VOL. XX, No. 25

ITHACA, N. Y., MARCH 14, 1918

PRICE 10 CENTS

THE Committee on General Administration of the Board of Trustees held a regular meeting Saturday morning at the President's office. Those present were Chairman Van Cleef, Trustees Schurman, Williams, C. E. Treman, Cornell, Westinghouse, R. H. Treman, and Edwards, and Professors Comstock, Willcox, and Kimball. Regrets were received from Trustees Pound and Wilson. Notice was received of the re-election of William F. Pratt of Batavia as representative of the State Grange on the Board of Trustees.

THE COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE received permission to conduct a course in design during the coming summer. A petition, signed by all but one member of the present junior class in the college, and approved by the college Faculty, requesting that such a course be authorized, was received by the Committee. The petitioners said they thought the present was no time for vacations, and they thought it desirable to complete or carry as far as possible their professional courses before a possible call to military service.

THE WAR RESEARCH BOARD of the University was announced by the President, to consist of the following members of the Faculty: Professor Edward L. Nichols, head of the Department of Physics, Professor Dexter S. Kimball, acting dean of Sibley College, and Professor Louis M. Dennis, head of the Department of Chemistry. The President designated Professor F. K. Richtmyer of the Department of Physics to be secretary of the board but not a member of it. The appointment of the board was authorized by the Committee on Administration at its February meeting, on the recommendation of the Faculty of the Graduate School, which proposed that there be a central body to which the Government might apply for scientific investigation in cases where it might be necessary to correlate work in two or more departments of the University.

THE FUERTES TELESCOPE FUND was established by the Committee at the request of Emeritus Professor Irving P. Church and is to be in the custody of the Board of Trustees. As a nucleus and initial gift for this fund, Professor Church said he held for delivery to the Comptroller a thousand-dollar four per cent Liberty Bond. The fund is to be the gift of alumni and friends of the University and is to increase by successive donations and its own income until sufficient for the purchase and installation of a twelve-inch equatorial telescope and its appurtenances to be placed under the dome of the Fuertes Astronomical Observatory north of Beebe Lake.

AN AURORA BOREALIS of wide extent and remarkable brilliancy illuminated the heavens on the evening of March 7. From the northern horizon to the zenith and even in the south a glow of varying reds, with an occasional blend almost crimson, was shot through with streamers of unusual brightness. The lights, first observed between eight and nine o'clock, attained their greatest intensity shortly after eleven. In this latitude at this season of the year such a display is phenomenal. Yet it is what the superstitious mind in time of war may easily interpret. Undoubtedly the Valkyrs were abroad, those choosers of the slain whose flashing armor, as they ride from the field of slaughter, makes in the sky the reflection which we call the Northern Lights.

THE REGISTRATION for the current term in the colleges at Ithaca is approximately 3,309; in the Medical College in New York, 173; a total of 3,482. The total for the first term was 3,906. The difference is owing to withdrawals for three principal reasons: eighty-six students were graduated in February; 158 were dropped for deficiency in scholarship; the remainder left voluntarily, in most cases to enter upon some form of Government service.

ORGANIZED FOOD CONSERVATION efforts at Cornell were the subject of comment in THE ALUMNI NEWS for December 13, 1917. The consumption of wheat products in the four dining halls controlled by the University—at Sage, Risley, Sibley, and Cascadilla—has been reduced by about one-half, a reduction which more than meets the recommendations of the Food Administration. This result is due in part to wheatless days observed by the management, in part to the practice of patrons who, having a choice, have chosen substitutes; it is due, in a word, to hearty co-operation. Of course there has been an increasing use of rye and corn. It is to be noted, however, that the expense has not been lessened. The substitutes used in baking have in general cost as much as wheat.

ROBERTS SCHOLARSHIPS in agriculture have been awarded to Helen Marguerite Hess (Special), Lyons Falls; Elizabeth Rose Cook '19, Albany; and Leon Stanley Phelps '20, Saratoga Springs. These scholarships, having a cash value of $240, are tenable for one year. Scholarships have been awarded for the current term to Lloyd Herman Schroeder '19, New York City, and George Linton Dawson '18, Geneva; and for the first term of next year to Frances Iona Mathews '21, Valois, and Martin Grinnell Beck '20, Aurora. The fund by which these scholarships are maintained is the gift of Dr. Charles H. Roberts, late of Oakes, Ulster County, N. Y. The award is made by the Faculty of Agriculture.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL has elected two new members, Robert C. Edmunds '18 of Denver, Colorado, and Alexander B. Trowbridge, jr., '20 of New York City. These men take the places, for the remainder of the year, of Ralph C. Van Horn, of Elmira, and Thomas E. Moffitt, of Wallace, Idaho, who have withdrawn from the University.

THE MUSICAL CLUBS, accompanied by Professors Dann and Quarles and Mr. George L. Coleman, director of the orchestra, gave the first out-of-town concert last Saturday night in the new Kalurah Temple in Binghamton. The program began as usual with "Alma Mater" and ended with "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the Glee Club and the audience. The concert was preceded by a reception by the Women's Monday Afternoon Club and was followed by a dance.

