and Mrs. von Schrenk, Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Ashby, Mrs. Galbreath and son Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Cushman, Merz, Professor and Mrs. Cavanaugh, Shearer, Hyde, Professor and Mrs. Northup, Ladd, Mrs. Fox, Durand, Katte, E. I. White, Stebbins, W. S. Kellogg, Clay, Metcalf, F. K. Smith, W. C. White, Lovell, W. H. Locmis, Pettebone, Jacobs, Brayton, W. H. Brown, G. L. Baldwin, Olmsted, Coville, VanCleaf, Newcomb and son, Van Bergen, and Johnson.

The committee in charge consisted of Cushman, Katte, Ladd, Shearer, E. I. White, Young and Northup.

The Fifteen Year Class

The following members of the Class of '98 attended the fifteen-year reunion:

W. A. Stocking, jr., Ithaca; F. R. Wright, Ithaca; C. O. Harris, State College, Pa.; F. W. Midgley, Yonkers; Jesse Fuller, jr., Brooklyn; Kate M. Schutt, Ithaca; Edgar L. Andrews, Ithaca; Gilbert Crossman, Huntington, N. Y.; J. H. Gannon, jr., Montclair, N. J.; Ida Ross Sanders, Buffalo; L. H. Hood, Seneca Falls; Mary E. Macauley, Rochester; H. V. Humphrey, Troy; Harriet Bliss Stocking, Ithaca; J. E. Rutzer, New York City; John T. Gorman, Owego; F. A. Richmond, Elmira; S. Edward Rose, Elmira; E. W. Personius, Elmira; A. L. Sheldon, Ithaca; Frank E. Gannett, Elmira; Charles L. Henry, New York City; A. E. Whiting, Philadelphia.

The Upside-Down Reunion

The 1903 register at the Senate bore the following names: W. F. Woodward, Eddie Burns, Ray Morse, Tad Jones, A. Ward Evans, Kid Kugler, Eddie Snow, Senator Murphy, Eddie Walker, George VanWickle, H. T. VanWagenen, T. S. Ramsdell, George H. Turner, Audenried Whittemore, Edward D. Weber, Silas Taber, Arthur Wright, Frank Howland, L. F. Hawley, Eddie Nell, H. I. Schenck, C. N. Pinco, R. R. Patterson, A. S. Whitbeck, Hank Badger, A. S. Tennant, A. H. Smith, H. C. Shattuck, G. E. F. Lundell, J. H. Agate, N. A. Brown, J. Scott Fowler, J. H. Weidman, Jacob G. Smith, Jerry Chase, Tommie Thompson, H. S. Hart, S. R. Davidge, Henry Purcell, jr., Davis Hawley, jr., H. E. Epley, Edgar D. Sebring, Frank E. Wood, Whitney Merrill, Fred S. Yale, Arthur T. Dunn, E. D. Beals and C. E. Kelsey.

The class paraded to the field in upside-down costumes which made them look like men walking on their hands. But it was a very hot day and most of the men shed the costumes soon after they reached the field. The class dinner was thoroughly informal and was largely attended.

1908 Had a Polo Game

The 1908 Five Year Reunion was eminently successful from every point of view, as thirty-four members attended and interest never for a moment lagged. Friday was taken up with a general rejuvenation and get-acquainted-again session. The pee-rade to Percy Field on Saturday was enlivened by the two international polo teams under the energetic leadership of Joe Pew and Pres Halstead. Joe had fine support from Sam Eckert, Steve Vanderveer and Eddie Gibson, and Pres was admirably seconded by Jack Carpenter, Johnnie Taussig and Ward White. The game they put up at the field was sublime—or only a step from the sublime. Which side won is still a matter of doubt. The Ithaca sporting goods stores were all out of polo balls and the game had to be played with a basketball. Joe Pew's pony was intelligent but near-sighted and thought it was a baseball they were playing with and every time Joe would bat the ball the nag would start for first base, no matter where he happened to be at the time, and would stop short about fifteen feet from the bag so that Joe could slide. This would have given Pres Halstead's team a great advantage if they had been unsportsman-like enough to make use of it. But Captain Halstead was very generous and tried to even up things by teaching Jack Taussig's pony to do the same stunt. Jack's horse was willing enough but it was only a basketball horse anyway and had never played the national game and the first time it tried to slide Jack to first base it stepped on him and spiked him quite severely. The two captains then consulted and got out of the difficulty by having Joe Pew give up his mallet, which only confused the nearsighted horse, and having Tommy Jackson and Jack Dods take turns in running alongside Joe to kick the ball. After that things went along pretty well until the official scorer got to scoring the polo and the old grads' baseball game together and then it was all off.

