	Degree
Hotel and Restaurant Administration	B.S. M.M.H. M.S. Ph.D.

FACILITIES

Statler Hall Statler Hall is a unique building designed expressly to meet the needs of the faculty and students of the School of Hotel Administration. The building serves both practical and theoretical instruction, houses classrooms, lecture rooms, laboratories, a library, a computer center, a beverage management center, a newly refurbished auditorium, and the Statler Hotel and J. Willard Marriott Executive Education Center. Statler Hall and the Statler Hotel were designed expressly for the school's academic and executive education programs, providing students with training and work experience in facilities similar to those in which they will work after graduation. In the fall of 2004, the school opened the Robert A. and Jan M. Beck Center, a 35,000-square-foot addition to Statler Hall. This $16.2 million expansion provides state-of-the-art classroom and meeting spaces, a computer laboratory, and teaching technologies that facilitate an interactive teaching style.

The School of Hotel Administration's Nestlé Library has the largest single collection of hospitality-related materials in the United States. The collection contains approximately 23,000 books, 2,000 videotapes, and more than 600 journal, magazine, newsletter, and newspaper subscriptions. Materials on lodging, foodservice, travel and tourism, real estate, and general hospitality business topics comprise the core of the library's collections. Among the library's special features are numerous computerized information resources, including Business Source Premier, Proquest, Hotel Outlook, Mintel Marketing Intelligence, and the Hospitality and Tourism Index, a unique index to hospitality articles. Information resources and services for the hospitality industry are available for a fee through the library's HOSTLINE service. More detailed information about the Nestlé Library can be found at www.nestlelib.cornell.edu. In addition to offering an excellent collection of materials and access to extensive electronic resources, the Hotel School library provides instruction and research support to every student.

Statler Hotel and J. Willard Marriott Executive Education Center The Statler Hotel comprises 150 guest rooms, an executive education center, restaurants, a lounge, and the university's faculty and staff club. It demonstrates the very finest in hospitality and hospitality education practices. The Statler is an independent, self-sustaining teaching hotel that provides quality food, beverage, meeting, and lodging services to the local community and campus visitors, including parents and those who visit Cornell as part of the application process. In addition, the hotel is a practice management facility for certain classes, internships, and independent study projects. It offers part-time jobs to approximately 300 students each semester with priority given to students in the hotel school.

UNDERGRADUATE CURRICULUM

The School of Hotel Administration offers education in the numerous disciplines required for modern management in the global hospitality industry. Included in the core curriculum are courses in operations, management and organizational behavior, human resource management, finance/accounting, real estate development, food and beverage management, marketing, tourism, strategy, facilities management planning and design, communication, information systems, and law. Students also are encouraged to pursue a broad range of elective courses, including those in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, as preparation for assuming leadership positions in the business and local community. For more complete information about undergraduate program requirements, see the school's student handbook or course supplement (available in 180 Statler Hall).

Requirements for Graduation

Regularly enrolled undergraduate students in the School of Hotel Administration are candidates for the degree of bachelor of science. The requirements for that degree are:

1. completion of eight semesters in residence for those who entered as freshmen; semesters of residence for transfer students are determined by the amount of transfer credit awarded;
2. completion, with a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 (including a GPA of 2.0 in a full-time schedule of courses on campus in the final semester), of 120 required and elective credits, as set forth in the table on the following page;
3. qualification in one language other than English. This requirement may be met by any one of the following: (a) three years of high school study of one foreign language; (b) score of 560 on Cornell Placement Test; (c) passing language course level 121 and 122 (8 credits) or the equivalent, and attaining a minimum grade of at least C- or "Satisfactory" in each (C or above for transfer credit from other institutions); or (d) passing language course level 123 or the equivalent;
4. completion of two units of practice credit; and
5. completion of the university requirement in physical education.

Suggested course programs appear on the following pages. The core courses account for 69 of the 120 credits needed for graduation, the hotel school electives account for 12 credits, and 18 credits are allotted for distributive electives. The remaining 21 credits may be earned in courses chosen from the offerings of any college of the university, provided that the customary requirements for admission to such courses are met.

Students in the School of Hotel Administration who plan to attend summer school at Cornell or any other four-year college or university, with the expectation that the credit earned will be counted toward the Cornell degree in hotel administration, must obtain the approval of the school in advance. Without advance approval, such credit may not count toward the degree.

Credit earned in military science, aerospace studies, or naval science courses may be counted in the 21-credit group of free electives. No credit toward the degree is allowed for "00"-level courses, such as EDUC 005.

Transfer Credit Policy

Transfer students are required to complete all degree requirements with at least 60 credits at Cornell University. In the core, transfer credit may be allowed against basic courses only (e.g., H ADM 121, 106). Others generally are waived, and an upper-level course in the area substituted. For instance, if H ADM

243 were waived, another marketing course would be required in its place. The communication courses (H ADM 165 and 365) are tailored specifically to the School of Hotel Administration and, thus, communication courses taken elsewhere generally are not accepted against core courses.

Hotel elective courses may not transfer, except from the Culinary Institute of America. Eighteen credits in distributive electives may transfer, and 21 credits in free electives may transfer.

Concentration

While completing the hotel school elective courses, undergraduates in the school may select a concentration.

Before selecting a field of concentration, students should consult the coordinator of instruction in that area during the sophomore year to plan the sequence of courses that will best fit their program.

Upon completion, the concentration will be noted on the transcript, provided a cumulative GPA of 3.0 in the concentration was attained.

Foreign Languages

Mastery of a foreign language is particularly desirable for students who are planning careers in the hospitality industry and, hence, the second language requirement for graduation. Further information on foreign language courses at Cornell, and placement in language courses, may be found under "Modern Languages, Literature, and Linguistics" and under "Advanced Placement for Freshmen" in the College of Arts and Sciences section of this catalog.

Independent Study and Research

Students may conduct independent study or research projects in any academic area of the school under the direction of a resident faculty member. Credit is arranged on an individual basis. To enroll in an independent study or research project, students must obtain written permission from the school before the add deadline. See H ADM 497, 498, 499, or 699 for more details.

Practice Credit Requirement

As part of the degree requirements, undergraduates enrolled in the School of Hotel Administration must fulfill the practice credit requirement and submit verification thereof. Further details are set forth in the Practice Credit Handbook for Undergraduates in the School of Hotel Administration, available in the school's student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

Management-Intern Program

Hotel school juniors and seniors have a unique opportunity to gain invaluable knowledge and experience in the hospitality industry through the management-intern program. Students receive 12 free elective credits and 1 practice credit. While on the internship, tuition is reduced and students receive a salary from the sponsoring organization. Positions are available in the United States and internationally. Sponsors include, but are not limited to, hotels, restaurants, casinos, corporate offices, consulting firms, and clubs. Application should be made one semester in advance. Information meetings are held at the beginning of each semester and are open to all students. See H ADM 493 and 494 for more details. More information about the management-intern program also is available in the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

Study Abroad

All students planning to study abroad apply through Cornell Abroad; please see the Cornell Abroad program description in the introductory section of this catalog.

The hotel school represents the international aspects of the hospitality industry in many ways—from the large number of international students in its program, to career opportunities throughout the world. To prepare for the global nature of the industry, students are encouraged to consider studying abroad in either the fall or spring semesters (or, in some cases, both). While abroad, students have the opportunity to learn about other cultures, become more proficient in a second (or perhaps third) language and, in those programs where internships are offered, work in an international environment.

Students should start the process of investigation early, including consultation with the hotel school study abroad adviser, 180 Statler Hall, as well as with the staff in the Cornell Abroad office, 300 Caldwell Hall. Requirements for college approval include a GPA of 3.0 or higher, good academic standing, registered full-time student status, and not being in one's final semester. Credits earned abroad are considered transfer credits, and, as such, they would count against the maximum of 60 transfer credits allowed. A maximum of 15 credits may be transferred from study abroad, and students should plan on taking no less than 15 credits while abroad. Courses typically transfer into distributive and free electives. Credit for study abroad will be awarded only after successful completion (marks equivalent to a Cornell grade of C or higher) of the semester abroad and receipt of the official transcript by the college.

For further details on the application process and deadlines, see the "Cornell Abroad" section of this catalog or view the Cornell Abroad web site at www.cuabroad.cornell.edu/.

Culinary Institute of America Alliance

The School of Hotel Administration has an alliance with the Culinary Institute of America, which is located in Hyde Park, N.Y. Among other opportunities, hotel school juniors and seniors are encouraged to apply for the Culinary Institute of America immersion program in January and during the summer. More information is available in the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

Part-Time Study

Generally, part-time study is not allowed. Exceptions may be made for employee degree candidates, students who have medical reasons for a reduced schedule, or in other very extenuating circumstances. In no event shall a student be allowed to enroll on a part-time basis during the last semester of study. Further details on part-time study may be found in the school's student handbook (available in 180 Statler Hall).

Grading System

Letter grades ranging from A+ to F are given to indicate academic performance in each course. These letter grades are assigned a numerical value for each semester average as follows: A is equivalent to 4.0; B to 3.0; C to 2.0; D to 1.0; F to 0. For good standing, the student must maintain a minimum average of 2.0. A maximum of 4 credits each semester may be taken on a "satisfactory-unsatisfactory" (S-U) basis. Students should be aware that a satisfactory grade equals C- or above and an unsatisfactory grade equals D+ or lower.

Students whose semester averages are at least 3.3 and who took at least 12 credits of letter grades with no unsatisfactory or incomplete grades are honored by being placed on the Dean's List.

