A Home Near Cornell

This is to remind returning Alumni who appreciate the attractiveness of Ithaca and the vicinity of Cornell as a place for a home, of the Announcement made for the first time in the Alumni News of April 28th as follows:—

“The time has come for me to dispose of my surplus lands on Cayuga Heights. I shall begin with ‘White Park,’ the nearest to the Cornell Campus, the most highly developed and the most attractive of all my holdings.”

“There are thirty lots remaining. The retail price runs from $1,200 to $8,000, not counting Oak Hill Park which is in a class by itself. I hope to dispose of all of the lots during the month of June under a simple plan of sale by wholesale to selected applicants, conditioned upon an aggregate sale in wholesale quantity.”

“There is a wide difference between the retail and the wholesale price. I will not sell a single lot at the wholesale price; but I will sell a collection of single lots at a wholesale price.”

“The plan affords an opportunity to secure what so many alumni have been looking for at a price lower than these near by and particularly desirable lots have ever been offered before.”

The sale is now going on. It was planned to include this commencement season, so as to give you the opportunity to come in on it if you desire to do so. It ends July first.

You will be interested in the Circular, Map and Price List.

SPRING DAY is challenged by the University Faculty to show cause why it should exist. The challenge requires that those who are interested in its retention on the calendar shall bring in by the first of next December, a constructive program for an approved type of celebration.

FORMER PRESIDENT SCHURMAN was an unexpected guest at Cornell for Honor Societies Day, Friday, June 17. He spoke with Alfred Sze in Bailey Hall at the public meeting of the four honor societies.

MAYOR EDWIN C. STEWART, of Ithaca, died at the City Hospital on June 15. He had been recuperating in the Watkins sanitarium from over-work, and returned to Ithaca a week before his death. On Friday a major operation was performed, and Mayor Stewart failed to rally from it. He was born in Newfield on March 8, 1864, the son of David B. Stewart, Ithaca's first mayor, and had always lived here. His widow and an uncle, Olin Stewart, survive him. Mayor Stewart has done much for Cornell, being the author of the bills which established the State Forestry School, the State College of Agriculture, and the State Veterinary College here, when he was State Senator from 1897 to 1904. He had always been active in Republican affairs in Tompkins County, having been chairman of the Republican county committee at the time of his death and for many years before, and a close personal friend of Governor Miller. He was prominent in local lodges and beloved by town and gown alike. His last public act for Ithaca was the acquisition of Renwick Park for a civic playground, a project he had long had in mind.

MUSICAL CLUB travel during the next Christmas holidays will take Cornell concerts to Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Davenport, Pittsburgh, Dayton, Toledo, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo.

SIGMA DELTA CHI, professional journalistic fraternity, elected the following officers at the final meeting of the year: president, John R. Fleming, Agriculture '22, of Brooklyn; vice-president, Alanson W. Willcox, Arts '22, of Ithaca; secretary, Donald W. Brown, Arts '22, of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania; and treasurer, Ewald J. J. Smith, Arts '22, of Jersey City. New members are Ernest D. Leet, Arts '23, of Jamestown; George W. Sisson, 3d, Arts '23, of Potsdam;

George E. Swezey, Arts '23, of Lockport; Donald M. Tobey, Mechanical Engineering '23, of Sherburne; Otis P. Williams, Arts '23, of Norwalk, Ohio; Willis K. Wing, Arts '23, of Toledo, Ohio; and E. A. Zadig, Mechanical Engineering '22, of New York City.

THE ENGINEERING COURSES are to be changed slightly in respect to mathematics subjects in the sophomore year, in the Schools of Mechanical, Civil, and Electrical Engineering.

DAYLIGHT SAVING for the benefit of outdoor recreation for students during the month of October evidently did not appeal to the University Faculty, which voted adversely on the proposition.

BIDS for the Chemistry building were opened recently, and are somewhat in excess of the amount, $1,500,000, available for the structure. The presence in Ithaca of many well known alumni connected with construction companies gave the appearance of a premature reunion.

DONALD B. STRICKLER, Law '22, of Columbia, Pennsylvania, and captain of next year's track team, has been elected president of the Cornell British-American Club. Other officers of the club for next year are William P. Goetz, Agriculture '22, of Lancaster, vice-president; F. O. Bain, graduate, of Kilmarnock, Scotland, treasurer; J. C. Mather, Mechanical Engineering '23, of Montclair, N. J., secretary.

THEY SAY that Coach Dobie is smiling broadly over the recent advent of a son. Mr. and Mrs. Dobie also have a daughter two and one-half years old.

SUMMER SCHOOL promises to have an unusually large attendance this year, judging by the number of advance applications already received.

PRIZES IN JOURNALISM were won by exhibits from Cornell at the meeting of the American Association of Agricultural Editors at Columbia, Missouri, where the publication office of the College of Agriculture won a first, three second, and two third places.

COURSES in immigrant education, under the auspices of the State Department of Education, will be given at the Cornell Summer School, with special reference to the training of supervisors and administrators in what are known as "continuation schools."

NEWARK ACADEMY, of Newark, New Jersey, says that all but three of its graduating class of twenty-five will enter college. It is stated that ten will go to Princeton; two each to Cornell, Harvard, Wesleyan, Pennsylvania, and M. I. T., and one each to Yale and Lehigh.

NINE FRATERNITIES have joined the New Rushing Association, and one has dropped out, leaving twenty-six in the organization. Each of these houses guarantees its adherence to rushing rules with a $500 bond.

A CLUB HOUSE at George's Point near Lansing on the east shore of Cayuga Lake is to be built by business men of Ithaca as a combined boating and fishing club.

DR. WILLIAM J. MAYO of Rochester, Minnesota, internationally famed surgeon, visited Cornell last week on his way to attend the annual meeting of the American Surgical Association in Toronto.

GOVERNOR MILLER has promised to attend the meeting of the State Press Association at Ithaca June 29, 30, and July 1. President Albert W. Smith will be unable to receive the editors at the dinner tendered to them by the University, and has designated Professor Bristow Adams, because of his work in journalism for the University, to act for him.

AN EXHIBIT of drawings by Edward G. Lawson, winner of the first fellowship in landscape architecture at the American Academy in France, was held recently in the basement of the landscape art building. The drawings came to Cornell from the Metropolitan Art Gallery in New York and will be returned to Ithaca next fall.

SENIOR WOMEN in the College of Agriculture recently held their seventh annual candle lighting and ivy planting ceremony on the lawn back of the Home Economics building. Afterward the juniors gave a reception for the seniors of Agriculture and Arts, to which were also invited members of the Faculty.