THE DU PONT POWDER COMPANY is making an effort to employ a few students in agriculture who have made good records in their University work and who have specialized in public speaking. They will be used as agricultural demonstrators.

Board of Trustees Retain Summer Session—Attractive Courses Offered

It is gratifying that the Trustees have resolved to continue the Summer Session as usual. While there may possibly be some diminution in numbers, owing to the War, it is felt that the Summer Session affords to many secondary school teachers a valuable opportunity for mental refreshment which should not be withdrawn.

An attractive list of courses has been provided. The four courses in education and mental tests are to be in charge of Professor Ogden and Mr. Louis B. Hoisington. Dr. Matzke and Dr. Gordon will give the courses in physical education for women. The work in manual training will be in charge of Messrs. Wells, Wood, Hooper, and Griffith. Mr. Griffith and Miss Everest will repeat their popular course in design in fine and applied art. In psychology Professor Weld will be in charge. In English, courses will be given by Professors Monroe and Broughton as usual; Professor Northup will give the teachers' course and a course in Victorian literature; and Professor W. Strunk will give an attractive course in modern drama. Professor Winans will teach public speaking. One of the instructors in French will be Louis A. Roux, head of the French department in Newark Academy. A course in military French is offered and in both French and Spanish there will be provided special facilities for conversational practice. As was to be expected, the number of German courses is reduced from nine to five; but these will be given by teachers of marked ability. Latin courses will be in charge of Professor Frank H. Cowles (Ph.D. '16), of Wabash College. In history and government courses will be given by Professors Bretz, W. E. Lunt, of Haverford College, and Orth; while Professor Othon G. Guerlac will return to give courses on French history and thought, and the relations of France and America. In economics the work will be in charge of Professor Reed and Mr. Clyde O. Fisher. The music courses remain strong. The department numbers seventeen instructors. Miss Bryant, of the Ithaca High School, returns to the staff and Ernest Kroeger of St. Louis will return to conduct three normal courses for piano teachers. Work in geology, chemistry, and physics will be substantially as offered last year. New courses in zoology are to be given by Professor Hugh D. Reed and Mr. Shadle.

Veblen Comes From Missouri

U. of M. Man Appointed Professor of Economics—Other Changes

At the meeting of the Administration Committee last Saturday, appointments were made and leaves of absence granted as necessitated by the departure of members of the instructing staff on military and other Government work.

Dr. Thorstein B. Veblen of the University of Missouri was appointed professor of economic institutions. Dr. Veblen is a Bachelor of Arts of Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., in the class of 1880, and took the doctor's degree at Yale in 1884. He held a Cornell fellowship in political economy and finance in 1891-92. He taught political economy at the University of Chicago till 1906, and then at Stanford University till 1909. He resigned an associate professorship at Stanford to take a professorship of economics at the University of Missouri. His publications include "The Theory of the Leisure Class," 1899; "The Theory of Business Enterprise," 1904; "The Instinct of Workmanship," 1914, and "Imperial Germany and the Industrial Revolution," 1915.

Dr. Alfred Henry Sweet was reappointed acting assistant professor of English history for 1918-19.

The following leaves of absence for National service were granted: To Professor D. H. Udall and Assistant Professor W. E. Muldoon of the Veterinary College, from February 15 to the end of the year; to V. C. Dunlap, assistant in botany, from February 28 to May 22.

The following appointments were made: Mrs. Helen B. Owens, lecturer in mathematics for the second term, part time; J. A. Becker, assistant in physics; W. P. Woodcock, M. W. LaFaver, E. T. Schultz, and P. Heins, jr., assistants in military science and tactics.

The following appointments were made to the instructing staff in psychology: B. L. Swartz, general and research assistant; M. J. Zigler, instructor, and Josephine M. Gleason, instructor.

S. A. Richardson was appointed instructor in the Veterinary College to carry on the work of Assistant Professor Muldoon, who has leave of absence for National service.

Leave of absence from March 1 to the end of the term was granted to Professor Martha Van Rensselaer of the Department of Home Economics.

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER last Sunday was the Reverend John Wellington Hoag of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church of Detroit.

Britain's Ideals

Both Are Fighting for Self-determination of Peoples, Says President Schurman

In this great war for the self-determination of all peoples, the ideals and practices of Great Britain are identical with our own. Such is the conclusion expressed by President Jacob Gould Schurman in his History of Civilization lecture last Friday on "The Democratic Ideals and Achievements of England as a World Power."

President Schurman traced the history of Great Britain from the reign of Elizabeth down to 1914. He said it was vitally important that we should know and understand our allies; and Great Britain is our greatest ally. "If we can't win the war with our allies, we can't win alone," he declared.

Nation-building is done in one of three ways: by conquest without incorporation, by conquest with incorporation, or by incorporation with representation. England has been the most conspicuous among the nations which have employed the third method. The history of Great Britain is one of the vindication of the rights of the people as against their sovereigns, and of making secure the people's inalienable rights.