Course Requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree

Note: The curriculum was revised during the 2003-2004 academic year, and the following requirements are for students entering the program in the fall of 2004 or later. Students who enrolled before the fall of 2004 should check their individual graduation requirements with the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

ORGANIZATIONAL MANAGEMENT, COMMUNICATION, AND LAW

Management and Organizational Behavior

H ADM 110(1110) Distinguished Lectures in Hospitality Management

Fall. 1 credit. Elective. New dean TBA. The Dean's Distinguished Lecture Series is a long-standing hotel school tradition that provides a unique opportunity for successful industry leaders to share their experiences with Cornell students. In its 40-year history, the Dean's Distinguished Lecture Series has hosted the most influential and accomplished leaders from every segment of the hospitality industry. Speakers share their views about successful management styles, possible career paths, critical industry-related issues, and qualities conducive to successful business leadership. Students have an unparalleled opportunity to learn and question how hospitality leaders view the current and future status of the industry.

H ADM 115(1115) Organizational Behavior and Interpersonal Skills

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. J. Brownell, T. Simons, and K. Walsh. Focuses on managing people in the workplace. Students develop theoretic lenses for understanding people and organizations, and practical tools for accomplishing personal and organizational goals. Topics include: individual differences, conflict management, problem-solving, power and influence, motivation, leadership, coaching and counseling, and group process. Students learn through case studies, self-assessments, experiential exercises, readings, discussions, papers, and group activities.

H ADM 310(3310) Statler Leadership Development Program

Fall and spring. 1 credit. Elective. Prerequisite: one semester (200 hours) of employment in Statler Hotel. The SLDP is a partnership among Hotel School faculty, Statler Hotel management, and industry executives, who together teach and guide students to become tomorrow's leaders. The program enables students to progress through five different paid employment phases in the Statler Hotel, from entry level to student manager. Students who progress to the level of student manager become Statler Fellows and will travel to a major city for an all-expense-paid trip that includes forums with industry leaders, site visits of leading industry facilities, and cultural activities. Each phase requires approximately 200 hours of paid employment at the Statler Hotel and is completed through a certification process. Weekly Friday afternoon sessions (2:30-4:00 P.M.) with Statler Hotel managers include discussions, performance reflection, training sessions, and industry forums with hospitality leaders.

H ADM 314(3314) High-Performance Leadership

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisite: hotel school juniors and seniors; H ADM 115. Graduate students should enroll in H ADM 614. T. Simons. Explores the nature of leaders and leadership from a variety of perspectives. Discussion of current articles in leadership prepares participants to be thoughtful leaders and discriminating consumers of leadership ideas. Topics include charismatic leadership, leadership characteristics, the exercise of power, symbolic communication, gender challenges, and related themes. Leadership is examined from the individual, small group, and organizational perspectives. Case studies further illustrate the application of course material. Students assess their own leadership style and engage in leadership development activities. Class members have opportunities to interact with hospitality leaders and to gain a better understanding of the dynamics of leadership behavior.

H ADM 410(4410) Hospitality Management Seminar

Fall. 1 credit. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisite: hotel seniors and graduate students. Co-requisite: H ADM 110. Preregistered students or students wishing to add course who do not attend first class and fail to notify secretary in 146 Statler Hall of their absence before first class automatically are moved to instructor's waiting list. Students permitted to take course will have until F, Sept. 2, 2005, to add it. Failure to do so will result in their being dropped from course. New dean TBA.

Complements H ADM 110 by giving students the opportunity to interact with guest speakers, and to participate in roundtable discussions on issues relating to the hospitality industry. The dialog can give students a better understanding of industry trends, challenges, and opportunities.

[H ADM 411(4110) Negotiations in the Hospitality Industry

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisite: undergraduate standing; H ADM 115 or equivalent. Not offered 2005-2006. T. Simons.

Negotiation is a critical factor in business success. This course provides hands-on experience in negotiation in the hospitality context. Through role-play exercises, discussion, and writing, students develop into tough negotiators with whom people will want to continue doing business. Students become more comfortable with negotiations, and develop their own personal negotiating style. Students also learn how to adjust their negotiating style to respond appropriately to others' different personalities and negotiation tactics.]

[H ADM 414(4414) Quality Planning in the Hospitality Industry

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 25 students. Prerequisites: senior or graduate standing; all required hotel school undergraduate courses at 100, 200, and 300 levels. Not offered 2005-2006. T. Hinkin.

Covers the analysis of work processes and examines organizations from three perspectives: the external customer, the internal customer, and management. This course is designed to provide students with a systematic approach to identifying, prioritizing, and improving key job functions and work processes. Students learn to use the tools of quality management including cost of quality, flowcharting, statistical process control, and collecting, organizing, and presenting data. A major component of the course is HOTS, an interactive hotel simulation that is conducted as a group activity. This is a seminar course, requiring active participation in discussion of readings and case studies.]

H ADM 415(4415) Managerial Leadership in the 21st Century

Spring. 1 credit. Elective. Owing to popularity of class, priority is given in following order: seniors/second-semester grads, juniors/first-semester grads, nonemployees, extramural students, sophomores, freshmen, and Cornell employees. Space permitting, class may be added up to first day, but absolute deadline for dropping course is 12 noon F, Feb. 10. F Feb. 10 (1-8 P.M.), S, Jan. 28 (9 A.M.-8 P.M.), Sun, Feb. 12 (9 A.M.-5 P.M.), 2006, in Statler Auditorium. Attendance mandatory for credit. Fee for required notebook (charged to student's bursar bill; notebook distributed on first day of class): $35. K. Blanchard.

Helps students become participant observers in their own lives through studying the field of applied behavioral science. Students will be able to use what they learn about human beings and how they function best in groups and organizations on a day-to-day basis to develop high-quality relationships between themselves and the people they support and depend upon (their boss, staff, peers/associates, and customers). When high-quality relationships exist, organizations tend to be characterized by high levels of integrity, customer satisfaction, employee empowerment, and organizational effectiveness. The concepts learned also help students create quality friendships and family relationships. A final paper is due three weeks after the last day of class.

[H ADM 611(6611) Negotiations in the Hospitality Industry

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisites: graduate standing; seniors by permission of instructor; H ADM 710 or equivalent. Not offered 2005-2006. T. Simons.

Negotiation is a critical factor in business success. This course provides hands-on experience in negotiation in the hospitality context. Through role-play, discussion, and writing, students develop into tough negotiators with whom people will want to continue doing business. Students become more comfortable with negotiations, and develop their own personal negotiating style. Students also learn how to adjust their negotiating style to respond appropriately to others' personalities and negotiation tactics.]

[H ADM 614(6614) High-Performance Leadership

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisite: H ADM 710; hotel graduate students. Juniors and seniors should enroll in H ADM 314. Not offered 2005-2006. J. Brownell.

For description, see H ADM 314.]

H ADM 711(7711) Organizational Behavior

Fall. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of preenrollment. J. Brownell.

Teaches how individuals, groups, and organizations interact within a complex, globalized service environment. Students develop interpersonal skills and gain a greater awareness of how their personal style influences leadership and decision-making. They learn to motivate others, negotiate ethical decisions, manage teams, and lead organizations through change.

Human Resources Management

H ADM 211(2211) Human Resource Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 60 students per lec. Not open to freshmen or graduate students. Prerequisite: H ADM 115. M. Sturman and B. Tracey.

Provides students with a broad yet in-depth overview of the policies, practices, and procedures that can be used to attract, select, develop, and retain quality employees. A number of factors are considered that high-influence HRM policies and practices and provide opportunities to apply course topics to substantive situations that students will face as future hospitality professionals. Lectures, discussions, case studies, and videos.

H ADM 712(7712) Human Resource Management

Spring. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of preenrollment. M. Sturman.

Covers the strategies that enable companies to attract, develop, and retain high-quality employees, focusing on selection, compensation, performance appraisal, and career management. In each of these areas the focus is on the return on the human-resource investment.

Managerial Communication

H ADM 165(1165) Managerial Communication I

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 18 students per lec. (Students required to take this course generally may not delay it. If extenuating circumstances exist, student must petition to drop course by end of first week of classes. Course must be taken within first two semesters in hotel school, including any semesters in Internal Transfer Division (ITD). Add/drop and sec exchange must be approved by chairperson.) Priority given to hotel students. N. Dahl, D. Jameson, D. Lennox, A. Newman, and C. Snow.

Introduction to the role and importance of effective communication in managerial work, especially in the hospitality industry. Development of abilities in analytical thinking and clear expression. The process of planning, preparing, and executing professional communications with an emphasis on written documents. Students write a series of business documents and give oral presentations.

H ADM 364(3364) Advanced Business Writing

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 20 students per lec; priority given to hotel students. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing or written permission of instructor; for hotel undergraduates H ADM 165 or waiver; for non-hotel undergraduates, completion of their college's writing requirement. A. Newman.

Focuses on communicating challenging messages in business contexts. Writing assignments emphasize delivering persuasive messages, working with tone and style, and developing different types of documents in professional contexts. Different kinds of assignments are offered from semester to semester. Assignments often include business letters and memos written for various contexts, procedures and policy statements, promotional materials, negative messages, and analytical reports requiring research.

H ADM 365(3365) Managerial Communication II

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Required. Limited to 22 students per lec; priority given to hotel students. Prerequisites: junior or senior standing; for hotel undergraduates, H ADM 165 and 115. N. Dahl, D. Lennox, and A. Newman.

Broad study of communication in a management context. Emphasizes the significant role of communication in developing work relationships that enable managers to achieve their goals. Presents the theories and principles of persuasive communication that allow managers to influence professional audiences. Students increase their individual communication abilities by applying these concepts in a variety of managerial contexts, including interacting one-to-one, working in groups, and formally developing and presenting ideas to larger audiences.

H ADM 462(4462) Communication and the Multicultural Organization

Spring, 3 credits. Elective. Priority given to hotel students. D. Lennox.

Designed to help managers develop proficiency communicating among and between people who do not share some of their own cultural assumptions. Students can expect to learn communication variables that differ among cultural groups, including the use of eye contact, body language, personal space, hierarchy, and time. Additional topics include persuasion and negotiation across cultures, and the ethics of communication in international business. A blend of theory and practice. Activities include lectures, guided discussions, group projects, student and guest speaker presentations, and analysis of specific cross-cultural managerial challenges, with emphasis on the service industry.

