NEW COURSE A SUCCESS.

Large Attendance on Lectures in Sanitary Science—The Enrollment.

By PROFESSOR HENRY N. OGDEN.

The course of lectures on Sanitary Science and Public Health, which is being given for the first time through the coöperation of the University and the State Department of Health, has been most favorably received. One hundred and eleven students are regularly registered in the course, while the attendance at every lecture has been about three times that number. Many members of the faculty are regularly present, as well as a sprinkling of the residents of the city.

Of the 111 students, 17 are women and 94 men. The entire number is about equally divided between the Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores, and in these classes there are 88 per cent. of the total. The first year men in medicine, graduate students, and special students account for the other 12 per cent. The College of Arts furnishes the largest number of students, viz., 39, and the Law School, the smallest number, 3, although the proportion registered, to the total number of students in each college, is remarkably uniform. About 5 per cent. of the students in Arts, Agriculture, Architecture and Civil Engineering are registered, 2 per cent. of the students in Law and in Mechanical Engineering, and 20 per cent. of the students in Medicine. This would seem to indicate that, while the Medical Course students consider the course a professional one for them, the rest of the University regards it as a subject of general interest, and the large number of regular visitors would seem to confirm their attitude.

The lectures which have so far been given have, without exception, been carefully prepared, have held the attention of the mixed audience throughout, and will undoubtedly serve to awaken a live interest and concern in matters pertaining to the public health.

Following President Schurman's introductory lecture of October 8, already reported in these columns, there have been lectures in the new course by Dr. Eugene H. Porter, '80, Commissioner of Health of New York State; Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary of the Committee on Congestion of Population in New York city; Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company, and Raymond A. Pearson, '94, State Commissioner of Agriculture. Dr. Porter's address was a review of the history of public sanitation and a consideration of modern conditions and future needs. He believed that the inauguration of this course of lectures at Cornell was the beginning of a new epoch in sanitary science. Mr. Marsh's subject was "Town Planning in Relation to Public Health." He showed lantern slides illustrating unhealthful congestion of factories and tenements in New York city as contrasted with better conditions elsewhere, notably in Germany, where towns have been planned with regard to fresh air, sunlight, transportation and drainage. Mr. Hoffman spoke on "Problems of Life and Health in Industry" and Commissioner Pearson told of the work done by the State Department of Agriculture in preventing the adulteration of food supplies, in controlling animal diseases, and in other ways related to the public health.

A joint concert will be given by the Amherst and Cornell musical clubs in the Lyceum theater on Friday evening of this week, the night before the Amherst-Cornell football game. Arrangements have also been virtually closed for a joint concert with the University of Pennsylvania clubs in Philadelphia on Wednesday evening, November 25.

William G. Broadfoot, of Fayetteville, N. C., has been elected president of the freshman class.

PRESIDENT GOING WEST.

Dr. Schurman Will Deliver Addresses in Missouri, Utah and Washington, Reaching the Pacific Coast Late in December—Arrangements in Progress for Alumni Reunions.

President Schurman is to make a Western trip, leaving Ithaca on December 8 and returning at the close of the Christmas holidays. On the evening of December 9 he is to be the guest of the Cornell Alumni at St. Louis. Under an escort of honor of St. Louis Cornellians in a special Pullman sleeper, he then goes to Columbia for the inauguration on the 10th and 11th of Dr. Hill as President of the State University of Missouri. The principal address is to be given by President Schurman and the afternoon of Thursday is devoted to it. The formal exercises of installation and President Hill's address come on Friday forenoon. Immediately at their close President Schurman returns to Chicago, where he is the guest of honor at the dinner of the New England Society, which has been put on Saturday, December 12, to meet his convenience.

Plans for the following week have not yet been completed; but arrangements are in progress for alumni reunions, and certain universities between Chicago and Denver are likely to be visited.

On December 21, 22 and 23, President Schurman makes two addresses before the Utah State Teachers' Association, after which he proceeds to Seattle, visiting, if possible, on the way certain points in Oregon and Washington. On December 30 and 31 he gives two addresses before the State Teachers' Association of the State of Washington at Spokane. Returning at once homeward, he is scheduled to reach Ithaca by the close of the Christmas holidays. And he will not have any time to spare, as the Association of American Universities, of which he was last year president, meets at Cornell University on January 7 and 8.