President Schurman said that in her treatment of the American colonies England used for the last time the wrong conception of colonies. Up to that time the general conception had been that all colonies were for the benefit of the conquering state, regardless of the people living therein. England afterward recognized her mistake in regard to the American colonies and resolved that English-speaking people henceforth in all parts of the world must have representation and self-government.

Up to 1914 no scheme or constitution was ever drawn for the regulation of the colonies which was acceptable to the colonies. The greatest English minds had tried to put into writing what was actually done in 1914. It had always been asked, were the colonies really united with the Empire? In 1914 the answer came. What theory could not settle action did. The colonies all rushed to the aid of the Empire and proved conclusively that they were united.

At the first sight it might seem that India rebutted the statement that England stood for self-determination; but India did not. He characterized India as a multitude of languages and a multitude of religions. There is no national entity in India. The statesmen of Britain have been slowly but definitely giving India an entity; but she is not ready for self-government. President Schurman asked if India would be better off under the government of any other state, and established that the answer is no. He likened India to the Philippines. We have given the people of the Philippines just as much self-government as we think they are capable of properly using, and when they are ready for complete home rule they will get it.

President Schurman declared he did not approve of everything Great Britain has done, but he did approve of her great controlling principles. He deplored the Boer War, but declared that England has atoned for it by giving the Boers self-government and the people have proved their loyalty to the Empire by their response in this war.

SECOND TRACTOR SCHOOL

The Tractor School, a special course in the operation of farm trucks and tractors, begun on February 18, came to an end last Saturday. There were forty students, all but three from the State of New York. The number of applicants was so large that the Department of Farm Mechanics has found it necessary to repeat the course during the three weeks beginning Monday, March 11. For this second school about the same number is registered. The daily program consists of two lectures, at eight and at one o'clock, each followed by a three-hour period of practice: that is, taking apart, assembling, adjusting, repairing, and running the machines. The demand for the course comes from the largely increased use of tractors throughout the state and from the lack of men on the farms. The work is under the direction of Professor Robb.

WAR TAKES PSYCHOLOGISTS

The Department of Psychology, with the largest laboratory registration in its history, was entirely without instructors or assistants until the appointments made Saturday by the Committee on General Administration. Professor Titchener of the Graduate School and Professor Weld were until then the only members of the instructing staff remaining in Ithaca. Professor William S. Foster is now senior instructor, Sanitary Corps, at Camp Greenleaf, with the commission of major. Instructors Edwin G. Boring and Karl M. Dallenbach, with commissions as captains, have recently resigned to enter the same camp, while assistants Homer G. Bishop and Jack Teed, who sells the "Sat'd'y Evenin' Post" at the Cascadilla Bridge is well known to recent generations of students. He is the successor to Henry the Candy Man of earlier days.

Forrest L. Dimmick have enlisted there as privates, and after two months' training will be detailed to certain cantonments as assistants in making mental tests of enlisted men as they enter the service. The Department of Psychology will manage to run by dropping one course and by making use of part time of L. B. Hoisington of the Department of Education and full time of the three new members of the staff who were appointed Saturday.

ZINNECKER GOES TO N. Y. U.

Dr. Wesley D. Zinnecker (Ph.D. '12), for the last seven years instructor in German, has been appointed assistant professor of German in New York University. He will devote all his time to instruction in Washington Square College. Dr. Zinnecker graduated Ph.B. from the German Wallace College, Ohio, in 1903. After several years of successful teaching in secondary schools he came to Cornell as instructor and graduate student. His doctoral thesis was entitled "A Study of Tendenz in Literature with Special Reference to the German Drama." He is also the author of a highly successful textbook for the study of German, "Deutsch für Anfänger."

THE SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER for next Sunday will be the Reverend William Pierson Merrill, D.D., of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York.

MILITARY NOTES

Norton '18 Has Narrow Escape

William K. Norton '18 had a narrow escape on the French front last month. Information from his mother, who lives in Omaha, is given in The Cornell Sun.

"After a victory of the American artillery February 12, several airmen, including Norton, were sent with a French expedition on a daylight raid over the Boche lines in the Metz district. An opposing force came to meet them. In the fray Norton turned his machine gun on a German plane, but his own was also literally torn to pieces, and one shell pierced the gas tank. In spite of this danger he managed to glide over the German lines and back again to French soil without any damage except that to the machine."

Norton was registered in the College of Architecture. He enlisted in the aviation service in his junior year, in May, 1917, and since receiving his commission as first lieutenant in September has been actively engaged in France.

Our "Fitz"

Lieutenant Emanuel Fritz '08, F.A. R.C., with the 118th Aero Squadron, in the American Expeditionary Forces, has sent in Issue No. 1 of the Beaumont Bull. It bears the date line "Somewhere in France, Monday, February 11, 1918. Price 50 centimes." The paper is a four-page bulletin, written in a half frivolous, half serious manner, for the benefit of the Beaumont Detachment. The first page and much of the insides is devoted to a eulogy of the commanding officers of the detachment, "Sully" and "Fitz," to miscellaneous personal news, announcements, and poetry, made on the spot. One article, "Napoleon was Right," deals with the paraphrase "An army fights on its patience."