H ADM 761(7761) M.M.H. Managerial Communication

Yearlong, 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of preenrollment. D. Lennox and C. Snow.

Managers use communication strategies that involve written and oral messages to solve problems and accomplish professional goals within the workplace. The chief goal of this course is to help students become competent, confident, and versatile communicators. Each student prepares clear and powerful messages—reports, oral presentations, letters, and memos—and learns to approach problems analytically and make thoughtful communication choices, some of which are situation-specific.

LawH ADM 385(3385) Business Law I

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Elective. Open to hotel school juniors, seniors, and graduate students and non-hotel students. P. Wagner.

Provides students with a presentation of three substantive areas of business law: contracts, intellectual property, and business organizations. Students read judicial opinions, learn to identify issues, and analyze the issues by applying legal principles.

H ADM 387(3387) Business and Hospitality Law

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Required. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. D. Sherwyn.

Provides students with an integrated presentation of employment discrimination, tort, and contract concepts as they apply to the legal aspects of hospitality management. Examines relevant federal and state cases and statutes. The overall objective is to enable students to recognize, analyze, and evaluate legal issues for the purpose of making and articulating appropriate decisions in the workplace.

H ADM 485(4485) Employment Discrimination Law and Union-Management Relations

Spring, 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisites: junior, senior, or graduate standing; H ADM 387 or permission of instructor. D. Sherwyn.

Anti-discrimination statutes and union-management relations are two of the most pervasive legal issues affecting the hospitality industry. Managers must take these issues into account whenever they make a personnel decision. This course provides students with an understanding of the discrimination law, a framework for complying with law, a method using the law to maintain positive employment relations, and an understanding of how to negotiate and administer a union contract.

H ADM 487(4487) Real Estate Law

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. Recommended: completion of H ADM 387. A. Klausner.

Provides students with an understanding of the legal issues surrounding the ownership, transfer, and use and development of real estate. Students learn to recognize and evaluate legal issues to inform the decision-making process with respect to real estate, whether as a business executive, an entrepreneur, or in personal life.

H ADM 489(4489) The Law of the Internet and e-Commerce

Fall, 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. A. Klausner.

The Internet has changed how business is done in the hospitality industry. The change has raised numerous legal issues that courts and legislatures are trying to decide on or enact. The purpose of this course is to allow students to identify and understand the rapid developments of the law of e-commerce. Topics are: how the Internet works; consumer protection; privacy; intellectual property (patent, trademark, and copyright); personal jurisdiction in cyberspace; and online contracts and legal disclaimers. This course introduces students to this emerging area of the law and enables them to identify issues so that they can seek counsel intelligently and understand the law as it continues to evolve.

HOSPITALITY FACILITIES AND OPERATIONSFood and Beverage Management*H ADM 236(2236) Culinary Theory and Practice

Fall, spring, 4 credits. Required. Prerequisite: H ADM 106. Because this course is laboratory-based, students may not drop after second full week of classes; during first two weeks of classes, students may drop only with permission of instructor and/or academic dean. T. O'Connor, R. Spies, and R. White.

Introduces the student to food-and-beverage operations through three major components: fundamental food composition and properties, food products and preparation, and food safety. Students prepare recipes, menus, and production schedules. Students develop the ability to recognize properly prepared foods by preparing, tasting, and evaluating them. They also are involved in a project where they create menus, develop and standardize recipes, and complete a plan for a dining event. Completion of a five-hour practicum experience in the Statler Hotel back-of-the-house is a required course activity.

H ADM 334(3334) Wine and Food Pairing Principles and Promotion

Fall, 2 credits. Elective. Limited to 20 students. Prerequisite: hotel school juniors, seniors, and graduate students; H ADM 430. G. Pezzotti.

Focuses on the pairing and creative marketing of wine and food. Students develop an understanding of regional and varietal wine styles, how food flavors can change a wine's flavor, and the promotion of wine and food. Topics include wine and food pairing principles, cuisines and their flavor components, food trends in restaurant and in the home, special event planning, and wine-list development. Students design and present wine and food tastings to industry guests.

[H ADM 339(3339) Wine in Culture and History—I

Fall, 2 credits. Elective. Note: Students may not add course after second lec. Not offered 2005–2006. Faculty.

Regions: Germany and Champagne. Through lectures, videos, guided discussions, and readings (but not tastings!), students examine the history, people, culture, and production of wine in the world's great wine regions. Also covered are wine and health issues, wine and food pairing, and retail wine buying and storage strategies. Different regions are covered in the fall and spring (H ADM 439), so the course may be taken both semesters in either sequence. Neither semester is a prerequisite for the other, nor are H ADM 430 Introduction to Wines and H ADM 339 and 439 prerequisites for the others.]

H ADM 430(4430) Introduction to Wines

Fall, spring, 2 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: hotel juniors and seniors; seniors and graduate students in all other colleges. Hotel students strongly encouraged to enroll in fall semester. Students are exempt from 21-year-old age requirement under Section 65 of New York State law. Preregistered students who do not attend first class and fail to notify secretary in 274 Statler Hall of their absence before first class are automatically dropped from instructor's records. However, students still must drop course officially with their own college. Because of high demand for this course and because a product is consumed, absolute drop deadline in fall for all students is F, Sept. 9, 2005, and drop deadline in spring is F, Feb. 3, 2006. Fee (includes cost of wine glass and tasting kit): $30. No auditors. S. Mutkoski.

Introduction to the major wine-producing regions of the world, and what the consumer needs to know to purchase wine at retail outlets and in a restaurant setting. Lecture topics include flavor components in wine, pairing wine and food, responsible drinking, selecting quality and value wine, and wine etiquette. Samples from a variety of countries, regions, and vineyards are evaluated.

H ADM 432(4432) Contemporary Healthy Foods

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: H ADM 305 or equivalent. Priority given to 20 seniors and graduate students; others may enroll, space permitting. Cost of required field trip: $75. M. Tabacchi.

Designed to build a greater awareness and understanding among nutrition and foodservice professionals of the origins and manifestations of today's health conscious and educated foodservice patron. Addresses the marriage of nutrition and the imaginative, flavorful cuisine demanded by today's consumer. Emphasis is on the use of fresh produce, lean meats, and lack of fabricated diet foods. Creativity and nutrient density of foods served are very important components of menu design in this course. Key topics include the preparation, marketing, merchandising, and selling of healthy menus in the Statler Hotel.

H ADM 435(4435) Selection, Procurement, and Supply Management

Fall, first seven weeks of semester. 2 credits. Limited to 20 students. Prerequisite: hotel school juniors, seniors, and graduate students or permission of instructor. Add/drop deadline Sept. 2, 2005. R. Spies.

Deals with contemporary management issues related to the procurement activities of the hospitality industry. Focuses on both the food distribution industry and the hospitality industry so that students understand the role the distributor plays in the movement of food and supplies from the producer to the hospitality operator, and how the creation of distributor partnerships serves to improve efficiency and reduce costs. Topics include distribution channels and intermediaries in the supply chain, food distributor financial statement analysis, evaluation and selection of suppliers, developing buying strategies, purchase timing and inventory management, the emerging role of the Internet, and e-procurement service providers.

H ADM 436(4436) Beverage Management

Spring. 2 credits. Elective. Limited to 25 students. Prerequisites: hotel juniors, seniors, and graduate students; H ADM 430 (co-registration not allowed). S. Mutkoski.

Designed for students who intend to pursue food and beverage management as a career. Deals specifically with the management of beverage operations. Lectures cover: dram shop liability; staff training and responsible customer service; beverage pricing; food and wine pairings; wine list development; purchasing, storage, and service; wine regions; cost controls and loss prevention; and creative beverage merchandising. Guest lectures highlight industry trends and outlooks.

H ADM 437(4437) Anheuser Busch Seminar in Quality Brewing and Fine Beer

Fall, spring, first seven weeks of semester. 2 credits. Prerequisite: H ADM 430. Elective. G. Pezzotti.

Designed for upper-level students who intend to pursue food and beverage careers. Serves to advance one's knowledge about beers in terms of managing such products in a restaurant setting or other foodservice outlet. Lecture topics include the brewing process, sensory aspects of beer, international beer types and styles, marketing malt products, purchasing and distribution, storage and service, beer and food pairings, staff training and education, cost controls, and third-party liability issues. There is one required local field trip, no fee.

H ADM 438(4438) Seminar in Culture and Cuisine

Fall. 3 credits. Limited to 20 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 165 and 290/236 or permission of instructor. Elective. R. Spies.

Explores various cuisines in terms of history, lifestyle, and foods peculiar to a culture. Through readings, research, and meal preparation, students explore various cuisines in depth. The goal of the course is to develop an awareness of several international cuisines enabling students to make comparisons and draw relationships among foodways of different cultures. Possible incorporation of each cuisine into restaurant menus is discussed as well. Each student is involved in doing research reports, oral presentations, and designing and orchestrating the preparation of menus.

[H ADM 439(4439) Wine in Culture and History—II

Spring. 2 credits. Elective. Students may not add course after second lec. Not offered 2005-2006. Faculty.

Regions: Bordeaux, Burgundy, and California. Provides students with a cultural and historical perspective on wine and its place in society. Through lectures, videos, guided discussions, and readings students examine the history, people, culture, and production of wine in the world's great wine regions. Also covered are wine and health issues, wine and food pairing, and retail wine buying and storage strategies.]

H ADM 631(6631) Growth Strategies for the Restaurant Industry

Spring, first seven weeks of semester. 2 credits. Elective. Deadline to drop seven-week course is midpoint of course. Prerequisite: graduate standing; seniors only by permission of instructor. A. Susskind.