FISHING in Cayuga Lake has been more successful recently than at any time within the memory of old inhabitants. On one day everyone was urged to fish the Lake to find where the trout lay, and as a result the east shore has been popular and many fine lake trout have graced Ithaca tables.

THE OFFICIAL OPENING of the new Renwick city park has been postponed to July 4.

Changes in Staff

Tuition Increase in Law College Postponed to Next Year.

The Trustees have provided that the increase of tuition in the College of Law shall not take effect till the year 1922-3. The increase from $200 to $250 in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Architecture, and Engineering will, however, take effect next fall.

The Committee on General Administration adopted for the coming academic year the rule which was in effect this year requiring women who wish to enter the University to deposit ten dollars with the Treasurer on or before September 1. The purpose of the rule is to limit the enrollment of women students to the number that can be housed in a reasonably satisfactory manner. The committee also made the following changes in the instructing staff:

Louis B. Hoisington, Ph.D. '20, was promoted from instructor to assistant professor of psychology, and Frederick E. Fiske '14, Ph.D. '21, was promoted from instructor to assistant professor of English.

Instructors were appointed as follows: in political economy, Earl F. Sikes and Slade Kendrick; in mathematics, R. L. Jeffery; in experimental engineering, William B. Gregory, jr.; in political science, E. C. Vedder.

The resignation of Dr. F. C. Balderrey as Medical Adviser was received, to take effect May 15, and Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, instructor in hygiene and assistant medical adviser, was appointed Medical Adviser for the rest of the current year from May 15.

Miss Emma A. Runner '86 was appointed supervisor of the catalogue in the University Library. For many years she has been connected with the catalogue division of the Library of Congress.

Four assistants in English history were appointed for 1921-2. They are Harold Hulme (Western Reserve 1920), Harvey Lloyd Hatch (Bowdoin 1921), David Willson (Haverford 1921), and Clarence Nelson (Amherst 1921).

Miss Edith W. Casho was appointed instructor in physical education (women's work) for next year. She succeeds Miss A. Elizabeth Neely, who was not a candidate for reappointment. Miss Alice G. Read was also appointed instructor in physical education. Miss Read is a graduate of Radcliffe College.

Miss Janet A. Williamson, a graduate of Brown, was appointed University research assistant in embryology. This appointment is made on the basis of a grant of the Heckscher Foundation for Research.

SPORT STUFF

The case of the People versus the Young Person has been referred to a Faculty committee to hear and report. With this committee will confer representatives of all orders, including the Third Estate. If and when another Spring Day occurs, satisfactory guarantees must have been given that the event and attendant events have been thoroughly dry-cleaned and pressed. This is as it should be.

Far be it from me to minimize the social faults of the period. Every once in a while I become pop-eyed with astonishment and am jarred to the very foundations of my being. Nevertheless one sometimes gets the internal laughs to see folks hold up their hands in horror at the performances of the young, and to recollect occasions in the dim past—either personally observed or well established by traditions—when those same folks preserved their reputations for virtue and sobriety only through their ability to outrun or outwit the local constabulary.

Before you burnish up your own halo and indict the undergraduates of the present day for low crimes and misdemeanors, stop and ponder. When you were in college did you escape trouble because you were good and pure or because you were quick on your feet and had dumb luck?

It is June. The quadrangle is a fragrant place of roses, peace, and shadowed lawns. Every prospect pleases and only man is vile. (Chorus of professors—"Ain't it the truth.")

SPRINGFIELD COMES BACK

The old Cornell Club of Springfield is in a fair way to take its place again as one of the strong Cornell organizations. As part of the plan to obtain three hundred new members for the Cornell Club of New England, a preliminary reorganization of the Springfield club was effected at the Nayasset club in that city on June 1.

The meeting was called by Roscoe C. Edlund '09 and presided over by S. E. Whiting '98, former president of the club. The formal organization will be held at Hotel Kimball on June 23, with a speaker from Ithaca, and moving pictures of the Cornell campus.

Those present at the meeting were: S. E. Whiting '98, H. C. Atwater '08, O. D. Roates '09, A. A. Swinnerton '09, E. H. Thomson '09, Roscoe C. Edlund '09, M. E. Mackintosh '12, John J. D. McCormick '13, H. A. Fitzsimmons '13, Russell Lord '20.

A Morse Stephens Memorial

Club House and Cottages on Beautiful Site Overlooking Cayuga's Waters

A memorial to Professor Henry Morse Stephens, who was at Cornell from 1894 to 1902, is planned by certain alumni who knew him, to take the form of a central club house and a group of cabins, according to plans formulated by William J. Norton '02. These plans are tentative as yet and subject to change during the summer, but sixty-four acres of land has been procured two and a half miles north of Ithaca between the upper and lower State roads, on which to build the memorial. An association to be known as "Morse Stephens" is to be formed by subscription and incorporated at Ithaca in October, 1921. Alumni resident at the club house for vacations will there carry out two institutions which Professor Morse Stephens inaugurated at Cornell: The Morse Stephens Thursday nights for upper classmen, and conferences and advice to seniors as to their future professional careers. Thus the memorial will provide wholesome recreation for alumni and direct contact with undergraduates.

A charter membership of twenty, who are to be sponsors for the original plan of financing, is now being formed. It is expected that a small cabin to house fifteen or twenty will be built by the late spring of 1922, where later problems may be worked out and the plan of the association started at once.

Four other classes of membership will be instituted. Resident members are limited to one hundred, with an initiation fee of $1,000 and annual dues of $25. These members may build cabins on the site after approval by the proper committees, the use to remain with the individual during his life and to pass to his descendants who are alumni of Cornell until December 1, 1950, when the title to the whole property will pass to the University, to be reserved for the use of alumni until 1975. After that time the University must, if the plan is successful, continue it on this spot or elsewhere.

Non-resident members are limited to one thousand, with initiation fee of $100 and annual dues of $25, who would be eligible to resident membership as vacancies occur upon payment of the difference in initiation fee. Associate members are to be limited to five hundred with an initiation fee of $25, membership being limited to widows and parents of alumni. Junior members are undergraduates and alumni for the first five years after graduation, who would automatically become non-resident members after five years. This class is limited to five hundred, with an initiation fee of

CORNELL FLOATING GRANDSTAND

Barge loaned by Paul P. Bird '00, vice-president of the Cornell Club of New England, from which Cornellians viewed the Harvard-Cornell races on the Charles. According to our correspondent, such sensations as it may have created in the sacred quarter of Boston's Back Bay were properly subdued, even in the Boston press, but the New York Times signalized this innovation of the Cornell Club of New England by means of a specially displayed news item.

$25 and annual dues of $10. In addition the granting of two weeks' cards to guests upon payment of $25 is contemplated for the first few years. These are limited to one for each member in any month.