"Our Fitz" is Lieut. Philip Wright Fitzpatrick '17, a varsity oarsman before the war, who has just been made commandant of the detachment at Beaumont, succeeding Lieutenant Sullivan, to each of whom the men had given wrist watches in token of their affection when they were expected to leave Beaumont. "Sully" left but "Fitz" remained to take command.

Of "Our Fitz" the editor says in part: "Two good things have come from St. Paul: the best beer you ever swigged from a frosty bottle on a hot day, and the cleanest, whitest, good-to-the-core fellow a guy ever had to explain a delinquency to—Lieutenant Fitzpartick. * * * He has handled a tough proposition in a masterly way, though he is just as impatient as we to fly in France, and by this he has won the admiration and friendship of every Beaumont man."

Lieutenant Fritz evidently shares the feeling, for he has marked the copy "Some guy, our 'Fitz'."

Syracuse Men in Service

Frederick E. Norton '13, secretary of the Cornell Club of Syracuse, reports that the following members of the club are now in service:

Donald Armstrong '14, R.O.T.C., Spartanburg, S. C.

Merwin Armstrong '10, captain, 105th Engineers, Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C.

Henry B. Brewster '98, captain, Eng. R.C.

George N. Brown '08, first lieutenant, Eng. R.C., commanding the 303d Eng. Train, Camp Dix.

H. Edmund Bullis '09, was in 5th Tr. Co., C.A.C., Ft. Monroe, Va.

Donald M. Dey '10.

Harry A. Flint '92.

Adrian V. S. Lindsley '09, lieutenant, 311th Engineers, Camp Grant, Ill.

Dwight F. Morse '11.

Bernard J. O'Rourke '10, first lieutenant, A.S.S.R.C., Garden City, L. I.

Frank H. O'Rourke '12.

Elwyn L. Smith '17, now at M. I. T.

John B. Tuck '93, lieutenant colonel, commandant of the Divisional School of the Line, Camp Wadsworth, S. C.

Guido F. Verbeck '10.

Harold H. Will '13, infantry.

Paul Williams '14.

George B. Woodle '16, second lieutenant, 2d U. S. Engineers, Am. Exp. Forces, via New York.

Maryland Cornellians in the War

The secretary of the Cornell Association of Maryland, J. S. Gorrell, 103 E. Lexington Street, Baltimore, reports that the following members of that association are now in service:

C. D. Albert '02, Emergency Fleet Corporation, Baltimore.

Sydney B. Austin '95, lieutenant, U.S.N.

I. Ellis Behrman '10, first lieutenant, Engineer Corps (now in France).

Ronald C. Coursen '17, private, Ordnance Corps, Camp Meade.

Paul N. Darrington '15, second lieutenant, 46th Inf., Regular Army, Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky.

Weston Gavett '11, first lieutenant, Medical Corps.

W. S. Graham '16, private, 29th Engineers (now in France).

John R. Haswell '09, captain, Engineer Corps (now in France).

William G. Helfrich '12, second lieutenant, Infantry, Camp Lee.

Allen L. Malone '06, lieutenant, U.S.N.

Albert D. Matthai '10, second lieutenant, Ordnance Dept., Wheeling, W. Va.

Joseph F. Matthai '12, second lieutenant, 319th Infantry, Camp Lee.

A. C. Meikle '15, second lieutenant, Engineer Corps, Camp Meade.

G. C. Meyer '17, junior officer, Merchant Marine.

George R. Ogier '08, captain, Engineer Corps.

Ralph F. Proctor '01, major, Engineer Corps, Camp Meade.

Stuart Purcell '01, captain, Engineer Corps, Hoboken, N. J.

Chas. J. Rasch '10.

S. H. Spear '14, Infantry, Camp Lee.

H. C. Stanwood '13, Infantry, Camp McClellan.

C. A. Thompson '16, private, 29th Engineers (now in France).

W. W. Troxell '14, first lieutenant, 104th Engineers, Camp McClellan.

Elliott Vandevanter '08, captain, Engineer Corps.

R. H. Wambaugh '13, private, Aviation Corps, Motor Mechanic Section, Camp Hancock.

C. B. Watkins '15, ensign, Norfolk Naval Base.

Edwin H. Watkins '10, first lieutenant, Engineer Corps.

Chas. H. Wetzel '13, private, 154th Depot Brigade, Camp Meade.

Ezra B. Whitman '01, major, Engineer Corps, Camp Meade.

Eugene L. Wolfe '14, U. S. Naval Aviation (England).

Walter D. Young '92, major, 29th Engineers.