Sam Eckert carried his .125 HP racing car to the field in the Deadwood coach. The spigot on the tank fed into a tin cup and the exhaust was a tin grater full of firecrackers.

At the banquet and class meeting at the Alhambra in the evening William G. Mennen was elected a member of the Cornellian Council for five years to fill the place of C. G. Bamberger, whose term had expired.

Subscriptions were also taken for an interscholastic cross-country trophy, as it was felt that interest should be stimulated in this line of athletics. Any members of the class who were not present at the reunion and who wish to contribute to this trophy should send subscriptions to the secretary, Seth W. Shoemaker, 827 Electric Street, Scranton, Pa., as soon as possible.

A photograph of the class in Bulgarian costume was taken at the field. It shows the two polo teams and the Deadwood coach full of Bulgars. Copies of the photograph may be obtained from the secretary. A few extra costumes are also on hand. They are very well made and would be useful for masquerades. Any member of the class wishing to obtain a costume and a photograph of the bunch at reunion and to make a subscription to the 1908 interscholastic cross-country trophy all in one lump can do so by sending a check for $5 to the class secretary.

The list of 1908 men attending the class reunion and taking an active part in it is as follows: E. H. Anderson, C. R. Andrews, A. J. Boardman, George N. Brown, J. C. Carpenter, R. F. Chamberlain, J. P. Dods, S. B. Eckert, H. P. Gage, E. T. Gibson, J. P. Halstead, V. D. Herriman, T. M. Jackson, M. H. Landis, W. L. Lance, B. J. Lemon, W. G. Mennen, G. F. Mosher, J. P. Parker, J. N. Pew, jr., H. S. Pierce, C. I. Schmidlapp, Seth W. Shoemaker, Joseph Slutzker, J. W. Taussig, S. L. Vanderveer, Ray Van Orman, O. D. von Engeln, Hamilton H. White, Rice Warren White, Ward Ben White, Ward E. White, Harry K. Wilson and George A. Wortman.

About twenty of the men of 1910 turned out for the parade in English jockey suits of red and white. Those who reported were Roy Taylor, Andy Whinery, George F. Hewitt, jr., H. D. Kneeland, Jansen Noyes, Lee Follmer, Felix Thomas, H. D. Erisman, J. B. Smith, W. E. Caldwell, H. R. Ferris, Hal Welch, W. C. Acklin, B. D. Beyea, Ike Behrman, Harold Riegger, Ted Murphy, G. E. Kent, J. H. Rutherford, and Bill Matchneer.

The class had the old 1909 booth and set it up on Rothschild's corner and that was the rallying point, especially on Friday while the men were assembling. A banquet was held in the Glee Club rooms, with Erv Kent presiding. Kent was instructed to appoint a committee, with Andy Whinery as chairman, to arrange for the five year reunion two years hence.

The women of the class of 1910 had a reunion of about twenty of their number. Those who registered were Sara C. Walsh, Edith T. Loux, Anna E. Biddle, Edith J. Munsell, Catherine Allen Sharp, Mary S. Heffenger, Frances M. Driscoll, Ruth M. Lance, Laura T. Cooper, Marion Collins, Helen R. Wansboro, Elizabeth Van Denburgh, Anna Fielden, Marguerite Decker, Cornelia F. Kephart, Laura K. Johnson, Ida E. Schnirel, Bertha K. Patterson, Mae Davis Waring, Elosia Fish Haseman, and M. Maud Fish.

Cornell Club of Hawaii

Professor C. H. Tuck, on His Way to China, Attends Meeting

The Cornell Club of Hawaii met on May 30 at the University Club for a farewell dinner to Professor John W. Gilmore, who is going to the University of California. The club was fortunate in having with it Professor Charles H. Tuck '06, who arrived that day on his way to the Orient. Professor Arthur L. Andrews '93 presided at the dinner and so arranged the speeches as to give Mr. Tuck a glimpse of what Cornell men were accomplishing in Hawaii.