The Association will have an executive committee and committees on finance, membership, landscape, architecture, engineering, sanitation, house, Thursday nights, senior conferences, entertainment, library, and art. To encourage interest among undergraduates and alumni, prize competitions are suggested to be instituted within the next two years, for buildings, grounds, organization, and management of the project.

The site overlooks the Lake from three levels, and can accommodate a club house with one hundred rooms and allow ample space for one hundred cabins, stable, garage, and the necessary fields and gardens. It has a five-hundred-foot frontage on the Lake, where a boat house may be built, two gorges, and a natural amphitheater for stunts and "high jinks."

As the plan develops and the site is improved, it is hoped that "Morse Stephens" will furnish an appropriate place for many alumni vacations, and through them, assist Cornell to carry on the ideas of its former popular professor.

MATCHETT '94 IN CHICAGO

At the Cornell luncheon held in Chicago on Thursday, June 9, David F. Matchett '94, judge of the Appellate Court, was the speaker of the day.

FROM DR. SPAETH

The following letter was written by Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth of Princeton to the editor of the Cornell Daily Sun. For reasons mentioned in our editorial comment on it we are publishing it in full.

Editor, Cornell Daily Sun:

Much may be forgiven undergraduate zeal standing loyally by its own even in defeat. Insofar as the article in your issue of May 24 under the caption, "Who is Champion?" was intended to rally undergraduate opinion to the support of the Cornell crew and the Cornell coach, I can understand and sympathize with its temper, for I have long known and respected the skill of Mr. Hoyle, and am firmly convinced that the experience of the Cornell crews in last Saturday's race will make it a better crew than it was before.

Your writer, however, does not stop here, but using my name makes insinuations as to my sportmanship which I cannot let pass unchallenged. He says: "What of California? If the visiting Western combination should steal a lead on Princeton next Saturday and should fall down in the Intercollegiate, would Doc Spaeth still maintain that he had the greatest crew in the United States?" Incidentally, I have never maintained this, but have consistently opposed both the championship foolishness and the bad journalistic habit of ascribing athletic teams to coaches as their property. Your writer continues: "But according to rumor, he is going to take no chances. If there is any truth in the contentions that were made immediately after the Spring Day race, the Tiger Junior Varsity will meet the Westerners and leave no room for argument." One of the first rules of decent journalism is not to print a rumor that impugns the good name and faith of anyone, without at least an attempt to verify it. It would have been an easy matter for The Cornell Sun to learn from me that the crew which defeated the Cornell varsity will be entered against the Californians, and that we never had a thought here of doing anything else. Our so-called "A" crew was entered against Columbia, with the previous consent and approval of Columbia, because they could not row the Childs Cup race on any other date but the fourteenth of May, and this gave us three races on consecutive Saturdays. Had it been possible to hold the Spring Day Regatta on May 28, as Princeton earnestly requested the Cornell authorities to do as early as last November, the same crew would have rowed in all our races.

Your writer goes on: "As a result of the Spring Day victories of Princeton and the Navy (sic), Doc Spaeth has little more right to claim championship of American crews than has Columbia. Technically, the Tiger crews were defeated by Columbia. True, it was the Junior Varsity that Doc Spaeth sent into the Childs race, but when he did that he admitted to rowing circles that he was going to sacrifice one race for another. To be exact, Columbia clipped ten seconds off of (sic) the time established by Princeton last Saturday, and both races were run in practically the same water conditions." Columbia's time on April 18 on the Houstonic for the two miles was 10:23. Princeton's time on Lake Cayuga was 10:33. So far, so good; but your critic fails to mention that Yale's time (see The Yale Daily News, April 20) for the same distance was 10:31½, one and three-fifths seconds faster than Princeton's time, and 15½ seconds faster than Cornell's time! By this method it can be proved that the Yale crew, which was defeated by Cornell in spite of her mishaps by four and a half lengths, was really the fastest crew on Lake Cayuga on Spring Day! Rather hard on Cornell, but what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander! Of course the comparison is absurd, for the conditions on Lake Cayuga and on the Housatonic with its strong river current, are not the same. Your critic, referring to newspaper correspondents who had the hardihood to suggest that Princeton would have won the race minus Cornell's crabs, says: "What they lack in information they make up for in imagination," a characterization of his own article which it would be difficult to improve upon.

But I should be loath to close in this vein. The Princeton crews received such cordial hospitality at Ithaca, the Cornell oarsmen and coaches were so generous in their congratulations to us after our victory, and I have received such fine letters from Mr. Treman, Mr. Woodford Patterson, and others, who speak for the real sentiment at Cornell, that we shall be happy to forget the scorching given us by The Cornell Sun. The oar is mightier than the pen! We hope to measure blades often in the future with the fine oarsmen of Cornell, and whenever Cornell has a better crew than Princeton, which we hope will not be too often, we hope they will win.

J. DUNCAN SPAETH

NEW PRIZE FOUNDED.

A prize has been founded in the University by Frederick MacMonnies, the sculptor, his wife, and his brother, Frank MacMonnies, in memory of their niece, Juliette MacMonnies Courant. She graduated in 1916 from the College of Arts and Sciences, and died last November shortly after her marriage to Charles W. Honess, at one time a graduate student at Cornell.

The prize will consist of fifty dollars, to be awarded annually, either in cash or in books as the recipient may determine, and it will include also a bronze medal, which Frederick MacMonnies proposes to design.

The new honor is to be known as the Juliette MacMonnies Courant Prize, and is to be awarded to that woman student of the senior class whose major subject is French and who shall, in the opinion of the committee of award, have made the best record in her four years of work, with especial reference to facility of expression in French.

Miss Courant was a student of high rank, excelling especially in French. After her death her mother became greatly interested in the family's plan to establish a memorial at Cornell. Mrs. Courant survived her daughter only two months, however, and then her two brothers, Frederick and Frank MacMonnies, took up the project.

MRS. GERTRUDE MARTIN talked recently on social morality, stressing the need of a deepened sense of individual and community responsibility.

Honor Society Elections

Phi Beta Kappa Takes First Honorary Members Since 1891.

The Phi Beta Kappa Society at a meeting on June 8 elected the following to honorary membership:

Professor Joseph Quincy Adams, jr., Ph.D. '06, Ithaca; Dr. Liberty Hyde Bailey, Ithaca; Professor Carl Becker, Ithaca; Dean James Edwin Creighton, Ph.D. '92, Ithaca; Professor Walker Woodburn Hyde '93, of the University of Pennsylvania; Professor Horace Leonard Jones, Ph.D. '09, Ithaca; Professor Wallace Notestein, Ithaca; H. E. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01, Chinese Minister to the United States, Washington, D. C.; and Professor Edward Bradford Titchener, Ithaca.