LITERARY REVIEW

Speeches of Entente Commissions

Balfour, Viviani and Joffre. Their Speeches and Other Public Utterances in America, and Those of Italian, Belgian and Russian Commissioners during the Great War. Collected and Arranged, with Descriptive Matter, by Francis W. Halsey '73. New York. Funk & Wagnalls Company. 1917. 8vo, pp. vi, 369. Price, $1.50 net.

Probably never before in the world's history was there occasion or matter for a book like this. Never before did commissioners from five foreign countries almost simultaneously visit America and experience such receptions as were given the representatives of the British Empire, France, Belgium, Russia, and Italy. And it is equally true that the words uttered on the various occasions when these men appeared in public were not merely diplomatic and tactful utterances, but came from the heart. They spoke of a friendship for America, of an understanding of her fundamental spirit, which would seem to render impossible such differences as cannot be peacefully adjusted. They spoke, too, of a determination not to yield to a brutal and savage foe, a determination which is ominous to despotism. Mr. Balfour holds the faith most firmly that "when democracy sets itself to work, when it really takes the business in hand, it will beat all the autocracies in the world."

In such a book there is bound to be much repetition. As an offset to this, however, some points are made to stand out very clearly. One of these is the main purpose of the war. "So long as there is in the world a warlike Germany," said M. Viviani in New York on May 9, "so long as there is a nation of prey, a country bent on oppression, on treachery and violence, so long will democracies be imperiled. If they would save the treasures of civilization and the heritage of mankind which are theirs they must meet the danger, they must be ready, they must arm themselves, but with the purpose never to place the sword at the service of aught but the right."

Mr. Halsey's task of supplying the connecting links of the narrative has been well performed.

Books and Magazine Articles

The second annual volume of "The College Anthology," for the year 1916-17, has lately appeared from the press of the Strafford Company, Boston. It is edited by Dr. Henry T. Schnittkind and contains over three hundred pages of the best poetry written by students of about 110 colleges during the year. Cornell is represented by "The Bluebird," by William P. Alexander (Spec.), "The Winds of Day and Night," by Russell Lord '19, "Mirage," by Geraldine Willis '17, and "The Comet," by Samuel Wilson '17. The last named took the Morrison Prize last spring. Two other Cornell poems, not printed, receive honorable mention: "Pilgrims," by Archibald Oboler '17, and "For Humanity," by William Schack '19. The price of the book in cloth is $1.50, postage 15 cents.

To The American Physical Education Review for January, recently received, Professor Henry N. Ogden '89 contributes an article on "The Sanitary Aspects of the Swimming Pool at Cornell University." Professor Ogden finds enough sanitary aspects of the pool to fill eight pages. He concludes that "the sanitary quality of the water is above reproach and not open to criticism of any sort." To arrive at this highly satisfactory result, the University uses three times as much disinfectant as is used generally.

The Journal of Geology for January-February contains an illustrated article on "Transportation of Débris by Icebergs" by Professor O. D. von Engeln '08. One of the illustrations is a block diagram of the Cayuga Lake basin.

The American Museum Journal for February includes a brief article (one page) on "Democracy and Science" by Dr. David Starr Jordan '72 and an illustrated article by Professor Arthur A. Allen '07 on "Photography and Ornithology," including fourteen beautiful photographs of birds in characteristic positions.

In The American Review of Reviews for February Philip W. Ayres '84 writes briefly on "Lincoln as a Neighbor." There is a reproduction of an unpublished photograph of Mrs. Lincoln and her two sons in 1861.

Professor J. Lawrence Laughlin, formerly of Cornell, writes in the March Scribner's on "The Staying Power of Germany." He concludes that "sooner or later, under constant hammering, the international bully must lose his wind."

To "The Cambridge History of American Literature," the first volume of which has lately appeared, Professor Lane Cooper contributes a chapter on "Travelers and Observers, 1763-1846."

Allan H. Gilbert '09 contributes to Modern Language Notes for March a note on "Virginia in Eastward Ho."

Notice has been received from the publishers of "The College Anthology" that the last day for submitting poems for consideration will be March 15.

In Torrey for January, which has lately appeared, Professor Vaughan MacCaughy writes on "The Hawaiian Violaceae" or violets. George T. Hastings of Yonkers writes on "Some Abnormal Poplar Flowers."

To The Journal of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae for February, Professor George P. Bristol writes a letter on the lack of vocational appeal in American colleges of to-day. He points out that the work of the college has always been largely vocational, but that it should not become too largely so.

In The Quarterly Journal of Speech Education for January, just received, Professor John P. Ryan '02, of Grinnell College, writes on "Terminology: the Department of Speech." "The Broader Aspects of Speech Training" is the subject of a paper by Smiley Blanton '14, written in collaboration with Margaret Gray Blanton. Professor Edwin D. Shurter '92, of the University of Texas, contributes a useful article on "The Rhetoric of Oratory and How to Teach It."

In The Cornell Review for February, which has just appeared, Anna C. Kerr '16 writes on "Experiences of a Food Conservation Agent." Miss Kerr is the agent for Seneca County.