L. L. Edmonds spoke on sugar production. Alfred W. Ames told of the growth and development of Hawaii's second greatest industry, the pineapple. H. K. Bishop spoke of the value of water to the sugar industry and gave some idea of the work in tunnel construction he was conducting for the Waiahole Water Company. Professor J. M. Young took up the subject of transportation. C. J. Hunn gave a short talk on what the club was doing to keep Cornell before the public. He brought out the results of the organization of the Cornell track meet in Hawaii.

Mr. Tuck told the club of the Cornell of today. He brought before them the needs of the University and the different problems being dealt with there.

The club elected the following new members: L. L. Edmonds '05, J. F. Illingworth '12, C. A. Major '12, J. Lewis Renton '12, Mr. Loveland, Fred Ohrt '11, Dr. Ralph M. Buffington '05, and Dr. Alfred L. Mason '05.

Those present at the dinner were: A. L. Andrews '93, Herbert K. Bishop '93, Dr. Leonard N. Case '08, Dr. Lloyd E. Case '08, Alfred W. Ames '11, L. L. Edmonds '05, Professor John W. Gilmore '98, J. Edgar Higgins '98, Chester J. Hunn '08, Professor Arthur R. Keller '03, Professor Vaughan MacCaughy '08, John M. Young '02, and Professor Tuck, besides two men who will enter Cornell next fall.

BECAUSE so many reunion and Commencement events have to be "covered," and because there is still one more number of the NEWS to be published this month, we have decided to make this one a "Reunion" number and the next one a "Commencement" number, dividing the material between the two. In the next number will be an account of the regatta at Poughkeepsie. Two summer numbers will be published, as usual, one in July and the other in August. Then a title page and index of the present volume will be printed, a copy of which may be obtained by any reader upon application to this office.

THE ACCEPTANCE of Director Bailey's long-standing resignation makes unwelcome news. There is nobody connected with the University who wants to see him leave Cornell. His patient but insistent request that the Trustees let him go has been withstood for two years. When he consented, a year ago last December, to remain at the head of the College of Agriculture for a while longer, he did not withdraw his resignation. He only agreed to stay until the new system of administration of the college had been put in substantial operation. It is not easy to see how the Trustees could longer oppose Professor Bailey's reiterated desire to carry out plans which he formed for himself years ago. We are all sure that he will not lose any of his warm interest in the welfare of the college and the University. We all wish for him many happy years as a graduate member of the Faculty.

ANY CLASS SECRETARY who has to plan a reunion for his class will do well to get some pointers from the secretary of '78 or '86 or '88. Those classes, after their agreeable experience in the last two years, say the only way to run a reunion is to have a whole house where the members and their families may live while they are in Ithaca. Of course the supply of houses in this town that are available for such a purpose at Commencement time is limited, but there are a few that can be obtained.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING as an inter-scholastic cross-country meet here at present, but the Class of 1908 proposes to establish one. The class has started a fund to provide a trophy. Subscriptions were obtained from the members who attended the reunion, and the secretary expects to get others to contribute. Cross-country running is one of the oldest sports at Cornell, and the intercollegiate championship rested here for a good many years. We all hope it will be brought back. Anything that will help to keep up the interest in that sport here is worth encouraging.

A MAJORITY of the alumni who were here seem to have felt that in the matter of the "social clubs" the best thing to do was to let the undergraduates work out the problem because it is the undergraduates' own problem. In one of the senior societies, it is reported, a resolution, introduced by graduate members on behalf of the upperclass clubs, was defeated by graduate votes. The resolution proposed to give the clubs an opportunity to purge themselves of any evils that might exist, after which the ban against them was to be lifted. Its defeat, after a discussion between graduate and undergraduate members, was generally taken as a vote in favor of giving the undergraduates a free hand in this matter. In the other senior society, it is reported, there was no discussion of the club question whatever. One thing has been settled during reunion week: the senior societies are not going to be disrupted by a difference of opinion as to their wisdom in legislating against the clubs. Next fall both societies will stand on the same platform of opposition to the clubs. So far as outsiders can judge, two of the clubs have considerable fight left in them yet. But they will have opposed to them both senior societies, the junior society, eleven fraternities, and all the undergraduate publications. Whether they can survive so much opposition is a question.