The Phi Kappa Phi Society has recently elected the following alumni to membership:

Willard Beahan '78, Cleveland; Louis Agassiz Fuertes '97, Ithaca; Leland Osian Howard '77, Washington, D. C.; Thomas Midgley '11, Dayton, Ohio; Dr. Theobald Smith '81, Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Princeton, N. J.; H. E. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01, Washington, D. C.; Walter Clark Teagle '99, New York; Alexander Buel Trowbridge '90, New York; Professor Margaret Floy Washburn, Ph.D. '94, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; and Justin Du Pratt White '90, New York.

It will thus appear that Sze '01, who is to be the orator on Honor Societies Day, June 17, has been made an honorary member of both societies.

The last elections to honorary membership made by the Cornell chapter of Phi Beta Kappa took place in 1890-1, when Professors Goldwin Smith, Schurman, Hart, Crane, and McMahon were added to the roll of members.

Meetings of the respective societies for the initiation of these new members will be held on the afternoon of Honor Societies Day in the Recreation Room of Prudence Risley Hall, Phi Kappa Phi meeting at five and Phi Beta Kappa at six.

At 6:30 occurs the reunion dinner of the four honorary societies, Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi. At nine, in Bailey Hall, comes Mr. Sze's address, which is open to the public. Acting President Smith will preside.

TRIBUTE TO AMES

The following tribute to the late Charles W. Ames '78 is reprinted from The Weekly Review of April 28: "One of the staunchest opponents of Townley's pernicious schemes was Mr. Charles W. Ames of St.

Paul, whose death was announced a fortnight or more ago. In spite of talents which touched many sides of life, Mr. Ames had given up much of his time during the past few years to keeping the country alive to the extreme danger of the machine which Townley had built up. His knowledge of its diabolical workings was based upon first-hand observation, and he boldly asserted that Townley was the most influential and pernicious boss that this country had ever seen. Himself a man of the broadest culture and a convinced liberal, he cherished as his life the American principles under which this country had become an inspiration to the world. His enterprise in combating the panacea of radicals in the Northwest is a glowing instance of what a high-minded citizen can accomplish when he throws off the complacent inertia which is the besetting sin of most well-meaning Americans."

CLEVELAND WOMEN

The June meeting of the Cleveland Cornell Women's Club was a dinner of ten members and a speaker, Mr. Denbigh, editor of the Cleveland News-Leader, who talked for an hour on "A Newspaper from the Inside." This was followed by a lively discussion, and a short business meeting followed. The meetings of this club are on the first Thursday of each month.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

COLGATE has voted to restrict the total number of students to six hundred and the number of freshmen to two hundred.

HOBART COLLEGE is engaged in a campaign for one million for additional endowment. Up to May 19 Geneva had subscribed $106,315 of its quota of $150,000.

THE GRADUATE COLLEGE of the State University of Iowa offers for 1921-2 the following positions: eighteen scholarships, $200-400, with free tuition; eighteen junior fellowships, $300-500, with free tuition; three senior fellowships, $600-800, with free tuition; fifteen research assistantships on half time, $600 and upwards in proportion to qualifications for service; five research associateships, $1,000 and upwards, in proportion to qualifications for independent achievement and service; seventy-five graduate assistantships, half time, $700-800. Thus 124 persons are enabled to carry on graduate work.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO, now in its thirtieth year, has matriculated 87,000 students. It has graduated 10,000 bachelors, 2,000 masters, 1,200 doctors of philosophy, and 600 doctors of law. It enrolls about 11,000 students annually. Its library now contains nearly a million volumes, and its assets aggregate some fifty million dollars.

THE UNIVERSITY of California has this year 18,871 students. Of these 9,689 are undergraduates and 1198 graduates at Berkeley; 666 are studying in San Francisco, (89 in the Hastings College of Law, 117 in the Medical School, 4 in the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research, 10 in the curriculum for nurses, 327 in the College of Dentistry, 119 in the College of Pharmacy); 2,183 are studying at Los Angeles; and there were in the last summer session 6,009 students at Berkeley and 1427 at Los Angeles.

HAMILTON COLLEGE is engaged in a campaign for $700,000 additional endowment. The trustees alone have already subscribed $157,000 of this.

NEW DIRECTOR IN PARIS

Professor Paul Van Dyke, of Princeton, has been appointed director of the Continental Division of the American University Union in succession to Professor E. B. Babcock, who is returning from Paris in the fall to resume his duties as head of the department of Romance languages at New York University. Professor Van Dyke, who was actively concerned in the work of the Union in Paris during the war, will take charge of the Paris office at 1 Rue de Fleurus on or about September 1.

ITHACA SOLDIERS have been inspected by the assistant adjutant general of the State for federation with the National Guard, and have been designated Supply Company, 10th Infantry.

PROFESSOR CHARLES L. DURHAM '99 made the principal address at the memorial services of the Ithaca Fire Department last week.

SCHOOL CHILDREN of Ithaca held a field day on Percy Field last Friday which was attended by several hundred parents and friends.

THE FINGER LAKES ASSOCIATION has voted to admit farm bureaus and Pomona Granges to its membership.

SENIOR SINGING attracts more persons than ever before, the chimes having accompanied the choristers on several recent occasions.

ITHACA'S QUOTA of three tons of clothing for Near East relief was exceeded by a ton in a city-wide campaign last week. Volunteers collected, packed, and shipped the donations for three days.

SINCE THE FIRE several weeks ago, Treman, King and Company are operating their retail business in seven different stores. The ruins of their building are nearly razed, but no definite plans for rebuilding have yet been announced.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

LITERARY NOTES

In The Journal of Philosophy for May 26, Professor Charles A. Ellwood '96, of the University of Missouri, reviews John M. Mecklin's "An Introduction to Social Ethics."

William F. E. Gurley '77 published in The Silver World, Lake City, Colo., for April 14 a poem entitled "Good Old Pike," along with a letter on the subject of the poem, Pike Snowden. Mr. Gurley has also lately composed a Masonic anthem, "Eternal and Supreme," dedicated to Oriental Consistory, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Chicago, which was rendered by that body's double quartette at their reunion April 20. It was also rendered by the quartette of the Masonic bodies of Danville, Illinois, on April 7, the occasion being the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of Olive Branch Lodge No. 38, F. & A. M., of that place, of which he has been a member for forty-six years. It is also printed in the proceedings of the Royal Order of Scotland's Provincial Grand Lodge of the United States' Annual Proceedings just published.

Published for the Associate Alumni of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company, Incorporated.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly during the summer; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. Weekly publication (numbered consecutively) continues through Commencement Week. Issue No. 40 is published in August and is followed by an index of the entire volume, which will be mailed on request.