CORNELL MEN IN FRANCE

The establishing of the Cornell Bureau in the American University Union has proceeded very effectively under the direction of Mr. Weil and his assistants. That a Cornell home could be established for and by Cornell men in France, wholly without funds from America, is a tribute to the devotion of these men toward the University and its fighting men.

Six weeks ago, in the ALUMNI NEWS and in the Sun, Professor Sampson appealed to Cornellians, alumni and undergraduates, to contribute a dollar, five dollars, any amount they chose, to put the undertaking on an equitable basis as to the distribution of expense, and to take its support out of the hands of the few Cornell men in war-ridden France.

The result to date is $1057. Money is still coming in, though now more slowly.

The appeal has reached a few persons who have given sums of twenty-five, fifty, or a hundred dollars because they could, because they saw that the Union would increase the efficiency of one of the most intelligent groups of men in the Army, and because they realized that the morale of the fighters is likely to be the deciding factor in the War. To the person of smaller means, the appeal has not got across as well. Contributions of one, five, and ten dollars scarcely exceed numerically those of ten times the size.

Perhaps the smaller contributions represent a greater sacrifice than do the larger ones. What of it? Suppose one gives up every habit he has to support this cause; he is still giving up but an infinitesimal amount in comparison with what those men in France are risking.

The Treasurer of the University, Charles D. Bostwick, is the officer to whom contributions should be sent.

TAU BETA PI ELECTIONS

One senior, ten juniors, and two graduates were elected to membership in Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering society, at the spring elections. The one senior is F. L. Shaefer. The list:

Graduates—Clyde Potts C.E. '01, P. T. Vanderwaart M.E. '09.

Mechanical Engineers—Frederick L. Schaefer, Earl R. Evans, F. C. Evans, William K. Henigbaum, Wallace B. Quail, Archer M. Sampson, Thomas F. Stacy.

Civil Engineers—George P. Bullard, John C. Gebhard, Percy S. Wilson.

Chemist—Henryk Rynalski.

THE EDITORIAL BOARD of The Cornell Law Quarterly announces the election of Louis Welton Dawson '19, Boonton, N. J., as editor-in-chief; of James Allen Ewing '19, Youngstown, Ohio, as business manager; and of Searles Gregory Shultz '20, Skaneateles, N. Y., as assistant business manager. The new board takes charge of the magazine with the forthcoming issue for May, the last of the present volume. Professor Charles K. Burdick remains the Faculty editor.

LECTURES FOR THE WEEK include "Georges Clemenceau," in French, by Fernand Jager, "First Steps in Pheasant Breeding," by E. A. Quarles, "The Care and Feeding of Young Pheasants," by Mr. Quarles and H. T. Rogers, and "The War and Sanitation," by Professor Ogden in the History of Civilization course.

OBITUARY

Winfred B. Mack '04

Dr. Winfred Berdell Mack, professor of veterinary science and bacteriology in the University of Nevada, died at his home in Reno on January 18, after an illness of three months. He was born on March 22, 1871. After graduating from the Veterinary College in 1904, Mack went West on account of lung trouble, and in 1906 became veterinarian and bacteriologist at the Nevada Experiment Station. In 1909 he was appointed director of the State Hygienic Laboratory, holding this position till 1915. He was also director of the State Veterinary Control Service, state quarantine officer, secretary of the State Board of Stock Commissioners, secretary of the State Rabies Commission, and resident secretary for Nevada of the American Veterinary Medical Association. He had done much for the live stock interests of Nevada. He was a member of Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi.

In 1899 he married Miss Olla H. Symonds, of Fulton, N. Y., who survives him.

Kenneth H. Nash '12

Kenneth Hugh Nash, a private in the Ordnance Department, died of meningitis at his home in Washington, D. C., on February 13. He was born on November 5, 1888, the son of Franklin P. and Etta Moore Nash, and was prepared for college at the Manual Training High School. He entered Cornell in the fall of 1908 in the course in mechanical engineering. After graduation he was connected with the Western Union Telegraph Company in New York for three years, and afterward engaged in the automobile business in Washington. He was a member of Lebanon Lodge, No. 7, F. & A. M., and of Hamline M. E. Church.

CORNELL AND THE NEXT LOAN

There are five 1912 men in the publicity department of the Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District, which includes New York State and parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. J. I. Clarke is assistant director of publicity and manager of the advertising bureau. E. R. Stempel is in charge of the distribution of supplies. L. C. Boochever is in charge of the franking division. R. W. Kellogg is director of upstate cooperation in the service bureau. F. M. Coffin is assistant to the director of publicity. Cornell men of other classes are Campfield

Leonard '05 and S. N. Shaw '18 who are with Clarke in the Advertising bureau. Jansen Noyes '10 and Stanton Griffis '10 are members of the committee in the fourth district. C. B. (Deacon) Tailby, who was associated with the Cornell Co-op, is an assistant in the office of the Director of Publicity.