WHENCE STUDENTS COME.*Comparison of Attendance at Six Eastern Universities.

Professor Rudolf Tombo, jr., of Columbia University, contributes to the latest number of Science his annual study of the geographical distribution of the student body at a number of universities and colleges; the same article, in condensed form, is printed in the Evening Post of New York. Of most interest to Cornellians are those parts of the article which compare the attendance of students from five grand divisions of the United States, from insular and non-contiguous Territories and from foreign countries at six Eastern universities—Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale. This division of attendance is shown in the following table, the figures being those of 1907-8, exclusive of summer session:

Divisions:	Col.	Cor.	Har.
North Atlantic .....	3,404	2,731	3,426
South Atlantic .....	147	196	146
South Central .....	111	96	95
North Central .....	380	445	526
Western .....	121	91	138
Territories .....	6	32	10
Foreign countries .....	173	143	142
Total .....	4,342	3,734	4,483
Divisions:	Penn.	Prin.	Yale.
North Atlantic .....	3,343	825	2,315
South Atlantic .....	180	106	100
South Central .....	62	48	97
North Central .....	188	164	579
Western .....	39	29	115
Territories .....	9	1	11
Foreign Countries .....	216	20	89
Total .....	4,037	1,253	3,306

The figures, says Professor Tombo, prove once more that these institutions combined are more than holding their own in sections outside of the North Atlantic division. In fact, the gains made by these six universities in States outside the division in which they are situated are more than twice as large as they were in 1907, when the increase was more than double that of 1906. The exact figures are 381, 189 and 91, respectively. He continues:

Greatest gains in actual number of students, leaving the North Atlantic division out of consideration, and also omitting all summer-session students, were registered in the North Central division (117), the very section in which the State universities furnish the highest degree of competition. On the other hand, it should be noted that the State institutions of the Middle West are drawing Eastern students in constantly increasing numbers, Michigan alone having had 116 more students from the North Atlantic division in 1908 than in 1905.

In their representation from foreign countries the six universities show a gain of 92 students over the preceding year, while the South Atlantic division, with one of 86, comes next, followed by the Western (41), and South Central (36) divisions.

In the South Atlantic division all of these institutions show a gain, with the exception of Yale; in the South Central States the exceptions are Harvard and Princeton; in the North Central division all of them, with the exception of Princeton, show gains which are quite substantial in the case of Columbia and Cornell; in the far Western States Pennsylvania and Princeton are the only institutions that show a loss, while all six have increased their clientèle from foreign countries.

Comparing this year's figures with those of three years ago, we observe that the most substantial gains have been made by Columbia (118), Yale (73), and Cornell (64), in the North Central division; by Columbia (39), in the South Central division; by Yale (37), in the Western division; by Pennsylvania (33), Harvard (32) and Columbia (29), in the South Atlantic division, and by Pennsylvania (90), Columbia (56), Harvard (48) and Cornell (43), in foreign countries.

We see from the table that Harvard and Columbia continue to have the largest representation in the North Atlantic division, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Yale and Princeton following in the order named. Outside of Michigan, Western institutions like California, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio State, Wisconsin and the University of Virginia attract comparatively few students from this section of the country, although, with the exception of California, all of those mentioned show gains in attendance from this division over last year.

Harvard leads in all of the New England States with the natural exception of Connecticut, where Yale has the largest following. Columbia leads in New York and New Jersey, drawing 413 students from that State as against Princeton's 166, and the University of Pennsylvania has the largest clientèle in its own State. Cornell is second in New York State, Yale, Harvard and Princeton following. Michigan, however, attracts more students (326) from this State than Princeton (282). Cornell is also second in Pennsylvania.

Of the Eastern universities, Pennsylvania has the largest percentage (67 per cent.) of enrollment from its own State. The percentages for the other institutions are: Columbia, 62 per cent.; Cornell, 54 per cent.; Harvard, 52 per cent.; Yale, 34 per cent., and Princeton only 21 per cent. At the prominent universities of the Middle West the percentage is much higher, except in the case of Chicago, where 43 per cent. of the students hail from Illinois (the Chicago figures are inclusive of the summer session), and Michigan, where 53 per cent. of the students come from the State in which the institution is situated. The percentage for Purdue is 76 per cent., for Wisconsin 81 per cent., for Illinois and Missouri 83 per cent., and for Ohio 91 per cent.