Subscription price $4.00 a year, payable in advance. Foreign postage 40 cents a year extra. Single copies twelve cents each.

Should a subscriber desire to discontinue his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent in before its expiration. Otherwise it is assumed that a continuance of the subscription is desired.

Checks, drafts, and orders should be made payable to Cornell Alumni News.

SOME GOOD INVESTMENTS

The proposed alumni memorial clubhouse in memory of Professor H. Morse Stephens, sketched in tentative outlines elsewhere in this issue, will provide the means for filling a long felt want. Alumni have long dreamed of a rendezvous to which they could return in comfort without the necessity of going to hotels, fraternity houses, or rooming houses.

There are many other similar forms of investment needed in Ithaca, investments that would apparently bring reasonable returns and certainly much satisfaction. Not only is there this need of lodging for the wayfarer, but the need of housing the newcomer. In common with the rest of the civilized world now, but for years its own special problem, Ithaca has need of small houses and apartments where the new member of the Faculty may settle until he gets his bearings and finds where he wants to build. Obviously he will want to build because there is little he can rent unless he wants to undertake a rooming house.

The problem of the newly arrived unmarried man is little easier, unless he is temperamentally adapted to rooming in the same house with students. Much can be said, and is said, about a Faculty club. Some day something will be done about it and the return in gratitude will be in no degree less because of the probability that the investment will pay cash dividends.

These problems, suggested anew by the Morse-Stephens Memorial, are only a few of the many not yet solved in Ithaca. The old dream of an alumni clubhouse, prominent in alumni thought in the last century, is coming to a head and will, we hope, soon be a reality. The fruition of these plans comes unexpectedly. Possibly the other needs will eventually be cared for as alumni become able to look around for a place for investments and become accustomed to seeing Ithaca as a field for development.

THE PRINCETON CREW

The letter from Dr. Spaeth, Princeton's rowing coach, printed elsewhere in this issue, is published here because by an unfortunate combination of circumstances it was not possible for the Cornell Daily Sun to run it. The letter to the Sun editor was received a day or two before the end of the Sun's publication schedule. It was not recognized as a letter for publication until it was too late to use in that way.

It is a matter of deep regret that anything published in a Cornell paper should be offensive to Dr. Spaeth and the rowing men of Princeton.

There has been no disposition on the part of Cornell men generally to do other than concede cheerfully that the best crew won on May 21 and to congratulate Dr. Spaeth, who had previously done so much to improve the tone and spirit of intercollegiate rowing, on his performance in developing this year one of the truly great crews of all time.

OBITUARY

Charles W. Ames '78

Charles Wilberforce Ames was born on June 30, 1855, at Minneapolis, Minn., the son of the Rev. Charles Gordon and Sarah Daniels Ames. At the age of fourteen, his parents having moved to California, he apprenticed himself as a printer to the San Jose Mercury. When eighteen years old he returned to Minnesota and engaged in railroad engineering work. He then went to Pennsylvania and was employed in the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad for a time, residing at Germantown, Pa., from which place he entered Cornell in the fall of 1874 in the course in literature.

He took an active part in class activities, and at the intercollegiate contest in New York City in his senior year he won first prize with his essay on "The Growth of Political Parties in the United States." He gained the distinction of election to Phi Beta Kappa, and graduated with his class in 1878 with the degree of Bachelor of Literature. He was a member of Delta Upsilon.

On graduation he resumed his work with the Pennsylvania State Geological Survey, which work he had followed during college vacations. In 1879 and for two years he assisted his father, a Unitarian minister, in editing and publishing The Christian Register in Boston, Mass. He then became connected with the Ellis Publishing Company of Boston. In 1882 he purchased an interest in the West Publishing Company of St. Paul, Minn., a firm publishing law reports and law books, the largest concern of its kind in the world, and was made its secretary. About 1900 he became president and general manager of this great company.

Our classmate made a splendid record as a man and as a citizen. He made good, in that highest sense by which we judge each other. It was said of him by his fellow citizens: "He was prominent among the group of men to which St. Paul turns with confidence when it wants something done, some enterprise carried out, some civic need met, or some danger averted. . . He served by example and was a recruiter as well as a leader, with that character of service whose momentum continues when the propelling hand is withdrawn." Space cannot permit here the mere mention of all his fields of civic activity. The St. Paul Institute, a night school for education, carried on in school buildings and by a staff of teachers, was one work close to his heart. This aid to the youths of St. Paul he fostered and guided for a score or more of years.

His international acquaintance made him valuable in World War work. As early as 1915 he began this work, continuing it by going to France and personally directing the distribution of supplies from America for French hospitals and concluding it by organizing a St. Paul Branch of the Society for the Fatherless Children of France. For this efficient war work he had conferred upon him by France the distinction of Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur.

In 1883 he married Miss Mary Lesley of Philadelphia, the daughter of Professor J. P. Lesley, a prominent geologist. He is survived by two sons and four daughters, Major Charles Lesley, late of the Field Artillery, Theodore, late pursuit aviator, now a student at Harvard, Mrs. Cushing Wright, Mrs. S. Epes Turner, and Miss Elizabeth Ames, of St. Paul, and Mrs. Brinson Crothers of Boston. Three of these daughters served in France in connection with the A. F. F. W.

He died of anemia at his home, 501 Grand Avenue, St. Paul, on April 4, after several months' illness.

W. B.

R. Courtland Horr '82.

Rollin Courtland Horr died on April 18 at Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia. He was sixty-two years old.

Mr. Horr was born in Ohio, and was graduated from Cornell in 1882 with the degree of B.S.; he was Ivy Orator of his class. He was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, a director of the Navy, and a captain in the Military Department.

After receiving his degree he went to Philadelphia and entered politics. He entered the Council in 1889 and served a number of terms from the Thirty-third Ward. As a councilman he was a member of the committees on law and water, and chairman of the committee on fire and health. He was also a member of the World's Fair Committee.

He is survived by a daughter, a brother, and a sister.

Albert F. Laub '92

Albert Fred Laub, who was a student in the optional course in 188-9, died on March 8 in Buffalo. He matriculated from Buffalo. In 1908 he was engaged in the tanning business.

Charles A. Kain '95

Charles Addison Kain died on August 24, 1920, in New York City, of Hodgkin's disease, from which he had suffered for two years. He was fifty-four years old.

He was born on August 26, 1869, and matriculated from Pine Bush, N. Y., in 1891, receiving the degree of C. E. in 1895. He became associated with the American Bridge Company soon after his graduation, and remained with that firm until 1914. For the past few years he had been a structural engineer with the Aluminum Company of America, located at Pittsburgh.

Last spring he underwent two operations at Pittsburgh, but these failed to improve his condition, and he went to Milwaukee to consult a specialist, who pronounced him incurable. He died at the Mercy Hospital in New York.