CLEVELAND LUNCHEON

Major Roger G. Perkins, Professor of Hygiene in the Western Reserve School of Medicine, spoke to fifty members of the Cornell Club of Cleveland on February 28 at the University Club about the work of the Red Cross in Roumania. Major Perkins has just returned from Roumania, where he has been with the Red Cross Commission.

THE MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION

The Cornell University Association of Michigan is holding its weekly luncheon on Thursdays at 12:15 at the Detroit Board of Commerce. War conditions have cut the attendance in two, compared with a year ago, but there are fifteen or twenty Cornell men present each Thursday who are anxious to receive visitors from out of town. A very good lunch is served for sixty cents.

THE SPRINGFIELD CLUB

The Cornell Club of Springfield held a war smoker at the Cooley Hotel on Saturday, March 2. Robert H. Newcomb, a member of the Publicity Bureau, Council of National Defense, was the speaker and he dealt with subjects relating to war preparations not available for newspaper publication. A musical and stunt program was given in addition to the smoker. At the last meeting of the club the following officers were elected: president, S. E. Whiting '98; vice-president, S. A. Kalberg '10; secretary-treasurer, C. H. Davidson '11.

Wrestling

The Cornell wrestling team broke even on a trip to Philadelphia and Annapolis over the week end, defeating the University of Pennsylvania but losing to the midshipmen. In Philadelphia Cornell won three bouts on decision, one on a fall, and one by default, while Penn took one bout by a fall, and one by default. Stafford of Cornell, entered in the 158-pound class, was taken ill on the trip and was unable to enter either match.

The bout between Captain Keeterer of Penn and Bullard of Cornell in the 135-pound class, which was won by the Cornell man, was the most interesting match in the Penn-Cornell meet. It went on for fifteen minutes before a decision was made in the Cornelian's favor. The summary:

115-pound—Rofe, Cornell, won by default.

125-pound—Ackerly, Cornell, won on decision over Rose, Penn, nine minutes.

135-pound—Bullard, Cornell, defeated Keeterer (capt.), Penn, on decision, 15 minutes, advantage of 27 seconds.

145-pound—Tuttle, Cornell, defeated Danty, Penn, on decision, advantage of 23 seconds.

158-pound—Kerfoot, Penn, won by default from Stafford.

175-pound — Huntington, Cornell, threw Wolf, Penn, bar lock and head chancery, four minutes, 40 seconds.

Heavyweight—Schulte, Penn, threw Porter, Cornell, head chancery and arm lock, three minutes.

The middies were clearly superior to the Cornellians in their match though Rofe in the 115-pound class and Bullard in the 145-pound class compelled their opponents to go fifteen minutes before winning decisions. The summary:

115-pound—Hay, Navy, defeated Rofe, Cornell, on decision, fifteen minutes.

125-pound—Wyatt, Navy, defeated Ackerly, Cornell, on decision, nine minutes.

135-pound—Anderson, Navy, defeated Bullard, Cornell, on decision, fifteen minutes.

145-pound—Pixton, Navy, defeated Tuttle, Cornell, on decision, nine minutes.

158-pound—Redmond, Navy, won by default.

175-pound—Hill, Navy, defeated Huntington, Cornell, on decision, nine minutes.

Heavyweight—Meichle, Navy, threw Porter, Cornell, chancery and arm lock, one minute, 46 seconds.

Basketball

Cornell 28—Colgate 17

In the last non-league game of the season, played here Wednesday night, Cornell defeated Colgate by the score of 28 to 17, coming up from behind after having trailed the visitors for more than half of the game and giving another one of those exhibitions of "punch" which have characterized the play of the team at various times during this season. The maroon five had a lead of eleven points before Cornell started scoring, and even at the end of the first half was leading by the score of 13 to 8.

In this half Colgate's team play bewildered the Cornell five, the Ithacans being unable to locate the basket. In the second period Stewart and Kendall led an offensive which swept the visitors off their feet. Within a short time after the half had opened Cornell was leading, and shots by Minasian, Karr, Kendall, and Tripp clinched the victory. Cornell's guarding in the second half was close, the opposing forwards failing to secure a single field basket. Edkins starred for Colgate while Kendall led the Cornell team in scoring.

The summary:

Cornell	Colgate
Stewart.....L. F.....	Edkins
Stewart.....L. F.....	McBride
Tripp.....R. F.....	Edkins
Karr.....C.....	Webster
Allen.....L. G.....	Smith
Kendall.....R. G.....	Cottrell

Field goals: Cornell—Stewart, Tripp 3, Karr, Minasian 2, Kendall 4; Colgate—Edkins 3, Webster 2, Smith; foul goals: Stewart 6 out of 14, Edkins 5 out of 7; substitutions: Minasian for Allen, Henry for Minasian, Minasian for Karr, Cotterel for Cottrell; referee, W. C. Hickok, Ithaca; time of periods, 20 minutes.