In the North Central division the greatest gains in individual States in the past three years have been made by Columbia in Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin; by Cornell, in Ohio; by Harvard, in Missouri; by Pennsylvania, in Iowa, and by Yale, in Missouri and Ohio. Columbia's representation in this group of States has grown from 262 to 380 in three years, Cornell's from 381 to 445, Pennsylvania's from 139 to 188, and Yale's from 506 to 579, while Harvard's has remained stationary at 526, and Princeton's has dropped from 209 to 164.

Cornell continues to lead in the number of students from the insular possessions.

Taking only the six Eastern universities, the table shows that Columbia leads or is tied for first place in seventeen States and Territories, Yale in fourteen, Harvard in twelve, Cornell in ten, Pennsylvania in four, and Princeton in none, as follows: Columbia—New Jersey, New York, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Arizona, Montana, Nevada, Washington and Alaska; Yale—Connecticut, Florida, West Virginia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Colorado, Idaho and Alaska; Harvard—Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Tennessee, Iowa, South Dakota, California, New Mexico, Wyoming and Hawaii; Cornell—District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Oregon, Wyoming, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico; Pennsylvania—Pennsylvania, Delaware, Idaho and Utah.

The number of foreign students at American institutions of higher learning is increasing rapidly from year to year. There are altogether 783 foreigners at the six Eastern universities, as against 540 three years ago. Owing to the considerable representation of foreign students in its dental school, Pennsylvania continues to head the list, with 216, followed by Columbia 173, Cornell 143, Harvard 142, Yale 89, M. I. T. 80, and Michigan 64. The order in North America for the institutions that get most foreign students is Harvard, Columbia, Pennsylvania; in South America, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Columbia and Ohio; in Europe, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Harvard; in Asia, Columbia, Cornell, Yale; in Africa, M. I. T., Harvard; in Australasia, Pennsylvania, Harvard.

As for the representation from individual countries that send at least eight students to any one institution, Harvard leads in Canada; Pennsylvania in Central America, Cuba, Brazil, Colombia, Great Britain and Ireland, Holland, Australia and New Zealand; Missouri in Mexico; Cornell in the Argentine Republic and China; Columbia in Germany, Russia and Japan; California in India.

Taking the representation of foreigners at all of the institutions mentioned, with the exception of Chicago, it is found that the largest delegations are sent by the following countries: Canada, 210; Japan, 142; China, 139; Mexico, 90; Cuba, 67; Great Britain and Ireland, 60; Argentine Republic, 56, and India, 54.

A. L. Rose, '10, of Geneva, has won the golf championship of the University.

MEMBERS OF THE DEUTSCHER VEREIN IN A SCENE FROM THE PLAY.

IN NEW YORK ON NOV. 16.

Arrangements for the Appearance of the "Deutscher Verein."

On November 7 the general sale of seats will begin for the New York performance of Meyer-Foerster's "Alt Heidelberg" by the "Deutscher Verein" of Cornell University. The play will be performed at the New German Theater, Madison avenue and Fifty-ninth street, on Monday evening, November 16. Last December the Verein produced this play at the Lyceum in Ithaca in such a way as to please two large audiences and, as the ALUMNI NEWS said at that time, to set a standard for all the other dramatic clubs of the University. Naturally the players wished to repeat their success in a larger town than Ithaca, and when an opportunity came for them to give the play in New York city under the auspices of the Association of German Authors of America, it was gladly accepted. Virtually the same cast and chorus will repeat the performance this year with the advantage of experience and additional time for training. Special permission to use the play was obtained from the author, and the players had, as they will again have, the assistance of the stage-copy of the play belonging to the Neues Schauspielhaus of Berlin. A feature much appreciated last year was the singing of German student songs by the chorus, a number of the members of which are members also of the University Glee Club. There will be no other performance of "Alt Heidelberg" at the New German Theatre this season. One week before the New York performance, namely, on November 9, the Verein will present the play again in Ithaca.

Music Festival Program.