William S. Sanborn '95

William Brodigan Sanborn died on February 19 in San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. Sanborn was born on January 13, 1873. He matriculated in 1891 and received the degree of B. S. in 1895. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi, Aleph Samach, Bench and Board, and Mermaid.

He was freshman Navy director and rowed on his freshman crew.

After graduation he lived in San Francisco, being interested in the management of warehouses. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Sanborn, three brothers, John, Frank, and Robert, and two sisters, Laura and Grace, all of San Francisco.

ATHLETICS

Crews at Poughkeepsie

The crews left Ithaca Tuesday night, arriving at the Oaks, at Highland, Wednesday morning, just one week before the Poughkeepsie Regatta. Examinations held the oarsmen in Ithaca later than usual; when they left they could look forward to not more than four or five days of real practice on the Hudson before the races.

Up to the time of leaving Ithaca Coach Hoyle had not yet announced which of the two varsity eights would represent Cornell in the major event of the regatta, the varsity that had rowed against Princeton and Yale, and Harvard, or the second or heavy varsity. That crew has developed rapidly in the past few weeks; in practice races over the three-mile course it has beaten the varsity more than once, and there seems a real basis for the opinion that Coach Hoyle will pin his faith to this eight in the varsity race. If this crew is selected the varsity race at Poughkeepsie will be its first appearance in intercollegiate competition.

Track Meet on July 28

The date of the international track meet between Oxford and Cambridge and Princeton and Cornell has been definitely fixed for Thursday, July 28. It will be held at Travers Island, New York. Ten events will be contested, according to present plans, and each university will enter one man in each event. First places only will count.

Some of the Cornell track men have been working out once or twice a week at Schoellkopf Field in the last two weeks, but serious training will not be resumed until about July 1.

LITERARY REVIEW

Guide to Spanish-American History

List of Works for the Study of Hispanic-American History. By Hayward Keniston, Professor of the Romance Languages and Literatures in Cornell University. New York. The Hispanic Society of America. 1920. 16mo. pp.—xx, 451. Hispanic Notes and Monographs.

To those persons who still cling to the notion that the Hispanic world to the south has had no history of consequence, this volume, recording more than two thousand titles, will be an eye-opener. The last quarter-century has seen rapid advances in the historical investigation of Spanish and Portuguese America. The need of a guide to this growing body of historical literature has become evident. This need Dr. Keniston has undertaken to supply, and with great success. Omitting government publications of the individual republics since the declaration of independence, calendars of state papers or catalogues of archives of European governments (except Spain and Portugal), U. S. public documents (as of slight value to the casual student), and periodical articles (except bibliographies), he has nevertheless aimed to include all the essential works both primary sources and secondary studies, including biographies and works dealing with the missions. In the fields akin to history, such as anthropology, archeology, etc., he has included only bibliographical and general works. Desiring only to identify the books, he has given only the brief title and the date, omitting the name of the publisher or printer. Works generally recognized as authoritative or fundamental are starred.

The book is bound to be unusually useful to the growing body of students of the history of Spanish and Portuguese activity in the New World. It is neatly printed and handsomely bound.

Suffrage Tales

Banner Bearers: Tales of the Suffrage Campaigns. By Oreola Williams Haskell '97, author of "Put to the Test," "A Stubborn Will," etc., with an introduction by Ida Husted Harper. Geneva, N. Y. W. F. Humphrey. 1920. Sm 8vo, pp. 350. Price $1.60.

We are too near the suffrage victory to see it in its true proportions. We have perhaps thought of it, some of us, as a good- (or ill-) natured yielding to the whim of a few noisy and determined women to get control of a weapon of increasing power. Probably, however, it will come to be viewed rather in the light of a chapter in the larger history of the emancipation of women from the servitude, not to say downright slavery, into which they have fallen during the centuries. Seen from this point of view, every act of the suffragists, and suffragettes, had its significance.

To win the suffrage was no easy task. As Mrs. Haskell puts it in "Sizing Up a Boss," in New York the women had "to win out in the face of the Old World idea of woman's inferiority brought to us by our foreign born; against the idea of her complete well-being under present conditions, fostered by the indulgent American; against the idea of her tendency to push the man to the wall industrially, passionately believed in by many workmen."

Mrs. Haskell has been not only a worker in this cause, but a gifted observer. She has now cast her impressions and reflections on the subject into the form of twenty-two stories, interesting and readable enough for themselves and valuable also for the record they make of the various phases of the suffrage campaign which have now become a part of history.

We are sorry to find that the proof has been badly read.

Books and Magazine Articles

In The Engineering News-Record for June 2 Elwyn E. Seeley '04 publishes an illustrated article entitled "How One Consulting Engineer Got a Job: Side-lights on the Business Side of Engineering in Designing Schoolhouses for the City of New York."

In The Historical Outlook for May Dr. Daniel C. Knowlton '98, of the Lincoln School of Teachers College, publishes a "Syllabus for Modern History in the Tenth Grade." It forms part of the report of the Committee on History and Education for Citizenship of the American Historical Association.

In the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science for May, which is devoted to taxation and public expenditures, Professor James E. Boyle presents "A Program for Redistributing Sources of Revenue as Between Cities, States, and National Government."

Louis R. Gottschalk '19 writes in The Sewanee Review for April-June on "The Radicalism of Jean Paul Marat."

In The Atlantic Monthly for June Signe Toksvig '16, under the title "The Return of a Native," describes a recent visit to her native country of Denmark. Vernon L. Kellogg, '91-2 Grad., publishes the second installment of his serial, under the title "The Biologist Speaks of Death."

In The Philosophical Review for May Professor Theodore L. de Laguna, Ph.D. '01, of Bryn Mawr, discusses "The Importance of Heraclitus." Marie T. Collins, Ph.D. '19, writes on "The Mechanical Versus the Statistical Interpretation of Natural Law." Professor Joseph A. Leighton, Ph.D. '94, of Ohio State University, reviews at some length "Space, Time, and Deity" by S. Alexander. "The Ground and Goal of Human Life" by Professor Charles G. Shaw '94, of New York University, is reviewed by Professor Walter Goodnow Everett. Paul Faconnet's "La Responsabilité" is reviewed by Professor Elijah Jordan, A.M. '08, of Butler College. Professor Creighton reviews Josiah Royce's "Lectures on Modern Idealism"; "Oeuvres de Maine de Biran" is edited by Pierre Tisserand; and "Philosophy and the Christian Religion" by Clement C. J. Webb. Professor Thilly reviews John Handyside's "The Historical Method in Ethics and Other Essays." Gladys Bleiman '19, of Alfred University, reviews "Du Rôle de la Mémoire dans Nos Conceptions Métaphysiques, Esthétiques, Passionnelles, Actives" by Eugène d' Eichthal. Glenn R. Morrow, Ph.D. '21, reviews Ralph Barton Perry's "Annotated Bibliography of the Writings of William James." Summaries of important philosophical articles are contributed by H. R. Smart, J. H. Griffiths, Marjorie S. Harris, and Eve T. Knower, of the Graduate School.