Cornell 22—Yale 21

The game with Yale, which Cornell won by the score of 22 to 21, was perhaps the most interesting and spectacular contest played in Ithaca this winter. The narrow margin of victory gives some idea of how keenly and how closely the two teams fought. The Cornell five appeared to have the game well in hand at the end of the first period, which terminated with the Ithacans leading by the score of 13 to 7; but the Blue, with proverbial Yale spirit, rallied at the opening of the second half and for a major part of that period clearly outplayed the Cornellians, who managed, however, to pull together in a final rally in the last five minutes and win out by a narrow margin. And it was a close squeak for Cornell, for Stradella of Yale threw two pretty baskets just before the end of the game and came within one point of tying the score.

The playing of Van Slyck of Yale and of Kendall of Cornell was the feature of the contest, the Yale man giving as fine an exhibition as any seen here this season. He scored five field goals himself, and on several occasions tossed the ball to a companion who made the goal. Kendall gave him a close fight straight through the game and in addition to good guarding bore, with Stewart, the brunt of Cornell's offensive. Another feature of the game was that only six fouls were called, three in each half. It was one of the cleanest games seen here in a long time.

Cornell	.....	Yale
Tripp.....	R. F.....	Auger
Stewart.....	L. F.....	Van Slyck
Karr.....	C.....	Hammill
Kendall.....	R. G.....	Stradella
Allen.....	L. G.....	Dann

Field goals: Cornell—Stewart, Karr, Kendall 4, Allen 2, Minasian; Yale—Van Slyck 5, Hammill 2, Stradella 3; foul goals: Stewart 4 out of 9, Van Slyck 1 out of 2; substitution: Minasian for Allen; referee, W. C. Hickok, Ithaca; time of periods, 20 minutes.

Cornell 44—Dartmouth 5

Cornell closed the basketball season Monday night with an overwhelming victory over Dartmouth, winning by the score of 44 to 5. The contest was so one-sided that it lacked interest, the Cornellians scoring almost at will. The Green scored only two goals from the field in the whole game. Cornell ran up a score of 26 to 2 in the first period, and after the first team had piled on more points in the second period Dr. Sharpe sent the second team to the floor and the game resolved into a sort of a wild scramble with Cornell's subs scoring six points to Dartmouth's two.

Tripp carried off individual scoring honors as far as field goals were concerned, tallying 12 points. Stewart with four field goals and four foul goals equalled Tripp's score. Ainsworth was the only Dartmouth man to find the basket.

Cornell	.....	Dartmouth
Stewart.....	L. F.....	Mogridge
Tripp.....	R. F.....	Deane
Karr.....	C.....	Hutchinson
Allen.....	L. G.....	Ainsworth
Kendall.....	R. G.....	Larmon

Field goals: Cornell—Stewart 4, Tripp 6, Allen 3, Kendall 3, Minasian 2, Henry, Lurio; Dartmouth—Mogridge 2; foul goals: Stewart 4 out of 6; Hilliker 1 out of 6; substitutions: Cornell—Lurio for Stewart, Lofton for Tripp, Minasian for Karr, Henry for Allen, Hubach for Kendall; Dartmouth—Sullivan for Deane, Hilliker for Ainsworth; referee, H. C. Curtis, Oberlin; umpire, W. C. Hickok, Ithaca; time of periods, 20 minutes.

The Dartmouth game closed a successful basketball season. Although Cornell managed to attain only third place in the standing of the Intercollegiate League, Pennsylvania winning the championship, and Princeton coming in second, the local team won all but three games on its schedule. In the league games, its record shows two victories each over Yale, Columbia, and Dartmouth, and one victory over Princeton; in the non-league games, two victories over Rochester, and one each over Niagara and Colgate. In league games Cornell lost two contests to Pennsylvania and one to Princeton, and the team was also beaten by the five from the U. S. Ambulance Corps at Allentown, Pa.

Cornell 39, Columbia 26.
Cornell 22, Yale 21.
Cornell 44, Dartmouth 5.

The Meadowbrook Games

Although members of the Cornell track team succeeded in placing in a number of events at the annual games of the Meadowbrook Athletic Club at Philadelphia last Friday and Saturday, they did not manage to secure a first place.

The one-mile relay team was beaten by Pennsylvania in a fast race. Shackleton, who was matched against Davis of Penn in the first relay, was three yards behind at the end of that lap. Cleminshaw, pitted against Gustafson, gave Walker Smith, the third Cornell man, a one-yard advantage, but the latter was no match for Irwin of Penn, who finished about twenty yards to the good. Mayer, Cornell's anchor man, could not make up any of this distance against Landers. Pennsylvania's time was 3:32 3/5.

Ivan Dresser finished fourth in the Meadowbrook mile, which was won by "Joie" Ray of Chicago in 4:17 4/5, very fast time for the boards. In a special thousand-yard race on Friday, Dresser, running from scratch, took third place.

Barely a foot separated Erdman of Princeton and Smith and Cleminshaw of Cornell in the forty-five-yard hurdle race, the men finishing in the order named. Erdman tied the world's record at six seconds.

FRED WILLIAM SULTAN, JR., of St. Louis has been elected assistant manager of the musical clubs.