The sixth annual Music Festival at the University will be held on April 29 and 30 and May 1. There will be five concerts, as follows:

Thursday evening, April 29, Sullivan's "Golden Legend," with a quartet of soloists, chorus and orchestra.

Friday afternoon, a miscellaneous concert, at which the chorus will sing five numbers—three unaccompanied and two with the orchestra—the other half of the program to be given by the orchestra and the soloist (probably Mr. Gogorza).

Saturday afternoon, Pierne's "The Children at Bethlehem," by a chorus of 200 children, 7 soloists and orchestra.

Saturday evening, Verdi's "Aida" with a full cast, chorus and orchestra.

This is the most elaborate program yet undertaken by the Department of Music. The works to be given demand excellent soloists and more than the usual number. The list of soloists will be announced later.

The new members of the chorus have already begun rehearsals and the entire chorus will begin work on Monday evening, November 29. In all parts, excepting the soprano, there are still a few vacancies, which will be filled by competition.

A new feature in the 1909 festival will be a cantata sung by a chorus of 200 children, assisted by a reader, seven soloists and full orchestra. The children's chorus will be organized immediately after the Christmas vacation.

Interest in the Campaign.

In the closing days of the political campaign the interest of faculty and students at Cornell in national, state and local issues was noticeable. Judge Taft addressed a meeting in the Lyceum theater on Saturday afternoon; Lewis S. Chanler, the Democratic candidate for Governor, had been heard in the same place on the day before. The Civic Club, the Cornell Congress and the Republican Club of the University had speakers from the Faculty and from out of town on political subjects, and the Sun ran every morning a column of telegraphic news of the campaign. On Thursday of last week the Sun conducted a mock election in Morrill Hall. Candidates Taft and Hughes received a large majority of votes both of the faculty and of the undergraduates. More than 1,700 votes were polled. On registration day watchers in the East Hill district challenged the right of about twenty-five students to cast their ballots in Ithaca on election day, on the ground that they were not legal residents of the city. It is asserted that some of these students are members of the instructing staff of the University. They were not allowed to register, and the action of the inspectors in denying them this right was upheld, on appeal, by the county court. University sentiment generally declined to regard this as a merely party matter. The Sun argued for the right of the students to vote, but opened its columns to arguments on both sides.

Lower Classes Evenly Matched.

Freshmen and sophomores met at football on Friday afternoon and neither side was able to score. This was the second tie in the series of underclass contests, the freshman and sophomore track teams having scored each 71½ points in a meet held a few days earlier. Friday's result makes it impossible, without another freshman-sophomore game, to award the Beahan interclass football trophy, because neither the juniors nor the seniors have a team on the field this fall.

The freshman eleven has not yet been defeated. Its record to date is as follows: October 10, Ithaca High School, 14-0; October 17, George Junior Republic, 6-0; October 24, Starkey Seminary, 10-0; Sophomores, 0-0. The team has no other game scheduled until it meets the University of Pennsylvania freshmen at Philadelphia on November 21.

The third in the series of underclass contests, the "flag rush," was held on the Armory green on Saturday evening and was won by the sophomores, who scored 63 hands on the canvas to 50 hands scored by the freshmen. M. S. Halliday, '06, acted as referee. The only remaining contest in the underclass series is a baseball game to be played in the spring.

'Cross-Country Practice.

With three weeks more for practice before the intercollegiate meet, fifteen men are competing in the practice runs of the 'varsity' cross-country squad. On Wednesday of this week the team has a dual meet with the Yale runners at New Haven. The intercollegiate meet is to be held at Princeton on November 21. Seven men have been eating at the training table, including Captain Young, the only veteran on the squad. Young and Taylor, one of last year's second string men, are running up to the usual 'varsity' standard, and the other men are doing fair work considering their inexperience. 'Cross-country running as an intercollegiate sport is more important this year than ever before because the I. C. A. A. A. has taken charge of it, and all the colleges that are members of that association may now come into the meet. Until this season the sport has been under the control of a separate association. Seven men will start for each college and the first five to finish will count toward the score. Last year nine starters were allowed and six counted. Cornell has won the meet eight times in the nine years it has been held.