NOTICE TO INDIANA MEN

Princeton-Cornell Smoker Saturday

The Cornell Alumni Association of Indiana is going to pull off a big "smoker" at the University Club, Indianapolis, Saturday night, June 21. On the same Saturday afternoon the Cornell alumni will play the Princeton alumni at baseball, the losing alumni to pay for the "smoker" that evening, which will be attended by both Cornell and Princeton men.

We are very anxious to get a large attendance from all over the state of Indiana and it looks now as if there would be between seventy-five and one hundred Cornell men present, as there are something like seventy Cornell men in Indianapolis alone. Even if the Cornell team should lose (which it won't) the cost of the whole thing will not be more than $1.50 or $2.00 per man, and if we win there will be no charge. All Cornell men in Indiana are urgently requested to attend both game and "smoker".

NICK NOYES, Secretary.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES has re-elected Messrs. H. H. Westinghouse, Charles E. Treman and Roger B. Williams, whose terms of membership in the board expired at this Commencement. The vacancy in the board caused by the death of General Stewart L. Woodford, who was elected for the term ending in 1914, has not been filled.

TRUSTEES John H. Barr and Willard Beahan have resigned from the Agricultural College Council. Jared T. Newman and John C. Westervelt have been elected in their places.

Gift from Hiram W. Sibley

$10,000 Received for the Purchase of Apparatus for Sibley College

Hiram W. Sibley of Rochester, son of Hiram Sibley, the founder of Sibley College, has made to that college the very generous gift of $10,000, to be used in three equal parts for the next three years for the maintenance and increase of apparatus in Sibley College. The trustees have very gratefully accepted the gift and will make formal acknowledgement of it at the proper time.

Mr. Sibley's gift is opportune because, owing to the financial stringency from which the University is suffering just now, the appropriations committee was unable this year to provide money for the purchase of needed apparatus in Sibley College.

White Prizes Awarded

Seniors Submitted Designs for an Auditorium and Dining Hall

Early in the year Dr. Andrew D. White offered a series of prizes for competition by members of the senior class in the College of Architecture, calling for designs for an Auditorium and Dining Hall for Cornell University. There were two prizes, one of $70 and one of $30. The location was to be either the north or the south side of Sage College. The problem was given to the senior class as a thesis problem. The drawings presented an unusual variety in solution and most of them were interesting.

The first prize has been awarded to Howard F. Horn, of Lima, Ohio, and the second to William H. Smith, of Easthampton, Mass. Honorable mention was given the design submitted by John N. Tilton, jr., of LaGrange, Ill.

To give an adequate description of the drawings would require much more space than is here available. The prize drawings are on exhibition at the College of Architecture, where they will remain till after the close of the Summer Session.

Exemption Rule Interpreted

Trustees Make the Interpretation which Instructors Recommended

The Trustees have interpreted the rule, adopted at the meeting held on May 3, exempting instructors and assistants registered in the Graduate School from the payment of tuition for graduate work taken in the colleges in which they are instructing. The rule was not clear, and a committee of instructors and assistants asked that it be interpreted. The Trustees have adopted the following interpretation:

1.—Instructors and assistants registered in the Graduate School may take without payment of tuition such work in any college as shall be approved by their special committees, it being understood that the major subject shall be in the line of work in which the student is instructing.

2.—An instructor or assistant may register and take without tuition charge such work in the college in which he is instructing as would lead to the first degree in that college.

3.—In the case of an instructor or an assistant registered for undergraduate work in any other college than the college in which he is instructing, he shall be charged a fee in proportion to the amount of work for which he is registered.

The above interpretation is substantially the same as was recommended by instructors and assistants in a recent meeting.

A BOOK ABOUT COLLEGE THINGS

Mr. Charles Halsted Mapes has published, through G. P. Putnam's Sons, a little volume entitled "The Man Who One Day a Year Would Go Eelin'." The book is a collection of stories, articles, speeches on football, rowing, track athletics, and college life generally. The author is a graduate of Columbia College, class of '85. An introduction to him is superfluous for many Cornell men, who, if they do not know him personally, have seen him at the intercollegiate track meet or at the Poughkeepsie Regatta.

