

College News

carter > Branson > Open House 2016 > Migration > Veritas > FelineF
Saturday, February 25th

1pm-5pm

Vet Education Center Atrium off of Tower Road

Feline Follies 2012: cat show and education event

The Feline Club at Cornell University College of Veterinary Medicine presents Feline Follies 2012, the annual cat show and education event open to the entire community.

All proceeds raised at Feline Follies go towards the Tompkins County SPCA and CNY SNAP (Central New York Spay and Neuter Assistance Program).

Complimentary admission to the entire community...and cats!

Proof of rabies vaccination required. Please bring cats in carrier.

Exciting events this year:

-Bring your cat to enter him or her in the Cat Show (with categories like longest tail, most toes, best trick, cat&owner look alike, and great prizes!)

-Bring a photo of your cat to enter in the Best Photo Competition!

- Come for our Raffle with exciting prizes (enter to win a Kindle, Cat tree, great gift baskets, and many other fantastic items)
- Buy goodies at our Bake Sale
- Come to see our lecture about common household hazards to cats and educational give aways
- Visit the Cat Adoption Room
- Bring your family for the many Kids Games such as cat & mouse toss, pin the tail on the lion, make your own cat toy, and face painting!

Contact Abby Mulligan with any questions at aam244@cornell.edu.

Sponsored by the College of Veterinary Medicine Feline Club, the College's Alumni Association, and the GPSAFC. Search for "Feline Follies" on Facebook to find more information about our event and the schedule when it is posted!