Coach Moakley reports that the freshman track squad this fall is much better than the average of past years. The result of the underclass meet, held ten days ago, was for some time in doubt, owing to the closeness of the score and was finally declared a tie. Freshmen won first place in the quarter-mile, the two-mile, the high hurdles, the low hurdles and the pole vault. In the quarter-mile freshmen finished one, two, three, four.

1905 Address List.

An Address List and Geographical Index of the Class of 1905 has been compiled and published by the Memorial Fund Trustees of the class. It is a small pamphlet of sixty-nine pages. The members of the class are scattered through thirty-eight States and Territories, four American dependencies and ten foreign countries.

Cheer Leaders Elected.

At an election held on Tuesday, at which the voters were members of the three upper classes, ten seniors were chosen to be cheer leaders for the year. They are: R. E. Treman, Ithaca; R. E. Bishop, Syracuse; S. E. Blunt, Fort Terry; J. W. Cox, jr., Albany; C. F. Baumhofer, Niagara Falls; H. P. Reed, Milwaukee, Wis.; H. M. Curry, Pittsburg; L. G. Hallberg, jr., Evanston, Ill.; W. S. Keenholts, jr., Altamont; W. V. A. Clark, Lakewood, N. J. From among these men J. W. Cox, jr., was elected head cheer leader.

STATE COLLEGE BEATEN.

Score, 10 to 4—Varsity Shows Good Progress All Around.

By all-around good play the 'varsity eleven on Saturday erased the memory of last year's defeat by Pennsylvania State College. Last year State College scored two field goals to Cornell's one touchdown. This year Cornell reversed the story, making two touchdowns to a single field goal by Vorhis; the final score was 10 to 4.

There were several encouraging elements in Cornell's game, among them being the work of the ends and backs and the strong defensive play of the entire team. Captain Walder made some of the longest punts of his career, and MacArthur and Hurlburt were fast enough and sure enough in tackling to make them count for their full value. Walder showed his power in line-bucking as well as in punting. Wight, for a center, displayed uncommon agility in emergencies. Hoffman and MacArthur made the two touchdowns possible by good handling of forward passes. Gardner played quarterback through all but the last minute of the game. The line-up was virtually the same as in the Vermont game a week earlier and the team showed that progress had been made in the meantime.

The line-up follows:

CORNELL	STATE COLLEGE
Hurlburt.....l. e.	Barr
Leventy.....l. t.	Weaver
Cosgrove.....l. g.	McClellan
Wight.....c.	Gray
McCollum.....r. g.	Cyphers
O'Rourke.....r. t.	Smith
MacArthur.....r. e.	Hipple
Gardner.....q. b.	Ballou
Tydeman.....l. h.	Vorhis
Hoffman.....r. h.	McCleary
Walder.....f. b.	Hirshman

Touchdowns—Walder, 2. Goal from field—Vorhis. Substitutions—Cornell: Pavek for Leventy, Crosby for MacArthur, O'Hara for Gardner, Mowe for Tydeman, Shearer for Hoffman, Hutchinson for Shearer, Pope for Walder. Referee—Lewis Hinkey of Yale. Umpire—Mr. McCarthy of Germantown. Field judge—A. M. Langford of Trinity. Head linesman—Ray Finucane of Cornell. Time of halves—25 minutes.

FIRST HALF.

Cornell defended the west goal, having the advantage of a strong west wind. State College kicked off to Hoffman on Cornell's 15-yard line and he ran to the 30-yard line. On an attempt to circle right end Tydeman was tackled behind the line for a loss of ten yards. Walder punted to State's 50-yard line and Ballou came back twelve yards; he was tackled by O'Rourke. State tried an end run without gain and on the next play suffered an offside penalty of ten yards. An onside kick was used successfully, the ball being recovered on Cornell's 35-yard line, only to be lost by a fumble on the next play. Walder punted out of bounds on State's 50-yard line. Hirshman and Vorhis failed to gain the distance and Cornell took the ball on downs at midfield. Hoffman and Walder made five yards. An onside kick went to Vorhis, who was tackled on State's 38-yard line. Vorhis and Hirshman made it first down on State's 51-yard line. State tried a forward pass, but Walder caught the ball and was downed on State's 43-yard line. Walder gained eleven yards in two plunges through the line. Hoffman was sent around left end for fifteen yards, but there had been holding in the Cornell line and the ball was brought back to State's 45-yard line. Walder bucked the line for nine yards. Tydeman failed to gain. An onside kick went to Ballou, who punted, and State regained the ball on a fumble on her 50-yard line. State was penalized fifteen yards for holding, and punted to Gardner on Cornell's 52-yard line. Hoffman and Walder gained seven yards and Walder punted to Vorhis on State's 25-yard line. Vorhis and Hirshman made eight yards and Ballou punted to Gardner on Cornell's 50-yard line. Gardner signalled for a fair catch, but was thrown and the ball was given to Cornell on State's 45-yard line. Cornell lost seven yards on a fumble. Walder regained this distance on a cross-buck, and then punted to Ballou, who was downed in his tracks by three tacklers on State's 10-yard line. Barr punted to Gardner, who made a fair catch on State's 35-yard line. Gardner tried to kick a goal from placement, but the ball fell short. Ballou punted out to Hoffman, who ran the ball back thirty yards to State's 35-yard line. Walder made two yards. An onside kick went out of bounds. State punted from her 10-yard line. Gardner caught the ball and after a run of eight yards placed it on