One of the chapters in his book is an appreciation of that regatta, which he calls "the greatest sporting event in the world." Says he: "Take a typical Cornell crew; I would take one of ours as a standard, but we mustn't put the standard too high. I think that rowing at say thirty-two there is no more beautiful sight to the expert in the world. The men absolutely together, the stroke long, getting every inch of what they are after, the recovery so easy and slow that it almost seems to rest them as they come up for the next stroke, the boat going along with the steadiness and absence of fuss of an electric launch without the slightest check between strokes; the whole thing so run into one, so smooth, that it seems hard to realize that beneath that smoothness men pull their very hearts out if it is necessary. If we feel this way about one crew, what about the varsity race at Poughkeepsie with six?"

The book contains a chapter of tribute to Mike Murphy, a couple of racetrack yarns, and several speeches made at alumni dinners: nothing very profound, perhaps, but Mr. Mapes is very much alive, and interested in what he sees, and his little book is refreshing.

OUR SPEEDIEST FRESHMAN CREW

The '96 Youngsters Rowed Two Miles on Cayuga Lake in 10:22

Editor, Cornell Alumni News:

In the last number of the NEWS, I noticed an article on the crews which stated that although our freshman crew was defeated this year by the Harvard freshman crew, they rowed the course of two miles in the very fast time of ten minutes and fifty-three seconds,—the fastest time ever made by a Cornell freshman crew in a race of two miles on Lake Cayuga. While not wishing to detract in any way from the achievement of these youngsters, I wish to take exception to the statement that ten minutes and fifty-three seconds is the fastest time ever made by a freshman crew in a two mile race on Lake Cayuga.

On May 30, 1893, the Cornell '96 freshman crew raced the Cornell varsity crew two miles down the west shore of Lake Cayuga and negotiated the course in ten minutes and twenty-two seconds, if my memory does not play me false, and each member of the freshman crew was given a silver medal with this time engraved upon it. Mr. Courtney can corroborate this, as can also the crew records. I do not know whether you count anything except an intercollegiate race, but if you include a race between our varsity and freshman crews over a measured two mile course, the '96 freshman crew still holds the record for two miles on Lake Cayuga.

The Medical College Nineteen Persons Receive the Degree— Awards of Prizes—Honor Roll

Nineteen graduates of the Cornell University Medical College received the degree of Doctor of Medicine at the fifteenth annual Commencement, held in the Dispensary Hall of the College on Thursday afternoon, June 12. Last year's graduating class numbered eleven. Acting President Crane presided and conferred the degree upon the nineteen graduates. He made an address in which he spoke to them about the value of having some intellectual interest outside their profession which would keep their minds alert and give them means of relaxation.

Dean Polk read the honor roll, as follows: 1, Morris Kush, A.B. (Cornell) '10, Rockaway Park, N. Y.; 2, Joseph Sylvester Baldwin, A.B. (Fordham) '09, Brooklyn, N. Y.; 3, Henry Richard Muller, A.B. (Cornell) '09, New York City; 4, Frank Nicholls Dealy, A.B. (Williams) '10, Brooklyn, N. Y.; 5, Guilford Swathel Dudley, A.B. (Cornell) '10, New Dorp, N. Y.; 6, Eleanor Bertine, A.B. (Vassar) '08.

The John Metcalfe Polk Memorial Prizes were awarded, the first prize of $300 to Dr. Kush as the student having the highest standing; the second prize of $125 to Dr. Baldwin, whose standing was second highest, and the third prize of $75 to Dr. Muller, who had the third highest standing.

The prizes presented by Professor Whiting, for efficiency in otology, were awarded the first, of $50, to Dr. Baldwin, the second, of $25, to John Randolph Quinn, A.B. (Princeton) '09, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The members of the class, besides these already mentioned, are: Harry Welday Mayes, Nels Westby, Kristine Mann, Maurice Isadore Smith, Jacob Piller, Arney Graham Biddle, James Wesley Wiltzie, Walter Anderson Reiter, George Kornfeld, Edward Mills Dodd, Isidor Adler, and Ann Louise Martin. All but two of the class have received hospital appointments. Of the nineteen persons, in the class, five received their baccalaureate degree from Cornell University, and three of those five are on the honor roll of six.