Through a series of directed readings, case studies, and roundtable discussions with industry leaders, this course focuses on the strategic issues in the food and beverage industry that affect the growth and development of multi-unit restaurant companies. In addition to the weekly scheduled seminar time, students are required to attend two additional receptions to honor the roundtable speakers. In class students critically evaluate selected research papers related to multiunit business management to serve as the basis for class discussion and the fostering of a broader understanding of leadership and growth strategies in the multiunit restaurant business.

Operations

H ADM 105(1105) Introduction to Hotel Operations

Fall, spring, 2 credits. Required.

Prerequisite: hotel or ITD students. Co-requisite: H ADM 106. Students enrolled in Lec 1 of H ADM 105 take Lec 1 of H ADM 106 in same semester, and vice versa. R. McCarthy.

Designed to introduce students to the scope of the hotel industry in addition the organizational structure and operational mechanics of how the departments within the rooms division of an individual hotel operate. Understanding the scope of the industry involves understanding who the major players are and what market segments their brands serve. Students gain an understanding of how work is performed and how activities are coordinated within and between hotel departments.

H ADM 106(1106) Introduction to Food Service Operations

Fall, spring, 2 credits. Required. Limited to 30 students per sec. Prerequisite: hotel students. Co-requisite: H ADM 105. Students enrolled in Lec 1 of H ADM 106 take Lec 1 of H ADM 105 in same semester, and vice versa. B Lang.

Introduction to the principles of food and beverage management, beginning with an overview of the foodservice industry at large. Attention is focused on major industry segments, business practices, and trends. Subsequently, detailed consideration is given to the components of the foodservice system: marketing, menu planning, logistical support, production, service, and controls and quality assurance. Product and systems differentiation in various industry segments are emphasized throughout. Completion of a work experience in the Statler Hotel is a required course activity.

H ADM 201(2201) Hospitality Quantitative Analysis

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Required. Limited to 60 students per lec. Prerequisite: hotel students. R. Lloyd.

Introductory statistics course taught from the perspective of solving problems and making decisions within the hospitality industry. Students learn some introductory probability and how to gather data, evaluate the quality of data, graphically represent data, and apply some fundamental statistical methodology. Statistical methods covered include estimation and hypothesis testing relating to one- and two-sample problems of means, simple linear regression, and multiple regression. Problems involving multiple means (one way ANOVA) are covered as a special case of multiple regression, time allowing. Minitab is used as the statistical computing software.

H ADM 301(3301) Service Operations Management

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Required. Limited to 60 students per lec. Prerequisite: hotel students. M. Pullman.

Introduces statistical and operations research methods appropriate for the hospitality industry. The goal of the course is to provide students with the skills and understanding necessary for decision making using quantitative data. Students use computer spreadsheet software extensively. A key requirement of the course is an ability to communicate the results of the analyses in a clear manner. Topics include: probability, decision analysis, modeling, forecasting, quality management, process design, waiting lines, and project management.

H ADM 303(3303) Club Management

Fall, second seven weeks; spring, first seven weeks. 2 credits. Elective. Deadline to drop seven-week course is midpoint of course. Limited to 35 students in fall; open enrollment in spring. Prerequisites for fall: no freshmen; hotel juniors and seniors; completion of H ADM 105 or equivalent. R. James.

Study of private membership clubs and the leadership role in club administration. The application of current management principles in a not-for-profit environment is discussed and club management is compared to other areas of the hospitality industry and other not-for-profit organizations. Topics include: tournament, facility, and recreation management; legal, financial, and legislative issues; human relations and human resource considerations; and marketing, pricing policies, and quality standards.

H ADM 305(3305) Restaurant Management

Fall, spring, 4 credits. Required. Limited to 27 students per lab. Prerequisites: hotel students; H ADM 106 and 236. Cost of lab manual, certification for alcohol service, utensils for front and back of house: approx. $85.00. Because this is a group course, absolute deadline to drop course in fall is Sept. 1, 2005, and in spring is Jan. 31, 2006. A. Susskind.

Offers the opportunity to synthesize the skills, concepts, and theories students have learned in other classes and apply them practically in an actual restaurant setting. Lecture topics cover pertinent issues and principles relevant to the industry at large and then, as a class, the principles are incorporated into actions that occur in the student-run operation.

H ADM 401(4401) Restaurant Entrepreneurship

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 20 students. Prerequisite: hotel students; written permission of instructor. Max. cost of five required field trips: $350. G. Pezzotti.

Designed for students who have a strong interest in food and beverage operations and who may be considering a career as an entrepreneur. Under the supervision of the instructor and using student-developed case studies, the students visit and analyze various independently owned restaurant operations. Analysis covers, but is not limited to: the restaurant's concept (market), organization, ownership, management, physical structure, staff, front-of-the-house operations, back-of-the-house operations, and fiscal integrity. Readings relative to current topics in the restaurant industry are required. Classes alternates weekly between field trips (2:30 P.M. through dinner hour) and seminar/case presentation.

H ADM 403(4403) Specialty Food and Beverage Operations: Guest Chefs

Spring, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 20 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 305 or 702 by permission of instructor; hotel juniors, seniors, and graduate students by permission of instructor. G. Pezzotti.

Designed for students focusing in food and beverage preparation. Students considering a career in the hotel or restaurant food and beverage environment or those who anticipate interacting with present-day culinary trends find the course especially beneficial. Over the course of the semester, the class, working in groups, is responsible for the marketing, organization, planning, production, service, financial analysis, and accounting relative to three guest-chef specialty production nights. The chef is asked to recommend the evening's menu reflecting his or her culinary background and work with the class in producing the meal for the Cornell community using the hotel facility. A required final project analyzes the relative degree of success experienced during each guest-chef event. The analysis considers consumer reaction as well as proper application of food and beverage management principles.

H ADM 404(4404) Catering and Special Events Management

Fall, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 236 or permission of instructor. Cost of required field trip to New York City: approx. $250. R. Spies.

The catering and special events industries are among the fastest-growing segments of the hospitality industry. This course focuses on off-premise and on-premise catering for social and business functions, and the management of large-scale independent events, such as sporting events, artistic performances, and product launches. Topics include: organizational structure, legal aspects of catering and special events management, product and service development, marketing and sales, catered function and special event planning and execution, staff recruitment and training, post-event analysis, financial success of catering, and special events businesses.

H ADM 405(4405) Principles of Timeshare and Vacation Ownership

Spring, first seven weeks of semester. 2 credits. Elective. Deadline to drop seven-week course is midpoint of course. Prerequisites: for graduate students, completion of graduate core; for undergraduates, H ADM 321 and 387. J. deRoos.

Provides an intense introduction to the rapidly growing timeshare and vacation ownership industry. Students learn how the four major business disciplines of financial management, real estate development, marketing and sales, and resort operations are specifically applied to the industry. The course is taught by industry professionals. A project gives students the opportunity to study the nuances and challenges of the business. Each week, guest lecturers from Marriott Vacation Club International present a different perspective of this growing industry segment.

H ADM 407(4407) Seminar in Hotel Operations

Spring, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 40 students. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing. Cost of field trips: approx. $250. R. McCarthy.

Students develop their leadership abilities through a series of hands-on projects for the Statler and Waldorf-Astoria hotels. They gain experience by identifying the requirements and challenges of a project, creating a plan, and carrying out the leadership responsibilities that will result in others successfully implementing their recommendations.

Drawing on their specific knowledge and skills in all the academic disciplines, students gain a broader perspective on the hotel as a business organization. They investigate the combination of human and technical forces that make a hospitality business succeed or fail. Emphasis is on reconciling the real or apparent conflicts between theory, as learned in the students' college courses, and practice, as observed in actual hotel operations. Upon completion of the course, students are able to evaluate issues and formulate cogent strategies for managing hotel operations.

H ADM 408(4080) Introduction to Casino Operations

Fall, 2 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: hotel students. Cost of required field trip to Atlantic City: approx. $250. R. McCarthy.

A vital part of the hospitality industry, casino gaming is one of the most exciting and fastest-growing industries. This course focuses primarily on the operation and ownership of commercial casinos and the hotels attached to them. It is designed to introduce students to the internal and external casino environment. It looks at the historical development of gaming in America to understand how the industry has evolved to its present form. Students learn the organizational structure of a casino hotel, how it operates, and how it makes money. Students also gain an understanding of the different companies that own casino hotels and the current issues facing these companies. Topics include: casino marketing strategies and player rating systems; the social and economic impact of gaming and the various regulatory environments within which casinos operate; and how common casino games are played and the mathematics of the various games. Students build on their food and beverage and hotel knowledge to better understand the specific challenges facing casino hotel operators.

H ADM 602(6602) Spa and Spa Hotel and Resort Development and Management

Fall, spring, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 33 students. Prerequisite: hotel seniors and graduate students; others may enroll, space permitting. Cost of two required field trips: approx. $120. M. Tabacchi.

Emphasizes the development, management and marketing of spas, spas in hotels and resorts, and spa restaurants. Day spas, resort spas, and destination spas are studied in depth. The feasibility of success for new spas and marketing research necessary to establish new spas is discussed. The design of menus, mental and physical fitness programs, stress management, spa medical treatments, complementary medical treatments, and other spa programs are all considered. Personnel required, safety, legal, and ethical issues regarding spas are an important part of the course. The integration of nutritious menu items into restaurant menus and their marketing and merchandising is studied. Guest speakers from spas are an integral part of the course.

[H ADM 604(6604) Service Operations Management

Fall, 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 25 students. Prerequisite: graduate standing; H ADM 775 or equivalent. Not offered 2005-2006. G. Thompson.

Improves the understanding of the operations function of service organizations. Focuses on the role and nature of service operations and the relationship of operations to other business functions, and develops skills and provides techniques for the effective management of service operations. Topics include service design, bottleneck and layout analysis, capacity management, workforce management, and quality management. This course is intended for any graduate students interested in services management.]

