We Welcome You,

The members of the Veterinary Circle of the College of Veterinary Medicine welcome and cordially invite you to join us in this year's program planned for the Annual January Conference.

Each year we look forward to hosting the Spouses' Program to share and enjoy long-time friends, and to welcome those who are new to our college and city. We hope you will come and be a part of the program we have planned.

On Tuesday morning at 9:00 a.m. there will be a lecture entitled "Veterinary Malpractice: The Changing Scence" given by Jack R. Dinsmore, DVM and David A McConnell, DVM in room D-105.

Ann Phemister, the wife of our Dean, invites you for tea in their lovely home in Ellis Hollow on Tuesday afternoon. This is a perfect way to relax after travel. The home-baked sweets and breads are always fabulous as is her special blend of teas.

That evening we hope you will join us at the Sheraton Inn for our Conference Dinner-Dance.

On Wednesday morning, the New York State Veterinary Medical Society Auxiliary will hold their Annual Winter Meeting.

The Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology will be the site of our luncheon this year. Enjoy a relaxed luncheon in the Stuart Observatory which overlooks the lovely pond. Following the luncheon, the Director, Dr. Charles Walcott, will give an informative talk on "The Mysteries of Bird Navigation," in the Fuertes Room, one of Cornell University's best appointed lecture rooms illustrated by Fuertes' original paintings of birds.

For those who would like some exercise before heading home, we again offer cross-country skiing leaving from the Moakley House.

Come and enjoy brunch on Thursday morning at the farm home of Beth Campbell. Enjoy the delicious food and homey atmosphere while chatting with friends.

Ithaca offers many interesting shops and restaurants for you to investigate in your free time.

As you may already know, the hub of the Conference activity is to be found in the Hagan Room. This is where you can always find a hot cup of coffee, apples and donuts, a place to meet with old friends and acquaint yourself with new friends. Cully Fox is the coordinator of the Hospitality Room.

We welcome you, ask you to join us, and look forward to visiting with you.
