

Ezra's Archives

A Cornell Undergraduate
Historical Society Publication

Acknowledgements

The Editorial Board of this journal is deeply grateful for the generous support of our faculty advisor, Holly Case, who has been an enormous help throughout the publication process. We would especially like to thank Corey Ryan Earle '07 for his perspective on Cornell History, and Ezra's Archives founders Andrew White '12 and Maya Koretzky '13 for their unending dedication to the Cornell Historical Society and contribution to this issue. A special thank you to Michael Shyer '15, the Fall 2014 Cornell Historical Society President, who was instrumental in the publication of this issue. This journal would not have been possible without without the critical readings and insightful feedback of our dedicated editors. Finally, we would like to thank the SAFC, the many students across the country who took the time to submit their work to this publication, and the History Department at Cornell University for its continued support of Ezra's Archives.

On the Writers

DANIEL CHEONG is a freshman at Cornell University intending to major in Economics and History. He is primarily interested in the post-colonial South and Southeast Asian history, particularly at the intersection of economics and urban policy. He is native to Singapore, a nation-state in between Malaysia and Indonesia.

GABRIELLE GIRARD is a senior majoring in History and Spanish at Cornell University, concentrating in contemporary Latin American history and human rights. She is from San Mateo, California.

KAI PARMENTER is currently in his final semester as an undergraduate at the University of Arizona, soon to complete a B.A. in History and Creative Writing. His work focuses primarily on the interplay between disparate sociocultural and racial groups. He lives in Tucson, Arizona with his parents and an ancient pug named Louie.

LAURA ROBERTS is a junior at Duke University majoring in History and minoring in Political Science and Religion. Her studies focus on early modern Europe, especially the role of religion in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Her home is in Dallas, Texas with her parents and younger brother.

MORGAN WANG is a Cornell student majoring in History. Her primary interests are the French Revolution, World War Two diplomatic history as well as the history of fashion and design, and is very interested in finding the perfect chocolate chip cookie. She's from Napa, California.