H ADM 605(6605) Yield Management

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisite: senior or graduate standing; H ADM 301, 701, or equivalent. S. Kimes.

Helps students learn how to apply the principles of yield management effectively. Focuses on the integration of yield management techniques with information technology, internal management issues, and external marketing concerns. Topics include yield management techniques, forecasting, overbooking, group decisions, and management and marketing issues.

H ADM 606(6606) Restaurant Revenue Management

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 40 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 701 and 702; graduate standing or permission of instructor. S. Kimes.

Revenue management is a method for profitably managing capacity. The objective of this course is to help students learn how to apply the principles of revenue management to restaurants. The course focuses on methods of managing duration and price with the intent of maximizing revenue per available seat-hour. Topics include forecasting, overbooking, reservations systems, information technology, process design, pricing, and management and marketing issues.

H ADM 609(6609) Airline Service Management

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Priority given to 30 seniors and graduate students; others may enroll, space permitting. Cost of field trip: approx. $75. M. Tabacchi.

A must for those interested in careers in the airlines industry. The impact of 9/11 upon the industry is investigated. Airline service and on-board services are used as competitive advantages by airline carriers. In fact, names such as Singapore Airlines and Virgin Atlantic have become synonymous with service excellence in a service economy. The strategies of developing competitive and superior service in today's erratic economic climate is a major part of class discussion. Guest speakers from American Airlines, Singapore Airlines, US Airways, Delta, Continental Airlines, Virgin Atlantic, and SkyChefs are featured. In addition to service strategies both on the ground and in the air, students study the challenge of serving meals on international flights. Strategies, planning, and forecasting by these executives are examined. Case studies based upon national and international airline business are an integral part of the course. A field trip to an airline's hub city enables students to observe first hand the industry and its personnel in action.

H ADM 700(7700) Master of Management in Hospitality Master Class

Spring, three-day immersion seminar taught by industry leaders at their establishment during Jan. winter break. 1 credit. Elective. Faculty.

Students solve problems based on real-life scenarios and present their solutions to industry leaders and the Hotel School faculty members who accompany them. A final paper is due in the spring semester immediately following the seminar.

H ADM 703(7703) Operations Management

Summer. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. G. Thompson.

Based on principles of scientific management, concerns itself with how work is done. Gives students the skills and understanding necessary for decision-making using quantitative and qualitative data. Students use computer spreadsheet software extensively for "number-crunching" analyses and learn to communicate the results of their analyses in a clear manner. Students are provided with a "tool kit" of sophisticated Excel models for solving service operations problems.

Facilities Management, Planning, and Design

H ADM 255(2255) Hospitality Development and Planning

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 24 students per sec. Prerequisite: sophomore, junior, or senior standing. S. Robson.

Introduction to the issues and opportunities inherent in the development and planning of hospitality facilities, specifically hotels and restaurants. Course components include the project development sequence, conceptual and space planning, architectural design criteria, construction management, and the interpretation of architectural design and consultant drawings. The emphasis is on setting appropriate facilities requirements, understanding industry practice, and implementing properties decisions within a balanced design, operations, and financial framework.

H ADM 351(3351) Hospitality Facilities Design

Fall. 4 credits. Elective. Limited to 36 students. Prerequisite: H ADM 251 or 751, or permission of instructor. R. Penner.

This intensive studio course provides the graphic skills important for design, and experience in applying these skills in hospitality planning and design situations. Students prepare design projects using both hand drafting and computer-aided design (CAD) software. These assignments cover basic graphic skills and layouts for typical hotel spaces including guestroom suite, lobby and lobby bar, and full-service restaurant or specialty coffee retail outlet.

H ADM 352(3352) Hotel Planning and Interior Design

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 24 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 351 or permission of instructor. Cost of required field trip: min. $250; cost of presentation materials: min. $150. R. Penner.

Helps students understand how to manage the design process—how to establish the scope of work, contracts, and budgets. Builds on earlier courses to give students experience in planning and designing guestrooms, lobby, food and beverage, function, and fitness spaces. The studio course focuses on a semester-long project, in which student teams prepare the interior design for an actual hotel development. The class visits a northeastern city, tours the project site and competitive hotels, meets with an architect or designer, and establishes an integrated concept for the hotel. Students design all the main interior spaces, modifying the architectural plan as necessary, lay out furniture and fixtures, select finishes and FF&E, and prepare a full design presentation.

H ADM 355(3355) Hospitality Facilities Operations

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required.

Prerequisite: H ADM 255. D. Zemke.

Overview of the operation of hospitality facilities, including operating costs for various types of facilities, types and characteristics of major building systems, and the responsibilities of the engineering maintenance department. The renovation needs of hospitality facilities are examined and key managerial aspects of renovations considered.

H ADM 451(4451) Restaurant Development

Fall. 3 credits. Prerequisites: hotel seniors or graduate students; juniors by permission of instructor; for undergraduates, H ADM 255, 243, and 305; for graduate students, H ADM 702 and 751. Students who wish to develop design skills for restaurant concepts are encouraged to enroll in H ADM 453 in the following spring. S. Robson.

Exposes students to the process, challenges, and rewards of developing a restaurant concept from idea to the construction of the first unit. Specific topics include concept creation, market research, creating the delivery process, concept testing and evaluation, restaurant feasibility, site selection, facility programming, and development issues such as licensing, permitting, and construction. Visitors from industry address best practices and their own experiences in getting a restaurant concept off the ground. The course includes readings, discussions with industry leaders, and cases, and culminates with students' formulating a detailed restaurant concept and development plan.

H ADM 452(4452) Sustainable Development and the Global Hospitality Industry

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. Cost of required overnight field trip: approx. $100 for lodging and transportation; meals additional. D. Stipanuk.

Multidimensional course introducing the global sustainability and environmental movements, their impact on the hospitality industry, and responses to and opportunities associated with sustainability. Readings are drawn from the environmental, sustainability, and hospitality literature. Students should be prepared to encounter conflicting views in the readings and in classroom discussions. The course attempts to portray a variety of viewpoints regarding issues of contemporary interest to society and the business community. Discussion of these issues is a key component of the course.

H ADM 453(4453) Foodservice Facilities Design

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 12 students per sec. Pre- or co-requisites: H ADM 351, 305, and 451 (other commercial food production experience acceptable) or permission of instructor; hotel seniors; juniors by permission of instructor. S. Robson.

Introduction to the basic concepts of foodservice facilities design and planning with an emphasis on restaurants. Students determine space allocations for the front and back of house areas, develop production workflow in the preparation and service areas, and select equipment using standards for production capability, quality of construction, and the ease of maintenance. All documentation is produced on CAD, which is taught as part of the weekly studio. Students also use studio time for planning, designing, and writing specifications for a medium-size restaurant kitchen.

H ADM 457(4457) Hotel Development

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: senior or graduate standing; juniors by permission of instructor. Cost of required overnight field trip: approx. $100 for lodging and transportation; meals additional. D. Stipanuk.

Focuses on the management structure and systems, laws and regulations, and industry practices that most influence the successful development of hospitality real estate, including lodging and eating facilities. Topics include: market studies, franchise requirements, governmental approvals, design construction contracts, the construction process, scheduling, budgeting, and emerging issues and opportunities. Guest speakers present case studies of actual development projects.

H ADM 751(7751) Properties Development and Planning

Fall. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Limited to 30 students per sec. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of pre-enrollment. R. Penner.

Overview of hospitality project development and planning from the perspective of an owner and manager. Students learn about the role of the development team, feasibility studies, space programming, and construction management, and about functional and design criteria for hotels and restaurants. Teams prepare program documentation for a new hotel or restaurant or one undergoing major repositioning.

MARKETING, TOURISM, STRATEGY, AND INFORMATION SYSTEMSMarketing, Tourism, and Strategy*H ADM 141(1141) Microeconomics for the Service Industry

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 60 students per lec. Prerequisite: hotel students. B. Carroll.

Introduces students to microeconomic principles and theories in the context of applications and solutions associated with the service industry with a focus on hospitality and travel. Topics include principles of production, supply and demand, firm behavior, costs, pricing and topics specifically associated with the travel and hospitality industry. Includes readings, lecs, discussions, problem sets, and guest speakers.

H ADM 243(2243) Marketing Management for Services

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 60 students per lec. Prerequisite: hotel students excluding freshmen. L. Klein-Pearo and R. Kwornik.

Develops an understanding of marketing management, the process through which organizations analyze, plan, implement, and control programs to develop and maintain beneficial exchanges with target buyers. Students learn about marketing management through a mix of readings, lectures, class discussions, individual and group exercises, industry guest speakers, and exams. A key element of the course involves working as part of a small team to complete a marketing plan for a business organization. The plan provides a road map of an organization's future marketing strategies and programs.

H ADM 343(3343) Marketing Research for Decision Makers

Fall. 3 credits. Prerequisite: H ADM 243. Elective. M. Lynn.

Helps students become better consumers of marketing research. Topics include issues involved in designing, conducting, and interpreting focus groups, depth interviews, surveys, experiments, and choice models. Special emphasis is placed on what each method should and should not be used for and why.

H ADM 347(3347) Consumer Behavior

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 45 students. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing; H ADM 243. M. Lynn.

Helps students become better at understanding, predicting, and influencing consumer behavior. Topics include motivation, perception, learning, decision making, attitudes, nonverbal communication, persuasion, compliance, geodemographics, and psychographics. The practical implications of psychological principles are emphasized. Specific applications involve such areas as guest frequency programs, menu design, promotional strategy, personal selling, sales and marketing planning, and marketing research. Class time is used for discussions and application exercises as well as for the presentation of relevant information.

H ADM 441(4441) Strategic Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Prerequisites: senior standing; at least one course in each of accounting, finance, marketing, operations, economics, and information systems. Because students work in groups, absolute drop deadline is two weeks after first day of class. A. Kalnins.

