PAGEANT

Y. W. C. A.

Guess what we're going to ask of you! We are about to demand a Christmas present. The very best one you can give us, is the assurance that every one of your friends and various relations will appear at Our Pageant on May the 13.

Don't forget that its success depends on YOU, and so in the midst of holly and mistletoe, and other delightful signs of holiday cheer, try to keep a miniature vision of the Pageant in your mind. Then you will have as the result of your vacation the satisfaction that a little portion of the audience is due to your efforts. Merry Christmas, and thank you.

All those desiring work during the holidays, see Lois Osborne at the Y. W. C. A. office in Barnes Hall

A Buffet Luncheon will be served in the Dining Rooms from 11 o'clock until 11 Dinner time (6.25 P.M.)

All who are going to be here Christmas Vacation, look out for a phone call to-morrow morning. If we don't reach you call up, Bed 111171, about noon.

HOW THE FRESHMAN PACK

"Oh, honey, won't you help me pack,
 Oh, please, 'twill not take long!
 Now where's that suit-case, I brought up
 And in the closet stuck?
 Perhaps it's underneath the bed
 Or in some hidden nook;
 I really can't remember what I did
 When I first came up."
 A stranger sight I never did see
 Than this young Freshman, green;
 First underneath the bed she ducked,
 And a single shoe in triumph plucked,
 In the book-case, underneath the bed
 desk and chairs,
 For its mate she wildly sought.
 From out the dresser drawers,
 Rained lingerie and waists galore;
 From within the closet, out there flew
 A rainbow heap of dresses (once quite neat)
 And landed on the floor,
 A little worse for last night's feed.
 And now this Freshman innocent Freshman,
 green,
 Expects them all in one suit-case to be.

But never mind, you dear, young Fresh,
 You've three more years to learn to pack.

The BULLETIN wishes you all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.