In his address President Crane said:

"It is too soon, of course, to draw any conclusions as to the results of the new requirements. I presume many hoped that the college training with its required physics, chemistry and biology, would relieve the overcrowded medical curriculum. I confess as a layman I have not yet seen any indications of this. The constant discoveries in all branches of medicine and the related sciences almost compel the still further widening of the curriculum. Others believed that the preliminary college course would give the future medical student a modicum of liberal culture and a mental training which would increase his power to grasp professional subjects. This is the standpoint, which, I confess, appeals to me as a scholar and college teacher for over forty years. This long experience has confirmed my belief in the great value of liberal studies for subsequent professional work, and I rejoice today that all of you here had what I believe will make you better physicians and more useful and happier men and women. I also congratulate you that nearly half of your class pursued some part of their studies in Ithaca, and thus became acquainted with the great institution of which this Medical College is so important and honorable a member. I have always regretted that the finances of the University did not permit the continuance of the second year of the Medical College at Ithaca, and I wish it were possible to require the first two years of the course to be taken at Ithaca. This wish is inspired by educational as well as by sentimental reasons.

"The intimate association at Ithaca of the students of the various colleges and the entire lack of barriers between them broadens scholarship and is a powerful factor in the formation of character. Then, too, I am a profound believer in good traditions, and in loyalty and gratitude to our benefactors. The Medical College at Ithaca occupies a conspicuous position on the Campus and perpetuates in stone and bronze the names of a revered benefactor and an honored member of your faculty. The founder of this college has his place with the two greatest benefactors of the University, Mr. Ezra Cornell and Mr. Henry Sage, and with the one who guided the fortunes of the new institutions during the first twenty years of its life of experiment and vicissitudes, and who still, like Mr. Payne, lives to reap in the grateful reverence of two generations, the reward of his labors, Mr. Andrew D. White. As the Medical College grows in reputation and usefulness new benefactors will arise to help it. A conspicuous example this year is Mr. George F. Baker of this city, one of the Governors of the New York Hospitals, whose enlightened generosity to the Hospital and interest in the welfare of this College have made possible the assignment of half the entire medical, surgical and pathological services of the Hospital to Cornell University Medical College for the advancement of its teaching and research. I need not dwell on the great importance of this benefaction. It will largely increase the resources of this institution, and powerfully aid it to relieve human misery and extend the bounds of Science."

The Cornellian Council

The Cornellian Council, at its regular June meeting, received the report of its executive committee. The report showed that there were now 3,593 subscribers to the Alumni Fund giving annually $33,268.25 for the general support of the University.

There is now on deposit with the Treasurer of the University a net balance to the credit of the Alumni Fund of $20,739.44. It was stated that the Board of Trustees would not be unwilling to receive a suggestion from the Council as to the disposition which should be made of this money. After some discussion a resolution was adopted that the Council recommend to the Trustees that $20,000 of the sum be appropriated either to be wholly added to the permanent endowment of the University, to be kept in a separate fund to be known as the Permanent Alumni Fund and to be invested and kept invested and the income only received therefrom to be used for University purposes, or $10,000 to be used for current expenses and $10,000 to be added to the Permanent Alumni Fund.

Ira A. Place '81 was re-elected president of the Council and Robert J. Eidlitz was re-elected vice-president. To the executive committee were elected E. V. Stebbins '93, E. L. Stevens '99 and R. E. Coulson '09. Two members at large were elected—William Metcalf '94 and W. D. Straight '01—to succeed W. Caryl Ely '78 and John C. Hoyt '97.

The Class Secretaries

The Association of Class Secretaries, at its regular June meeting, elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Dr. Henry P. de Forest '84, New York; vice-president, Clark S. Northup '93, Ithaca; secretary, Willard Austen '91, Ithaca; treasurer, Robert E. Treman '09, Ithaca; executive committee, W. W. Rowlee '88, Ithaca; George H. Young '00, Williamsport, Pa., and Harold J. Richardson '05, Lowville.

The resignation of Charles B. Mandeville, secretary of the class of '77, was received and accepted, and it was announced that his place had been taken by William Ogden Kerr, of Ithaca.