THE ST. LOUIS CLUB.

Members Plan to Attend in a Body the Inauguration of President Hill.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26.—The Cornell Club of St. Louis held an informal meeting and smoker on Thursday evening, October 22, at the Missouri Athletic Club. One of the objects of this meeting was to provide for the attendance of members of the club as a body at the inauguration of Dr. A. Ross Hill, '95 (an active member of the club), as President of the University of Missouri, on December 10, and for the entertainment of President Schurman, who is expected to come West for that event. The secretary was instructed to send out inquiries as to how many members would attend the inauguration of Dr. Hill. It was also the opinion of the meeting that the delegation to Columbia, Mo., should obtain a private car and attend in a body.

The following new members were elected: Herman Spoehrer, '99; A. J. Widner, '04; N. de W. Betts; B. C. Bellows, '06; James C. Campbell, '00; S. E. Stearns, '95; C. W. Gennett, jr., '98; C. H. L. Allen, '88; Oliver Shiras, '97; Dr. T. J. Wilkin, L. H. Gates, H. G. McDonald and H. W. Smith. These resignations of membership were accepted: Charles P. Brady, '04; Jack Clark, '03; Newton C. Faylor, '06; R. W. Fullerton, '04; Curtis Hill, '97; F. C. Lippert, '05; C. R. Osborne, '03; R. C. St. John, '87, and W. A. Wheeler.

It was decided that as many members of the club as possible should attend the Cornell-Chicago football game in a body, and the secretary was instructed to write for tickets and get railroad rates.

The president appointed the following committee to take charge of the Cornell concert in St. Louis on December 29: Albert T. Terry, J. Howard Holmes and C. W. Gennett, jr. This committee will work with the three officers of the club, A. H. Little, president; H. T. Ferriss, vice-president, and K. E. White, secretary.

About twenty-five Cornellians were present at the meeting and they were very enthusiastic over the coming Cornell events.

KELTON E. WHITE,
Secretary.

SUBSCRIPTION—$3.00 Per Year

Published weekly during the college year and monthly in July and August; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the first Wednesday of the college year, in October, and weekly publication (numbered consecutively) continues through Commencement week. Issue No. 40, the final one of the year, is published the last Wednesday in August and contains a complete index of the entire volume.

Single copies, ten cents each. Foreign postage, 40 cents per year. Subscriptions payable in advance.

Should a subscriber desire to discontinue his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent in before its expiration. Otherwise it is assumed that a continuance of the subscription is desired.

Checks, drafts and orders should be made payable to the Cornell Alumni News.

Entered as Second-Class Matter at Ithaca, N.Y.

Ithaca, N. Y., November 4, 1908.

Friday, November 6, 2:30 p. m., is the time set for a conference on alumni matters which has been called by the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni. The Directors wish to have the time of the conference emphasized, for the reason that it was wrongly given as Saturday morning in an announcement sent by one alumni organization to some of the persons invited. The conference cannot be held on Saturday morning; the University Trustees are to meet at that time. It will be held on Friday afternoon in the President's office in Morrill Hall.

THE NEW COURSE.

