EDITORIAL.

Dramatic Club.

The Pageant seems more real, now that the parts are assigned and everything is getting into tangible form. There is room for every one in the cast and it is up to all of the girls to see that they get a part. The success of the Pageant depends largely on enthusiasm, and the spirit of interest felt by a participant cannot help being greater than that felt by a mere onlooker. So everybody get into it and make our Pageant something to be remembered and talked of and, we hope, repeated.

Student Government.

At the mass meeting last evening both Dr. Matzke and Miss Eager gave very interesting talks. At the close of Miss Eager's talk the cast of the Pageant was read. The speaking parts are all cast as well as some of the choruses, but all girls whose names were not read may get assignments by reporting to the Wisley Recreation Room, Friday afternoon or evening. Watch the Bulletin for notices of rehearsals.

Subscription money must now be paid. There will be a table in Wisley for this purpose outside the dining room door just before and immediately following dinner on Friday. Please bring your dollar down and pay for your subscription.

DO NOT FORGET!

Two short plays will be produced at the next appearance of the Dramatic Club. As far as is possible, we want to use new material in both acting and producing, in preparation for next year.

Try-outs will be held the first of next week. Girls are needed for all kinds of parts, so everybody out!

Dormitory Fund.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held last Tuesday, Harriot A. Parsons '19, was appointed Treasurer of the dormitory fund. Will all the girls who earned money for the fund this summer please turn it over to the treasurer as soon as possible, as we want to get our accounts straightened? This is important and must be done at once.

Cornell Countryman.

A Sophomore competition for associate woman's editor of the "Cornell Countryman" will start Tuesday, Feb. 27. Any sophomores desiring to enter the competition should come to the Countryman office on Tuesday, between 2 and 5.30 P.M.

Marion Hess or Betty Alward will be there to explain the terms of the competition.