Jerome B. Landfield '94 writes in The Weekly Review for June 4 on "The Eighteenth Amendment at the Nineteenth Hole." On his somewhat frenzied plea for the repeal of the amendment one may perhaps comment that the former state of affairs was intolerable and that the amendment has not as yet had a fair trial.

Mrs. Harriet Connor Brown '94 in The Nation for June 1 answers the question "Why Our Budget System Will Not Reduce Taxes."

To The Botanical Gazette for May Dr. Ernst F. Artschwager '18 contributes a note on "The Use of Chloroide of Zinc in Plant Histology."

Jessie Fauset '05, under the title "On the Bookshelf," reviews a group of books in The Crisis for June.

The Journal of Geography for May includes an article on "Little Known Uruguay" by Professor Ray H. Whitbeck '01, of the University of Wisconsin.

"Aristoteles über die Dichtkunst, neu uebersetzt and mit Einleitung und einem erklärenden Namen und Sachverzeichnis" von Alfred Gudeman, acting professor of Latin here in 1902-4, has lately been published by Felix Meiner of Leipzig.

"Free Speech in War Time" by Dean James Parker Hall '94, of the University of Chicago School of Law, an address at the 119th convocation of the University of Chicago on March 15, is printed in The University Record for April.

In The Cornell Civil Engineer for May Col. Henry R. Lordly '93 writes on "Lateral and Vertical Pressure Effect of Piles in Clay," giving the results of researches conducted last year in his private laboratory in the basement of Goldwin Smith Hall. Nee Sun Koo's serial on the one-hinged arch proceeds. There are sketches with portraits of Harry N. Howe '04, and Ezra Whitman '01.

FACULTY NOTES

PROFESSOR W. W. ROWLEE '88 left Ithaca recently for Equador for work in the interest of the American Balsa Company. Balsa wood is the lightest wood known and is coming into extensive use for a variety of purposes, such as for life-preservers, and for insulating material. His travels will also take him to Colombia, and Costa Rica. He expects to return to Ithaca by the first of next October.

DR. EARL A. BATES, specialist in Indian education in the College of Agriculture, says that the Canadian Iroquois chiefs are to protest to King George against Canadian laws attempting to force citizenship upon them. Under the laws by which they become citizens their reservations are opened to timber exploitation by white men.

PROFESSOR W. C. BALLARD, jr., spoke recently before the Rochester Radio Club at Mechanics Institute.

RESOLUTIONS were recently adopted by the Faculty in respect to two members of the College of Veterinary Medicine. The first of these were memorial resolutions to Dr. James Law who died recently, and the others were to Dr. Walter L. Williams, retiring after twenty-five years of service.

ALUMNI NOTES

'88 CE—Mario G. Menocal, for the past eight years president of Cuba, went out of office recently, after a most trying but successful administration of one of the world's newest republics. Those who have been interested in the work that Cornell has been doing in the education of students from other lands cite as examples of this service the careers of such men as Menocal and Alfred Sze '01, present Ambassador from China to the United States.

'93 AB—Wells S. Gilbert, of Portland, represented the University at the inauguration of President Richard Frederick Scholz on June 9.

'93-4 G—Thomas O'Hagan, prominent author, essayist, and lecturer, of Toronto, Canada, spent the winter in California, and on his return spent some time with his niece, Mrs. William Beninger, of Anaconda, Mont. Some of his best known works are "A Gate of Flowers," a fugitive collection of pieces of verse, collected and published in book form in 1887; "In Dreamland, and Other Poems" (1893); "Songs of the Settlements" (1899); "Studies in Poetry" (1900); "Canadian Essays" (1901); "Essays, Literary, Critical, and Historical" (1910); "Chats by the Fireside" (1911); "In the Heart of the Meadow" (1914); "Essays on Catholic Life" (1916); "Songs of Heroic Days" (1916); "Complete Poetical Works" (1920); and "With Staff and Scrip" (1920). His recent writings are contributions to the Catholic Encyclopedia. One of his most popular books is "The Genius of Longfellow."

'94 PhD—Professor Thomas N. Carver was one of the speakers at the dinner given at the Boston City Club in Boston to commemorate the founding of Phi Delta Theta.

'95 LLB—Frank K. Nebeker, formerly assistant attorney general in charge of public lands, and later assistant to the attorney general, in charge of anti-trust litigation, is now engaged in the general practice of law with offices in the Mills Building, Washington, D. C. He prosecuted the case of the United States against William D. Haywood and more than a hundred other leaders of the I. W. W., securing conviction against all defendants except those against whom the charges were voluntarily dismissed.

'96—Frederick M. Falek is general manager of the Reading Railway Company.

'97 BS—Louis A. Fuertes is one of the twenty-one directors of the new John Burroughs Memorial Association which filed a certificate of incorporation on May

3 and the purpose of which is to preserve the Catskill Mountain cottages in which Burroughs did most of his work, and also his home at West Park on the Hudson; also "to foster and promote the spirit and teachings of the poet-naturalist."

'98—Edward W. Savage was toastmaster at the All New England banquet of Delta Tau Delta at the Hotel Vendome in Boston. Governor Allen of Kansas was one of the speakers.

'99 MD—Dr. Charles V. Paterno has never practiced his profession, but has tried several lines of business, in all of which he was unsuccessful until he took up building. He has erected more than seventy-five apartment houses, accommodating twenty-eight thousand persons, and is said to have cleared several million dollars. His home overlooking the Hudson is one of the show places of New York. This is his advice: "Try everything until you find the thing you like; then stick to it."

'99 ME—Martin H. Offinger is treasurer and manager of the Van Wagoner-Linn Construction Company, electrical contractors. They have just completed several big jobs of electrical construction including the new Wurlitzer Building, General Motors Company, the International Mercantile Marine Company's office building, and the New York Post-Office at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street in New York. Offinger's business address is 143 East Twenty-seventh street, New York.

'01 AB, '02 AM—The Japan Times and Mail, Tokyo, for May 9, prints a despatch from Peking, dated May 7, saying that Dr. Sao-ke Alfred Sze, minister to the United States, has agreed to return to Peking. It is officially stated that he will replace Dr. W. W. Yen as minister for foreign affairs, and that Dr. Yen will succeed Dr. Sze as minister to the United States.

