Aging and Families: Resources for the Caregiver

with Rhoda Meador

Senior Extension Associate, Associate Director of Outreach and Extension in the CHE and Associate Director of the Bronfenbrenner Life Course Center (BLCC).

Dr. Rhoda Meador is an interdisciplinary social scientist and educator whose research focuses primarily on improving health and social systems to better serve older people. She has been involved in numerous educational programs and activities that bridge the gap between researchers and practitioners.

She has spent much of her career working with practice and applied audiences in a variety of education, human service, and health care settings.
