COURSES

The courses and fees described in this catalog are subject to change or cancellation at any time by official action of Cornell University. For current fee information on physical education courses, call 255-4286; for outdoor education courses, call 255-6183 or visit www.coe.cornell.edu.

Enrollment in any course is limited by the space available. Other restrictions are included in the course description. Most courses are coeducational. The specific time and place of class meetings, as well as information about fees, are available at the physical education course registration or may be found on "Bear Access," a package of software for accessing a variety of network services at Cornell. Course fees are billed through the Office of the Bursar.

Additional course offerings may be listed at registration, as the curriculum is frequently reviewed and changed. Drop deadlines for outdoor education courses are earlier than university deadlines, and often earlier than physical education deadlines. Cornell Outdoor Education (COE) courses may be added any time by calling 255-6183, or registering at www.coe.cornell.edu.

Fall. Fee charged. In recent years bouldering, or climbing near the ground without ropes or harnesses, has become a sport unto itself. Bouldering is easy to learn, requires very little gear, and is amazingly addictive. Gunks Bouldering will introduce you to the basics of climbing low: locations, spotting, safety, and all those hard-earned climbing tips and tricks that make the impossible possible. We will spend one day at the climbing wall, then head out for a weekend of climbing and camping. Reserve the following weekend in case of rain!

OUTED 1657 Tree Climbing

Fall. Fee charged. All equipment is included in the course fee. No experience necessary.

Whether you are a rain forest canopy researcher, an arborist, or just a kid at heart, everyone loves to climb trees. Recall the excitement and your sense of adventure when you first crawled into the branches to look inside a bird's nest. Then you swung from limb to limb without a thought of ropes and harnesses. But what about that big tree down the street you always wanted to climb, but couldn't reach the first branch? Cornell Outdoor Education's Tree Climbing course will teach you how to get up into the canopy of any tree, to move around, even to climb from one tree to another without touching the ground.