Professor Ogden's figures show that the new course of lectures in sanitary science and public hygiene is attracting and holding the interest of students. Interest has also been aroused elsewhere than in Ithaca, many inquiries regarding the course having been received from various parts of the country. Commissioner Porter was probably not over-optimistic when he said he thought the lectures marked a new epoch. It would, as President Schurman has pointed out, require little more than a co-ordination of courses already given in the University to start here a regular school of sanitary science. The public interest in the subject may make it advisable to have such a course. Commissioner Porter, who suggested the course of lectures now in progress, is himself a Cornellian, having studied here in 1876-77. In his lecture in the course he said:

"We stand on the threshold of a great venture. Let us press steadily forward. Ignorance is no excuse and unpreparedness is no reason for hesitating. We must not always delay and wait for the proper time. If the tools we have at hand are not of the best and better ones cannot be secured, then all the more skill and strength will be needed in their use. So I feel sure that the spirit of today, the old Cornell spirit that rejoices in obstacles because of the joy of overcoming them and attaining the goal, will dominate us in this work."

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

Some alumni associations in the West may, if they will, arrange for meetings in December so as to have President Schurman with them. As is announced in another column, the President will make a long journey next month, going as far as the Pacific Coast. Not all his time will be taken by the engagements he has already made, and it will be possible for him to stop at some places on the way that are not named in his itinerary.

The Cornell chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has elected the following officers for the year: President, Professor James McMahon; vice-president, Professor Alfred Hayes, jr.; secretary, Professor C. S. Northup; treasurer, Dr. W. B. Carver; registrar, G. S. Rogalsky; executive committee, Captain E. L. Phillips and Professor H. A. Sill.

Up to last week the Treasurer of the University had received from tuition fees for the first term $172,990 and from laboratory, infirmary and other fees $47,786.

HONORARY DEGREES.

Shall They Be Granted by Cornell?—Letter from an Alumnus.

The following letter was received from a distinguished alumnus of Cornell, who is an officer of another great university:

HONORARY DEGREES AT CORNELL.

EDITOR OF THE CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS—Sir: The ALUMNI NEWS of Oct. 14 says that "President Schurman attended, as representative of Cornell University, the inauguration of Harry Augustus Garfield as president of Williams College," and that "The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon President Schurman and also upon the presidents of" several other universities, and upon various other distinguished persons.

It is not the first time, by any manner of means, that we have seen President Schurman's name mentioned in connection with such honors, and we have no idea that it will be the last. But we never see an account of an honorary degree conferred upon President Schurman, or on some other member of the Cornell faculty, without wondering how, in the face of Cornell's attitude toward honorary degrees, these gentlemen can bring themselves to accept them. What that attitude is every one knows. In the early days a good deal was said in opposition to the granting of honorary degrees. The reasons for this opposition were apparent enough at that time:—the institution was a newcomer in the academic world, it had no honors to confer, and it had no alumni grown gray in the service of science, art, statesmanship, or religion, while the members of its faculty were the alumni of other universities where honorary degrees were bestowed upon those who were entitled to such distinctions. There were therefore good reasons why Cornell should leave these honorary degrees alone until she should be old enough to be taken seriously in the educational world. That time has now come these many years, and still no step is taken to do away with a very awkward state of affairs: ic regard to honorary degrees. And this awkwardness becomes more embarrassing with every degree of the kind accepted by our President or by a member of the faculty or by an alumnus of Cornell University.

It is a rule in civilized society that courtesies accepted shall be returned in kind. We of Cornell should either not accept such attentions, or else we should frankly put ourselves in a position to return them.

The charge is often made against us Americans that we are more concerned about equality than we are about freedom. We cannot help suspecting that such opposition to honorary degrees as still exists among Cornell alumni comes from some such unworthy sentiment.

ALUMNUS.

The intercollege series in association football has called out a large number of men from almost every college in the University. Games are played almost every afternoon on the playground. This is a new sport for most Cornell students, the game having been introduced and fostered till now only by members of the Cosmopolitan Club.

A football mass meeting was held in Sibley Dome on Thursday afternoon. The attendance was small. President Coulson of the senior class presided, and an address was made by Edward Burns, '03, of the coaching staff. A second meeting will be held this week.