'04 CE—Charles M. Reppert, formerly a consulting engineer with Morris Knowles, Inc., of Pittsburgh, has been appointed chief engineer of the City of Pittsburgh; the position pays $6,500 yearly. He has been connected with the city engineering force in past years, and has had considerable experience in street and sewer work. During the war he was active in cantonment work.

'04—Louis H. Moulton has been appointed director of the Erie County Farm at Alden, N. Y., at a salary of $4,500 a year and maintenance. His salary for the remainder of the year will be $3,500 and maintenance. Moulton was farm superintendent and instructor in farm practice at the College of Agriculture from 1912 to 1917, for two years was in charge of the county farm at Cleveland. He had lately been connected with the bureau of farms and markets of the State. Moulton has been married twice, his first wife having died, and he has three children.

'04 CE—Harry N. Howe has been appointed commissioner of streets, bridges, and sewers, of Memphis, Tenn. Since 1907 Howe has been a member of the firm of Gardner and Howe, civil, construction, and consulting engineers, with offices in the Porter Building, Memphis, and he has participated in the construction of the Chisca Hotel, the Van Vleet-Mansfield Drug Company, the Jewish Temple, the Masonic Temple, and many other buildings.

'04 AB—Charles L. Rand, secretary and chief chemist of the Mitchell-Rand Manufacturing Company, 18 Vesey Street, New York, has recently relinquished his duties as factory superintendent to devote all of his time to research work in the chemical and allied fields for his company. Rand is considered an authority on the manufacture of waterproofing products, as well as wax, pitch, and asphalt composition work. He was at one time an instructor in chemistry at the University, and has worked in the laboratories of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company. Since 1906 he has been secretary and chief chemist of the Mitchell-Rand Manufacturing Company.

'08 PhD—George M. Sharrard is now assistant general manager of the Robertson-Cole Motion Picture Distributing Corporation, with headquarters in New York.

'08 AB—The Rev. Dr. Robert L. Roberts, for the past seven years minister of the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Taunton, Mass., has accepted a call to Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, of Norwich, Conn. After leaving Cornell, Dr. Roberts attended Boston University School of Theology, and received the degree of S. T. B. in 1909; he received his Ph.D. at Boston University in 1911. His first appointment was at Braintree, Mass., then he went to Moosup, Conn., and later to Vineyard Haven, Mass., and in 1915 he took the charge at Taunton.

'09 ME—Robert C. Hargreaves has left the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company and may now be addressed at 338 East Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Mich.

'10 AB—Ernest B. Cobb has opened an office at 150 Nassau Street, New York, for the general practice of accountancy.

'10 CE—Allan L. Trimpi and Miss Loretta Elizabeth Wallace were married on May 7 in Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church, East Orange, N. J. They will live in East Orange until about October 1, after which they will make their home in Chatham, N. J.

'11 AB—Charles S. Baker, of Washington, D. C., has been appointed a special assistant in the office of United

For College Women of high academic stand- ing and good personality

An eight months intensive course in Business Organization, Management and Ethics, Personnel Problems, Psychology, Secretarial Studies. Practice work in business offices.

"The House of Universal Service"

States District Attorney Laskey; his first duty is in connection with alleged violations of the Volstead Act. Baker received his law degree at George Washington University. He practiced in Washington until the outbreak of the war, when he enlisted in the Naval Aviation Service. After receiving his discharge as senior lieutenant, he spent a year on a legal mission in Europe, after which he resumed the practice of law in Washington. He is unmarried and lives with his parents at 4925 Conduit Road, Washington.

'12 ME—Lennox B. Birehead and Miss Alice Dorothy Woolf were married on April 27 at St. Luke's Church, Chelsea, England. They are living at 63 Drayton Gardens, South Kensington, London, England.

'12 BArch—George Bain Cummings had a prominent part in the Japanese comic operetta "The Yokomina Maid" given at the Kalurah Temple, Binghamton, N. Y., on April 22 and 23 under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association.

'12 LLB—Matthew W. Carmel was married on April 14 to Miss Erica S. Green, an English girl whom he met while overseas during the war. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home, 43 Arkwright Road, London. Carmel was correspondent for The Brooklyn Eagle while in college, and practiced law in Brooklyn and Chicago until he went abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Carmel will make their home in London.

'12 AB, '15 MD—Dr. Rowland B. Blythe was one of the workers for the Near East Relief who sailed on the Italian liner "America" on April 30 to relieve distress in war- and starvation-torn regions of the Levant. Dr. Blythe has been a practicing physician in Cranford, N. J., for some time, and served in France with the Bellevue Hospital Unit; he will now be sent to one of the regions in interior Asia Minor where a severe epidemic of trachoma is reported among the thousands of orphans being cared for by the American relief organization. His wife, who was formerly Miss Elsie Westburg, of Netcong, N. J., expects to join her husband in his work among the orphans.

'13 BS—The Pacific Commercial Advertiser, of Honolulu, recently carried a full-page story of the work of Albert (Jack) Horner, jr., in controlling the pineapple wilt on the plantations of the Hawaiian Canneries Company, Ltd. With the exception of a year in a California cannery to gain practical experience, Horner has been superintendent of the company's plantation and cannery at Kauai since leaving Cornell. When the pineapple wilt caused a decrease of production from 74,210 cases of fruit in 1918 to 59,195 cases in 1919 and about 55,000 cases in 1920, he set about to devise a means of controlling or preventing the disease. The method he uses depends on treatment of the root cluster of the plant with chemicals which break down the walls of the disease organism but do not harm the plant cells. Fields are patrolled and diseased plants are treated as soon as they are discovered. The Hawaiian Pineapple Packers' Association is conducting a careful test of Horner's methods with the idea of adapting them to more general use.

'13 LLB—Roger C. Hyatt has recently become a vice-president of the Union Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio. Since his graduation he has been associated with the law firm of Tolles, Hogsett, Ginn and Morley.

Aldredge took special work at the University of Texas after leaving Cornell, and has been practicing law in Dallas. He enlisted in the Air Service in November, 1917, and served in France for six months.

'13 ME—Carl H. Bowen has severed his connection with the truck sales executive office of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company to become secretary and general manager of the Harrison Real Estate Corporation of Buffalo, N. Y. He had been with the former company since 1914, with the exception of the time he served in the Motor Transport Corps.

'13 AB—Frederick G. Johnson '13 and Isidor Coons (Lafayette College) have organized at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., a bureau of counsel and service in all projects requiring publicity. Their offices are in Suite 822, Miners Bank Building. Johnson is a veteran of the 5th Brigade, U. S. Marines, and was the founder of the Marine publication. He was editor of The Red Cross Bulletin in Washington, and was director of publicity for the Polish Commission.
