

Ezra's Archives

A Cornell Undergraduate
Historical Society Publication

Acknowledgments

The Editorial Board of this journal is deeply grateful for the generous support of our faculty advisor, Holly Case, who has been an enormous help throughout the publication process. A special thank you to former Editor-in-Chief Rose Hanson '15 for her continued support and guidance. This journal would not have been possible without the critical readings and insightful feedback of our dedicated editors. Finally, we would like to thank the SAFC, the many students across the country who took the time to submit their work to this publication, and the History Department at Cornell University for its continued support of Ezra's Archives.

On the Writers

CHRISTOPHER HAUGHEY is a senior studying History and Political Science at the University of Michigan. He is primarily interested in post-World War II American political and cultural history. Specifically, Christopher studies the relationships between political and cultural movements, the government, and larger society. He lives in San Clemente, California.

DANIEL KILGORE is a senior at the University of Minnesota-Twin Cities. He lives in Mahtomedi, Minnesota. Daniel is majoring in History, and his studies primarily focus on the Italian Renaissance in the 15th and 16th centuries, with an emphasis on religious and intellectual history.

MEREDITH MILLER is a junior at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill double majoring in History and Art History. Her primary interests include the role of visual culture in reflecting and shaping European society in the decades leading up to and directly following World War I. She hails from Elon, North Carolina.

JENNIFER SMITH is a senior at the University of Washington, majoring in History and the Comparative History of Ideas, with a minor in American Indian Studies. Jennifer is particularly interested in Indigenous resistance and sovereignty, with an emphasis on the diverse Native peoples of the Pacific Northwest. She lives in Seattle, Washington and is looking forward to beginning a graduate program in History in the fall of 2016.

CHARLES SORGE is a senior at the University of Michigan majoring in History and Political Science. He is interested in colonial American history, and is writing an honors thesis on loyalist women during after the Revolutionary War. Charles is also interested in legal history, which he hopes to study beginning next year in law school. He hails from Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.
