INDONESIAN NEWSPAPERS 1965-1967

Roger K. Paget

Introduction

This provisional compilation is an attempt to collate from many sources an up-to-date annotated listing of recent Indonesian newspapers and bulletins. (Overseas Indonesian newspapers and bulletins have not been included.)

Clearly the most valuable source was correspondence and the published accessions lists of the American Libraries Book Procurement Center in Djakarta. Hardly less helpful was the efficient processing operation of Cornell University Library. Supplementing these two sources were the compiler's own notes and newspaper collection. Several Indonesia specialists offered additional suggestions.

While information for each entry follows a strict pattern, it has not been possible to offer comparable information for each title. Many entries are deficient, in which cases alternative information is usually provided, always with the objective of indicating as fully as possible changes of title, publisher, or numbering, and suspensions, resumptions, termination, etc. Terms such as "suspended," "banned," "ceased," "resumed," "superseded," and the like, as used in this listing, are not necessarily translations of the official terms used in Indonesian Government decrees specifying changes in the status of any given newspaper. Also, no special attempt has been made to list Sunday editions of dailies, except where titles or numbering differ. For purposes of this listing, a daily is any paper which publishes either six or seven days a week.

A few explanations follow, concerning volume-number-date information:

1. A date followed by a plus sign (+), e.g., "Sep 26, '66 +," denotes an entry's initial publication date.
2. Volume-number information followed by a date and a plus sign, e.g., "th. 2, no. 24, Jan 10, '65 +," indicates that the number was the earliest available to the compiler and/or that it and all or some subsequent numbers are available in Cornell University Library.
3. Volume-number and date information preceded by "e.g." indicates a random example, an aid--where more precise information is unavailable--in placing the entry in some perspective of time and duration. It may also indicate irregularity or lack of continuity in the numbering of the entry.

4. Where applicable and available, a termination date, following a dash, is provided, e.g., "th. 2, no. 24, Jan 10, '65, 1st wk. Dec '66.