The executive committee was instructed to look into the individual work of class secretaries, to endeavor to improve the work of any who may be found to be delinquent, and, if necessary, request classes to elect new secretaries.

It was voted to publish a booklet this summer containing the records of the association and instructions and suggestions for class secretaries.

STORIES BY ELSIE SINGMASTER

The Houghton Mifflin Company has published "Gettysburg," a collection of stories by Elsie Singmaster '02.

Gettysburg, Pa., is the author's home. The stories, some of which have already appeared in magazines, are all of them about the battle that was fought there fifty years ago, or about the battlefield of later years. The people of the stories are all people of the place, and the majesty of the great battle is contrasted with their homely lives.

WE LEAVE IT TO THE FACULTY A Query About Those "Non-Existent" Clubs

Editor, Cornell Alumni News:

I'm a highly entertained and wholly non-partisan spectator of the "hat club" festivities who pines for more information—particularly about the attitude of the Faculty toward the matter.

In reading the letters of Mr. Burns and Mr. Kremer I notice that each assumes Mummy Club and Majura to be identical—Beth L'Amed and Nalanda to be one and the same. And the assumption seems to be general. Undergraduates in explaining to and arguing with an alumnus speak glibly of Mummy and Nalanda in the present tense. Within a week I heard a professor say, "Majura—that's Mummy Club, you know." In the absence of further information the conclusion forces itself that the old clubs do exist and that the only change has been the unsubstantial one of name.

Having decreed that two undergraduate organizations should not exist, what is the attitude of the Faculty toward a general and attention-compelling discussion based on the seemingly correct premise that the same two organizations do exist and have continuously existed undisturbed by the Faculty's decree?

INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

P. S. I may have those club names paired off wrong, but it doesn't make any difference.

Pennsylvania, 3: Cornell, 7

The baseball team closed the season with a victory over Pennsylvania at Percy Field on the afternoon before Commencement Day. This gave them two victories in the series of three games played this season with Penn.

The Pennsylvania team's trunks failed to reach Ithaca before the game. So the Cornell management outfitted the visiting players with the Cornell freshman uniforms. Most of them wore white duck hats which they bought on State Street. They wore borrowed shoes and used borrowed bats.

Cornell played an errorless game and in all respects about the best game of the season. Seven hits were gathered off Sayre until he retired after being hit on the knee by a liner from Schirick's bat, and three hits were made off Chester Minds, who took his place. Acheson pitched a good game, although he passed nine men to first base, three of them in the ninth inning. Acheson was very wild in the first inning. He passed Martin and Coryell, and the former came home on Armstrong's sacrifice fly. In the sixth he passed another man who scored, and again in the ninth the same thing happened.

Butler began the scoring for Cornell in the first by making a clean hit with two men on. Donovan and Keller both hit safely in the third, but Clute hit into a double play. Butler walked and was batted around in the fourth. A base on balls and three hits gave Cornell three more runs in the fifth, and in the seventh Clute singled, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch.

Four Defeats in New England

On the eastern trip the team was not successful, being defeated by Williams, Vermont, Yale and Dartmouth.

Williams won by the score of 9 to 1. The home team pounded Acheson hard and gave the visiting fielders many difficult chances. Cornell made ten errors. Williams got twelve hits and Cornell only four off Hodge. The score:

Williams..... 2 0 0 2 3 0 0 2 0—9

Edlund pitched a good game against Vermont but lost it by the score of 3 to 1. Cornell got a run in the first inning and held the lead till the sixth, when Edlund hit a batter, gave two bases on balls and allowed two hits, and three runs came in. Vermont got only three hits in the whole game, but that sixth inning cinched the game for them. The score:

The team was shut out by Yale, who scored three runs off Johnson. Gile and Brown held Cornell to two hits. Cornell got a man to third in the first inning, but after that was not near a score. Both infields played fast ball. The score:

Yale..... 0 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 x—3

Cornell had an 8 to 3 lead on Dartmouth, with Burkart pitching good ball, up to the eighth inning. Then, with two men on bases, Donohue, the Dartmouth second baseman, made a home run. Before the Cornell team settled down five more runs came in, giving the Green the victory by a score of 11 to 8. Score by innings:

Dartmouth..... 0 1 0 0 1 0 1 8 0—11

Schirick Elected Captain

Harry Ernest Schirick, of Kingston, N. Y., a member of the class of 1914 in the College of Law, was elected captain of the nine for next season. Schirick prepared for college at the Kingston Academy. He has been the regular catcher of the varsity nine for two seasons and during most of this season has headed the batting list. He is a member of Aleph Samach and Quill and Dagger.