Students learn to evaluate firms, industries, and the broader environments in which they exist. Since this is a capstone course, a part of the analysis process involves integrating material learned in all of the functional disciplines. Students also evaluate specific firm strategies and their impact on competitiveness and performance. Using all of this information, students are trained to select strategies for firms and develop plans for implementing them. Topics include environmental analysis, firm resource analysis, competitive analysis, strategy formulation, strategy implementation, international strategy, and strategic control.

H ADM 442(4442) Strategic Marketing

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: senior standing; marketing course. C. Dev.

Offers innovative, practical, and profitable knowledge and insights to improve revenue, profit, and customer loyalty. Concepts include underlying strategic marketing, best-practice examples, and challenges facing hospitality brands. The unique benefits of this course come from the extensive use of detailed cases in which students break into competing teams to formulate strategies and tactics in a realistic marketing environment. Brands whose marketing strategies are examined include Hilton, Marriott, Accor, Choice, Four Seasons, Club Med, Harrah's, Shangri-La, Yum Brands, Starbucks, Disney, and Southwest Airlines. Learning is assessed via in-class contributions, written analysis of cases, a mid-term, and a final exam.

H ADM 443(4443) Innovation and Dynamic Management (also AEM 328[3280])

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 15 students. Prerequisite: senior or graduate standing. C. Enz.

University-wide seminar-style course that investigates the innovation process and how to develop good management practice. Innovative firms are studied via case analyses, and effective management skills and capabilities are explored. Emphasis is placed on examining how businesses and managers can build profitable organizations through a process of creative rethinking, re-evaluating, and discarding existing practices.

H ADM 447(4447) Managing Hospitality Distribution Strategies

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisites: H ADM 141 and 243. B. Carroll.

Provides a framework for managing marketing distribution strategies. Presents and analyzes the structure and interrelationships among distribution channels within the travel and hospitality industry. Theories of marketing distribution management and analysis are evaluated and applied within the context of that system. Topics include dimensions of hospitality marketing distribution, economics of the major hospitality distribution segments, managing hospitality distribution strategies, and the role of convention and visitors bureaus, national tourist organizations, and associations in distribution management.

H ADM 645(6645) Services Marketing

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: graduate standing; marketing course or permission of instructor. R. Kwornik.

The main goal is to develop critical analytic skills and knowledge needed to implement service strategies for competitive advantage. Topics include key differences in goods versus services marketing and service gaps analysis, services consumer behavior and satisfaction, service quality, relationship marketing, service recovery, service design (including analysis of service as theater), service blueprinting and the "servicescape," and services demand management, pricing, promotion, and distribution. Lectures, discussion of current services research, case analyses, and guest-speaker presentations. Also used are a variety of group and individual written projects and presentations, including a services-marketing audit.

H ADM 742(7742) Creating and Managing for Service Excellence

Fall. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement.
Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of pre-enrollment. Last offering fall 2005.
M. Pullman.

How do you maintain profitability in an increasingly competitive environment? One approach is to manage for value, deliver the quality level the customer is willing to pay for, and produce it at a cost that allows a firm to prosper. This course covers the concepts, complexity, and management practices necessary to deliver consistent value in the hospitality industry (determining customer expectations; integrating marketing into operations; managing customer satisfaction; and measuring and controlling costs). Case studies, lectures, discussion, and industry experts are used, but the emphasis is on translating the strategic understanding of value into management practice.

H ADM 743 (7743) Marketing

Summer. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement.
Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. L. Klein-Pearo.

Covers the fundamental concepts of marketing management and in the techniques, analyses, and frameworks for solving marketing-management problems. Explores theories and conceptual frameworks that draw on customer, competitor, and core-capability analyses in marketing planning and implementation. Students develop decision-making capabilities in product/service development, pricing, advertising and promotions, and distribution policies. The capstone of the course is team development of a marketing plan for a new hospitality business.

H ADM 744(7440) Competitive Strategies for the Hospitality Industry

Spring. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement.
Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. C. Enz.

Strategic management considers the total enterprise, the industry, and the competitive environment in which firms operate. This integrative capstone course focuses on how firms formulate, implement, and evaluate corporate and business strategies. The goal is for students to develop a mastery of the tools used to perform analyses of the industry and competitors and to develop skill at evaluating and implementing strategies to sustain a firm's competitive advantage while generating superior value for customers.

Information SystemsH ADM 174(1174) Microcomputing

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 30 students per sec. Prerequisite: fall, hotel school freshmen and transfer students; spring, open enrollment. P. Clark, M. McCarthy, and M. Talbert.

Provides a foundation in information technology (IT) and how it relates to everyday business computing. Teaches IT concepts during lectures and reinforces these concepts in practical lab sessions using current standards of business computing. Topics include fundamental IT concepts, proficiency in Microsoft Office, and understanding the issues of tool selection, standardization, and efficiency, integration of applications, and recognizing the importance of good computer management.

H ADM 274(2274) Microcomputing

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students per lec. Prerequisite: non-hotel students. P. Clark.

Introduction to business computing to develop functional computer fluency. Students develop their skills in the areas of text, spreadsheets, presentation and file management, and web site management. The course is entirely lab-oriented and students work using Windows 2000. Software used is the latest in word processing, spreadsheet, presentation, database management, and web design.

H ADM 275(2275) Introduction to Information Systems Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required.
Prerequisite: hotel students; H ADM 174.
G. Piccoli and E. Wagner.

Goals are to learn about information systems; understand and be able to clearly articulate the difference between information technology and information systems; link concepts and technical jargon to the real-world uses of information systems; and learn the information-systems fundamentals needed throughout hospitality careers. Designed for students who will work within hospitality organizations as end users, user-managers, leaders, and information-systems professionals. This is not a course for technologists but rather for the general-management student. Provides the essential information that all hospitality management students should know about information systems.

H ADM 374(3374) Fundamentals of Database Management and Data Analysis

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. E. Wagner.

Prepares students to create and manage information in a knowledge-based organization. The design and use of database and spreadsheet functionality are used to perform analyses and make decisions. Students gain a conceptual foundation and then practice applying these ideas through project activities and course readings. Topics include information and information management in organizations; fundamentals of relational database design and implementation; SQL queries; how to work in a database design team and as an individual research analyst, database design and management using Microsoft Access; how to normalize a database design to ensure effective use of the technology; analysis of the managerial decision-making process functionality within Microsoft Access and Excel; the conversion of data into information and knowledge that can be leveraged for particular business goals; the role of data and information management in contemporary society; and data management opportunities in the hospitality industry.

H ADM 375(3375) Internet Technologies for the Entrepreneur

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: H ADM 174 or equivalent. Owing to capacity restraints in Binenkorb lab, attendance at first class is mandatory; no-show students are dropped from course to make room for stand-by students; students may not drop course after second week of class. M. Talbert.

Introduces students to the technical underpinnings of the Internet, with an emphasis on the World Wide Web. Students survey many of the key technologies that form the mechanism of the web, including HTML, DHTML, XML, JavaScript, VBScript, Java, Style Sheets, Browsers, Servers, ActiveX, and Active Server Pages. The goal is a managerial familiarity with a broad range of important technologies, rather than proficiency in any single technology. This is an implementation course; in other words, programming. Students should expect a considerable demand on outside time for practice necessary to gain programming fluency in the languages introduced.

H ADM 474(4474) Strategic Information Systems

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. G. Piccoli.
Targeted to students contemplating careers in general management and operations, marketing, or information systems. Managerial in nature, the course is designed to help students think strategically about IT (and, by extension, about any organizational resource) and provides students with analytical tools that can help them make effective decisions about the use (or not) of IT in organizations. Students learn the managerial implications of recent technology trends, the economic premises of the new competitive landscape dominated by pervasive networks (e.g., the Internet), how information technologies can be leveraged to create shareholder value and service customers, how information and advanced IT can create competitive advantage, and when and how a competitive advantage based on IT can be sustained. Course includes lectures, case study discussions, guest presentations, and project work. Many of the class activities center on analysis and discussion of readings and case studies. Class meetings are very interactive.

H ADM 476(4476) Visual Basic for Applications: End-user Programming

Fall, spring 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students per lec. Owing to capacity restraints in Binenkorb lab, attendance at first class is mandatory; no-show students are dropped from course to make room for stand-by students; students may not drop course after second week of class. M. Talbert.

Introductory programming course for end-users (e.g., business managers and consultants). Students develop fluency in the popular Visual Basic for Applications (VBA) language. Using VBA, students learn how to customize and extend the Microsoft Office Suite, with an emphasis on Excel. They also develop custom information systems using Microsoft Office applications as programmable building blocks. Secondary objectives of the course are to cover fundamental design and programming principles. The course is entirely lab based.

H ADM 477(4477) Advanced Business Modeling

Fall, spring, second seven weeks of semester. 2 credits. Limited to 21 students. Prerequisite: seniors and graduate students with priority given to M.M.H. students; H ADM 174. Note: Deadline to drop seven-week course is midpoint of course.
M. McCarthy and M. Talbert.

Focuses on organizational systems, planning, and decision process, and how information is used for decision support in organizations. Provides students with practical skills in developing spreadsheet computer models using Microsoft Excel. Topics include business planning and forecasting, numerical methods, advanced formulas and functions, user-interface design, data protection and validation, importing external data, and output presentation.

H ADM 772(7720) Information Systems Management

Fall. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement.

Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor. G. Piccoli.

Information technologies (IT)-based information systems are important to almost all organizations. They are a primary means for ensuring efficient operations and effective decision-making, and they offer the potential to increase a firm's competitiveness when appropriately planned and used. Students become comfortable with all aspects of information systems decision-making, including systems analysis and design, systems selection and purchasing, and the risks in IT investments. They become familiar with the systems found in hospitality operations. The course is not overly technical, but you are expected to be comfortable researching and discussing information technologies.

FINANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Finance/Accounting

H ADM 120(1120) Personal Financial Management

Fall, spring. 2 credits. Elective. Limited to 50 non-hotel students. L. Hensley and E. Cornell.

Overview of personal financial planning including money management, tax planning, use of credit, insurance, investing, retirement planning, and estate planning.

H ADM 121(1121) Financial Accounting

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required.

Prerequisite: hotel students. D. Dittman.

Introduction to the basic principles of accounting, involving transaction analysis, flow of accounting data to the financial statements, and careful consideration of accounting for revenues, expenses, assets, liabilities, and owner's equity.

H ADM 221(2221) Managerial Accounting

Fall. 3 credits. Required. Prerequisites: H ADM 121 and 174 or equivalents.

G. Potter and J. Hesford.

Focuses on the use of accounting information for management decision making and control. Topics include product costing, budgeting, management decision making, and control systems. There is one common exam at the end of the semester.

H ADM 222(2222) Finance

Fall and spring. 3 credits. Required.

Prerequisites: hotel students or permission of instructor; H ADM 121, 221, or equivalents, or permission of instructor. L. Canina and S. Carvell.

Provides students with accounting cash flow information for financial planning, capital structure decisions, capital budgeting evaluation, and short-term and long-term financial decision-making. Topics include current asset management, short-term financing, capital budgeting, long-term financing, cost of capital, and problems in international finance.

H ADM 223(2223) Financial Accounting Principles

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: non-hotel students. P. Strebel.

In-depth introduction to the principles of financial accounting, involving transaction analysis, flow of accounting data to the financial statements, and careful consideration of accounting for revenues, expenses, assets, liabilities, and owner's equity.

H ADM 225(2225) Finance

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: undergraduate non-hotel students. Faculty.

Students are exposed to a wide variety of corporate finance topics, including: time value of money, risk and return, valuation models, cost of capital, capital budgeting, capital structure, and dividend policy.

H ADM 321(3321) Hospitality Financial Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Required. Limited to 54 students per sec. Prerequisites: hotel students; H ADM 121, 221, and 222, or permission of instructor. A. N. Geller.

Integrates the areas of financial accounting, managerial accounting, and finance, and applies the interpretive and analytical skills of each to hospitality industry situations. Topics provide an understanding of: the analysis and interpretation of financial statements and operating reports, the budgeting and forecasting process, the application of C-V-P and other decision models to hospitality operations, operating agreements, capital investment analysis, financial feasibility, project and general financing, valuation techniques, and measuring value for important stakeholders.

H ADM 421(4421) Internal Control in Hospitality Operations

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 30 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 321, 722, or equivalent. A. N. Geller.

Deals primarily with operations. Generally, hotel and restaurant operations are analyzed from the perspective of preventing fraud and embezzlement. Specifically, the design and distribution of production, accounting, information systems, and supervisory tasks are studied in a manner that ensures effective internal control and verifiable audit trails. The course relies heavily on case studies of actual frauds perpetrated in hotel and restaurant operations.

H ADM 422(4422) Taxation and Management Decisions

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 75 students. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. L. Hensley.

Introduction to tax advantages and disadvantages of various organizational structures, including: corporations, partnerships, subchapter "S" corporations; financial information reporting to tax authorities and to shareholders and how these reports differ; use of depreciation methods to achieve tax reductions; and syndication techniques and the role tax laws play in promoting private investments and development.

H ADM 426(4426) Advanced Corporate Finance

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing; H ADM 321. Graduate students should enroll in H ADM 326. Faculty.

In-depth analysis of corporate financial management, including: financing alternatives and capital structure decisions, cash management and working capital management, capital budgeting decisions, risk analysis, valuations of real options, and Economic Value Added analysis. Although applicable to all businesses, special attention is placed on issues important to the hospitality industry. The course emphasizes analytical methods through case studies and a semester project.

H ADM 427(4427) Multinational Finance and International Risk Management

Spring. 3 credits. Prerequisites: H ADM 121, 221, 222, or equivalents. Graduate students should enroll in H ADM 627. C. Chang.

Focuses on the international aspects of financial management important to the hospitality industry with the intention of providing an understanding of and confidence in dealing with the economic issues faced by the multinational corporation. The major areas covered are: the international financial management environment, the management of foreign exchange risk, international asset management, and international sources of funds.

H ADM 429(4429) Investment Analysis and Portfolio Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective.

Prerequisites: non-hotel students; H ADM 125 or 222. Students with background in economics, quantitative analysis, and computers are advised to consider H ADM 424. Graduate students should enroll in H ADM 629. C. Chang.

Covers basic institutional and analytical aspects of investment management. Topics include: financial markets, sources of investment information, risk-return analysis, bond and stock valuation, behavior of security prices, portfolio analysis and portfolio management, asset allocation, and mutual fund investment. While newcomers to investment management commonly believe that investing is about how to make money in the markets, this course instead focuses on identifying and managing to reasonable and feasible investment objectives in general and in today's highly competitive investment markets. To that end, students are required to apply concepts and tools to managing a simulated investment portfolio (the Investment Management Game) during the course of the semester.

H ADM 624(6624) Reporting and Analysis of Financial Statements

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 60 students. Prerequisite: junior, senior, or graduate standing. G. Potter.

Designed to provide understanding of the basic accounting model, the underlying concepts for income measurement, and the accounting rules for the valuation of assets, liabilities, and owners' equity. Emphasis is placed on understanding the economic substance of the transactions and the implication of using alternate accounting rules on the resulting numbers, especially in assessing the "earnings quality." Focus is from an outsider's view of the company, and students should be able to evaluate and interpret the published financial information, specifically in the context of valuation, debt and compensation contracts, and credit assessment.

H ADM 626(6626) Advanced Corporate Finance

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: H ADM 321; graduate standing. Faculty. For description, see H ADM 426.

H ADM 627(6627) Multinational Finance and International Risk Management

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisites: H ADM 121, 221, 222, or equivalents. Undergraduates should enroll in H ADM 427. C. Chang. For description, see H ADM 427.

H ADM 629(6629) Investment Analysis and Portfolio Management

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisites: H ADM 125 or 122. C. Chang. For description, see H ADM 429.

H ADM 721(7721) Financial Economics

Fall. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of preenrollment. L. Canina. Integrates corporate finance with the framework of value maximization and the competitive analysis of product and factor markets in the hospitality industry. Topics include short-term asset management, strategic valuation, capital budgeting analysis, capital structure decisions, leasing, and international financial management.

H ADM 722(7722) Hospitality Financial Management

Spring. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or written permission of instructor in advance of preenrollment. G. Potter. Covers both managerial accounting and financial management as they are practiced in the hospitality industry. Topics include hospitality accounting systems, financial analysis, operational analysis, cost behavior, budgeting and forecasting, pricing, and feasibility analysis.

H ADM 723(7723) Corporate Finance

Summer. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. L. Canina. Builds on the prerequisite courses in financial accounting and financial reporting. Topics include applications of discounting techniques, evaluation of capital expenditures, estimating cost of capital, bond and stock valuation, portfolio theory, asset-pricing models, and capital-structure decisions. The course emphasizes valuation skills as a means to bring together the cost of capital, financing, and operating issues faced by a firm. Students come to understand the financial impact of managerial decisions, know how to differentiate decisions that increase the value of a firm, and know how to properly evaluate investment, financing, and payout decisions. They also learn standard techniques of financial analysis, such as discounted cash-flow valuation, capital budgeting, risk analysis, and estimating the cost of debt and equity.

H ADM 724(7724) Managerial Accounting

Summer. 3 credits. M.M.H. requirement. Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. J. Hesford. This introduction to managerial accounting, which is the use of accounting information for decision-making and control, covers cost behavior, cost classification, cost-volume-profit analysis, product costing, budgeting, variance analysis, cost estimation, cost allocations, customer-profitability analysis, managerial control systems, and performance measurement.

Real Estate DevelopmentH ADM 420(4420) Principles of Real Estate

Fall, spring; 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 50 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 222 or equivalent; junior or senior standing. Graduate students must enroll in H ADM 620. J. deRoos.

This survey course approaches real estate from four perspectives: investment, market, mortgage finance, and legal. Understanding these perspectives enable students to make better investment and financing decisions, use real estate resources wisely, understand public policy issues, and be prepared for additional courses in real estate investment, finance, and development.

H ADM 423(4423) Hospitality Real Estate Finance

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: H ADM 321 or equivalent; junior or senior standing. Graduate students must enroll in H ADM 621. D. Quan.

Focuses on real estate financing for hospitality-oriented projects. Addresses the following topics: methods of measuring rates of return; feasibility and appraisal processes; equity and debt financing vehicles to include joint ventures, limited partnerships, construction mortgages, participating, convertible, and seller-financed mortgages; forms of operating agreements to include management contracts, leases, and franchises; and trends in international hotel franchising. Presentations by hospitality industry real estate practitioners tie course material to current industry practices.

H ADM 620(6620) Principles of Real Estate

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: graduate standing; H ADM 721 or equivalent. J. Corgel.

For description, see H ADM 420. Includes much of the material in H ADM 420 plus special topic sessions that feature guest speakers from industry, faculty from other colleges, and case studies.

H ADM 621(6621) Hospitality Real Estate Finance

Fall. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: H ADM 722 or equivalent; graduate standing. J. de Roos.

Focuses on real estate financing for hotel and restaurant projects. Methods of measuring rates of return; feasibility and appraisal processes; equity and debt financing vehicles to include participating, convertible, and seller-financed mortgages; forms of operating agreements to include management contracts, leases, and franchises; and trends in international hotel financing. Presentations by hospitality industry real estate practitioners tie course material to current industry practices.

H ADM 622(6622) Hospitality Asset Management

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Prerequisite: for undergraduates, H ADM 321 and completion of H ADM 420 highly recommended; for graduate students, H ADM 722 and completion of H ADM 620 highly recommended. J. deRoos.