Henry H. Bennett, '10, of Port Huron, Mich., has been elected assistant manager of baseball, and Frank H. McCormick, '10, of Baltimore, Md., assistant manager of the navy, for the coming season. Both are members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

The Student Directory, generally known as the "student list," is on sale at the Registrar's office and at the bookstores. Ten cents a copy is charged. The list is much more useful than in former years because it is now a telephone as well as a street directory.

Richard Carle was entertained by the Savage Club on Monday evening of last week.

FOOTBALL.

State's 30-yard line. Tydeman gained three yards. Hoffman made a neat catch of a forward pass and it was first down on State's 8-yard line. Walder was called on three times and on his third plunge he carried the ball over for a touchdown. The kick-out failed. Score: Cornell, 5; Pennsylvania State, 0.

State kicked off to Gardner, who ran fifteen yards to Cornell's 30-yard line. On a fake play, Walder gained three yards. Hoffman added two. Smith broke through and blocked an onside kick and recovered the ball for State on Cornell's 12-yard line. There were only a few seconds left of the half and Vorhis kicked an easy field goal. Time was called soon afterward. Score, end of first half: Cornell, 5; Penn. State, 4.

SECOND HALF.

Cosgrove booted the ball to State's 20-yard line. Vorhis gained five yards and Hirshman made it first down. Smith added six yards, but Hirshman's rush was stopped and Ballou punted to Cornell's 35-yard line. Two plays netted only three yards and Walder punted. The ball was fumbled and Wight was down the field and on the ball for Cornell at State's 35-yard line. Shearer was substituted for Hoffman. MacArthur made a difficult catch of a forward pass for a gain of fifteen yards. Shearer added eight yards and Walder made it first down on State's 7-yard line. Shearer gained five yards and Walder crashed between the posts for a touchdown. Walder missed the goal. Score: Cornell, 10; State, 4.

Walder punted after State's kick-off, and Cornell messed up a forward pass which cost State fifteen yards. Ballou then punted to Shearer, who dropped the ball. Gardner picked it up on the run and gained ten yards to midfield. Walder failed to gain through the line and punted seventy yards, the ball going over State's goal line. Wight blocked Ballou's punt from the 20-yard line, but State recovered the ball and Ballou punted again to Shearer on State's 40-yard line. Shearer ran thirty yards, shaking off several tacklers, but was downed on State's 10-yard line—and dropped the ball. Hirshman picked it up and came back thirty-five yards.

On their own 45-yard line the visitors tried an onside kick and the ball went out of bounds on Cornell's 45-yard line. Shearer gained a yard, but offside play cost ten yards. Walder, standing on Cornell's 25-yard line, punted seventy-five yards, and Ballou ran the ball back only five, to State's 15-yard mark. Hirshman could not gain and Ballou punted. Shearer caught the ball and ran twenty-five yards to State's 35-yard line. A cross-buck gained five, but offside play and an unsuccessful forward pass cost twenty, and Walder punted to Ballou, who came back twenty yards to State's 30-yard line before Cosgrove caught him. Mowe, Pope and Crosby took the places of Tydeman, Walder and MacArthur. State failed to gain and punted to Shearer on Cornell's 30-yard mark. Hutchinson and Pavak replaced Shearer and Leventry. Mowe went around right end for fifteen yards. Hutchinson added seven in two downs and Mowe punted. The punt was returned, fumbled and the visitors regained it only to lose it themselves by a fumble, Wight breaking through and falling on the ball. On a mistake in signals State recovered the ball in midfield and advanced it by an onside kick to Cornell's 35-yard mark, where Vorhis tried for but missed a field goal. The game ended a moment afterward.

COACHES ON THE FIELD.

Among the old football players on the field within the past few days to give Coaches Larkin and Earle assistance and encouragement were Tandy Cook and Jack Lynch, '08, C. A. Taussig, '02, Edward Burns, '03, Ray Finucane, '03, and Willard Beahan, '78. The football game that Mr. Beahan knew as an undergraduate was not much like the game of today, but this did not deter him from visiting the field to show that a Cornell man who graduated thirty years ago is a Cornell man still. Captain Joseph W. Beacham, '97, arrived in Ithaca on Sunday morning of this week to stay a few days. He had received his captain's commission only the day before. He has been coaching at West Point and after the football season there is over he will join his regiment at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.