The Alumni Game

If the alumni baseball game at Percy Field on Saturday afternoon had been the only attraction it would have been well worth seeing. But with several reunion classes doing their best to attract attention from the stands, some good playing went almost unnoticed. Captain Magner's team of colts defeated Captain Taylor's veteran nine, 7 to 5.

Taylor's team was composed of F. C. Howland '03, second base; A. A. Costello '04, shortstop; C. V. P. Young '99, pitcher; H. L. Taylor '88, first base; L. M. Champaign '06, left field; Jerome B. Chase '03, center field; Eads Johnson '99, third base; Heatley Green '01, catcher, and W. J. Dugan, '07, right field.

Magner's team was made up of W. W. Matchneer '10, first base; E. B. Magner '11, shortstop; C. W. Fulton '11, second base; J. H. O'Connell '13, center field; J. H. Rutherford '10, left field; Donald Champaign '13, catcher; Andrew J. Whinery '10, right field; F. J. McCormick '10, third base, and Whitney Merrill '03, pitcher. The score:

Taylor..... 0 1 4 0 0 0 0 0 0—5

ALUMNI NOTES

'72, M.S.—The Stanford Alumnus says that Dr. David Starr Jordan, for whom the office of Chancellor of Stanford University has been created, will be away from the university all of next year. He left there on May 26, and after delivering a number of commencement addresses in the northwest, he will go to Washington, where he will have a conference with President Wilson and will sail from New York on June 28. The next months he will spend in lectures in various parts of Europe, in attending and speaking at the three great peace conferences in Paris, Brussels and The Hague, and in study of the results of war in Alsace and Lorraine and, if conditions permit, the Balkans. Early in 1914 he will go to Australia, where he has accepted invitations to lecture, and will return home through China and Siberia.

'78, B.M.E.—Robert H. Treman, president of the Tompkins County National Bank of Ithaca, was last week elected president of the New York State Bankers' Association for the ensuing year. The convention at which this election was made was held in Ottawa, Canada, the New York bankers being the guests of the Dominion Government and the municipality of Ottawa.

'96, Med. Prep.—Dr. Henry H. M. Lyle has been appointed a professor of clinical surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and Attending Surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital, New York City. He has resigned his instructorship in operative surgery in the Cornell University Medical College. Dr. Lyle's office is at 50 East Fifty-third Street.

'00, B.S.A.—The New York City Park Board has announced the appointment of Carl F. Pilat, of the firm of Hinchman & Pilat, 52 Broadway, as landscape architect of the Park Department. At the last meeting of the board it was decided to submit four names to Mayor Gaynor and let him make a choice. Pilat's name was on the list and his candidacy was supported by the American Society of Landscape Architects. His salary will be $4,000 a year. Pilat has been associated with Frederick B. Hinchman for thirteen years. At one time he was associated with Warren H. Manning, who studied under Frederick Law Olmsted and who is now the University's supervising landscape architect. Pilat has designed a number of large estates in New Jersey, Long Island and Westchester County.

'04, A.B.—Henry C. Hasbrouck, of Troy, N. Y., has been appointed Statistician of the New York State Public Service Commission, Second District. After his graduation Hasbrouck was for almost four years assistant to Mr. Hoy in the Registrar's office. He was appointed, on April 1, 1908, a junior statistician in the Public Service Commission and has been promoted several times. Recently he has been confidential secretary to the chairman of the commission and acting statistician. The salary of the office he now holds is $4,000.

'04, D.V.M.—Dr. Clarence M. Haring has been promoted to a full professorship of veterinary science in the University of California.

'06, A.B.; '07, A.M.—A party of advanced students from the department of geology of the University of Illinois, under the leadership of Dr. John L. Rich, left on June 12 for a two-weeks' geological and geographical excursion through neighboring states. The party planned to proceed east to Richmond, Indiana, and Hamilton, Ohio, where a study will be made of the physiography of the district
