CORNELL
REAL ESTATE

REVIEW

REview aims to provide a conduit for scholars, professional practitioners and students to express ideas, concepts and research findings from all fields related to the real estate profession. REview focuses on the interdisciplinary nature of real estate by blending both informative practical papers with application-based academic research across the breadth of design, business, economics, engineering, finance, law, planning, development, marketing and property management.

Information on submission requirements can be found at www.crer.cornell.edu or via e-mail from the CRER Executive Editor at crer@cornell.edu