Hotel asset management is the fiduciary responsibility of managing the hospitality investment to meet the specific objectives of ownership. The asset manager's role in building value is analyzed at both the portfolio and property levels. Lectures, assignments, cases, and guest speakers introduce the latest techniques in asset management and provide insights into current lodging-market and operational challenges. Topics include management contracts, managing the manager, benchmarking property performance, and the capital improvements decision.

H ADM 625(6625) Securitization and Structured Financial Products

Fall, spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 40 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 222 or 721, and 427 or permission of instructor; senior or graduate standing. D. Quan. Deals with the structure and analysis of securitized financial products with an emphasis on residential and commercial mortgage-backed securities (MBS). The course is intended for those who wish to acquire a working knowledge in the analysis of such securities (e.g., collateralized mortgage obligations, commercial MBS, auto loan, and credit card backed securities) and an understanding of the securitization process. The course's subject matter necessitates a highly analytic and quantitative approach, and students are required to have a strong background in finance and economics. Students who have questions about preparation or background should see the instructor.

H ADM 628(6628) Real Estate Finance and Investments

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Limited to 40 students. Prerequisites: H ADM 323 or 621, 450 or 651; graduate standing. J. Corgel. Promotes sound real estate investment and finance decision-making, use of advanced theory, and techniques in financial economics. Real estate investment decisions are made through applications of an extended version of the after-tax discounted cash flow model, and other valuation models including option pricing models and regression models. Financing decisions are made using the techniques of modern financial analysis. A wide array of financing options are considered including participating and accrual mortgages. Securitization of equity and debt claims to real estate also are extensively covered. All types of residential and nonresidential real estate are analyzed, including hospitality properties.

OTHERH ADM 290(2290) Introduction to Culinary Arts

Spring. 2 credits. Elective. Limited to 28 non-hotel students; priority given to seniors and graduate students. Fee (includes cost of uniform and uniform cleaning): $75. Preregistered students who do not attend first class are automatically dropped from instructor's record. Absolute drop deadline for this course is W of second week of classes. Students on wait list will be selected through a lottery system. All lottery participants must attend first week's class. T. O'Connor. Study of food groups and their methods of preparation, cooking, and presentation. The course is designed specifically for non-hotel students who are interested in learning the professional approach to food preparation and service with hands-on practice. Students are involved in food product identification, preparation and service methods, and learning the professional language of food and cooking.

H ADM 490(4490) Housing and Feeding the Homeless

Spring. Variable credit. Elective. T. O'Connor. Explores public and private sector approaches to addressing hunger and homelessness. Through lectures, class discussions, research, community service work, and a field placement practicum, students explore the economic, social, and political issues of our country's concern with housing and feeding disenfranchised and homeless people. This is a service learning course centered on community work experience. Students must choose one of three options: (1) 4 credits. Students work in pairs or small groups with a local area agency that provides services for homeless or disadvantaged people. This field practicum comprises approximately 60 credits of work during this semester, half of which is in direct contact with the agency and its clients. (2) 4 credits. Students participate in an alternative spring break in an agency(ies) in Washington, D.C., or New York City. Students work five full days in an agency that serves homeless, hungry, or disenfranchised people. Housing and transportation are arranged. This option may cost students up to $100. Students interested in this option must see the instructor at pre-registration time. (3) 3 credits. Students do community work in the Ithaca area with an agency that serves homeless, hungry, incarcerated, or disenfranchised people. Students work on a regular weekly basis for a minimum of 30 credits during this semester.

H ADM 491(4491) Hotel Ezra Cornell (H.E.C.)

Fall and spring. Variable credit: 2-3 in fall and 3-4 in spring. Elective. Prerequisite: hotel juniors, seniors, and second-year M.M.H. students; permission of instructor. Cost of required field trip to Nov. hotel show in NYC: approx. $200. R. McCarthy. Student-elected board members of Hotel Ezra Cornell (H.E.C.) may receive up to 3 credits in hotel electives for their participation in the planning, organizing, staffing, directing, and controlling of H.E.C. '06 to be held April 7-10, 2006. Additional credit would be in free electives only. Next year's board will continue to implement the business plan developed by the previous H.E.C. board of directors: "To establish Hotel Ezra Cornell as the premier forum to deliver a unique hospitality learning experience to industry leaders and students in an interactive setting." Board positions are limited to students in good standing with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5. Eligibility requirements for specific board positions can be obtained in the student services office, 178 Statler Hall. Eligible students considering a board position for H.E.C. should pre-enroll for the course and speak with the instructor; final enrollment is determined by an election process.

H ADM 493(4493) Management Intern Program I—Operations

Fall, spring. 6 credits. Elective. Prerequisites: H ADM 105 or 115, 201, 211, 121, 221, 222, 106 or 236, 243, 255, 165, 174, and 275. Highly recommended: H ADM 321, 305, 355, and 365. Additional course work may be required for applicants considering specialized internships. Students must submit detailed plan for completion of all remaining academic requirements before acceptance into course. Faculty.

Limited to juniors and seniors in the hotel school with approval of the Management-Intern Program (MIP) faculty committee. The application process begins the semester before the planned internship. An MIP information meeting is held at the beginning of each semester. Students accepted to MIP enroll in both H ADM 493 and 494. Students enrolled in H ADM 493 receive academic credit in free electives as well as practical experience in the hospitality field. Six performance evaluations are used to determine this grade. Students must be in good academic standing and have a GPA of at least 2.0 in the preceding semester. Further information is available in the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

H ADM 494(4494) Management Intern Program II—Academic

Fall, spring. 6 credits. Elective. Faculty. Limited to juniors and seniors in the hotel school with approval of the Management Intern Program (MIP) faculty committee. The application process begins the semester before the planned internship. An MIP information meeting is held at the beginning of each semester. Students accepted into MIP enroll in both H ADM 493 and 494. Students enrolled in H ADM 494 receive academic credit in free electives for submission of a goals and objectives statement, four management reports, six journal entries which focus on insights gained through analysis of events occurring in the workplace, and four Hospitality Management Checklist summaries. Upon return to campus, each intern completes a debriefing and an oral presentation to fulfill the academic requirements. Students must be in good academic standing and have a GPA of at least 2.0 in the preceding semester. Further information is available in the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

H ADM 495(4495) Implementing Strategies for Tying Wellness Practices to Company Profit

Spring. 3 credits. Elective. Priority given to juniors, seniors, and graduate students; others may enroll, space permitting. M. Tabacchi.

There is increasing evidence linking job-induced stress to overall health and happiness or lack thereof. Adding to workplace stress are the needs of its diverse and changing population. These stresses affect the financial health of the corporation as well as the psychological and physical health of the individual. The purpose of this course is to encourage future managers to evaluate the work environment and to enhance opportunities for diverse worker productivity, which can sharpen the corporation's competitive edge. The emerging fields of complementary and alternative medicines are explored as preventive and cost-effective methods of improving workers' health. Business models for encouraging workplace wellness, systems for implementation, reward, and accountability of managers and corporate officers are introduced in this course. Only a few corporations overtly reward managers and corporate officers for the well-being and concomitant enhanced performance and productivity of their employees.

H ADM 497(4970) Undergraduate Research

Fall, spring. Variable credit. Elective. Faculty.

Outstanding students may conduct independent research under faculty supervision. Each student is expected to review pertinent literature, prepare a project outline, conduct the research, and prepare a report. Students make two presentations coordinated by the Center for Hospitality Research (CHR): one at a preliminary stage and one at project completion. Students submit the completed report to the CHR, which will be available online through the CHR web site.

H ADM 498(4980) Undergraduate Independent Study

Fall, spring. Variable credit. Elective. Faculty.

Can be taken only by students conducting two independent studies in one semester. For more details, see H ADM 499.

H ADM 499(4990) Undergraduate Independent Study

Fall, spring. Variable credit. Elective. Faculty.

Students have the option of conducting an independent study project in any academic area. The number of credits for which students may register are arranged on an individual basis. Note: Students commit themselves to a certain number of credits of independent academic work per week per credit hour if they choose to do an independent study project, and the work must be performed in the semester for which the student is enrolled in the independent study. The usual add/drop policy applies, and retroactive credit for work commenced after an academic semester has ended is not allowed. Projects are conducted under the direction of a faculty member, and regular, frequent consultations are mandatory. Also, a written report must be produced and made available to all faculty members and students of the school after its submission to the supervising faculty member. Credit for independent study projects may not count toward the hotel school elective requirement, but, rather, toward free electives. Students cannot earn academic credit for independent study when the equivalent material is offered in a regular course, and credit is not earned for teaching a course. Students should consider all aspects of their situation before committing themselves to an independent study project. Enrollment forms are available in the student services office, 180 Statler Hall.

H ADM 698(6980) Graduate Independent Research

Fall, spring. Elective. Faculty.

Each student must have in mind a project and obtain agreement from an individual faculty member to oversee and direct the study. Written permission is required before course enrollment. Permission forms are available in the hotel school graduate office, 180 Statler Hall.

H ADM 699(6990) Graduate Independent Research

Spring. 2 credits. Elective. Faculty.
Each student must have in mind a project and obtain agreement from an individual faculty member to oversee and direct the study. Written permission is required before course enrollment. Permission forms are available in the hotel school graduate office, 180 Statler Hall.

H ADM 797(7797) Hospitality Industry Leadership Development Institute

Summer. 1 credit. M.M.H. requirement.
Prerequisite: M.M.H. students or permission of instructor. Faculty.
A dozen or more senior executives from the hospitality industry visit the campus to evaluate students as individuals and as part of a team. They assess how well the students are able to lead, take direction, work with others, present ideas, and listen to other ideas. At the end of the class, one or more of them meet with students individually, and in teams, to evaluate performance. This centerpiece of the orientation process is designed to outline some of the personal and career goals students will want to work toward in the coming year.
